JUDGE BROWN KEPT BUSY

Two Criminal and Four Civil Cases at County Court This Week.

Two criminal and four civil cases made a fairly full docket at the sittings of the County Court, held in Greenwood before Judge Brown on Tuesday and on Wednesday morning.

Lars Vestlund and Chas. Rinehart are at present in the care of Recorder Cunningham at Government Building on the charge of "assault with intent to do grievous bodily harm." Both have elected a speedy trial and will come up again before Judge Brown, here on Monday next.

Both cases come from the mountain city of Sidley where the color feeling is apparently both sharp and quick. Veslund, who is a widely known and well esteemed citizen of the mountain, seems to have got into an affray with Tajah Singh, a Hindoo, and the charge is that he used a knife on the dark brother.

Rinehart's case is a similiar one—stabbing. The object of the assault in this case is stated to be George Deschenes, Rinehart got across the line but when taken by the officers finally agreed to come back to stand his trial.

R. G. Sidley, J.P., of Sidley, took the preliminary hearing and sent both men up for trial. C. J. Leggatt, of Midway, appears in both cases for the accused.

The suit of Mrs. Laura Argersinger v. R. G. Sidley held over from last court because of a mistake in the day on which court was to be held by the plaintiff, resulted in a decision for the plaintiff for $150 with costs while the costs of the last court were to be assessed against the costs of this one. The dispute was as to whether the third year's rent of a four year's lease of land had been paid. Mrs. Argersinger's evidence was clear that only the first, second and fourth payments had been made. Mr. Sidley while quite sure that the third payment had been made as well as the others, had lost all his receipts and papers in a fire and was not prepared to swear definitely of the third payment. The Judge accepted Mrs. Argersinger's evidence and gave judgment. J. D. Spence appeared for plaintiff, I. H. Hallett for defendant.

The appeal of John Mulligan from the decision of the Gold Commissioner stopping the progress of certain work on Long Lake which, it was claimed, interfered with the city's water service was held over till next court.

In Morley Ludlow v. Frank Dalton, in which the plaintiff claimed $27 for board bill, decision will be given on Monday. The effort of the defence was to show that in the account of Ludlow who has a saloon near Eholt, there were illegitimate items such as bar bill and gaming debts as well as board bill and that the money paid by defendant on this account was sufficient to meet all legitimate charges and only these are collectable. A. S. Black for plaintiff; J. D. Spence for the defendant.

Mrs. Mary Peterson v. Ola Lofstad, a dispute over the amount of wages due Mrs. Peterson, was settled out of court, each party paying their own costs.

Thos. Hanson v. L. A. Smith was carried forward to the next court.

LIBERALS MEET.

An enthusiastic and well attended meeting of the local Liberal Association was held last night in the office of G. R. Naden, President Mathison in the chair.

The following resolution was passed unanimously:—

"That this Association heartily endorses all the actions of Duncan Ross, M.P., in the House of Commons and congratulates him on his exceedingly effective work for the constituency and the country.

That this Association expresses its extreme gratification at the splendid success which has attended his straightforward and outspoken course on every question of public importance."

STRONG WHITE MEN

Duncan Ross, M. P. for Yale-Cariboo, on Possibilities of B. C.

KEEP OUT THE ORIENTALS

Government's Policy Good if Effective. Orientals Must be Kept out.

When the British Columbia members lined up at Ottawa on Monday last in support of the motion of Ralph Smith, M. P. (Nanaimo) to show Canada where this province stood on the question of Oriental immigration, the last charge in the debate was fired by the member for Yale-Cariboo, who spoke at some length on the question. Mr. Ross reviewed the whole problem of Asiatic immigration and pointed out the indifference displayed by the conservatives, as it was not until the liberals took office that any decisive action was taken looking to the restriction of the evil. He clearly outlined British Columbia's views on the subject, and incidentally took occasion to give some facts and figures of the wonderful resources of the Pacific province and the opportunities it afforded for the profitable settlement of a vast number of people from the old land. A part of Mr. Ross' address was as follows:

POSSIBILITIES OF B. C.

With coal measures sufficient to supply the world for centuries, with the greatest compact area of merchantable timber on the American continent, with mines which have already produced 300,000,000 of dollars, and the mineral area has scarcely been touched, with fisheries whose annual revenue is $7,000,000 or $8,000,000, and which are only in the initial stages of development, with agricultural and fruit lands much more extensive than the mountainous character of the country would indicate, and which offer compensation for physical disadvantages by yielding far more per acre than land anywhere else in Canada, with millions of acres of pulp wood, with petroleum deposits whose extent cannot yet be determined, and with inexhaustable measures of iron ore, all inviting capital and industry, with all these advantages, together with a climate, which easily reaches the white man's ideal, is it any wonder that we, who live in British Columbia and get enthused over its potentialities and possibilities, should be anxious to keep this province for our own race?

LET US HAVE STRONG WHITE MEN

Let us develop it. Let us build up a country from the Atlantic to the Pacific, and people it, not with an unassimilative rabble of different races and color, but by strong white men, proud of the country in which they live, and prouder still, that under the Old Flag conditions will be such as to enable them to maintain the land for themselves, their children, and their children's children.

GOOD IF EFFECTIVE

The policy of this government in arranging with the governments of countries whence these people come, to keep their people from coming here, is a satisfactory solution of the question, if such policy can be made effective, but they must be kept out of this country, save in exceptional cases, and then upon our terms and conditions. Our right to legislate with this object in view, without violating any international law, is unquestioned. Such legislation has been passed, and carried into effect in other self-governing British countries. The most practical measure is what is popularly known as the "Natal Act." Such legislation assumes that the only desirable class of immigrants are those which come from European countries, that the surest way of determining whether they are from an European country or not, would be their knowledge of the European language, and they are subjected to such test.

INDENTURE AND REPATRIATION

If the time comes when it is absolutely necessary to do a specific work, and the required labor cannot be procured in this country, I would be in favor of bringing it in under indenture to do that specific work, such indenture to end with repatriation. This course should not be resorted to, unless absolutely necessary, and with the entire elimination of the Oriental class, thus elevating the dignity of labor; it is reasonably certain that it would then be possible to secure an adequate supply of labor for all purposes. But, some one asks, should we legislate against British subjects? Why not? There are, on our statute books, today, laws which discriminate against people who come from the shadow of Downing street—laws which bar all those who do not come up to a standard fixed by ourselves—and why should not similar laws be passed against those from Calcutta or Bombay?

TRANSVAAL DID IT

In the case of the Transvaal, the imperial government conceded the right of the government there to pass legislation against British Indians and placed its stamp of approval upon the legislation. Under President Kruger the Transvaal attempted to enforce restrictive legislation against Hindus, but the British government objected, and the subsequent representative of the British Indian claims, subsequently made before the British government, stated that they had "cherished the anticipation that the war had for one of its main objects, the rescue of British Indians from harsh treatment to which they were subjected by the late Boer republic."

After the war the government of the Transvaal passed legislation far more restrictive than that enforced by the Boer republic, and on the advice of Sir Arthur Lawley, lieutenant-governor of the Transvaal, and Lord Milner, high commissioner in Africa, the imperial government refused to interfere with the legislation of a self-governing colony, and British Indians became subjected to restrictive immigration laws, in a British colony. If the Transvaal, without the same measure of self-government that Canada enjoys, is allowed to pass such legislation, Canada's right to pass similar legislation cannot be questioned

CHRISTMAS IN THE STORES

Never before in the history of the Boundary have Greenwood merchants had a finer display of Christmas goods and dainties than are displayed to good advantage this year. The windows are handsomely decorated and the stores are filled daily with eager purchasers.

Rendell & Co. have a nice display of everything for the ladies that would make suitable Christmas presents. The windows are artistically decorated

Take the "inturn" at the corner of Copper and Greenwood streets and see Logan & Co.'s choice line of cut glass, sterling silver, cut silver and silver plated ware. It is the best yet ever brought into the Boundary.

The Russell-Law Caulfield company are Santa Claus outfitters for everything that will make men, women and children happy. Their English plated silverware, Dalton silverware and Christmas groceries and confectionery cannot be beaten. A look at the windows of this progressive firm is sufficient.

A. L. White, the furniture man, is giving Mr. S. Claus the best of it this year. The price of every article in this mammoth store is reduced. A. L. is known as the "Tim Eaton of the west" as he carries everything from curios made from boards taken from Noah's ark to tables, etc., made by H. Bunting of Greenwood. Take a rubber at his store.

T. M. Gulley & Co. are there with the goods this year, and have on hand many useful Christmas gifts. Rockers, chairs, rugs and mats are in abundance. In the picture line this company has some beauties.

McRae Bros. have tons of toys that would make the children turn handsprings in mid air with joy. They also have many useful and beautiful presents that would make the aged look back to their youthful days when Santa filled their sox.

Anderson Bros. are making a specialty of choice goods for the Christmas dinner table. They also carry a nice line of confectionery, fruit, etc., that would make the children laugh and grow fat. Santa Claus, Esq., should pay this up-to-now firm a visit.

Hunter-Kendrick company, the "Big Store," has a big store full of goods that would make excellent Christmas gifts. 'Nuff sed.

P. Burns & Co. have a dandy display of meats, poultry, fish, etc. This firm can outfit the American with a fat tender turkey, the Englishman with a juicy roast, and the people from the fish belt with anything from a smelt to a whale.

Only one word can describe Coles' bookstore. It is Fairyland—the land of pleasant things for pleasant children.

FOUND DEAD IN THE SNOW

Meets Death Two Hundred Yards From Camp—In Great Pain.

A peculiarly sad fatality occurred early yesterday (Thursday) morning on the trail leading up from the Phoenix road to the Crescent mine. John F. Rennison, a mucker at the mine, while returning from Greenwood, had lain down in the snow and died. Dr. Spankie, who examined the body of the unfortunate man after it had been brought to Greenwood, stated that death was the result of natural causes, heart failure following a severe attack of colic. The position of the body and internal evidence supported the supposition that the deceased had been suffering great pain.

Rennison was found about 8:30 o'clock by Superintendent Feeney and a miner named Coote, about 250 or 300 yards from the mine and about 30 feet from the trail. A miner, a married man, who lives at the Last Chance but who comes early to the mine so that he may get his breakfast, passed up the trail about 6:30 and heard a groaning which he thought to be an animal. He remarked this at the breakfast table and when Rennison did not turn up for work, Superintendent Feeney set out to investigate.

The deceased left the mine about 4.30 Wednesday afternoon to come to Greenwood. Here he got the mail and transacted some business at a number of stores. The exact time at which he left for the mine is not known. When found the body was still warm.

Deceased was an Englishman, and Wednesday was his 33rd birthday. He was respected as a sober, industrious man. He has one brother, Charles Rennison at the Mother Lode Before coming here, they were for a year in the Okanagan, where they had gone from Alberta. Formerly they lived at Edmonton and Red Deer.

THE ROARIN' GAME.

Monday evening there was a meeting of the curling club in the court house for the purpose of choosing skips and rinks. It was decided to elect six skips in addi- to the president and vice-president. The following are the rinks and skips:

Jas. McCreath, G. B. Taylor, R. C. G. White, E. W. Bishop—skip.

A. M. Davidson, Austin Logan, E. R. Redpath, Jas. S. Birnie—skip.

The first competition of the season is the president against the vice-president, which will take place Christmas Day. The following is the line up.

President.	Vice-President.
McMynn.	Birnie.
McCreath	Dill.
Warren	Johnson.

The first four rinks play at 10 a. m. and the last four at 2 p. m.

Thomas Thomas, the tailor, is happy this Christmas, as the people have been taking advantage of his nobby English goods for winter suits and overcoats. There's one thing about Tommy's work—it's the best—and that's the reason he is kept busy.

The good book says: "Take a little wine or spirits for thy stomach's sake." Remember this and use only the purest. The Greenwood Liquor company have the choicest brands of wines, liquors, etc., and their window display of wet groceries fairly make one's lips smack. Get one of McCreath's celebrated Christmas hampers and eat, drink and be merry on that day for the next day you may be unfortunate enough to be in Nelson.

The Palace livery stable has some fine turnouts. Take your girl for a ride on Christmas day. Mr. F. C. Buckless, the proprietor, has cutters built for two, and other snug family outfits.

The Elkhorn brewery, which manufactures beer that is making Greenwood famous, has a fine brew this year expressly for the Christmas table.

Even the Windsor and Pacific bars will have a line of Christmas palate ticklers for the public. There will be Thomas and Jeremiah, claret nectar, and beer tea like your father used to make, on tap all day.

CHRISTMAS DAY.

A little boy of heavenly birth
But far from home today
Came down to find his ball, the earth,
Which sin had cast away.
O comrades, let us one and all
Join in and help him find his ball.

—FATHER TABB.

The Christmas season is a time of profound optimism. Lying deeper than the fun of Christmas revels, the pleasure of family reunions, and the satisfaction which comes from the general manifestations of good will, is a subtler and more spiritual joy. It is the joy which comes to men and women when they are honest with their best selves. It is the joy with which men catch a glimmer of the truth that fellow men whom they have regarded with suspicion, bear about with them golden impulses. It is the joy which comes when we banish from our souls malice and greed and envy, and the whole brood of Darkness. It is the joy which comes when we become again as little children, and following the teaching of the Nazarene, approach a little nearer to His Kingdom

And so, as Tiny Tim observed, "God bless us, every one!"

EDITORIAL NOTES.

"The Journalist as a Public Man," is the latest stab of the Professor-Senator Albert J. Beveridge at the lax morals of public life. This is the title of an article in the Saturday Evening Post in which Senator Beveridge claims the incorruptibility—yes, even the fairmindedness, the public as opposed to private spirit of the press to be infinitely more important than the purity of the politician. The senator is right, as he usually is, and it's up to the people to demand and support the newspaper that is devoted to the best interests of the community and country rather than the biased, purchased, advocate of certain sectional or personal interests. The people are always the doctors. What they demand, they'll get.

Christmas in the Boundary will be a right royal old time celebration. Stockings will be hung, Christmas Trees filled with their magic lights will make the old people like children and the children glad. We'll all be very happy. Join in and lend a hand.

This is the time when the children should be taught to love Dickens. Read them "The Christmas Carol," the story of Tiny Tim and Scrooge.

PLAINT OF THE PESSIMIST

BEN KING.

Nothing to do but work;
Nothing to eat but food,
Nothing to wear but clothes,
To keep one from going nude.

Nothing to breathe but air;
Quick as a flash it's gone;
Nowhere to fall but off;
Nowhere to stand but on.

Nothing to comb but hair;
Nowhere to sleep but in bed;
Nothing to weep but tears;
Nothing to bury but dead.

Nothing to sing but songs
Ah, well; alas! alack!
Nowhere to go but out;
Nowhere to come but back.

Nothing to see but sights;
Nothing to quench but thirst;
Nothing to have but what we've got,
Thus through life we're accursed.

Nothing to strike but a gait;
Everything moves that goes;
Nothing at all but common sense
Can ever withstand these woes.

It is better to rise with the lark than to go on one.

Things Both Here and There

MINING AND FINANCIAL.

The chief industry of Phoenix at present is the school house. That is, it has the largest monthly payroll.

The price of zinc in London is going up. This will be good news to the producers of the metal in the silvery Slocan.

Silver in New York, like the thermometer in Manitoba, took a sudden drop this week. Bar silver is now quoted at 54⅞c.

Several changes in the existing laws regarding provincial timber are to be made at the next session of the provincial house. It is expected that the question of the extensions of the renewable life of timber licenses will be one of the most important matters before the members.

The Alaska-Treadwell Mining company paid $700,000 in dividends for the year ending June 1, 1907; 702,953 tons of ore of a value of $2 42 a ton, were treated—a saving of $2.15 per ton being made. There are 4,982,883 tons of ore in reserve. If this low grade property can pay such big dividends, what's the matter with Greenwood's high grade properties?

Bituminous coal fields, which promise to rival those of the Crow's Nest district in size and importance, have been discovered on the Bear river, in the northern part of the Cariboo district. British Columbia is a great country. What you haven't got just delve into Mother Earth and you will surely get it.

The annual meeting of the shareholders of the Bank of Commerce is called for January 14, 1908, at Toronto. The statement for the past year, which ended on November 30th, shows dividends paid at the rate of 8 per cent on the capital stock of $10,000,000, amounting to $800.000 A balance of $675,912.10 has been carried forward to the credit of the profit and loss account. The note circulation of the bank is $9,235,769.68, while the bank has on hand in coin and bullion and Dominion notes $11,053,419.73. The disparity between the balance due the Bank of Commerce from banks in foreign countries and its liabilities to such banks is about one and a half million dollars. Deposits total $87,041,057.50, while call loans amount to only $12,695,557.30. Nearly 85 per cent of the bank's deposit funds are thus employed in giving accommodation for the carrying on of the commercial business of Canada through current loans and discounts.

Women engaged in the coal mining industry in Japan receive an average daily wage of 7¾ cents a day when they work underground, and 4¾ cents on the surface. The daily wage for men is 10½ cents underground and 8¾ cents on the surface.

A. H. Anderson, treasurer of the Quebec Central railway, who embezzled $85,000, was last Monday sentenced at Sherbrooke, Quebec, to five years in the penitentiary. Anderson's salary, while in the pen, will be at the rate of $17,000 per annum. This is a larger salary than the prime minister of Canada gets.

In 2700 B. C., the Chinese discovered and mined iron ore. In 1907 A. D., iron was discovered in East Kootenay, but it is not being mined.

The Times has received the following dispatch from Spokane: Five hundred thousand dollars is the stated capitalization of the Universal Lumber Company, limited, for which articles of incorporation were filed in the office of the auditor of Spokane county, December 13. The incorporators are H. W. Greenburg, C. W. Sanson, S. S. Bassett, A. Herman and O. B. Hollin. The concern owns 10,000 acres of timber lands between Rossland and Greenwood, and while offices will be maintained in Spokane it is not the intention to ship any of the forest products into this country. Reports have been circulated that the company will erect several sawmills and supply the Grand Trunk Pacific railway with heavy timbers and other construction material in the building of its transcontinental line through British Columbia and provinces east of it, but these could not be verified. Another report is that the men interested in the incorporation are holding the timber land for speculation, and that when it is cut over it will be used for agricultural purposes, and in this connection it is said cutting will begin early next year.

The former owners of the Napoleon mine near Marcus, Washington, will receive no share of $60,000, for which amount the property was sold to the B. C. Copper company, according to a decision handed down at Colville, where the suit was tried recently. E. W. Talbot of Spokane, Mrs. Carrie Wurzburg of Marcus, and W. P. Reynold, S. Dilsheimer and C. E. Wingham of Colville were the original owners of the Napoleon and Bonaparte mine. At the solicitation of Mr. Dilsheimer, they gave an option to Julius Ehrlich of Greenwood for $10,000 in 1904. Mr. Ehrlich, it is claimed, represented that the option would be turned over to P. Burns and company. After spending several thousands of dollars on development, P. Burns and company did not take the property, but turned the option back to Mr. Ehrlich, who later sold it to the B. C. Copper company for $60,000. The plaintiffs claimed that when P. Burns and company gave up the option the property reverted to the original owners, and that Mr. Ehrlich was only the agent of the owners, and was accountable to them for the $60,000.

BOVRIL

Contains the life-sustaining elements of BEEF

Beef extracts contain only the flavor and stimulating elements of beef—the nutritive values are lost in the making. Baron Liebig, the inventor of beef extracts, admitted that. He said "It is but a condiment and stimulant, containing no matter capable of sustaining life."

That is where BOVRIL differs from beef extracts.

BOVRIL does contain the nourishment and life-sustaining elements of beef as well as its rich flavor.

BOVRIL gives strength and nourishment to the invalid. With its help you can make left-over scraps into delicious consommes, bouillons and soups with very little trouble.

The Daly Reduction company, owners of the richest gold property on the western hemisphere, the Nickel Plate, at Hedley, have reduced their employees wages. Anywhere on this company's claims can be found thousands of tons of ore that will assay from $200 to $2000 a ton. The Daly company could well afford to raise the miners wages.

Kamloops has a population of 2450—1500 males and 950 females. Of these 1509 are Canadians, 493 British and 447 foreigners. Kamloops must have a good Scotch population as the census shows there are 609 Presbyterians, 489 Church of England, 320 Methodists, 289 Roman Catholics, 145 Baptists, and 597 who worship anything from a bale of hay to a big silver dollar.

There are fully 5000 unemployed in Vancouver turning handsprings for meals. The city is establishing a bread line.

Last week Thomas G. Earl of Lytton, the oldest fruit grower in British Columbia, picked luscious grapes and strawberries in his orchard. Mr. Earl says he has been getting grapes and strawberries direct from the vines and plants for some time, and they are just as sweet as those garnered two months ago. If the present good weather keeps up he expects to be picking grapes from the vines on Christmas day.

Start a hen ranch near Kaslo and you'll never need to worry about financial stringency.—Kootenaian. With the price of fresh eggs and the scarcity of "fresh hen fruit" this ought to be true of Greenwood.

The Bank of Montreal will shortly open a branch at Prince Rupert. John Houston is making so much money up there that it requires a bank to look after it.

Uncle Samuel is to have a new motto put on gold coins. Why not place "This gold will soon be mine—John D.," on the yellow stuff.

William H. Vianen, better known as "Dutch Bill," trapper, scout, Indian fighter, explorer and fisherman, who has been in the province for over half a century, died at New Westminster last Friday. The deceased was closely identified with every public movement relative to the good and welfare of the province. He made and spent a dozen fortunes. He was the father of the salmon industry of the Fraser river and was known as "Dutch Bill the salmon king." One by one the old trail blazers are going over the Great Divide, but their names will live for ages, as underneath a woollen shirt there breathed a soul that was white.

Last Friday, Seattle on the sloppy slope, was visited by a furious rain and wind storm that carried destruction in its path, smashing plate glass show windows, tearing down electric signs, tying up traffic and playing havoc along the water front. The wind had a velocity of 70 miles a minute, and so fierce was the gale that in about ten minutes it blew the mortgages off several business blocks.

DOES THIS INTEREST YOU?

A prominent physician, famous for his success in the treatment of kidney and bladder diseases, attributes a great deal of his success to the following simple vegetable prescription :—

One ounce Fluid Extract Dandelion ;

One ounce Compound Salatone ;

Four ounces Compound Syrup Sarsaparilla ;

Mix, shake well, and take in teaspoonful doses after each meal and again at bedtime.

Your druggist can supply the ingredients, and the mixture can be prepared at home at very little expense.

This, the doctor says, acts directly on the kidneys, assisting them to filter the poisons from the blood and expel same in the urine, at the same time restoring the kidneys to healthy, normal action.

We feel that a great many readers will be pleased to learn of this simple prescription, and knowing the ability of the physician whose formula it is, we do not hesitate to recommend it to any sufferer.

The funeral of the late John Rennison, whose sad death is reported elsewhere, will take place place on Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock from the Undertaking Parlors, Copper Street. Members of W.F.M. No 22 will attend in a body.

The horse purchased by the city ten days ago for the fire department is proving to be an animal easily taught the "tricks" for which he was intended. Already, at the sound of the gong, he takes to the harness like an old timer.

A man named Winchester took his own life in Robinson & Warren's tie camp on the North Fork on Tuesday night. He was a stranger in the camp and was not in the employ of the firm. He was taken to Grand Forks on Wednesday by Alex. Robinson. Nothing is known here of the man's relatives.

Special Christmas services will be held at St. Jude's church on Christmas eve and on Christmas day. The Tuesday night service will be begun at 11:30 o'clock. A number of carols and anthems will be sung. On Christmas morning a Christmas service will be held at 11 o'clock. Special music. Everyone is welcome at both of the services.

The Christmas Tree at Deadwood will be held on Monday, December 23. At the school this afternoon closing exercises are on the wing and the world is moving merrily for the children. Miss Gill, the teacher, will spend her holidays with her uncle, Robert Fraser, of Phoenix, and with friends at Rossland.

J. T. Beattie represented the Greenwood Curling club at the meeting of the Kootenay Curling association held at Nelson on Wednesday night. W. G. McMynn was elected one of the vice-presidents. The annual bonspiel will be held in Nelson, probably the latteer part of January. Greenwood will be well represented.

A man was arrested last Saturday night for leaving his horse tied all day to a post without food or a covering on the animal. Evidently this man (?) does not believe in kindness and mercy to to every living creature. The Judge should have ordered this cold-blooded man stripped off his clothing and then sentenced him to ten days in an ice house without food.

Professors McHenry and W. G. Swayne's orchestra, which furnished the excellent music for the many social hops held in Greenwood last fall and this winter, left last week for Cranbrook. This orchestra, according to the Herald, "will be something new in Cranbrook." No doubt it will, as the music furnished a year ago for Cranbrook dances consisted of a Dago with a Jews-harp, a Coon with the bones, and a Chinaman with the tom-toms.

Beautiful dolls, wonderful toys—a fairy land for the children is at Coles' Bookstore this week.
