THE CARIBOO SENTINEL.

Vol. 2. Barkerville, Williams Creek, B. C., Monday, July 2, 1866. No. 1.

THE BRITISH COLUMBIAN JUDICIARY.

If England has a deserved pre-eminence over other countries in any function of Government it is in her judiciary. However much the people of the United States may rail at the expense and injury of monarchical rule, and the overweening influence of the higher classes, they are all compelled to admit that no more august tribunal exists on the globe than the judicial Bench of England. An English judge is the personification of all that is immaculate in erring man. Unimpeachable in integrity, unapproachable in his knowledge of human nature, and rarely surpassed in judgment and learning, he forms one of the great bulwarks of the nation against oppression and wrong doing. It would be a happy thing if we could say the same of the men sent out to dispense the law in the infancy of British colonies. Too frequently the colonial judge forgets the sacred character of his office, dabbles in unseemly speculation, and mixes himself up in the quarrels of the community over which he is called upon to preside. From such a moment justice sheathes his sword, packs up his scales, and turns his back on the court of law. Unfortunate for the country and unfortunate ultimately for the judge when this evacuation takes place—there is but one step between corruption and confusion, between arbitrary injustice and anarchical infliction—between Judge Lucre and Judge Lynch. We would be very sorry to say that there is any probability of either of these colonies falling into that deplorable and dangerous condition when the people lose all faith in the administration of the law, but we cannot shut our eyes to the fact that Judge Begbie, the only judge in British Columbia, is creating very serious apprehensions in the public mind of the neighboring colony. We have already chronicled more than one instance, and in more than one place, where he has coolly set at defiance the sacred verdict of a jury, and almost every newspaper from British Columbia brings us some additional instance of his judicial eccentricity. It is quite within the bounds of possibility that Judge Begbie may on all these occasions have been right and the public wrong; but we cannot lose sight of the circumstance that he was appointed to his judgship at a time when it required as a qualification for that position more of determination than of legal knowledge—at a time, in fact, and under such circumstances that no man in England of any ordinary legal reputation would have accepted the appointment. On this ground, therefore, if on no other, we could not expect Judge Begbie to be a very brilliant dispenser of the law—unlike Judge Needham he had no extensive legal experience to recommend him—and it is by no means a matter of surprise that his decisions, instead of partaking of that judicial clearness and point which are the universal characteristics of the decisions of English judges, should be generally rambling, disconnected and irrelevant. When we find a judge defining fraud under certain circumstances to be only "smartness," and charging the defendants in a mining dispute with "coveting Naboth's vineyard," however much we might be disposed to compliment him on his poetical illustration, we are rather inclined to think he ignores the staidness and succinctness of a judicial opinion. When we find him besides this arrogating to himself all the functions which of right belong to a jury, we can only say British Columbia has got as her Supreme Judge a man who should not be another day in so important and exalted a position. At the present time there are great interests and grave interests in the mining regions of British Columbia, and there is, disgraceful to the Government and its legal advisers be it said, an endless round of litigation, ruining claimholders, shutting up the country's wealth & causing disasters in communities hundreds of miles away from the scene of dispute. At such a time as the present, when British Columbia can afford to waste no portion of her productive energy, it is a serious thing to have a man like Judge Begbie the sole awarder of judicial decisions. We have by recent actions in the courts of law in British Columbia been made aware of the fact that no official is responsible for anything done by deputy—that the whole vested interests of the colony may be sold to-morrow and sacrificed; but that nobody is to blame; and on the heels almost of these extraordinary decisions of Judge Begbie, we find a collision between the Supreme Judge and the Gold Commissioner on Williams Creek, in which the latter refuses to issue an injunction from the Supreme Court at the order of the Judge. The reasons Mr. Cox assigns for his refusal are given elsewere and abundantly show the plight into which the administration of the law in the neighboring colony has fallen. Mr. Cox says he holds no commission as Deputy Registrar of the Supreme Court and never held one, and therefore comes to the natural conclusion that all his acts done were illegal. There is something more, however in the affair than appears on the face of it. Mr. Cox or Judge Cox, as he is most frequently termed, is the most popular official that ever received an appointment in either colony. The roughest, as well as the most respectable miners in Cariboo mention his name with respect; for the simple reason he has always been the rigid dispenser of justice, uninfluenced by wealth, position, fear or favor. On some occasions recently Judge Begbie has set Commissioner Cox's decisions aside, and indeed has set aside in chancery his own decisions in the Supreme Court. Whether Judge Begbie was right in any or all of these instances we do not pretend to say, but we know the general mining public are with the Gold Commissioner, and we know Judge Begbie's conduct has given as much dissatisfaction on Williams Creek as it has at New Westminster or Lillooet. We are told indeed by letters from Cariboo that there is every probability of the miners in one or two instances disregarding his decisions. We hope, however, that things will not come to such a pass; although troublesome times are evidently, from the tone of the miners, brewing on Williams Creek. There is a universal feeling of indignation at the manner in which mining claims have been forced into litigation. No man knows what he is buying. When one or two lawsuits are over and the parties in possession of the ground are left undisturbed, a person may purchase into a claim, fancying that litigation has spent itself; but he finds himself wofully mistaken; in a little while the dispute gets into chancery and he discovers when it is too late that his share, instead of being an interest in the proceeds of the claim, is a partnership in a ruinous lawsuit. The risks of mining are a mere bagatelle; it is the risks of Begbie's Chancery Court that terrify the miner. Begbie has really become the bugbear of the colony, and the sooner the inhabitants call upon the Home Government to fill his place with a more suitable man the better.—British Colonist."

THE UNIVERSAL PRACTICE of mixing Chicory and other adulteratives with Coffee, has very much damaged in public estimation, what ought to be the most delicious of Beverages. So effectually have the public been drugged with such mixtures that the true properties have been lost sight of, and many prefer a black and thick infusion to a drink rich in spirit and aroma. General as is the use of Coffee, it is little known that in condensing the vapors extracted from the berry in roasting, a liquor is obtained of the most nauseous taste, and of a scent the most unbearable. Under such circumstances it is evidently important that all the gases and fluids extracted by roasting should be carried off as quickly as possible, in order to prevent their returning again to the Coffee, which is the case in the confined cylinder. This object is admirably accomplished by the new and patent "Conical Coffee Roaster" as used by FELL & CO., Victoria, in which the berry is directly exposed to the radiated heat, and the vapor extracted carried off instantaneously. In addition to the advantage to be derived by the rapid removal of the steam containing the objectionable properties, the pure aroma of the Coffee is retained, the essential oil being preserved and not exhausted as in the Cylinder Roaster, where the Coffee is required to remain a much longer time in consequence of the steaming it undergoes by the confined steam. It is chemically impossible to retain the qualities or arrest the deterioration of Coffee when ground. The heat engendered by the process of roasting, and especially of grinding, creates an action in the elementary parts which gradually destroys its fitness for drink. But to retain the essential oil which it contains we have it encased in tins containing from 1 lb. to 28 lbs., and which can be had from any of the respectable dealers. We can confidently recommend those who have hitherto been obliged to refrain from taking Coffee on account of its ill effects, that they may use our Coffee, roasted in the Conical Roaster, being recommended by all medical men under whose notice it has been brought, and by numerous other testimonials in its favor. SOUTHERN WOMEN.

A correspondent of the New York Tribune who has visited Columbia, S. C. thus describes the Southern women. Columbia once enjoyed a high local reputation for the elegance of its women, of the privileged class of course; and I remember to have seen some quite comely members of the gentler sex hereabout a few years ago. Beauty expresses more to me than Nature seems willing to assign to the dear sisterhood who make so much of the weal and woe of creation's lords. They are interesting and handsome and lovable enough for all practical and poetical purposes, unquestionably, albeit I have never been able to admire the Southern maidens and dames, who are so inferior, esthetically, to those of the North.

It was very common, before the war, to hear the Southern women spoken of as models of all attractiveness, as the finest feminine embodiments of American grace, refinement and sensibility; and not a few who had failed to visit this section actually believed the story these people told with so much flippancy and such irrepressible iteration.

The uneducated females here were always repulsive, of course—for they have nothing in their life, surroundings or possibilities to prevent them from remaining all their years the yellow, scroggy, snuff-dipping, shrill-voiced harpies they were born. But the higher class, the ladies par eminence, had what almost invariably makes lovely women—ease wealth, opportunity for culture, the advantage of travel, and other aids to superior mental and physical development. And yet with few exceptions, they were never fine. The porcelain clay of humanity did not form any large portion of their composition. They were of the ordinary earth, earthy, lacking the intellectuality, spirituality, delicacy and elegance that give so rare a charm to the Northern women. They were poorly educated and worse bred, alarmingly deficient in taste, frivolous in character and violent in temper; utterly devoid of the sweetness that yields alike to the floral and feminine creation its dearest excellence.

The causes of their inferiority, or rather undevelopment, must be sought in slavery first, and in diet next.

No women reared under the baneful influences of slavery, and whose daily food is bacon and corn bread, can be gentle or fine. It is as impossible as to suppose Ophelia suing Hamlet for a breach of promise, or Imogen wearing unimmaculate hose. Laura de Noves would have adored her husband instead of her poet lover, and Beatrice have cured Dante of his life-long passion by a single gesture, if they had dwelt among black boudmen, and banqueted on preparations of maize.

It has been said of the Southern women, by one of their own sex, that they look as if they had never been kissed. I cannot conceive how a woman subject to osculatory starvation would appear if she had ever lived. Indeed I cannot imagine so rare a monster; but I apprehend the phrase was used figuratively for a hard unatural expression that they have which is so perceptible that I am confident, if all men were like me, they never would be caressed, though soft lips were as uncommon as lilies in the Lybian Desert. Who, after embracing a corn-fed, divinity, or a bacon-consuming angel, with a temperamental tendency to snuff-dipping, could say:

"The fragrant infancy of opening flowers
Flowed to my senses in that melting kiss!"

Vol. 2. Barkerville, Williams Creek, B. C., Monday, July 2, 1866. No. 1[illegible].

THE BRITISH COLUMBIAN JUDICIARY.

If England has a deserved pre-eminence over other countries in any function of Government it is in her judiciary. However much the people of the United States may rail at the expense and injury of monarchical rule, and the overweening influence of the higher classes, they are all compelled to admit that no more august tribunal exists on the globe than the judicial Bench of England. An English judge is the personification of all that is immaculate in erring man. Unimpeachable in integrity, unapproachable in his knowledge of human nature, and rarely surpassed in judgment and learning, he forms one of the great bulwarks of the nation against oppression and wrong doing. It would be a happy thing if we could say the same of the men sent out to dispense the law in the infancy of British colonies. Too frequently the colonial judge forgets the sacred character of his office, dabbles in unseemly speculation, and mixes himself up in the quarrels of the community over which he is called upon to preside. From such a moment justice sheathes his sword, packs up his scales, and turns his back on the court of law. Unfortunate for the country and unfortunate ultimately for the judge when this evacuation takes place—there is but one step between corruption and confusion, between arbitrary injustice and anarchical infliction—between Judge Lucre and Judge Lynch. We would be very sorry to say that there is any probability of either of these colonies falling into that deplorable and dangerous condition when the people lose all faith in the administration of the law, but we cannot shut our eyes to the fact that Judge Begbie, the only judge in British Columbia, is creating very serious apprehensions in the public mind of the neighboring colony. We have already chronicled more than one instance, and in more than one place, where he has cooly set at defiance the sacred verdict of a jury, and almost every newspaper from British Columbia brings us some additional instance of his judicial eccentricity. It is quite within the bounds of possibility that Judge Begbie may on all these occasions have been right and the public wrong; but we cannot lose sight of the circumstance that he was appointed to his judgship at a time when it required as a qualification for that position more of determination than of legal knowledge—at a time, in fact, and under such circumstances that no man in England of any ordinary legal reputation would have accepted the appointment. On this ground, therefore, if on no other, we could not expect Judge Begbie to be a very brilliant dispenser of the law—unlike Judge Needham he had no extensive legal experience to recommend him—and it is by no means a matter of surprise that his decisions, instead of partaking of that judicial clearness and point which are the universal characteristics of the decisions of English judges, should be generally rambling, disconnected and irrelevant. When we find a judge defining fraud under certain circumstances to be only "smartness," and charging the defendants in a mining dispute with "coveting Naboth's vineyard," however much we might be disposed to compliment him on his poetical illustration, we are rather inclined to think he ignores the staidness and succinctness of a judicial opinion. When we find him besides this arrogating to himself all the functions which of right belong to a jury, we can only say British Columbia has got as her Supreme Judge a man who should not be another day in so important and exalted a position. At the present time there are great interests and grave interests in the mining regions of British Columbia, and there is, disgraceful to the Government and its legal advisers be it said, an endless round of litigation, ruining claimholders, shutting up the country's wealth & causing disasters in communities hundreds of miles away from the scene of dispute. At such a time as the present, when British Columbia can afford to waste no portion of her productive energy, it is a serious thing to have a man like Judge Begbie the sole awarder of judicial decisions. We have by recent actions in the courts of law in British Columbia been made aware of the fact that no official is responsible for anything done by deputy—that the whole vested interests of the colony may be sold to-morrow and sacraficed; but that nobody is to blame; and on the heels almost of these extraordinary decisions of Judge Begbie, we find a collision between the Supreme Judge and the Gold Commissioner on Williams Creek, in which the latter refuses to issue an injunction from the Supreme Court at the order of the Judge. The reasons Mr. Cox assigns for his refusal are given elsewere and abundantly show the plight into which the administration of the law in the neighboring colony has fallen. Mr. Cox says he holds no commission as Deputy Registrar of the Supreme Court and never held one, and therefore comes to the natural conclusion that all his acts done were illegal. There is something more, however in the affair than appears on the face of it. Mr. Cox or Judge Cox, as he is most frequently termed, is the most popular official that ever received an appointment in either colony. The roughest, as well as the most respectable miners in Cariboo mention his name with respect; for the simple reason he has always been the rigid dispenser of justice, uninfluenced by wealth, position, fear or favor. On some occasions recently Judge Begbie has set Commissioner Cox's decisions aside, and indeed has set aside in chancery his own decisions in the Supreme Court. Whether Judge Begbie was right in any or all of these instances we do not pretend to say, but we know the general mining public are with the Gold Commissioner, and we know Judge Begbie's conduct has given as much dissatisfaction on Williams Creek as it has at New Westminster or Lillooet. We are told indeed by letters from Cariboo that there is every probability of the miners in one or two instances disregarding his decisions. We hope, however, that things will not come to such a pass; although troublesome times are evidently, from the tone of the miners, brewing on Williams Creek. There is a universal feeling of indignation at the manner in which mining claims have been forced into litigation. No man knows what he is buying. When one or two lawsuits are over and the parties in possession of the ground are left undisturbed, a person may purchase into a claim, fancying that litigation has spent itself; but he finds himself wofully mistaken; in a little while the dispute gets into chancery and he discovers when it is too late that his share, instead of being an interest in the proceeds of the claim, is a partnership in a ruinous lawsuit. The risks of mining are a mere bagatelle; it is the risks of Begbie's Chancery Court that terrify the miner. Begbie has really become the bugbear of the colony, and the sooner the inhabitants call upon the Home Government to fill his place with a more suitable man the better.—British Colonist.'

THE UNIVERSAL PRACTICE of mixing Chicory and other adulteratives with Coffee, has very much damaged in public estimation, what ought to be the most delicious of Beverages. So effectually have the public been drugged with such mixtures that the true properties have been lost sight of, and many prefer a black and thick infusion to a drink rich in spirit and aroma. General as is the use of Coffee, it is little known that in condensing the vapors extracted from the berry in roasting, a liquor is obtained of the most nauseous taste, and of a scent the most unbearable. Under such circumstances it is evidently important that all the gases and fluids extracted by roasting should be carried off as quickly as possible, in order to prevent their returning again to the Coffee, which is the case in the confined cylinder. This object is admirably accomplished by the new and patent "Conical Coffee Roaster" as used by FELL & CO., Victoria, in which the berry is directly exposed to the radiated heat, and the vapor extracted carried off instantaneously. In addition to the advantage to be derived by the rapid removal of the steam containing the objectionable properties, the pure aroma of the Coffee is retained, the essential oil being preserved and not exhausted as in the Cylinder Roaster, where the Coffee is required to remain a much longer time in consequence of the steaming it undergoes by the confined steam. It is chemically impossible to retain the qualities or arrest the deterioration of Coffee when ground. The heat engendered by the process of roasting, and especially of grinding, creates an action in the elementary parts which gradually destroys its fitness for drink. But to retain the essential oil which it contains we have it encased in tins containing from 1 lb. to 28 lbs., and which can be had from any of the respectable dealers. We can confidently recommend those who have hitherto been obliged to refrain from taking Coffee on account of its ill effects, that they may use our Coffee, roasted in the Conical Roaster, being recommended by all medical men under whose notice it has been brought, and by numerous other testimonials in its favor. THE CARIBOO SENTINEL

MONDAY, JULY 2, 1866.

TELEGRAPHIC.

(Special Dispatch to the CARIBOO SENTINEL.)

Farther Point, June 18.—The Peruvian, from Liverpool June 7th, and Londonderry 8th, has passed en route for Quebec.—Breadstuffs firm, provisions quiet but steady.—Bullion at the Bank of England had increased £1,400,000.—The Prussian troops entered Holstein on the 7th June. The Austrians were concentrating at Altona. These moves are regarded as a virtual commencement of the war.—In the British House of Commons the Opposition had attempted a surprise on the Government by moving the postponement of the franchise classing reform, but were defeated.

Halifax, June 18,—The steamer from Liverpool, June 9th, via Queenstown 10th, has arrived. Consols closed on Saturday evening at 85¾ to 86⅝ for money. Five twenty's at 65½ to 66.—Continental news continues warlike. Bismarck had issued an important circular dated the 4th, addressed to Prussian Representatives abroad, and says all our information agrees that a determination to make war is settled at Vienna. Not only was there manifested an utter absence of a desire to enter into negociations, and to discuss the posibilities of agreement, but expressions of influential Austrian statesmen and counsellers of the Emperor have been reported to the King from authentic sources, which leave no doubt that the Imperial Ministry desire war at any price; partly in hope of successes in the field, and partly to heal domestic difficulties, nay, even Austrian finances, by popular contributions or by honorable bankruptcy. The fact of war is settled by this determination at Vienna. The only further point is to choose a favorable time to begin. The London 'Times' says, such a dispatch as the above has not often been penned by a European Minister. Prussian statesmen now think courtesy unnecessary in communications with Austria. All the pride and bitter hostility which have necessarily repressed during long negotiations may now be repeated. The dispatch breaths a spirit of war, and seems to have been written in anticipation of an immediate rupture. The London 'Telegraph' says, with this dispatch the last hope of peace disappeared. Hostilities have become evident. A Prussian division under Gen. Fliess had crossed the Eider into Holstein. They are said to have been ordered to occupy Rendsburgs, Kiel and Frederickstadt. The Austrians were reported evacuating Kiel, and concentrating at Altona, where Gen. Goblentz and staff had established headquarters. On the 8th the Prussian troops moved forward and occupied Kendsburg; they were peacefully met by the Austrian garrison who evacuated the same day. The parting was friendly. Gen. Goblentz issued a proclamation protesting against the Prussian occupation of Holstein. He daily expects orders to attack the Prussians, and to use every effort to rout them. He has announced the transfer of the Government of the Duchy of Holstein to the city of Altona. It is reported the Prussians would forcibly prevent an assembling of the Estates of Holstein at Altona. Latest accounts say the Emperor of Austria has ordered Goblentz to avoid an engagement. Goblentz is further ordered to retain the civil functionaries in power, and to delay a declaration of martial law. The Emperor claims that affairs now stand as they did previous to the Gartein convention. Vienna dispatches say diplomatic relations between Austria and Prussia will cease the moment the Prussian delegation to the Diet leaves Frankfort to return. The Crown Prince of Prussia has been appointed Governor of Silesia during the mobilizing of the army. A Florence telegram says, Italy will commence hostilities so soon as war is opened by Prussia. A decree was issued in Florence on the 3rd calling out for service the second categories of classes of 1842-3; others still will soon be called.—The cholera is still continuing its ravages in Holland. Returns from Rotterdam state that out of 85 cases 45 have proven fatal. The cholera has broken out at Nantz; 15 to 20 cases daily, though few deaths. —Financial affairs in London are considered favorable. The bank report shows recipts unusually large, owing to consignments of gold from America. A strong anticipation of a decline in the rate of discount has given firmness to all kinds of funds. Rate of Bank discount is ten per cent, but good private paper is taken for nine on the market. Measures are being taken for the establishment of the Consolidated Bank. The report of the Bank of France shows a further increase of 390,000,000 francs cash. The Bourse on the 9th was quiet and steady; rentes 67 f., 20c.

San Francisco, 23rd June, 1866.—The steamer Oregon, 10 days from point Isabella, on the Colorado river, arrived to-day; on her downward trip, when off the Catalina islands, struck the British bark Kent from Carimean island, loaded with salt for Portland, sinking her.—The Golden City, which left Panama on the evening of the 9th, where she connected with the steamer from New York of the first, arrived early this morning.—South American news unimportant; no new military movements, business was improving in Valpariaso; no further molestation feared from the Spanish fleet.—A grand banquet was given in honor of the victory of the Peruvians over the Spanish invaders; no less than a thousand gentlemen sat down to dinner, the principal European nations and the United States were represented.—A calamity causing the death of 500 persons occured at Valparaiso on the 20th May in sinking a sub-marine battery designed as a torpedo; it was towed in 30 fathoms water for the purpose of experimenting, that was the last of it.—The election of President of the State of Panama took place June 2nd and resulted in the election of Gen. Vincente, the popular dignitary, who received every vote that was cast.—The last steamer from Peru brought about 180 Spaniards who had been compelled to leave the country under a decree of Government.—The Panama 'Herald' says the United States war ship Marengo is now at Guaymas for the purpose of enforcing the demands of the American Government.—Capt. James G. Kaller an old resident of this city and a ship captain well known throughout the Pacific coast, died on board the steamer Oregon May 13th, and was buried at sea.—The Golden City brought a million dollars in treasury notes on account of Government. —Legal tenders remain 71@72, small sales. The week closes with good demand for money without change in real estate, and trade generally quiet.

San Francisco, June 24.—Eastern line is still out of order beyond Lamarie.—The Hamson Opera Troupe (English) arrived by the bark Japan from Australia yesterday.—The steamer G. S. Wright, belonging to the Russian Telegraph expedition, sailed this morning for Petropaulowski with Col. Bulkley and suite —Over 10,000 persons went to the Cliff House this morning to witness Madame Celeste who accomplished the feat of walking a rope stretched from Cliff House to Seal Rocks.—Lieut. Col. Pollock and command of 300 men from Fort Goodwin, who had been reported murdered, returned to San Francisco by the Oregon yesterday, and will be mustered out next week.

San Francisco, June 25th.—O. M. Perkins, commission merchant, doing business at 318 Battery street, committed suicide this morning by shooting himself with a revolver.—By the arrival of the bark Japan we learn that the British bark Harmon, from Sydney with coals and 80 passengers for San Francisco, put into Tahiti; when a few days from Sydney, Capt. Perkins was lost overboard; the vessel arrived in charge of Mr. Coffin, the first officer. There having been some trouble among the passengers, on the arrival of the vessel at Papulia charge was brought accusing Coffin with having pushed Perkins overboard. He was imprisoned and brought before the British Consul, examined and released May 16th, there being no evidence to sustain the charge.

San Francisco, June 26th.—Eastern line still silent beyond Laramie.—The Committee of Arrangements for the 4th July celebration gives an encouraging report; they expect to get up a celebration that will do honor to the city and all who participate in it.—The Treasurer of the Branch Mint has received authority to increase the bullion funds $250,000; this fund provided by Government enables the Treasurer to pay the depositors amounts deposited before gold can be worked into coin.—The British bark Norseman arrived yesterday from Liverpool in 115 days; this is the shortest trip made between the two ports in several years.—A resolution was unanimously adopted by the Board of Councillors that the freedom of the city be tendered John Rogers and officers of the war steamer Vanderbilt and monitor Monadrock.

Los Angelos, June 25th.—From Mr. Engle, who just arrived from Hurdys Landing, Colorado river, we learn that Moses Little, of San Francisco was killed at the Macidonia mine, the murder was committed with an axe, the stroke cleft his head in twain; the other employees were absent at the time; it is said that Indians were the murderers. We also learn of the murder of another man by Indians, near Trail Spring, which took place a few days previous. It seems the Indians are actively on the war path; they have approached within ten miles of our city and murdered two other men, Mr. McGuire and McGee.

Portland, June 26th—The Fideliter is advertised to sail for Victoria on Thursday.

San Francisco, June 25th.—The following Mexican news was received by the steamship Continental from Mazatlan 16th: The situation remains unchanged. Corona made an excursion to Rosario and returned to the Presedio where he organized a complete cordon around Mazatlan, not permitting anybody, even foreigners, to get in, but allowing free passage to the interior. The French have not started from there and only keep strict police to prevent Corona's agents from creating any disturbance. Robberies and assassinations are of daily occurrence. The stages were regularly attacked and wealthy travellers carried off for ransom. Near Puebla a fight had occurred with six robbers, of whom two were killed and two wounded, who turned out to be men of better Mexican society and not driven by necessity to so nefarious a profession. Twenty-two robbers were brought in after the assault on the Belgian Ambassador's; Couch turned out to be innocent of this crime, but was convicted of other depredations since then. The assassin of Major Huart was caught and gave the names of twelve of his accomplices; they were immediately arrested; a hempen cord will be their fate. The Liberals in Sonora were being driven to the American line. Orders have been issued at Tepic for the formation of an expedition of 3000 men to operate against the remnant of Liberals in Sonora and Sinaloa.

PREVENTION IS BETTER THAN CURE

Moses' Hair Invigorator.

TO PREVENT BALDNESS, restore hair that has fallen off or become thin, and to cure effectually Scurf or Dandruff. It will also relieve the Headache, and give the hair a darker and glossy color, and the free use of it will keep both the skin and hair in a healthy state. Ladies will find the Invigorator a great addition to toilet, both in consideration of the delicate and agreeable perfume, and the great facility it affords in dressing the hair, which, when moist with it, can be dressed in any required form, so as to preserve its place, whether plain or in curls. When used on children's heads, it lays the foundation for a good head of hair.

THIS IS TO CERTIFY that from some cause or complaint of the head our hair commenced falling out so rapidly that we feared we should lose the whole. In this condition we went to W. We make this certificate with pleasure, believing it to be for the public good.

TO MR. D. W. MOSES: SIR,—In the years 1860 and 1861, from a long and severe illness, my hair became very weak, and was falling off in a most fearful manner, and I was in dread of becoming entirely bald, when I was recommended by a lady residing on Fort street to try your INVIGORATOR. After a few applications by you, and after using three bottles of the Invigorator, my hair was restored and became as thick and strong as it ever it was before. MARY A. LEWIS,
Johnson street.
Victoria, V. I., March 27th, 1866.

THIS IS TO CERTIFY that a little more than fourteen years ago, owing to a severe fit of sickness, I lost nearly all my hair the crown of head becoming quite bald, and has been so ever since until the past summer, when hearing of the marvellous success of W. D. Moses in several cases where it seemed almost hopeless to do so, on Williams Creek, Cariboo, I was induced to let him try his skill on me—but without faith in his ability to restore my hair, it having been so long out; but miraculous as it may appear, in three months' time I was happily surprised to find a new growth of hair coming out, which is daily becoming stronger and thicker. To any one requiring his professional services as above, I would merely say that he possesses a skill and knowledge in restoring hair that I have never met with before. L. B. WHITE.

THE CARIBOO SENTINEL

MONDAY, JULY 2, 1866.

CARIBOO LIBRARY.—This institution received last week 84 volumes of new books in addition to its valuable collection, and, as will be seen by reference to an advertisement in another column, it now contains upwards of 500 volumes of standard works. The terms of subscription are low and within the reach of all, being only $2 a month or $5 a quarter. The Librarian has reason to complain of the neglect of several subscribers in not returning books within a reasonable time; it would therefore be desirable for those erring in this respect to return them at once, so as to give others an opportunity of perusing them.

EXPLOSION.—Yesterday afternoon the denizens of Barkerville were alarmed by a loud report which proceeded from Winnard's blacksmith shop. On enquiry it was found to have been occasioned by the explosion of a flask of gunpowder that was lying on a shelf in the shop, which must have been ignited by a spark from the anvil. Although a number of people were around at the time, no one fortunately was hurt or any damage done other than the derangement of the tools.

ACCIDENT.—While a miner named John Gannon was crossing a log, on Friday last, at Grouse creek, he slipped his foot and fell on a sharp limb of a tree, receiving a very severe cut on the arm; the wound was over eight inches in length and very painful. He came over here on the afternoon and had it dressed by a Doctor.

ANOTHER ACCIDENT.—A man named John Chisholm who was at work in the Boyle and Crane claim on Lowhee creek, on Saturday last had his leg badly bruised by the caving of a bank. On the same day another man named John Muir who works in the Vaughan Sweeny claim, narrowly escaped being killed by a similar cave.

GROUSE CREEK TRAIL.—Mr. Spence will proceed this morning to mark out a trail from here to Grouse creek. Judge Cox will we understand immediately telegraph to the Administrator of the Government for authority to appropriate funds for executing the work. The expense will be trifling compared to the great benefit that will be derived by the miners on that creek.

CANON CREEK EXCITEMENT.—A great many men have gone up the Fraser river in boats lately for this new creek. It is said that farm laborers have left the ranches for some distance below Quesnelmouth and started for the mines. Scarcely any person is content to work for wages.

CORRECTION.—The gentleman whom we mentioned in our last, as having transmitted a paper from the Barbacoas mines, was Mr. Henry Taft, formely of the Vaughan-Sweeney claim, Lowhee, and not Mr. C. Taft, late butcher on Williams creek.

SPORTING.—Our old friend Larry desires us to state that he has been challenged by an Irishman to throw the stone with him for $50 a side against $5 a side. Larry has accepted it and intends giving his adversary a "merry shake" one of these days.

☞ Our city wore an unusually lively appearance yesterday, the street was thronged with miners from the various outlying creeks; the day was one of bright sunshine, and quite a number of our female residents could be seen fluttering hetimes among the busy throng bedecked in their gayest attire, investing the whole scene with an appearance of city life quite uncommon to this part of the country.

☞ We are informed that a Public Meeting was held at Quesnelmouth on Tuesday evening last, on the arrival of Messrs. Lauchleister and MacLaren, when a resolution was unanimously adopted supporting the resolutions passed at the public meeting held at Lichfield on the 23rd. The Delegates left Quesnelmouth with the steamer on Friday morning.

☞ It is contemplated by the Masons on the creek to establish a Masonic Lodge this season. All members in good standing are requested to attend a meeting for that purpose at the Cambrian Hall, on next Saturday evening, at 8 o'clock, p. m.

ARRIVED.—Mr. Lee, who had his leg broken near the Blue Tent House two months ago, got in with the Express on Saturday.

DROWNED.—One of the hands of the steamer Marten named Joseph Loyd was lost on Shuswap Lake by falling overboard.

☞ In consequence of the line being down to the East of San Francisco, we have no Eastern dispatches later than the 18th June.

☞ The Sierra Nevada with mails from San Francisco, via Victoria, arrived at New Westminster on Sunday evening last.—'Tribune.'

☞ The report of an anti-Fenian meeting at Lytton will appear in our next.

MINING INTELLIGENCE.

GROUSE CREEK.

Since our last visit to this creek the population has increased from 100 to 240, and claims that were then only being prospected are now yielding large returns; all this has happened within a month. We venture to say that had such diggings been found say from 70 to 100 miles from here, there would have been at least 1,000 men on the ground by this time, but, as a general rule, the same interest is not felt in diggings that are near, as in those afar off. Within the last eight days the excitement has increased in consequence of some new developments and the creek has been staked off for two or three miles. It is the opinion of miners well acquainted with the country that the lead will continue straight into Antler creek. This creek supplies a desideratum which has long been felt in the country, namely, mines easy of access to those of limited means, in as much as men will now be enabled to open up claims at a trifling expense with every prospect of obtaining a speedy return for their labor with the additional advantage of having diggings that can be as easily worked during the winter as in the summer. We are pleased to observe the lively interest entertained by miners generally concerning other and similar creeks, the beds of which have been prospected without success, and abandoned for years, and the confidence expressed as to the development of rich deposits in the mountains and benches. The importance of the recent discoveries on this creek will be better understood when we state that there has been as great an extent of ground pre-empted there lately, as has yet been worked on Williams creek, and there is every reason to believe that its richness will not fall much short of the latter creek. The town, which is fast progressing, now contains a saloon, owned by Mr. McArthur, a butchers shop, kept by Mr. F. Littler, a store (unfinished) to be opened by Messrs. Prager & Bro., of Williams creek, during the present week, and a large Bakery and Boarding-house (unfinished) which will be opened in the course of ten days by Mr. A. Kelly, of the Wake up Jake bakery, Barkerville.

The Heron co'y have got in 50 feet with their new tunnel; the rock through which they have been running appears to be pitching, which leads to the belief that the channel is not far off.—The Black Hawk, Lowhee and Wild Goose co'ys are busy sinking and running tunnels.—The Bed Rock Flume co'y, under the management of Mr. D. Cameron, are ground sluicing in the bed of the creek, and expect to reach bed rock at a distance of 75 feet from the head of the flume; 9 men are at present employed by the co'y, and the work is being pushed on with every dispatch.—The Short Bend co'y are engaged in laying a railway track and setting sluices preparatory to washing; this co'y struck pay in their tunnel at a distance of 120 feet from the creek; they had only washed dirt from half a set of timbers and got 111 ozs.; this is unquestionably a good claim; while we were examining the rock we had the curiosity to dig a little of the dirt with the end of the candlestick, and got about 1½ ounces in a few minutes.—The Full-rigged co'y lately bottomed their shaft and found prospects varying from 40 to 60 cents to the pan; they have started a tunnel which they expect will be finished in the course of 10 days.—Discovery co'y are taking out their usual pay, 3 and 4 ounces a day to the hand.—Auch or French co'y making good wages at present.—Morrell-Perez co'y have got in 40ft. with their tunnel through hard bed rock.—Ne'er do Well co'y have not yet got to the bottom of the channel, but are taking out good pay; the wash up for Friday was 33 oz.—Caroline co'y have struck boulders in their tunnel, which is in 40ft., and are setting their sluices to commence washing.—Cascade co'y are busy running a tunnel.—Ontario co'y are down 31ft. with their shaft and expect to bottom it to-day.—Robin Hood co'y bottomed their shaft and are running a drift through bed rock in order to tap the channel.—The Reid co'y are ground sluicing; got a prospect on Saturday of 50 cents to the pan.—The Fountain Head co'y, located about 150 feet above the level of the creek, struck a prospect of 25 cents to the pan while ground sluicing on the rim rock, they have commenced sinking a shaft; this prospect created quite an excitement on Tuesday last, and the ground was pre-empted for three quarters of a mile above this point during the week. We shall await anxiously to hear the results of the prospecting above this point.

CUNNINGHAM CREEK.

There are some 30 men at work on this creek but no rich strikes are yet reported, although great confidence is felt among miners that good pay will be found during the summer. The Kentuck co'y are taking out very good pay.—A company above them who are running a drift had got $17 out of a set of timbers.—The old Alpha co'y still continue sinking and are now down 81 feet, and get a very fine prospect.

WILLIAMS CREEK.

During the past week there has been a very perceptible increase in the yield of gold from the various claims on the creek, which we are happy to state is likely to continue throughout the season. The following are a few of the claims that have been taking out good pay:—The Aurora co'y washed up on Thursday 219 oz., and yesterday 350 oz., for the week 698 oz.—The Davis co'y washed up for the week about 387 oz. These amounts, being 1085 oz., are out of the disputed ground and will be divided between the two co'ys.—The Camp co'y washed up for the week 55 oz.—The Never Sweat co'y washed out for the week $800; they are just getting into pay.—Last Chance co'y (incline) washed up on Friday 50 ozs.—The California co'y washed out 40 ounces on Saturday.—The Cameron co'y washed up for 4 days 70 ounces.—The Lillooet, Mosier and Cariboo co'ys we believe are finding flattering prospects in the Bed Rock Drain.

LOWHEE CREEK.

There are about 11 or 12 companies at work on this creek, some of whom are taking out very good pay.—The Vaughan-Sweeny co'y have taken out for the month of June $7000; this is a hydraulic claim, and the pay dirt is from 40 to 60 feet deep and over 100 feet wide.—The Plumbago co'y are cleaning up and taking out good pay.—The Kelly-Patch co'y are just getting their claim opened up and are taking out about wages.—Crane-Boyle co'y, hydraulicing, have not cleaned up yet.—The following companies are at work below, with what success we have been unable to ascertain, Bed Rock Flume co'y, Conon co'y, Butcher co'y, Chittenden co'y, Moorehead co'y, Foley-Eastman co'y and Washburn co'y.

VALLEY CREEK.

Which empties into Williams at the head of the meadows is likely to turn out well; two companies have been at work prospecting for some time past on a bench averaging in depth from 6 to 19 feet; on Friday last one of the companies washed up $13, the result of two men's labor for one day; when everything is in working order they expect to make wages. The creek is extensive and capable of absorbing a large number of miners. We shall anxiously await further developments from this quarter.

DEADWOOD CREEK.

Situated about 2 miles south of Canon creek, and about 15 miles from Edwards' ranch. A company of 6 men have been at work for two months with sluices and were making small wages; they are laying a flume by which they will be enabled to ground sluice the dirt, which is from 9 to 15 feet in depth, and will make as they believe an ounce a day to the hand.

BARRY CREEK.

Is situated 4 miles south of the above named creek, and is from four to five miles in length. Six Chinamen are at work with sluices on a portion of this creek and are said to be making from 5 to 8 dollars a day; the ground is from 8 to 10 feet in depth.

POVERTY CREEK.

This creek lies about 6 miles in the rear of Edwards' ranch and is about 4 miles long. Good prospects were found on it last fall on high bed rock. A company has been lately formed for the purpose of sinking a shaft; they are now down 20 feet and find hard cement and are sanguine of striking good pay.

LIGHTNING CREEK.

There are about 40 miners distributed over this creek prospecting, and only two companies that we hear of are taking out any pay. There are also about 50 Chinamen working on various places along the creek.

☞ A number of the boys from Cameronton gave the Express-waggon-man a benefit on Saturday night, by indulging in sundry drives betwixt the former town and Barkerville at a 2 40 pace, to the enchanting tones of a superannuated horn.

☞ The public will find it much to their advantage to call at the store formely occupied by S. Elsasser, Cameronton, and examine the quality and prices of the large and well assorted stock of general merchandise; consisting in part, viz: Gents' Clothing, Boots, Shoes, Liquors, Segars and Groceries. The whole stock must be closed out immediately, therefore goods are now selling at extremely low prices.

QUICK TRIP.—Mrs. Barnard and family arrived in New York on the 24th June. It is only twenty-three days since they left Yale.—B. C. 'Tribune.'

SINGULAR ACCIDENT—A singular fatality occurred lately at Clapton North, England, to a boy named Augustus Leonard, aged 14. A bell-hanger had bored a hole through the post of a garden door in order to insert the bell-wire, when the deceased, who was within the garden, unobserved by the workman, supposing he had finished, applied his left eye to the hole, when the auger was again introduced, and the instrument entered the deceased's eye, perforating the brain and causing death the following day.

GOLD COMMISSIONER'S COURT.

(Before W. G. Cox, Esq.)

Saturday, 30th June, 1866.

Robert W. Torrens, by his attorney, J. K. Suter, vs. Geo. Moss.—This action was brought to eject defendant from the possession of one half of one full interest or share in the Prairie Flower Co'y belonging to plaintiff.

Mr. Walkem, counsel for defendant, took a preliminary objection to the case being heard until plaintiff had given security for the costs, as he was residing in another colony and beyond the jurisdiction of this Court. The Court sustained the objection, upon which Mr. Robertson, plaintiff's counsel, volunteered the necessary surety.

It appeared from documents and evidence adduced that W. A. Browne, who owned a half share in the Prairie Flower Co'y, executed a Bill of Sale of the same, in Victoria last fall, to E. Chilevich, in trust for plaintiff; that in May last the said E. Chilovich transferred the same direct to plaintiff; that some time in the month of November last the defendant jumped the ground on the plea that Torrens was not a free miner, and had since been working and representing it in conjunction with a half interest he had purchased from the said A. W. Browne. It was argued by the defence that the transfer by Chilovich to plaintiff was not a bona fide transaction, that the Bill of Sale bore on its face the admission of Chilovich that he owned no interest, and that this transfer from Browne to him was against his (C.'s) express wish; it was further alleged by the defendant that plaintiff had used Chilovich's License for an illicit purpose with the view to evade getting a License himself. After a long discussion on both sides, the Court adjourned the case for consideration till Monday morning.

QUARZ LODE.—A short time since, says the B. C. 'Tribune,' two California miners who were out prospecting in the vicinity of Yale, discovered a quartz lode which shows promising indications of silver and copper. The men commenced running a tunnel on their own account, and are now in 20 feet. They expect to strike the main lode shortly, as the indications are improveing every foot the tunnel progresses. We are surprised the property holders of Yale do not lend a helping hand to a work the success of which would redound so much to the prosperity of the town. Some specimens from the croppings have been sent to New Westminster for assay.

BIRTH—At Cameronton, on the 27th ult., the wife of Mr ALEXANDER HARDIE, of a son.

In New Westminster, on the 18th ult., the wife of A. W. S. BLACK, Esq, M. D., of a daughter.

A CARD.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE "CARIBOO SENTINEL,"

SIR,—I noticed in your last issue a few remarks in relation to the judgment of our Supreme Court Judge. Whatever might appear wrong in that judgment let it not be attached to any bias, feeling, or prejudice, so far as English justice is concerned, her history is known in every quarter of the globe. I cannot think that one holding the position that our Hon. Chief Justice does could be biased by any feeling respecting color, who is well aware that England knows no person by their color; indeed I was sorry to see that such had been the supposition of some on the reading of the article in your last issue, but it seems strange to me that the gentleman should have made such a difference in his liberal distribution (if it may be termed so) to partners and co-partners in the same mining ground. He called it friendship; I cannot see how such an oversight occurred; if intended to wrong anyone, I do assure you by taking proper steps with the Home Government, that gentleman will be weighed in the scales (as many before him have been), and if found wanting, will receive his punishment. Let the people be sure before entering upon the occasion, that wrong has been done; to me it seems as though there was something rotten somewhere; it is for the people to determine where, and not be led astray by the acts of Her Majesty's servants. It has been painful to me to hear from persons who should know better the character of the English Government, reflections so far as selecting and sending into her colonies the proper persons to administer English law and justice to each and everyone without prejudice or malice. In a high and noble mind there seldom occurs a dereliction of duty, yet there may be a Judas in this affair, and if so, we will find it out. I hope for the future, any person or persons writing in relation to wrongs will leave out what I see in the article written by some person styled "Colored Miner," that is, "Have we any rights in British Columbia?" That's a question that needs no such inquiry. In this colony or any other of Her Majesty's colonies all persons complying with the laws are equal, apart from any prejudice whatever; therefore it is unnecessary to speak of colored persons, however great may be the feeling of any narrow and contracted mind against them. In this case the gentleman may not be accused of acting as a Judge, only as a friend to both parties, it is for the people to judge of that friendship. In some past acts complaint is made of ill-treatment so far as juries are concerned; however we must come to the point. Does it seem to be common sense to set aside a proposal made by a sworn jury to divide a certain piece of mining ground equally between two contending parties, and then for the same person to make a division to certain parties and leave out certain other parties in the Davis co'y? It does not seem to me to be justice, and to all whom it does not, they have a right to complain. I was pleased to see the good feeling that was manifested towards Judge Cox, we have proved in many instances his firmness and justice in his official capacity. I now speak in relation to the remarks made by Laumeister, some of them might be considered liberal; one remark however I consider much out of place, that is, "these darkies shall have their portion out of my part," which word (darkies I mean) should not be used by any gentleman. I congratulate the people of Williams creek much in their selection of Mr. Laumeister to go below for the purpose of calling upon the Governor, much haste has been displayed I must confess, but I hope they will not be disappointed in the selection of their delegates.

D. L.

☞ We would call the attention of those having goods or other commodities to move between the different towns on the creek to Mr. H. C. Wilmott, who has a Horse and Dray ready at the shortest notice to execute any orders he may be favored with, at very reasonable rates.
