MINING NEWS OF THE WEEK

Cariboo Declares Another Dividend---A. B. C. Davis Assayer and Metallurkist for the Pyritic Smelter---An Opinion on the Increased Mining Tax---Work at the Smelter

The directors of the Cariboo Mining company have declared a 1½ cent dividend for the quarter ending September 30. The dividend will be paid on Oct. 31 to shareholders of record of Sept. 30. A much larger dividend could have been declared out of the surplus funds on hand, but the management is pursuing the policy of devoting as large a share as possible of its profits to development and equipment purposes. The official reports from the mine are to the effect that the property is in splendid shape. Underground the work is being pushed, both east and west, along the ore bodies, with excellent results. In new ground on the Okanagan claim, the management has opened up what it considers one of the most remarkable chutes of good grade ore every discovered anywhere. This chute is unbroken and unfaulted, and extends for 350 feet straight away. To more effectually open this showing and further increase the company's ore reserves a new additional triple compartment shaft is being sunk on the Okanogan. This shift will permit of two hoists running, and leave room for a airway besides. It will of course connect underground with the present Cariboo shafts.

A. B. C. Davis, who accepted the position of chemist and metallurgist for the Standard Prytic Smelting company, has arrived in the city. Mr. Davis has had a long and successful experience. He has been assayer, chemist and metallurgist of the Cleopatra smelter at Ouray, Colorado, the Bouna Vesta S. & R. company and the Boston Gold-Copper Smelting company at Leadville, Colorado.

John O. Regan, superintendent of the Last Chance, one of the famous mines in the Slocan, was in Nelson on Saturday. In a general conversation with a Tribune man he said that the mine had resumed shipments, all the buildings and plant destroyed by the recent fire having been replaced; in fact, the property is now in better shape for economical working than ever before. The big tunnel is well underway, and when it reaches the vein, the mine will be opened to a depth of 1,000 feet.

Mr. Regan has been in the country since 1890, and is well posted on the conditions prevailing there. Like all other men intrusted with the management of mines, he says that the 2 per cent tax now imposed by the province on the output of metalliferous mines is unfair. To back up his contention, he cites the Last Chance as an example. The value of the ore produced by that mine, for argument's sake, is placed at $100 a ton at the mine. The cost of freight and smelting is placed at $21 ton. This leaves $79 on which the 2 per cent tax is to be paid. The tax would therefore be $1.58 a ton. The mine management claim that they employ 80 men, who under present conditions mine 100 tons of ore a week, and the cost of mining the ore is placed at $40 a ton. They contend that it is unfair to levy a tax on this $40; that the tax should be levied on the net value of the ore; or, in other words, that the tax should be 2 per cent on $39 instead of $79.

Taking $100 as the actual value of Slocan ore, and $21 as the actual sum paid for freight and treatment, a mine that ships 100 tons a week, and keeps the shipments at that rate for a year will pay the province $8,216 in taxes, and make a net profit of $194,584. This does not seem to be unfair taxation, when it is considered that the cost of marketing Slocan ore has been reduced anywhere from $5 to $10 a ton through the building of railways into the district largely through bond subsidies and land grants from the province.

Compare the taxes paid by the producing mine with the taxes paid by the producing sawmill. A sawmill cutting and selling 40,000 feet of lumber a day pays the province 50 cents on each and every thousand feet of logs scaled in the mill pond or mill yard. The cost of laying a thousand feet of logs down at a sawmill in Kootenay is $5, and the cost of sawing the logs into lumber is $5. This leaves a margin of $3 a thousand to the millman, out of which he must pay the province 50 cents. If the millman runs his mill six days a week and every week in the year, he will have used up 12,480,000 feet of logs; will have paid the province $6,240 in taxes, and have a net profit of $31,200.

If the above is a fair presentation of the case, the mine owners of the Slocan have, to use a common expression, "no kick coming," as far as taxation is concerned.—Nelson Tribune.

Forty men are now employed at the Standard Pyritic smelter. The mason work has been commenced and an order for 300,000 feet of lumber has been placed with McPherson Bros.

EUGENE D. SULLIVAN

A Prominent Figure in Butte Politics Dies in Greenwood.

DIED—At the Greenwood Hospital on Thursday last, Eugene D. Sullivan, aged 45 years.

Behind this brief announcement is an interesting story of a gentleman who played a prominent part in the stirring drama of Butte politics, who had strong personal and political friends and strong political enemies, but who died possessing the respect of all who knew him. Eugene D. Sullivan was born in Houghton, Mich. His father died while he was still young and the care of a family of six boys and three girls younger than himself fell on his shoulders. He came to Butte in 1878 and was soon a prominent figure in stirring politics of that city. He was elected sheriff of Silver Bow county, in which Butte is situated, and held the office from 1884 to 1886. He ran for the office a second time and received a majority of votes, but owing to some irregularity in one of the precincts, its vote was thrown out and his opponent was declared elected. During his term of office he discharged his duties faithfully and impartially. The Daly-Clark fued was then started and the Democratic party was divided into two hostile factions. The result was disastrous to many, including Mr. Sullivan, and he emerged from the conflict ruined financially.

For some time he kept an hotel in Walkersville, a suburb of Butte. He left that city in January last and went to Republic. From there he came to Greenwood and went to work with his old friend Nick Tregear at the Winnipeg mine. On the night of Sept. 16 he complained of feeling unwell, and on the 16th he went to Phoenix. He started back to the mine on the first of October, but Mr. Tregear seeing that he was still a very sick man sent him to the Greenwood hospital. It was found that he was suffering from typhoid fever and despite the best medical treatment death came at 11:35 Thursday night. His brother, D. J. Sullivan, was immediately telegraphed for and he arrived from Butte Saturday night. He made arrangements to have the body embalmed by T. M. Gulley & Co. who also furnished a magnificent casket. By Monday's train, the remains were shipped to Butte for interment, a large concourse of those who knew him in past years following to the railway station. The pallbearers were: Jno. Hanley, of the R. Bell mine, a cousin of the deceased, Nick Tregear, Col. Armstrong, R. E. L. Brown, J. Roderick Robertson, James Cunningham, C. J. McArthur, and Wm. Hurley.

D. J. Sullivan, who is in the office of the treasurer in Silver Bow county, is the only surviving brother, but his sisters, Mrs. J. Murphy, Mrs. Joe Hogan and Mrs. O'Neill reside in Butte.

Eugene D. Sullivan was highly respected by those who knew him. Always a strong friend of the workingmen, he possessed their confidence and secured their support in his political struggles.

A CIVIC DEADLOCK

Mayor Refuses to Sign Agreement Settling Rendell Case.

For two hours and a half the Greenwood council wrangled over the agreement with Rendell & Co. and in that time did not succeed in adopting the minutes of the previous meeting. Mayor Hardy was in the chair and Ald. Galloway, Sutherland and Sullivon were present. The clerk read the minutes and Ald. Galloway moved their adoption. The mayor at once attacked the agreement passed by the council and said that he would never sign the same until Rendell & Co. lowered the sidewalk. No one seconded the motion to adopt the minutes and at 10:30 Ald. Galloway, seeing no prospects of any business being done, left the council chamber and the council without a quorum.

The action of the mayor places the council in a peculiar position. By a unanimous vote they decided to give $5,000 to Rendell & Co. in settlement of their suit and wired their solicitors on the coast to discontinue the appeal. They also placed on record a resolution setting forth that the sidewalk opposite the Rendell block would not be interfered with during their tenure of office. The agreement pledging the payment of $5,000 was drawn up and signed by all the parties interested excepting the mayor.

LOST A LEG.

Brakeman Matheson, of the C. P. R. Freight Train, the Victim.

Brakeman Matheson, on the C. P. R. freight train coming west yesterday, met with a serious accident at Farron siding, near Christina Lake. A car was being run into the siding and Matheson was descending from the top when he fell on the track. The car ran over his leg, cutting it off above the knee. Dr. Forin, of Greenwood, was on the passenger train going east and he did everything possible; after which he was taken to the hospital at Grand Forks.

WERNER-NETZ.

C. L. Werner, one of the proprietors of the Gem restaurant, returned on Thursday night accompanied by his bride. Mr. Werner was married at his old home in Hanover, Kansas, the bride being Miss Minnie Netz. A Kansas paper gives the particulars of the happy event as follows:

"At the Evangelical parsonage, this city, September 18, by Rev. W. F. Schuerman, Mr. Conrad Werner, of Greenwood, B. C., and Miss Minnie Netz, of this county. The ceremony which was witnessed by about thirty-five invited guests, was followed by a supper which had been prepared by the friends of the contracting parties. The happy pair left immediately on the B. & M. for Kansas City, where they will spend a few days and then will go to Greenwood, B. C., where Mr. Werner has an extensive interest in the mines. He is the son of Jacob Werner, of Hanover, and for the past ten years has been in the mining districts of the west and at present is also engaged in the hotel business at Greenwood. Mr. Werner is a wide-awake, competent business man, and we predict for him a successful career. The bride is the daughter of Charles Netz of Washington county, and her amiable ways and kindness of heart have endeared her to a host of friends whose best wishes accompany her to her new home."

Mr. and Mrs. Werner received a hearty welcome from his many Greenwood friends. The Times joins them in extending congratulations.

Word was sent in from the West Fork Tuesday that 200 men were wanted to work on the new wagon road. The wages offered are $3 a day.

ELECTION DAY

The Date for the Dominion General Elections

IS FIXED FOR NOVEMBER 7

A Short Campaign — The Writs For a General Election Will Be Mailed Tomorrow.

OTTAWA, Ont., October 8. An order in council was passed and approved today dissolving parliament and a proclamation will be issued to that effect tomorrow. The writs for a general election will also be mailed tomorrow. Nominations will take place on Oct 31, and voting a week later on Nov. 7. The campaign will thus be one of the shortest in the history of the country.

ALBA HEYWOOD

The Prince of Comedians Will Be Here.

Alba Heywood, the prince of comedians and the ever popular retailer of fun, will be here on the 16th and 17th, with a complete program, new songs, stories and impersonations designed for laughing purposes only, and bearing the 20th century imprint. He is supported this season by the following well-known artists. Miss Gertrude Monroe, a brilliant violinist, who has distinguished herself with the leading musical organizations in the United States (including the Boston Symphony Orchestra). Her playing is brillant, fascinating and highly pleasing. She has a genuine old Cremona violin, of which she is very proud. Mr. Gustave Ullrich, a 'cellist of remarkable ability, and a pupil of Bruno Steindel, of Theodore Thomas' orchestra. The 'cello, though the grandest of string instruments, is seldom heard in the provincial cities, and will be a source of great pleasure to all and a surprise to many. Those who particularly enjoy vocal music will be pleased to learn that Mr. Heywood has secured the services of Miss Emile Cole, the beautiful and talented soprano, who for two years was understudy of the Bostonian Opera company. Miss Cole's voice is exquisitely sweet, and her ballad singing is most delightful.

FOOTBBLL.

A football meeting was held on Friday, Oct. 5th, in the Masonic hall for the purpose of organizing a football club in Greenwood and putting it on a proper basis. After W. G. Robertson had been voted to the chair, the following officers were elected and resolutions carried:

President—J. H. Smythe.

Vice Presidents—F. J. Finucane, J. Anderson, W. L. C. Gordon and P. P. Sharpe.

General Management Committee—W. F. Craig, Dill, Coulter.

Treasurer—G. N. T. Hill.

Secretary—F. B. Smith.

The colors of the club will be green and white.

Regular practice days are to be Wednesdays and Saturdays in each week.

Matches will be arranged with outside clubs such as Phoenix, Grand Forks, Nelson, etc.

WALSH-GAFFNEY.

Thos. Walsh, proprietor of the Kootenay hotel, Greenwood, and Miss Lizzie Gaffney were married at Mr. McAulay's hotel, Midway, at 8:30 o'clock this morning by Rev. Father Palmer. Miss McConnell, of Greenwood, was bridesmaid, while M. Kane supported the groom. After the interesting ceremony the happy couple and twenty invited guests sat down to a splendid wedding breakfast. Mr. and Mrs. Walsh drove down to Greenwood in time to catch today's outgoing train. The honey moon will be spent in Spokane. Mr. Walsh is a Boundary creek pioneer. He was one of the first to have confidence in its future prosperity and the Times joins with his many friends in wishing him a full measure of future success.

WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 10, 1900.

A TORY STALKING HORSE.

THE worst enemy of labor is labor. Those who are honestly striving to promote the labor interests have more to fear from the enemies within their rank than from those who have not directly identified themselves with labor organizations. The nomination of Chris Foley as a labor candidate in the forthcoming federal election is the making of a stalking horse behind which good Conservatives hope to secure an advantage over the Liberals. We know that the rank and file of the labor party are opposed to this playing into the hands of their ancient enemy, the Tory party. We do not say that either the avowed labor leaders or Chris Foley are with malice aforethought dedicating the labor party in Yale-Cariboo, to the political sharp practices of the Tory party, but appearances are against them. They have been told by those who are acquainted with the political situation in Yale-Cariboo district, that a labor candidate could not possibly be elected in this district, that he cannot secure votes enough to save his deposit; they have been warned by sensible men within their ranks, that the nomination of a labor candidate, while it might help the Conservatives, would militate against the interests of labor; they did not go into the Nelson convention ignorant of the political conditions or their own weakness in a federal fight. In opposition to the advice their friends, within and without the ranks, they place a candidate in the field who has no more chance of being elected than Paul Kruger has of being King of England, but who may succeed in taking a few hundred votes from the Liberal candidate. The majority of laboring men in every constituency and in every county are Liberals. Theirs is a policy of reform. They are honestly striving after legislation to which they are entitled and they naturally ally themselves with the party whose policy is in a measure similiar to their own. What is generally true, is true of Yale-Cariboo district. Left free, the majority of the labor men would vote for Mr. Galliher, the Liberal candidate, and if they vote for Mr. Foley they only help to elect Mr. McNeill.

The labor convention at Nelson promulgated a platform. They want free compulsory education; they want a legal working day of eight hours; they want government inspection of all industries, and the abolition of contract system on public works; they want the public ownership of all franchises and the abolition of Asiatic immigration; they want the compulsory arbitration of labor disputes and the prohibition of competition from prison labor, and they want the compulsory arbitration of the franchise. They declare in their platform that they want all these reforms and in the same breath they give the lie to their statements by arming Chris Foley with authority to assist A. H. McNeill in defeating the party who would listen to their demands. A careful study of Canadian history reveals no marked legislation by the Conservatives in the interests of the working man during their eighteen years of power, but still the labor convention of Nelson sends out their representative for the purpose of securing the return of a Conservative. On the other hand laboring men have secured much during the four years of Liberal rule.

Through the instrumentality of Hon. Mr. Mulock, postmaster-general, the House of Commons passed a resolution to the effect that every effort should be made to secure to workmen on government works the current wage and the government appointed D. J. O'Donoghue, a prominent labor man of Toronto, and clothed him with power to give practical effect to this resolution. Subletting of contracts has been stopped by the government. The original contractor is responsible to the government and he must pay current wages. The government has abolished the sweating system in Canada; the government has passed a measure providing for the adoption of conciliatory methods in the settlement of labor disputes; the government has established a department of labor and publish the Labor Gazette in the interests of labor; the government has appointed an officer to enforce the provisions of the alien labor act and has doubled the poll tax on Chinese coming into this country.

In other ways its legislation has been in the direction of promoting the interests of the laboring classes. All this has been done in the last four years, but the gentlemen of the Nelson convention are not satisfied. They offer Chris Foley as a willing sacrifice on the altar of Toryism. The offering will no doubt be gratefully accepted by the Conservative candidate, but how are the interests of the laboring man to be thus promoted?

GREENWOOD THE METROA OLIS

AN epidemic of optimism and exaggeration breaks out in Boundary country at short intervals. Newspapers are most liable to catch the infection. It is never fatal but unlike lightening it usually strikes twice or oftener in the same place. Our old friend, the Grand Forks Gazette, never escaped. Just as sure as there were any germs flouting round so sure would the Gazette become afflicted with the disease. It must be very infectious for even the Phoenix Pioneer has fallen a victim. It is laboring under the hallucination that the only place on earth is Phoenix. Now Phoenix is the natural outcome of the development of the mineral resources in the camp. The employment of men in the mines of Phoenix, insures a central place where the miners build their homes. There will be found stores and saloons and hotels. The more men that are employed in the mines at Phoenix, the greater will the town become. But this should not alarm the Pioneer. The growth of the town will not be fearfully rapid, and, judging from the history of other mining camps, there is every assurance, that with a little energy the newspaper can keep pace with the development of the town.

What is true of Phoenix camp, is true of every other mining camp in the Boundary. It is idle to suppose that four hundred or five hundred or even a thousand men can be employed at the Mother Lode and contiguous mines without a suitable town growing up near the mines. There will be similar towns near the B. C. and in Central camp—dinner bucket towns.

These towns are necessarily feeders to the central metropolis and that metropolis is Greenwood. Situated between all the mining camps, it is benefitted by the growth of them all. The bigger Phoenix grows, the better for Greenwood. And as the other mining districts reach a higher stage of development and as the dinner bucket towns spring up, Greenwood will grow accordingly. Every mining camp is a feeder to its own local town and all the local towns will contribute to the growth and wealth of the central city—Greenwood. This is true of all communities. Boundary will be no exception to the rule.

ROBBED THE GRAVE.

A startling incident, is narrated by John Oliver of Philadelphia, as follows: "I was in an awful condition. My skin was almost yellow, eyes sunken, tongue coated, pain continually in back and sides, no appetite, growing weaker day by day. Three physicians had given me up. Then I was advised to use Electric Bitters; to my great joy, the first bottle made a decided improvement. I continued their use for three weeks, and am now a well man. I know they robbed the grave of another victim." No one should fail to try them. Only 50c. Guaranteed, at Miller Bros. drug store.

BOARD OF TRADE.

The Quarterly Meeting Held—Committees Appointed.

The quarterly general meeting of the Greenwood Board of Trade was held in the city hall on Wednesday evening with President Galloway in the chair. R. McPherson and E. Kerfoot were added to the membership of the board. The annual convention of the Associated Boards os Trade, which meets here in January, was discussed and preparations will be made to receive the visitors. It was also decided to see Mr. Johnson relative to having the blowing in of the smelter a public function, and a committee was appointed to arrange for the same. Another committee was appointed to cooperate with the secretary in securing payment of arrears.

The secretary presented a brief resume of the work done by the Council of the Board since the last meeting, as follows:

"Since the last general meeting of the Board, the Council of the Board, acting under rights conferred on it by Sec. 9, Sub. Sec. 6 of the Rules. Regulation and By-Laws of the Board, has held ten meetings, all called to consider some questions of public interest demanding hurried attention. Among other business transacted by the council has been the publication of 5,000 copies of the first annual report of the board and the distribution of the same where believed most expedient and in the best interests of the town and the interests here represented. Only a few copies now remain, 900 having been circulated through the local press, 1,500 were sent to A. K. Stuart for distribution at the Paris Exposition, 450 were placed in London, England, 400 in Montreal, 175 in Toronto, 100 in New York, 50 in Vancouver, and 150 in reading rooms and public libraries of the larger mining centers of the United States and Canada. The board has interested itself with provincial government, in the matter of roads and trails, and by petition to the premier of the province, and by correspondence and interviews with heads of departments and members of the provincial parliament has called attention to the needs of better means of communication between this city and Kimberly, Central and West Fork camps and to the needs of a bridge across the North Fork at or near Eagle City. The council's action in all these matters has not been without beneficial results. In the West Fork road controversay, the council took the stand it did, because of its earlier relation to this trail and road, and because of the large Greenwood interests represented there. The council recognized the demand for a road properly located and properly built. The action of the department of lands and works subsequently has justified the council's attitude.

"The council believing that any increase taxation on the mining interests of the country would not only work injury thereto, but was an injustice as well, did what it could to prevent the recent legislation of the provincial parliament relative to mining tax.

"The attention of the board is called to the approaching expositions at Glasgow and Buffalo in 1901.

"The council did not see its way clear to recommend any organized action or expenditure on the Spokane fruit fair now open, owing to lack of funds.

"The finances of the board are not in a flourishing condition, owing to the arrearages of so many members. The promised pledges of the members would be sufficient for general expenditures if promptly paid but, unfortunately, these promises have not all been kept."

THE MAIL ORDER NUISANCE.

The following very sensible article is from the Winnipeg Commercial:

As is usual about this time of the year, the west is being flooded just now with the catalogues and other literature of eastern departmental stores. The retail traders of the west have always had a grievance against these stores for stepping into the field in this way at the season of the year when there is a little extra money in circulation and the farmer has some cash with which to make purchases, and they are quite justified in feeling as they do about it. These departmental stores will sell only for for cash, they never lift a hand to carry anybody over a bad year, and they only solicit business in this country when they know there will be a little ready money to be snapped up. The western retail merchant is called upon to supply consumers here with goods at all seasons, to supply them on credit when there is no cash to pay with and to sometimes carry accounts for years when hard times strike the country, or when there has been some individual case of misfortune, and to the credit of the trade it may be said that they never shrink from doing all that their capital will allow of this sort of thing, and sometimes a great deal more, in spite of possible disastrous results to themselves. It does seem, therefore, too bad that when there is some cash trade going these eastern sharks should slip in and take it way from local traders. And more so because there is no good reason whatever why they should get the business. They do not handle better goods, nor do they offer better bargains when everything is taken into consideration. They make no redress whatever if goods are not what have been ordered and in the case of miscarriage in delivery they do not hold themselves responsible. The goods have all to be ordered from catalogues and price lists are often made to appear very superior to what they really are. The moral of all this is that western consumers should keep their trade at home. The remedy rests with them.

A THOUSAND TONGUES.

Could not express the rapture of Annie E. Springer, of Philadelphia, when Dr. King's New Discovery cured her of a hacking cough that for years had made life a burden. She says: "After all other remedies and doctors failed it soon removed the pain in my chest, and I can now sleep soundly, something I can scarcely remember doing before. I feel like sounding its praises throughout the universe." Dr. King's New Discovery is guaranteed to cure all troubles of the throat, chest, or lungs. Price 50c and $1. IS NOW OPEN

Colville Reservation Free for Settler Today.

THERE WAS A BIG RUSH

J. W. McBride, of Bolster, Tells of the Coming of New Settlers to the Rich Valleys of the Reservation—Bolster Notes.

"No rush to the reservation!" said J. W. McBride, manager of the Bolster Townsite company, to a Times representative. "Those who say so are not acquainted with the facts. The Colville reservation is not topographically like Oklahoma or any of the other reservations made famous by the inpouring of settlers. There they all came by one route to one objective point. The land was all equally good and the arable portion was not hidden by mountains. In the Colville reservation it is different. The rich valley and equally rich plateaus are separated by mountains which all break up the body of intending settlers. Again they are coming in by a score of routes. many came by train to Greenwood, others used the British Columbia wagon road to getting in by Rock creek. They are coming by way of Republic and the different routes from the Columbia river; in fact a traveller cannot go on any of the wagon roads leading to Myers creek without finding settlers. Many have brought their families and household effects, while others are there for the purpose of locating their future home and after they secure their title will return east for their families. It will be readily seen that with so many avenues to the reservation, it is a difficult matter to keep a record of the numbers of intending settlers but they aggregate a big number and the United States commissioners will be kept busy taking affidavits of locations. All records must be filed at the land office at Waterville, but to facilitate matters two United States commissioners will have offices in the reservation for the purpose of taking the affidavits of intending settlers. Mr. Cresson will open an office on the wagon road running through Myers creek, while Mr. Myers will be at Molson. They will take the declarations of the settlers and forward them to the office in Waterville."

Mr. McBride arrived here Saturday night and also reports that business is brisk in Bolster. Several buildings are going up, the principal one being Thos. McDonnell's three-story hotel which is nearing completion. It is a well built and comfortable building, plastered throughout and having all the conveniences of a first-class hotel. It has been leased by Messrs. Frey & McIntosh who will open it in a few days.

Mining matters are also active. Three shifts are working steadily in the Reviaw tunnel. A force of men are at work on the Buckhorn; other properties on Copper mountain are being developed and work has been started on the King Solomon group near Bolster.

About 40 men are at work building the trail to Franklin camp. The trail is 35 miles long and comes out in the North Fork at Lind creek. A bridge connecting the trail with Greenwood is being built accross the North Fork at Eagle City.

Geo. A. Guess today received the sad news of his mother's death at the family home in Kingston, Ont. The deceased lady was well known to many residents of Greenwood, she having visited her son here last year. Mr. Guess leaves for the east tomorrow.

J. A. McEwen and wife, of Columbus, Ohio, are again in the city. Mr. and Mrs. McEwen have spent the last two months at the Crystal Butte mine, Myers creek, the property being owned by Columbus capitalists whom Mr. McEwen represents.

W. M. Law and Harry McQuaid are opening out a general store in the handsome block recently built by Messrs Graves and Williams at Phoenix. Mr. McQuaid will have charge of the business. D. A. McKenzie, well known in the city, has returned from the east and has taken Mr. McQuaid's position in Mr. Law's store in the city.

The notice over the signature of E. H. Thruston calling for 200 men to go to work on the West Fork wagon road is creating a great deal of surprise in the city. Mr. Robertson who has been engaged to take charge of one of the construction gangs on the road, came down from Mr. Shaw's camp yesterday and he heard nothing about Mr. Thruston having anything to do with the construction of the road.

H. W. Kent, general superintendent of the Vernon and Nelson Telephone company, was in the city last week. He and Mr. Campbell, superintendent of the Kootenay Electric Power company, rode over the Dewdney trail. Mr. Kent was looking for a shorter route for the line between Kootenay and Boundary. At present the company is running on the American line via Bossberg and Cascade, but early next spring a direct line will bh built across the mountains from Rossland to Cascade, giving the company their own connection with this district.

Frederic Keffer, one of the judges of the mining department at the Spokane exhibition, returned home Monday evening.
