BLOODLESS BATTLE

C. P. R. Land Department Doing Things.

FENCE IN THE V., V. & E.

Want Compensation For Lands Used bp Rival Company.

A big railway fight in sight! So thought those denizens of the Boundary who enjoy a good fight, it matters not whether the contestants are railway corporations or just ordinary individuals. On Monday night a fence was built across the V., V. & E. grade by a C. P. R. gang of workmen and the blood of the truculent ones flowed more freely as they beheld visions of bloodless battles, lawsuits, injunctions, quo warranto proceedings, and and possibly one or two courts of nisi prius or oyer and terminer, whatever these terms may mean.

The situation bore all the ear marks of a good fight, to quote the language of the mining promoter. There was W. Pearce, assistant land commissioner for the Canadian Pacific Railway company. There was Frederic McLaine, his Fidus Achates in the Boundary. There was that necessary evil, a lawyer, in the person of Mr. Hanington of Grand Forks, and there were several railway navvies to complete the goodly company.

Building a fence across the grade of a powerful railway company like the Great Northern should prove as great an incentive to battle as knocking the traditional chip off the traditional shoulder, but when Contractor Johnston's track was thrown over the railway grade as well, it looked as if the Kettle river would run red.

Groups could be seen in Midway on Tuesday seriously discussing the situation and wondering whether the C. P. R. was going to succeed in effectively stopping the construction of the V., V. & E.

But the situation was not quite so serious as it appeared. The C. P. R. land department was responsible for all the commotion. The C. P. R., for some reason best known to its officers, is not giving its land away for nothing. It wants to be paid for the land it received from a grateful country. Under the law the Canadian Pacific company's land can be expropriated for railway purposes as can the lands of an ordinary individual, and the C. P. R. is entitled to the same privileges under the laws as are ordinary individuals. It has a right to protect its lands until it is paid for what is used by a rival railway corporation. The C. P. R. land department believing that these little details were overlooked took such steps as in the opinion of Mr. Dennis were necessary to convince that awful man Hill that the Canadian Pacific Railway company was a landed proprietor in the great and glorious Boundary. So a fence was built and Johnson's railway track was thrown over the grade.

The above is the C. P. R. side of the story, but there is another side. It is quite apparent that the land department is acting under instructions and that it is a mere instrument used by that corporation—a silly effort to obstruct the construction of the V., V. & E. In the first place, the land in question may or may not belong to the C. P. R. This fact is evidently apparent to the C. P. R. officials. After they succeeded in driving sub-contractors off the grade with the assistance of a provincial officer, who was instructed to join the C. P. R. forces, or was bamboozled into so doing, urveyors were put on the ground to definitely ascertain whether the land belonged to the C. P. R. or not. Possibly the C. P. R is acting on the not unreasonable assumption that everything in this province, the heavens above and the waters beneath, is the property of that corporation.

In connection with this difficulty it is quite evident that there is an offensive and defensive alliance between the C. P. R. and the McBride government. Lawyer Hanington's henchman was the provincial constable at Midway, who, without warrant, exercised his authority to interfere with subcontractors who were peaceably endeavoring to protect their interests. No explanation can be offered for such an unwarrantable interference on the part of the officers of the provincial government, except that the C. P. R. is carrying out a well-considered plan of action to obstruct so long as they can the construction of the V., V. & E., and in carrying out this plan it has an understanding with the McBride government.

The people of Southern British Columbia consider it bad enough to have the railway facilities they want delayed by the dog-in-the-manger policy of the Canadian Pacific, but they indignantly protest against that company being assisted in this work of obstruction by the officers of the provincial government.

THEY GOT INSTRUCTIONS

And Gave a License to the Great Northern at Midway.

MIDWAY, Oct. 2.—The latest and probably the last meeting of the board of license commissioners for Boundary district was held here on Friday last. A full board was present. The board reconsidered its decision not to grant any further licenses in Midway, and B. Lequime was granted a license for the Great Northern hotel.

Before adjourning Milton White, one of the commissioners, asked Mr. Lequime to state that he (White) had not been paid any money by him (Lequime) as an inducement to grant the license. Whether this was intended as a left-handed reflection on his brother commissioners or was simply a parade of virtue on his own part, Mr. White did not state.

Jas. Dallas, who will conduct the Great Northern hotel, has lost nothing by the advertising which the peculiar manipulations of the licensing board brought to him. The public generally realized that he had been unfairly dealt with and that the board was denying the Great Northern a license because Lloyd A. Manley had built an hotel across the street from the Great Northern. Public opinion forced the board to grant the license and now that the Great Northern has been opened it is doing a business that will compensate Mr. Dallas for the time lost while the Manley grip held the licensing board.

The Fera Perjury Case.

After the grand jury retired to consider the case of J. Raffael, the Fernie man charged with attempted murder, the case of Frank Fera of Greenwood, retrial of alleged perjury, was taken up. R. M. Macdonald, crown prosecutor, intimated a desire to enter a nolle prosequi. but his lordship suggested that it would be more in the interest of the prisoner that the case should be submitted to a jury. This course was adopted and the following petit jury was empanneled:

John A. Hunter, foreman; J. P. Paxton, D. J. Robertson, J. R. Robertson, J. R. Dunlop, G. Horstead, C. H. Benedict, H. Caine, J. Teague, W. Gosnel, I. G. Nelson, H. H. Avery and C. Jiczkowicz.

Crown Prosecutor Macdonald having no fresh evidence to adduce, his lordship directed the jury to return a verdict of not guilty, which was done, and the prisoner immediately discharged.—Nelson Daly News.

The acquaintances of Frank Fera in Greenwood will be pleased to hear of his acquital, as it was believed by those who have known him that there were many weak points in the case.

A Judicious Inquiry.

A well known traveling man who visits the drug trade says he has often heard druggists inquire of customers who asked for a cough medicine, whether it was wanted for a child or an adult, and if for a child they almost invariably recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. The reason for this is that they know there is no danger from it and that it always cures. There is not the least danger in giving it, and for coughs, colds and croup it is unsurpassed. For sale by all druggists.

ANOTHER OUTBREAK.

J. J. Hill visited Vancouver last week. Had he known how seriously his presence there would affect a certain newspaper called the Daily Province, consideration for the poor, misguided C. P. R. organ would probably have ininfluenced him in not doing those things that harrow its patriotic sensibilities. Apparently the Province has a grievance against Mr. Hill and from a careful reading of its lengthy editorials one is forced to the conclusion that the gravamen of the complaint is found in the definite announcement by Mr. Hill that work on the V., V. & E. is to be commenced from the Cloverdale, or western end of the road, this fall and continuously continued easterly until connection is made with the work which is now being carried on West from Midway; or possibly the indignation of the Province of Vancouver has been aroused by the equally definite announcement that the terminus of the V., V. & E. railway is to be Vancouver, and that Mr. Hill intends to do for Vancouver more than had been done by any other railway company.

The Province is filled with the most patriotic motives and is anxious to see the great natural resources of the interior of British Columbia developed, incidentally believing that such development will mean much for the city of Vancouver. It holds equally strong views regarding how this development is to be brought about. British Columbia is a preserve owned and controlled by the Canadian Pacific Railway company. Any one who invades this preserve is a poacher and poachers are "no account, nohow." Therefore it follows that Mr. Hill being a poacher anything he may do, any railways he may build are a direct menace to the best interests of British Columbia.

There are people in British Columbia who have the temerity to hold views diametrically opposed to those which the Daily Province of Vancouver is pleased to give its readers from time to time. They believe that no railway company has or should have a grip on this province, that the best results can be secured only by the greatest possible freedom of of action in the development of a railway policy; that no restrictions should be placed on the construction of railways that ask for no public aid; that while Hill competition may be objectionable to the Canadian Pacific railway and its servile newspaper organ, it is easily the best for British Columbia.

The editor of the Province finished up the week's work by a lengthy editorial in which he proudly boasts that "the Province has never ceased to warn the people of Vancouver that that was President Hill's object and his sole object in building in this province." No doubt the people of Vancouver fully appreciate the motive which prompted this solemn warning; no doubt that the enterprising people of the what now is and is sure to continue to be the commercial metropolis of British Columbia will show their appreciation of the efforts of a Vancouver newspaper that is at all times ready to sacrifice the best interests of Vancouver and other parts of the province to the interests of the Canadian Pacific railway.

Some good friend of the C. P. R. should advise one of its officials to muzzle its Vancouver organ. The doleful whinings of the Daily Province convey the impression that Canada's national highway is so weak that it is unable to stand competition. Such a suggestion is a libel on the Canadian Pacific and its worst friend could not heap greater ridicule on the management of this railway than is done by the silly twaddle which appears from time to time in the editorial columns of the Vancouver Daily Province.

NO BOARD.

It is stated that the Fraser-Manley pull on the McBride government was too strong and that no board of license commissioners will be appointed for the Greenwood district. As a sop to public opinion Manley graciously consented to allow the board of license commissioners to grant a license to the Great Northern hotel at Midway, and it is felt by the ring that this ought to satisfy the people and that a new board of license commissioners is not at all necessary. The public generally are but little concerned in the Great Northern hotel, Midway, but they have an interest in the proper administration of the law. The people of Greenwood care little whether the Great Northern hotel, Midway, has a license or not, but do care whether the manipulations of a Grand Forks gang are to be continued in this district or not.

It is unfortunate that those interested in an honest and decent administration of the liquor license law should should not have seen Premier McBride last. He is so lamentably weak that he always succumbs to the latest influence which is brought to bear upon him. His decision to rescue the Greenwood riding from the hands of the gang evaporated as soon as Fraser et al protested.

Possibly the attorney-general may have more backbone than his chief. We again call his attention to the license now held by Lloyd A. Manley for an hotel in Myers creek canyon. This license was granted in direct violation of the Liquor License law. The hotel cannot in any way be intended as a public convenience, because the site is not even near a public road. It is intended as a whiskey joint, where men employed in the heavy rock work in the canyon can conveniently get drunk and menace the safety of their own lives and those of others. Under no circumstance should the license be allowed to continue. If the attorney-general is anxious to secure a confirmation of these facts he might consult Superintendent Hussey who has investigated the case.

ONE of the neatest advertising booklets published this year has reached the Times from Armstrong, B. C. It tells about Armstrong and vicinity, which it succinctly describes as "The Land of Opportunity and the Big Red Apple." The booklet is well illustrated with views of the splendid farms in that section of the country and a large amount of interesting information is given. With a combination of enterprising people advertising their district and a district that is easily the garden of the province, Armstrong is sure to grow.

HUGH AIKEN of the Nanaimo Herald has entered the journalistic field in the Kootenay. He is publishing the Rossland Star, an evening daily, the first issue of which appeared on Monday last. The Star is a newsy newspaper. In politics it is Liberal.

Synopsis of Regulations Governing t s Disposal of Dominion Lands within t e Railway Belt in the Province British Columbia.

A LICENSE to cut timber can be acquired only at public competition. A rental of $5 per square mile is charged for all timber berths excepting those situated West of Yale for which the rental is at the rate of 5 cents per acre per annum.

In addition to the rental, dues at the following rates are charged:—

Sawn lumber, 50 cents per thousand feet B. M.

Railway ties, eight and nine feet long, 1½ and 1¾ cents each.

Shingle bolts, 25 cents a cord.

All other products, 5 per cent on sales

A license is issued as soon as a berth is granted but in unsurveyed territory no timber can be cut on a berth until the licensee has made a survey thereof.

Permits to cut timber are also granted at public competition, except in the case of actual settlers, who require the timber for their own use.

Settlers and others may also obtain permits to cut up to 100 cords of wood for sale without competition.

The dues payable under a permit are $1.50 per thousand feet B. M, for square timber and sawlogs of any wood except oak; from ½ to 1½ cents per lineal foot for building logs; from 12½ to 25 cents per cord for wood; 1 cent for fence posts; 3 cents for railway ties; and 50 cents per cord on shingle bolts.

Leases for grazing purposes sre issued for a term of twenty-one years at a rental of two cents per acre per annum,

Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more thau 320 acres may be acquired by one individual or company.

Royalty at the rate of 10 cents per ton of 2,000 pounds is collected on the gross output.

Entries for land for agricultural purposes map be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior at Ottawa, the Commissioner of Immigration at Winnipeg, or the local agent for the District, within which the land is situated, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

A settler who has received an entry for a homestead is reduired to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:

(1) At least six months' residence on and cultivation of the land in each year during the term of three years.

It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

(2) If the father (or mother, if the father is deceased) or any person who is eligible to make a homesteod entry under the provisions 0f the Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such person as a homestead, the requirements of the Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of the act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for a patent should be made at the end of three years before the local agent, sub-agent or a homestead inspector.

Before making an application for a patent, the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

THE WASTE DUMP.

Antimony lead is used in the manufacture of an excellent quality of chilled shot.

With the solid concrete, the reinforced concrete and the block method of construction, there is no form of building which may not be economically constructed of cement.

Tin mining is carried on in a desultory way in Lower Burma, in a district 200 miles long by 40 wide. Tin occurs there in place and in alluvial deposits. The natives work these deposits about one-half the year and produce a concentrate sunning about 70 per cent tin. It is reported that systematic operations should be exceedingly profitable.

Asphaltum is a term rather loosely used in commerce for any or all of the varieties of hydrocarbon compounds which the mineralogist knows as asasphaltum proper, wurtzilite, albertite, grahamite, uintaite, gilsonite, etc. The petroleum of California yields, on destructive distillation, a residue which so closely resembles asphalt that it is called "oil asphaltvm."

The theory of construction in cone drum hoisting engines is that as the weight of the rope in the shaft increases the radius at which it acts correspondingly decreases, tnereby equalizing the work of the engine. Naturally such construction must be calculated for each particular case, and such drums would not fulfill the purpose of their design if used under circumstances other than those for which they were intended.

Wolfram is of a black or deep brownish black color and has a lustre somewhat resembling black glass, but with a metallic or sub metallic tinge. In breaking it usually cleaves along flat, shining surfaces, very much like antimony, and in this respect is very different from chonchodical fracture of broken glass. Where exposed on the surface this cleavage is not always present. On handling the mineral one is impressed with its specific gravity, it being heavier than iron.

The use of a tail rope is necessitated when hoisting operations are conducted with two cages in a double compartment shaft, according to the Whiting system. This tail rope is of the same size and weight per foot as the hoisting rope. It is fastened to the bottoms of each cage and, at the bottom of the shaft, runs under a sheave. The hoisting rope is thus counterbalanced, and each skip exactly balances the other. The load on the engine, therefore, is the exact weight of the material hoisted and is the same at all points in the shaft, which would not otherwise be the case.

One of the most effective means for disposing of the culm and refuse from breakers at coal mines was hit upon a number of years ago in the vicinity of Wilkesbarre, Pennsylvania. The scheme resulted frem the necessity of providing a suitable receptacle for the dust-laden wash water, which the companies were prohibited from turning into the rivers. The experiment of running this into the old workings was so successful that the plan was adopted of flushing the culm and other waste into worked out chambers, where it formed a compact and satisfactory filling. As the water drained away to lower parts of the mine it was again pumped to the surface and used.

Antimony is a white, very brittle metal, of laminated and crystalline texture. It fuses at a low temperatvre and readily vaporizes. It is not used in the pure state, but formr several valuable alloys and compounds. The most important alloys of aneimony are tyye metal, britanuia, pewter and anti-friction metals. The type metal consists essentially of lead and antimonp, often with small quantities of tin and nickle or copper. Britannia is a white metal alloy of antimony with tin, copper and bismuth, and is much used for table ware. Pewter is a similar alloy, but it contains a smaller percentage of antimony than britannia. There are several anti-friction alloys which usually go under the name of babbitt metals. One of these consists of 50 parts of tin to 5 of antimohy and one of bismuth, but other proportions are in use. The addition of antimony to lead hardens it, and the addition of a small quantity of bismuth gives the alloy the property of expanding at the moment of solidification from a molten state, thus producing a perfect cast from a mold.

Fuller's earth is chiefly employed abroad for fulling wool, but in America it is used mainly for deodorizing, bleaching and clarifying fats, oils and greases. For the purpose of clarifying lard and cotton seed oil a small quantity, 2 to three per cent of fuller's earth is ground to a gneness of 100 to 120 mesh, and is added to the hot oil. After a thorough agitation the hot liquid is passed through a filter press and when the earth and coloring impurities have been removed the oil is nearly white. It is understood that fuller's earth has almost superseded bone black in this process. A small quantity of fuller's earth is also marketed in powedered form, specially specially prepared for removing grease spots. It might also be used to advantage in removing calcium carbonate from water used for boiler supplies and thus prevent deleterious incruotations on the inside of boilers.

The United States geological survey has on hand the investigation of curious phenomena known as blowing or breathing wells. In the course of collecting well records the hydrologists of the survey have observed many wells that emit currents of air with more or less force, sometimes accompanied by a whistling sound which can be heard for a long distance. The beft known examples of this type of weli are found throughout the etate of Nebraska. Blowing wells are also found in southern Louisiana. The force of the air current in one sf the Louisiana wells is sufficient to keep a man's hat suspended above it. The cause of such phenomena is mainly due to changes in atmospheric pressure or changes in temperature. During the progress of a low barometer storm over those regions the air is expelled from the blowing wells. With a rising barometer the blowing becomes rapidly less until the current is finally reversed. Differences in the temperature of the surface aia and the air in the soil also produce similar effects. When the interstices between the grains of sand, gravel, etc.. in which the well is deiven are filled with water, the phenomena of blowin3 is much less noticeable.

Some Seasonable Advice.

It may be a piece of superfluous advice to urge people at this season of the year to lay in a supply of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. It is almost sure to be needed before winter is over, and much more prompt and satisfactory results are obtained when taken as soon as a cold is coutracted and before it has become settled in the system, which can only be done by keeping the remedy at hand. This rsmedy is so widely known and so altogether good that no one should hesitate about buying it in preference to any other, For sale by all druggists.

High mountains exist on the bed of the ocean. A number belonging to the submerged Atlantic continent have been located and their elevation determined. The loftiest of these mountains is Mount Sainthill, located in latitude 32 deg. 50 min., longitude 42 deg. 20 min., which was discovered in 1842. This peak rises to a couple of feet of the ocean's surface and is a trifle over 11,000 feet in height, thus giving the ocean a depth of almost two miles in that locality.

The old California Stage company ran a line of stages from Sacramento to Maryville, Nevada City, Downieville, Stockton, Jackson, Moklumne hill and other towns in the mining regions of California. They first ran in 1849 and continued for some time thereafter. The capitalization of this stage line was a matter of curiosity, it being $1,000,000, but it was never known how much was paid in.

The mineral wealth of Roumania is quite considerable. In the vicinity of the Carpathian mountains are vast beds of rock salt and the salt beds of Wallachia are probably inexhaustible. Petroleum and asphalt occur plentifully and sulphur is found in several places. Coppcr is the only metal mined in quantity, while some gold has been washed from sands of several streams.

PROVINCIAL MINING.

R. T. Ward of Cariboo is forming a company to prospect for petroleum located by him in Cariboo.

The Trail smelter is shipping two tons a week of silver to China for coinage.

The melting of a glacier has revealed a body of high grade copper ore near Wilmer in East Kootenay.

The Great Northern is getting the hauling of ore from the Granby mines down to a science. Orders have been issued that up to thirty cars—or about 1,600 or 1,700 tons—the outgoing trains from here are to run with one train crew and one engine. This means that James J. Hill proposes to haul it just as cheaply as he can. When necessary, a pusher will help bring the empties up the hill from Grand Forks.—Phoenix Pioneer.

Wm. Yolen Williams, in charge of the development work being done on the Lakeview and Dividend claims claims near Osoyoos, under bond to the Granby company, says that about 600 feet of work has been done in the last three months. Ten men are employed.

Dr. Mecklenburg, the famous eye expert, will be at the Thomas Drug store, Greenwood, Oct. 23-25; Midway, 26 27; Phoenix, 20-22. Save your sight by consulting him. Headaches, cross eyes, short sight, far sight and every defect of the eyes properly treated. Satisfaction guaranteed. Difficult cases especially invited.

PLACERS OF SEWARD PENINSULA.

An interesting and rather unexpected geological feature of the placer region of the Seward peninsula, Alaska, is that despite its arctic situation it shows no evidence of past glaciation.

The gold appears not to have been borne from great distance by ice or water, but to be of local origin. Moreover, it is not derived, like that of many gold placers, from prominent quartz fissure gold-bearing veins in the district, but rather from a general and widely diffused distribution of gold in the country rock schists as well as in small quartz stringers in the schists. There are few quartz veins in the district of sufficient size and importance to be worked for gold.

The discovery of prehistoric mammalian remains in the surface gravels is not uncommon. The remains are found on all the larger streams; they are usually contained in the muck overlying the gravels, and are eqposed by the cutting of streams and the caving of banks. In some cases the animals were mired in bogs where now found; in others they were washed to their present location. Large tusks and teeth are on exhibition at some of the camps. The remains are principally those of mammoth and musk ox.

The region near Kotsebue Sound offers few attractions other than gold to the prospector. Low, moss-covered hills, natural breeding places for mosquitoes and black flies, traveling difficult, and fuel only low willows.

The region is damp in summer and very cold in winter. The geology consists mostly of contorted schists and limestones, which may be of Devonian age, mingled with recent lava flows ond older eruptive rocks. Inferior lignite coal of Tertiary age occurs locally. The best that can be said of it is that it is superior to wood for cooking purposes. A hindrance to its use is that when found it is frozen solid and on thawing slacks freely.

The vaoiety and abundance of wild flowers in the ezrly part of the season is surprising to one accustomed to think of Alaska only as a cold, barren waste, covered with snaw and swept by arctic winds.—Mining Reporter.

No argument is so convincing as practical proof. Come in and let us show you that we can fit your eyes with the proper glasses after others have failed. Hearing appliances and artificial eyes. Satisfaction guaranteed. Dr. Mecklenburg, A. M., D. TOWN TOPICS

Choice apples and peaches at Galloway Bros.

L. Bruce Hodge and Mrs. Hodge returned Monday from a four months' visit to England and Scotland.

Mayor Naden and Mrs. Naden left Wednesday on a trip to the coast. They will visit the Portland fair.

Hemmerle & Dunne have moved their barber shop from the Pacific to the Windsor block, three doors south.

A man fell off a sidewak in Ferry, Wash., one night last week and broke his neck. Sidewalks roost high in that town.

There was a slight flurry of snow in Phoenix Sunday last. It wasn't a very heavy fall, not more than 18 inches.

The B. C. Telephone company has put in an exchange at Midway. The long distance charges are 10 cents a minute.

G. C. Hodge, superintendent of the B. C. Telephone company, was in the district this week inspecting the new line of the company.

George Barber, in charge of the C. P. R. freight sheds here, returned Monday from a three-months' visit to his old home in England.

A. H. Lawder has resigned his position on the board of license commissioners for the Boundary. Mr. Lawder is to be congratulated.

Thos. Hemmerle left on Thursdays' stage for a month's visit at the coast. He will take in the Portland and Spokane fairs before returning.

The Greenwood baseball team journeyed to Midway Sunday last and defeated the Midway team by a score of 3 to 1. It was a fairly good game.

T. Vernon of Victoria is filling the position of Teller Sherritt, of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, who is spending his vacation at the coast.

This morning Manager McVicar, while going down the shaft of the Last Chance mine, fell a distance of between twenty and thirty feet, breaking his right leg above the knee and the left ankle and dislocating the right wrist. There may be other injuries, but at the time of going to press Mr. McVicar had just been taken to the hospital. It appears that the accident was the caused by a shot breaking one of the steps of the shaft ladder, and Mr. McVicar possibly going down in a hurry missed his footing.

There will be a meeting of the Greenwood Curling club this evening in the old Bank of B. N. A. building this evening. Important business.

The B. C. Telephone company has completed the new long distance line from Cascade to Midway, and the men left Wednesday for Rossland and Nelson.

One hundred and forty tons of ore were shipped from the Helen to the Trail smelter during the past month. A compressor plant will shortly be installed at the mine.

There will be a shooting match for turkeys at the Algoma hotel, Deadwood, October 15th. Rules are any rifle, any sight, any position without artificial rests. Distance, 100 yards.

The Rev. J. C. Herdman, D. D., of Calgary, superintendent of Presbyterian missions for the Synod of British Columbia, will preach in the Presbyterian church on Sunday evening October 8th.

J. O. Thompson returned from the West Fork Friday, where he had been working on the Lillie, a claim near Carmi. The shaft is down 45 feet on a 3-foot vein. The ore is similar to that of the Carmi and Butcher Boy.

Edwards and George have sunk a 30 foot shaft on the Silver Cliff. The sinking was done on the foot wall and the shaft is all in ore. The Silver Cliff is about two miles north of the town, and is in the high-grade belt.

Engineer Snow of the Midway and Vernon survey party has his present headquarters at Carmi. He is locating line from that point over the summit to meet the party working south from Vernon. Mr. Snow has sixteen men in his party.

A force of men left here yesterday to protect C. P. R. property from the encroachments of the foreign aggressor, Hill. It is not known that they were armed with anything more dangerous than the necessary machinery for manufacturing flap-jacks and bannocks.

For the past month Superintendent Colbach has been testing the ore of the Carmi and says that it can be profitably treated on the ground if the company will install the necessary plant. If the funds are provided the mine will be worked this winter.

P. J. McArthur and Mrs. McArthur of Butte, Mont., were visitors at the homes of C. J. McArthur and J. J. Caulfield for the past two weeks, and left for Butte on Monday's stage. Mr. McArthur left Butte three months ago, visiting eastern and southern points and going as far north as Nome.

Cap. Chappell has recorded an assessment on the Contention, better known as the Diamond Fraction, over which there was a legal battle between the two factions of the Providence compant. It is believed that, owing to the evidence given in reference to the claim, Chappell will be allowed peaceable possession.

Joe. Wilmhurst, sr., leaves today for London, Eng., to spend the winter. He is anxious to see his mother who completed her hundredth birthday last August, and as he says, "she is getting on in years." Joe is 65 years old himself, and deserves a well-earned rest. He will be missed from the Club and school house, where he acceptably filled the position of janitor.

B. F. Wood has sold his tailoring business, which he has conducted in Greenwood for the past six years, to Thomas Thomas, and it is Mr. Wood's intention to spend the winter at some point on the coast. Mr. Thomas, who has worked as a journeyman tailor in the city for the past four years, is well known, energetic and alive to business. He will no doubt make a success of his undertaking. Attention is called to Mr. Thomas' announcement in another column.

R. Denzler was in the city Wednesday. He and Archy Aberdeen are doare doing assessment work in Wellington camp.

Sid Rosenhaupt, Samuel Rosenhaupt, and L. M. Babcock, of Spokane, who are interested in the Last Chance mine in Skylark camp were in the city this week.

Miss Phipps, who was visiting her sister, Mrs. Proctor, left for her home on the coast last Thursday. Mr. and Mrs. Proctor accompanied her as far as Spokane and will take in the fruit fair before returning.

His Honor Judge Clement was in the city this week hearing some applications in chambers. He will leave for the Similkameen next week to hold sittings of the county court for His Honor Judge Spinks, who has been granted six months' leave of absence.

The annual meeting of the Greenwood Curling club was held on Monday evening last. There was a good attendance of veterans and some new ones who are going to learn the "roaring" game. President Birnie occupied the chair. Officers were elected as follows: Hon. President, Duncan Ross; President, E. G. Warren; Vice-President, W. G. Mynn; Secretary-Treasurer, W. Allison; Managing Committee, Messrs. Jas. S. Birnie, K. C. B. Frith, E. W. Bishop, and George Findlay. A lengthy discussion enregarding the enlargement of the rink to secure another sheet of ice, and the purchase of additional stones. Messrs. Williams, Bunting and Findlay were appointed a committee to report on the question of building an addition to the rink, and the secretary was instructed to purchase four sets of stones. A special meeting will be held tonight to receive the building committee's report.

The Hoodoo club held a two-days' session in the city this week. The principal questions up for discussion were: Why Bankers refuse to loan money on Oroville town lots? What is the difference between gray copper and silver glance, and how much? Who will get next year's tunnel contract on the Golconda, and how much of his extra salary will George Eulus put up? Is the provincial government to blame for the "gushers" in the Flathead? Why the Greenwood baseball team won? Will the U. S. government send troops to help protect Jim Hill's road from the armed force sent out by the C. P. R.? Does it snow in Phoenix? Can Lloyd Manley expropriate the McMynn ranch for an hotel site? Will Grand Forks get the Dominion exhibition next year, or will they be satisfied with another Summer Carnival and a couple more smelters? Will Lowery's Claim eventually be recognized as an aid in Sunday school work? Will the Doukhobors join Joe Martin's new party? Who will be the next lieutenant-governor, and whether Grit, Tory or political maverick? The waterworks question also came up for discussion, but the chairman ruled it out of order, holding that it was not a live issue at the present time and could, perhaps, be more intelligently discussed generations hence.
