THE BIG SMELTERS

Are Treating Enormous Quantities of Ore.

MORE MEN ARE WANTED

British Columbia and Dominion Copper Company Blow in Additional Furnaces.

Boundary smelters are now in a position to treat over 6,000 tons of ore a day, or 2,000,000 tons a year. The aggregate treatment of the smelters for the year 1907 do not indicate any such figures, but this is accounted for by reason of labor troubles at home and labor troubles at the coal mines, necessitating vexatious "shut downs" for want of fuel. It is confidently expected, however, that since 1907 has had already more than a full share of labor difficulties, that the mines and smelters will be run to their full capacity during the remaining months of the year.

At the present time the great need is more miners, especially machine men. The Mother Lode alone requires 80 additional skilled miners, and all the other big mines are laboring under a similar shortage. Mine managers are hoping that this shortage of men will be removed during the next few weeks. If not, then some of the furnaces must be blown out, because it will be absolutely impossible to keep up the supply of ore required by the smelters with the present force.

The B. C. Copper company this week blew in the third furnace, and the company's smelter can easily treat 2,000 tons a day. The Dominion Copper company's smelter, with the new large furnace, which was blown in last week, and which is working very satisfactorily, has a capacity of 1,400 tons a day, and the Granby company could easily treat from 2,800 to 3,000 tons a day at its smelter at Grand Forks.

The Snowshoe mine began shipping to the B. C. Copper company's smelter at Greenwood this week, contracting to deliver 600 tons a day for treatment. Heretofore all the ore from this mine was being treated at the Trail smelter.

On the other hand, the B. C. Copper company, which is operating the Emma mine in Summit Camp, has arranged to ship ore from this property to the Granby smelter at Grand Forks.

It is difficult to realize the enormous quantity of ore treated daily by the Boundary smelters. The B. C. Copper company's output is equal to a column of broken rock a foot square and eight miles long, or a pyramid a foot square square and five miles high of solid ore.

The old Cariboo mine at Camp McKinney is looking well. The mill is running night and day, and the Phoenix syndicate which is operating the mine under lease are soon expecting a clean up. It is quite evident that the Cariboo was not shut down because the ore had been exhausted.

The Dominion Copper company is preparing to pay dividends. A Boston report says, regarding this company:

"Almost simultaneously with the retirement from net earnings of $200,000, or 20 per cent, of its outstanding mortgage bonds, the Dominion Copper Co., Ltd., is doubling its production of copper.

"On Monday the long anticipated blowing in of the Dominion Copper Co.'s new big furnace will take place, and the company should double its present output, resulting in estimated net earnings of at least $100,000 per month.

"The company's plant will now have a capacity of 1,500 tons per day, and, allowing for shut-downs, etc., the average tonnage treated will be at least 1,200 tons per day. With this output of ore the management expects a production of 9,000,000 pounds of copper per annum.

"During the past year the operation and development work at the mines has been changed from steam to electric power. Most of the machinery at the mines has been replaced with new. The smelter has been rebuilt, its capacity doubled and changed from steam to electric power. The economies in the operation which will result from these improvements should enable the company to make its copper at a cost of inside 9 cents per pound; it is expected that better than 8½ cents will be reached. With copper at 25 cents per pound the company should earn 25 per cent on the par value of its stock, after retiring each year $100,000 of its outstanding mortgage bonds from the net earnings and after providing for all fixed charges. With copper at 20 cents per pound, the company should earn 17 per cent on the par value of its stock.

"June 1, the company retired from its net earnings $200,000, or 20 per cent, of its outstanding mortgage bonds.

"After paying for the building and installation of the new big furnace, together with the other improvements at the mines and smelter, besides retiring the $200,000 bonds, the company has on hand over $400,000 in cash. This strong financial showing will enable the company to go on a dividend basis at once.

"In anticipation of the present large tonnage now being inaugurated, the company has spent a large amount on development work during the present year. The Rawhide, Brooklyn and Idaho mines, situated in Phoenix camp, and adjoining the properties of the Granby Co., will furnish 700 or 800 tons of ore per day, the balance coming from the Sunset and Crown Silver properties, in the Deadwood Camp, adjoining the Mother Lode, the principal producer of the British Columbia Copper Co.

"Title to the Athlestan mine is now vested in the Dominion Copper Co. Several thousand tons of this ore, averaging $6 to $8 per ton in gold, have been run through the Dominion Copper Co.'s smelter. Exploration and development work is now in progress, and ore from this property will be shipped within the next two or three months.

"The company does not contemplate being satisfied with an output of 1,200 tons per day, and M. M. Johnson, the chief engineer of the company, has been instructed by the board of directors to prepare plans for an additional 1,500 ton per day smelter capacity. The cash on hand is more than sufficient to install this additional capacity, without the issuing of any additional capitalization, and without using any of the net earnings from operation of the present capacity, but allowing these earnings to go to the shareholders in dividends."

PLEDGES WELL KEPT

The Liberal government has been true to the people who reposed their confidence in the men chosen to govern the country. While both parties can promise prosperity, any party may so direct the affairs of a nation that favorable conditions under which prosperity may flourish can be created. This was done by the Liberal government. Its western immigration policy peopled that country with sturdy homeseekers. Transportation was facilitated so that Eastern Canada participated in the impetus given to business of every character.

The tariff was so ordered that sufficient protection was given to infant industries, and at the same time it was so spread over the entire list of importations in a moderate manner that enhanced revenue was the direct result, and means were provided whereby great public works for the benefit of all the people were commenced and carried to successful completion.

The strictest supervision was promised over public expenditure. Proper economy, having regard to a due performance of the public service, was promised and duly put in practica operation. A severe system of auditing before payment, is insisted upon, and in this regard alone it may be said that many thousands of dollars of the peoples' money have been saved.

Lands have found their way into the hands of the settler, with the result that, under the present administration, thousands of homesteaders are found each year occupying the lands as against hundreds under a Conservative administration.

Lands heretofore supposed to be worthless, have been transferred to irrigation companies upon the express condition that hundreds of thousands of dollars shall first be expended in irrigation ditches.

Coal lands remain the property of the government. They may be leased for a term of years, and it is provided that the actual settler shall purchase his fuel at a reasonable price. The lands must be worked or they revert to the government.

Loblolly pine, used as mine timber, measuring 5 in. wide and 12. high, with 15 ft. between supports, will hold a load of 14.900 pounds.

Drilling oil wells in Kansas is usually done with a standard or carpenter's portable rig of the American cable-tool or oil-well system. The derricks vary in height from 40 to 75 feet.

Timbermen in the larger coal mines in Montana receive $3.60 per day of 8 hours, and their helpers $3.

LARGE MINING DEAL

Visitors Loud in Praise of Boundary.

DR. BISSELL STRONG TALKS

And Gives His Views of the Wonderful Mining Resources of the Boundary District.

D. Bissell Strong, M. D., of Northport, was in town this week, accompanied by R. J. Hamer of the same place. While here Dr. Strong viewed the Greyhound properties with Mr. Moffatt, and states that in all probability a deal will be consummated with eastern capital at once, which will run into the neighborhood of seven figures. The Doctor was much impressed with this section of B. C. and spoke in the most glowing terms of the prosperity and material advancement of the Boundary since his last visit. He said that he was strongly in favor of bringing more American capital into this country, stating as his reasons that capital felt safer in B. C. under the British flag than in the states. "We have our much boasted freedom on the other side, but also a certain lawlessness and disregard for order, and the existing government, which is always dangerous and inimical to the interests of invested capital, whilst here you have freedom without license, a beautiful country, endless natural resources, a strong government and a people steady in their respect for it."

In his own country the Doctor is a strong Republican, and voices his views on the coming 1908 presidential election in a letter to the Northport News, dated April 17, in which he says: "I am very much in favor of what I may call a 'National Economic Trust,' based on the ægis of 'a square deal' to labor; this combination would eventually unite under a wise government supervision and control our vast aggregations of organized capital and labor. This idea can only be forwarded by working to keep up our present era of good times and unexampled prosperity, and this must be done by selecting Roosevelt to the presidential chair of 1908."

"Why," he said, "we need Roosevelt, we cannot do without him. If Roosevelt is not returned for the presidency I intend to emigrate to B. C. at once, and it might be a good thing to do in any case. I consider that from most points of view that Canada is a better place than the states."

The Doctor is a well travelled man of wide experience. Educated at Yale, he took degrees, and then traveled through Europe, locating for a time in France, and was in Paris at the time of the commune. He ended by stating that he never was more favorably impressed with any country than he was with the Boundary section of B. C., and his travelling companion, R. J. Hamer, also expressed his pleasure and keen appreciation at the treatment he had received from the Greenwood citizens. "And," he said, "we have a splendid proposition here—nothing better. We will be back in three weeks at latest, to take it over, that is, if everything moves as we expect."

The Doctor and Mr. Hamer left on the stage for Midway Wednesday morning to take the Great Northern train and proceed on their way into Montana, where they will view another property in which they are interested, returning to Greenwood within a month.

CANADA'S DIGNITY SUSTAINED

The visit of Sir Wilfrid Laurier to London, in connection with the Colonial conference, has brought down attacks from many envious persons and periodicals. They seek occasion in the incident to charge the prime minister with a desire to glorify himself at the expense of Canada. Such a charge is more than ridiculous, it is asinine. Sir Wilfrid upon every occasion, both in his personal conduct and attitude on public questions, has attracted dignity to the great country whose representative he is. In dealing with affairs involving Canadian politics, he has invariably kept aloof from expressing any opinion which might be interpreted as an interference with British domestic politics. His attitude throughout a very trying ordeal has been that of a statesman thoroughly alive to his responsibilities, conscious of the dignity of his own position. Sir Wilfrid Laurier emerges from the conference looming larger in public affairs than when he entered it. He has gained in personal prestige, Canada is better known, and respected in proportion, and will ultimately be the beneficiary of all the good that Sir Wilfrid accomplished on that occasion.

OUTPUT OF BOUNDARY ORES

The LOW GRADE mines of the Boundary, which first began shipment in 1900, sending out 100,000 tons that year, have been steadily increasing. The 1906 shipments were 1,161,537 tons, and that of 1907 will be a large gain thereon.

The HIGH GRADES, up to the end of 1906, had in the past four years shipped out over 10,000 tons with a value of over $1,000,000.

IN FRANKLIN CAMP

W. E. Cummins Tell of Some Promising

THINGS UP THE NORTH FORK

Mining Notes—Once Famous Payne Mine Sacrificed at a Sale in Montreal.

W. E. Cummins, the veteran prospector, is in the city for a few days, and will leave early next week for Franklin camp, where he has extensive interests.

"I cannot understand," he said this morning, "why more attention is not being paid to this camp. Up to the present it has been handicapped by transportation facilities, but a railway is now being slowly but surely constructed up the North Fork to the camp. There are some of the best showings in Franklin camp that I have seen in the district, and I prospected the most of it. Only a few days ago, two Danes, who were working a property, uncovered a body of as fine and rich looking copper ore as one would wish to see. Another claim, the 'Copper,' is showing up well. To my mind, there is no camp offers better inducements for the investment of capital than Franklin."

David Good intends leaving for the north country early in June. He has a deal on for some of his Deadwood camp properties.

The once famous Payne mine has been sold to Senator Forget for $60,000. The property was sold at public auction in Montreal by the Royal Trust company for the bondholders. The bidding was started by the Senator at $800, and from that price the bids jumped up until $60,000 was reached, when the property was knocked down to Mr. Forget.

For years the Payne stood at the head of the list of British Columbia dividend payers, over $1,000,000 having been paid out to shareholders. The property consisted of four claims, all small, located on September 9th, 1891, being among the first located in the Slocan. They are on Payne mountain, on the slope toward Carpenter creek, two miles in a straight line from Sandon. The company owning the property was capitalized at $2,500,000 in $1 shares.

Presumably, as the bondholders have sold the property, the shareholders are wiped out and will not receive a cent.

The Payne is a singular instance of a good property ruined and thrown away by stupidly gross mismanagement, or want of sane management. Now that the property has come into Senator Forget's hands. it may be opened up in an intelligent way and made to pay a magnificent return on the sum invested.

No mining man who knows the property has any idea that it is worked out, and if a practical man is put in charge it will not be long before the value of the mine is again demonstrated.

In the year 1899 the shares sold at $4.20 for $5. Later the shares were reduced to $1, and were quoted at 88 cents. What the Senator will do is not as yet announced.

PRICES OF METALS

The prices of the metals continue very satisfactory, and with slight fluctuations, hover around the following:

Silver	65 cents
Lead	5 cents

HAS NO POLICY

Mr. R. L. Borden, leader of the Opposition, addressed his constituents at Stittsvile, Carleton county, last week, on the occasion of a meeting of the Conservative association. On an important event such as this, it might have been expected that some definite policy would have been outlined by the Conservative leader, to justify the invitation he extended to his followers to oust the Liberal government from power and place the conduct of public affairs in his hands, and those of his friends, including George E. Foster, of I. O. O. F. fame.

Nothing of the sort occurred. Mr. Borden contented himself with an allusion to matters that had been talked over in the house last session, and the previous one, until they were threadbare. They were of very trivial importance compared to the elaboration and introduction of a great party policy to take the place of the one with which Canadian people seem so well satisfied.

Before the Canadian people will surrender the government and policy under which so much prosperity has come to the Dominion, they must be shown something better in place of it. The fact that a few affairs in the bulk of the peoples' business may be susceptible to criticism, will not justify a condemnation of the whole Liberal party, or a reversal of its policy.

If a few wrong acts creep into the business of a great government conducted upon certain lines, what guarantee have the people that the same, and worse might not happen should the government of the country fall into inexperienced hands. It must be assumed that the same policy would be followed, the same methods of doing business would obtain, and outside the government itself, the affairs of the country would be transacted by the same officials.

It is asking too much of an intelligent people to throw over a government that has done so much, and instal in its place untrained and inexperienced men, who have outlined no necessary changes in the policy that should govern this country, and who have suggested no improved methods of conducting public business.

With the government of this country, Canadians, as a people, are well satisfied. There will always be, under a democratic form of government, party lines drawn, but the conduct of affairs will never be taken from one party and intrusted to another without good and sufficient cause. There is every evidence that the people desire no change at this time, and until something is formulated by the Conservatives to take the place of the enlightened administration now in charge of public affairs, it may confidently be expected that Canada will continue her progress, for the people have an abiding faith, both in the possibilities of the Dominion and the government of Sir Wilfrid Laurier.

EVERYBODY SATISFIED

Hon. Richard McBride induced Hon. Winston Churchill to eliminate the words "final and unalterable" from the wording of the imperial legisiation authorizing the federal parliament to grant increased subsidies to the provinces. The words were useless, because no legislation can be final and unalterable under a system of responsibile government. Even admitting for the sake of argument, that the change was worth the expense of Premier McBride's trip to England, the position of British Columbia is exactly the same as it was when McBride left the provincial conference. He can make further demands for better terms, and provided he can induce the premiors of sister provinces to agree to those demands, he will be in a position to ask the Dominion government to ask the Imperial parliament to pass legislation further amending the British North American act. He was in this position at the recent conference of provincial premiers, and had he then acted in the interests of the province, instead of playing the school boy, he probably would have succeeded in securing better terms.

If Premier McBride, now that has has had his trip to England, would come back home and seriously apply himself to the proper administration of public affairs, "better terms" would soon become a dead issue in this province. With the development of its magnificent natural resources, British Columbia would soon become such a revenue producer that the other provinces would be kicking because they gave their consent to granting British Columbia exceptional treatment.

Everyone, including Mr. McBride, should now be happy. He had his trip to England, two words have been eliminated to please him, the Conservative organs have found justification for their faith in McBride, and the province is exactly in the same position as it was when McBride started on his holiday jaunt.

BITTEN AGAIN

The people of Toronto, the good, are bemoaning their heavy losses in Cobalt mining stock. A few years ago the same people made what they were pleased to call investments in B. C. mines. They purchased cheap stock in fake mining companies hoping that they would be able to sell it to their neighbors at enhanced prices. When "wild catting" became unpopular the good people of Toronto found themselves with some beautifully litographed share certificates, a shortage of cash and a grudge against B. C. mining ventures. The men who were bitten railed against British Columbia investments when as a matter of fact very few Toronto people invested a dollar in legitimate British Columbia mining enterprises.

The same crowd boomed Cobalt with a similar object in view. By newspaper advertising and in other ways, they created such a boom that the stocks of Cobalt companies were selling on a basis that aggregated the grand total of $400,000,000. Now mining should give a return on the money invested of at least ten per cent per annum or $40,000,000 on the selling price of Cobalt stock last winter. If Cobalt gives a return of a tenth of this sum per annum it is doing remarkably well for a small mining camp.

Those who knew anything about mining knew that the Cobalt boom couldn't last but this didn't seem to influence the people of Toronto the good. They were always hoping that they could "sluff" their stock on their neighbors at increased prices. They didn't succeed in doing this and a second time the people of Toronto lost their money because they failed to realize that it doesn't always pay to buy something because its cheap.

Cobalt is a great mining camp dividends will be paid on money invested in legitimate mining just as dividends are being paid by mining enterprises in B. C. today, notwithstanding the knocks of the disappointed Toronto stock jobbers.

HOMES FOR MEN

There are acres and acres of fertile soil in Greenwood growing nothing but weeds and saplings. There are many men in Greenwood earning big wages, living in boarding houses or cabins, oftentimes keeping their families elsewhere. Greenwood should be a city of comfortable homes, well kept lawns and productive garden patches. Greenwood should have a citizenship interested in the upbuilding of the town.

The man who has an interest in the town is a much better man for the town than the man who lives in his trunk. It should be possible to get together the acres of fertile land, the men who want homes and a small investment of capital to encourage them in getting homes. The owners of the land, the smelting and mining companies and the men are all interested. Why not get them together?

IRRIGATION

The first Canadian convention in the interest of irrigation will be held at Calgary on July 17th. A broad and comprehensive irrigation policy on the part of the federal government in the United States has been instrumental in making fertile thousands of acres of arid land. The Canadian west and particularly the province of British Columbia, has much to gain from a similar irrigation policy. The Calgary convention should be a success. It can be made so by a large and representative attendance. Anyone interested in irrigation will be made welcome. It is expected that several U. S. authorities on irrigation will be present and address the convention.

EDITORIAL NOTES

The through train from Spokane to Oroville on the Great Northern railway is a decided improvement on the old service and is much appreciated by the travelling public.

Hon. Richard McBride saw the only Winston Churchill and Lord Elgin. That's nothiug. Capiliano Joe got his picture in the Illustrated London News.

The Daily province quotes Geo. W. Fowler, M. P., as an authority on matters relating to British Columbia. Not until the introduction by the Province of a style of journalism peculiarly its own would Geo. W. Fowler have been quoted by a western newspaper as an authority on anything.

The British Columbia Gazette is easily the best paying paper in the province today. Everyone has gone timber crazy, with the result that the Gazette has page after page of advertisements for timber licenses. Last month over $100,000 was collected by the province from that source. It is quite evident that the boom has struck B. C., and even the McBride government will have the greatest possible difficulty in securing further deficits.

If you want to see the band in their new Khaki uniforms, just step 'round to the Commercial hotel (next to Russell-Law's), on Tuesday next, June 25. A good program in the evening by Greenwood's best amateur talent.

How Pabst Grows Malt

Malt is the body of beer. It is what makes beer a food, rich in health-giving qualities.

Malt is barley-grain, sprouted and partially grown. Most malsters force this process in three or four days time.

Pabst takes the full eight days as required by Nature, with the result that Pabst gets a nutritious, strength-building malt.

It takes Pabst longer and it costs Pabst more to make this perfect malt, but this Eight-Day Malting Process retains in the fullest amount of tissue-building nourishment of the barley—the grain richest in food values.

Pabst Blue Ribbon

The Beer of Quality

The Pabst Eight-Day Malting Process is much the same in its action as the process of digestion. Pabst Malt is practically pre-digested. Pabst Blue Ribbon Beer is actually ready for the system to assimilate without the necessity of first taxing the stomach to digest it.

When ordering beer, ask for Pabst Blue Ribbon.

Made by Pabst at Milwaukee And bottled only at the Brewery.

N. H. LAMONT, Agent

Copper Street. Greenwood, B. C.

Purely Personal

C. Scott Galloway has one of the prettiest farms in the Kettle River valley. He has a field of fall wheat that cannot be beaten anywhere. He is clearing a lot of land this year and expects to make a fortune out of farming.

Ralph Smailes deserves to succeed, whether he does so or not. Any other man would have chucked the Midway & Vernon proposition months ago, but knocks only seemed to make him dig the harder. The prospects of ultimate success never looked brighter than at present.

W. A. Harkin, who boomed Grand Forks for several years, took a flyer at Greenwood, and who held down the night chair in the Rossland Miner office for twelve long months, has gone to the coast. Billy can show some of the young "uns" something about newspaper work.

C. E. Stowe, manager of the Bank of B. N. A., has gone to 'Frisco. It is stated on good authority that Mr. Stowe will not return alone, and that the Wickwire residence is being fitted up for the happy couple, who will return to Greenwood about July 1st. His many Greenwood friends extend hearty congratulations.

Duncan McIntosh is one of the busiest of men. Duncan is Scotch, and red headed, and must be doing something. Today he is home in Greenwood, and one next hears of him in Winnipeg, or Minneapolis, or Victoria, or Spokane. He is handling lumber and mines, and fruit lands, and making some deals, too.

W. G. Gaunce, who has been holding down the editorial chair of the Boundary Creek Times for the past six months, is visiting his family at Seattle. W. G. was quite willing to furnish everything which should appear in a live up-to-date newspaper, except Grit editorials. Another case of the baneful influence of early training.

Laughton, of the Midway Star, is doing excellent work for that town under adverse circumstances. It is a pity that the Townsite company wouldn't subdivide a portion of its townsite and sell at reasonable prices, so that instead of a waste of good land, Midway might become what it ought to be—one of B. C.'s garden spots.

Andy Larsen was in the city this week, accompanied by Mrs. Larsen. Andy is superintendent of the famous Le Roi mine at Rossland. A short time ago there were grave fears that the Le Roi was going to pinch out, but Andy has discovered bigger and richer ore bodies and the Le Roi today is a better mine than ever.

Wm. Fowler, the father of high grade mining in the Boundary, is getting tired of farming in Scotland. He is anxious to go north along the line of the G. T. P. and relocate some rich quartz ledges he discovered years before a railway was thought of in that country. Mr. Fowler is a splended type of the old-time prospector and it is hard for him to settle down to a quiet life on the farm.

Angus Nicholson and his Greenwood crew of Hatchery builders were at Port Essington when last heard from. They were waiting for low water in order that the steamer might go up the river to Hazelton. During the enforced stay at Essington Angus wanted to organize a St. Andrew's society, but Thos. Hemerle refused to join, and Frank Mosher refused to cook a haggis, so it was decided not to complete the organization until a later date.

Geo. Birkett Taylor, city clerk, assessor, treasurer, clerk of the board of school trustees, clerk of the police court, clerk of the licenseing board and board of police commissioners, etc., etc., is attending the annual Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., at Nanaimo. If Birke could only draw salary for each of the offices he holds he would be the best paid man in the Boundary. He goes to Grand Lodge as representative of Boundary Valley lodge each year. He deserves the holiday.

Peck McSwain has been located in Cranbrook. Peck was writing the sparkling paragraphs for old man Simpson on the Herald. Peck decided it was time to count ties, but before doing so he ran a red not challenge in the Herald. He stated that the Herald staff, including the old man and the devil, would play ball against any other aggregation of local players. Innumerable responses reached the Herald office, but by that time Peck had reached Moyie, and old man Simpson found refuge in the Grand Lodge, I. O. O. F., which is holding its annual session at Nanaimo.

A GRATEFUL MOTHER'S MESSAGE

Zam-Buk Cured Her Child of Eczema When All Else Failed.

In gratitude for the great benefit her child received from the use of Zam-Buk, the great herbal balm, Mrs. R. Gentleman, of 1090 St. James' street, Montreal, gave the following details for publication. She says: "My little daughter Lydia (2 years old), was troubled with eczema on her body and face for six months. During that time we tried several advertised remedies, but the disease had too well a hold of the child for these to overcome, and finally we were obliged to consult a doctor. He treated the little one for some time, and gave us prescriptions for various salves and medicines. We tried them, and tried them well; but the child got no better. When she got warm the itching was terrible, and then the pain made her cry and be very restless. One day somebody strongly advised me to try Zam-Buk. We obtained a supply, and it was really wonderful how the Zam-Buk cooled the sores and gave almost instant relief. It stopped the itching, healed the sores, and in six weeks from the first commencement it, the child's skin, was as smooth as when born.

Zam-Buk is compounded from rich, healing, herbal essences, and is an ideal natural combination of power and purity, suitable for the delicate skins of infants.

For summer skin troubles, sore feet, insect stings, chafing sores, bruises, ulcers, abscesses, skin eruptions, scalp sores, Zam-Buk is unequalled. It also cures piles. All druggists and stores at 50 cents a box, or from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Six boxes for $2.50.

A SCANDAL CAMPAIGN

Apparently the next Dominion general election is to be preceded by a scandal campaign. Both sides are lining up for the battle, not more than a year off, and the campaign is imminent. The Conservative members who have already spoken have emphasised the "rottenness" of the present rulers, the "crookedness," the presence of "graft," and so on. They seem to argue that because Mr. Whitney won in Ontario by such tactics, that Mr. Borden will win by them in the Dominion. All their energies in the past two years have been concentrated on discovering something that would "smell" in the nostrils of the people.

Has Canada fallen so low that it is only scandal which will make a change in government? Have we got down to the level of New York, Philadelphia and other United States cities? Is it true that Canada will never turn a government out unless it can be proven that its members and hangers on were guilty of boodling or graft? If so, then it would be well to furl the national flag and drape the national monuments in black.

However, it was not thus that Sir John Macdonald got back to power in 1878. He drafted for himself and his party a new and definite policy; he won on an aggressive and positive campaign. If the party of which he was a member has not the ability to present something definite along the line of a forward movement in national development, then it must have fallen on evil days. The weaknesses of the present government, and undoubtedly there are weaknesses such as usually characterize governments long in power, may be exposed and should be criticised. Along side of such criticism there should be something of promise and hope. There must be a policy which will appeal to the imagination as well as to the judgment of the body politic. It is to be hoped, for the good of Canada and for the fair reputation which she has won among the nations, that the coming campaign shall not be wholly based upon what are thought to be public and political scandals.—Canadian Courier.

EXCEPTION PROVES THE RULE

Successful Men Give Particular Attention to Dress and Address

To increase or emphasize individuality is to make a man noticed. In these strenuous days a man who is favorably noticed is on the high road to success.

All successful men are well dressed, and dressed so as to accentuate their individuality. The exceptions only prove the rule.

Being well dressed does not mean that a man must be a dandy. Few dandies are well dressed.

In the book, "Manners and Modes for Men," there are pictured suits and overcoats for various occasions and occupations. Published by the Semi-Ready company. These booklets may be had from any Semi-Ready Wardrobe. Semi-Ready tailoring is a synonym for correct form and cultured style. Their $20 and $25 suits and overcoats are not any better tailored than their $15 garments.

P. W. George & Co. will be pleased to show you how what "Semi-Ready" tailoring profits the wearer.

SHARPS AND FLATS

BY J. MARVIN NICHOLS.

There are those who would crucify those nearest them in order to pose as a martyr before some now distant friend.

You can't cover your tracks. Gheng-his Khan could be traced by his pyramid of human skulls. What marks are you leaving along the highway.

Gold mines would never have been discovered had it not been that the rich veins "crop out." Speaking about a man, real worth crops out, too.

If you ever get even with the fellow that does you wrong you will have to drop to his level. Revenge is sweet, but if a fellow has to do that, revenge costs too much.

Your range of vision depends on the hole through which you are peeping. The man with a small caliber never gets the larger vision of this good old world. To declare the one is to confess the other.

Two new phases of life loom into view in these latter days—conspicuous waste and conspicuous leisure. Both are built on blood and are bought with the price of souls.

In the light of modern disclosures, there are two grades of vitality—two kinds of people. One requires only the touch of a west wind on his cheek, the fragrance that steals softly from the wild flowers, the first faint glow of the morning that crowns the far-off hills with sapphire; the other kind—in lavish and upholstered "caves" they fan the fires that rise from the bogs of appetite and passion. Away from the glare of the footlights, away from their Salome and the witchery of "the pie girl," life to them is stupid and without meaning. I repeat, there are just two levels of vitality. And they are as far removed from each other as is the east from the west.

ONLY HALF TWINS

"Two Mormon boys went to school for the first time out in Utah," relates Congressman J. Adam Bede, "and the teacher asked them their names.

"'John and William Smith,' the boys replied.

"'Ah, then you are brothers! How old are you?'

"'Each ten years old, ma'am.'

"'Indeed! Then you are twins?'

"'Please, ma'am,' replied one of the boys, 'only on our father's side.'"—Everybody's.

DONNAN CASE DISMISSED

GRAND FORKS, June 18—The adjourned inquiry into the death of Emma Donnan of this city, who died shortly after being struck by a stick thrown by her sister, was continued today.

The attorney general recently pointed out that any prosecution which was undertaken must be by the city up to the time of the commitment for trial. At last night's council meeting a resolution was passed authorizing the city solicitor to act for the city and giving him full power to use his own discretion in the matter. Here, where the circumstances are fully known, the matter is regarded as an accident of a distressing character, and the Donnan family, in general, and Miss Bella Donnan, who threw the stick, in particular, have received the deep sympathy of the community.

After reading the depositions and after full consideration of the circumstances, Mr. Miller recommended the dismissal of the case and Magistrate Cochrane accordingly dismissed it.

CAUSE AND EFFECT

Having created favorable conditions, the Liberal government expects much of the people who have the opportunity of exploiting the natural advantages which exist in this country in such variety and abundance. The people have been quick to avail themselves of these advantages, and the result is obvious on every hand. Manufacturers have just completed the largest year in the history of the Dominion; receipts from all sources passed the highest mark last month. Prospects are bright upon every hand. From the west come reports of large crop probabilities, and all things seem to be working together for good.

Under these circumstances why would the people exchange the advantages they know they possess for the uncertainties of Conservative rule? Echo answers, why?

McLAIN, THE OUTLAW

They have an outlaw over in the Okanagan and his name is McLain. He is only 27 years old, and he comes of a family that distinguished themselves for lawlessness and murder a few years ago in British Columbia. His father and an uncle both suffered the death penalty a score of years ago for murder near Kamloops. This fellow is strong, and it is said that in every way he bears out the meanness that is portrayed in his face. Already he has nine murders to his account. He served time in Walla Walla, and at the expiration of his nine years' sentence last September, he was met at the gates by two deputies from Conconully and was arrested on a charge of horse stealing. He evidently succeeded in evading the charge. He has served three terms in the penitentiaries of Idaho and Washington. There is not a person who does not shudder at the very mention of McLain's name, as it is a known fact that he thinks as little of murdering a human being as he does of killing a fly. In 1904 he killed Judge and Mrs. Lewis at Almyra, Wash., and the year after he murdered "Broncho," one of the wealthiest Indians in Idaho. In Montana he is wanted for train robbery, having held up a passenger train near Bear mountain and succeeded in getting away with a quantity of booty. In British Columbia he is wanted by the authorities for a dual murder committed across the border.—Canadian.
