Special to the Times.

WEST BRIDGE, B. C., Oct. 30.—John C. Rielly, of Greenwood, and Fleming Robinson, of Vancouver, late manager of the Oro Fino mines at Fairview, B. C., have just got in from their camp on Lost Horse creek, on the east side of the Kettle river, three miles below Canyon City, where they have been most of the summer prospecting and developing their claims, the Black Diamond and Maize as well as some work on three or four other adjoining claims, and are highly pleased with their summer's work.

The claims are situated up the creek about one mile in the bunch grass hills and are beautifully situated between the creek and the river; the claims are staked northeast and southwest, and the two big ledges run nearly in the same direction. On the Black Diamond at the discovery post, about the center of the claim, there is a double shaft 10 feet deep by 14 feet long and 4 feet wide, there the ledge is big and strong and is from 5 to 6 feet wide, but the capping has hardly been got through yet. To the northeast, about 200 feet from the lines between the Black Diamond and the Maize the Maize, there is a 14-foot shaft, and here the ore chute comes within a foot of the surface, but is only a few inches wide; the ledge has a considerable dip to the west, as in fact both ledges wherever defined. The shaft cuts through the ledge on the dip at eight feet and there is fully 40 inches of solid ore there. Arsenical iron showing considerable copper pyrites and a little quartz in places. The first sample taken from this place, at the time of discovery, gave $2 in copper gold and silver. Average samples taken since, has gone $8.30, $16 and $40, principally copper; the shaft here follows the footwall which is clean and smooth; 55 feet to the east of this shaft is a big cut four feet wide, 6 feet deep and 25 feet long, this cut is all in ore and capping. Accross the bottom there are three big reefs of ore, all having the same dips. They are from 18 inches to two and a half feet wide of solid ore of a similar nature as in the other shaft. Test pits above and below this cut have been dug for a considerable distance showing the ledge. Seventy-feet to the northeast of the 14-foot shaft is an 8-foot hole on the same ore chute, showing two feet of ore and quartz, and at the back of that some test holes showing the rotten capping; 200 feet still further northeast is another shaft 13 feet deep and here also the ledge shows strong, firm and well defined, showing clearly the wedge point up, at the bottom there is 30 inches of solid ore, a mixture of quartz iron and copper pyrites. About 40 feet to the west of this shaft some fine float was found and several test pits dug exposing large masses of quartz. The chute has not been found at this point but the capping of the ledge is there, showing plainly that there is one big ledge running right up the two claims at least 50 feet wide. Still further up, 1,000 feet or nearly at the upper end of the Maize, the ledge is again uncovered and a five-foot hole dug, showing the same rotten capping and some ore, thus the ledge is shown up for about 2,000 feet. The ground is all covered with wash from a few inches to eight or ten feet thick, as in fact are all the claims. On the Maize a big ledge is opened on what appears to be the foot and hanging walls. A five or six-foot hole was dug on each and open cuts showing the ledges to be fully 40 feet wide. the capping is big and rotten and ore in both holes was found close to the surface; about 300 feet further northeast the capping was found and 200 feet still further along the ledge crops again and about 300 feet from the northeast end of the claim the ledge is opened by two crosscuts showing lots of ore within three feet of the surface, here also the ledges shows fully 40 feet wide, with the same dip as the other. The formation is porphyry and the gangue calcite. Still further northeast at the dividing lines between the Maize and Columbia the ledge is again opened on the Columbia by a big cross cut six feet wide and 16-foot long which shows the ledge well defined, going straight back southwest along this ledge and right across the Black Diamond to the dividing lines between the Black Diamond and Anvil and just on the Anvil the ledge is again opened by a double shaft 10 feet deep; here the ledge started at the surface at five inches wide and at 10 feet it is fully four feet. The ledge is somewhat different to the others, it shows considerable sulpher, but no arsenic and the gangue is calcite and bornite and the iron is in layers all through and follows and lays with the dip, while the ledge is impregnated all through with copper pyrites and runs in little seams through all. The first shaft cut the point off the ledge six or seven feet deep and but little mineral of any kind was shown but since then the improvement has been rapid and an avergage sample gave $14.97, principally copper, with a little gold and silver. There are several other open cuts and test pits on the claims and there are several other places where croppings have been found that have not yet been prospected but enough has been done to put the property in good shape for a good company to take hold of it, or if not the owners now know where to sink and then crosscut both of those big ledges. There is any amount of good water and timber on the property, and a good road can be made from the wagon road to Canyon City for a couple of hundred dollars, and for nine months of the year the river does not take a horse above the knees and a good bridge could be put over for $1,- or $2,000.

[If the properties above described are as good as our correspondent's writing is bad, Rielly & Robinson have a bonanza.—ED.]

The wealth of the great Mother Lode mine is not yet fully determined. As development work proceeds new and richer treasure vaults are discovered. This week the north drift at the 300-foot level ran into solid chalcopyrite and is still in the same character of ore. The ore resembles that of the B. C. mine and runs high in copper.

Thos. McDonnell returned this week from Bolster, bringing the good news that the lower tunnel in the Review mine had encountered the ore body. The ore is richer than at the upper level and conclusively proves that the owners' opinion of the property was not exaggerated.

I. Robert Jacobs, the popular proproprietor of the Queen's Cigar Store, has purchased from Ben Kirkpatrick the Elmer No. 2 claim near the B. C. mine.

The 40-drill compressor of the Centre Star and its inter-cooler were tested yesterday in the presence of the engineers of the Centre Star company and of the Canadian Rand Drill company. The compressor exceeded in a large degree the requirements called for by the contract, and earned for the Canadian Rand Drill company a very handsome bonus. Manager Kirby and Engineer Grade expressed themselves as being much pleased with the manner in which the compressor operated. The compressor is of the compound Corliss type.—Rossland Miner.

REAPING THE WHIRLWIND

The City Paying Heavy Penalties for Wrong Doing.

HOW IT ALL HAPPENED.

Mayor Was Apparently Trying to Harass Political Opponents and the City Must Suffer From His Foolish Conduct — Litigation and Useless Work Cost a Big Sum.

It was a dangerous thing to clothe with authority, a gentleman who apparently was anxious to take advantage of the power conferred upon him, by virtue of his office, to satisfy political scores. It is also expensive. It was an easy matter for the mayor of the city to burden the ratepayers with increased debts in a vain effort to harass and embarass those who opposed his election. It was equally foolish on the part of the ratepayers to do or say nothing until nearly $20,000 must be the penalty for permitting the mayor to use the office of chief magistrate for the purpose of attempting to injure those who while they may not have considered him a safe man to entrust with the affairs of the city were still entitled to the protection of rights as citizens and ratepayers.

W. Waterland's success in securing substantial damages against the corporation of the city of Greenwood, is but the natural result from the policy which Mayor Hardy apparently mapped out for himself since first elected some two years ago.

In his first election, his opponent was Mr. Ralph Smailes, manager of Rendell & Co. Several citizens considered Mr. Smailes, the better man for the position, and in the exercise of their rights they strenuously opposed the election of Mr. Hardy. The majority of the ratepayers in their wisdom thought Mr. Hardy should be elected. They were entitled to their opinion and not one of their opponents thought they should be subjected to persecution on that account.

Mayor Hardy is constituted differently, however. Laboring under the impression that a political opponent is a personal enemy, his municipal career has been a series of efforts to punish those who opposed him. A flood of damage suits is the result. Unfortunately the ratepayers and not the Mayor Hardy must pay the penalty.

In the firm of Rendell & Co., he thought he had an opportunity to secure three victims. Robt Wood, Ralph Smailes and Geo. Arthur Rendell. The firm began business in a modest way in the city; they prospered notwithstanding the mayor's opposition and the time came when they were ready to build a large block at the corner of Greenwood and Copper streets. Now their manager, Mr. Smailes, being a prudent business man, took the precaution to secure the city grade from the then city engineer. The building was erected at a cost of some $18,000 on this grade.

A Machevelian autocrat found here a glorious opportunity to get even. The grade was lowered 18 inches below that given to Rendell & Co. The street was lowered leaving the building in the air. This was in itself an expensive proceeding but the effects were far-reaching. Greenwood, the cross street, has also to be lowered to conform with Copper street. The lowering of Greenwood street left the water main above the frost line. The pipe had to be raised and buried deeper. The flume constructed to carry off the waters of Twin creek was left high above the street and a new flume had to be constructed. That the grade was altered anyone looking at the Wallace-Miller block or the Bealey building in which H. B. Munroe does business, can easily see. Both these buildings were erected after Mr. C. Æ. Shaw gave the grade for Copper street and both now stand from 12 to 18 inches above grade. The Hunter-Kendrick block would be in a similar position but it came out in evidence in the Rendell & Co. vs. the city, that Mayor Hardy gave the city engineer instructions to raise the grade in order to conform to the Hunter-Kendrick building.

Unfortunately for Mayor Hardy's position and the ratepayers, the courts do not look kindly upon political tactics of this nature. Rendell & Co. seeing that their protests were unavailing took the matter into the courts and secured $6,500 damages together with costs. This with the costs of the city totalled about $9,000. The council affected a compromise with Rendell & Co. for $5,000, each side to pay its own costs, but the mayor is endeavoring to thwart the council in its efforts to secure a reduction of this fee for damages, by refusing to sign the agreement covering this compromise.

It is naturally followed that since Rendell & Co.'s block was left 18 inches above grade that of Miller Bros. on the opposite side of Greenwood street, would be similarly affected. So Miller Bros. also brought suit for damages against the city which will be tried in a short time.

So much for trying to get even with Rendell & Co. His next victims were to be Messrs. Wood and Galloway. They with the Canadien Pacific Railway company own the greater portion of the land above Deadwood street. In order to improve the party, at their own expense, they cut a channel to straighten Boundary creek, but in order to afford a good drainage for their lots it was necessary to keep a waterway free along the old bed of Boundary creek. Mr. W. S. Fletcher in building the Auditorium building made provision for this. Then the city began to grade Deadwood street. Under the mayor's direction the grading was about to be carried out without making provision for the culvert on the old creek bed. Mr. Wood went to him, pleaded with him, but the mayor was obudurate. Mr. Wood in his anger told the mayor a thing or two. He said: "I know what you want. You want to dam up what you call the swamp and next spring when high water comes you want to come down here and see water running over our property and then you can jeer and say and, "What a nice townsite!" Other members of the council reasoned with the mayor but the culvert didn't go in. Mr. Wood's words came true. In the spring of the year high water came and having no outlet it backed up and flooded the valley. The mayor was there and saw it but history does not state whether he sneered at the nice townsite.

Unfortunately again for the mayor's reputation and the ratepayers there were others beside the townsite and the C. P. R. affected. Mr. Waterland had built and was running a large hotel when the waters came into his house and yard, damaging his property. He began an action against the city and the mayor in his eagerness to escape the consequences of his actions of last year, swore at the examination for discovery that a stone culvert had been built across Deadwoood street. This evidence would in all probability have knocked the Waterland case into a cocked hat were it not for the fact that the city engineer was a witness after Mr. Hardy and he of course told the truth by stating that no culvet had been built. The result of the Waterland case is told in another column. Another burden is added to those already carried by the ratepayers. The most surprising part of the whole matter is that Rendell & Co. are still doing businees and the townsite company has not yet gone into liquidation. The mayor should either assure the ratepayers that he has satiated his appetite for getting after his political opponents, or the ratepayers should tell him that they do not care to put up any longer,

THE CITY COUNCIL.

Business Transacted at the Regular Meeting Monday Night.

The regular meeting of the city council was held Monday evening, the mayor presiding, and Ald. Sullivan Sutherland, Bannerman and Galloway being present. F. J. Deane, secretary of the Chinese commisssion wrote asking for information regarding the Chinese question as it affected Greenwood. The clerk was authorized to send information. Ald. Sullivan moved, seconded by Ald. Sutherland and it was carried that the solicitors be instructed to draw up a deed of transfer of property ccovered by alley behind Copper street and that the clerk interview the owners regarding making the necessary transfer. Andrew Leamy, city solicitor, drew on the council for $75 and the clerk was authorized to meet the same.

The council will take the necessary steps to replace crossings on Copper street. The Yale-Columbia company secured garnishee summons in the suit against W. Waterland and the matter was referred to the solicitor. Ald. Sutherland gave notice that he would introduce a by-law to make Silver street of uniform width by narrowing the street between blocks B and C and a portion of D. The council then adjourned.

WORKING TOGETHER.

ON March 1st, 1898. there was was a general election in the Province of Ontario. The Liberals who had been in power for some twenty years were almost defeated, the election being so close that for some weeks it was thought the Liberal government would be forced to resign. There was nothing in the record of the party that would call for the wiping out of a large majority and the writer of this article who happened to be in the east at that time asked a level-headed and far seeing politician why the election was so close: "What was the matter with the Ontario Liberals?" "There is nothing the matter," was the reply. "The Liberals of Ontario simply sat down and preached about their glorious record during eighteen or twenty years of power instead of being up and doing and fighting the enemy. They deserved a beating."

What is true of political parties is also true of cities. In this age of competition there is no letting up in the contest for supremacy. The records of past achievements are of little practical value in the present, nor in the future; neither are natural advantages unless exploited by united and determined citizens. It is present action that counts. Micwabers waiting for something to turn up because natural conditions are favorable never made a city.

There is a tendency in some quarters to make a division of labor in the upbuilding of Greenwood. Some are anxious that a few should do the work, a number should do nothing and a great many should sneer at the few who are endeavoring to work in the city's interest. This division of labor is not calculated to benefit a city. There must be a united effort. The people of Greenwood should take a lesson from the people of Seattle who are all the time working for Seattle.

These thoughts are suggested by the fact that in a short time there will be a splendid opportunity to bring the advantages of the city to the attention of outside business men. Early next year two smelters will be in operation here. The annual meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia will be held in the city, insuring the presence of representative business men from all the towns of the interior. In addition to this the local Board of Trade is arranging for a business men's excursion from the coast and elsewhere to the city. By united effort the excursion in conjunction with the meeting of the Associated Boards of Trade can be made of the greatest benefit to the city.

To insure success, concerted action on the part of the citizens is required. The local board of Trade should be made a strong body. It should include every man who is interested in the city. They should not be satisfied with a nominal membership, but they should be workers, and they should keep their dues paid up. It should be the aim of every citizen to do his part towards making the business men's excursion a huge success.

The panacea for hard times is hustlers and rustlers who work together, stand together and go ahead with some definite object in view.

TO BRITISH FOR THEM.

"PAMPHLET No. 6" quotes Sir Wilfrid Laurier's words in London in 1897 when he declared that if ever the empire should be in danger the colonies would be ready to help and adds, "this was a solemn promise and was kept." Then follows a furious tirade against the premier for his practical loyalty and his imperial policy. It is too British for the compilers of Pamphlet No. 6.

Sir Charles Tupper repudiates Pamphlet No. 6 tn Ontario, where it would never have been heard of but for the Liberal press, but he carefully avoids repudiating it in Quebec where it is intended to accomplish its sinister purpose. Such a straightforward course is too British for Sir Charles Tupper.

Sir Charles Tupper inveighs against the Laurier preferential tariff and demands a quid pro quo which he knows perfectly well is unobtainable at the present time. The Laurier policy has increased Canada's trade with Great Britain over 100 per cent in three years It is too British for Sir Charles Tupper.

Sir Charles Tupper has an anti-imperial pro-French policy for Ontario and the west. Through his lieutenants he is vainly endeavoring to revive religious strife also by telling the people in Quebec that the Manitoba school question is not settled, though his own right hand man—Hugh John Macdonald—declares in Ontario that it is Sir Charles will not lift a finger to assist in the work of welding together yet more strongly the diverse elements of race and creed which exisit in Canada. Such a course would be too British for Sir Charles Tupper.

Sir Hibbert Tupper took occasion to make all kinds of charges against the course of the minister of the interior in connection with the government of the Yukon, and against the personal and official character of those charged with the administration of the country. He has not dared to repeat these charges outside of parliament where the courts could reach him—nor has he withdrawn his unproved allegations made in parliament. Such a course would be too British for Sir Hibbert Tupper.

Mr. Foster compares the partial expenditures of 1895-96 with the full expenditure of subsequent Liberal years, and he also denies the authenticity of his own estimates prepared for presentation to parliament had his own government obtained a new lease of power. He refuses to compare Grit and Tory expenditures by the same rule and conditions. Such a course would be too British for Mr. Foster.

Hugh John Macdonald is an ultra-protectionist in Eastern Canada, but in Manitoba he is a free-trader in all matters where free trade would catch the farmers, He would take the last of the duty off agricultural implements, though both Tupper and Foster have declared for an increase. He dare not face the farmers of Manitoba with the policy he supports down east. He is not content with one consistent policy for the whole Dominion. Such a course would be too British for Hugh John Macdonald.

Candidates supporting the imperial government in its recent appeal to the electors did not hesitate to claim credit to the government for "the almost unprecedented prosperity" the country is enjoying. Tory campaigners ridicule and indignantly protest against any such suggestions on behalf of the Canadian government.

MINISTER OF FINANCE.

HON. MR. TURNER'S visit to the city should result in the government giving greater attention to those public requirements which are so essential in a city of Greenwood's size and importance. As Mr. Turner said, members of the government who never visited places like Greenwood, cannot have the same interest in matters appertaining to the city when they come up for consideration. It is only after a personal visit that a minister can appreciate and disscuss intelligently the requirements of a city. We feel sure that now Mr. Turner has seen the city and knows something about the people, we should have another ardent champion in Victoria.

While strong criticisms were directed against the government of which Mr. Turner was the head, there were indeed but few who did not appreciate the integrity of the premier. It is not to Mr. Turner's discredit that he has been charged with making mistakes as a politician, and while his political opponents found fault with the government which he led, it says much for his personal popularity that he was asked by both sides of the house to take the office of agent-general in London. Mr. Turner is well qualified to fill the position. He has a good general knowledge of the resources and requirements of the province, he is in touch with London financiers and has those personal qualifications that fit him for the office.

HON. J. H. TURNER,

The Minister of Finance, Visits Greenwood.

MEETS BOARD OF TRADE

And Discusses Many Matters With the Members—Supreme Court Sittings—The V. V. & E. Railway—The London Office and Other Subjects Discussed.

Hon. J. H. Turner, minister of finance, in the provincial government, paid Greenwood a short visit on Thursday last. J. F. Hemenway, of the Old Ironsides company, drove him down from Phoenix in the morning and he left the city by the afternoon train. Mr. Turner would have remained longer in the district but he had to return to the coast hurriedly.

Shortly after his arrival here, Mr. Galloway, president of the Board of Trade, and other members met him at the Greenwood club and discussed matters of local interest with him. Mr. Turner in responding to the welcome tendered him by the board expressed his pleasure at being at last able to visit the Boundary country. He had for several years wished to visit the district and was disappointed in so doing several times. He stated that the government was anxious to meet the wishes of the people of the district for business reasons. The encouragement os the development of a rich mining district such as this assured an increase in revenue. He then briefly referred to the condition of the provincial finances. While the revenue was coming in more freely than their expectations, the expenditure still exceeded the revenue by many thousand dollars. It would be unwise to float a loan at the present time owing to the unfavorable condition of the London market so that they were compelled to secure overdrafts from the bank. Under the circumstances they were forced to curtail what were considered necessary expenditures, but he assured the people of Greenwood that the government were anxious to do everything in their power to meet their requirements. He was anxious to have the views of the Board of Trade and suggested the appointment of a secretary to note the requirements mentioned so that he might be able to place them before the other members of the government.

After the appointment of Mr. Pringle as secretary, the local barristers made out what Mr. Turner acknowledged was a strong case in favor of sittings of the Supreme court here. Mr. Whiteside referred to the number of Supreme court cases emenating from Greenwood, and to the great expense to litigants arising from sending witnesses in local cases to Rossland. He pointed out that that it was an easy matter with a good railway service and the best of hotel accommodation for a judge to come to Greenwood. Police Magistrate Hallett pointed out the great expense occasioned by sending prisoners from here to await trial, bringing them back to elect speedy trial and sending them again to Kamloops if committed. There should be a suitable jail in Southern Yale, so that this great expense to the province could be avoided. Mr. Turner appreciated the force of the remarks relative to sittings of the Supreme court and saw no good reason why the matter could not be arranged. In reference to a jail, if Greenwood got a court house and suitable quarters for the government office, it would not likely get a jail.

President Galloway brought up the question of the V. V. & E. railway and Mr. Turner told what his government had done before being defeated. He was still anxious to see the road constructed, particularly the portion between here and Penticton so that the Nicola, Kamloops & Okanagan might be made a paying concern, thus relieving the province from paying the guaranteed interest. Mr. Dunsmuir, the premier, was fully in accord with his views on railway construction and next session a comprehensive scheme of railway construction will be introduced.

Mr. Turner also dwelt on the importance of placing the London office on a better basis and was pleased to learn that the Greenwood Board of Trade, as a member of the Associated Boards, had urged upon the government the necessity of action in this matter. He asked the local board to again take up the matter at the annual meeting to be held in January so that the hands of the government might be strengthened in their intention of making this office a credit and a benefit to the province. His own name had been mentioned in connection with the office and he was free to confess that as he was getting to be an old man, and had a general knowledge of the requirements of the province, he would like to take the office, provided he could arrange to take it. He gave his views regarding where the office should be and what it should do. He also agreed with the board as to the importance of the Glasgow exhibition and believed that the province should be properly represented there.

Mr. Thruston was present, and speaking as the representative of English capital, pointed out the uselessness of the present London office and the great need of one conducted along the lines suggested by Mr. Turner.

Mr. Turner also discussed the Greenwood hospital with Doctors Jakes and Oppenheimer, who were present, and promised to take the matter up upon his return to the capital with a view to placing it on a similar footing as other hospitals in the matter of government aid.

Mr. Turner, in responding to a vote of thanks, regretted that he could not remain longer with the people of Greenwood, but his colleague, Hon. Mr. McBride, minister of mines, would be here this fall and he hoped that he would be able to give more time to this important mining district.

COL. OTTER EXPLAINS.

Tells Why the Canadian Troops Were Ordered to Return Home.

OTTAWA, Oct. 25.—The militia department has received a report from Colonel Otter covering the events from September 8 to 14, which time the regrettable incidents referred to in the Toronto dispatch yesterday occurred. Colonel Otter in brief says the war office asked for information as to how many of the first contingent were willing to remain till the close of the war. No action was taken on the same day that the communication was received. The following day Lord Roberts visited the regiment and expressed the hope that all would remain on account of the bad impression their departure would make among the other Colonials. The day following, Otter says, he received letters from the captains of "C," "E," "F," and "H" companies, to the effect that all the members wished to return home. A letter was also received from the captain of "D" company to the effect that 32 of his number wanted to return and 12 were willing to remain. The result was that all these companies were ordered home, Lord Roberts expressing regret at the action of the men and intimating also that their service would probably not be required. Col. Otter gives the parade strength of the regiment as follows: 285 invalided to England, 35 killed and died of wounds; 26 of disease, 17 transferred, 780 in the field. Col. Lessard reports 113 of his command on the sick list. He also reports that the following have returned to the force after being sick: Privates Palmer, Wilkinson, Eagleson, Wancley, Harper, Simple, McDonald, Henry, acting Sergt. Baldwin, Lance, Corporal Bates, Privates A. and G. Richardson, Vine, Middleton, Fraser and Clendenning.

TORY LOVE FEAST.

CARLETON JUNCTION, Ont., Oct. 25.—Sir MacKenzie Bowell spoke tonight in favor of the Independent Conservative, Dr. Preston, against the Hon. Haggart and declared that the names of Haggart and others whom he would mention in their presence, stank in the nostrils of the Conservatives in Western Ontario.

In reply, Mr. Haggart read a telegram from Sir Charles Tupper today. "Have telegraphed Bowell urging him not to go to Carleton place. Wish you every success." Sir MacKenzie Bowell said he had received the following telegram from Tupper: "You must not go to Carleton Place. Think it will do harm." "He replied; "Must go; have promised."

HEAVY DAMAGES ARE

Awarded to Waterland of the Miners' Hotel in His Case Against the City.

Another $3,000 has been added to the city's indebtedness. The jury at Nelson decided that Walter Waterland, of the Miner's hotel, was entitled to this amount because his property wes submerged during the high water of last spring. W. A. MacDonald, Q. C., of Nelson, represented Mr. Waterland, while the city's interests were looked after by W. A. Galliher and Andrew Leamy. There was a big array of witnesses and the case occupied the time of the court from Friday to Monday evening when the jury gave the above award. The strong point in favor of Mr. Waterland was brought out in Mr. Robert Wood's evidence. When grading Deadwood street, the mayor was urged to put in an adequate culvert to carry off the water from the old Boundary creek channel, but this was not done and when the high water came it backed up and flooded the Miners' hotel. Messrs. Sansom and C. Æ. Shaw also gave strong evidence in favor of Waterland. Mr. Galliher made a brilliant effort to break down the plaintiffs' case but he was handicapped by reasons of not having sufficient time and by the dearth of rebuttal evidence on the part of the city. Even the city engineer was not there as his evidence in connection with the culvert would be fatal to the city. The jury's award is considered very high and more than meets any damages that Mr. Waterland sustained.

Mayor Hardy returned from Nelson on Monday and the rest of the witnesses came in on yesterday's train. The decision emphasizes the fact that the city is pursuing a suicidal course in allowing so many suits to be tried against it. The success of litigants will only encourage others and it is evident that municipal blunders will not be justified by judge or jury.

REV. FATHER PALMER

Presented With Purse and Address at Grand Forks.

A very interesting ceremony took place in the Catholic church on Sunday, 14th inst. The members of the congregation, gathered during the afternoon and surprised Father Palmer by presenting him with a well filled purse and a beautiful address. Mr. Rice opened the proceedings by remarking that as this was the last Sunday they could claim as their pastor Father Palmer who was to leave immediately for Spokane to assume the duties of his new charge at Main street church, the congregation had decided to seize the opportunity for expressing their deep appreciation of the reverend gentleman's good qualities and the noble work done during his three years sojourn in the district, and called on Mr. A. Sweeney to read the address, which was as follows:

"To the Rev. Wm. Palmer: We, the members of Sacred Heart congregation, learning with regret that you are about to leave this parish for a larger field, take this opportunity of testifying our lasting gratitude to you for the great and noble work accomplished during the three short years you have labored in this mission. We appreciate your great efforts to build up in this far west suitable temples for the worship of Almighty God.

"You have indeed been a pioneer, labored zealously to attend the spiritual wants of your scattered congregations, at all seasons and in all kinds of weather; we found you ever ready to go unparalleled distances to offer consolation, to succor some poor soul and to spread the gospel, until now we are proud to acknowledge that you have been successful in erecting beautiful churches throughout the vast mission.

Furthermore you have shown by special endeavors how deep an interest you have taken in our spiritual welfare. By words a great deal and still more by example you have shown us the way to lead good lives. In a word you have, like the good shepherd, gathered the scattered sheep, and infused hope and enthusiasm into our drooping hearts. At your coming the prospect was dark and cheerless, now, thank God, everything augurs well, also we rejoice to note the goodwill it was always your endeavor to promote toward our non-Catholic friends, and they with ourselves wish you every success in your future labors.

"Finally we all, old and young, form our heart of hearts, thank you, and will now ask you to accept this purse as a slight token of our esteem. May Gold bless you and grant you many years of health and strength to carry on your good work. Hoping that we may be particularly remembered by you when you stand at the altar of God, we are dear reverend father, your affectionate and grateful people.

"Signed on behalf of the congregation. D. H. RICE,
H. SWEENEY,

Father Palmer in responding expressed in appropriate terms his heartfelt gratitude for the kind feelings worded in the address. It was, he said, an unexpected and pleasant surprise visit paid him, and one he would remember with feelings of intense pleasure all the day of his life. They had, he continued, kept the secret well as none of the congregation had given him a hint of the pleasing ceremony in store for him. Spokane, he said, was not far away and it was his intention to yet spend with them many a happy day in the future as in the past by visiting them as often as he could. A presentation was also made to the reverend gentleman in Greenwood and in both cases he devoted the purses to the debt on the respective churches in each city. One and all, Catholics and non-Catholics, are filled with feeling of deep regret that Father Palmer leaves them and he carries with him to his new field of labor the heartiest good will, and kindest wishes of the whole district.

A FATAL ACCIDENT

Miles McNeill Killed, and N. Green Injured at the B. C. Mine Monday Night.

Miles McNeill was killed at the B. C. mine on Monday evening. He and his partner, N. Green, were working in stope when a heavy body of rock broke from the roof and struck the men. McNeill was killed outright while Green had his leg broken but is not otherwise seriously injured. Dr. Kingston was immediately sent for and upon his arrival at the mine he sent particulars of the accident to Coroner Smith, of Grand Forks, who did not think it necessary to hold an inquest. Mr. Green was brought to the Greenwood hospital yesterday and Mr. McNeill's body was brought to Gulley's undertaking parlors. He has two brothers in Butte, Montana. They have been told by wire of the sad fatality and the body will be kept awaiting instructions from them.

ANGRENAN-GENDRON.

A very pretty event was celebrated at the residence of A. Archambault of this city, last Monday evening when John Angrenan, shift boss at the Mother Lode mine, and Miss Albertine Gendron were united in marriage by Rev. Father Welch, of Rossland. The bride was given away by Mr. Archambault, while J. T. Bedard supported the groom. After the wedding supper the happy couple left for the Mother Lode mine where they will reside. They were the recipients of many valuable presents from their numerous friends.

The Greenwood Mercantile Review.

ISSUED AS A SUPPLEMENT TO THE GREENWOOD TIMES.

GREENWOOD, B.C., WEDNESDAY, OCTOBER 31st, 1900.

GREENWOOD

The Future Metropolis of Southeastern British Columbia.

THE LAND OF GOLDEN OPPORTUNITIES.

Manufacturing and Commercial Center of the Famous Boundary District--Historical Sketches and Mercantile Reviews of the Leading Wholesale and Retail Merchants

There are not many people who have not heard favorably of Greenwood. But the number of those who have studied the causes of the markable growth and development witnessed here are few as yet.

Greenwood though practically a young city, has long since ceas- to be an experiment, and today is recognized as the coming city of Southeastern British Columbia. The pillars upon which its ultimate prosperity is founded are of a most substantial character, offering the staunchest guarantee for the city's ultimate brillant future. Strange to say the historians has used but little ink either examining into or discribing the history of this part of British Columbia or the City of Greenwood. Why, cannot be conjectured, not surely on account of dearth of material for the early history of British Columbia abound in legends and romances that outrival the tales and myths of classic tunes. It is a history replete with chivalry; of sturdy adventurers, of the Indian and his depredations and opposition to the treade of advancing civilization; a story of privation, starvation and ultimate success; a tale of men with hearts of oak and nerves of steel, who know no fear and who were the pioneers that blazed the trails, made the roads, found the mines, and made possible the glorious future that is even now unfolding its wings of gold and makes this both a heaven and home for all who seek the shelter of its hospitable area; and it is this city, so replete with everything that constitutes the nuclues of a great mining metropolis that we will endeavor to portray to our readers, that they may have some idea of its trades, manufacturies and industries, of our prosperity and of the possibilities of the future. In so doing the writer will make no pretentions to a flowery flow of language, nor exaggerated assertions, but confine himself as nearly as possible to facts giving statistics as they have been gathered from the best authorities from time to time and in writing of these so closely are we connected with the surrounding country that some discription must be given of that also. Therefore we will commence with

THE BOUNDARY DISTRICT.

The Boundary district comprises a country reaching from the divide or water shed between the Okanagan and Kettle river valleys on the west and Christina lake on the east a distance of some 60 miles, and from the International boundary line on the south to a distance of some 30 miles north.

This entire scope of country is literally covered with mines, prospects and claims, and while there are hundreds worthy of mention we will in this short sketch only speak of the most important ones. Commencing on the west side which is a little south of west some 40 miles from Greenwood, a gold proposition carrying some silver is the principal camp. Cariboo a mine in the Camp McKinney district is the principal producer and this mine has paid large dividends.

Then coming east and north from Camp McKinney to a distance some 30 miles from Greenwood is what is known as the county which is practically undeveloped. There are a large number of very fine prospects in this section. Many of them have a considerable amount of development work done and some of them have shafts sunk to a depth of 100 feet. Another very fine mineral belt is located about 30 miles up the main river from Rock Creek and about 25 miles from Greenwood at

CANYON CREEK

The ore here is principally gold bearing quarts and some fine assays have been received from this district. Coming farthur east the mines begin to develope copper and located some seven miles from Greenwood is what is known as

COPPER CAMP.

There are quite a number of promising claims in this camp, but very little work has been done. The King Solomen probably being the most developed, while the promises are that several of the other claims will be pushed in the near future. Then coming on east we come to laying only from one to three miles from Greenwood, here is located the famous Mother Lode mine, also the Sunset and Crown Silver, all copper claims and producers, the Morrison, the Buckharn, the Great Hopes, the Marguerite and the D. H. and Gold Bug group will be producers as soon as the is completed, which is now under construction and waiting for machinery that is expected to arrive at any time. We are informed from good authority that the furnaces will be blown in by the 1st or 15th of December this year. The Motherlode mine alone has 100,000,000tons of ore blocked out above the 200 foot level. This mine is owned by the British Columbia Copper Co., Ltd. and the smelter spoken of above ss being built by this company and is located practically in the City of Greenwood.

THE STANDARD COPPER CO.'S PYRITIC SMELTER

being erected three miles south of town will also be completed and receiving ore by aboue Dec., 15th, 1900. There are two other prospective smelters spoken of that people who are on the inside inform us that there is no question but will be built and receiving ore within six months from date, and as all the many camps surrounding Greenwood needs to make them not only producers but large dividend payers is smelting facilities, and as there is enough ore in sight to keep the two smelters nearly completed as well as the two proposed ones running for an indefinate time there is no question but the proposed ones will be a reality in the time mentioned. Returning to the different camp of the district we will now go north eight miles, there is located what is known as LONG LAKE CAMP.

Here milling and concentrating gold ore is found, the best known claim there is the Jewel, which is developed to a depth of 300 feet, has a large quantity of ore blocked out ready for the mill. Then eight miles to the north east is

SUMMIT CAMP

The best known claim there is the B. C., which is at this time sending out to the Trail smelter 150 tons of high grade copper ore per day. South of Summit and east of Greenwosd five miles is here are located the Miner-Graves group including the Old Ironsides Knob Hill, Victoria, Grey Eagle, also the Dominion Copper Co.'s group, the most important claims of which are the Brooklyn, Stemwinder, Idaho and Rawhide; and the Snowshoe, Gold Drop and War Eagle each owned by a seperate Co., and there are other promising claims in this camp which we have not space to mention. The Ironsides and Knob Hill are smelting 600 tons of ore per day. Then again going east we come to eight miles east of Greenwood, here we find high grade gold copper ore, with several promising claims and three properties shipping, the Golden Crown, the Winnipeg and the Athelstan about 12 cars of ore per week. Then to the south about 10 miles from Greenwood we come to

CENTRAL CAMP.

The present producers here are the Lincoln and City of Paris. Then coming nearer the City we come to three miles south, which is a very fine group, consisting of the Republic, the Nonsuch and the Last Chance. which have large bodies of ore nearly ready for the smelter. Then laying on the eastern slope of Boundary Creek, these veins are small high-grade silver, and gold leads. Then to the north is some eight miles up Boundary Creek from Greenwood, these mines all have large bodies of low grade copper ore.

PROVIDENCE AND SKYLARK CAMPS

Besides the mining interests this section of the country has large interests. The mountains are covered with a luxurant growth of fur, pine and tamarack, there also being a little to the west of us one of the finest cedar belts in British Columbia. There are numerous saw mills scattered over the entire district employing a large force of men in chopping and logging, and millions of feet of lumber are produced each year besides the enormous amount of timbers required for the mines, and in the different camps and towns are numerous plaining mills, sash and door factories, etc. The lumbering interests of this districts would in a few years alone support a town the size of Greenwood, and as the supply is almost inexhaustible, this industry is bound to continue to increase.

GREENWOOD

was laid out out and platted on the Dark Horse mineral claim in May, 1895. The townsite at that time was covered with heavy timber which was cleared off and the first work untertaken by Mr. Robert Wood, the townsite owner, was connecting the town by wagon road with the various camps in the surrounding country. Some lots were sold that fall and in the spring of '96 the town began to forge ahead. About this time Mr. Wood was joined by Mr. C. Scott Galloway and the Greenwood Townsite Company was formed, disposing of quite a portion to the C. P. R. Co., which was at that time contemplating building here, and which began running trains to this place in '99. All camps on the hills around the town are connected with this road by spurs from the main line. The principal ones branching off from Greenwood, which has steadily grown without any rush or boom until now at the age of only five years she has a of over 3000 souls. Every branch of business represented, several manufacturing establishments, a few solid wholesale concerns, two smelters, almost completed, good schools, several churches, a fine opera house, business men's club an incorporated board of trade, three banking houses and five investment companies hove local agencies here. There are two breweries, a fine steam laundry, there is also a Trades and Labor Council representative of the local unions, of the Miners', printers', carpenters', tailors' painters', clerks' and plumbers and iron workers.

Greenwood also has more members of the profession—medical, legal, civil and mining engineers, surveying, etc., that are bonafide residents of the city than any other town in the district. There are from here running to Phoenix, to the upper main Kettle river and its several tributaries, to Camp McKinney, Fairview, Similkameen and the Myers creek and Okanagan camps south of the International boundary line. Two telegraphs and two telephone systems. There are also two published in the town, The Greenwood Times, Duncan Ross publisher and manager, and The Greenwood Miner, J. W. Grier, publisher and manager.

In municipal matters the City owns its own

WATER WORKS SYSTEM

the plant being in excellent condition has a gravity pressure of 120 lbs to the square inch which affords ample protection in case of fire. We also have an excellent and whsle the chief is the only salaried member the rest being being volunteers the company is capable of excellent service. They are supplied with hose carts and hook and ladder trucks, the fire hall is located on the lower floor of the city hall building and is an honor to the City. We also have an

and while this is controlled by a private company the service is good.

Greenwood is very fortunate as regards

SCHOOLS.

They have a fine school building built by the government, the townsite company donating one whole block of ground for the erection of the building. The best of teachers are in charge and every educational facilities are afforded for children. We also have most of the represented. The Catholics have a nice building close to the school building, the Baptists, the Methodist have buildings and the Presbyterian and Church of England are preparing to build. All have resident pastors and are well attended.

We also have an exceptionally fine appointed which care for the sick and afflicted, people coming from all the surrounding camps for care at this place, It is owned and conducted by Drs. Jakes and Oppenheimer and has a full staff of professional nurses.

Most all the

are represented here, the Masons, Oddfellows and Nights of Pythias porbably having the largest membership. There is also a

BUSINESS MEN'S CLUB

which boasts of nearly all the most prominent business and professional men of the city as its members. They have a reading room. billiard room, writing rooms, card rooms and bar. The place is finely furnished and is acknowledged by all visitors to contain the largest selection of reading matter of any similar club in the province. There is also an incorporated

BOARD OF TRADE,

C. Scott Galloway, president; Duncan Ross, vice-president; and W. G. Gaunce, sec - treasurer.

The Dominion Government has its resident customs and inland revenue officers here, and the Provincial Government has made Greenwood the official centre of the extensive Kettle river mining division, and has its resident gold commissioner, mining recorder, etc., located here.

A supreme court registry has been established, and here too are held the regular sessions of the county court of Yale, and in the town is also stationed the chief provincial constable for the whole Boundary district.

The opportunities for investment and advantages offered are almost unlimited, and it is the writer's honest conviction that no better or safer investments, offering a surer or larger return on the amount invested, be it large or small, can be found today on the North American continent, than in Greenwood. When one comes to study the advantages offered, and take into consideration the importance of the location of Greenwood, in the midst of one of the greatest copper fields the world has ever known, property is redicilously low, and in real estate alone there is bound to be thousands of dollars made in the next twelve months. The place, as well as her mines, have been held back on account of railroad facilities, the great cost of shipping machinery and supplies, but now that the C. P. R, has built to the city, this has in a way been overcome, and the shipping of ore by some of the mines, the building of two and the starting of two more smelters is the result, and from now on the place as well as mines will advance more rapidly. There is also a proposed to connect Greenwood with Phoenix, and to ultimately be built to Deadwood camp on the west, Long Lake camp on the north and Summit camp on the north-east. This road from Greenwood to Phoenix at least will be built the coming year, and it is almost a certainty that the C. P. R. will commence work on the Crow's Nest pass road from Greenwood on through to Vancouver, passing through the Similikameen and Okanagan country, and making them tributary to Greenwood from a wholesale standpoint. It is also expected that the will build into the city within a year or two at most. Several surveying parties have been out and we are informed that, some portions of the road have been located.

CLIMATE.

Nature in forming this part of British Columbia seemed to have had the purpose in view of making a residence place for surrounding country of Greenwood apparently hemmed in on all sides by mountains, blizzards or windstorms are unknown as well as severe cold, it is true that the thermometer sometimes for a few hours or a few days will drop as low as 20 and sometimes 30 degrees below but it is soon over and the atmosphere is so light and dry that the cold is not felt the same as in lower altitudes and while there is considerable snow there are days and days of beautiful weather even during the winter. The summers are simply delightful. never do we experience extreme heat. The summer and falls are the most beatiful sunshine interspersed with refreshing showers. The nights are always cool and pleasant, the atmosphere the year around is very invigorating, inspiring one with energy, thrilling every pulsation, brightening the intellect and infusing enterprise and ambition into every part of the body.

What Denver is to Colorado and what Butte city is to Silver Bow county, Montana. Greenwood will be to the Boundary district.

Greenwood is and will continuc to be the commercial as well as the mining and manufacturing centre of all this great district with lumbering interests enough alone to create a city and mineral wealth sufficient to create an empire. Now look to the hundreds of mines in this district all producing and the thousands of miners at work. Then imagin if you can the smelters and mills and the army of labor required to reduce this vast amount of ore from the mines. The large wholesale establishments, the manufacturing plants, coupled with every industry that it will require to supply the wants of this great section. Imagine all these, we ask you. in our flourishing city, with street railways and all modern improvements, and you will see Greenwood as she will be in a dozen years from now, if not sooner. In this we may be accused of exaggeration, but Greenwood need only be seen to be appreciated, and we have followed the settling of new countries from the Missouri river to the Pacific coast, and have seen these things accomplished; yet we are free to say we have never seen a country or a town under the sun with the natural resources and offering the opportunities that does this section in common, and Greenwood in particular.

And as a fitting conclusion to the foregoing, and to give final emphasis to the grand truths concerning the importance of the trade, commerce and manufacturing of Greenwood and to the country at large, we now ask the privilege of introducing to all our readers the representative business establishments of the city. And in so doing we flatter ourselves that a more satisfactory leave taking could not be conceived, for unquestionably there must be a stong desire on the part of those into whose hands these papers fall, to become more thoroughly familiar with the individual character of a community that evinces such a spirit of modern day progressiveness and courageously pushes aside every obstacl ethat dares to obstruct the fruition of its ambition to become prominent through the arts of peace and industry.

PAUL JOHNSON.

Manager and Superintendent of the British Columbia Copper Co., Ltd., Smelter Works.

There is no position connected with mining on which rests more responsibility, and the demands of which are more exacting, than that of constructing manager and superintendent of a smelter works. Under his directions the building is constructed, the machinery is put in place, and on his knowledge and experience depends the success of the plant as well as the returns from an investment reaching into the hundreds of thousands of dollars.

Among the smelter experts of British Columbia, few, if indeed any, have had a wider or more valuable experience in this line than the subject of this sketch, Mr. Paul Johnson, manager and superintendent of the British Columbia Copper Co., Ltd., smelter works, now under construction in this city. Mr. Johnson is a graduate of the school of practical experience, having made a life's study of copper properties, and is today considered to be one of the best posted smelter men on the continent. This gentleman is a native of Sweden, going from his land of birth first to Germany, then to the United States, and for over twenty years since that time has been building and superintending different smelters and copper plants. His first engagement after going to the United States was with the Oreford Copper Co., in New York. From there he accepted a position with the Ely Copper and Smelting Co., of Vermont. After filling this position for a number of years, with credit to himself and profit for the company, he was induced to accept a position as assistant superintendent at the El Paso Smelting Works, in Texas. From there he was superintendent for the Kansas City Smelting and Refining Co. While managing this property he was induced to undertake the construction of the Ibex Smelter, in Utah. After constructing this smelter, he built the Hall Mines Smelter, at Nelson, which was the first copper smelting works errected in British Columbia, and from there undertook the management of the Guggenheim Smelting Co's. plant at Agues Culientes, Old Mexico. After getting this property in excellent condition, he was induced to go to California, and there constructed the California Smelting Co's works, and when the British Columbia Copper Co., Ltd., decided to construct their plant in this city Mr. Johnson was engaged to build and superintend this plant which he is now engaged upon.

Mr. Johnson met his fate some seven years ago in New York and was married there, and now has two lovely daughters. His residence and office is located in Greenwood, close to the smelter he is constructing. and which is now ready for the machinery, which is expected to arrive at any time. Mr. Johnson expects to have this plant in operation by the first or middle of December of the present year. Mr. Johnson's wide acquaintance with mining men, and his native suavity and agreeable manners, have made for him many friends and his popularity in Greenwood is beyond dispute. His varied experiences in mining and his knowledge of the great smelting industry in all its prases, make him a very entertaining and instructive talker and his social disposition brings him into ready touch with his fellows. The Review, in wishing this gentleman many years continuance of his chosen occupation, utters the sentiment of the entire community.
