DONINION COPPER CO.

Leading Men in New Company Visit Boundary.

EXTENSIVE OPERATIONS

Will Be Commenced at Once Strong Company.

Boundary's third big mining company is getting ready to mine and treat ore on a large scale. After many trials and tribulations, financial and otherwise, there has emerged out of the conflict a new Dominion Copper company, on a safe, sure and permanent basis. The company has the properties, the necessary capital, and what is equally important, has men behind it who have proved eminently successful in the copper mining world elsewhere, and who begin operations in the Boundary fully convinced that they can make success here. In the new company are some of those who invested in the ill-fated Montreal & Boston. At their head is Senator Werner Miller, who is now president of the Dominion Copper company. He and a number of his associates came from New York to examine the properties of the company and arrange for the resumption of mining and smelting operations. They arrived in Phoenix on Monday in their private car, which was attached to the regular Great Northern train. They visited the Brooklyn and Stemwinder and other properties of the company on Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning and drove to Greenwood. After luncheon at the Imperial hotel the party visited the company's smelter at Boundary Falls and returned to Phoenix the same evening. In the party, in addition to Senator Miller, were: Samuel Newhouse, one of the largest copper operators in Colorado and Utah. In the latter state he has an extensive smelter plant at Newhouse—a model town in which he takes considerable pride and interest. Alvin Untermeyer and his nephew, Alvin Untermeyer, jr.. Mr. Untermeyer is a brother of the famous New York lawyer, who probed the difficulties in connection with the Munroe & Munroe failure, and who is largely interested in the new company. Mr. Untermeyer is also the Guggenheime's legal representative. John M. Shaw, the treasurer of the Dominion Copper company, is a member of the banking firm of J. M. Shaw & Co., New York; M. M Johnson is consulting engineer for the company, and it was he who expected the properties before the reorganization took place; Wm. Milne Donald, a member of the New York Stock Exchange, is heavily interested in the new company, as is also J. C. Marion of New York. W. C. Thomas, the new manager, accompanied the party and will remain here to take personal charge of operations.

Mr. Johnson makes his home in Salt Lake City, but his profession keeps him traveling a good part of the time. He expects to return here in a short time.

In the meantime active work will be commenced at the mines and the smelter at Boundary Falls blown in.

The management has not yet decided whether a new smelter is to be erected or the old one enlarged. In any event the third furnace will be put in place and the smelter used until such time as a decision will be arrived at.

The organization of such a strong company, comprised of the most successful copper men in America, means much for the Boundary. With the Granby soon treating 3,000 tons a day and continually enlarging; with the B. C. Copper company extending its operations, and with the development of the properties of the Dominion Copper company and the treatment of its ores in its own smelter, the Boundary will materially strengthen its position as one of the most important copper producing districts in the world today.

E. B. Dill left this week for Nelson, where he will visit for a month.

MIDWAY AND VERNON

Chief Engineer Lackie Takes Charge of Construction

WESTBRIDGE THIS YEAR

Railway Will Be Completed to Vernon Next Summer.

A. R. F. Lackie of Baltimore, chief engineer of the Midway and Vernon, arrived from the coast Tuesday evening, accompanied by Ralph Smailes. Mr. Lackie has full charge of construction matters. He will arrange for the immediate construction of the line as far as Westbridge. He intends leaving for Vernon over the proposed route of the railway next week. Mr. Lackie has had a long and varied experience as a railway engineer. He is a native of Mount Forest, Ont., and got his first actual experience on the construction of the C. P. R. along the north shore of Lake Superior. After successfully carrying out some heavy work in Baltimore and vicinity, he went to Central America, where he constructed railways under great difficulties, both as regards labor and climate. He considers British Columbia a delightful change, after the fever-laden atmosphere of Central America.

The McLean Bros. have sub-let the greater portion of the first ten miles of the Midway and Vernon and considerable grading has already been done.

As soon as Mr. Lackie gets his staff organized, further contracts will be let. Messrs Arthur and Cain, who represent the New York capitalists who are financing the construction of the road, are expected here early in September.

Another novelty, which will be a real attraction has been added to those already promised for the Spokane Interstate Fair, which is held this year from October 9 to 15. It is a farmer's race for a $100 purse. It is given by the Pacific Live Stock Association of Spokane for teams driven by the owner and drawing four-wheeled vehicles. Each team must be owned by the party entering same at least six months prior to the fair. Horses which have run in professional races will be barred. The race will be half mile heats, best two in three, trot or pace or both. The race will be for overnight entries and the purse will be divided 50, 25, 15 and 10 per cent. No entrance fee will be charged. It is not yet announced what day this race will be given. It will be one of the most interesting contests at the Fair, for the formers of the Inland Empire have plenty of good driving teams.

A Warning to Mothers.

Too much care cannot be used with small children during the hot weather of the summer months to guard against bowel troubles. As a rule it is only necessary to give the child a dose of castor oil to correct any disorder of the bowels. Do not use any substitute, but give it the old-fashioned castor oil, and see that it is fresh, as rancid oil nauseates and has a tendency to gripe. If this does not check the bowels give Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy, and then a dose of castor oil, and the disease may be checked in its incipiency and all danger avoided. The castor oil and this remedy should be procured at once and kept ready for instant use as soon as the first indication of any trouble appears. This is the most successful treatment known and may be relied upon with implicit confidence even in cases of choiera infantum. For sale by all druggists.

Every man owes it to himself and his family to master a trade or profession. Read the display advertisement of the six Morse Schools of Telegraphy, in this issue, and learn how easily a young man or woman may learn telegraphy and be assured a position.

Almost five million persons were engaged in the world's mining industries in 1903.

THE TRUE FACTS.

The Vernon News and the Hedley Gazette in recent issues discuss the dismissal of A. H. Wade from the position of postmaster at Penticton, and charge Duncan Ross, M. P., with favoring what is popularly known as the spoils system. The News states the case as follows:

The recent dismissal of A. H. Wade from the position of postmaster at Penticton furnishes a most glaring example of the pernicious spoils system in connection with the distribution of political patronage, and is a gross violation. not only of every principle of ordinary justice but of the elements of common decency.

Mr. Wade has been a faithful servant of the postoffice department for twenty years, during that time his performance of the duties of his office has been marked by the highest efficiency and the strictest integrity, all his official superiors are willing to testify most emphatically to his fitness for the position, there never has been a word of complaint as to dereliction of duty, and the esteem with which he is regarded by the community is sufficiently evidenced by the fact that out of a possible 125, 115 names were signed to a petition asking for the retention of his services.

Those unacquainted with the depths of pettiness to which an unscrupulous politician will descend in order to throw a sop to the ravening pack of of party heelers and office-seekers who surround him, will find it difficult to believe that, with all these things to be said in his favor, Mr. Wade was actually dismissed because he moved the postoffice from his old building to his new store. And this, in spite of the fact that Postoffice Inspector Greenfield approved of the proposed change and had recommended the department that it be made.

If this is the way Duncan Ross, M. P., commences his career as a public man, he will have a great many awkward questions to answer and a great deal of righteous indignation to face when he appeals to his constituents for reelection. Even the most rabid partisan, if possessed of any sense of fairness at all, must condemn such an unjustifiable act, and the larger proportion of voters who are governed by reason and right will have no hesitation in giving very pointed and practical expression to their views on the subject.

The matter referred to by these Tory journals does not interest the readers of the Boundary Creek Times except in so far as effort is made to fasten on the government and the representative for Yale-Cariboo a policy not warranted by the facts. Even if the charge were true and Mr. Wade Wade were dismisssd for partisan reasons, neither the Gazette nor the News would have good grounds for complaint. They beong to a party which after the general elections of 1878 ruthlessly dismissed competent civil servants because they were Liberals. They belong to a party which, in the province of Ontario today, is dismissing civil servants whose only crime is that they are Liberals, and they belong to a party which in British Columbia has dismissed compentent men to make way for incompetents whose only claim for position was that they were bitter Tory partisans.

What are the facts in connection with the dismissal of Mr. Wade? Early in the year the Okanagan Land company, which recently acquired the Ellis estate, started a new townsite immediately above the old town of Penticton. Mr, Wade, who was a general merchant as well as postmaster, erected a store building in the new town preparatory to removing there. Those who were interested in the old townsite were naturally afraid that an effort would be made to remove the postoffice to the new townsite and wrote the member stating that the people of Penticton were opposed to the removal of the postoffice from the old town. They were informed that no application had been made to the postmaster-general for the removal of the postoffice. Should such an application be made it would be considered on its merits.

On May 4th, Mr. Ross wrote the following letter to the deputy postmaster-general:

DEAR DOCTOR COULTER: I am advised that an application will be made for the removal of the postoffice at Penticton to the new townsite. I would deem it a favor if no action be taken in connection with this matter without consulting me. I take this precaution because I understand that while the present postmaster is a strong Conservative, he is also a strong personal friend of the postoffice inspector. I do not want any action taken, as a strong protest has reached me against the removal. Yours very truly,

DUNCAN ROSS.

On May 8th he received the following reply:

MY DEAR MR. ROSS: With reference to your letter of the 4th inst. on the subject of a proposed change in the site of the Penticton postoffice and requesting that no action be taken in the matter without consulting you, I beg to state that no steps will be taken in a matter of this kind without first learning your views in regard to it.

Yours truly,

R. M. COULTER,
Deputy Postmaster-General.

Mr. Ross heard nothing further about the matter until June 9th, when he received the following telegram:

PENTICTON, B. C., June 9th, 1905.

DUNCAN ROSS, M. P., Ottawa: Citizens' meeting has resolved to inform you that postoffice was removed to new townsite yesterday.

Mr. Ross immediately saw the deputy postmaster-general and protested against the department giving consent for the removal of this postoffice without consulting him, as stated in his letter of May 8th, and he was informed that that the department had never received an application for the removal of this postoffice, that the postoffice had been moved without the consent of the department and that he (Dr, Coulter) would wire the postmaster immediately ordering that the postoffice be removed back again to the old site. Up to that time the postoffice department had never received either from the postoffic inspector nor Mr. Wade any notification regarding the removal of the postoffice, but it afterwards transpired there was correspondence of a personal nature between Mr. Wade and the postoffice inspector. Regarding this correspondence, neither postmaster-general nor the member was advised. Mr. Wade, who has been postmaster for fifteen years, and is not lacking in intelligence, did know that no postoffice could be removed without the consent of the postmaster-general. That consent was never asked for nor granted and when he refused to remove the postoffice back again until such time as the application for removal could be considered, there was no alternative left but dismissal. The people of the old town of Penticton had rights as well as Mr. Wade and the Okanagan Land company. They were promised by the member for Yale-Cariboo that those rights would be protected and that promise was kept. Mr. Wade has only himself to blame for his dismissal. It surely cannot be contended that Mr. Wade is a privileged person, not amenable to well-known rules of the postoffice department. If postmasters were allowed to remove postoffices without the consent of the postmaster general, the convenience of the public in whose interests postoffices are established would often be sacrificed in the interest of the townsite boomer and land company promoter.

Jas. McNicol, one of the pioneer merchants of the Boundary, will again open a store in Midway, the building now being under way. About a year ago Mr. McNicol was burned out, the loss being almost a complete one. He since started in business in Vancouver and will run stores in both places.

Concessions and privileges for the Sqokane Interstate Fair will be sold at the Fair grounds August 26th, 2 p. m. Those who wish anything of the kind should be there, if possible, but anyone who cannot be present then can make application for space prior to August 26. Chief Engineer Hogeland ef the Great Northern, Chief Engineer Kennedy of the V., V. & E., and Contractor Shields, of Siems & Shields, left Midway last week to go over the route of the V., V. & E. through to the coast. They intended driving to Princeton, but it would be necessary to take horses through the Hope mountains. At Princeton Mr Kennedy received a wire instructing him to go to Ottawa immediately as the Canadian Pacific Railway company, failing to defeat V., N. & E. legislation in parliament, were opposing the filing of the necessary plans to construct the road. Mr. Kennedy, by riding night and day, succeeded in catching Thursday's train for Spokane.

A REAL PHILANTHROPIST

Qualities Which Have Been Kept Dark for Over Sixty Years.

To the Editor of the Times.

DEAR SIR: I beg to refute the statement made in the last issue of your paper that Mr. O. Lund "is now producing wealth as the paid lecturer of the Socialists," and "living off the earnings of hard-working men."

As secretary of Greenwood Socialist Local No. 9, I beg for information re who the socialists and laborers are that paid Mr. Lund for his services here.

I beg to also inform you that Mr. Lund did not receive one cent of Local No. 9's money for speaking here in Greenwood.

Re the probability of Mr. Lund's better service to humanity on the end of a 7-foot saw than the vocation he is now following (free gratis) is only a matter of difference of opinion.

Frankly, the opinion of the writer is that Mr. Lund is now employing himself at the most meritorious work ever conceived by the human race, namely, establishing the brotherhood of man and the practice of the great commandment, "Whatsoever ye would that men should do unto you, do ye even so unto them." Sincerely yours,

ABE. HALLBERG.

Greenwood, B. C., Aug. 21, 1901.

The writer of the local item in last week's issue of the Times, as a union man for over twenty years, and a charter member of one of the first trades unions on the mainland of Britis Columbia, thought it his duty to warn younger unionists to look well into the previous acts of lecturers on labor questions before placing too much faith in their present utterances.

From an officer of Socialists Local No. 9 it is learned that a number of books, entitled "The Four Orphans," were purchased from Mr. Lund for 15 cents each. The books were being sold last Sunday by an officer of Local No. 9 at 50 cents each. This disposes of the statement that Lund "did not receive one cent of Local No. 9's money." Perhaps Mr. Hallberg had not heard of the purchase.

Perhaps we are all too ready to quote the particular Commandment that suits our purpose, and too slow in putting it into practice. It is inconceivable that the "great Commandment" can be practically exemplified by buying a book for 15 cents and selling it for 50 cents, a profit of 333⅓ per cent, even if the object is "establishing the brotherhood of man."

Should they gain control of the government of the country, little but graft could be expected of a party whose theory is "universal brotherhood" and whose practice is 333⅓ per cent profit. If book-peddling on Sunday at 333⅓ per cent profit is practical Socialism, the sooner unionists drop it the better for unionism.

Compressed air under a pressure of fifty pounds per square inch can be used to advantage in cleaning dynamos

Until lately tin ores were considered rare in Peru, but later discoveries are proving a wider dissimination of the metal than was at first suspected.

Mount Hood of Oregon was at one time an active volcano, lava being found on its slopes and at some distance from its base,

A so called "kangaroo jig" with a capacity of 35 tons per hour and treating material from ⅜in. ring down, is being experimented with in the testing works of the Arizona Copper company

It is generally known that in a tunnel or airway the air is not passing every point at the same velocity. The velocity will be greater in the center of the opening than at the sides, roof or floor.

If a crucible full of metal is allowed to cool. the temperature falls regularly until the melting point is reached, and then stays constant, or nearly so, for some time while the metal is setting.

There can be no objection to placing for or six water wheels on one shaft, but it would not be advisable to so place three or any odd number of turbines. An unbalanced end thrust which would thus be produced, is likely to give taouble.

The introduction of cold water into boilers—especially shell boilers—is the cause of weakening and subsequent explosion. Feed-water heaters are not only economical from a commercial point of view, but constitute an element of safety.

Low working costs are not always indicative of the best management. The cost per ton might be increased and yet the dividends be increased at the same time. Improvements in ore sorting, or milling, or smelting might easily be accountable for such an anomaly.

In sampling an ore vein it is best to use a moil and hammer and cut a groove across the section of the vein at right angles to the strike. Under ordinary conditions, where the vein is not wider than ten feet, a groove three to four inches wide and one inch deep will suffice.

France requires about 90,000 tons of sulphur a year, which is used largely in connection with the preservation of its grapevines. As the American sulphur is 99.9 per cent pure, it can easily compete with the Sicilian sulphur. It can easily compete with the Sicilian sulphur in price also, and its export has already caused considerable anxiety among the Sicilian producers.

It has undoubtedly been established that explosives of different kinds may be classified according to velocity of detonation, the length and duration of the flame, and the neat disengaged in the explosion. It has also been proved that there is no such thing as a flameless explosive, but the persistence of the flame of many explosives is small in comparison with others. This persistence is probably a question of pressure.

The actual cutting bit of a diamond drsll is called the bit or crown. The black diamonds are set around the periphery of the bit, alternating on the outor and inner edges. Holes are bored in the bit to receive the stones which are held in place by caulking the metal of the bit closely around them. Soft copper is sometimes used to properly embed the diamond. In the finished bits the stones project from the bit both laterally and downward, thus making an annular cutting which gives a solid undisturbed core.

Another theory of the formation of coal and mineral oils suggests the action of microbes as responsible for the transformation of vegetable growth into combustible minerals. Of course this cannot be proved owing to the impossibility of reproducing exactly the conditions under which coal is formed. but the theory explains very satisfactorily the formation of a number of coal deposits. The evolution of carbon monoxide, carbon dioxide and marsh gas is supposed to be the result of microbe action, and to indicate the changing vegetable matter into combustible minerals.

The commercial value of Monazite due to the presence of thoria, which is used in the manufacture of the mantles for the Welsbach and other incandescent gaslights. The Welshbach light consists of a cylindrical hood or mantle composed of a fibrous network of the rare earths, the top of which is drawn together and held by a loop of platinum wire. The exact composition of the hoods is not generally known, as it is a trade secret, but they are composed largely of thoria. A portion of the cerium obtained in the reduction of the monazite is prepared for market in the form of the oxalate and is used in the drug trade.

Sand is constantly forming from the disintegration of rocks. Unless rocks are of a silicious character, their disintegrated grains pass into mud, and sands are therefore almost universally quartzose. If much mixed with clayey and calcareous particles, the composition is known as marl, and a coarse mixture of sand and pebbles is known as gravel. Along the banks of rivers, of lakes and of the seashore, sand predominates washed clean of the muddy particles which were associated with it. The sand is thrown up by the waves on the beach and is carried inland by the winds, where hills and dunes are created. In ancient geological periods the same causes that now produce the widespread layers of sand were in continual operation, the result of which is seen in the vast beds of silicious particles occurring in all the formations, but consolidated into solid rock.

A FEW POINTERS.

Hon. Chas. Wilson, K. C., is attorney-general for this province.

He is responsible for the enforcement of the law and the administration of justice.

He is responsible for appointments of a quasi-judicial character.

He is responsible for the appointment of the members of the board of license commissioners for the Boundary district.

On behalf of the outraged public in the Boundary, the Times asks Hon. Chas. Wilson, K. C., attorney-general. if he intends taking cognizance of the charges which have been made against the board of license commissioners for the Boundary Creek district?

Does he intend to give consideration to the protests made to him by decent Conservatives in this district?

Is he aware of the fact that people from the United States boldly proclaim that even in the worst governed portions of the Western States no public body would dare act as has the board of license commissioners for the Boundary district?

Is he aware of the fact that A. E. Rainey was appointed a member of the board?

That he was dismissed by wire because he refused to become a tool of the gang?

That Arthur H. Lawder was appointed by wire to succeed him?

That Arthur H. Lawder, as a member of the board, was a party to illegally granting Lloyd A. Manley a license in Midway?

That Arthur H. Lawder, as amember of the board, was a party to illegally granting one Dufour a license for an hotel to be erected immediately along the right of way of the V., V. & E.?

That the said Dufour was acting for Lloyd A. Manley, and the license granted him is controlled by the said Manley?

That the said Arthur H. Lawder is now employed in the liquor store of the said Manley?

That a member of the board of license commissioners is a servant of Lloyd A. Manley. who is now and has been for two years trafficing in liquor licenses in the Boundary district?

That the granting of the Dufour license was a particularly marked disregard for the instructions issued by the attorney-general and for the rights of the public?

That the point at which the license is intended to be used is where the V., V. & E. enters the narrow gorge through which Myers creek runs?

That the contractor for construction of the V., V. & E. will have great difficulty in protecting the lives of the large number of men who will be employed on heavy rock work in that vicinity?

That by the action of the board of license commissioners appointed by the government of British Columbia the danger is to be greatly increased by the establishment of a whiskey joint in the heart of the gorge?

That the license was granted in open defiance of the provisions of the Liquor License Act, as the site for the alleged hotel was not even purchased when the license was granted?

That the public interests demand the immediate cancellation of this illegal license?

That under the license granted to Manley at Midway, a couple of foreigners from Seattle are building an hotel?

That British subjects who have spent years in the province and who have invested their money here are unable to get licenses?

That there are other flagrant acts of the board?

That the public demand an immediate investigation?

DEATH OF MRS. PETCH.

On Friday the 18th inst. the death occurred of Mrs. B. F. Petch. Deceased had been in ill health since last June, and had spent much of the time in the hospital, where a serious operation was performed. The patient had rallied and was apparently sufficiently recovered to admit of her removal to her home two weeks before her death. She appeared to be progressing favorably until Thursday night, when she was seized with a severe attack of nervousness. On Friday she rallied, but grew weaker towards evening and at 6:30 peacefully passed away.

The funeral was held Monday, proceeding from the house to the Methodist church, where a short service was held, Rev. J. P D. Knox, of Rossland, who was her pastor here for four years, officiating. From the church the cortege proceeded to the C. P. R. depot from which point the remains were sent to Regina for interment. The bereaved husband accompanied the remains.

The church was beautifully decorated with flowers and appropriately draped with white. Conspicuous among the numerous floral offerings were a mounted lyre from the Methodist congregation and choir, a cross and crown from the Epworth League, and an anchor from the I. O. G. T.

Deceased will be much missed in Greenwood social circles. She was an active member of the Methodist church and a faithful worker in choir and league. Her place will be hard indeed to fill. The sympathy of the entire community goes out to the husband in his sad bereavement.

The late Mrs. Petch was born at Grand Valley, Ontario, thirty-five years ago. She came to Greenwood several years ago and with her sister, Mrs. F. H. McKenzie, engaged in the McKenzie-Hambly millinery business. In 1900 she married Mr. B. F. Petch, and since the removal of her sister to Regina has carried on the business here.

She leaves, beside her husband, her parents who, with a brother and sister, reside near London, Ont., a brother, Dr. S. Hambly of Detroit, and her sisters, Mrs. F. H. McKenzie and Miss Edith Hambly of Regina.
