"CONFUSION."

The comedy of misunderstandings, entitled, by Joseph Derrick, "Confusion," presented last Friday night by the Greenwood Amateur Dramatic Society was a surprise—a series of intensely interesting surprises, to even the most sanguine boosters of the production. The house was the largest of the season and every man, woman and child laughed themselves out. The usual marks of an amateur performance were, so far as could be detected by the ordinary theatre-goer, quite missing. The interpretation given the piece, while it is said to be different from that put upon it in Rossland and Nelson where it was given before, was remarkably effective and having seen it one wonders how it could be bettered in any way. Miss Beldon as Lucretia Tickelby was particularly worthy of commendation and the reports we have of later productions, are to the effect that her appreciation of the dramatic features of her part grew stronger with each repetition. Mrs. Stow as Rose Mumbleford displayed a great deal of power in her expression of the peculiarly feminine enthusiasms of her part. As Violet, Miss Oppenheimer was a delightfully graceful person, while as Maria, Mrs. McLaine excelled herself by the vim, and withal the naturalness that she put in a heavy and fairly unpleasant role.

As James, C.A. Thomas who was on the stage a great deal of the time, had an idea of fitful servility broken by recurring rebellion and wilfulness that grew on the audience. Of his master, Mortimer Mumbleford, it is hard to speak. His character called for continued and ready exhibition of dramatic power and Randolph Stuart was alwas perfect in his work. Muzzle (R. S. Ross) was humorously confident that he was there with the goods, while Sunberry (O. F. Hawtrey), kept his character of an English dandy with great cleverness. His ridiculous diagnosis of Mumbleford's trouble and his great belief in his volatile friend, Dr. Jones (S. M. Tees), who attempted to subdue the frantic Mumbleford, by the power of his eye, added a great deal of comedy to the play. The remaining character, Blizzard (F. W. McLaine), throughout his furious infatuation, his petulant and yet insistent conduct towards Lucretia, and his increasing burden of misunderstandings and apparently hopeless entanglements kept hobling along, putting real life into his part. He will perhaps be longest remembered of the actors.

Of the orchestra we can only echo our appreciation in the spirit of the card of thanks published elsewhere. R. J. Saunder's trombone solo was simply splendidly given and the audience showed its hearty appreciation by the ringing encore it gave. Greenwood has every reason to be proud of an orchestra that cannot be equalled it is safe to say in the Boundary or Kootenay country.

The Dramatic Club speak very highly of the courtesy extended them by the Miner's Union at Phoenix. The Union not only treated them with great generosity financially but also provided a dance and gave their dance hall free of charge, so as to give further attraction to the public. No one could have done more than they did to make the play a success and naturally the members of the Club and their friends are exceedingly grateful to them.

Stuart Muirhead, secretary of the S. S. Association for B. C. will preach in the Methodist Church on Sunday evening. After the service he will speak in the Presbyterian church on Sunday School work. Rev. F. J. Rutherford preaches to the children on Sunday morning.

WHY BOWSER BILL FAILED

Duncan Ross, M.P., Charges Insincerity of McBride Administration in Bowser Bill---Bowser's Reply.

In Ottawa, on Jan. 22, Duncan Ross, M.P., made a speech which from the splutter it occasioned in the McBride-Bowser household, may be considered to have been very much to the point. Mr. Ross levelled a series of definite charges against the sincerity of the McBride administration re the Bowser Bill. Attorney-general Bowser and the Vancouver Province have replied mostly with abuse. The Attorney-general seems to think that calling Mr. Ross the muckrake of the Liberal party is sufficient to divert the attention of the people of this province from his own trickery. The Province loses all its notions of journalistic dignity as it pours out a column and a half of abuse on what it terms an irresponsible political parasite and a "vulgar prevaricator who cannot be called to account but who is regarded as not only unreliable but worse wherever he is known." If we are looking for proof of the charges which Mr. Ross has so fairly brought, the fact that his words are met with such calumnious and vaporous fulminations is a pretty good indication of how near they come to the truth. In order that his constituents may have a fair idea of what Mr. Ross did say, we give at considerable length the best report of his speech that we have had. It is taken from Friday's "Victoria Times."

After asserting that the people of British Columbia were unalterably opposed to Oriental immigration, Mr. Ross continued:

"As was our duty, representing public opinion in the Province of British Columbia' members from British Columbia, have, in this House, and outside this House, endeavored to press upon the government and upon parliament and the people of the East, the views of the people of British Columbia.

"On the other hand, friends of the honorable gentlemen opposite, have represented the other extreme views. The Canadian Pacific Railway Company, the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and other large employers of labor, who have known to have been friendly to the honorable gentlemen opposite, have laid it down as their policy that all barriers to cheap labor in this country should be broken down and that an unlimited supply of Oriental labor should be allowed to come into this country.

"Again, the right hon. the Premier, exercising that sound judgment which he has always displayed, stepped into the breach and by a happy compromise, has, I believe, succeeded in satisfactorily settling this question. It has not been settled in the way people of British Columbia wanted it settled, because, though we were ready and willing and even anxious to take most drastic measures to absolutely ensure that there should be

into the province, the people of that province are reasonable people and so long as they have assurances that this question has been settled in a manner that will insure them what they want, they are not going to complain, because they did not get everything they wanted. There is no good reason why if by diplomatic action which has been successfully carried on by the honorable the Postmaster-General, a satisfactory solution of this dangerous question has been secured, that anyone should complain because his own method of settling the question was not adopted.

"But, sir, nothwithstanding the fact that everything has been done looking towards the settlement of this question, and every effort that has been made to meet the views of the people of the province of British Columbia, are to the credit of this government, the premier of the Province of British Columbia and his followers are day in and day out attempting to convince the people there that the Laurier government is hostile to their views and is not anxious for a settlement of this question. This government appointed a Royal Commission to investigate the question a number of years ago and in accordance with the recommendation of that commission, they imposed a five hundred dollar head tax on Chinese that with the result that that portion of the question was settled to the satisfaction of the people of the province of British Columbia. In response to representations made by the people of the province, the Postmaster-General was sent to Japan for the purpose of arranging a settlement of the other side of the question and which I am bound to believe will result as satisfactorily so far as the province of British Columbia is concerned as the imposition of a $500 poll tax on the chinese.

"Notwithstanding these facts, sir, it cannot be disputed that the Conservative party in the province of British Columbia are endeavoring to keep alive the agitation and by the passage of acts which have been declared again and again to be ultra vires of the authority of provincial legislation they are endeavoring to make it difficult for this government to secure a satisfactory settlement of the question. No opportunity is lost by Conservative leaders in British Columbia to endeavor to place British Columbia representatives in this House in a false light before the people of the province and in justice to the course we have always pursued here, I am compelled to crave the indulgence of the House, while I give a little inside history. By relating a few facts connected with this question it will immediately be apparent that neither Premier McBride, nor his attorney general. Mr. Bowser, have been either frank or sincere in their attitude on this question as they have been in connection with many other questions of a public nature.

"As is pointed out in the excellent report of Mackenzie King, the origin of the influx of Japanese into the province of British Columbia during 1907 began with the advent of Sauri Gotoh. This gentleman had a wide experience in supplying labor to American railways. He had furnished men to the Oregon Short Line, Union Pacific, Southern Pacific and Northern Pacific. In 1901 he came from Tacoma to Vancouver and established a connection with the Canadian Pacific. He succeeded in effecting an agreement with that company similiar to the agreement between railway companies and Japanese contractors across the line. The between Gotoh and the Canadian Pacific. Mr. Bowser was then acting for Gotoh. This agreement was renewed from time to time until finally in December, 1906. Gotoh organized the Canadian Nippon Supply Company, Limited and a similar agreement to that prepared by Bowser was entered into between the Canadian Nippon Supply Company and the C.P.R. and also the Wellington Colliery Company. As I want the House to be in possession of the nature of this agreement, I am going to place it on Hansard."

Mr. Ross then read the agreement and continued:

"I want the House also to keep in mind that

Gotoh Was the Client of W. J. Bowser

and that W. J. Bowser prepared that original agreement."

Mr. Ross then read at length the Colonist's report of Premier McBride's speech on the day before the election in B.C. and the famous roorback in the Province about the employing of Japanese labor by the G.T.P., the significance of which he explained.

Continuing he said:

VICTORIOUS CURLERS

Greenwood's victorious curlers yesterday brought back from the bonspiel just about all the silverware and cut-glass they could handle. W. G. McMynn's rink took both the Grand Challenge cup and the Association cup and with each of these, there are preented four individual prizes, which are retained by members of the rink. The cups return for competition next year.

Dill's rink captured one of the most envied prizes of the bonspiel consisting of four large pieces of silver mounted cut-glass—a biscuit jar, a cake dish, a fruit dish, and water pitcher—all presented as the Walkerville prize by H. Walker, Walkerville, Ont. The individual prizes with the Grand Challenge are four silver mounted cut-glass decanter stands given by G. P. Wells, Strathcona Hotel, Nelson. One of these goes to each member of McMynn's rink. Four very handsome tobacco pieces go with the Association cup and are the donation of J. O. Patenaude, Nelson. Some of the members of the rink who neither smoke or imbibe of the flowing bowl are said to be afraid to take the prizes home. They are now exhibition in the window of Gulley's furniture emporium.

The Times extends its hearty congratulation to each and every member of the rinks and to the skips for the honor they have brought Greenwood. The Greenwood Club are giving a smoker in their honor tomorrow (Saturday) night to which all the members of the Curling Club are invited.

CORRESPONDENCE.

To the Editor of The Times:

In order to correct an erroneous impression that seems to prevail in certain quarters in this community, respecting the stand taken by this Union regarding the ineffiency of its individual members, Greenwood Miner's Union No 22, W.F.M. takes this opportunity to define its position in this matter; namely, this Union does not in any way either by word or example encourage inefficiency or shirking by its members of the duties to which they are assigned, and further, disclaims responsibility for the acts of individuals.

Regarding the suggestion also rumored that there at present exists some slight constraint and antagonism between the Smelter Co. and this Local, we wish to emphatically contradict, and ridicule such an absurd misapprehension. The works closed down, the men perforce quit work, and since then nothing has been done or said between the B.C. Copper Co. and this Local.

PHOENIX v. GREENWOOD

The hockey match between the "sevens" of Phoenix and Greenwood last Monday night provided an exhibition of good, fast, and reasonably clean hockey. Up till half time, the locals in spite of the fact that their ranks were broken four times, while they were unable to put the elusive rubber between the posts at all, put up a pretty fair fight. In the second half, the visitors weakened and towards the end of the game only the exceptionally good work of Biner, the Phoenix goalkeeper, prevented the evening up of the score. The play for the last quarter was kept pretty closely in Phoenix territory. The home team stood four penalties at the hands of Referee Chas. Summers, whose indulgence toward the visitors was to say the least of it, very like Charlie, exceedingly generous The score was 4-1 in favor of Phoenix.

The line-up was as follows:

Goal—	G. Biner	W. Watson.
Point—	A Clarke	J. J. Feeney
Cover—	S. C. Lackey	R. Carrington

THE RIGHT RING.

It is with a great deal of pleasure that THE TIMES publishes in another column of this issue the communication from the Greenwood Miners' Union regarding the efficiency of its members and the feeling existing between them and the B.C. Copper company. It is a statement that will interest every one desirous of the welfare of this community.

It is not our intention now or at any time to probe the past for what that holds. The editor of this paper frankly confesses that he knows practically nothing about what has been the history of the relations between the labor organizations and the copper companies in this district. But facing the situation as it is before us now, the letter referred to above has the right ring. And if the Union will continue to exhibit that spirit and the copper companies will maintain the frank and straightforward policy that has characterized Mr. McAllister's dealing with the circumstances that caused the shut-down, there should be very little trouble in building up in Greenwood a mining industry with ideal or nearly conditions. And it is claimed by those near to the counsels of the B.C. Copper Co., that if such conditions are obtained, the executive of that organization will prove themselves not only fair but benevolent administrators.

Referring to these things, from a personal standpoint we have been told that there is too much sentiment and not enough business in our view of the way in which a man should regard his work. That is, that it is not practical enough. But sentiment is not impractical; on the contrary, it is one of the most practical things in the world. Nothing more vitally affects what you accomplish in the work you are doing than the way you feel in regard to it. It is because of this that keen business men constantly advise young men to seek out the kind of work, they will most enjoy and refuse to encourage a young man however capable he may be to remain in their employ unless he can and does like his work. It is on this ground then that we are inclined to favor the desire in the present situation to have the men look upon their employers as their friends rather than as their enemies.

"The Province of the same evening has an editorial in which it commends W. J. Bowser for drawing the attention of the public to the efforts of the McBride government to prevent the influx of cheap Japanese labor into this country. He was also commended for further warning the public regarding a contract entered into by the Grand Trunk Pacific for a supply of Japanese labor and the Province 'intimated this contract would be made effective if the McBride government were defeated and the Liberals returned to power.'

"The editorial of the Province concludes in the following words: 'Mr. Bowser's warning therefore to the people of British Columbia who do not want the province swamped with cheap labor is worthy of most serious consideration.'

"The people of Canada were subsequently made aware of the strong position taken by the people of Vancouver in regard to this question and when the Province's article appeared on the evening before the election with its wealth of detail, giving particulars of this contract, telling them about Gotoh being in Japan for the purpose of carrying out the conditions of this contract, it would have been absolutely impossible to have elected the angel Gabriel in the city of Vanccuver in view of the information contained in that article. It would have been equally impossible to have secured at that time any evidence strong enough to counteract the effects of this article before the election took place on the day immediately following the publication of this article. The result was that the Liberal party did not carry a seat in Vancouver, although up to the time this article was published it was confidently expected by Liberals that they would carry the five seats in the city of Vancouver and prominent Conservatives admitted that at least three of the Liberal candidates would have been elected. Wherever the Province got this information, so far as the G.T.P. railway was concerned, the report of Mackenzie King conclusively proves that there was in the statement of the Province.

"The report of the Colonist states that details of this information were given by W. J. Bowser in a speech delivered in the city of Vancouver. The Vancouver Province is the organ of the Canadian Pacific Railway, a corporation which had entered into a contract with Gotoh or the Canadian Nippon Supply Company for Japanese labor. The agreement entered into was prepared by W. J. Bowser.

"Then we have this suggestion that W. J. Bowser, Conservative candidate in the city of Vancouver, the present attorney-general in the McBride government, solicitor for Gotoh, draughtsman of the Gotoh agreement, goes to the Vancouver Province, organ of the C.P.R., the night immediately before the general election, attaches the Gotoh agreement (which he himself had drawn up and which had been entered into by the C.P.R.) to the United Construction & Supply Company of Prince Rupert, a purely mercantile concern, and tells the people of British Columbia that under this agreement the Grand Trunk Pacific is going to bring in 50,000 Japs.

"You can search the annals of Canadian history, Mr. Speaker, and you cannot find another instance to equal this for Cold Blooded Mendacity.

The question of professional ethics involved, I leave to the consideration of the lawyers of the House. I ask them if it is in accordance with best traditions of the profession that a lawyer should use information of his client that could come to him in no other way for the purpose which I have mentioned.

"There has been a suggestion that legislation should be introduced making the publication of election roorbachs of this description a political offence. If such legislation could have been made effective in British Columbia, I have no hesitation in saying that W. J. Bowser, the new attorney-general of the province, would be mulcted in heavy penalties.

"Let us trace briefly the results of the contracts of which W. J. Bowser was the author and finisher. In an interesting table prepared by Mackenzie King, which is published on page 11 of his report, it is demonstrated that outside of the Japanese which arrived in Vancouver under the that only 290 arrived in the province of British Columbia during the ten months in 1907, a number far less than the limit allowed under the arrangement between this government and the government of Japan.

"Or putting it another way, if there had been no Japs brought in under the Gotoh agreement prepared by W. J. Bowser, there would have been no Japanese disturbance in British Columbia last year.

"Let us go further into the inside history of the career of the illustrious W. J. Bowser. During the general elections to which I have referred, he claimed a good deal of credit for the McBride government for having time and time again introduced legislation in the local legislature which had for its object the utter prohibition of Oriental immigration into the province of British Columbia and that such legislation had always been vetoed by the government at Ottawa. He made promises to the electors that if he were returned that he would again introduce such legislation and reintroduce it until the Liberals at Ottawa were brought to their senses. He had to make some effort to carry out his pre-election promises, and it is quite true that on April 2nd, 1907, he introduced a measure in the local legislature which will go down to history as the Bowser bill.

"The enacting clause of this bill reads as follows:

"The immigration into British Columbia of any person who when asked to do so by the officer appointed under this act shall fail himself to write out and sign in the English language or any language in Europe, an application to the provincial secretary of the province of British Columbia, to the effect of the form setout in schedule "B" to this act annexed, as well as read in English, or any language of Europe, any test submitted to him by the officer appointed under this act, shall be lawful."

"It sounds alright, Mr. Speaker, I will read it again.

Mr. Ross re-read the clause and continued:

"It may still sound alright to the hon. members of the House. I will now eliminate all the verbiage with which it is surrounded and the intent of the legislation is found in these words:

"I shall be lawful for any one who can not read and write in English or in any European language to enter the province of British Columbia."

"While we may not all agree as to whether the honorable the leader of the opposition is a great leader of a party, I think members on both sides of the House will admit that in committe work, in picking out weak places in legislation, in drafting amendments to cover these deficiencies that there is no abler member in the House, and I will ask him if this clause is not that an ordinary mortal would have passed it without discovering its defect, unless it was very carefully dissected. It passed the scrutiny of Mr. J. A. Macdonald, the leader of the opposition in the provincial legislature, than whom there is no brighter or abler lawyer in the province. After the defect was discovered it was thought that it was a lapsus linguae and nothing worse, but taking into consideration the facts that I have given to this House, facts which were not then known, it can be readily seen that W. J. Bowser had a very strong motive in drafting this bill, so that if it ever became law, it should prove contradictory in its language and nugatory in its effect. He knew of the Gotoh contracts. He knew of the contracts entered into by the Nippon Supply Co. There were contracts made between his clients and his powerful political ally, the Canadian Pacific Railway Co. If the bill which he introduced in the legislature was passed and received the assent of the Lieut.-Governor, it would become law and once it became law, the Gotoh contracts could not be carried out. But he had to make some effort to carry out his pre-election promises, and he therefore drafted a measure very cleverly, which even if it should become law, could not be made effective.

"The first thing he had to do was to Protect the Gotoh Contracts.

His next object was to show the people of British Columbia that if Lieutenant-Governor Dunsmuir refused his assent to the measure, that the Lieutenant-Governor had been appointed by the Liberal government here, and was another illustration of the hostility of the local party to any effort made to restrict oriental immigration. But even if the Lieut-Governor did give his assent to this measure, and it was vetoed on the advice of the government here, he could always say to the people of British Columbia that here was another illustration of the hostility of the government here towards any effort made to restrict Oriental immigration in British Columbia

"Clever, isn't it?

"But let us look to for a brief moment at the position taken by his leader, the Hon. Richard McBride. Mr. Bowser introduces his bill in the legislature on the 2nd April, 1907, it received its second reading in the legislature on April 10th, 1907. On April 16th, 1907, Mr. McBride was in the city of Ottawa, en route to England to place the grievances of the province of British Columbia in connection with Better Terms, 'at the foot of the throne.' On April 16th, the same day, he had an interview with Hon. R. W. Scott, secretary of state, and asked for credentials, which were given him. Incidentally Mr. Scott asked him if the bill introduced by Mr. Bowser, who was not then his attorney-general, but a private member of the House, was likely to become law. Mr. McBride's reply was 'No; the Lieut.-Governor

Will Not Give His Assent

to it.' This was such a marvellous statement by the premier of the province in reference to legislation whith had not yet received its second reading in the House, that the Secretary of State wired the Lieut.-Governor asking him if the statement of Hon. Richard McBride were true. He replied that the statement was quite true, that he did not intend to give his assent to the bill, and he was waiting fully explaining his position. This all took place on the 17th April. The bill received its second reading on the 18th of April. It went into committee on the 20th April. It was reconsidered and finally passed on the 22nd of April. And on the 25th of April the legislature was prorogued, and Mr. Dunsmuir reserved his assent to the Bowser Bill.

"Now, Sir, Mr. McBride is busy repuditating any responsibility for the action of the Lieut.-Governor. He takes the position in the local House, according to newspaper reports, that Mr. Dunsmuir is the agent of the of the Dominion government and that his government cannot be held responsible for any of his actions. But I wish to ask if he knew nothing regarding what he intended to do, how could he inform the honourable the secretary of state as to the position he Lieutenant-Governor intended to take, seven days before the Lieut. Governor took action, and one day before the bill even received its second reading in the House? So you see that while the Liberal party are receiving a great deal of blame from Conservatives of British Columbia for their action in connection with this matter, the leaders of the Conservative party in the province of British Columbia were guilty of

in connection with legislation which they themselves introduced. I am not here to defend the action of the Lieut.-Governor of the Province of British Columbia, but I am bound to say that there is a marked difference between his course and that of his two most important advisors. I have no hesitation in saying here, and now so far as his refusal to give his assent to the Bowser Natal Act was concerned, that if he is blame at all his blame is not to be compared with that which ought to be accorded Messrs. McBride and Bowser. I do not believe that Mr. Dunsmuir signed this contract of his own accord without somebody advising him, and if the truth were known I think it would be found out that about that time there was a of the W. J. Bowser stripe at his elbow. Because of the fact that the Lieut.-Governor had signed a contract of this kind made it much easier to successfully carry out a scheme of political trickery the facts in connection with which I have endeavored to make clear to the House."

Brilliant and Modern Machiavelli

Mr. Ross, continuing, pointed out that since the King investigation the Dominion government passed an order in council absolutely prohibiting Japanese immigration from the Hawaiian Islandus, that under arrangements made by Hon. Mr. Lemieux in Japan no contract labor could leave there without the consent of the Dominion government and consequently that no Japanese could be brought into this country under Gotoh contracts, and therefore Mr. Bowser no longer had any incentive to protect Gotoh interests by introducing a in legislature.

To endanger the diplomatic settlement made with Japan, to still further keep up the political turmoil now that the question was satisfactorily settled he introduces a properly drafted Natal Act into the legislature.

In view of the facts which he had given he trusted that the members of the legislature would refuse to be further buncoed by W. J. Bowser, and that they would so act as to forever make it impossible for him to continue the agitation against a sound and wise diplomatic settlement of an exceedingly dangerous question.

William Whyte, 2nd Vice-president of the C.P.R., while at Montreal conferring with President Shaughnessy, gave the following interview about the prospect of electrification on their system. It is taken from the Montreal correspondence to the Monetary Times:

"Electrification will, no doubt, come in due course, but the chief difficulty we have to face is the storage of electricity in the higher altitudes, where the mountain creeks are frozen. We shall make a start with the boundary section of the Crow's Nest line, in the southern part of British Columbia, where the water is plentful throughout the year, and the question of storage will not be serious."

Do You Open Your Mouth

Like a young bird and gulp down whatever food or medicine may be offered you? Or, do you want to know something of the composition and character of that which you take into your stomach whether as food or medicine?

Most intelligent and sensible people now-a-days insist on knowing what they employ whether as food or as medicine. Dr. Pierce believes they have a perfect right to insist upon such knowledge. So he publishes, broadcast and on each bottle-wrapper, what his medicines are made of and verifies it under oath. This he feels he can well afford to do because the more the ingredients of which his medicines are made are studied and understood the more will their superior curative virtues be appreciated.

For the cure of woman's peculiar weaknesses, irregularities and derangements, giving rise to frequent headaches, backache, dragging-down pain or distress in lower abdominal or pelvic region, accompanied, oftimes, with a debilitating, pelvic, catarrhal drain and kindred symptoms of weakness, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is a most efficient remedy. It is equally effective in curing painful periods, in giving strength to nursing mothers and in preparing the system of the expectant mother for baby's coming, thus rendering childbirth safe and comparatively painless. The "Favorite Prescription" is a most potent, strengthening tonic to the general system and to the organs distinctly feminine in particular. It is also a soothing and invigorating nervine and cures nervous exhaustion, nervous prostration, neuralgia, hysteria, spasms, chorea or St. Vitus's dance, and other distressing nervous symptoms attendant upon functional and organic diseases of the distinctly feminine organs.

A host of medical authorities of all the several schools of practice, recommend each of the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is made for the cure of the diseases for which it is claimed to be a cure. You may read what they say for yourself by sending a postal card request for a free booklet of extracts from the leading authorities, to Dr. R. V. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., and it will come to you by return post.

Friends of W. F. Honey, formerly of the Winnipeg mine, in Wellington camp, and one of the pioneer promoters of the Boundary district were grieved on Tuesday last to learn of the death of his eldest boy, Charlie. The boy was 18 years of age and when a mere lad spent one of his summers, holidaying at the camp, and so he too was known by many of the men there, who remember him very pleasantly. Death occured on the 18th of January, at Park River, N.D., where the family home now is. The family, the parents, two daughter, and a younger son have the sympathy of all their father's old friends in the Boundary country.

The meeting of the Royal Victoria Gold Mining Company, Ltd. was adjourned from last monday until Monday the 3rd of February, at 5 o'clock. The meeting was called to consider the acceptance of a bond on the Golden Eagle from J.A. Thompson, of Spokane. The Golden Eagle was formerly owned by J. H. Fox and S. M. Moulton-Barrett. It adjoins the Volcanic, the world-shaker on the Kettle River and itself when worked was looked upon as a gem. It is understood the directors considered they could better by much the bond offered and an adjournment was decided upon to allow for developments.

An unfortunate affair, ending in the death of Andrew Johnson, a native of Sweden, occured at Phoenix last Saturday. Johnson had been drinking and it appears had gone to a house near L. Y. Birnie's. Birnie in some way attempted to turn the man away and it is claimed kicked him. This was about one o'clock in the afternoon. The man spent most of the afternoon about the Knob Hill hotel. In going from the Knob Hill to the Central hotel, he fell and was carried back to the hotel where he died. Deceased was 46 years of age, had two children in Sweden and a sister in Seattle. The Coroner's jury, on Monday, returned a verdict from alcoholic poisoning.

DEATH OF WM. DIAMOND

The death of William Diamond, principal owner of the Diamond Fraction, removes one of the old prospectors of this district. Deceased was 65 years old and had been in the west ever since '74. Ht had been in Greenwood for ten years and had lived latterly in a cabin on the Diamond Fraction claim. Here he was found dead, in bed, on Sunday last by G. Swanlund, with whom he had arranged to work that day. When deceased did not turn up, Swanlund went up to his cabin and found him. An inquest was held by Coroner Black on Monday, finding that death resulted from apoplexy, following the rupture of an artery of the brain.

Deceased had considerable property here and in Oregon, which is bequeathed to two neices in Ireland. Dr. J. E. Spankie is executor of the will. Funeral was held on Wednesday at 2 p.m.

The Granby mines have this year so far shipped 69,332 tons of ore and the smelter has treated 75,830 tons.

Both the Boston News Bureau and the Boston Commercial publish rumors of the consolidation of the three copper companies operating in this district. No local information of a definite character is obtainable as yet. Jay P. Graves interviewed in Spokane did not deny, did not endorse. It is no doubt of value to the Granby from the point of view of their stock interesrs to have such rumors in circulation. Some announcement is looked for in the affairs of the Dominion Copper company soon but what the turn will be, little seems to be known here. At the annual meeting of the company adjourned at Phoenix on Monday and held in Greenwood on Wednesday, the directors reports were endorsed. After the meeting it was stated that early developments were expected.
