FROM THE AFRICAN WAR

George Holbrook Returns to Greenwood From Africa.

WAS IN MANY BATTLES

At the Relief of Mafeking—Was Wounded Once—Served With Colly at Majuba Hill.

The first of the Greenwood band who who fought for Queen and country in South Africa returned on Monday unannounced and consequently there was no public demonstration. The returned soldier was Geo. Holbrook who resides with his family at Anaconda. He was expected home by his family but the exact day was unknown and when he stepped off the train at Greeenwood, only a few were there to welcome him. Dressed in dull colored Kaki, he was an object of interest as he walked from the station to his home in Anaconda. But few people were even aware that Holbrook was among the Greenwood boys who went to South Africa. He was an old soldier, having served with the Fifty-eight British regiment for a score of years. He was with Sir George Colly's ill-fated expedition at Majuba Hill and was one of the 413 men who escaped the slaughter. When the recent war broke out, Holbrook was determined to do his share in wiping out the stain of British defeat and regain the lost prestige of British arms in Boerland. He went from here to Kingston and secured a position with the C. Battery Royal Canadian Artillery, under Major Hudson. They sailed for Africa with the second contingent.

He had plenty of opportunities for gratifying his desire of getting even with the Boers and saw much active service in the year he spent in South Africa. He was with the column who went to the relief of Mafeking. They outmarched the commissary convoy and for five days lived on horseflesh before reaching the beleagured town. After that there was plenty of fighting at Rertzberg, Bloemfontein, Fraaesbourg and at Pretoria. At Sinekel, Holbrook was wounded by a Mauser bullet which confined him to the hospital for three days.

Mr. Holbrook is kept busy telling of stirring incidents connected with the war. He has nothing but praise for the Canadian officers who understood their business and who handled their guns well. The men, too, made a record and they cherish the enconmiums lavished upon them by Lord Roberts and Baden-Powell.

There is plenty of latent loyalty and enthusiasm in Greenwood and Times suggests that it find expression by some public recognition of the return of the first Greenwood man from the war.

TWO IMPOSTORS

Women Dressed as Nuns Trying to Get Money.

Two women wearing the garb of nuns came in on Saturday's train and immediately began soliciting subscriptions for one of the charitable institutions that are being maintained under the care of the church. Unfortunately for them, the priest from East Kootenay was in the city to hold services here on Sunday and he had some experience with them before. He warned the people against them, stating that they were imposters. They, however, to more effectively carry out their plans went to the Catholic service on Sunday. The priest ordered them from the church and told the congregation something about their past career. They left Greenwood for Phoenix, but Constable Darrough had been told over the wire to be on the look out for them and they did no business in that camp. The same women did the Rossland camp but were exposed by Father Welch before they collected much money. The people have been warned against giving money to persons dressed as nuns, unless they have authority from some priest or lady superior.

AMALGAMATION.

Three Firms to Unite in a Joint Stock Company.

The Russell Hardware company, Caulfield & Lamont and W. M. Law & Co. have issued a prospectus with a view to amalgamation of the three firms. The prospectus is for a joint stock company to be known as the Russell-Law-Caulfield Company, Ltd. It will have a capital of $100,000 divided into 100,000 shares of a dollar each. The firms are amongst the oldest and best established in the city. The prospectus states that the three firms in 1899 did a combined business of $225,000. The three firms will subscribe for $70,000 of the paid up stock and the remaining $30,000 is offered to the public at par. It is confidently believed that a greatly increased and constantly increasing business may thus be transacted at greatly reduced cost and hence at better profits. The present management of the existing firms will be on the directorate of the new concern, and the successful management of their present business is the best guarantee of the effective conduct of the consolidation. Each of the old firms will collect its own debts and pay its own obligations and the new firm will begin business without debt of any kind.

SIFTON COMING.

The Hon. Clifford Sifton, Min- of Interior, will be in Greenwood to address the public meeting on Tuesday. Mr. Sifton is considered one of the best platform speakers in Canada.

BEAVERTON NOTES.

BEAVERTON, Nov. 10.—Special Correspondence.—Beaverton has a post-office, with the genial F. C. Boles as postmaster. Morgan, the packer, carries the mail from Westbridge.

The Carmi is getting ready to ship.

An express office will be opened in connection with the post office.

W. T. Smith and Mr. Massam were up here last week. Mr. Massam was highly pleased with the country and Beaverton.

The Smith hotel is completed. It is well furnished and provides as good accommodation as can be found in Greenwood. D. W. Smith is the proprietor, and transients will find him a gentleman in every way.

The right of way for the wagon road is cleared above Gorman West's, a distance of 12 miles from Westbridge. Mr. Shaw states that the survey will be completed in 10 days. Grading is completed a distance of 10 miles.

AN INQUEST HELD.

Last Wednesday Dr. O. Morris, coroner, held an inquest upon an Indian at Penticton, who, as noted last week, had been murdered on the previous Saturday. The jury was made up as follows: L. C. Barnes (foreman), R.S. Bull, R. Jackson, G. Clark, J. Grattan, S. Grattan and A. Grant. The verdict reached was: "That the deceased, Antoine, an Indian, came to his death from blows inflicted on his head by an axe in the hands of one Edward Jack, an Indian." The murderer is still at large. There has been a great deal of lawlessness among the Indians of Penticton for some time past, owing to the flagrant manner in which the law against selling intoxicants to them is violated, and stricter police supervision is evidently badly needed in that section. Future trouble will hardly be averted unless a resident constable is stationed in that section of the district.

AN ELECTION CANARD.

J. J. Stephenson, of Victoria, went to the Paris exhibition and returned with a tale of woe. Not satisfied with making an ass of himself, he endeavors to give strength to assertions by introducing the name of A. K. Stuart, who represents B. C. at the exhibition. Mr. Stuart is charged with stating that Mr. Tarte had damned everything British Columbian and was ready to come home to record his vote against him. Those who know Mr. Stephenson, will place but little credence in his story and those who know Mr. Stuart will be slow to believe that he gave expression to the words Mr. Stephenson uses.

ARRESTED FOR FORGERY.

Chas. Cummings, of Grand Forks, was arrested last week on a charge of forgery. The complainant was E. A Spraggett, the well known lumberman. Cummings is charged with using a false telegram to influence Spraggett in a lumber deal. Cummings was released on bail until next Saturday evening when the preliminary trial will be held.

Next Tuesday evening there will be a public meeting in the interests of W. A. Galliher's candidature in the Auditorium. Among the speakers will be S. S. Taylor, Q. C., and A. L. Sifton of Calgary, a member of the legislature in the northwest. Mr. Galliher, the Liberal candidate, is at present campaigning in the north with Frank Oliver. M. P., of Alberta.

BIG STRIKE ON RAMBLER

Splendid Copper-Ore Body Encountered at

THE 100-FOOT LEVEL.

A New Find Made on the Remington. One of the Miner-Graves Syndicate Properties—Mining Notes

Special to the Times.

EHOLT, B. C., Nov. 14.—The drift which is being run from the 100-foot level on the Rambler encountered the ore body this week. Superintendent Davis brought down some splendid specimens of high grade copper ore from the new find.

The Graves syndicate have struck it rich again. A large body of rich ore has been encountered on the Remington, near the R. Bell. This is a new find and the work done during the week shows that the ore body is a large one.

Business is picking up in Eholt. Next week a force will be put to work erecting coal bunkers and engine houses. Three car repairers will also be stationed here.

MINING NOTES.

The Golden Crown mine has been temporarily closed.

The Laidlaw smelter has secured a contract for 2,000 tons of Carmi ore from E. H. Thruston.

Wm. Yolen Williams, superintendent for the Miner-Graves syndicate, has returned from his six weeks' trip to other mining cities.

The Oro Denoro mine in Summit camp is being pumped out preparatory to resuming operations. The mine is owned by the King Mining company. It has a splendid showing of high grade copper ore. It is reported that R. R. L. Brown is negotiating for its purchase.

Since the discovery of the richness of Britannia ore the country tributary to Howe Sound has been overrun with prospectors. Some of them have struck it more or less rich, but the latest find is causing a stir. It is nothing less than a foour-foot vein of galena, and according to information received from parties who have examined the location the indications are that the strike will in time be proved to be a very valuable one. It was made by two prospectors, Kenneth McDonald and Wulbur Rugg, who have been in the district over a year. The property is situated on the west shore of the sound at a point about opposite Watt's Point, and is about three miles inland. Last summer McDonald ran across some good looking float and after searching for some weeks managed to find the lead, which runs in a northeasterly and southwesterly direction. At the time of location it was uncovered for a distance of 60 feet and since then it has been strippped for 15 feet, making 75 feet in all. All indications are said to point to a continuance throughout the length of the claim, which has been named the Daisy. The vein lies between porphyry on the footwall and slate on the hanging, the walls being nearly perpendicular. It is richest near the walls, the pay streak on the foot being four inches wide and that on the hanging six inches. The body is composed of a slaty formation, but carries values although to lesser extent than near the walls. Assays from the footwall run 22 per cent lead, 2½ ounces silver, and 40 cents in gold. From the hanging walls the values are 15 per cent lead, 2½ ounces silver and 50 cents in gold. These assays were made from ore taken from the cropping. The value of the strike, if it proves as expected, can be clearly seen, for the reason that with the establishment of smelters to work Britannia ore the market for the lead product will be right at hand and the expense of shipping to far off smelters will be entirely obviated.

M. J. Phelan came in from Rendell today and reports that the road is graded within two miles of Gorman West's. Business is picking up at Rendell and when Fisher's saw mill gets started lively times are expected.

THE LIBERAL VICTORY.

THE success of the Liberal party was assured without taking into consideration the splendid record of the government. History furnishes no precedent for the defeat of a government after a successful war. Lord Salisbury and 'Brummagen Joe'' simply swept the country because of the South African war. Their success was due to the patriotic sentiment of the people. Had the election taken place in the time of peace the unsatisfactory state of domestic affairs would probably have relegated the present government in England to the cold shades of opposition.

And so it was in the United States. The spellbinders could hurl their strong denunciations against the trusts, against the iniquities of expansion but the bombast of Teddy Roosevelt was more taking than the matchless logic of William Jennings Bryan and the populace forgot the ills of home politics in the exuberance of their enthusiasm over the success of "Old Glory" in Cuba and the Phillipines.

Canada was directly concerned in the South African war. She sent her best sons to the front to make a name for themselves and add new lustre to British arms. Conservatives could rail about the government's tardiness in sending the contingents and exaggerate the evils of the emergency rations, but the people were not fooled. They followed precedent and endorsed the present government.

There were other reasons why the Liberals were returned. While it is quite true that bad times will come despite the efforts of a good government and good times will continue against the influence of a bad one, people realize the fact that a wise and progressive government can take advantage of the tide that leads on to national fortune and they dislike to make a change at the zenith of good times. Providence ordained that unprecedented good times should come to Canada with advent of the Liberal government and the electors did not act contrary to the apparent wishes of Providence.

But the Conservatives owe that overwhelming defeat to the miserable campaign which they conducted. The campaign was in the hands of Henry Dalby, once editor of the Montreal Star, and he was simply a tool in the hands of J. Israle Tarte. Every act of his was campaign food for the minister of public works. Dalby thought that the success of the Conservatives depended upon the condemnation of French Canadians and his stupidity received its proper reward. He was evidently encouraged in this style of warfare by his aged leader who met defeat in Cape Breton.

The Conservative party are to be congratulated in one respect, they have been rid of the blighting influence of their leaders. The nest of traitors is no more. It is contrary to the spirit of the age to allow a government too long a lease of power and with new leaders the Conservatives can certainly hope for a greater measure of success at the next election.

Taking everything into consideration the country is to be congratulated on the result of three general elections held in Great Britain, United States and Canada. There should now be a general revival in business and a freer money market.

BUTTE OR BRITISH?

IN the year of grace 1900, British arms were forced to maintain the prestige of the British flag in South Africa. Canada, showing her love for the mother country, sent her best sons to fight for the Queen and Empire. The war was a righteous war but it was a war which aroused the jealousy and hate of other nations. In the Unted States the Democratic party were strong in their denunciation of the British and equally strong in their sympathy for the Boers. The Boers maintained a hopeless struggle, encouraged by the belief that the success of the Democratic party would mean intervention. They believed that the placing of a Democratic president in the White House would mean the assistance of the American nation in tearing down the British flag from where it was raised after much bloodshed.

Among the stalwarts of the Democratic party is one W. A. Clark, millionaire mineowner, of Butte. Driven from the senate under charges of bribery and corruption, he endeavored with the aid of Butte miners to secure the return of a legislature and a govenor favorable to himself. In his work he was aided by one, F. Auguste Heinze. This gentleman is not unknown to the people of British Columbia. It was he who boasted that he had flimflammed the British Columbia legislature. He disposed of his valuable interests in this province and returned to Butte. Unable to get rid of the Rosslond Miner, he still owns it and uses it not for the purpose of promoting the interests of a country in which he has no longer much interest but in promoting the political ambitions of F. Auguste Heinze.

Clark and Heinze declared for an eight-hour a day in Butte and in their own properties men are working eight hours. This action was acceptable to the Western Federation of Miners and very properly won for them the support of the working classes. Bút Mr. Heinze went further. Mr. Chris Foley, an executive officer of the Western Federation of Miners, was a candidate for the Dominion parliament in Yale-Cariboo district. Mr. Heinze directed that his property, the Rossland Miner, should be exploited in the interests of Chris Foley of the Western Federation of Miners. Day after day the Miner is doing its utmost to secure Mr. Foley's election.

To loyal Britishers, to those who honor the Union Jack, the situation is simply intolerable. That F. Auguste Heinze, an American Democrat, whose party is hostile to Britain and the supremacy of the British flag, should dictate to the free and independent electors of Yale-Cariboo through his organ, the Rossland Miner, is surely repulsive to every patriotic sentiment of a true Britisher.

Which shall it be?

Shall our actions be truly British or shall they be inspired from Butte?

BUILDING A CITY.

Is Greenwood going to be a great city? That does not depend upon her great natural advantages, nor upon the illimitable mineral resources of the district tributary to, nor upon an excellent townsite. It depends entirely upon her citizens. It is people who make a town, not nature nor providence. A united and determined people can make Chicago out of a swamp, and a people pulling different ways without energy of local patriotism can distroy every influence that go make up a large city.

The residents of Greenwood are lacking in some things. They are not sufficiently hoggish. They do not possess that splendid selfishness that recognizes no town but their own and no business man but those who hang their shingles in Greenwood. People are in the habit of seeing the two-bits saved on a purchase at Timothy Eaton's rather than the dollars that are lost to the city and to them by sending for goods to the east. The strong argument against the Chinese is not made up from prejudice or sentiment but from business. They are industrious and probably give a dollar's worth of work for every dollar paid them, but 75 per cent of the money is sent away and is lost to the country. The injury done to a town by the Timothy Eaton Chinamen is greater than those who bank their money in Shanghai rather than in Greenwood. They are more numerous and have larger spending power.

Seattle is without exception the most striking example of what can be done against adverse conditions by a united and determined people. At one time, not many years ago, Seattle was not larger than Greenwood. Its future was assailed by Tacoma on one side and Port Townsend on the other. But the people were the stuff that cities are made of and they went in to win, and they did win. They have not Timothy Eatons in the United States but they have their Montgomery Wards whose every effort is to centralize wealth and power in Chicago to the detriment of other towns and cities. But the Seattle people were united in their determination to build up their town and a pledge was prepared. It was signed and kept by every man and woman in Seattle. It was to this effect: "That I pledge myself to buy nothing on the outside that can be purchased from the business men of Seattle." If a similar pledge was kept here, the town would be benefitted thousands of dollars yearly.

SPREADS LIKE WILDFIRE.

When things are "the best" they become "the best selling." Abraham Hare, a leading druggist of Belleville, O., writes: "Electric Bitters are the best selling bitters I have handled in 20 years." You know why? Most diseases begin in disorders of stomach, liver, kidney, bowels, blood and nerves. Electric Bitters tones up the stomach, regulates liver, kidneys and bowels, purifies the blood, strengthens the nerves, hence cures multitudes of maladies. It builds up the entire system. Puts new life and vigor into any weak, sickly, rundown man or woman. Price 50 cents. Sold by Miller Bros., druggists.

STRATACONA'S HORSE.

Some Greenwood Boys Have An Exciting Experience.

B. S. G., a member of Strathcona's Horse, writing to the Victoria Times, gives news of at least two Greenwood boys, Lieut. Leckie, who is no other than Jack Leckie, and O'Brien, former teller at the Bank of Montreal. They are evidently having plenty of excitement. The correspondent says in part:

"About 15 miles from Lydenburg, on the Crocodile river, Transvaal, Sept. 3.—Since last writing Strathcona's Horse have undergone a daily series of exciting events, not devoid of danger. On the 30th of August the 3rd Mounted Brigade, which is composed of Strathcona's Horse, the South African Light Horse, the composite regiment mounted infrantry (under Major Stewart), and the Chestnut Battery, R. H. A., made a forced march over the mountains west of Watervalunten, in order to get on the north, and by destroying a bridge on the railway, prevent the Boars from gettting away, hampered as they were by a number of prisoners, taken at various times throughout the war, until the rest of Buller's column could come up.

On arriving at the foot of the mountains nobody would believe that a man on horseback could ever go along the summit, but we advanced some 12 miles with guns (field) and wagons, our object being to blow up a culvert in rear of a party of Boers in Watervalunten. On coming in sight of said culvert, an officer, who was detailed to destroy it, saw a party of men, evidently British prisoners, leaving the town along the railway in the direction of Belfast. Lord Dundonald immediately countermanded the order for destroying the culvert, and returning to Strathcona's Horse, sent Lieut. Leckie (with Sergt. Lockhart, Corp. Grogan and Ptes. Williams, O'Brien, Simpson and McKenzie all of troop 'C' Squadron), to proceed into the valley (thousands of feet below us) to find out what the enemy were about. The expedition savored of risk and excitement, for after four hours crawling along sheep trails, dragging their horses after them, the party found themselves in a ravine on the left of the valley, and a trainload of Boers streaming into the village about a mile from them. To retreat up those steep walls was impossible and Lieut. Leckie, observing a farm house some 600 yards from them, decided to lie low until dusk. The Boers detrained, took the train behind a few trees and set fire to it. Then they placed some pickets on the railway and road to the south, never suspecting that anyone would attempt to come down the sides of the valley, and Lieut. Leckie's party was actually inside the Boer lines.

At dusk the party took possession of the farm house above mentioned, and a guard was placed to see that nobody left the house to inform the enemy, and our men slept in a house for the first time since leaving Calgary.

At dawn the Boers all withdrew, and Lieut. Leckie occupied the village. The astonishment of the few occupants (non-combatants) who remained in the vicinity may be imagined, and still moreso the advance guard of General Pole-Carew's column, which arrived later in the day, to find Strathcona's Horse in possession. The officer in charge of the above advance guard, on hearing Lieut. Leckie's explanation, said: 'Well, I'm hanged, no matter where we go or what we do, you infernal Strathcona's get ahead of us.' Lieut. Leckie was told by Lord Dundonald, when he started, to make for any British camp he liked after finding out what he required, so he went to the main body, after assisting the infantry and police in searching the houses in the district, and many curios were obtained.

Two days later Lieut. Leckie rejoined us. The next advance made was towards Lydenburg, and whilst marching along the Crocodile valley we had a hot time of it. The country was far nicer and more picturesque, but very rough going for horses, huge dongas and ravines full of thick scrub, and 4 troop 'C' Squadron, being 'flankers' on the right, experienced many difficulties in keeping their correct distance from the main body. The field guns, pom pom and galloping Colt guns came into action about half way up the valley, as some Boer wagons could be seen retiring up it; a running action with the Boer rear guard was kept up till dark, with little results."

The same correspondent tells of the killing of four British Columbia men from Fort Steele. He says:

"Sergt. Logan, of 'C' 1, was sent to relieve a picket on a hill to the left, and taking four men he went to what looked like a British picket, exactly in the spot he had been directed to, but when within 300 yards these men proved to be Boers in British uniform, and after a quarter of an hour's fire Sergt. Logan and his men were all shot dead, with the exception of McDuff, who by luck had taken another trail to reach the post. The men killed all came from Fort Steele, their names being Sergt. Logan, Ptes. West, Jones and Wiggins. The bodies were found two days later."

A rich lady cured of her deafness and noises in the head by Dr. Nicholson's artificial ear drums, gave $10,000 to his institute, so that deaf people unable to procure the ear drums may have them free. Address No. 14520C, The Nicholson Institute, 780 Eighth Avenue, New York, U. S. A.

It is a matter of report that the Great Northern railway is about to experiment with motive power sapplied by streams in the Cascade mountains. In other words some portions of the line will be run by electric motors. Falls and cataracts now running to waste, can, it is said, be utilized by a trifling amount of engineering work. If this is so it is only in line with other economies that are gaining a foothold in the domain of business. Science is revolutionizing industrial conditions.

Ladies of Canada:

The world never saw such an exhibition of patriotic sentiment as the African war called forth.

Canadians, Australians and the splendid youth of Natal fought side by side with British tea planters of Ceylon and India.

Australia drinks the teas of Ceylon and India, while Canada already drinks their black tea. Drinkers of Japan tea should try their green teas. Up-to-date tea merchants (the Salada company, for instance) now sell them entirely on merit. "Middle-of-the-road men" are only waiting for supplies. While "sit-on-the-fence-men" are waiting to see how the cat will jump.

Ladies of Canada, we pray you aid the British planter.—Colonist.

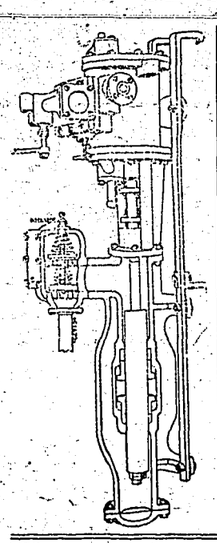
VERTICAL SINKING PUMPS

For Mine Duties



We can strongly recommend this Pump to those requiring its special type. The extreme convenience of the outside packed form enables it to be readily packed and taken up. The absence of the projecting valve gear is a valuable feature in avoiding breakages during hoisting and lowering in the confined space where these pumps are used. It is fitted with convenient suspending hooks and the piping arrangement takes up the least possible space. Mining superintendents and those interested in Mining Machinery would consult their interests by sending for catalogue and quotations before installing their plants. We manufacture Pumping Machinery for every conceivable duty.

We have given special attention to the construction of all Pumping Machinery required for Mine Work and also Manufacture any type of Pump for any Special Duty. Pumps actuated by Compressed Air, Pumps for Bad Mine Water, Station Pumps, etc., etc Catalogue and specifications upon request.

Among the cases being tried in the Supreme court at Rossland this week is that of the Wynkoop-Stephens company against Wynkoop and Stephens for $3,895. A. M. Whiteside appears for the plaintiff while Mr. Hallett is the defendant's solicitor. The Bank of Montreal is suing the Fontleroy company of Camp McKinney for money loaned, I. H. Hallett being solicitor for the bank, and A. M. Whiteside for the company.

Owing to the absence of Mayor Hardy in Rossland there was no meeting of the council held last Monday. Things municipally do not appear to improve any. The mayor is still obdurate in the matter of signing the Rendellsettlement on a $5,000 bas is and under the circumstances the plaintiffs will likely take steps to secure the full amount of the judgment $6,500 and cost amounting to over $1,000. Probably the mayor is anxious that the city should pay the additional sum.

The Auditorium will be run as a legitimate play house only. No bar in connection. It has been thoroughly renovated from top to bottom.

Special inducements will be given local entertainments such as amatuer dramatic and operatic societies, quadrille and glee clubs, church entertainments, etc. The house is fitted up with modern heating and lighting systems.
