CLINTON.

Clinton, Jan. 13—Mr George Dunne, who was returning home from here yesterday, met with an accident not known how serious yet. When about two miles from home his horse fell on him and for some time he was unable to rise, but with the assistance of a gentleman who was near he walked to a house near by. It is hoped he is not seriously injured.

The man Weisner, who is in jail on charge of fraud, received a letter from Germany announcing the death of an aunt who left him $4000.

Weather mild and cloudy.

YALE.

Yale, Jan. 14—Mr Vincent Rombrof, an old pioneer of the colony and for the past 8 years proprietor of the 16-mile house, died yesterday morning. He had been unwell for some time.

Barnard's Express left yesterday at 10 a.m. with two passengers, one of whom is the engineer of the Victoria.

The weather here has been very changeable lately. It is snowing slightly now. The ice is all gone from the river near here, and it is reported that the blockades in the river below are now entirely gone.

Four slight shocks of earthquake have been felt here since Saturday night, the severest of which lasted about seven seconds.

VICTORIA.

Victoria, Jan 11.—The steamer Prince Alfred arrived last night at 7 o'clock. She brought 36 passengers, 140 tons freight, and 10 bags of mail matter. On the evening of her departure from San Francisco, at about 7.30 o'clock, an accident occurred resulting in the loss of one life. In a dense fog the Prince Alfred, under steam, collided with the schooner Wm. McGill, bound to Tomales, just off Point Keys. The schooner immediately turned on her beam ends and disappeared, having been almost cut in two. Her crew consisted of the Captain, Mate and two passengers. The mate, endeavoring to save his life, jumped overboard and was drowned, notwithstanding every exertion was made on the part of the officers and crew of the steamer to save him, life-preservers being thrown to him and a boat lowered as quickly as possible. The others were rescued and taken on board the Prince Alfred. S. W. Paine, one of the passengers, remained on the steamer and arrived safely here; the captain of the schooner and the other passengers put off in a boat supplied by a passing schooner and proceeded in search of the wreck.

Capt. Jolly and wife, formerly of the Fraser river light ship, returned yesterday from Australia. Colonel C. C. Lane and C. Prevost have also returned.

Dr Ashiwas returned by acclamation for Comox district on Monday last.

Four new punts are being constructed for the harbor improvements. They are smaller in capacity and consequently more easily handled than the old ones. Work will begin as soon as they are ready.

Victoria, Dec. 13—Eastern exchanges inform us that the contract for building the Canadian Pacific Railway would be settled about the middle of the present month.

A meeting of the settlers of the Saanich district will be held on the 25th inst. to take into consideration the matter of selecting a site for the erection of an Agricultural Hall for the purposes of the district.

Mr Alston, formerly Registrar-General of this Province, is reported to have recently died in England.

Mr Charles Going, formerly Superintendent of the Lane & Kurtz Co., Cariboo, died on the 20th ult. at Pioche city, Nevada.

It is reported that Governor Trutch will resign at the close of the present session of the Legislature. It is added that he is an applicant for a position on the railroad as Engineer or Director.

EUROPEAN.

Berne, Jan. 8—The Swiss Federal Council have threatened the use of vigorous measures against the Cantons of Villas and Breaus if the Jesuit masters are to be tolerated in the schools.

Rome, Jan. 8th—The pioneer Protestant Church of this city was consecrated to-day.—Several American clergymen took part in the ceremony.

London, Jan. 8—While Sir Charles Dilke was speaking on the subject of "Land and People," last night, a mob attempted to disperse the meeting, and a severe struggle ensued in which several persons were injured, and many windows broken. The fight lasted over half an hour and great excitement prevailed. Order was at length restered and the meeting brought to a close. A large crowd armed with bludgeons escorted the speaker and his friends to their hotels.

DEATH OF THE EX-EMPEROR NAPOLEON.

London, Jan. 8—A dispatch from Chiselhurst at 3 this afternoon says Napoleon is worse. It is reported that a meeting of Bonapartists will be held at Chiselhurst relative to the course to be pursued in the event of the death of the ex-Emperor. To-day, at 3 o'clock, the bulletin announcing that Napoleon was worse created much alarm among the members of his family.

London, Jan. 8—Napoleon died at 10.45 to-day.

London, Jan. 11—The Prince and Princess of Wales will remain in strict retirement at Sandringham for one week in respect for Napoleon.

Prince Napoleon and his wife, the Princess Mathilde, Cassegria, and a number of other Bonapartists, arrived at Chiselhurst; and when the Imperialists meet they are expected to determine on the course to be pursued.

Napoleon left two wills—one in London, the other in Paris.

Napoleon's remains will probably be buried on Tuesday next in the Roman Catholic church at Chiselhurst.

UNITED STATES.

New York, Jan. 9—A special from London says although the disease of the ex-Emperor Napoleon was regarded as very serious, the news of his death this morning appears to create much surprise. His decease was not believed so imminent. A dispatch from Chiselhurst last night stated his condition, and the news was forwarded by telegraph this morning but a few hours before his death. He passed a better night but his symptoms remained.

The following bulletin from the physicians who were with Napoleon during his last hours has just been issued:

"The ex-Emperor Napoleon slept soundly last night, better than previous night. This morning his physicians decided to perform another operation on him at noon to-day. At the time the consultation was held his pulse was strong and regular at 75 beats per minute. At 25 minutes past 10 o'clock signs of his sinking appeared; the action of the heart suddenly failed, and he died at 45 minutes past 10 o'clock.

New York, Jan. 8—Stokes was remanded to the custody of the Sheriff to-day, and he immediately placed deputies in charge.—Stokes was removed to the well furnished cell occupied by him before his sentence.

THE CARIBOO SENTINEL

SATURDAY, JAN. 18, 1873.

In connection with the formation of the new Cabinet, it is interesting to notice the course pursued by our contemporary the Colonist. A short time since it was abusing the then existing Government with an energy and perseverance that might have been much more profitably employed, at the same time holding out the olive branch of peace to its quondam enemy. Well, the coalition was successful, and what is the result? The new Ministry is formed and still is the Colonist dissatisfied, and he who was recently taken by the hand is now our "come by fraud premier." The whole personnel of the new Cabinet is subjected to the severest criticism, and jealousy shown because every constituency is not represented in the Cabinet.

Our contemporary says: "In point of importance it cannot be said that Cariboo bears the same proportion to the rest of the Province that it once did. It is doubtless entitled to a seat in the Cabinet." Whence does this great exponent of the principles of Responsible Government get the idea that districts are entitled to be represented in the Ministry? Cariboo lays no claim to anything of the kind. Does he want land and mines and beef represented? Do Gladstone, or Lowe, or Sir Francis Hincks hold their seats because they represent certain constituencies? Certainly not. They hold them because the electors of Greenwich, the University of London, and Vancouver district had the wisdom to chose as their representatives men whose abilities helped them to the front rank in political life, and who enjoyed the confidence of their Sovereign and the Legislature. Had Nanaimo been equally wise, we should have heard nothing about the "whole country stretching from Juan de Fuca to Comox, a distance of 200 miles," being unrepresented in the Ministry.

This notion that certain districts, or certain interests, agricultural or other, should be represented in the Ministry, is certainly a brilliant one. Carry it out to its logical conclusion, and what would be the result? Why, that the greatest numskull in the country, because he happened to be the representative of certain interests, would be entitled to be a Cabinet Minister. We have always understood, that in theory at least, that Ministers were the servants of the Crown. It is fortunate for us that in the late changes the Queen's representative had the good sense to choose the best available talent and ignore the pretension of needy demagogues who are anxious to destroy but know not how to build.

THE QUESNEL BRIDGE.

A petition to the Governor has been circulated in this district praying him to take the necessary steps for the construction of a bridge over Quesnel river. The means hitherto employed for crossing that river—a rope ferry, at no time perfectly safe, and sometimes highly dangerous—have been a constant source of annoyance and expense to travellers and teamsters in the upper country. At this season of the year it is impossible to cross with a team under any circumstances, the ice running sufficiently thick in the river to make it necessary to haul out the ferry boat; freight has consequently to wait until the river is frozen over solid enough to bear a loaded team. The only objection that can possibly be urged against the construction of this bridge is entirely a financial one, but we think it more than likely that private enterprise would overcome that difficulty if the Government would grant a liberal charter,—liberal in the length of time that the parties would be permitted to collect tolls, but economical, not to say parsimonious, in the amount of tolls permitted to be collected. That the construction of this bridge would be a great boon to the people of this district none will dispute. We trust, therefore, that the petition may be favorably entertained. Should there not be Government funds on hand to perform the work, let some such scheme as the one we have suggested be adopted.

DUAL REPRESENTATION.

The Legislature of the Province of Quebec has recently abolished this system. The Montreal Gazette, commenting on this action, has an article we should like to print did our space permit. The system, as it bears upon this Province, we have not yet had an opportunity of testing, but we agree with the Gazette that Provincial and Dominion Ministers should be debarred from seeking the double honor, "as it is unwise that they should have other duties to perform absolutely requiring their presence in another place for a fixed period of from two to three months." But in the case of private members it is a matter that might fairly be left to the constituencies themselves. The principle of dual representation has here as yet but few advocates, the period of holding the sessions of the two Houses, and the time consumed in travelling to the capital, having hitherto operated as a preventative to its development; but, as the Gazette says, "if in any locality a gentleman of unquestioned experience and ability, and having the necessary leisure to devote nearly the whole of his time to public matters, was willing to serve the people in both Houses, it is very difficult to see why the people should be prevented from accepting his services." We suspect that the fact of his services being required at Ottawa is the reason that our Premier has not accepted an office which after the session of the Provincial Parliament would require his constant attention; but even without such an office, questions may arise on which his advice and experience would be invaluable to his colleagues in the Council, and he may yet seriously regret that his duties in the Commons compel him to be absent from the Province for so long a time.

According to the London Laborers' Union Chronicle, a great scheme is in preparation by some friends of the agricultural laborer, who despair of any really satisfactory settlement of the land question in England, by which immediate practical and most attractive facilities will be provided for the emigration of at least half a million of the most useful agricultural laboring population of England. Should this be true, it will bring the farmers to their senses, and put a stop to the intimidation and threats now used towards those men who have joined the Union. Labor is not plentiful in many parts of England now, and the withdrawal of such a number of men would leave many farmers less than half-handed.

Death of Napoleon III.—Another of the eminent men of this generation has gone to his long account. Napoleon III. is dead. What a chequered career! A fugitive, a conspirator, a prisoner, President of the Republic, Emperor of France! only at the very pinnacle of his fame to be overthrown. Has he lived in vain? It would almost appear that he had. But whatever his failings and errors, he loved France, and during his reign made her feared and respected among the nations of the earth.

Brigham Young's New Departure.—The Mormons have just sent out a colony to Palestine. Brigham by this means gets rid of some of the more restless spirits that trouble him; he attempts to borrow a sort of quasi sacredness for his system from the associations of the "Holy Land," and opens an asylum in Asia for the "Saints" in the possible event of their being obliged to remove once more.

The people of the United States smoked 1,352,346,000 cigars in 1871, at a cost of $135,224,000. Including snuff, chewing tobacco, &c., the expenditure was about $250,000,000. During the same time but $200,000,000 was spent on flour.

Barnard's Express arrived on Tuesday evening last, with the mails and three passengers—Mrs Bowron, Wesley Hall, and William Forrest. The down Express left on Thursday morning.

THE CARIBOO SENTINEL

SATURDAY, JAN. 18, 1873.

BY TELEGRAPH

QUESNELMOUTH.

Quesnelmouth, Jan. 17—We understand that Mr Muir's connection with the Government office at this place will close at the end of this month, as from advices received by him to-day no sum will be placed on the Estimates for this office.

CLINTON.

Clinton, Jan. 17—The up stage left here this morning with a light mail and one passenger—Mr J. Arnot.

Weather very mild. We hear from Kamloops that stock are doing well. About ten inches of snow there.

Messrs. Arnot and Grant have rented the steamer Victoria for the ensuing season.

YALE.

Yale, Jan. 17—At 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon a man named David Oney was found dead in his room by a man, who immediately gave the alarm. It is thought he had been dead some time when found. An inquest will be held this afternoon. Oney formerly owned an interest in the ferry at Quesnel.

Weather here very pleasant; clear and warm.

The work at the Sisters' Rock is progressing very favorably.

Mr Keogan, in charge of two Chinaman who were committed for trial by Justice Haynes for selling liquor to Indians, arrived here yesterday from Osoyoos lake.

Yale, Jan. 17, 4 p.m.—An inquest was held on the body of the late David Oney this afternoon. A verdict was rendered in accordance with the evidence of Dr Foster, that deceased came by his death from bursting a blood-vessel in the lungs.

VOLCANOE IN ACTIVE OPERATION ABOVE YALE.

Indians report that a volcanoe commenced active operations about one mile above Yale, and on the other side of the river, last night. The stench of the smoke was felt in town by several parties. Nothing can be seen on the mountain top on account of the dense fog hanging over the place. Two severe shocks of earthquake were felt here yesterday.

UNITED STATES.

New York, Jan. 9—At Newhaven yesterday, at first annual meeting of the stockholders of the New York, Newhaven and Hartford Railway Company since the consolidation of these two lines, one of the stockholders charged that something like half a million dollars of the funds of the road was unaccounted for, but his resolution calling for an inquiry failed to pass.

New Orleans, Jan. 9—The Times to-day contains the narrative of Mr Saville, 1st officer of the wrecked ship Golden Head. He has just arrived from his vessel, which was wrecked on the west coast of Patagonia in June last. Fourteen of the crew spent 28 days in two open boats in the Straits of Magellan. They were compelled by starvation to devour the bodies of five of their companions who died from privation and exposure.

New York Jan. 9—The news of the death of Napoleon was received in Wall street without emotion.

Philadelphia, Jan. 9—At Norton, Pa., last night Thomas Carrar and three children were burned to death by the explosion of non-explosive burning fluid while filling lamps.

New York, Jan. 8—The compositors of the Tribune at a meeting to-day approved of the proposition that printing offices of the United States should each give one or more pounds of old type for the purpose of making a statue of Greeley to be erected over his grave, and ask compositors throughout the country to give the proceeds of one thousand ems, set up on the 3d of next February, the sixty-second anniversary of the birth of Greeley, the money to be forwarded to the President of New York Typographical Union, No. 22 Duane street, of which Horace Greeley was the first President.

New York, Jan. 9—Stokes' counsel are still engaged making bill of exceptions. Stokes says the exceptions number 28. The bill will be presented at the general term of the Court of Oyer and Terminer on Wednesday next. He has no doubt of obtaining a new trial.

Milwaukee, Wisconsin, Jan 11—Reports from C. N. Delrscon, of the Milwaukee and St. Paul Railroad, say sleighs succeeded in reaching the train snow bound between Carnover and Ridgeway, and rescued the passengers. Superintendent Prior telegraphs that there are eight freight trains snow bound between McGregor and Austin. The snow is packed so tight that the snow-ploughs have no effect, and it will have to be shovelled out. All that can be seen of some trains is the pipe and tops of the brakes above the snow, and nothing but the smoke-stack of one engine marks its whereabouts. The thermometer registers between 20 and 25 degrees below zero, and the wind is blowing a perfect gale. The men who went to the relief of the snow-bound passengers were badly frozen!

Boston, Jan. 14—Last night a fire was seen under a stairway of a tenement house, whereby all means of escape was cut off, but it was fortunately discovered in time for the inmates to escape. They consisted of two families.

San Francisco, Jan. 9—Phil Sheridan and Thad Stevens will soon run a four mile and repeat race for a purse of $2000, open to any horse in the State.

New York, Jan. 14—A London letter says that the retirement of Bismark from the Prussian Cabinet is really due to the difference between him and the Emperor on the Church question. The king became alarmed at Bismark's course towards Catholics, and declined further to follow him in his policy.

Salt Lake, Jan. 14—A dispatch from Little Cottonwood reports the snow to be eight feet deep and still falling. Several slides occurred during the week, but no one was hurt. Snow has fallen every day for a month.

Chicago, Jan. 13—Mail accounts of the recent storms in Iowa and Minnesota show it to be the most severe ever known since the settlement of the country.

New York, Jan. 13—The billiard match for the championship of America and a diamond cue was won by Cyril Dion. Score—Dion, 1500; Dillon, 1137.

San Francisco, Jan. 14—The jury in the case of Charles A. Russell for the murder of James Crottey returned a verdict of guilty of murder in the first degree.

EUROPEAN.

Paris, Jan. 11—The Gaulois says the only officers of the army who will be permitted to attend the funeral of Napoleon will be those attached to the household during his reign in France. It has been definitely decided that the funeral of Napoleon will take place on next Wednesday, at 11 a.m. The Royal Family of England will be represented by the Prince and Princess of Wales. Prince Christian also will accompany the ex-Empress Eugenie.

Rome, Jan. 11—In the Italian Chamber yesterday the Minister of the Interior introduced the death of Napoleon, saying the Government learned of his death with regret. It was impossible to forget Napoleon: he had contributed greatly to the security of Italy. The eulogium of the Minister was received with warm applause.

Paris, Jan. 9—Evening.—The news of the Emperor's death reached here at a late hour this afternoon. It is impossible to estimate the effect it will have on Imperialists. Of course they are profoundly affected, and appear to regard the event as a final blow to their cause. The only evening journal that has an editorial upon the subject is the Message de Paris, an influential opposition organ. It closes a brief article with the following tribute:—"The disasters which made a shipwreck of the Empire will not cause to be forgotten the great services which Napoleon has rendered the nation in re-establishing order and developing the prosperity of the country." None of the other evening papers had time to more than print without comment.

London, Jan. 9—In the course of a speech at the Devonshire Agricultural Chamber yesterday, Sir Stafford Northcote while declining to discuss the merits of the Treaty of Washington, declared he intended to support the policy of the Government in regard to it. He urged the speedy payment of the damages given by the Geneva Board.

Rome, Jan. 13—The Pope gave an audience to a large number of visitors from abroad, among whom were several ecclesiastics. He addressed the latter, complaining of the treatment the Church had received at the hands of the European powers, and ended as follows: "The Governments strike the Church, which is stricken as it first was stricken. It was the duty of the Governments to defend the Church, whereas they rather seem to destroy it and morality."

London, Jan. 13—The uniform of a Field Marshal, which clothes the remains of Napoleon, is the same worn by him at Sedan. The body will lie in state to-morrow from noon until 4 p m A political conference will be held at Chiselhurst on Thursday, when the issue of a formal proclamation from the Empress and the status of Prince Napoleon will be taken into consideration.

PROVINCIAL PARLIAMENT.

VICTORIA, Friday, Jan. 10.

The House met at the usual hour.

Mr Robson said it having been reported on good authority that Governor Ferry, of Washington Territory, has decided that the English settlers on San Juan have no rights as American citizens, and that foreign residents on that island who have not taken the oath of allegiance to the United States on or before the 6th of January are liable to have their lands and improvements forfeited, he therefore asked permission to move the following Resolution:

"Resolved,—That his Honor the Lieut.-Governor be requested by the House to take immediate steps to communicate with the Dominion Government in regard to the protection of those islanders who declined to forfeit their allegiance to the Crown."

Seconded by Mr Mara, and carried unanimously.

The Speaker announced the returns of the Lillooet election district and Mr Wm. Saul's election.

Mr Saul having been sworn in, was then introduced.

Mr McCreight's Victoria Water Works Bill was read a first time and referred to the Committee on Private Bills.

Mr Humphreys gave notice that he would ask that the land in the Chilcoten valley be laid open for pre-emption.

Mr Barnston gave notice that on Monday he would ask leave to introduce a Williams Creek Fire Brigade Act.

Mr Walkem moved, Mr DeCosmos seconded, that a Supply be granted her Majesty, and that on Monday the House go into Committee to consider the same. Carried.

Mr Semlin asked leave to introduce a bill rendering members of the House of Commons of Canada ineligible as members of this Legislative Assembly. Granted.

Mr Todd asked that this House now proceed to elect a new Clerk by ballot; whereupon Mr Courtney and Mr Davie were balloted for. Mr Davie was elected and took his seat.

Mr Smith asked the Ministry what course they intended to pursue in regard to parties having purchased lands previous to 1870 and paid part of purchase money?

The Ministry replied that they could not deal with the matter until after the 20th day of July, 1873, and that the Government had long since offered to refund their money.

Mr Walkem introduced a bill to make further provision to charge the election of members to the Legislative Assembly.

Mr Walkem gave notice that he would introduce a bill to amend the Municipalities Act.

Mr Walkem to introduce a bill respecting the Asylum for the Insane.

Mr Smith gave notice that he would introduce an amendment to the Game Ordinance, to establish protection to game from August 10th to Sept. 1st. The House went into Committee, reported the bill complete, and it was then read a third time and passed.

The House then adjourned till Monday.

Victoria, Jan. 16—The House met at 2 p.m.

Mr Beaven laid upon the table returns of expenditure on roads, trails and bridges in the Omineca district, remarking that full returns had not been received.

Mr Robertson rose to a question of privilege. He asked the hon. premier yesterday if the services of one of the Registrars had been dispensed with? He understood that such was the case.

Hon. Mr DeCosmos said that so far as he was aware no determination had been arrived at to dispense with one of the Registrars.

AT CHICAGO THE COW—AT BOSTON THE HORSE.—It would appear that two of our most useful domestic animals are fated to go down to posterity as the indirect cause of the two great fires that almost, within the space of a year, have devastated two of the chief cities of the United States. A kicking cow is credited with originating the Chicago fire, while the disease at present prevailing among the equine race connects the horse with the conflagration at Boston. As the animals belonging to the Fire Department were nearly all disabled, the Chief Engineer chose to let the machines be drawn by hand, and it took more than half an hour for an engine to reach the fire. As a consequence the flames were beyond control before an effort could be made to subdue them.

THE number of acquitted and reprieved murderers throughout the United States is rapidly increasing. It would seem that none but minor offences are punished with the full measure of justice. A great criminal commands the respect of the jurymen, or else they are merciful through motives which will not bear inspection.

AN INFANT PRODIGY.—Mr Bohanan recently killed a hog eighteen months old weighing 500 pounds. How is that for high!

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

LIGHTNING CREEK.

The Lightning co are building a 12-inch square pump to enable them to work their lower diggings. The Spruce are running a drain; last week they washed up 58 oz. from a few sets of timbers. The Pioneer co., a claim situate in the hill adjoining the Victoria co., have found gold. The Victoria co. are getting their new beam ready. The Vancouver co. have about two feet of gravel in the face and expect soon to be in the channel. The Gladstone co. have encountered very serious obstacles: they have been working very heavy ground, and last week it smashed in the face boards, thereby compelling them to run a new drift; as they had lost the rock, they will come back to the shaft and bottom up, and expect thereby to get into more solid ground. The Eleven of England co. will be ready to start work underground again in about two weeks.

JACK OF CLUBS CREEK.

The Two Sisters co. last week cleaned up 55 oz.; they are short of water for hoisting. It is to be hoped that the heavy snows that have lately fallen and the continued mild weather will increase the water sufficiently on this creek to enable the companies to continue prospecting. The Discovery co. were engaged last week for some days putting in a new belt, and made about expenses when they got to work underground.

HARVEY CREEK.

The Cummings co. washed up 43½ oz. last week. The Foster co are running ahead; have lost the bed-rock. The Minnehaha co. still continue running their drain. Other companies still prospecting.

NEW CANADIAN WORK.—We have received the prospectus of a work in five volumes, giving a complete historical, descriptive and statistical account of the charitable, benevolent, and educational institutions of Canada, both Catholic and Protestant. The author is Mr Stanislaus Drapeau, of the Department of Agriculture, Ottawa. The work, which will be in five volumes, with English and French editions, will be issued about June next, and one edition in each language will be profusely illustrated. A book of this kind is calculated to prove of immense public utility as well as to supply valuable materials to literary men. Subscribers—who should send their orders without delay to Mr Drapeau, at Ottawa—will have the advantage of getting the work at half-price.

THE wonderful progress made by Chicago during last year in recovering from the effects of the great fire affords encouragement to Boston. Compared with 1870, the receipts of grain have been 28 per cent. greater; the wholesale trade has advanced from $402,000,000 to $450,000,000, while the value of the manufactured products has increased more than one-third. The rebuilding of the new Chicago displays similar evidence of the indomitable spirit of her people. Nearly eight miles of permanent, magnificent buildings have been erected at a cost of more than $40,000,000, defrayed mainly by enterprising citizens, who never lost confidence in the advancement of their city.

ANNEXATION.—Some of our American contemporaries have an attack of the Annexation fever. What a strange idea it is in young countries this bankering after so much real estate! For the United States to absorb us would be reversing the natural order of things, as if the rabbit were to attempt to swallow the boa constrictor.

THE ROAD between here and Van Winkle is very heavy for travelling. It took the Express six hours to travel from Barkerville to Van Winkle.

SCENES IN CANTON.

All the streets have an indescribable stamp upon them: they are trodden by a population arrayed in bright colored clothing, with long tails of horsehair and pointed hats. Mandarins in sky-blue silken robes are jostled by strings of blind men, who wind their way in and out, holding by each other's garments; by hideous lepers, and wretches afflicted with elephantiasis, who can only crawl along the ground. Bands of vigorous coolies elbow the crowd and push every one out of their way. But, alas! for one well dressed Chinaman, we are saddened by the sight of two hundred infirm, naked and starving creatures, dragging their limbs along, and devoured by vermin, which hang in clusters from their skeleton bodies. Above the heads of this noisy throng scarlet signboards covered with golden characters hang vertically, and swing in the wind. These are the signs of shops or religious sentences. We soon began to feel quite giddy among this multitude, through which we had to fight our way with our fists and our elbows. The insects forsook the lepers and the beggars who beset us, and accorded us a distressing preference; we were dazzled by the richness of the shops, astonished at the wonderful traffic of the coolies, grieved by the misery on all sides which brought tears to our eyes, and desirous of forming some really correct notion of this great city, thirty of whose streets we had threaded without having ever seen more than ten steps before us.

In order to get a good view of the swarming and humming city the travellers climbed to the top of a great wooden tower, which was one of those ancient institutions of the Chinese Empire, of which Mr. Carlyle has lately given so strange an account in his "All Round the World, a mont de piete." It contained eight storeys, in which were stowed away thousands of little parcels, all numbered, and in order. Hundreds of pots, of varnished earthenware, are ranged along the edges of the tower; they are filled with vitriol, destined to be flung into the eyes of assailants. From this post of observation the travellers gazed over the vast extent of the city, and singled out for a visit one particularly imposing pagoda, which it took them an hour's battling with the throng in this strange city, where there are no vehicles and all the beasts of burden are human, to reach. The pagoda differed from those they had already seen only by its superior splendour, but their attention was directed to one of the most strange and painful sights the far East has to show. It was a clump of trees near an altar, the residence of a sacred serpent, which is daily fed and worshipped by fervent believers. The Chinese legend is, like the Christian tradition, that a woman has crushed the serpent's head, but the Chinese worship the tempter. According to their maxim there is no use in disturbing themselves about the beneficient deity, who is essentially good, but it is eminently wise to propitiate the evil one, who may injure them. A crowd of worshippers were pressing round the sacred bushes, bringing gifts to the ugly reptile, a snake two feet long, which crawled about close to some hot ashes. Close by stood the urn above which every person taking an oath cuts off the head of a cock, the decapitated bird becoming the perquisite of the bonzes. The ancient commercial splendor of Canton is indicated by the extensive ruins of the factories, which lie undisturbed amid the swarms of peopled dwellings, and in the more congenial vicinity of the city of the dead. Everywhere there are evidences of the indifference to death of the genuine Chinese. The old men in the Government hospital sleep on mats extended beside the coffins destined to receive their corpses, and employ themselves in carving ornamental designs upon the sides and lids of these grim pieces of furniture. How strangely does the natural worship of the dead contrast with their classic cruelty towards the living and their merciless exaction. They heap additional toil upon themselves that more numerous lamps may burn day and night in the barks of the floating city, that the fireworks let off at sunrise and sunset before every house, the lights which burn on the altar in every shop, may be more worthy of the dead whom they venerate.—[Count de Beauvoir's Travels in China.

PREVENTION BETTER THAN CURE.

I HAVE been requested by several respectable parties, who can testify to the efficacy of my system, to again make public the fact that

Moses' Hair Invigorator

WILL PREVENT BALDNESS,
RESTORE HAIR THAT IS BECOMING THIN OR FALLING OFF, and effectually CURE SCURF OR DANDRUFF.

This is not a mere assertion on my part, as I have in my possession numerous testimonials certifying to the success of my remedy.

I do not of course pretend that I can make the hair grow on heads which have been bald for years; but I will guarantee to stop the hair from falling off, to increase its growth, and effectually remove Scurf or Dandruff.
