FATHER IS DESERTED

Heartless Daughters Ignore Their Duties.

DIES AMONG STRANGERS

Old Man from Rock Creek Is Denied Decent Burial by His Children.

An astonishing case of heartlessness has developed in connection with the death of the late John M. Jarrett, who died in the Sisters' hospital here on April 20th. The late Mr. Jarrett had been living for some years on a ranch near Rock creek, and upon taking ill was brought to the hospital for treatment. The old man—he was 72 years of age had two daughters, Mrs. Hugh Keefer and Mrs. Robert Leatherdale, living in Vancouver. They were notified and Mrs. Leatherdale came to Greenwood and visited her father in the hospital. After awhile she went back to the coast and her sister, Mrs. Keefer, appeared on the scene. It appears that the old man had some property—a little—and the loving daughters exhibited a strong desire to have him him make his will. It is not known that the deceased refused to make a will in favor of his children. But, however, no will was executed, and failing this, his daughters' interest in his welfare suddenly cooled.

LEAVES TOWN.

It was not until after their father's death that the true character of the women was shown. Mrs. Keefer was in Greenwood staying at the Imperial hotel at the time of her father's death. Early on the morning of April 20th she was notified personally by the hospital porter of his death. Without going near the hospital or making any arrangements whatever for the disposal of the body, she left on the early morning stage for Midway and took the train for the coast.

Something had to be done, so T. M. Gulley & Co. took charge of the body and wired Hugh Keefer and R. Leatherdale at Vancouver for instructions.

REMAINS UNBURIED.

To these dispatches no reply was received, and another dispatch was sent requesting a reply. This was likewise ignored. Further requests were also made, but no notice was taken of these. This week word was received in the city from a firm of Vancouver lawyers requesting that all papers and documents relating to Jarrett's death be secured and forwarded to Vancouver. The recipient of these instructions, who naturally wishes his name withheld, was horrified to learn at the outset of his investigations, that the old man's remains were still unclaimed by his heartless daughters, who had ignored all requests for instructions regarding the funeral.

NOT PAUPERS, THESE.

It is not through any lack of the necessary money that the Keefer-Leatherdale families have not paid their last respects to their deceased father, for it is well known both in Greenwood and in the coast cities that they are not only well-to-do, but they are notoriously lavish in their expenditures on all the luxuries that take their fancy.

While in Greenwood Mrs. Keefer dazzled the hotel guests with her silken finery and glittering jewelry, and it is now common talk on the street that she flashed more diamond rings on her masculine hands than some jewelers keep in stock, and that she took decided pleasure in showing photographs of her $1000 trotting stallion "Barnacles." She is known to be a clever horsewoman and is said to be the most graceful lady rider that ever visited the Boundary.

SOME REPORTS.

Some explanation for the heartless conduct of these women may be found in the report that Mrs. Keefer and her father was once connected with the notorious Jesse James gang of outlaws. It is reported that Jarrett, in the last years of his life, had told his most intimate friends some wonderful stores of his exploits in daring train robberies and stage coach hold-ups. It is also reported, and commonly believed, that Mrs. Keefer was personally implicated in some of the most daring and blood curdling exploits that in former years made travelling on the western frontier dangerous alike to life and property. It is understood that she took an active part in several exploits and that it was her duty to warn the James gang of the approach of the authorities whenever their safety was in danger. In this way she is believed to have materially assisted in keeping the outlaws so long from justice, and in prolonging the period of their lawless depredations.

Mrs. Keefer is known to those who have met her to be a fearless, daring woman, unswerving in her purposes and dangerous when roused to vigorous action.

The old man's remains are still in the care of the undertaker and it has not yet been decided what shall be done. The government officials have refused to sanction burial at the public expense as the deceased left some property and his daughters are evidently not paupers.

A GAME OF FRAUD

Worthless Checks Passed by Pacific Hotel Pianist.

A fair-haired individual, who passed under the alias of John H. Dean, but whose proper name is understood to be Irving H. Gammond, left town last Sunday morning leaving behind a few sorrowing "friends." This slick gentleman has been a familiar figure about the streets—and hotels—of prospering Greenwood for some months, spending most of his time at that select resort, the Pacific hotel, where he was known as the barroom pianist.

His method of fraud was so thoroughly in keeping with the honorable methods of ordinary business that his intentions to swindle were not even suspected. During the past few months he had maintained an account at the local branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, and had been in the habit of drawing checks and getting local firms to cash them after banking hours. These checks had always been honored and in this way he surreptitiously gained the confidence of those who had obliged him, and thus paved the way for the haul which he made last Saturday night It is understood that a number of checks were cashed by unsuspecting merchants, who found upon presenting the paper at the bank that it was worthless In the meantime the worthless wretch, who had been harbored for months at a local den, decamped with a good roll of stolen cash besides leaving several bills unpaid. It is not known yet what steps the victims will take to bring the culprit to justice.

PROVIDENCE STRIKE

Lower Levels Produce High Values.

OUTPUT WILL INCREASE

Strong Vein Opened at 600-Foot Level.—A Good Sign for Elkhorn and Strathmore.

The Providence mine is one of the high grade mines in the vicinity of Greenwood, about which good things may be said without resorting to shadowy phrases or boost expressions to make up for lack of real substanlial facts. It is one of those mines about which it is a pleasure to write, for it not only "looks good," but it is good, and every time a new story is told it is an improvement over preceding ones, and when there is no new story to tell the management is not continually dogging the heels of the publicity artists for free advertising.

A STRONG VEIN.

For some time past the output of the Providence mine has not been as large as usual on account of the extra development work being carried on in sinking to the 600 foot level. It was believed that more and better ore could be reached by sinking, and the results obtained have justified the undertaking. This week a strong vein, better than anything yet found in the mine, was opened up. Needless to say the management is delighted with the find and drifting on the vein has been started, running both ways. The work will now be pushed as rapidly as possible, and a large increase in the shipments is expected to follow.

LOW LEVELS—HIGH VALUES.

The 600 foot level reached at the Providence is the lowest yet attained in any mine in the boundary. It has always been believed, by mining experts here, that greater depth would reveal greater values, and the success that has attended the operations at the Providence has proven the truth of the theory.

While the new ore has not yet been assayed, its value may be approximately determined by the fact that the best shipments in car load lots have run $250 per ton. It is safe, therefore, to state that when shipments are made from the new vein they will run close to $300 per ton.

ELKHORN AND STRATHMORE.

The strike at the Providence is a matter for congratulation, not only for the owners and managers of that mine, but it is a matter of great encouragement for other mine owners working in the same section, notably the Elkhorn and the Strathmore. These mines have had good success in their preliminary operations, but they have not yet reached sufficient depth to prove the real value of the properties. Work on these is being prosecuted with great activity and lower levels are being continually tapped. The former is down 260 feet, and the operators hope to reach the 300-foot level by June 1st.

THE NEW POWER PLANT.

The Greenwood Electric Co. are vigorously pushing the work on their Boundary Falls electric power plant. The contract for the rock work has been let to Alex. Robinson and he has several men at work there. E. G. Warren spent Tuesday at the Falls taking levels and making other preparations for the construction of the dam. Preparations are also under way for the opening of a road leading to the plant site. This will be necessary for traffic and for the handling of building material and supplies.

IN AMATEUR COMEDY

Local Stars Will Give Entertainment.

FUN, FACT AND FANCY

An Evening's Pleasure Promised for All Who Enjoy a Good Laugh. —The Cast.

An amateur comedy will be the attraction at the Auditorium next Thursday night. A number of enterprising young people, who have been finding the past few months rather uneventful, and the musical and dramatical world not especially entertaining, have improved the time by practicing up a hugely funny comedy entitled "Between the Acts." The cast includes some of the best dramatic talent of which Greenwood can boast—and that is saying a good deal.

HEAPS OF FUN.

To say that the play is funny is put ting it mild indeed. It is more than funny. It is said its presentation crowds more amusing situations, laughable incidents and comical speeches into two and a quarter hours than anything that has been heard within one hundred miles of Green wood for twenty years, or is likely to be heard again in another twenty—unless the Greenwood Amateur Dramatic company play a return engagement before that time.

THE RICH UNCLE.

In the play "Dick" Comfort—that's F. W. McLaine—is a bachelor, living on an allowance given him by his Uncle Meander, upon the condition that he remains unmarried—just imagine. This is too much for Mac., for he falls in love—everybody thought he would—and marries, and then he has an interesting time keeping his rich uncle—that's N. F. Kendall—in the dark while he draws the mun. All goes well until the uncle makes a visit to his nephew's home and Dick has to pack his young wife off to the city. Mrs. Comfort returns, however, before the uncle leaves, and "Dick" has all kinds of trouble straightening out the tangle. He manages it, however, and the uncle is pacified, forgives him for his disobedience and continues the allowance.

THE CAST.

The following is the cast of characters:

"Dick" Comfort, married yet single, F. W. McLaine.

George Merrigale, an unfriendly friend, Randolph Stuart.

Alexander Meander, Dick's uncle, blamed, but blameless, N. F. Kendall.

Harris, Comfort's man servant, A. E. Duchesnay.

Mrs. Clementina Meander, Dick's aunt, blameless but blamed, Miss Read.

Edith Comfort, Dick's wife, 'unknown, unhonored and unsung," Mrs. A. W. English.

Sally, Mrs. Meander's maid, Mrs. F. W. McLaine.

The play has been gotten up by those taking part for the purpose of encouraging local talent, and the proceeds of the entertainment will be devoted to the work of St. Jude's hall Considerable interest is being taken in the production of these local artists and a large audience is looked forward to for next Thursday night.

X RAY MACHINE

Useful Instrument Installed at the Sisters' Hospital.

The Sisters' hospital has made another step forward, and has added to its equipment by having an X Ray machine installed. For some time the great need of such an apparatus has been sorely felt by the city doctors, and the efficiency of the hospital, especially in serious surgical cases, was seriously handicapped. The hospital management did not feel quite able to stand the expense of such an instrument, so the medical men generously contributed, and the machine was installed this week. It was supplied by a Chicago firm and the installation was made by the Greenwood Electric Light Co. It was first used successfully when Finley McKae's broken leg was examined. It is a handsome looking machine and cost some $300.

Sore Nipples.

A cure may be effected by applying Chamberlain's Salve as soon as the child is done nursing. Wipe it off with a soft cloth before allowing the child to nurse. Many trained nurses use this salve with the best result. Price 25 cents per box. Sold by All Druggists.

AT THE B. C. SMELTER

Strike Settled—Work Being Pushed in All Directions.

The strike among the construction men at the B. C. smelter has been satisfactorily settled. The carpenters went back to work last Friday, and the excavators returned to their places Monday at 1 o'clock at an all round scale of $3 for nine hours.

The work at the Anaconda sub-station is still at a standstill and there seems little chance of an immediate settlement.

The construction work at the smelter is now going ahead rapidly, a large force of men being at work in all departments. Several cars of machinery, including two immense flywheels, have been received and unloaded and will be placed in position as soon as the necessary foundations have been constructed.

A large force of carpenters are now at work framing timbers for the new ore bins. Part of these have already been erected and the foundations for the new water tank are almost completed. The smelter premises present a busy appearance and much of the present prosperity of Greenwood is due to the large operations under way there.

A newspaper offered a certain prize for the best answer to the conundrum. "Why is a newspaaer like a woman?" The prize was won by a lady in Oklahama, who sent in the following: "Because every man should have one of his own and not run after his neighbor's."

THE LEDGE

The Boundary Creek Times bids welcome to the new Greenwood paper, the Ledge, the first issue of which appeared Thursday evening. James W. Grier, formerly an esteemed member of the Times staff, is the manager, and it is understood that he will also attend to the editorial work. The starting of a second paper in Greenwood may be taken as an evidence of the growing prosperity and importance of the city. The Times believes it better to be located in a town that is large enough for two papers than in one that has barely enough business to keep one going. We wish the new paper and its editor the fullest measure of success that can come to any institution run on intelligent business principles.

It Is Dangerous to Neglect a Cold.

How often do we hear it it remarked: "It's only a cold," and a few days later learn that the man is on his back with pneumonia. This is of such common occurrence that a cold, however slight, should not be disdisregarded. Chamberlain's Chough Remedy counteracts any tendency of a cold to result in pneumonia, and has gained its great popularity and extensive sale by its prompt cures of this most common ailment. It always cures and is pleasant to take. For sale by All Druggists.

Keep telling a boy he never will amount to anything, and he generally won't.

LOCAL FREIGHT RATES

Freight Manager Discusses the Question.—Winnipeg Business Men Delighted With the Boundary.

Among the visitors arriving in the city this week were F. W. Peters, assistant freight and traffic manager for the C. P. R.; G. A. Merrick, of the firm of Merrick & Anderson, wholesale hardware merchants, of Winnipeg, and E. H. Macklin, business manager of the Manitoba Free Press. They arrived Monday afternoon in Mr. Peters' private car Minnedosa, and spent a short time with Mr. McAllister inspecting the works of the B. C. Copper Co. There they were regatly impressed with the active operations in progress for the enlargement of the plant, and when informed that the capacity would be increased three fold, they were astonished, and at once concluded that Greenwood has a future worthy of the consideration of the great mercantile and commercial institutions of the Dominion, for they are all primarily interested in the upbuilding of Canada, and especially of the west. Mr. Peters is on his quarterly trip of inspection and had visited the towns on the Crows' Nest line, Nelson and Midway before stopping here. The party came in from Midway Monday and left Tuesday morning for Phoenix and Grand Forks, being driven over by D. A. Bannerman. When seen by the Times Tuesday morning Mr. Peters, dressed in a light summer suit, with soft flannel shirt and soft hat, had just finished his breakfast and was leaving his car for the Imperial hotel. The scribe immediately began to pump for news. "You are on a trip of inspection, I suppose?" was the first question. "Yes," said Mr. Peters. "I usually take a trip through this way three or four times a year, just to see how things are getting along." "Do you find any improvement in the Boundary?" "I find things better than they have been for four or five years. Business seems healthier and the great improvements going on at your smelters is the best possible indication of prosperity. Why," he continued, "I understand the smelter here is doubling its capacity." "Trebling," corrected the reporter. "Well, that's better still."

It was then explained to Mr. Peters that the merchants of Greenwood were not perfectly satisfied with the present C. P. R. freight rates and he was asked if Greenwood might look for any immediate lowering of rates on merchandise. "Not at present," said Mr. Peters. "The rates on merchandise are as low as we can make them at present. The rates are naturally higher to Greenwood than to Nelson, but a common Kootenay point rate to Greenwood is out of the question. Greenwood is not likely to become a distributing point because Midway is the only point west to which goods can be distributed, and shipments east could not be made with profit. When our line is completed west from Midway, Greenwood will be given a much better rate to the coast, but I cannot say when that will be. The line is now completed as far as Nicola and of course will be extended to Midway, but when I cannot say, as that is not under my department. It is only after the road has been constructed that my work begins."

INTRESTRD IN FRUIT.

Mr. Merrick and Mr. Macklin, also members of the party, are taking a deep interest in the fruit growing outlook in this province. They noticed the progress in that line at Midway and vicinity, and inquired closely into the prospects of it becoming a large and important industry. They also inquired into the growing of vegetables. Mr. Merrick is the senior partner in the firm of Merrick, Anderson & Co., one of the leading wholesale hardware firms of Winnipeg, and like many other wealthy Winnipeggers, is taking an increasing interest in the progress of British Columbia, not only with a view to securing a share of the growing trade, but also with a view to some day escaping from the severe cold and chilling winds of the prairie capital and retiring to live in comfort, where the balmy breezes and exhilerating climate of Southern British Columbia make living a genuine pleasure and adds length of years to man's allotted span.

Mr. Macklin, as business manager of the Manitoba Free Press, directs the affairs of one of the greatest institutions in the Canadian West, and one of the leading newspapers of Canada. The growth of the Free Press, from a newspaper of modest pretentions, to one of the foremost in the Dominion, has been closely identified with the growth of the city of Winnipeg and of the Northwest, and its rise to a position of commanding importance in the newspaper and the commercial world, as well, owning and occupying one of the finest and most modernly equipped newspaper buildings in Canada, is largely due to the sagacious management of Mr. Macklin.

BRIGHT AND PROSPEROUS.

Speaking of Greenwood, Mr. Macklin expressed pleasure at finding the city so bright and progressive. He was impressed with the fine appearance of the stores, and, like a good newspaper man, he did not content himself with outside appearances, but went in and examined the goods, and was surprised and delighted to find the best classes on display at prices but little higher than they are sold for in Winnipeg.

Speaking of the commercial outlook for Greenwood, Mr. Macklin thought business men here should aim to maintain as close a relation with Winnipeg as possible.

WINNIPEG WATCHING B. C.

"In a few years," said he, "Winnipeg capitalists will be looking for investment, and it is to British Columbia they will turn their attention. The Boundary should keep in touch with Winnipeg, as from there must come much of the capital required for development. The people of Winnipeg will invest in British Columbia more readily than will the people of the east. They have made their money in the west and have faith in it, while those in the east are still doubtful of the possibilities here."

Mr. Macklin thinks southern British Columbia will be settled by a large immigration from the neighboring staces. He was delighted with the climate. He referred to the Boundary as "one vast sanitorium," breathing of health and vigor. He was detighted to learn of the bracing, enjoyable winters and of the early, pleasant springs; and left the city with an excellent impression of Greenwood and vicinity.

The whole party seemed to enjoy their visit and through the kindness of Mr. McAllister, of the B. C. Copper Co., were given much valuable information The visit of the party cannot but have the effect of more widely advertising Greenwood and the Boundary district.

BUYS FRUIT LANDS

Greenwood and Rossland Men Invest in the Okanagan.

J. E. McAllister, manager for the B. C. Copper Co., and Frank A. Hewer, mining broker of Rossland, have recently been investing in Okanagan fruit lands. While these two congenial spirits were investigating the fruit business a short time ago, their fancies were tickled with the prospect of some day leaving behind the cares of mining and copper smelting and settling down to real enjoyment, growing apples, pears, peaches, plums and a host of other good things on the shores of Lake Okanagan. Whether from such exalted motives or from a mere desire to get a slice before it became too late. is not known. However, a deal was made by which Mr. McAllister and Mr. Hewer became equal owners in a thousand acre fruit farm eighteen miles south of Vernon, with an extended frontage on Okanagan lake. The land is some of the finest in the valley. and a large share of it has been planted with apple and other fruit trees, a large proportion of them having already reached the bearing stage. The land is also admirably adapted to the growing of almonds, a large crop having been harvested last year. The fruit lands will be operated under the direction of Mr. Hewer, but no doubt Mr. McAllister will share in the luscious fruits as well as in the financial profits.

HYPOCRISY AS A POLICY.

"The hypocrisy of Mr. Foster's motion in regard to the contract with the North Atlantic Trading company—and it ran through all the Opposition speeches—lies in the attempt to create the impression that paying bonnses for immigrants is a new thing. The fact is it has been going on for thirty years, and has been pursued by both Conservative and Liberal Governments. This is not said in the spirit of tu quoque. The advisability of the policy is open to argument. When immigrants were going by our doors, attracted by the powerful magnet of the United States, it was necessary to try every fair method that suggested itself to divert the great current that poured so small a portion of its stream into Canada. Mr. Sifton's success was not so much in changing the methods of his Conservative predecessors as it was in pursuing them whole-heartedly, energetically, and practically. Most of his methods existed in embryo in Conservative times, including the payment of bonuses, and it is simply a piece of hypocrisy to pretend that what was all right then is being pursued now for corrupt reasons.

"A great deal is made of the fact that the Government has cancelled the contract with the North Atlantic Trading company. The Opposition appears to be chagrined because the Government has stopped the arrangement which Mr. Foster and his friends have condemned. The Premier has stated that the reason for cancelling the contract was that the company was not living up to its terms. At the risk of being charged with egotism, The Globe ventures to think that it was not without influence in bringing about the change For the past two or three years it has freely expressed its doubts about the soundness of the policy of bonusing Europeon immigration. Two or three considertions weighed with it in arriving at that opinion. Whatever may have been necessary when the policy was adopted has ceased to have the force it then had. The stream of natural immigration of a deserable sort from the United States and from Great Britian has attained to satisfactory proportoins. Enough European immigrants have settled in the country to enable us to rely to a considerable extent on the sort of immigration which the home letters of satisfled settlers promote. The fact, too that in some of those countries it is necessary that the propaganda should be secret and illicit was also an objection. But perhaps the chief objection was that the United States had entered on a policy of excluding all but the most desirable class of immigrants from it ports. The inevitable tendency would be to turn that objectionable immigration into other channels.

"It was to be expected those who had directed our immigration policy, and who, we freely admit, had achieved such splendid results from it, should not be ready to adopt our views at once, but time and weight of argument have had their effect, and the first branch of the work that has been abandoned is that which had to be conducted with a certain amount of unavoidable privacy and circumspection. That is the logical and natural explanation of it, but what the Opposition has done is to seize The Globe's antagonism to the policy and make a partisan use of it. "Corruption" with a capital C is its whole stock-in-trade. It either lacks the opportunity or ability to challenge the Administration on legitimate grounds, and so it goes about sniffing and insinuating at the expense of the decency of public life and the dignity of Parliament. It may be assured that it is not commending itself to the country, or convincing the electors that it is fit to be entrusted with the navigation of the ship of State.—Toronto Globe.

THE BIG COPPER

Eastern Capitalists Dickering for Control of Valuable Mine.

While it is impossible to get all the details in the case, it is admitted by those interested, that a deal is on by which the Big Copper mine, in what is known as Copper camp, is about to become the property of eastern capitalists, presumably men whose headquarters are in Boston. W. T. Smith of Greenwood, is one of the parties interested in the deal, but when approached for information Friday morning he declined to say more than that a deal was on and that a final settlement was expected soon.

"Is it a sale or a bond?" asked the Times. "Well," said Mr. Smith, "it is something of both, but I cannot give out any of the details for publication."

From other sources the Times learned that the deal has been completed, the papers having been signed Thursday, but this cannot be stated authoritatively. One of the proprietors of the Big Copper, S. W. McMichael of Toronto, was in Greenwood for a few days this week. He was here only a short time, leaving on Wednesday's train. As Mr. McMichael owns a one-quarter share it would appear that the deal must have been practically settled before he left, so the report that the papers have been finally signed may not be without considerable truth. The mine is owned by three parties in all. John Moran has a half interest, the S. B. McCauley estate one-quarter, and Mr. McMichael the other quarter. It is considered by mining authorities to be one of the best copper propositions in the Boundary. Early this year some 600 tons of ore assaying as high as $14 per ton in copper were taken out and treated in the local smelter. After the winter roads broke up, the work was abandoned, and so far has not been resumed. The property is too valuable to be standing idle, and a completion of the present deal will probably start active work again.

A STRIKE THREATENED

Miners' Union Says That It Is Inevitable.

Notwithstanding that the strike at the B. C. Smelter has been settled and the men have returned to their work, there is by no means a certainty that the present peaceful conditions will continue for any considerable length of time. While outward appearances would indicate that everything is progressing satisfactorily and that the employees and the union to which they belong are content with present conditions, there is known to be an under current of discontent and during the past few days there have been persistent rumors that a general stike, affecting the men employed at not only the B. C. Copper company's smelter, but including also those at work at the Boundary Falls and Granby smelters, would be called within a comparatively short time.

UNION'S STATEMENTS.

H. Bretzin, one of the men prominatly connected with the miner's union, informed the Times, Thursday night, that while he could not state that a general strike was immediately imminent, he believed that it would inevitabley come in time, but how soon he could not say. The union's grievance against the B. C. Copper Co lays in the fact that the company has a number of men on its pay roll who are receiving less than $3.00 for more than nine hours work. The union aims to compel the copper companies to pay a minimum wage of $3.00 for a nine hour day and the officers of the union state that until this is accomplished the question of a general strike will be under condideration.

COMPANY'S STATEMENT.

When asked if he had any knowledge of an impending strike, Mr. McAllister of the B. C. Copper Company, stated that his company had not been approached by their employees and that the only evidence they had of dissatisfaction among the men was the interruption in the work that had occurred recently.

He stated that the company had not recoginzed the union but they were ready at all times to deal fairly with their employees. There were men at the smelter working for twenty-five and twenty-seven and a half cents per hour for ten hours a day. This was twenty-five cents per day more than men employed at similar work at the Trail smelter were getting. The men were given extra pay here to make up for the extra cost of living.

Mr. McAllister pointed out that the B. C. Copper company are anxious to continue their work and a strike would be about the worst thing that could happen, both for the company and for the town. For years the company has been expending large sums in wages and supplies and the men in the east who have been putting up the money without getting any returns are growing about tired of the business.

The whole future of Greenwood depends upon the success of the smelting and mining business, and just at the present time, when the town is beginning to enjoy a period of prosperity it would be decidedly unfortunate for business men and for the general public, as well as for the parties more directly interested, to have to resort to a general strike in order to settle the present difficulties.

The severe electric storm today played havoc with the telephone system, putting 56 phones out of order. For this reason the Times was unable to give this week's report of the ore shipments, so that the table of shipments appearing in this issue is the same as that of last week.

DIAMOND DRILLING

Extensive Operations by Local Companies.

The usefulness of the diamond drill in mining is recognized by three companies operating on a large scale in the Boundary. To date the Granby company has drilled holes totalling 18,000 feet for the purpose of determining the extent of known ore bodies and prospecting new ground. The B. C. Copper Co. during the last twelve months has drilled between 3,000 and 4,000 feet in its Mother lode mine, and recently commenced using the drill in the Emma and Oro Denoro mines. The Dominion Copper Co. is preparing to put in a number of drill holes from the lower levels of its Brooklyn mine at Phoenix. Drills have also been used for prospecting purposes in the Oro Denoro and Betts and Hesperus mines. Of the five drills in use in this district two or three are owned and operated under contract by the Diamond Drill Contracting Co., of Spokane, Wash., and the others by the respective companies using them. The drilling company mentioned is also operating drills in the Similkameen district.

GRANBY CONSOLIDATED

Forward, and get again forward, seems to be the watchword of the Granby Consolidated, under the energetic superintendency of A. B. W. Hodges. It is a poor week or a poor month when some extension or considerable machinery addition is not planned; and to plan it means to put it into effect.

It is a year or two since it was thought by many, not in the counsels of the company, that the company was so well fixed with plant and machinery that further additions would not be likely to be considered for some time to come— with the exception of the continual smelting enlargement. But it has not worked out that way.

The business like superintendent of the Granby Consolidated is continually planning, not only how he can turn out more and more blister copper each month, but how he can turn it out for a little less money than for the preceding month. This is shown by the reported announcement of Manager Graves that the company is now producing its pure copper, including all expenses of mining, smelting, and marketing, at about 8 cents per pound. Few companies in the United States can show such a record, even though they have rich ore, as most of them have.

After getting his big battery of eight furnaces in commission at the smelting works, with his own patented self-charging apparatus, Mr. Hodges set about arranging for enlarging some of the six smaller furnaces, and is gradually accomplishing that result, so that in a few months he will probably be smelting more than 3,000 tons of ore daily, against about 2,600 to 2,700 tons daily, as at present. Then with the eight furnaces it kept the converter plant so busy that it was not easy to handle all the molten matte. This meant the addition of another converter stand, which will be an accomplished fact before long. And thus the improvements continue at the smelter.

HUMAN NATURE

It is more fun to see a man read a puff on himself in a newspaper than to see a fat man slip on a banana peel, wisely remarks an exchange. The narrow minded man reads it over seven or eight times and then goes around and appropriates what copies he can. The kind hearted man goes home and reads it to his wife and then goes around to the office and pays what he owes. The successful business man who advertises regularly and makes money by it, immediately starts out to find the editor, and they walk silently down the street and the business man takes sugar in his'n and they both eat a clove or two and life is sweeter, and peace settles down on their hearts for a moment. Such is the experience of mustard seed that falls on different ground.

To suddenly brake a heavy winding engine running at full speed is a rather heroic measure,and advisable only when human life is at stake. If the load is one of mineral only, it may be better to risk injury to cage rope and head frame by overwinding, than to suddenly apply a powerful steam brake.

The newspaper is a law book for the indolent, a sermon for the thoughtless, a library for the poor and an admonisher for the lawless. It may stimulate the most indifferent, but it cannot be published without cost and sent free to subscribers. This is no joke.

RAILWAY LEGISLATION

Duncan Ross, M. P., Presents the Claims of Hedley.

Hon. Mr. Emerson, minister of railways, has had before him the application of the Vancouver, Victoria & Eastern for he ratification of the plan giving the railway direct entrance to the town of Hedley, in the Similkameen district. Lawyer H. B. McGiverin and J. H. Kennedy, chief engineer, appeared for the V., V. & E. The application was strongly opposed by the Canadian Pacific, who wants to force the V., V. & E. to build across the river from Hedley and over a mile distant from the town. Duncan Ross, member for Yale-Cariboo, appeared for the citizens of Hedley and presented petitions from the citizens and board of trade in favor of the application. He made a strong plea for the ratification of the plans and held that the interest of the town was of more importance than the interest of an opposing railway company, which had no railway within fifty miles of the town and might never build one to it.

A JAP'S AMBITION.

Once more we cross the seas, this time in the heart of civilization. This happened within the walls of the Japanese Embassy, in Grosvenor Square, London. My business within those walls was to interview the Japanese minister to Great Britain, Viscount Hayashi, the spokesman of the mikado in Europe. I was awaiting my turn, in the great lofty hall of the mansion, when a Japanese servant opened the front door and admitted a lady dressed quietly in black. She was not the "veiled lady" of fiction, she was an old lady of fact. Her slightly wrinkled face was exposed to the world, and my only thought concerning her, as she passed through the hall, was that she carried herself remarkably well for so aged a person, and that she was at once admitted to the Japanese minister's office, ahead of all who had arrived before her. Fifteen minutes later she again passed through the hall, this time on her way out, and with her went a young Japanese who bowed before her most obsequiously as she went out of the door, when he too passed out, shutting the door after him. That aged lady in black was Eugenie, ex-Empress of the French. One of the Japanese attaches told me the reason of her visit at that time:

It seems that there was a lowly Jap in England whose ambition was to be another Marquis Ito. He wanted to begin as a soldier in the Japanese ranks in Manchuria. But someone stood in his way, and that someone was the ex-Empress Eugenie, who employed him as her valet at her house at Farmborough, near Aldershot, where for years she had lived. The valet wrote to the Japanese minister in London, asking to be sent home to join his country's legion against the bad Russians. The minister wrote back that he would see what could be done, but added that a Japanese in a foreign country is not necessarily expected to return to Japan, and that such return for military service is not compulsory, but entirely voluntary. Then down from Eugenie's house came the little Jap, in person, to the minister, and asked his excellency please to hurry matters, as he simply couldn't wait to go forth to shoot Russians. And instead of returning to his post of duty as valet, he tarried in London. It was then that the next step was taken by the ex-empress herself. She came to London and called at the embassy, as I have described. But first she had arranged with the Japanese minister, by letter, to have her runaway valet at the embassy at the time of her call,. The upshot of the matter was that Eugenie begged Viscount Hayashi not to take the little Jap from her service, as, indeed, he was not physically able to shoulder a gun and dig trenches and be a killer of Russians Whereupon the Jaapnese minister told the little Jap to go home with her majesty and be a good boy. So today he is still brushing the clothes of the gentlemen-in-waiting at Eugenie's English mansion.—From "Adventures of a special Correspondent," by Gilson Willets, in National Magazine.

Channeling machines have added wonderfully to the economies of quarrying. These machines are operated either by electricity or steam and travel on a track, on each side of which they cut a deep channel parallel with it. It can be readily appreciated that in getting out marble or other valuable stone, no explosives can be used, and consequently the work of quarrying this class of stones devolves almost entirely on the channelling machine.

THE MERCHANTS CORNER

Cultivate a Personal Friendship With Yours Customers-

Of course the average general merchant is not in a position to hire or require the services of a floor walker. His establishment is built on more modest proportions and the incoming and outgoing of shoppers is not so rushing but what each can find the proper counters without a guide. Frequently there is but one counter.

And yet, if the country merchant was able to delegate his work behind the counter to an active, energetic and capable clerk, he would probaby find that he would be money ahead at the end of the year if he would get in front of his counters and mingle with the shoppers, meeting each with the glad hand as they enter and being on deck for a "come again," or some other cheery greeting as they pass out,

Nor is it at all a straining of an average momory to be able to address a large percentage of your customers by name. A little attempt at training memory will work wonders. Some sk eptics laugh at the idea of aiding memory by association—because, frequently the fault has beea in calling to mind the association, and yet the exercise of this habit is one of the very best possible memory training,

A bootblack in Chicago, one Dennis a young colored boy, acquired the tact of calling customers by their names. He conducted a basement establishment at State and Monroe streets. His memory won him fame aud a fortune. Lyman J. Gage, Paul Morton, and hundreds of prominent Chicagoans went to this shop for their morning shine, lured by the certainty of a friendly greeting from Dennis. Every railroad man of importance in the city visited Dennis' establishment--yet, fattened into riches by memory, Dennis played the races and lost his all. This does not spoil the teachings of the story nor the moral—cultivate your memory—it will pay.

The floorwalker in the large store greets his morning customers, with: "Good morning, madam, how can I serve you this morning?" Mr. Merchant should change this formula to: "Good morning, Mrs Burton—all well I hope, can I be of any use to you?" or as close personal or casual acquaintance might dictate.—Ex.

Sciatica Cured After Twenty Years of Torture.

For more than twenty years Mr. J. B. Massey, of 3322 Clinton St, Minneapolis, Minn., was tortured by sciatica. The pain and suffering which he endured during this time is beyond comprehension. Nothing gave him any permanent relief until he used Chamberlain's Pain Balm. One application of that liniment relieved the pain and made sleep and rest possible, and less than one bottle has effected a permanent cure. If troubled with sciatica or rheumatism why not try a 25-cent bottle of Pain Balm and see for yourself how quickly it relieves the Pain. For sale by All Druggist.

THE BLACK DIAMOND

The black diamond used for diamond drilling has lately advanced in price and is now worth from $75 to $85 per carat. It is noteworthy that in the rough these carbons are more expensive than are the uncut jewel diamonds the latter ranging from $35 to $45 per carat. From the difference in price and the known hardness of these two forms of carbon it would seem that the jewel stones would be selected for drilling. That such is not the case is due to the greater elasticity of the black diamond, this quality making it more adapted to the work of drilling. Carbons for drilling are mostly produced in Brazil, where the industry is controlled by a Dutch company.

THOSE MIDWAY HOLD-UPS.

In the Midway news last week the Times published a report of a shooting affray in Crowell's hotel. This was an error. It seems that the affair occurred in a hotel at Ferry. The reported hold up of Customs Collector Gardom was also an error. Mr. Gardom informed the Times that he had not been the victim of any such outrage. The highwaymen probably know better than to attack a government official.

SCORES FOR HEDLEY

Duncan Ross Gets Railway for Similkameen Town.

The town of Hedley has been much exercised of late over the plans of the V., V. & E. There were fears that the line would be built across the Similkameen river and that the town would be sidetracked. Through the efforts, however, of the citizens and the member for Yale-Cariboo the route was finally decided upon to run through the growing metropolis of the Similkameen. The Hedley Gazette says:

"After much delay the question of V., V. & E. plans to come through the town of Hedley instesd of being forced by the C. P. R. to build across the Similkameen river, came up before the Minister of Railways at Ottawa recently. Over two months ago the matter was brought before the minister and he granted approval at once, but shortly after doing so the C. P. R. got after him and he withdrew the approval which he had granted. This precipitated the present fight, in which Hedley took a small hand by holding a public meeting on March 19th, at which a strong resolution was carried, and also one from the Board of Trade, as well as the circulation of petitions, all of which, it will be seen, figured prominently in the discussion.

"The Gazette, on behalf of itself and the town, bows acknowledgement to Duncan Ross, M. P., for the able manner in which he championed the case for the town. It is but proper, also, in this connection, to acknowledge the valuable services of M. K. Rodgers in the matter, as he it was who really set the ball rolling, for in their anxiety to avoid conflict with the C. P. R., the V., V. & E. engineers would have chosen the other side. Mr. Rodgers, seeing the way the land lay, took the matter up with G. N. headquarters at St. Paul. Otherwise direct entrance of the railway to the town would most likely have heen lost by default, to the serious injury of the town."

CUBA'S COPPER MINES

Cuba's copper mines have the distinction of having been the first of the kind operated by Europeans in America. El Cobre mines, about thirty miles north of Santiago, were worked by the Spaniards in the sixteenth century, and have made an unenviable record of financial failures. Under an English company their ore was sent to Swansea for smelting. They are now owned by the Spanish-American Iron company.

At the Minas de Cobre, near Havana, the ore occurs in well defined lenticular bodies. The largest lens is about twenty feet wide in the middle; they vary in length from twenty to 200 feet and extend downward with a northeast dip. They all occur along well marked fracture planes in serpentine. The ore is pyrrhotite, with or without chalcopyrite, and appears to have originated from the native metal originally disseminated in the peridotite rock from which the serpentine was derived. The principal mines are now owned by American companies and are being developed on modern lines.

SURVEYING TO NICOLA.

The advent of a railway into the Nicola is changing the whole condition of affairs in that beautiful section of the country Not only has the main section of 46 miles been completed, but branches are already being constructed, and the C. P. R. surveyors are rapidly locating others, especially one from the Forks to Nicola. In a few years this will be one of the busiest steam coal camps in the Province, and supplies will be drawn for use on the main line of the C. P. R., as well as for local requirements.

COPPER COMPANY MEETS

Dominion Will Readjust Finances.—Will Issue More Stock.

A special meeeting of the Dominion Copper company will be held in Phoenix on Saturday for the purpose of authorizing the issuance and sale of 300,000 first mortgage bonds and about 228,000 shares of capital stock, par $10. Books closed May 3, reopen May 13.

A company circular states that the proceeds from sale of Dominion Copper company stocks and bonds now in treasury will be devoted to purchase of additional mining property and new equipment, for development work, enlargement of smelter plant, railroad connections and possibly for construction of new smelter.

The prior right of subscription is reserved for stockholders, bonds and stock to be sold together. Each bond of $100 par value will be sold with 76 shares of the stock for $229.80. It will be impossible to offer less amounts of securities because the unit of subscription must be based on ratio of amount of bonds to amount of stock available.

The outstanding stock of the Dominion company is about 270,000 shares, par $10, while of a total of $1,000,000 bonds authorized, $700,000 are outstanding. These are payably June 15, 1915, and the accrued interest, if any, on the bonds will have to be adjusted and paid by subscribers at the time of the final subscription payment.

The circular sent to shareholders by Warner Miller, president, and Leopold Herrmann, secretary, by order of the board of directors, from New York, also states:

Notice is accordingly hereby given that an extraordinary meeting of the shareholders of the Dominion Copper Co., Ltd., will be held at the registered office of the company at Phoenix, B. C., on the 12th day of May, 1906, at 2 o'clock p. m., for the purpose of taking such action in the premises as the shareholders may determine, and, if thought fit, passing the following resolution:

"Resolved, That the proposition and plan of the directors of the company to issue and sell $300,000 par value of the company's first mortgage bonds, and 328,000 shares of its stock of a par value of $10 each, substantially in the manner and upon the terms and subject to the conditions set forth in a notice to the shareholders dated April 25th, 1906, which is hereby referred to, be and the same is hereby in all things approved; and the directors and officers of the company are hereby authorized and directed to execute on behalf of the company an underwriting agreement of the general form and tenor of the draft agreement submitted and read at the shareholders' meeting, with such modification as to details as may be approved by the company's counsel; and all or any of the directors of the company are hereby authorized to sign such underwriting agreement as underwriters, and personally to participate in any profits or benefits that may accrue therefrom, notwithstanding their positions as directors; and the directors and officers of the company are further authorized and directed to execute any other instruments, and to do any and all other acts necessary, or appropriate, fully to carry out the purposes of this resolution."

As the shareholders have previously been advised, the company's charter has been amended so that the shares are now of the par value of $10 each. The amendment has been confirmed by the supreme court of British Columbia and the company no longer has any recognized shares of the denomination of $1 each. The time within which the holders of the old certificates of $1 each may surrender them and obtain certificates representing their interest in the present shares of $10 each has been limited to May 15th, 1906. All holders of the old certificates should, therefore, send them in for exchange without delay.

Progress and Development

Progress and development are terms closely identified with life in the West. In a new country people are working daily for the upbuilding of town, city and district, and for the improvementof the conditions under which men and women are called upon to live. Every act of daily life that tends to bettering one's surroundings makes directly or indirectly for the improvement of society generally. In all this the local newspaper plays an important part. Among its local readers it stimulates an increasing interest in their home city, keeping them posted on all local happenings, and becomes a welcome weekly messenger, bearing bright and welcome tidings. Among its outside readers it forms a valuable advertising medium making known the merits, advantages and prospects of the city and attracting thither citizens who want employment, business firms looking for locations, and capitalists seeking investments. In the upbuilding of a town, city or district the local paper is an important factor.

BOUNDARY CREEK TIMES

The Boundary Creek Times aims to do its full and complete share in the upbuilding and improvement of Greenwood and the Boundary district. It is not handicapped in its work by any restraining obligations to any party, clique or corporation, but it is free at all times to rise up and promote the best interests of the City of Greenwood and its people. To do this most thoroughly and satisfactorily the Times must have the support and cooperation of the citizens of Greenwood.

Every effort is being put forth to make the Times the class of newspaper the people want. Increasing attention is being continually paid to mining news, especially of that nature that will interest those employed in the work as well as those whose capital is invested in the properties. With this end in view we aim to have

A Subscriber in Every Home

As a result of the efforts that have already been put forth, we believe that an increas- interest is already being taken in its news columns. We have evidences of this from the fact that the subscripiion list is already growing; the street sales are increasing weekly and the news dealers find more demand for each succeeding issue. This is a satisfactory condition of affairs that acts in two ways. It increases the revenue of the circulation department and it makes the paper a first-class advertising medium for local business men.

In handling local advertising every effort if put forth to protect the Greenwood merchant. The local page is reserved for them and foreign advertising has been repeatedly refused because the advertising manager refused to disturb the positions held by local advertisers.

Business men of Greenwood, we are here to protect and advertise you. We are protecting you! Do you advertise? Read The Times, subscription $2.00 per year.
