STARTING SUNSET SMELTER

Dominion Copper Company Will in all Probability Furnish Ore.

While no definite announcement has been given out regarding any successful termination of the negotiations relating to the amalgamation of the Dominion Copper company with the Montreal & Boston company, it is confidently asserted by many that a satisfactory understanding has been arrived at, and that work will be resumed at the smelter and also at the Brooklyn and Stemwinder mines at an early date.

Private information from the east to parties in Greenwood and Boundary Falls convey the welcome assurance that work will begin at the lower smelter at the beginning of May, and that any employees still resident at Boundary Falls will be able to resume their old occupations by that time.

With the exception of the Sunset, all the mines from which the Boundary Falls smelter drew their ore supply are evidentally finding ample accommodation for their products elsewhere, so that in case the smelter resumes work, the management will have to look to other mines for a continuous ore supply. This can be secured from the Morrison in Deadwood camp as well as from the Dominion Copper company's properties in Phoenix, where ten thousand tons are on the dump awaiting shipment, and where thousands of tons are blocked out ready for the stopers.

The efforts of the Montreal & Boston company to effect arrangements for continuing work at the smelter have been followed with the keenest interest in the Boundary, as, apart from the improved conditions resulting from its operation, its generous method of dealing with employees, and its policy of giving as far as possible its business to local merchants has been much appreciated. The news therefore that the company's efforts have been successful will be very generally welcomed in the Boundary district.

MET HIS DEATH AT SMELTER

Man by the Name of Christensen Horribly Mangled Sunday Morning.

A distressing accident occured Sunday morning at the smelter of the B. C. Copper Company, whereby an employee named Christensen lost his life. The small engine used in hauling away the hot slag left the track near the trestle where the slag track crosses the spur recently built to connect with the converter; Christensen who was running the engine was engaged with others in replacing it on the rails. The front part of the loco motive was raised and blocked up, and in raising the rear end the front blocking gave way, the engine lurching ahead struck Christensen, who happened to be in front, and knocked him over the dump to the hard slag foundation of the railroad spur below, breaking his arm, hip and leg. In addition to this he was horribly mangled about the head and sustained severe injuries internally. The injured man was removed to the hospital and given all medical attention, but he never regained consciousness and died Tuesday morning at an early hour. Deceased was a married man and leaves a widow and a large family who have the sympathy of the entire community in their sad affliction.

The funeral was held Thursday afternoon from the Presbyterian church, and the large number in attendance bore testimony to the regard in which he was held by his fellow employees and citizens generally. The brief but impressive funeral service was conducted by Rev. Mr. McKee, after which the remains were conveyed to the cemetery for interment.

An inquest was held Wednesday afternoon in the court house by Coroner Foster over the remains of Nels Christensen killed at the smelter on Sunday morning. A jury consisting of Messrs. Rendell, Law, Brydges, Galloway, Collins and Naden were empannelled. Geo. Collins acting as foreman. J. R. Brown listened to the evidence on behalf of the relatives, while I. H. Hallett appeared for the B. C. Copper company. A considerable amount of evidence was taken, and the scene of the accident viewed, but nothing was elicited, except what is stated above.

The testimony of the superintendent foreman and master mechanic as well as three others showed the hydraulic jack generally used in replacing the engine was out of order and that a steele rail was used as a lever in raising the engine and putting it back on the track, but none of the witnesses were certain as to the exact cause of Christensen's falling from the trestle. The jury returned an open verdict that deceased came to his death by an accident on the premises of the British Columbia Copper company on Sunday morning.

The smelter employees at the B. C. Copper company's works may not all be saints, but they have at least a proper conception of practical christianity. When it became known that the family of their late comrade Nels Christensen would be left largely to their own resources, they at once put their shoulder to the wheel and in short order put sufficient funds into the hands of a committee to educate the eldest girl up to a point where she can earn a good livelihood for herself.

ANOTHER DEATH AT SMELTER

Oscar Hammar's Life Crushed Out This Morning.

Another accident occured this morning at the B. C. Copper company's smelter, which resulted in serious injuries to Oscar Hammar and gave a vicious shaking up to his companion Albert Soderstrom. The two men were wheeling ore in cars from the crusher to the ore bins; between the two buildings, a distance of some thirty feet, the track is laid on a trestle While passing over this with a loaded car, the trestle gave way, and Hammar went down with his car to the ground below, a distance of some 16 feet. Soderstrom who was behind with another loaded car was unable to stop it in time and it and he went through the break together. A number of Hammar's ribs were broken and he is otherwise badly bruised. Soderstrom escaped with a few scratches on his face and hands. There is a growing impression that the system of inspection applied to other industries should be enlarged so as to include smelters. It is unreasonable to suppose that accidents are in every case traceable to negligence or carelessness on the part of employees. An inspection of the trestle when the accident occured this morning will show that the structure was flimsy and unsafe, totaly unfit for the heavy traffic that is constantly passing over it, and would be condemned as such by anyone possessed of ordinary intelligence.

As we go to press we learn from the hospital that the injuries sustained by Hammar resulted in his death at noon, the immediate cause being a severe hemorrhage of the lungs due to the crushing in of his side in the fall from the trustle. An inquest will probably ae held and the jury should under the circumstances investigate most throughly all the causes leading to the accident.

The Ymir mine produced gold to the amount of $16,009 during February.

OUR CITY COUNCIL

Met in Open Session on Monday Evening

THE SHADE TREE PROBLEM

And Many Other Matters Came Up For Discussion.

The regular meeting of the city council was held Monday night, those in attendance being his worship the Mayor and aldermen Bunting, Caulfield, Parker and McNeil.

Council received a delegation from the Greenwood Base Ball Club, who requested civic aid in their endeavors to provide a suitable recreation ground for the city. They ask that the city undertake the enclosure of the grounds with a board fence, which will require about 12,000 feet of lumber to construct. The council deferred action until next meeting when the base ball delegation will present a report showing the conditions upon which they can lease the grounds from the property owners.

Letters were received from the city engineer regarding repairs to mains on Church street, and at the bridge on Greenwood street, also re repairs to the Deadwood road, all of which were approved.

Communications were received from the B. C. Copper Company authorizing the council to draw on them for expense of fixing crossing of the spur with Sutherland street, which work is to be done under city supervision.

Council discussed the advisibility of installing a new fire alarm system by the installation of telephones at various points of the city, that will lead directly to the fire department, similiar to the system now in vogue at Phoenix. Eventually the city clerk was instructed to write the Phoenix authorities and submit the information to the council at the next meeting.

A discussion regarding the planting of trees for shade and decorative purposes, revealed the fact that citizens generally regarded such action as useless, as long as stray animals were allowed to roam the city at will. The city engineer reported that the residents in Blocks I and J, were willing to plant trees if the city would protect them. This offer was on motion of Alderman Caulfield, made applicable to all portions of the city and accepted, council agreeing to put up protecting frames around any trees planted.

Constables were also instructed to enforce the pound by-law, as complaints of the stray horse nuisance have become very general of late.

The by-law relating to liquor licenses was read a first and second time and the quarterly statement of receipts and expenditures referred to the finance committee.

The finance committees report was submitted and adopted and the follow- accounts ordered paid:

Fire Department	$13 00
B. C. Gazette	8 00

The telephone girls made an interesting discovery last Wednesday. They found that the recent hot weather in addition to raising the creeks had resurrected the ice cream business. All gentlemen of their acquaintance (which means everybody) are required to observe this as a notice and govern themselves accordingly.

Just received, new kitchen cabinets. H. J. Clint, Copper street.

FRIDAY, APRIL 15, 1904

The present session of the Dominion parliament is becoming remarkable for the nature of petitions received asking for legislation that relate to the general moral welfare of the country. Deputations from the W. C. T. U. have interviewed the premier urging the passage of more stringent laws regarding the obnoxious cigarette, which practically amounts to the absolute prohibition of the manufacture, importation or sale of cigarettes in Canada.

Delegations from the Lord's Day Alliance have laid before the government a proposal aimed at a better observance of the Sabbath, and have secured from the premier a promise that legislation will be introduced this session having that object in view. The proposed bill submitted by the delegation, aims at prohibiting all labor except those ordinarily considered "works of necessity and mercy." under which head is included all manufacturing processes liable to a loss, if not continuously operated.

It seeks to prohibit all forms of Sunday amusement and entertainment for which entrance fees are charged, as well as Sunday excursions for pleasure, rifle practice, etc. etc., and generally aims at the restoration of Sunday observance to a degree almost puritanical. It may be that the promoters of this class of legislation are actuated by high and worthy motives, but there are many who will doubt this and incline to the opinion that it looks like an attempt to saddle upon legislators and officers the duty of doing by law what should be accomplished in the home by example and moral suasion.

Certainly the framers of the proposed bill cannot escape the charge of being considered both thoughless and selfish. It may be well to legislate cigarettes out of existence, but how to spend the Sunday is a matter that should admit of a considerable amount of individual choice.

Self preservation is a divine as well as a natural law, and obedience to it compels members of many trades and professions of both sexes to spend their Sunday in a way that the proposed legislation would absolutely prohibit.

Sunday observance should depend almost entirely upon the nature of the employment followed during the week. Hard manual labor on week days demand a rest on Sunday, while those employed in factories, hotels, stores banks, etc., naturally turn to the park, the water, the hillside and the various out door amusements and retire at night the better for it, physically and morally. It is a poor and mistaken kind of legislation that interferes with this priviledge and for the benefit of the many, workers in Eastern Canadian cities who would suffer through the enactment of such stringent laws it is to be hoped that the measure if it does pass the house will at least be shorn of its most objectionable features.

As a result of a great deal of discussion the Lead Miner's Association have passed a resolution which has been endorsed by the Kaslo, Nelson and Rossland Boards of Trade, asking the Dominion government to extend the payment of the lead bounty to lead exported abroad, up to the amount of 11,tons per annum. The reason assigned for this is that the mines are in shape to produce more than the smelters can now handle, and until enlargements at the various smelters are made the lead output will necessarily be restricted. The resolution has been strongly endorsed by the various smelter managers who says that by the time the smelter facilities are improved and enlarged, the mines will be, if allowed to export ore, on a basis to supply them with a tonnage that will admit of a lower rate of treatment. In view of this fact and that the smelters agree to be in a position to treat all ore mined within a year, it is confidently expected the government will acceede to the terms of the resolution.

The Nelson Tribune (Conservative) adopts an attitude towards the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific that other tory journals would do well to emulate. In a late editorial dealing with this matter the Tribune has this to say;

"The building of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, as speedily as possible, is almost as essential to the upbuilding of Canada as was the building of the Canadian Pacific twenty years ago. There should be no factious opposition to the building of the road. Had Canada waited a dozen years, better terms might have been made for the building of the Canadian Pacific. It is just possible, if a wait of a dozen years was made, better terms might be made for the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific. If the building of the Canadian Pacific had been delayed a dozen years, what would Western Canada be to-day? It would be a wilderness. The people have little patience with political faultfinders. They want men in office to do things. The building of the Grand Trunk Pacific under the agreement entered into between the Dominion government and the Grand Trunk Railway Company is a step in the direction of government ownership of railways. The step might have been a longer one; but great reforms or changes are not brought about in a day. The people of British Columbia should be a unit for the speedy building of the Grand Trunk Pacific Railway, and the political party that opposes its speedy building will go down to defeat, as it should."

At a meeting of the Canadian Mining Institute held last month in Toronto the president read a paper on "Some suggested improvements in the mining laws of Canada," that contained certain suggestions of considerable moment to this province, It is pointed out that under existing laws hundreds of crown granted mineral claims are lying idle, and the development of the country thus retarded. As a remedy he proposes the imposition of assessment work to the value of $5 per acre yearly, with immediate forfeiture to the crown in case of non-compliance. While it might be advisable to make some such change in the law relating to crown granted claims, it is safe to say that any change embodying the above suggestion will be vigorously resisted in British Columbia.

Likely Buildto The West Fork

The resumption of work at the Carmi mine, and the continuation of the government wagon road up to Beaverdell, has stimulated interests in the West Fork country. Prospectors are already leaving to look after their various interests and indications are that considerable development work will be done this summer. In addition to this, there is every reason to believe that the Vernon and Midway road will be under construction at an early date. Mr. Smailes who has been in London for some time in connection with the financing of the enterprise is expected home very shortly. While nothing definite has been given out regarding the success of his mission, it is generally rumoured that he has succeeded in interesting English capitalists in the scheme, and that an engineer will accompany him who will supervise the running of preliminary lines over the proposed route.

It is further understood that should the London capitalists not undertake the work, other offers from New York men have been received which would insure the completion of the road this year as far as Beaverdell and the balance at a later date, well within the time stated in the charter. The building of this road will be an incalcuable benefit to the whole Boundary country, as in addition to the money put in circulation by its construction, and the benefits accruing from the saving in distance to the coast, it will open up a mining district which recent shipments have proved to be one of the richest camps in British Columbia.

TREATMENT OF SULPHIDE ORES.

A new invention lor the treatment of sulphide ores has been made in Vancouver by one of its leading mine owners, and a plant with a daily capacity of 25 tons and costing $15,000 has been completed to test it. It is said that this class of ore, which is almost limitless in the mountain ranges, can be successfully treated under this system at a cost not exceeding 50 cents a ton.

President Miner Says No Addition to Granby Plant Will be Made.

Mr. S. H. C. Miner, president of the Granby Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company, has denied the report that the company was about to make a very extensive addition to their smelting plant at Grand Forks, B. C. He states that the management is not considering making any enlargement to either the mining or the smelting plants. These have both been brought to practically completed units by the policy of gradual increase which the company has pursued steadily during a number of years past. The present plans of the directors is to give their close attention to the operation of these plants steadily and economically, with a view to realizing returns upon the large investments that have been necessary to bring the company's works to their present state of efficiency.—Montreal Trade Review.

B. C. OUTPUT FOR 1903.

The summary of the mineral production of Canada in 1903, prepared (subject to revision) by the section of mines of the geological survey department, places the total value of metallic minerals at $33,797,403, of non-metallic minerals (including coke and coal, $17,621,671) at $29,219,107, and the estimated value of mineral products not returned at $300,000, making a grand total of $63,226,510. The item of $300,000 is left out of account in making the calculations that give the following results: British Columbia produced in metallic minerals 36 per cent. of the Dominion total; in coal and coke 27 per cent., and in all non-metallic minerals (including coal and coke) 18 per cent. Further, if the mineral yield of the Yukon and British Columbia be taken as together representing the production of what may be designated the Pacific slope portion of the Dominion and be compared with that of the Canadian territory east of the Rocky Mountains, it will be found that the former produced 75 per cent. of the year's total metallic product or 47 per cent. of the gross mineral product—metallic and non-metallic combined.

TO TREAT LEAD ORES.

Belgian capitalists have made an offer to British Columbia mine owners to erect works and treat their lead ores for $10 a ton, including freight. They want the bounty kept for ores treated in the Dominion.

Owing to washouts on the railroad the Clara Mathes Company will remain here Saturday evening and will produce the world-success the Resurection. Blanch Walsh and Clara Mathes have the original version that is full of bright comedy and laughter so cleverly introduced that the beauty and intense interest of the story is not marred. A number of new specialties are introduced. The Winnipeg Herald speaking of the Resurrection says that it "stands above other plays like a tower." The press reports of Clara Mathes production say that it is superior to a majority of the $1.50 attractions that have played the syndicate theatres this season.

LOCAL EXTRACT

Harry Snallenberger is home from an extended visit to Spokane.

Editor Crouse of the Midway Advance spent Tuesday in the city.

The appointment of W. B. Fleming as a member of the Board of License Commissioners for the city of Greenwood, vice E. G. Warren, resigned, is gazetted.

Charles H. Hardy representing the North American Life Insurance company was in Greenwood this week looking after business for the company.

R. B. Hay the baker has arranged with H. B. Munroe to handle his goods. The latter is now providing his store with the fittings necessary for that class of trade.

Geo. B. McAuley of Spokane, the well known mine operator who is travelling in the old country is shortly to be married to a young and very wealthy lady who hails from Los Angeles, California. The prospective groom is at present in Scotland.

Work has been resumed on the Oro Denoro mine under the direction of Mr. J. McLellan. A number of men are engaged stripping the surface preparatory to enlarging the two quarries from which most of the ore is extracted. Shipments to the smelter will be resumed at an early date

Messrs. Sid Storrer and Wm. Morrison of Camp McKinney who have been on an extended trip through Washington and Idaho returned lately to the Boundary, well satisfied that prospects here are better than in the general run of mining camps on the other side. Storrer has taken a position in Flynn's barber shop and will move his family here.

The St. Eugene mine at Moyie city will likely be opened up at an early date. The management is installing new machinery and generally preparing for a heavy output, providing the government agrees to extend the bounty to lead shippers abroad. The mine has opportunities of filling big foreign contracts, but acceptance of all or any of them is dependant entirely upon the action of the government. Mr. James Cronin the manager is however so sure of the result that he is rushing the work of installing the machinery required.

John Moran who with Geo. B. McAuley owns the Big Copper claim in Copper Camp, is in town after a winter's absence in the country to the south of us. It is generally rumored that he will resume work at the Big Copper as soon as the conditions of the roads will admit of transportation of supplies to the mine. There are already hundreds oftons of ore on the dump and as the ore can be quarried, the same as at the Mother Lode, it is more than likely the Big Copper will this summer be a steady shipper.

Manager Thurston of the Carmi mine has gone to the coast. When the Carmi was a shipper some three years ago it was necessary to spend some $3,000 in constructing a winter road over which to transport the ore. This road followed the south side of the river and is a shorter route to the mine than the road which runs through Beaverdell on the North side of the West Fork stream. Mr. Thurston urges the construction of a bridge across the river at a point where the two roads meet, and in view of the large expenditure that he made and for which so far he has not been reimbursed, it is likely the government will accede to his request.

His Honor Judge Leamy came over from Grand Forks on Monday to hold court. A considerable number of cases were set down for hearing, but only one was disputed. This was a case between two Chinamen, and it afforded the court considerable amusement. "Hop Chung" merchant of Greenwood, sued "Lim Jun," cook, of Rock Creek for $37.95 alleged to be due on goods sold defendant. An interpreter was secured and the case proceeded with. During the taking of the evidence a Chinese spectator butted in and informed the court that the interpreter "was talkee wrong." This led to a violent harrangue between the two Chinamen that almost ended in blows. Eventually peace was restored, and judgement rendered against plaintiff.

The Lucky Boy in the Lardeau shipped a car of ore last week which netted $35000.

The Highland mine at Ainsworth is producing about 300 tons of concentrates a month.

The ore shipped from the Le Roi mine during February netted $60,000.

James Marshall of Phoenix will resume work on the Lottie F. group on Copper creek, at an early date.

Since first discovered the Payne mine has snipped 50,000 tons of ore, valued at over $3,000,000.

Ore to the value of $175,000 was shipped to the United States via the port of Waneta during the month of March

---

In chunks of ore taken from the Sweede group, Poplar, when pulled apart, pieces of gold the size of hickory nuts were found.

Nova Scotia has produced since 1892 and up to 1904 gold valued at $16,4000,000. It produced in 1903 30,500 ounces of gold, valued at $550,000.

The Crow's Nest Coal Company has contracted to ship 1400 tons of coal daily from Morrissey via the Great Northern to points in Montana.

The 40-stamp mill at the Nickel Plate mine is nearly ready for operation. D. J. McNally, who has charge of the mill construction, will shortly leave Hedley City for Nelson, where he will begin the erection of a mill for a Nelson syndicate on Forty-Nine creek.

The Northport smelter which has been closed for a short time will blow in the entire battery of furnaces next week. Shipments from the Le Roi have been resumed and the mine according to acting manager McKenzie will be running with a full force in ten day's time.

During the winter the Rico mine in Slocan shipped 600 tons of ore, out of which a profit of $30,000 was made. In consequence of the breaking up of the rawhide trails the winter force has been laid off and development work will proceed with a gang of 11 men.

The Best Stock in The Market

At The Present Time IS there is no other which will bring in such returns as this. COAL

The price of coal has gone up all over the world. the consumption is enormous, to buy in any working company now costs a small fortune, THE INTERNATIONAL COAL AND COKE CO., is already a shipper and backed by some of the strongest men in the country, witha conservative estimate of something like Fifty Million of tons of Coal in sight is the one to put your money in. Shares which can now be bought at a nominal sum will reach big figures before long.

I have still a few shares left and when they are gone it will be too late for the small investor to get in, if you want some hing which will net you a good income, don't hesitate but buy at once. First come, first served. When you see the price reach-three figures you will then realize that you have indeed missed a chance of a life time. I have also a small Block of Northwest Coal, another good thing as well as 3,000 shares of Denoro, this mine is bound to become one of the biggest shippers in the district

Mr. Magnus Edgren has returned from Pullman, Wash., where he has been attending college for the last few months. Mr. Edgren has assumed his old position at the Mother Lode mine which he held before leaving for Pullman last fall.

Jas. Smith who has been in Spokane for the past three weeks under the care of an eye specialist, has returned to the city. Mr. Smith's mission was not fruitless as his eye which has been giving him a great deal of trouble, is ever so much better.

The recent fine weather almost summer like in its warmth is taking the snow off the mountains at a rate that threatens disastrous consequences. The Kettle river has reached almost flood proportions. The waters of the West Fork rose over three feet in one day and is still rising, while Boundary Creek is now a stream of respectable dimensions. In the prairie country and in the east floods are the order of the day, and serious damage is reported from Winnipeg where the Red River is running through a portion of main street. Montreal is also a sufferer from floods and general reports from the east indicate higher water than what has been known for several years.

Humorous and slightly cynical was Dr. Bernard Hollander in address on "Love as a mental malady," given before the incorporated British Phrenological Society recently. Love, he said, was an unwarrantable predilection for one person, through others as attractive existed. Its symptoms were blushes and sighs, a distaste for food, wakefulness, aberration in thought and language, and, in desperate cases, a yearning for poetry. The world was divided, as thus: where the object was; where the object was not. There were many cures suggested for the malady, which lasted, usually, six weeks. One of them, Dr. Hollander said, had never been known to fail; marriage was its name.

Last night about nine o'clock the intake of the flume became choked with rubbish that Twin creek is at present bringing down in abundance, and the overflow soon threatened serious consequences to Greenwood street. Officers Currie and Hallett with a number of willing helpers succeeded in getting the water way cleared, and to prevent a recurrence, removed the grating over the intake. This however proved ineffective. Sometime during the night a partial stoppage again occured some distance down the flume and the overflow is at present turning Greenwood street into something that resembles a ploughed field after a freshet. The city engineer ordered the water turned down government street where the longer grade will lessen the damage done by the running water, and relieve Copper street from any inconvenience. The heavy rain last night after the recent warm weather is causing the street committee to look anxiously now and then in the direction of Twin Creek.

"TENNESSEE'S PARTNER."

The crowd which greeted the Clara Mathes company at the Auditorium last night were well repaid for their trouble. Tennessee's Partner is a story of western life, thrilling, humorous and appealing. From the time the curtain was first raised until it went down on the last scene, the parts were well taken and well played. The specialties between acts were good, and the illustrated songs were well rendered. The Clara Mathes company are no strangers to Greenwood audiences, and those who have heard and seen them once are always glad to greet them on a return engagement. Tonight, by special request, the company will present "The Daughter of Erin," with an entire change of programme.
