NOT DECIDED

DOMINION COPPER COMPANY HAVE NOT DECIDED ON SMELTER SITE.

THE RAILWAY SITUATION

Must be Determined First — Hugh Sutherland was in the City, Goes East to Consult Associates.

James Breen managing director of the Dominion Copper Company, and Hugh Sutherland McKenzie & Mann's representative were in Greenwood on Tuesday. Mr. Breen accompanied by Mayor Rumberger went down the line to Midway ostensibly searching for smelter sites, and Mr. Sutherland took the afternoon train for Nelson where he is a witness in a supreme court case.

Mr, Sutherland rgretted that he had not further time to remain in Greenwood as there were several matters connected with the smelters and railways upon which he wished to gather further information. He represented McKenzie & Mann at Victoria during the recent railway fight and is naturally disappointed at government policy. Asked by a Times representative regarding the future movements of the V. V. & E. Mr. Sutherland stated that that would be definitely decided at a meeting shortly to be held in Toronto but they would build some miles of railway this year. He knew nothing of Mr. Kennedy's plans but they would be considered at the Toronto meeting and realizing that Greenwood was geographically an important point he felt sure that it would not occupy an insignificent place on the V. V. & E. map.

James Breen was not so communicative as Mr. Sutherland. Personally he is a prince among good fellows but a newspaper man in a newspaper capacity is his bete noir. "Where are you going to build yourself Mr. Breen" was the first question asked. "If you can tell me where the smelter is to be built I'll give you a bonus" was the reply. "If you allow the citizens of Greenwood to select the site they will give you a bonus." This inducement did not draw him out and the site for the smelter remains undecided.

"I am going west" he said "to Okanagan Lake or somewhere where they have plenty of water he added jokingly. He went as far as Midway but whether he decided on a site or not is not known.

"I would like to get a two column story Mr. Breen. You konw we are interested in your movements," the newspaper man ventured. "You'll have to blindfold and get with a pump if you do. Come and take a drink" and the interview was at an end.

The following additional information appeared in the Phoenix Pioneer of last week.

Mr. Breen has the reputation among newspaper men of being the hardest man in the province to interview, and he himself says that he is not lookihg for any advertising through the press or otherwise, but believes in letting the work show for itself when the properties arrive at the shipping stage, and something tangible can be shown in the way of tonnage. It is a pity there are not more men who, like Mr. Breen, do there mining in the ground, instead of on paper or with their mouths. After being warned that Mr. Breen would say nothing the Pioneer man called on him and found him at the Brooklyn engine house, where the new compressor is now being installed.

Asked as to how the Brooklyn, Stemwinder, Rawhide and Idaho were showing up since he had taken hold of the properties for development, Mr. Breen stated that he was more than satisfied. In fact the result had more than equalled his expectations. It was very satisfactory indeed. As is well known, splendid ore bodies have been opened up in the Brooklyn, Rawhide and Stemwinder, and the Idaho is not far, if any, behind.

It is the intention of the management to begin shipments some time this year, when the properties being developed were in a position to maintain an output steadily, and when additional railway facilities are afforded, which would undoubtedly be some time this year.

Mr. Breen stated that the location of the site for the 500-ton smelter, which the Dominion Copper Co., will build for the reduction of their own ores, had not yet been definitely settled, but it would be in a short time. Several sites were now under consideration, and a selection would be made before long and the active work of construction started this summer. As to whether it would be a custom smelter, Mr. Breen did not think that there was much custom ore to be obtained in the Boundary, as large properties must have their own reduction works. However, he expected to get considerable ore tonnage from the mines at Republic, and the smelter would be located with that end in view. It is expected that it will be built some point on the Kettle river, on this side of the line.

V. V. & E. IN PHOENIX.

Last Saturday Chief Engineer Kennedy, of the V. V. & E. surveying party, was in Phoenix in consultation with Mr. Breen in regard to the company's operations in Phoenix. As Mann, McKenzie & Co., with J. J. Hill, are the owners of the V., V. & E. charter, it goes without saying that they will undoubtedly build to their own mines in Phoenix, to secure the ore tonnage of the Brooklyn group. Preliminary lines have been run to Phoenix from both Carson and Midway, but it has not yet been decided which rout will be taken advantage of. The track can be brought in eithe way, and it would be a simple matter to reach the Knob Hill mine also with a switchback if necessary. At any rate, it is a settled thing that the line will be built this year, and the depot will probable be located on the Idaho flat.

LOCATION FOR LARGE MACHINERY PLANT

It has been practically decided that the large permanent plant for the operation of the Brooklyn, Stemwinder and Idaho will be located on the Idaho ground, on the flat below where the present Idaho hoist is situated. The compressor now being installed at the plants now in use, will answer for development purposes for the time being, but when the properties begin to ship steadily to the company's own smelter, it is expected that a machinery plant commensurate with the plans of the management of the company will be installed.

WILL PLAT TOWNSITE AT ONCE.

Mr. Breen stated that the directors of the company had decided to plat a portion of the ground held by them without further delay, and that it would be placed on the market as soon as it is surveyed into town lots and the necessary formalities gone through with. It was the expectation of the management to lay out two streets which will connect with the streets already laid out in the Old Ironsides townsite, and also with those in the Rumberger townsite, thereby making the connecting link that would join the whole corporation. Portions of the surface of the Brooklyn, Stemwinder, Idaho and Standard claims will be surveyed for this purpose.

THE MORRISON

A MEETING OF DISSATISFIED LOCAL SHAREHOLDERS.

WHY ROBERTS RESIGNED.

Shareholders Determined to Secure an Extraordinary General Meeting of the Company.

Tuesday evening at the office of H. M. Keefer local dissatisfied shareholders in the Morrison Mines, limited, held a meeting at which 216,000 shares were represented. Previous to the meeting being called to order W. T. Smith was requested to give the reason why E. J. Roberts of Spokane, formerly president of the company had so abruptly resigned. Mr. Smith in reply stated that he was in receipt of a letter from Mr. Roberts giving as his reason for resigning that the dircctors, during his absence from the city, had levied assessments Nos. 10 and 11, and, that on his return and hearing of the action taken he had expressed his indignation at the action and tendered his resignation.

The meeting was called to order by Julius Elrich being appointed to the chair. C. W. Vedder was elected permanant secretary. The chairman, for the benefit of stockholders not present at the first meeting read a synopsis of the proceedings and called upon H. M. Keefer, a member of the committee appointed at that meeting to make a report.

Mr. Keefer outlined the work done by his committee on the advice of J. P. Myers-Gray whom the committee engaged to attend to the necessary legal formalities. A formal demand had been made at the local office of the company for the examination of the books and for an extraordinary general meeting. The books were in Spokane being made up. The committee had instructed A. G. Hanauer, a broker, to apply in person at the head office to inspect the books. This had been done but the directors refused Hanauer permission to examine them. A summons was next taken out, affidavits procured and an application made to Hon. Justice Drake of the supreme court for a temporary injunction. On the 16th his lordship signed the following injunction :

"It is ordered that the defendants the Morrison Mines, limited, (Non-Personal Liability) and the directors thereof be, and they are and each of them hereby restrained from levying or collecting the assessments of the said company numbers 10 and 11 mentioned in their notice of assessment dated the 23rd day of April, 1901. or otherwise proceeding against the said company under the said assessment notice, for the space of fifteen days from the date hereof, with liberty to all parties in the meantime to apply on forty-eight hours notice."

George Collins, another member of the committee, explained that the object of obtaining the injunction was to allow shareholders not registered to transfer stock so that they could have a voice in any meeting called by the directors or by the court. If company had called a meeting previous to obtaining this injunction they would have no voice or vote. It was now proposed to obtain signatures to a petition addressed to the directors calling upon them to hold an extra-ordinary general meeting in Greenwood. For this purpose at least one-fifth of the shareholders, registered on the books, were necessary to compel a meeting being called. If the directors refused this request, which he considered a most reasonable one, the courts would be appealed to and an order obtained for the holding of such a meeting. On Monday a second demand had been made at the local office to examine the books, but the same were not back from Spokane. Mr. Hanauer was also directed to apply for an inspection, but a second time had been met with a refusal. It looked to him as though the directors did not want anyone to see the books and he asked his hearers to draw their own conclusions. A l the local shareholders wanted was their rights for an examination of the affairs of the company and a meeting to be called in this city. This the directors had seen fit to ignor and there was nothing else but to appeal to the courts.

C. W. Vedder reiterated his former demand made at the first meeting for a change of management, and the chairman suggested that E. J. Roberts should be asked to again take the presidency.

Mr. Gray was called upon and explained fully the proceedings leading up to the obtaining of the injunction. It meant a stay for 15 days within which time local shareholders could get certificates made out in their own name and he requested those present who were shareholders to sign a requisition for a general meeting.

On motion it was decided to draw up and send to all shareholders a circular letter setting forth the stand being made by local shareholders and appealing for co-operation. In this connection George Collins was appointed to obtain all the proxies of those favourable to the stand being taken by local shareholders.

The chairman in his closing remarks pointed out that the gathering was not for the purpose of reflecting anything of a personal nature on the management. It was simply a business proposition to find out just what money had been received and how it had been expended. To do this the books must be examined and a thorough accounting made. He asked for a list of stock represented and it was found that 216,000 shares could be obtained here, beside proxies from out of town stockholders. After the appointment of a committee to draft the circular letter to be sent stockholders the meeting adjourned.

"TWA HOURS AT HAME."

Mr. Spence and Miss McDonald are Capital Entertainers.

Scotsmen were enthused and all lovers of good music charmed by Gavin Spence and Flora McDonald at the Auditorium on Thursday evening last. The audience was a large one and the vigorous encores given every number were eloquent tributes to the merit of the entertainment.

The concert was a two hour delineation of Scottish character. Both were dressed in the Scottish costume. Mr. Spences introductory remarks cleverly protrayed Scottish peculiarities. He is an inimitable story teller and even chestnuts appeared witty and entertaining. Blessed with a powerful tenor voice, he enthused plegmatic Greenwoodites with the stirring notes of "a Hundred Pipers." and other Scottish songs. Miss McDonald has a winsome stage presence and is a clever dancer. The "Shan Trews" always a pretty dance and was particularly garceful as given by Miss McDonald. She has a sweet tenor voice and in her solos and duets with Mr. Spence she was throughly appreciated by the audience. For the duets Miss Flesher kindly acted as accompanist To Scotsmen particularly the night was a most enjoyable one but the merits of the concert were sufficient to captivate those who are not Jock Tamson's bairns, and should Mr. Spence and Miss McDonald ever return to Greenwood they will be warmly welcomed by those who appreciate merit.

BOLD ROBBERY

SAM LARSEN'S HOTEL AT ROCK CREEK HELD UP.

LARGE SUM SECURED.

Twe Men With Guns Take Possession and Relieve Men of Cash—Robbers Make Good Their Escape.

One of the most daring robberies in the history of the interior took place on Saturday night when two men armed with guns held up S. T. Larsen, proprietor of the Riverside hotel at Rock Creek, and other men present and relieved them of a large amount of cash. Mr. Larsen, Dresser, Peterson and the blacksmith at Rock Creek were in the bar until about 9:30 Saturday evening when they decided to go into the parlor to listen to some music on the piano. No sooner had they seated themselves than two masked men armed with pistols entered the rooms and ordered them to throw up their hands. Mr. Larsen thinking they were fooling, joked about the matter but the larger man of the two pointed the gun directly at him stated they meant business and again ordered him to throw up his hands. Mr. Larsen complied and the smaller man reached into his inside vest pocket and secured a purse containing $400 in cash and several notes. Larsen asked that the notes be returned as they were of no value except to himself. "You'll get the notes all right" was the reply. Peterson was then searched and two or three dollars in cash secured. About $100 was taken from Dresser. The blacksmith was not searched. The larger man kept the company covered while the other proceeded to the bar and broke into the cash register. He secured the loose cash but overlooked $35 in bills in a back drawer. He then broke the telephone connection and ordering them to remain in the house fifteen minutes both men decamped with their booty. Next morning the purse with the notes was found outside. No clue to the robbers has yet been found.

CITY COUNCIL.

Business Transacted at last Regular Meeting.

Mayor Jakes presided and Ald Caulfield, Naden, Sullivan and Ross were present at the regular meeting of the council on Monday evening. City Engineer Johnson reported having received tenders for stumping Church street and other work in that vicinity as follows: C. H. Norris. $397; Home & Taylor, $306; W. K. Kirkwood, $275; R. F. Coates, $247; H. Monogan, $245; James Patterson, $230; Chappell & Schenck $190 and recommended that contract be awarded lowest tender. This was done on condition of a bond of $50 to secure city in case of damage. Mr. Johnson recommended day labor in laying sidewalks on Deadwood and Silver street and his report was adopted.

Rev. Balderson addressed the council re cave in on Skylark street above his property. Referred to street committee and city engineer.

Ald Caulfield, Sullivan and Ross were appointed a committee to inquire into hospital matters.

C, J. McArthur was granted permission to build road across the unused water works dam under direction of city engineer.

Ald Caulfield was appointed on the waterworks committee in place of Ald Miller who is absent from the city. The street sprinkling by law was finally adopted. The rate by law was considered in committee. The ordinary rate is 15 mills less one-sixth if paid before october 31st only one-third the value of improvements to be assessed.

Mr. Snodgrass was granted further time in connection with drainage from laundry in order that he might consult the provincial health authorities.

COMPRESSED AIR.

Compressed air recently prevented the suffocation of thirty-five men shut up in the New York Rapid Transit tunnel at 181st street, by a dynamite explosion which wrecked the hoisting-gear in the shaft. "The shaft at this point," says Engineering News, "is 131 feet deep and the tunnel only extended about half a city block each way from the shaft. At noon, on March 21, about 50 pounds of dynamite exploded from some unknown cause in this short section of tunnel, and one of the hoisting-cages was wrecked and the other was so damaged that it would not work for some time. The thick fumes of the exploded dynamite were suffocating the thirty-five men then in the tunnel, and the prompt action of Engineer John G. Mullen, who at once turned on the air compressors at full speed, alone saved them from death. The men lay for over half an hour face down in the tunnel and breathed the fresh air sent them by Engineer Mullen, while the damaged cage was being repaired. When the men were finally brought to the surface it was found that nearly all of them were burned apout the face and hands, and three were bleeding profusely from lacerated wounds. Most of the clothing worn by these men was torn into shreds. The presence of mind and the quick action of Engineer Mullen alone saved the thirty-five men from death."

Mr. E. Jacobs who has enjoyed a season of relief from finical criticalness is again a sufferer. The recent attack was doubtless occasioned by the excitement connected with the preparation of a comprehensive article on Mining in British Columbia for the Journal of the Canadian Bankers' Association.

WHERE THE FAULT LIES.

A wail comes from the Victoria Colonist. It is very angry because the Dominion government refused to co-operate with Mr. Dunsmuir in his railway policy. It points to the fact that Mr. Dunsmuir and Mr. Eberts went to Ottawa, made a strong case for the province, and notwithstanding all this, the Dominion government refrains from giving any subsidy to any British Columbia railway. It loudly demands for better terms and more liberal treatment at the hands of the Dominion government. Were the Colonist not so intimately associated with Mr. Dunsmuir it could easily see that the fault lies not at Ottawa but at Victoria. Whatever the Dominion government might have wished to do in the shape of bonusing B. C. railways, the absurd railway policy of the Provincial government effectually precluded the possibility of aid from Ottawa. Briefly Mr. Dunsmuir went to Ottawa to ask for the co-operation of the Dominion government in assisting the construction of railways to connect the coast with Kootenay, to open up the northorn portion of Vancouver Island and to give transportation facilities in the northern portion of the province. Mr. Maxwell's charge that Mr. Dunsmuir subordinated the two other railway proposition to his own pet scheme of extending the E. & N. railway to Cape Scott need not be considered. We will take it for granted that Mr. Dunsmuir honestly and enegetically endeavoured to interest the Dominion government in the general railway policy as outlined above. He called parliament together. His business government foreshadowed in a speech from the throne a business-like policy to aid in the construction of these railways.

But as the session advanced the unholy alliance with one Joseph Martin became more strongly cemented and the business like railway policy degenerated into a bewildering patchwork of makeshifts and clumsy expedients to place the mainland in the clutches of the Canadian Pacific railway and allow Vancouver Island to become still further absorbed by the Dunsumirian maw: In the face of public opinion, in the face of an almost unanimously expressed desire for railway competition, the railway policy was further exploited in corporation interests. The hand of Joseph directed and controlled the Dunsmuir business administration. He succeeded in securing the passage of the loan bill in such shape as completely fustrated the wishes of the people and completely balked those who were ready and willing to give railway competition.

Can the Colonest wonder at the Dominion government's refusal to hand over railway subsidies to encourage railway schemes that have degenerated from being business propositions in the public interests to gold brick schemes in corporation interests. The strength of the Laurier government does not lie in the private wealth of any of its members, nor because a fortuitous combination of circumstances foisted it on the public. It is rather because it represents public opinion and that it recognizes the voice of the people. It would have been unwise from a political standpoint and injurious to the public interest for the Laurier government to give any encouragement to a government who are responsible for the recent railway legistation. We will take the liberty of giving Mr. Dunsmuir a pointer. If he is anxious to secure the construction of railways that will be for the benefit of this province, if he can suggest a plan that will commend itself to the people of this province, let him take the represantatives of the Laurier government in this province into his confidence and we feel sure that they will will not be turned down at Ottawa.

It may be gratifying to the Colonist to know that British Columbia was denied railway assistance this year simply because B. C. representives at Ottawa pointed to the actions of the Dunsmuir government as a good and sufficient reason why there should be no co-operation. So long as Mr. Dunsmuir lends himself and his government to Joe Martin in order that the stormy petrel may secure what are in his and not in the country's interest, Ottawa will give him but scant consideration.

LIBELLING LAURIER.

Partizan politicians are not very particular about the ammunition used in carrying onparty warfare. This was illustrated a short time ago when an incident that took place in the house of commons was exploited in all the Scottish settlements in Canada with a view to prejudicing the Scots against the Sir Wilfrid Laurier. It appears that on the night in question a dinner was given in Alymer, a town at the end of a tramline about six miles from Ottawa. The jolly party returned about midnight and having piper Anderson with them they marched into the house commons to the stirring sound of the bag pipes. The house was in session and its leader Sir Wilfrid very properly asked that the playing cease. All over the country dispatches were sent to the effect that Sir Wilfrid objected to the bag pipes and as the pipes are dear to every true Scot this alleged antipathy is supposed to lose the premier many votes at the next election. Several years ago a similar incident was used with good effect in a campaign. At that time Sir David Macpherson was a prominent figure in Canadian politics and as he was a strong conservative he was a target for Sir Richard Cartwright's punguent criticism. Sir David's name was connected with one of the numerous deals that were exposed at the time of the Pacific scandal and Sir Richard in his wrath accused him of "inheriting the predatory instincts of his ancestors". Throughout the campaign the sentence was quoted as a reflection on Scotsmen in general and no amount of explanation would disabuse Scottish minds of this impression.

The recent incident at Ottawa has led to considerable discussion in the newspapers of the east, and all sorts of suggestions are made with a view to clearing up the charge. One paper ventures the suggestion that it would be a good plan to treat the Premier to some bag pipe music and see how he stands it. Historical evidence can be cited to prove that people not accustomed to bag pipe music become panic stricken when they hear it. It only recently that in Greenwood Gavin Spence told of the English in '45—

Dumfounded the English they saw, they saw;
Dumfounded they a' heard the blaw, the blaw;
Dumfounded they a' ran awa' awa'
From the hundred pipes an' an' an' a"

Were Sir Wilfrid placed under such a test he might exclaim like the English tourist of whom the poet writes when he heard the pipes:

The sassenach screamed and the sassenach danced;
He shreaked in his agony, bellowed and pranced;
If you really must play on that cursed affair,
My goodness! play something resembing an air."

The whole thing is a libel on Sir Wilfrid for did he not tell us in many a campaign that his nurse was Scottish and that he was proud of the fact.

Another railway which is not "political" is the proposed railway from Vernon to Midway. If built it would give transportation facilities to the farmers of one of the finest ranching districts of the province. It would give the farmers, stock raisers, and fruit growers of the Okanagan valley easy access to the mining camps of Southern Yale and Southern Kootenay—mining camps whose food supplies come largely from points in the meighboring state of Washington.—Nelson Tribune.

A RICH COPPER BELT IN MEXICO.

Mr. John Cavanagh, secretary of the Santa Anita Mining Company operating at Bolanas, Jalisco and Zacatecas, Mexico, in an interview with a representative of Modern Mexico recently regarding the copper belt which is now attracting much attention from capitalists said:

"The copper belt, in which the Anita Mines are situated, runs through the States of Jalisco and Durango in Mexico, and into the States of Arizona, in the United States, and is without a doubt the richest copper belt in the universe. It has attracted the Calumet and Hecla people from the United States, who have invested $10,000,000. The Rothschilds have between twenty and thirty millions invested; Phelps, Dodge & Co., of New York, have millions in copper, and many more millions are invested by copper kings from all parts of the world. I need say nothing of Arizona, as this State is famous the world over for its copper production. It is predicted that the greatest boom the world has ever seen in copper will come this summer. The copper mines of the world are simply unable to supply the unparalleled demand for copper, and the consumers of this precious metal are turning pleadingly with outstreached hands to Mexico for assistance. When we consider that the copper from this belt carries considerable gold and silver and the labor being so much less than in the United States, it can readily be seen that without question, it is to become an important factor in the copper world."

ACQUITTED

ROY AND DURRELL ACQUITTED BY VERNON JURY.

PHOENIX CHINESE CASE

They Were Charged With Unlawful Assembly in Connection With Driving Chinaman from Phoenix.

M. H. Roy and G. Durrel were acquitted at the Vernon assize of the charge of unlawful assemply at Phoenix. The jury were: S. C. Smith (foreman), W. Clark, J. Donaldson, D. Shook, C. Stickney, T. Hurst, T. Leduc, E. L. Morand, J. Genier, T. French, A. Evans and Jas. Grinton.

A. D. MacIntyre, of Kamloops, acted as private prosecutor along with A. MacDonald, and the defence was conducted by R. B. Kerr, of Phoenix. The case in brief was as follows:

On the 5th of January last John L. Parker, superintendent of the Dominion Copper Co., attempted to bring a Chinaman into Phoenix as cook in his private house. The unions of Phoenix had decided that no mongolians were to be admitted into their town, and upon arriving at the boundaries of the city, Mr. Parker discovered a barricade across the street, and he was stopped by a mob of from 300 to 500 excited men, who hooted him and unhitched his horses from the sleigh. He met a man named McBean, who acted as spokesman for the crowd, and told Mr. Parker that he was violating the sentiment of the community in bringing in a Chinaman. He was armed with a revolver, but it was taken from his pocket, the seat of the sleigh overturned and its occupants pulled out on the road. The Chinaman was escorted to the outskirts of the town and sent back to Greenwood. Mr. Parker swore that he recognized Durrel as one of the most loud-spoken members of the crowd.

Mr. Clive Pringle, a lawyer who is solicitor for the Mining Co., had preceded Mr. Parker in another conveyance, and was admitted through the barricade. He was present at the fracas, and swore that he recognized the prisoner Roy, who stood close to him beside the sleigh; although upon cross examination he acknowledged that his sight was not very good, and that it was pretty dark at the time.

The Chinaman, Rev. J. M. Millar, and Constable Darraugh were examined, but their testimony was of small importance.

On the other hand, J. P. Chenier, P. Prenevau, and the prisoner Roy, swore that Roy, who runs a hotel near the scene of the disturbance, did not leave the platform in front of the hotel, while the crowd was some 70 feet distant. Durrel acknowledged being in the crowd, but denied shouting or taking part in the disturbance, claiming to be present only from motives of curiosity.

Mr. Kerr, and the crown prosecutor addressed the jury at some length, and the judge summed up in an impartial manner. The jury was not long out, and upon returning brought in a verdict of acquittal for both prisoners.
