MONTREAL-BOUNDARY CREEK

W. L. Hogg and Party are in the City Visiting the Sunset—Properties in Boomerang Camp—Officers of the Morrison—Mining News From Different Camps.

W. L. Hogg managing-director of the Montreal-Boundary Creek Mining company, Prof. J. T. Donald of McGill University and G. E. H. Munroe of Munroe & Munroe, brokers, Montreal, arrived in the city by Monday's train and will remain in the district to the end of the week. Since Mr. Hogg was here in October last a large amount of work has been done on his company's properties and he is highly gratified because of the magnificent showing both on the Sunset and the Crown Silver. Prof. Donald is a well known chemist and mineralogist, one of the faculty of McGill. He is here for the purpose of giving the Company's properties an expert examination and he has been busy examining all the workings and taking samples. Mr. Munroe is a bright young broker who is visiting Boundary for the first time. He is particularly well pleased with Greenwood and thinks it has a bright future before it.

Mr. Hogg stated that the mining market has been in a bad condition for several months. It is showing some slight signs of improvement but Montreal had been badly bitten when the War Eagle and Centre Star were closed down and financial men were more cautious about investing in mining properties. A healthy reaction will not set in until properties become shippers and returns are secured on the money already invested. His own company intended developing the Sunset and Crown Silver until they are shipping mines.

Ald. C. Scott Galloway returned on Saturday from Boomerang camp across the West Fork from the mouth of Boomerang creek, and about nine miles above West Bridge. Mr. Galloway owns two claims there, the W. S. and the Eagle fraction. Geo. Inkster and Peter Lover having been doing considerable work on the W. S. There are two distinct ledges on the property. On one a shaft has been sunk in the ore a distance of 25 feet. The vein is fully three feet wide. The ore assays $75 in gold. The other vein, of similar width, has been stripped a distance of 250 feet. Inkster and Lover are also doing work on the Huckleberry, a claim with a good showing, owned by R. T. Evans of Greenwood. They will also do some work this summer on the Boomerang, a claim owned by themselves. Another promising claim is the Iconoclast, owned by Lover and his associates. There is a 45-foot shaft on the ledge. The ore veiu is about three and a half feet wide and gives high gold values. Mr. Galloway says the trail up the West Fork is in bad condition. There is a large amount of travel up the river. Goods of every discription are being packed in, stoves, lumber, ore buckets and other heavy articles needed at the mines. It is surprising how such goods can be taken over so rough a trail. The government should lose no time in getting the wagon road completed.

The head office of the Morrison Mining company is now in Greenwood and the majority of the executive resides here. At a special meeting held last week A. M. Whiteside, A. H. Sperry and Duncan Ross were elected directors. The officers are A. H. Sperry, president; F. H. Oliver, vice president and general manager; and A. M. Whiteside, secretary.

GRAND FORKS, B. C., July 23.—Two shifts are pushing development work on the Golden Eagle, Brown's camp, North Fork of Kettle river. The main working shaft has been sunk to a depth of 150 feet. At the 100-foot level No. 2 vein is eight feet wide between walls in a 20-foot drift to the north. Fffty feet below a drift has been extended fourteen feet in the same direction. The vein at the bottom of the shaft is about two and one half feet wide, but in the face of the drift has increased to four feet. In this working the ore is largely chalopyrite with some sulphides, small sheaves of native copper also having been encountered. The drift will be extended. It is expected that the drift will strike No. 1 vein, exposed in No. 1 shaft and in the 35-foot cross-cut connecting both shafts at the 70-foot level. The supposition is that the ore bodies unite and form one lead.

No. 1 shaft has been sunk to a depth of 70 feet. The 16 ton ore shipment recently sent to the Trail smelter was taken from a drift at a depth of 48 feet. The ore body in the drift is 10-feet wide. At 70 feet the vein was cross-cut eight feet without encountering the hanging wall. The shipment gave a gross return of $15 in gold, seven ounces of silver and three per cent copper. After paying transportation by wagons to Grand Forks, railway freight and treatment charges the net return was nearly $22 per ton. The ore even at depth is greatly oxidized and consequently is easily mined.

This promising property is generally regarded as one of the highest grade propositions in the Boundary country. The development work is being directed Superintendent J. H. Fox, who has been engaged in mining operations for many years with marked success. The Golden Eagle will soon be a steady shipper to the Grand Forks smelter. It is owned by the Royal Victoria Gold Mining company, the principal shareholders of which are Alderman P. P. Sharpe and L. S. Moulton-Barrett of Greenwood.

Jos. Trainer, superintendent of the Strawberry mine, Brown's camp, North Fork of Kettle river reports that the cross-cut started a few days ago on the 100-foot level is five feet in ore. The cross-cut on the 50-foot level disclosed an ore body 28 feet wide. The Le Roi mine at Rossland became a dividend payer during Mr. Trainer's regime as superintendent.

Taking the case of the Trail smelter into consideration, it is found that this plant is handling ore from the Boundary, but only to such an extent that no more than one of its furnaces is being kept in full blast. The Slocan ore, which it also treats, principally galena, it is providing for by the erection of two more lead stacks. To fill another furnace, it is taking 150 tons of ore daily from the Le Roi. But there are four still idle, and yet it is proposed to double the capacity of the plant. The Iron Mask will shortly be in a position to supply it with enough ore after the next month to blow in another fnrnace and keep it going. Even were the War Eagle and Centre Star at once to commence shipping in large quantities, their combined output is stated by the official figures of the Board of Trade not to exceed 400 tons a day. Or in other words, the present plant is ample to deal with the ores spoken of. Yet more furnaces are to be built.

Taking into consi ieration the already shown inadequacy even of the enlarged plant at Northport to deal with the output of the mines of the B. A. C. alone, the real reason of the enlargement of the plant at Trail is at once apparent. The management of the Le Roi mines is about to acquire an interest in the smelter so as to be able to smelt its own ore on as favorable rates as it gets from its own plant at Northport.—Rossland Miner.

The financial necessities of the Chinese government growing out of the Chinese-Japanese war have been the cause of far-reaching results toward opening the empire to western enterprise. A number of negotiations have been entered into with the view of directly benefitting the imperial exchequer from the mineral resources of the empire, and they will likely be continued if the present difficulty does not result in a prolonged war and the dismemberment of the empire.

Mining is a very old industry with the Chinese, and the metals are seemingly nearly exhausted to water level. The mines are theoretically the property of the emperor, and only opened by his consent, and although practically the natives mine without this, foreigners, as well as securing this consent, must reckon with the vested rights of the native miners, with the holders of surface rights, and, north of the great wall, with the feudal princes—all of whom have some direct mining privileges—and everywhere with the governing officials. Coal and iron mining by natives is carried on in reality without imperial notice or disapproval, but metal mining (principally precious metals), has often been checked, and sometimes carried on under imperial supervision.

The Grand Forks Gazette is all right. It ornaments two street rumors with scareheads and pads them out to the lengtn of a half a column each. The one relates to the sale of the B. C. mine to the C P. R. and the other tells of the sale of the Mother Lode to the Standard oil people. There is no truth in either rumor.

The Dittmer Bros. came in on Tuesday from Copper mountain, immediately east of Bolster. They brought with them some splendid specimens of Copper ore, taken from the properties which they are developing.

A Minneapolis Mining company sent a party of shareholders to see its properties in Republic. There were about a dozen in the party and they visited Republic last week.

It is reported that the British America Corporation has bonded the Britannia group of mines on Howe Sound, 30 miles from Vancouver, for $1,500,000.

Messrs. Shallenberger and McCulloch, who have been working their properties in West Copper camp, have uncovered a large body of copper ore.

Theodore Witty has made a big strike on a claim between Smith's and South Deadwood camp. The ledge is 30 feet wide.

It is now reported that the Grand Forks smelter will "blow in" in two weeks.

Chas. E. Tisdall, ex-M. P., and president of the Vancouver Board of Trade, registered at the Imperial last night. He left for home by today's train.

D. W. Moore, purchasing agent for the Trail smelter, is in the city.

A. K. Stuart, western commissioner at the Paris exhibition, has written for literature. He states there is a scarcity of western literature at the exhibition.

J. R. Rogers, the clothier, has gone to Winnipeg on a business trip.

A meeting of the council of the Board of Trade will be held in Pringle & Whiteside's office at 5 o'clock this afternoon.

BUSY TIMES AT

Molson, the New Reservation Town.

MANY BUSINESS HOUSES.

D. E. Cameron, of the Colville Reservation Syndicate, Tells About the Development in the District.

At 12 o'clock, noon, on the 10th day of October, 1900, the Colville reservation will be thrown open for settlement. The reservation contains large areas of arable land; it also possesses great mineral wealth and, as its climate leaves nothing to be desired, there is sure to be a big rush into the district. Indeed, from the numerous inquiries already made, and from the special efforts the Northern Pacific railway and other transportation companies are making to secure the passenger traffic from the east, it looks as if the rush would rival that made to the famous Oklahoma territory when it was thrown open for settlement.

Situated in the heart of a large belt of rich agricultural land, surrounded by promising mining properties, is the town of Molson. Although only a few weeks old, it is already a bustling, busy place. D. E. Cameron, the secretary-treasurer of the Colville Reservation Syndicate, owning the townsite and also the Poland China group of mines in the vicinity, was in the city a few days this week, and from him a Times representative gathered some interesting information regarding the new town.

"Molson is growing rapidly," said he, "and buildings are going up as fast as lumber can be secured. At present Tillman's mill, on the Canadian side, is furnishing the lumber. There are already built, or under construction, a hardware store, two general stores, a drug store of which Dr. Couche is proprietor, three saloons, a steam laundry, two livery barns and two restaurants. Mr. Blatt will open what is the best hotel on the reservation. It is 120x35 feet and plastered throughout.

"Our company are completing a road down Baker creek to connect with the government road at Gillespie's. This road will make the distance from Rock creek to Molson about 14 miles. We are having many inquires for business openings and people are coming in every day to establish themselves before the opening of the reservation.

"On the Poland China mine 16 men are at work. One shaft is down 125 feet and the 100-foot level will be reached on another shaft in a few days. As soon as the hotel is completed and accommodations secured we intend employing a large force of men to develop our prospects around Molson. This work will be under the supervisfon of T. E. Dickson, an experienced mining man from Cripple creek, who had charge of the development work in the Portland mine in that district.

"When the reservation is thrown open," concluded Mr. Cameron, "Molson will be the center of a large and rich agricultural section. Farming does not make business as lively as mining but it gives stability to a district."

MUNICIPAL NOTES.

The city council passed several accounts at its meeting on Monday evening.

The water tank has been repaired.

The debentures have not yet been sold.

The barbers' Sunday closing by-law was not introduced at the last meeting.

NOTICE.

NOTICE is hereby given that at the first meeting of the Licence Commissioners for the City of Greenwood held after thirty days from the date hereof I shall apply for a transfer from me to W. W. Howe of the Hotel Licence held by me for the Commercial Hotel, Copper street, in the City of Greenwood, Dated 17th July, 1900.

A. BRANSON.

ALL persons, old and young, should have their teeth examined once every six Months by a competent dentist. Decay will be present, and tartar forming, which nothing but a thorough examination will reveal. Professional service rendered in time means high-class work, less pain and great economy. A tooth filled when decay is slight will not be sensitive, the operation not long, and the filling lasting, becaase the operator has more and better structure to work on. He is enabled to make the walls of the cavity thicker and stronger, and with slight danger of exposing the nerve, the dread and fear of all when having teeth filled. Have your teeth attended to in time. Do not procrastinate. Give the dentist good tooth-structure to work upon, and he will render you excellent service. Many persons put off their visits to the dentist when sensitive teeth have given frequent warning. With mind excited, body in high nervous tension, and with excruciating pain and suffering plainly written on every feature, they come for relief. How can the dentist be expected to perform the best operation when the patient is in the worst possible condition to receive it? If your friend is sick do not wait until he is almost dead before you do something for him or send for the doctor. The doctor may save him by coming at the last moment, and should the patient recover he is liable to have bad health the remainder of his life on account of not having received proper attention at the right time. Likewise, a tooth that is neglected may be filled and saved at the last moment, but will probably have bad health the rest of its life. One person in a hundred has good teeth, ninety nine persons in a hundred could have good teeth with proper attention.

WEDNESDAY, JULY 25, 1900,

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

As was expected the speech from the throne foreshadows but little legislation for this session. The estimates are the main feature of the speech. The people of the interior will be glad to learn that it is the intention of the government to expend large amounts on roads and it is hoped that a fair share of the money will go towards encouraging the development of the mineral resources of the province by opening up new sections. A vigorous policy in this direction will be of the greatest advantage to the province.

The coal mining industry is on a permanent and satisfactory basis and can easily afford the royalty which the government intends to impose. Nevertheless it speaks well for the premier's good intentions to find that he is ready to tax his own properties as well as others. A royalty on the output of coal mines will fall heavily on the premier who is responsible for the introduction of this legislation. It is stated that this means an additional taxation to the Dunsmuir companies of $35,000 a year.

We think it is a mistake to open up the eight-hour trouble again by the appointment of a commission. If mining men were left alone, in a short time they would forget there was an eight-hour law in existence. The finding of a commission can not please both sides and, if an attempt is made to change the present act, more trouble is likely to follow. The government evidently intends to pave the way for the reconstruction which is to follow after the session. The agent-general's office in London is to be placed on a more satisfactory basis and it is safe to assume that Hon. J. H. Turner will be the next agent-general. While many were opposed to Mr. Turner politically, and while they believe the political sins of his government were many, still all appreciate the fact that he has given many years of service to the province and but few will cavil at the reward provided for him.

In view of the fact that the session is simply intended to provide finances for the administration of public affairs but little fault can be found with the bill of fare.

THE MAYOR OF GREENWOOD.

His Worship Mayor Hardy was neither by nature nor education intended for a gentleman, but a respect for the dignity of the position he holds should restrain him from making a public display of bad manners. Mayor Hardy appears to hold Mr. Ross responsible for his own ignorance of municipal law and becomes abusive when powers which the council possess are pointed out. Thomas Jackson Hardy is at liberty to indulge in billingsgate to his heart's content, but the mayor of Greenwood should make a special effort to observe those amenities that are so necessary and so common when gentlemen discuss public questions on a public platform.

THE COUNCIL'S POWER.

In cities larger than Greenwood, the irrepressible John has given trouble, and the legislature has seen fit to pass laws with a view to protecting white people against his enterprise. A man might build a beautiful home and find a hideous Chinese laundry spring up alongside. So the legislature gave municipal councils power to regulate these laundries. Here is the section:

"In every municipality, the council may from time to time make, alter and repeal by-laws for any of the following purposes in relation to matters coming within the classes of subjects next hereinafter mentioned, that is to say:

"For prohibiting or regulating the construction and use of buildings for laundries, and for ordering the removal of laundries from any particular locality, when in the opinion of the council, such laundries are a nuisance or eyesore to such locality."

Now this clause gives the council extraordinary power. They may bring in a by-law making it compulsory that a laundry building should be three-stories high, with a stone front, and plate glass windows, or that a laundry is an eyesore anywhere within the city limits. Everything is governed by the opinion of the council.

Without considering the Chinese question at all such a by-law should be passed and no laundry should be allowed to pollute running streams.

EDITORIAL NOTES.

Different people discuss the Chinese question from a different point of view. One man claims that Chinamen are detrimental to the best interests of the country, because they send their money to China and do not expend it in this country, that when it goes to China it never comes back, not even in the shape of merchandise, and consequently the country is impoverished up to the full amount sent out, in other words, Chinese are objectionable and detrimental because they do not furnish a proportionate share of trade. Another orator, and a business man, strongly advised boycotting any business man who would sell goods to a Chinaman and thus encourage Chinamen in removing the very objection taken to their presence in this country.

The editor of the Grand Forks Miner (or is it the Gazette?) having claimed everything else in sight now claims the gift of prophesy.

With a thermometer registering 100 in the shade and Joe Martin on the warpath, hell has no tortures like the provincial legislature.

The attorney-general has intoduced an act to amend the small debts courts act.

There is still some fight left in "Fighting" Joe.

WHITE MAN TURNED YELLOW.

Great consternation was felt by the friends of M. A. Hogarty, of Lexington, Ky., when they saw he was turning yellow. His skin slowly changed color, also his eyes, and he suffered terribly. His malady was yellow jaundice. He was treated by the best doctors, but without benefit. Then he was advised to try Electric Bittters, the wonderful stomach and liver remedy, and he writes: "After taking two bottles I was wholly cured." A trial proves its matchless merit for all stomach, liver and kidney troubles. Only 50c. Sold by Miller Bros., druggists.

OTTAWA LETTER.

What is Going on at the Dominion Capital.

Ottawa, July 14.—An unfailing sign that the last hours of the session are upon us made its appearance the other day, when Mr. Foster presented his sterotype criticism of the government's financial policy and asked the house to vote want of confidence in the administration. There was nothing particularly new in the speech with which the ex-finance minister presented his resolution. He travelled in a general desultory sort of way all over the field of political criticism, charged the government with breaking every anti-election promise, with increasing taxation, the public debt, and the national expenditure, with expending money in royal commissions, granting railway subsides, and a good deal more which has been explained and justified a score of times already, not only to the ministerialists in the house, but also as Mr. Foster will very soon discover, to the satisfaction of the country.

A CONVINCING EXPOSITION.

The minister of finance was, as usual, quite ready for the attack, which he met by a convincing speech which admirably summarized the true position of affairs and swept away the sophisteries with which Mr. Foster's speech abounded. He demonstrated what has been shown time and time again that while the present government has spent large sums of money they had not been extravagant, while their predecessors, though spending less, could not successfully make the same claim, for they had run the country into debt, while the present government had more than been able to pay as they go.

FROM THE CAPITAL.

Opening of the Provincial Legislature—A Meagre Bill of Fare.

VICTORIA, July 23.—The opening of the legislature was not marked by an unusual incidents. Lieutenant-Governor Sir Henry Joly de Lothiniere has already made himself popular at the capital and he put the big crowd more at ease than his haughty predecessor. He had in addition to his usual guard of honor, officers from the Chilian man-of-war which is visiting here. The speech from the throne does not provide a very heavy bill of fare and as it announces, this is to be considered a special session and the measures are consequently few though important.

The government hope for a short session, but they may be disappointed. The opposition are few in numbers but they possess abundance of oratical talent and their leader Joseph Martin "the stormy petrel of Canadian politics" gave an earnest of his intention by opposing the adjournment until Monday in vigorous terms. His first-lieutenant, J. C. Brown, is one of the ablest debaters in the house and along with him are Smith Curtis and W. W. B. McInnes two clever speakers. The remaining members of the small band H. B. Gilmore, Vancouver, and E. C. Smith, East Kootenay, have never been in public life and their capabilities are as yet unknown.

On the government side there are some good speakers but they will receive but little encouragement from the premier. He seldom speaks himself and when he does, he is brief and to the point. He is always anxious to get things done without any waste of time. He does everything in his power to discourage long speeches.

There are several private bills that are a legacy from the ill fated session of last winter.

J. B. Donald of Greenwood is here looking after a bill to incorporate a telephone company in which he is interested.

It is said that the estimates will make provision for several wagon roads that have been asked for by the people of the interior.

STEAM LAUNDRY.

That of Snodgrass & Sons Will Be Ready About August 1.

After August 1st there will be no excuse for patronizing Chinese laundries in the city. Messrs. Snodgrass & Sons' big steam laundry will be in operation and it has a capacity equal to the town of Greenwood. The plant has all arrived and a large force of men are at work getting it into position. A splendid building has been erected for the laundry and the plant is the most modern that could be secured. Manager Abbott expects to have it in position about August 1st, when orders will be taken for laundry work. It is the intention of the firm to do first-class work and give a good service so that there may be no excuse for patronizing the Chinese.

THE RECENT SESSION.

Concerning the recent session of the House of Commons, the Toronto Saturday Night makes the following observations:

"A great cry and little wool sums up the session of Parliament now about to close. Unfortunately it is not the most important issues that call forth the longest debates, nor is it the best men in the house that do the most talking. As the speeches lengthen they suffer in matter and composition, and it may be doubted whether there is any deliberative body where a looser or more prolific style of debate prevails at present than in the Dominion House of Commons. The opposition must shoulder a large share of the responsibility for the waste of time and the consequent deterioration in the style of argument. There was no reason why the session should have been prolonged. The natural result of the spinning-out process is a general demand on the part of the private members of an increase of indemnity. With members on both sides clamoring for additional "swag," the Government is placed in an awkward position, but it will receive credit in the country for having done all in its power to discourage both the lengthening out of the session and the round robin to which it has given rise."

A GHASTLY STORY.

WINNIPEG, July 23.—George Renion, who has arrived at Port Arthur from Hudson Bay, brings news confirming the report of a balloon having been wrecked and three men having lost their lives in Ungava, on the east coast of the Hudson Bay, and supposed to be the remains of the missing Andree expedition. The story was carried by by Indian hunters to Fort George on the north-east coast of James Bay; thence by the same band to York Factory, whence it was carried to Moose Factory. Here Mr. George Renison was paying a visit to his brother, and two days after the arrival of the Indians, June 25th, he left Moose Factory, and has just arrived at Port Arthur. He says that the Indians, when a considerable distance north of Fort George, came upon a sight unusual to them. Two men dead, and one badly injured, lay beside the wreck of a ballon. They gathered around the injured man, who evidently was in great agony. The Indians could not understand the language used by the man, but by signs he requested them to kill him, which they did on the spot where he lay. When they arrived at Fort George and again at Moose Factory, they related the incident, describing the balloon and car, a thing which they had never before seen. When Mr. Renison left Moose Factory the Hudson's Bay officials at that point were arranging to have a party of Indians repair to the scene of the wrecked balloon, and bring in papers and such other articles as might be found and be capable of being transferred.

A LESSON IN ECONOMICS.

A tax rate of twenty mills on a piece of land takes away about two-sevenths of its value. The value of land is the result of its productive power from day to day, whether it be devoted to agriculture, commerce or manufacture. If the use of a piece of land is worth $70 a year and $20 must be paid in taxes, the net yearly value of its use would be $50. That amount capitalized at 5 per cent., the current rate of interest, would make the actual or selling value of the land $1,000. That is the calculation that must be made to determine the value of the land. The assessor looks to the real estate market in which these calculations have been thoroughly digested, and he finds the value of the land $1,000. The taxation levied is twenty mills on the dollar, which necessitates a payment of $20 to the public funds. A tenant or lessee would be asked a rental of $50 and taxes, or $70 without taxes. But it is the rental that fixes the value at $1,000, not the value that fixes the rental. If the taxation were perpetually removed by a special exemption, the value would be based on a net rental of $70, which capitalized at 5 per cent., would give a value of $1,400.

INVITE THEM HERE.

Next month the members of the Spokane Chamber of Commerce will take an excursion to Nelson and Rossland. They should also come to the Boundary country. Spokane owes its prominence largely to the development of the mineral wealth of British Columbia and its business men will doubtless be anxious to visit Boundary as well as the other mining sections.

THE GREAT COMSTOCK

Its Wonderful Production—Electric Power to be Applied.

The electrical machinery for the big power plant at Floriston on the Truckee river is being installed and the plant will be completed and the current ready to turn on about the middle of September. The most extensive paper plant in the world has been erected and is now ready for operation at Floriston. The power will be derived from the plant of the Truckee River General Electric company. But the primary object in view is the furnishing of electric energy to the great Comstock mines. The mining excitement which caused the whole world to wonder was that of the Comstock lode, which was discovered in June, 1859. It lies along the eastern slope of Mount Davidson, about four miles in length and varies in width from a few feet to a quarter of a mile. The first shipment of ore from the lode was made from the Ophir discovery in 1860. Thirty-eight tons of ore were shipped to San Francisco and when reduced yielded $112,000.

Then commenced the wildest excitement of modern times. The Savage, Hale Norcross, Chollar-Potosi Gould and Curry, Yellow Jacket, Crown Point, Belcher, Imperial" and other discoveries followed in quick succession, and the mines yielded, in the ten years following, $120,000,000. In 1873 the "big bonanza" in the Consolidated Virgina was struck, and the excitement grew in porportion. Capital was pouring into the new camp and Virgina City, a small camp among the sagebrush and sand, began to assume the proportions of a great city, with a population of 35,000 or more. The excitement reached its zenith when it became known that millions in gold and silver were being extracted from this strike. It is a fact that between the years 1873 and 1882, $111,975,761 were taken out from the bonanza. The strike was made at the 1167-foot level. Then came the question of draining the lower levels of the mines, and the time produced the genius. Adolph Sutro projected the great tunnel known afterwards by his name. The tunnel was started in the valley of the Carson river and ran for a distance of 20,018 feet in a north-westerly direction when it struck the Savage mine at a depth of 1,630 feet. Subsequently all the mines on the lode were connected with the tunnel. But when it was completed the deepest shaft had reached a depth of 3,000 feet, so that the tunnel was of little use at that time in draining the mines. but it will ever remain as a great engineering feat, and has been used for the past two years, in connection with the hydraulic pumping plant installed by the Risdon Iron Works of San Francisco, as a discharge point for the water forced from the lower levels.

An article in the Review of more than a year ago with the caption, "The Hope of the Comstock," in which a strong plea was made for the use of electric power, to once again infuse the old life into the great lode had the desired effect, and Virgina City may become again populous.

With the event of the installation of electric power it is ardently hoped, and indeed it is a fair supposition, that the rich ore at the deeper levels will be extracted, and, as shown in the Mining and Engineering Review of June, 1899, the difference in the cost of steam power and electricity is so great, in favor of the latter, the low grade ores in the upper levels may be worked to advantage and profit. That there is yet a great amount of ore in the old workings is known, and that there is ore to the value of hundreds of millions below the present workings is the opinion of practical mining men. As an instance it may be referred to, that at the time of the fire in the Consolidated Virgina, rich ore was being taken from the Bonanza, but at that time the workings were bulkheaded and closed, and have remained so up to the present

It is estimated that the mines of the Comstock lode have produced, in gold and silver, nearly $400,000,000.—Mining and Engineering Review.

WAS IT A MIRACLE.

"The marvellous cure of Mrs. Rena J. Stout of consumption has created intense excitement in Cammack, Ind.," writes Marion Stuart, a leading druggist of Muncie, Ind. She only weighed 90 pounds when her doctor in Yorktown said she must soon die. Then she began to use Dr. King's New Discovery and gained 37 pounds in weight and was completely cured. It has cured thousands of hopeless cases, and is positively guaranteed to cure all throat, chest and lung diseases. 50c and $1.00. Trial bottles free at Miller Bros'. drug store.

BOARD TRADE

Has Prepared Its Annual Report For Past Year.

RESOURCES OF BOUNDARY

Are Accurately Described—A Resume of the Development That Has Been Carried on.

The annual report of the Greenwood Board of Trade has been prepared and will soon be in the hands of the printer. The report contains a large amount of interesting information regarding the resources and development of Boundary. The situation here is summed up as follows:

"The year 1899 was a particularly prosperous one for the Boundary, and especially for Greenwood, which made unprecedented progress, reflecting in business, in building operations and public improvements, the great activity which its situation and prospective future inspired.

The building of the Columbia and Western railway, which with its spur lines to the mining camps cost approximately $5,000,000; the large amount of freighting done from Bossburg and Penticiion; the influx of population and travel to and fro; the active mining development that was carried on on all sides; and the assurance of a smelter being erected almost within the limits of the city—all contribute to the results referred to.

During the year buildings to the value of $325,000 were erected; water works were constructed; fire department fully equipped; streets graded and sidewalked; and city buildings erected. Electric lighting was provided at a cost of $25,000.

Of course at the opening of railway traffic, an amount of delayed freight was brought in which swelled the aggregate for the first two or three months to a degree that may be regarded as abnormal. The amount was extraordinary, while general traffic receipts exceed even the antieipations of the railway officials themselves. For some months the freight shipped down the Arrow Lakes for the Boundary country, three-fifths of which was consigned to Greenwood, was an average of 45 carloads a day. Passenger traffic is still well maintained.

Since the first of the year, a series of untoward circumstances operated to bring about temporary depression. The war in South Africa has drawn vast sums of money from the usual channels of investment, increasing the demands elsewhere and raising the price of interest; the labor troubles in the Slocan and Rossland, though directly only slightly affecting the Boundary, had the indirect effect of discouraging the mining market and discouraging the investment of capital and the development of properties; upon this came the closing down of the War Eagle and the Le Roi mines at Rossland, which produced a tremendous slump in the market and completed the slaughter of stocks, shattering confidence in the mines of British Columbia for the time being; added to these was the quarantine established owing to the outbreak of smallpox on the south side of the line, which reduced the volume of travel greatly; and as a climax to the chapter of calamities was the suspense created by an unprecedented and almost incomprehensible political situation. Such a set of conditions as has been described came just at a time when the district was least prepared to withstand it—at a time when railway construction had ceased, when building and public improvements were practially at a standstill, and when on the other hand, the mines were awaiting the completion of the smelters to commence to ship—at a time in fact, when the pay roll of the country was at a minimum—the transition period between active speculation and the shipping stage. We have reached the point where investors are waiting for returns for money invested in mines before going deeper into their pockets.

The causes alluded to are temporary, and the effects are also temporary. We look for a revival in all lines within the next few months, when the war and labor troubles will be at an end, and about a dozen of the neighboring mines will be shipping to the smelter regularly. Pyritic smelters and sampling works are also talked of, with good prospects of their being established. The outlook for the present year, though the financial sky is somewhat clouded, is on the whole bright, and we confidently look for vard to the steady development of our mines, which are our chief resources. There never was, in fact, a time when the prospects were better, or when there were surer grounds of hope for a great future for the Boundary country than at the present time. In view, therefore of the opportunity of the Board to exert a wise and potent influence on the affairs of the city and district, the hope is expressed that it will not fail to take advantage of those to their fullest extent."

IN LABOR CIRCLES.

Mr. H. D. Helmcken has given notice that in the legislature on Wednesday next he will move:

"That, in the opinion of this house, all government contracts should contain such conditions as will prevent abuses which may arrise from the subletting of such contracts, and that every effort should be made to secure the payment of such wages as are generally accepted as current in each trade for competent workingmen in the district where the work is carried out; and it is hereby resolved that the work to which the foregoing policy shall apply includes not only work undertaken by the government itself, but also all works aided by a grant of provincial public funds, and that the aforesaid policy shall be forthwith applied to every department of the public service and to all the parties now performing services for the government."

William Lyon Mackenzie King, B. A., is editor-appointee of the Dominion government prospective Labor Gazette. At Vienna Mr. King was whiling away time, when apprised of the fact that the position of labor editor or statistician to the horny-handed sons of toil was his. Mr. King once wrote an essay for his godfather, on sweatshops. Outside of this achievement his next best qualification is that he is a son of his father—John King, Q. C., of Osgoode Hall—a very influential man. By the way, Mr. King's godfather is the Hon. Mr. Mulock, postmaster-general, and promoter of the Gazette.

The ballot is the poor man's bayonet, Perhaps it is his bayonet; but his manipulation of the thing makes it look very much like a boomerang.—Citizen and Country.

W. J. Walker, editor of Freeman's Labor Journal in Spokane, was in the city this week.

Here is a prediction. His name will be Hon. Elliott S. Rowe before he leaves British Columbia.—Citizen and Country.

A COMPARISON.

The returns from the gold commissioner's office at Rossland tell the story of Greenwood's standing in the Boundary. According to the Rossland Miner the returns from the gold commissioner's office here show that $39,745,82 have been collected, in Rossland from direct taxation and mining licenses, etc,, during the first six months of this year. From the Boundary offices, $21,617.72 was reported. The Rossland total is indebted to the sale of miner's licenses to the extent of $11,441.50, of which $8,545.50 was collected in May.

From the Boundary the revenue comes from two sources, Grand Forks and Greenwood. The revenue now collected at the last named place was formerly returned from Midway, the change taking effect at the end of last April. The exact figures are subjoined:

January	$ 402 85	$ 582 40
February	354 90	1,253 15
March	694 90	2,216 65
April	1,212 25	1,867 80
May	4,236 45	5,372 50
June	973 35	2,510 62
Total	$7,873 80	13,803 23

There are collections made at Westbridge, Rock Creek, Camp McKinney and Vernon for places within the Greenwood district, which swell the total of the latter place. What these additions amount to can be seen by examining the figures for June which in detail are:

Greenwood	$2,246 62
Westbridge	399 35
Rock Creek	32 20
Camp McKinney	10 00
Vernon	22 50
Total	$2.510 62

By this return it will be seen that Greenwood contributes more than four fifths of the total amount. On the other hand, the returns from Grand Forks include those from Columbia, Cascade and the camps on the North Fork of the Kettle river.

AGAINST CHINESE.

A Large Public Meeting Discusses the Mongolian Question.

The public meeting on Friday evening called by the Trades and Labor Council to discuss the Chinese question was a hot affair. Old King Sol during the day had poured intense heat, alike on white and yellow, and had converted Miller's hall into a miniature tophet. Notwithstanding this there were sufficient people interested in the question to fill the hall. Mr. Kirkwood was voted to the chair, and Secretary Winnett also had a seat on the platform. Speakers were at a premium. The orator of the evening, a Mr. McMillan, of Phoenix, was indisposed and could not come, so Chairman Kirkwood asked for volunteer orators. C. J. McArthur was called to the platform and he went. He stated he was interested in the Chinese question, because he leased ground to Chinamen but he, notwithstanding this, was prepared to do everything in his power to rid the city of the Chinese by peaceful means. He urged upon the Trades and Labor men to keep within the law, but to use every effort to rid the city of those who were a serious menace to white labor.

Mayor Hardy was the next speaker. He suggested a boycott of business houses that would sell goods to Chinamen and discussed the question from several standpoints.

Duncan Ross heard the Chinese question discussed for the last twelve years in the province, but it appeared to be as serious today as it was twelve years ago. There was always those who would talk strongly enough against Chinese, but were weak in carrying out any practical scheme for their discouragement. He suggested that the city council avail itself of the power granted by the Municipal Clauses Act to regulate lanudries and could thereby close all the Chinese laundries in the city. He also advised those present to go home with the determination to no longer patronize Chinese.

Mayor Hardy was quite indignant that "his friend Ross" should suggest the council had power to regulate laundries. He didn't know what he was talking about and was only anxious to get a slap at Hardy. Ross and his friends were pinheads any way and some one (name not mentioned) had strings on him. After taking his seat, the distinguished mayor harrangued the crowd until he was called to order by the chairman.

Ald. Dave Bannerman was opposed to Chinamen and would do everything in his power to help the cause.

J. W. Grier said that the Hardy and anti-Hardy difficulties always crept into public discussions in Greenwood. As a laboringman he was not going to worry himself about the Chinese question, he did that for 15 years and was getting tired of it. The people who were most interested were the business men and until they joined with the workingmen in the movement it was useless attempting to do anything.

H. B. Madden was with them if they were going to make a clean sweep, but if their object was simply to attack a few who were employing Chinese, because they couldn't get other help, he was opposed to the movement. He described the difficulties of getting good white help in the kitchen; that in the hotel business patrons demanded prompt and efficient service. This could not be given under present conditions if dishwashing and laundry work were not done by Chinese.

Another speaker stated that he had a nineteen-year-old son who tried every hotel in town to get a job dishwashing but found all the places filled by Chinese.

No resolutions were passed and the meeting was adjourned after a unanimous standing vote was taken that all present would discontinue patronizing Chinese.

BANFF'S POPULARITY.

It Is Attracting More Travellers Than the Yellowstone.

It may not generally be known that in the Canadian Rockies, says the National Park Gazette, is a more popular resort than the Yellowstone; but such is the case. Notwithstanding that the praises of the latter have been published in all quarters; that it embraces one of the most picturesque regions in the United States; that its climatic conditions are supposed to be exceptionally fine; that it is within easy access of many large cities and densely populated communities, or that there is expended on it yearly more than twenty times the amount spent on this park, it is gratifying and speaks volumes for Banff that the number of people who visit the park is in excess of that of the Yellowstone. A good index of the travel to the two parks may be seen in the number of visitors registered annually at the hotels of the two respective resorts. Here are the comparative figures for the past five years:

Year.	Yellowstone.	Banff.
1896	2,408	3,996
1897	4,870	5,087
1898	2,207	5,537
1899	3,637	7,387

With this continually increasing travel will come a more intimate knowledge of the country at large, and Canada, the land of Thule, will be known as she is.

CHINESE LAUNDRIES.

They Can Be Regulated in Other Cities—Why Not Here?

There was trouble in Chinatown this week and the Celestial washermen were busy rustling lawyers, hunting witnesses and skirmishing for some scheme to snatch themselves from the fond embrace of the law which has been dropped down upon them for alleged violations of the wash house by-law, and also of the trades license by-law.

It was claimed by the prosecution, when the case was called up before Justice Johnson last Wednesday, that the Chinese laundries of the city had failed to comply with any of the provisions of the wash house by law, which called for the establishment of cesspools and various other guards against danger to the public health; and also that they had utterly refused to take out a license under the trades license by-law.

After hearing considerable evidence the case was adjourned until Monday next at 10 o'clock. Eckstein & Sutton are acting for the prosecution and Miller, Hannington & Cayley for the defense.—Grand Forks Gazette.

The city health officer's communication to the council regarding the insanitary condition of the Chinese laundry on Lansdowne street, calls for immediate attention. Dr. Procter is well within the mark when he asserts that the condition of things complained of is a grave menace to the public health. We would go further than he suggests, and peremptorily remove every Chinese laundry and habitation outside the city limits. There is not the slightest need for the perpetuation of the insanitary condition that characterze all Chinese premises in the city. The law makes ample provision for the effective disposal of these nuisances, and there is not a single valid reason why the law should not be rigorously enforced at once. Why the Chinese residents of Kamloops should be permitted to ignore the health regulations and thereby endanger the health of the entire white community is a mystery. There is no need for a Chinese laundry in Kamloops anyhow. A branch office of a good white steam laundry has been opened here, and there are several white women in town only too willing to do washing that cannot conveniently be sent away.—Kamloops Sentinel.

DREDGING ON THE FRASER.

There seems now to be every probability that a serious attempt will be made to win some portion of the gold dust which is known to lie on the bed of the Fraser river. The undertaking is due to John Cobeldick, who first visited British Columbia in 1896, and has since paid much attention to the dredging possibilities of the Fraser and its tributaries. The conditions existing in the rivers in British Columbia are similar to those extant wherever the gold dredge has not been introduced, in so far that the placer miner may only recover the gold from the benches and bars. Further than this it is impossible for him to proceed in any stream where any great volume of water exists.

In September of last year operations were commenced in the construction of a dredge of a New Zealand pattern on the banks of the Frazer, near its confluence with the Thompson river and three-quarters of a mile from the town of Lytton. The major portion of the machinery was purchased in this country from the workshops of firms who have been engaged in the construction of dredges for the last thirty years. The pontoons thirty-two by 100 feet, were constructed, the timbers being bolted to steel frames and both then joined by heavy timbers, forming one solid barge with a space of five feet six inches between the two. It is through this space the bucket ladder travels. Unlike the ordinary harbor dredge which has only one bucket, a number of buckets form an endless travelling belt, raising the gravel from the bed of the river.

The work was carried to completion under the supervision of an experienced engineer who has been engaged in dredging the rivers of New Zealand for the last thirty years. Climatic conditions have made necessary the enclosing of the machinery, which has been done by building a frame structure the length and width of the pontoons, only leaving a gangway on both sides. The craft is equipped with two boilers, main engine, winches, dynamos, donkey engines, etc., the boilers and engines being built by Robey, of Lincoln, while the winches came from the works of William Symons & Co., Glasgow. The dredge is lighted throughout by electricity, having both arc and incandescent lamps.

The points claimed in favor of the New Zealand dredge are that it is automatic, requiring few attendants and capable of handling large quantities of dirt. The capacity of the one at Lytton is 2,000 cubic yards per working day of twenty-four hours. The cost up to the present has been in the neighborhood of $15,000.
