ACTIVE BUILDING

Work on V., V. & E. and Midway and Vernon.

START ON SIMILKAMEEN

Chief Engineer Lackie Returns from Inspection of Route.

Work on the Similkameen end of the V., V. & E. will be commenced in a few days. P. Welch, who has charge of the Canadian side of the work for J. W. Stewart, returned this week from Keremeos. He went there for the purpose of sub-contracting the work from the boundary line to Keremeos. Owing to the mild winters in the Lower Similkameen valley, it is expected that active railway construction can be prosecuted there during the winter months.

The work from Midway to the international boundary line in the Similkameen valley is well under way, but lack of labor is still handicapping operations. Men are coming in but not fast enough to suit the railway contractors.

On the Midwan and Vernon Engineer Lackie has been directing his energies to securing the necessary survey parties to complete all surveys before winter sets in. Accompanied by H. Arthur a son of one of the New York principals, he rode over the proposed route to Vernon last week. He found the mountain pass offered no serious difficulties to railway construction and Engineer Snow now has his party at the summit. He hopes to complete the survey of this portion of the route before the heavy snow falls.

Messrs. Lackie and Snow had a delightful trip across the mountains and were much impressed with the Okanagan valley. It was a revelation to them to leave the mountain peaks and enter the Okanagan valley, the garden of British Columbia. They saw fruit everywhere, and fruit of the finest quality.

Sub-contracts on this line have been let beyond Rock Creek and the right of way men are busy clearing towards Westbridge. Engineer Bassett has completed the field work beyond Westbridge, and as he is making good progress it is expected he will connect with Mr. Snow's work on the summit during next month.

There is an air of hopefulness about the West Fork country which railway construction always brings. Mining men are developing their property and travel has largely increased into that promising section.

Beaverdell on Saturday and Sunday last was full of survey parties and others, and those who were patiently waiting for the good times to come had that satisfied look which prosperity brings.

At Beaverdell Thos. McAulay has arranged to open the dining room of his hotel.

Mrs. D. W. Smith has a comfortable stopping house at Beaverdell, where travelers get the best of accommodation.

RAILROAD MAGNATES.

President James J. Hill of the Great Northern Visits Granby Mines.

PHOENIX, Sept. 27.—The most important party of railway men that ever took a trip into the Boundary country were visitors in Phoenix today, being the guests of James J. Hill, president of the Great Northern railway. They traveled in a special Pullman train of seven coaches from St. Paul, being on on a general inspection of the line, and having come from Fernie yesterday. After spending a couple of hours here the party proceeded to the Granby smelter and thence direct eo the coast, intending to proceed east on the Northern Pacific.

Jay P. Graves, manager of the Granby Consolidated, accompanied the party from Spokane, and with General Superintendent Hodges of the Granby company, escorted the members of the party over and through the Granby mines, it being the first trip made by the Great Northern president to these properties. The No. 1 level of the Knob Hill mine was inspected, where the steam shovel is at work in the Great open quarry. The two huge ore crushers, the machine shop, hoist house, and 60-drill compressor building were seen, after which the party took a trip on the improvised observation car a mile or two underground on the trolley.

Most of those present had not been here before, but were not a little impressed with the maguitude with which mining operations are being carried on here, together with the vast extent of the ore bodies in the properties.

In the party of fifteen or twenty prominent men as President Hill's guests were the following: Louis W. Hill, son of President Hill; Ben Campbell, fourth vice-president of the Great Northern; W. B. Drehe, director of the Great Northern; Howard Ellitt, president of the Northern Pacific; D. Miller, first vice-president of the C. B. & Q. O.; Gardner M. Lane, of Lee-Higginson, bankers, New York and Boston; J. J. Hannaford, second vice-president of the Northern Pacific; Fletcher A. Baker, banker, New York; George C. Clark and Payne Whitney, New York, directors of the Granby Co.; Amos T. French, banker, New York; Samuel and Jonathan Horne, capitalists, New York; August Kissell, banker, New York.

LOTS OF POWER.

Those who are worrying about the shortage of power in the Boundary for mining and smelting purposes will be comforted by this encouraging announcement, which appears in a recent issue of the Colonial Mining News of London, England. It says:

"Mr. Oliver Wethered, one of the managing directors of the West Australia Gold Fields, limited, is leaving London shortly for British Columbia. Owing to the growth of the mining industry in the Boundary district, there is a very large demand for electrical power and Mr. Wetherod is going out to consult with American experts as to the Kettle River Power company—in which the West Australian Gold Fields is largely interested—putting up additional electricel power and extending their dams and probably erecting supplemental steam power, a course which is strongly recommended by J. G. White & Co., the electrical engineers of London and New York. The Kettle River Power company is already making substantial profits with its present plant, but the demand for power is so great that the Bonningtou company—150 miles off—are endeavoring to obtain leave to put in a transmission line to supply the additional power needed in the Boundary district, which naturally belongs to the Kettle River company, but this intention will be effectually blocked by the proposed increase of the Kettle River plant

THE HOTTEST COON IN DIXIE.

Mr. Ernest Willis will present in Greenwood next Tuesday evening, Oct. 3rd, at the Auditorium, the very latest and revised edition of his quartette of all coon operas The Hottest Coon in Dixie, with forty of the most select entertainers of the colored amusement profession. Since The Hottest Coon in Dixie was seen here last June, many changes have been made both in the production and the company producing it, while all the old favorites have been retained there are many new faces to be seen, and the chorus numbers twice that of last season and is one of the strongest singing combinations ever ensembled. An entire new musical setting has ceen arranged including all of the season's very latest successes together with an augmented band an orchestra. An entire new costume scenic and light equipment make The Hottest Coon in Dixie an entire new show this season the only things remaining the same are the prices 50, 75 and $1.00.

Watch for the big street parade at four o'clock p. m.

Mrs. J. B. Leighton of Savonas was the guest last week of Mrs. Crews of Anaconda. She was delighted with the Boundary.

MISCARRIAGE OF JUSTICE.

A bye- election was held in Alberni recently. The Conservative candidate won out. A number of impersonators went over from Vancouver, Steveston and elsewhere in a steamer provided by those in close touch with the McBride government and voted in the names of bona fide voters at Wellington. The excursion was conducted by at least one government official. The acts of impersonation were so flagrant that in the public interest a number of those who are anxious to have clean elections in the province decided to prosecute. A man, Ed. Nilson, who was caught red-handed, voted in the name of Nels Christian Nilson. He was arrested and the preliminary trial was begun before Magistrate Yarwood of Nanaimo. The magistrate who heard evidence sufficient to commit the accused for trial, dismissed the case because the prosecution did not produce the real Nels Christian Nelson. Now the real Nels Christian Nelson happened to be in Seattle at the time; he might have been in Heaven and human ingenuity has not yet solved the transportation problem from the great beyond. If the magistrate's decision be sound voting in the names of dead men is no crime.

In the interests of the decent electors of this province an appeal should be taken from the magistrate's decision. It is so absurd that there should be no difficulty in securing a reopening of the case.

SENATOR TEMPLEMAN in his younger days was an all round printer. He likes to take a hand in the game yet. When he left Victoria to join the tariff commission a new Hoe press was being erected in the office of his newspaper, the Victoria Times. He regretfully left the job of putting the intricate parts of that beautiful piece of machinery together in order to look after affairs of state. Somehow the boys in the office completed the job without the senator's assistance. The first issue from the new press was a remarkable specimen of newspaper art. It might have been printed in Chinese and be equally intelligible to its readers. The senator found a copy in Greenwood. He said nothing, but thought much. Fortunately his thoughts have not been recorded by the Hansard men taking the tariff commission. Since then the Hoe press has been behaving beautifully and the senator and Victoria Times are receiving congratulations from all over the country. The installation of one of the most modern newspaper presses in the office of the Times marks the beginning of a new era in the history of Victoria. That city has made remarkable progress during the past few years, when the business of a daily newspaper warrants such an expensive addition to its plant.

VICTORIA has been afflicted with mushroom publications, conducted by men who think they know something about running a newspaper. The Week is the latest and worst of the bunch. Last week its editor, who is evidently a haw, haw Englishman, who can see nothing good in the "blooming" colonies, undertook to put words in the mouth of Sir Frederick Borden never uttered by that gentleman. The language was the language of the East End of London, naturally adapted to the editor of The Week, but quite foreign to an educated, cultured gentleman of Sir Frederick Borden's type. Sir Frederick occupies a very high position in Canada, and when he was for the time being a guest in an important city like Victoria, the editor of The Week should have been muzzled. Victorians naturally take pride in their beautiful city and under no circumstances should there have been a possibility of Sir Frederick returning home laboring under the impression that the editor of The Week reflected public opinion through his publication.

IT IS announced that Mr. Justice Nesbitt intends retiring from the supreme court bench of Canada to renew the practice of his profession. The vacancy should be filled by the appointment of a British Columbia jurist, and the names of Chief Justice Hunter and Mr. Justice Duff have been mentioned. Either would be a credit to the province on the supreme court bench. There are many appeal cases going from this province to the supreme court, and it is very essential that at least one of its members should have an intimate knowledge of British Columbia law

A CURFEW bylaw was passed by the municipal council of the City of Greenwood. It should be enforced or repealed. During the Harold Nelson performance about twenty urchins, who should have been in bed, congregated in the gallery and in a large measure spoiled the play for performers and audience.

GEO. FRASER, M. P. P., and Ernest Miller of Grand Forks were in Victoria this week trying to retain the grip of the gang ou Greenwood district. The new board of license commissioners will be appointed, nevertheless. Even the McBride government cannot stand for everything.

The Grand Forks correspondent of the Nelson Daily News has discovered "Tripple camp on the West Fork." If Tripple Lake camp is meant, it has been discovered and worked for ten years. The camp was written up in the Midway Advance nine years ago and in this paper eight years ago. It was blue-printed by A. E. Ashcroft, C. E., several years ago. It is not on the West Fork, but on the watershed of the main river, in Canyon creek district. With these few exceptions the correspondent is fairly correct.

NOT THE ONLY ONE.

The Cranbrook Herald says: "Our property is taxed regardless of our political affiliations, taxed so much in fact that this district is yielding to the government, from Liberal and Conservative alike, $100,000 a year, and yet for the sake of political revenge, for that purpose of preventing any credit being given to the Liberal member, this district is being retarded in its growth for the lack of governmental expenditures that should legitimately be made here. The roads and trails are being neglected. The streets in the different towns are given no attention. The government officials are transacting their business in crowded hovels that would be a disgrace to a dynasty on an island in the South seas. The question that everyone must ask himself is, 'is this fair?' It certainly is not fair, but it is only another instance of the way in which the present heads of the first Conservative government in British Columbia, McBride and Green, believe the political game should be played."

Danger Not Imminent.

The Greenwood Times remarks: "If Grand Forks is considered the most suitable location, the new Dominion Copper company's smelter will be built there whether a bonus is offered or not." It is quite apparent that our neighbor is afraid of that bonus by-law.—Grand Forks Sun.

Not so much afraid of the bonus by-law as the injury to other cities and towns in Canada when the mad rush of capital for those debentures sets in. The Sun will perhaps remember the frenzied state of capitalists in the East when the Grand Forks debentures in favor of the Great Northern were placed on the market. So great was the demand, that it is understood J. J. Hill decided the debentures were too valuable to be disposed of and returned them to the city.

The night show at the Minnesota state fair is the big thing, said George T. Crane, the shoe merchant of Spokane, on his return from the east last week. I visited the fair in the evening anp was astonished. Thirteen thousand people occupied the grand stand and there was not a seat to spare. They watched the vaudeville show which is given in front of the grand stand at night the same as the Spokane fair will give it this year. There were all manner of attractions just as we will have, but the best of all was the "Fall of Port Arthur," given in fireworks by the same company which is to give it for us. There cannot be too much said in favor of this wonderful sight. I cannot understand how such a display can be made. It was a great sight.

Of Cholera Morbus with One Small Bottle of Chamberlain' Colic Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy.

Mr. G. W. Fowler of Hightower, Ala. relates an experience he had while serving on a petit jury in a murder case at Edwardsville, county seat of Clebourne county, Alabama. He says: "While there I ate some fresh meat and some sous meat and it gave me cholera morbus in a very severe form. I was never more sick in my life and sent to the drug store for a certain cholera mixture, but the druggist sent me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy instead, saying that he had what I sent for, but that this medicine was so much better he would rather send it to me in the fix I was in. I took one dose of it and was better in five minutes. The second dose cured me entirely. Two fellow jurors were afflicted in the same manner and one twenty-five cent bottle cured the three of us." Thirty silver cups have already been donated for trophies in the dog show to be given October 11 to 14 during the Spokane Interstate fair. A. B. Jackson, secretary and manager, says he will be able to secure still more, making the total in excess of the number awarded at the last year's show. Most of the prizes in this department are diplomas and cup trophies. There are four cash premiums given as sweepstakes. The handler showing the largest string of dogs from California receives $20.00. The same is true of the largest string from British Columbia, the largest string from Oregon and the largest string from Washington, outside of Spokane. Not less than ten dogs must be exhibited by any handler to win the money. Silver medals will be given to first, and bronze medals to second prize winners all classes. It is not necessary to have a pedigree to show a dog. James Cole of Kansas City will judge the dogs.

Settlers and others may also obtain permits to cut up to 100 cords of wood for sale without competition.

The dues payable under a permit are $1.50 per thousand feet B. M., for square timber and sawlogs of any wood except oak; from ½ to 1½ cents per lineal foot for building logs; from 12½ to 25 cents per cord for wood; 1 cent for fence posts; 3 cents for railway ties; and 50 cents per cord on shingle bolts.

THE WASTE DUMP.

The lightest of all known substances is hydrogen.

Illinois covers an area of 56,000 square miles, or 35,840,000 acres. Beds of bituminous coal are known to underlie a third of this immense area.

About one third of the known chemical elements have been found in meteorites, but no new element has ever been discovered in them.

There is obtained by the Eschweiler and Woltereck process ammonia equal to 6 to 8 per cent of sulphate of ammonia on the quantity of dry peat consumed.

The German coal syndicate sold 4,605,345 tons in June, and it is announced that the government has made arrangements to purchase more shares in the Hibernia mines.

In concentrating ores by the Elmore oil process the thick residium of petroleum gives the best results. The more viscous the oil is the better for catching the ore, and the less viscous it is the better for a separation from the concentrates.

It cost 9.96 cents to produce a pound of copper at the Gsceola mine in Michigan last year. Dividends paid in 1904 were equivalent to 12 per cent on the issued capital of $2,403,750, or, say, 1.26 cents per pound of copper on the total output of 22,929088 pounds.

Copper silicon is a good deoxidizer, and it has been used largely in copper and brass castings to increase their tensile strength. Copper silicon is obtained from the electric furnace at a cost so low that it is likely to displace nearly all other alloys in the copper and brass foundaries.

The administrative expenses of the nickel trust in the last fiscal year absorbed nearly nine per cent of the net income.

In Silisia 2,757 women are employed in the zinc industry, their wages amounting to 793,205 marks or $71.92 average per annum.

A fossil tree trunk, 8 feet high and 12 inches in diameter, has been found in a Belgian colliery. Smaller tree trunks have also been uncovered in this mine. It is believed that they were not grown there but have been carried for a distance and deposited at the place where found.

Acetylene, made from calcium carbide, has extended its field rapidly, and today there are upward of 8,000 of such installations of all capacities in active operation. Recently acetylene has been utilized for power purposes, especially for driving gas engines. According to tests made, 5.65 cubic feet of acetylene gas will develop one horsepower, while 21.19 cubic feet of coal gas of ordinary quality are required for the same purpose.

At the Quincy copper mine in Michigan last year the average earnings of miners was $62.40 per month. The average force employed was 1,605 men, of whom 592 are rated as miners. The rock mined totaled 1,070,131 tons, of which 1,018,873 were stamped, yielding 18,343,160 pounds refined copper, which sold at an average of 13.33 cents per pound, Dividends of $500,000, equal to 2.6 cents per pound of copper produced were paid during 1905.

The celebrated Baku oil fields of Russia are the greatest in the world. Their production in the ten years from 1891 to 1901 added immensely to the world's petroleum production and caused the United States to take second place in the point of production, as in 1891 the United States produced 62 per cent of the world's output aud Russio 38 per cent. In 1901 Cussia produced 62 per cent and the Enited States 38.

Saccharin is prepared chemically from toluene, a methyl benzine or coal tar product. The product is white crystals soluble in water, alcohol and ether. Its valuable property is its enormously sweet taste, being about 550 times sweeter than cane sugar. So that a solution of one part in 10,000 parts of water will impart to the water a perceptibly sweetish taste.

In the manufacture of artificial ice the water is freed from every trace of foreign subsiance by boiling and distillation. Underneath the middle space of the freezing room is a series of tanks. These contain a strong solution of brine, and through it run scores of pipes charged with liquified ammonia gas. When the volatile chemical leaves the engine room it is in the form of a fluid, but in making its long journey along the pipes that thread their way through the brine, it evaporates into gas. The evaporating process within absorbs so much heat from the surrounding mass of salt and water that the distilled water in the rectangular ice cans submerged in the brine is congealed into the clearest ice. Each can of distilled water is allowed is allowed to remain in its cold bath for 48 hours. These cans are then lifted and dropped for an instant in a well of hot water to loosen the ice. Then they are lifted to the floor and out of each comes a fine pure cake of ice ready for use.

No argument is so convincing as practical proof. Come in and let us show you that we can fit your eyes with the proper glasses after others have failed. Hearing appliances and artificial eyes. Last week the vein was struck in the No. 2 shaft of the Duncan on Wallace mountain. The pay shoot is from 8 to 10 inches wide. The Duncan is under bond to C. F. Fair of Greenwood and associates.

O. I. Ostroski and Dick Breslauer returned to Spokane on Monday's stage. Mr. Ostroski would have stayed longer if Greenwood pinocle players had lasted longer. He said he exhausted the supply in one day.

HAROLD NELSON HERE.

Please a Large Audience In Prince Otto.

That Harold Nelson has captured the theatre-going public of Greenwood and vicinity, was demonstrated by the overflowing house which gteeted him and his company on Tuesday night; it also demoustrated that merit counts even in a Western mining town. It is so seldom that a company of merit appears away from the regular theatrical route that people get discouraged and seldom patronize any of the traveling shows. Harold Nelson is easily the exception in the West. The play was "Prince Otto" and the company was comprised of many of those who have been associated with Mr. Nelson for years. Clifford Bruce is still with him, as accomplished and brilliant as ever, and Miss Helen Scott is still the leading lady. If she weren't a lady, it would be safe to say she improves with age—but ladies never grow old. Nelson as Prince Otto increases the wonder why he continues to play the towns in the West rather rather than find greater scope for his ability in the larger cities, but, as he himself says, he loves the West and the Western people.

The dramatization of Robert Louis Stevenson's novel is a sprightly affair, full of funny situations that please the audience. In fact there is suffieient absurdity to somewhat mar the beautiful and weaken the strong points in the play.

Mr. Nelson and his company return in about three weeks and will appear in the Italian tragedy "Francesca de Romini."
