NAPOLEON'S FOREBODINGS.

Napoleon knew—at any rate, he had a very confident expectation—that he would never see Paris again. He had been urged into war by the Court, who constantly frightened him with the bugbear of the growth of the Republican party, which had shown itself so formidable at the time of the plebiscite. He had been urged, on the other hand, by the people of Paris, from whom, after King William had repeated to Bendetti at Ems the celebrated word of Cambronne, the preservation of the Empire could be bought only at the price of yielding to their cries of "à Berlin!" That Napoleon was quite prepared for a disaster is obvious not only from what he was told, but from the preparations and the arrangements he made. From the mouths of those who saw him every day I heard that in the month of July he caressed his son more than he had done in the whole of the child's life. He was believed to have taken him to the Army of the Rhine from a dread of being separated from him in any great disaster. It was only when the command was no longer in the Emperor's hands that he gave up (so his friends declared) the idea of carrying the child with himself under actual fire.

This is not the only proof, however, of the Emperor's opinions as to the results of the campaign he was then entering upon. When the Tuileries had been invaded after the proclamation of the Republic, the absence of many things known to have been there formerly showed what measures had been taken. The so-called jewels of the Crown had all been deposited in the Bank of France, but not a single piece of jewelry belonging personally to the Empress was to be seen. The Empress was supposed to have taken all away; but then the silver plate had also disappeared. The magnificent gold and silver table services presented to the Emperor by the Sultan, the Czar Alexander, and the Viceroy of Egypt were all gone. The splendid cradle of the Prince Imperial presented by the town of Lyons was also not to be found. The magnificent collections of treasures of art which Napoleon had accumulated at the palaces of St. Cloud and Compeigne were also no longer to be seen. All these had been removed long ago. From the very day when war had been declared, the railway stations of the Nord, of Strasbourg, and of Orleans (for Spain) were crammed with gigantic boxes bearing away to various destinations the "personal" property of the Imperial family, and one cannot help asking oneself how it is that nothing of this has found its way to public notice.

When Marshal MacMahon arrived at Marseilles from Africa, he declared to his wife that he considered France as utterly lost, and that he took the command of his corps with the heavy heart of a soldier who knew that his future was ruined. Those who knew of this conversation accused MacMahon of "animosity." When he arrived at Paris, he was closeted for hours with the Emperor, and frankly told him his opinion. The accusations became still stronger, and the postponement of Napoleon's departure for twelve days—the consequence of this conversation—was attributed solely to the Emperor's illness. The Empress herself did not apparently share the Emperor's ideas. At the farewell family dinner at St. Cloud, she arranged with the chef de musique of the Grenadiers de la Garde to play the "Marseillaise," as an agreeable surprise to the Emperor; and it was only when she saw the Emperor turning quite pale that she stopped the music and burst into tears. At that moment she seems to have recognised the truth. She gave up the idea of insisting upon the Emperor's starting in parade through Paris, and took him herself to the railway station of the Palace of St. Cloud.—[Cor. Pall Mall Gazette.

DR. CUMMING ON THE WAR.

In a lecture this week, at Leamington, on "The Great Earthquake and the Great War," Dr. Cumming referred to the present period as the approaching termination of the Gentile dispensation. He said the Hebrew term "Armageddon" indicated a period of strife and bloodshed of an unprecedented character.—That time, he believed, commenced with the Crimean war, was developed in the Indian mutiny, the Italian war, the strife between the North and South in America, and the conflict between Prussia and Austria, when a great Protestant power struck down another power, which was one of the great supporters of the Papacy. The present war between Prussia and France also belonged to the "Armageddon strife." By way of showing the tremendous slaughter which had taken place on both sides, Dr. Cumming quoted extracts from the press, concluding with the statement of Dr. Russell, who, after describing the awful manner in which whole regiments, and even battalions, of Germans had been mown down by the mitrailleuse, said there were now 40,000 widows in Germany, and 100,000 orphans, as the result of the fighting between that Power and France. He then directed the attention of his hearers to the 38th and 39th chapters of Ezekiel, and mentioned that, in the opinion of several learned and able commentators, the "Gomer" there named signified the great power of Germany, and he added, if that nation joined herself with Russia, nothing would remain but that other European powers would become so many Russian or Prussian branches. He next adverted to the ominous manner in which Russia is raising the strength of her army to a million of fighting men, and at the same time proportionally augmenting her fleet, and said the only power to withstand her was England, who was the "Tarshish" named in Ezekiel's prophecy. He adduced many reasons in support of this theory, and expressed his expectation of such a union between Russia and Prussia, when England would have to fight them, with no France and no Emperor to assist her. In the event of that calamity arising, if England proved true to herself there would not be wanting heroism at home as well as heroism in the colonies; and if she fell, her fall would be like that of a great and gallant nation. The doctor then examined at great length, the various phases occurring in the apocalyptical description of the pouring out of the Seventh Vial, with the view of showing his interpretation to be the correct one. He also made a passing allusion to the ex-Emperor of France as having been a good ally of this country—an observation which elicited some applause.—[English paper.

FEELING AGAINST ENGLAND.—Yesterday, immediately after the storming of Villoreeau, I was watching a soldier smashing the chassepots of the captured prisoners against a large stone. Stopping suddenly and glancing at the peculiar construction of the rifle he held in his hand, he turned to me with a smile and said, 'You had better take this one; it belongs to you,' supposing it to be of English manufacture. He was quite surprised to find that the letters 'N. Y., U. S. A.,' proved it to have a different origin, and that England was not the only country which exported arms to France. There is no idea more firmly rooted in the mind of the German private soldier than that England is a bitter enemy to Germany, because it is the only country that exports arms to France; and it is quite a new view to him to hear that possibly out of five or six millions of his countrymen who are in America some may be found who participate in the large profits made by the manufacturers of that country by the export of arms and other munitions to the enemies of their Fatherland."—[Times Correspondent.

PAIN KILLER PROP.S

1840 1870

The PAIN KILLER is by universal consent allowed to have won for itself a reputation unsurpassed in the history of medical preparations. Its instantaneous effect in the eradication and extinction of Pain in all its various forms incident to the human family, and the unsolicited written and verbal testimony of the masses in its favor, have been, and are its own best advertisements.

The ingredients of the PAIN KILLER, being purely VEGETABLE, render it a perfectly safe and efficacious remedy taken internally, as well as for external applications, when used according to directions. The stain upon linen from its use is easily removed by washing with alcohol.

This Medicine, justly celebrated for the cure of so many of the afflictions incident to the human family, has now been before the public over THIRTY YEARS, and has found its way into almost every corner of the world; and wherever it has been used, the same opinion is expressed of its medical properties.

In any attack, where prompt action upon the system is required, the Pain Killer is invaluable. Its almost instantaneous effect in Relieving Pain is truly wonderful; and when used according to directions, is true to its name, a PAIN KILLER. mh4

ALBION FOUNDRY.

The proprietors of the Albion Foundry at Victoria complain of the injustice of allowing foreign machinery to be imported duty free, while, as they allege, they are able to manufacture the same of as good quality and on as favorable terms as in San Francisco.

If this assertion be correct, it certainly would appear to be hard upon home industry, but the case of the Lane & Kurtz Company was without precedent in every respect. The country was universally of opinion that the enterprise undertaken by that Company was of such a nature that it must not be allowed to fall through by reason of any lack of encouragement; and as the greater portion, if not all, the stock was taken in San Francisco, it is but natural to suppose that the machinery would be procured there, as it is very probable that some machine makers were among the stockholders, while it must be borne in mind that had the Company abandoned the project, no machinery would have been required either from San Francisco or any other place. We are not advocates of the doctrine of protection; trade will inevitably find its own level, and as the experience of Great Britain and the United States demonstrate, restrictions on commerce prove detrimental to the country for whose supposed benefit they have been created.

Still, in a new colony, it is sometimes wise to give a helping hand to a new enterprise—to aid the aspiring child, who is struggling bravely to compete in the race for fame and wealth with mature and experienced opponents; and, as an encouragement to home industry and mechanical skill, we should advocate the abolition of road tolls on all machinery made in the colony so long as we can be satisfied that the manufacturers do not abuse the privilege, but sell as good an article and at as cheap a price as can be supplied from abroad.

We would suggest to Messrs. Spratt & Irving that it would be judicious for them to disseminate a little information through the mines respecting their business and prices. The people here know very little about what can be made in Victoria, and in the absence of information, naturally seek the most extensive mart of production. Now, it is highly probable that within a year from the present time a number of steam engines and pumps will be required in Cariboo, but the ideas of parties likely to want them are of the most vague character as to what would be the cost. Now, if a complete catalogue of prices for engines, boilers, pumps and appurtenances, with full particulars as to power, pumping capacity, dimensions, weights, &c., were published in Cariboo, it would be of great service to the community and might result in immense benefit to the proprietors of the Foundry if they can offer reasonable inducements for patronage.

If the people of Vancouver Island, who according to their own showing possess so much more capital than the Mainland, would only invest a little of their superfluity in a Joint Stock Company for shipping engines and pumps to Cariboo for hire in prospecting, they would stand a better chance of developing the country and enriching themselves than by gaping open mouthed for the gifts of Providence to fall into their lips, or waiting for the golden age which is to be inaugurated when the whistle of the overland locomotive is heard at the Esquimalt intercolonial terminus.

FARM PRODUCE ARRIVED—Messrs. E. Pearson & Bro.'s teams arrived this week with a supply of fine Lillooet Onions and Fresh Ranch Eggs. Easter being at hand, those who consider the latter luxury indispensable at that festival will be glad to learn that there will be no scarcity.

ROAD STEAMERS—Two more of Barnard & Beady's steamers arrived on the Pacific. Six engineers are, we learn, expected from Scotland in a few days, on whose arrival every expedition will be used in placing the machines on the road without delay.

FROM OMINECA.

Mr Sylvester arrived from Omineca last night. He left Germansen Creek March 6th. No prospecting done yet this season. About twelve men are out on Curry and Vital creeks. On Germansen most of the men are occupied building houses. Elmore had about 7000 lbs. flour, 2000 lbs. sugar, 1000 lbs. bacon and 2000 lbs. beans at Hog'em. Denis Cain has about 600 lbs. flour at Germansen. The trail down was good. Mr S. met 55 men hauling tabogans, including those who started up with him in February. He will start up to-morrow. Letters and parcels will be received at Barnard's Express office up to 2 p.m.

BIG NUGGET—The Lightning co. last week got a nice piece worth over $500. This is, we believe, the largest piece ever found in Cariboo with the exception of one found in the Butcher claim in the same neighborhood about six years ago, which weighed about two oz. heavier.

WE have to congratulate our old Cariboo-ites—Messrs. J. C. Beady, Charles Oppenheimer, and John Peebles—on assuming the responsibilities of matrimony. These gentlemen have evidently still faith in the country.

The Weather for the last two weeks has been unpleasant and backward. A great deal of snow has fallen and the nights have been generally frosty. There have been a few occasional days bright sun, but there is no appearance of the snow, which is now very deep, beginning to dissolve. There having been little wind lately and constant traffic on the road, travelling to Vanwinkle is now very good.

SCHOOL MEETING.

Pursuant to legal notice, a public meeting of the inhabitants of William Creek School District was held at the Theatre Royal, on 20th inst., for the purpose of adopting means to raise the necessary funds required to carry on the proposed school. The chair was taken by Mr J. S. Thompson, President of the School Board, and the Secretary of the Board, Mr J. Goodfellow, acted as Secretary of the meeting.

The Chairman having explained the object of the meeting and read the clauses in the Public Schools Ordinance pertinent to the subject, stated that the School Board had come to the conclusion that in addition to the legal tuition fee of two dollars per month from such scholars as could afford to pay, and the Government grant of four hundred and eighty dollars, it would be necessary to levy a tax of two dollars per annum in the manner prescribed by law if the school were to be established, and it was now in the hands of the people to decide whether this course should be adopted or not.

Mr J. H. Todd then moved the following resolution:

"That this public meeting of the resident male inhabitants of the School District of William Creek hereby authorize and empower the Local Board for the aforesaid district to adopt and use the following means in order to raise the amount of money required to cover the expense of a school in this district:

1. To apply to the Governor in Council for a grant in aid of the establishment and maintenance of a Common School in Cariboo.

2. To charge and collect from each pupil attending school (except such as are considered not able to pay), the sum of two dollars per month as tuition fees.

3. To collect and levy a tax or rate on all the male residents of the age of 20 years in the District of William Creek of the sum of two dollars per head per annum, or any less amount which the Board may find sufficient to meet the expense of the school."

Mr Todd stated that a committee of the School Board had canvassed the district and ascertained that there were nineteen children between the ages of five and eighteen years, all of whom were likely to attend school, and that there were also sixteen children under the age of five years. The expense for the first year, including purchase and fitting up of a school house, teacher's salary and incidental expenses, would probably amount to $1800 or $2000, of which, supposing the Government would make an appropriation towards purchasing the house in addition to the annual grant, about $1200 would be required to be raised from the tuition fees and tax.

Mr William Michael seconded the resolution, which having been put to the meeting was carried without a dissentient voice.

The meeting then adjourned.

In accordance with the above resolution, the School Board have made the necessary application to the Governor in Council for a grant of money and authority to levy a tax.

The Late Suicide at Yale—The intelligence brought by telegraph to Quesnelmouth that Mr Charles Evans, well known as agent of Barnard's Express at Yale, had committed suicide, has been very distressing to those who were acquainted with the unfortunate gentleman. A Coroner's Inquest was held, when it appeared from the evidence that several parties had been standing outside the house about noon when they heard a pistol shot. They rushed in and found Mr Evans dead on the floor, blood coming out of his mouth and the pistol at his feet. He had put the pistol into his mouth and fired upwards through the brain. The verdict of the Jury was that "deceased committed suicide whilst under a temporary fit of insanity." He left several letters, the contents of which have not been made public.

Wesleyan Church—The Rev. Thomas Derrick having been summoned to Victoria to meet the Rev. W. M. Punshon, President of the Wesleyan Conference, left by Barnard's Express this week. Mr Punshon is expected to arrive in Victoria early in April, and we had hoped that he would have taken a trip to Cariboo and afforded us the pleasure of admiring his renowned talents and eloquence as a lecturer, but we learn that his engagements are such as to render it very improbable that he will be able to spare the necessary time. Mr Derrick expects to return in about five weeks. During his absence the usual services will be conducted in the Wesleyan Church by Messrs. Gilbert Munro and George Ferguson.

LEGISLATIVE SUMMARY.

March 1st—The Customs' Amendment Act, repealing the special duty of 50 cents per gallon imposed for telegraphic purposes, was passed by the Council.

The Fire Companies' Aid Bill, for levying an annual tax of $250 on all Insurance Offices or Agencies in Victoria for assistance of Fire Companies, was passed.

The Registration of Voters' Bill was considered in committee. An amendment was adopted that parties registering this year shall not require to be possessed of qualification except at time of registration, instead of three months previously.

March 2d—On motion of Mr Humphreys, the following motion was passed:—"That his Excellency the Governor be respectfully acquainted that in the opinion of this Council gentlemen experienced and skilled in the knowledge of the law should be appointed as County Court Judges as soon after Confederation with Canada as possible."

The consideration of the Registration of Voters' Bill was resumed in committee. Mr Bunster moved that the rental qualification be reduced from $40 to $24 per annum. After considerable discussion the amendment was negatived. The bill having passed through committee, Dr. Carrall moved that it be recommitted for the purpose of introducing a clause making the qualification of members $1500 in real estate, unincumbered, or $2000 in personal property. Messrs. DeCosmos and Humphreys opposed, and after a lively discussion the proposition for re-committal was carried.

March 7th—The Registration of Voters' Bill was again considered in committee, and Dr. Carrall having withdrawn his amendment as to the qualification of members, the bill was read a third time and passed. A Bill was introduced regulating the election of members.

On motion of Mr Humphreys, an address to the Governor was passed praying "That his Excellency may be pleased to enquire into the necessity of Sheriffs and Deputy Sheriffs giving Indemnity bonds and sureties."

A number of notices of motions were given.

By telegraph to March 18th, we learn that the Council was still in session.

FROM QUESNELMOUTH.

Quesnelmouth, March 15th.

Editor Sentinel:—Our town for the last few days presented an unusually lively appearance, as a number of men are getting ready and leaving for Omineca. Messrs. Wright and Trutch left this morning with a number of Indians and tabogans drawn by dogs. Mr. Trutch is to superintend the work of construction of the road over the portage. Tabogans of all sizes and shapes are to be seen here, some of wood, others of sheet iron with and without runners. The weather at present is unfavorable for day travelling, as it is soft and slushy, but the nights are still cold. The river is expected to be open by the first of next month. It has just been announced by telegraph that Mr. Chas. Evans, long and favorably known as Barnard's Agent at Yale, committed suicide yesterday, by shooting himself with a pistol. He left a couple of letters. Nothing further has been gleaned as to the cause.

LATEST FROM QUESNELMOUTH.

The Fraser river is beginning to break up and is expected to be open by the end of the month. The season appears to be about a fortnight more advanced than at the corresponding period of last year.

The Chinaman who was in prison on charge of larceny and supposed arson, escaped from jail on Saturday last during the temporary absence of the acting jailor.

Giscome, accused of assaulting Port, has been held to bail by Mr Ball to appear when called for. Port is still either unable or unwilling to give any rational account of the occurrence. A good many think he is shamming. The Indian who was supposed to have witnessed the affray has gone up the river with Messrs. Trutch and Wright's party.

The first trip of the steamer from New Westminster to Yale was to be made on Thursday of this week.

Express Movements—Johnson & Gerow's Express, carrying the mail, arrived on Monday evening and Barnard's Express next morning, with Messrs. J. M. Wark, H.B.C, and G. M. Morris, Bank B.N.A., as passengers, and James Reid, Messenger. Several passengers for Omineca came to Quesnelmouth. Dates from Victoria are to 9th March. Both expresses left on Wednesday. The Rev. Thos. Derrick and Mr M. G. Staples went by Barnard's, together with the treasure for the Banks in charge of Mr Reid.

Theatre Royal—A large and appreciative audience attended the performance given by the Amateurs on Saturday evening last for the benefit of Florence Wilson. The first piece presented—"The Day after the Wedding"—was well played but lacked a little of the vivacity requisite to insure success. Lady Elizabeth Freelove, by Florence Wilson, and Colonel Freelove, by Mr Brown, were very well rendered. Mr Marshall, as Lord Rivers, had not very much to say, but as on the two previous occasions on which he has appeared, was very correct, wanting but a little more action and self-confidence to make him a very creditable performer. Mr McDermott, as the old family servant James, acquitted himself admirably; and Mrs Parker, as the ancient lady's maid of a past generation, looked and acted the character, which is entirely of a different style to what she has been accustomed, to perfection. A comic Yankee recitation, in grotesque character, was given by Mr J. Z. Hough as an interlude, which was loudly applauded, and was varied by another equally amusing on that gentleman being rapturously encored. The concluding piece was the lively and highly amusing farce of "Young England," which kept the audience in roars of laughter. The unfortunate Mr Pooley, who had a dreadful baby thrust on him by accident and was destined to get into all manner of scrapes, was well performed by Mr Thompson. Mr Gomer Johns, who made his first appearance on the stage as Pounce, the Sheriff's officer, gave much satisfaction, and evidently possesses the versatility requisite to make a superior comic actor. This gentleman will prove a very valuable acquisition to the corps. Mr Smith, as Captain Dashalong, and Mr Pearson, as Major Martinet, both performed their parts exceedingly well and were heartily applauded. Florence Wilson, as Mrs Smiler the landlady, and Mrs Parker, as Mrs Pooley, were as usual excellent, and thoroughly merited the approbation bestowed on them; and Miss St. George, the representative of Mrs Dashalong, the mother of the missing Young England, who finally turned up all right, was greeted with a storm of applause.

Cariboo Amateur Dramatic Association—At the quarterly meeting of the Association held on Wednesday evening, Mr J. Z. Hough was re-elected Manager, Mr G. N. Marshall Secretary, and Messrs. Hough, Marshall and Thompson Managing Committee. Messrs. Pearson, Bowron and McKay were elected as Casting Committee. Messrs. J. McB. Smith and M. G. Staples, who are leaving Barkerville, having sent in their resignations, complimentary addresses were voted to those gentlemen, who have been energetic members of the Association, and both were ordered to be placed on the roll of honorary members. The Association propose performing again in a fortnight, and are determined to use their best efforts to cater to the public amusement and discharge the debt owing to holders of theatre liquidation tickets.

From San Francisco—The steamer Pacific, from San Francisco, arrived at Victoria on 8th March, bringing back a number of old British Columbians. Among our old Cariboo friends we notice Messrs. Wm. Sterling, E. C. Parsons, Jonah Williams, C. Strouss, Godfrey Oppenheimer and John Peebles—the latter two gentlemen being accompanied by their wives.

Bank Changes—Mr M. G. Morris, from the San Francisco branch of the Bank of British North America, arrived here by last express, and Mr M. G. Staples, who has been stationed at the Barkerville branch for the last two years, left for Victoria next day. Mr Staples, we understand, will take charge of the Assay department at Victoria.

Lane & Kurtz Mining Co.—By last accounts from San Francisco, Mr Lane was engaged in shipping the remainder of the machinery for the Meadows, and expected to leave on next steamer with the intention of forwarding it up country as soon as possible after resumption of steam navigation on the river.

THE PATIENCE OF JOB.

[BY JOSH BILLINGS.]

Everybody is in the habit of bragging on Job, and Job did have considerable pashunce; but did he ever keep a district skule for 8 dollars a month, and board around, or run a country newspaper.

Did he ever reap lodged oats down on a hot day, and have all his gallus buttons bust oph at once?

Did he ever have a jumping toothake, and be made to tend the babe while his wife was over to Parkins' to a tea squall?

Did he ever get up in the morning—awful dri—and huff it 3 miles before breakfast to get a drink, and find that the man kept a temperance house?

Did he ever undertake to milk a kicking heffer, with a bushy tale, in fly time, and in a lot?

Did he ever set on a litter of kittens, in the old rocking chair, with his summer pantaloons on?

If he could do theze things, and praze the Lord at the same time, all I hev to say is bully for Job.

WOMAN'S RIGHTS IN ARKANSAS—On Saturday last the star actress of Nelson's theatre, Miss Virginia Dee, entered the store of S. V. Cauth, and inquired if Mr Austin was in. Our friend Jake politely came forward and announced himself the person called for. Said Miss Dee: "I understand you have been talking about me." Jake—"Yes; I did speak of you. What did you hear I said of you?" Virginia—"I heard you said I winked at you." Jake—"Yes; I did say that." Virginia (drawing a pistol from her pocket and pointing it at Jake)—"Well, sir, I don't know what the laws of this State are in regard to slander, but if they don't protect me I will protect myself. Now, sir, you must write an apology." So, under the genial and soothing influences of that pistol, Jake washed the bacon grease from his hands and wrote his fair damsel an apology for saying that she "winked at him."

IN, UNTO AND UNDER—The vexed question o the proper mode of baptism was thus disposed of by "Uncle Cæsar," a colored minister out West:

"Now, bredren," said he, "I hear great fuss about dese words in and toto; and folks wants us to believe dat they mean under, and dat when de Scriptur' speaks of an individual going down into the water, de Bible mean to say that he went under the water. S'pose some day I go over to see brudder Soloman, and brudder Soloman werry politely say, 'Uncle Cæsar, come into de house, do anybody s'pose dis here person would go under de house!'"

A DYING COBBLER—"I feel," said a dying cobbler, "that I wax weaker every day, and that I am gradually approaching my end; only a few more stitches, and awl will be over. In heaven there is rest for the sole; awl my sorrow shall be heeled." He then calmly breathed his last.

"WELL, Pat," asked the doctor, "how do you feel to-day?" "Och, doctor dear, I enjoy very poor health entirely. The rumatics are very distressin', indade; when I go to slape I lay awake all night, and me toes is swilled up as big as a goose hen's egg, so whin I stand up I fall down immediately."

A WAG said "that once while on a journey he was put into a sleigh with a dozen more passengers, not one of whom he knew, but on turning a short corner the sleigh upset, and he found them all out."

A YOUNG woman, meeting a former fellow servant, was asked how she liked her new place. "Very well." "Then you have nothing to complain of?" "Nothing; only master and mistress talk such bad grammar."

AN Irishman, in recommending a cow, remarked, "She will give milk year after year without having calves, because she came of a cow that never had a calf."

MEDICAL.

To Physicians.

NEW YORK, August 15th, 1868.

Allow me to call your attention to my PREPARATION OF COMPOUND EXTRACT BUCHU. The component parts are BUCHU, LONG LEAF, CUBEBS, JUNIPER BERRIES.

MODE OF PREPARATION.—Buchu, in vacuo Juniper Berries, by distillation, to form a fine gin. Cubebs extracted by displacement with spirits obtained from Juniper Berries; very little sugar is used, and a small proportion of spirit. It is more palatable than any now in use.

Buchu, as prepared by Druggists, is of a dark color. It is a plant that emits its fragrance; the action of a flame destroys this (its active principle), leaving a dark and glutinous decoction. Mine is the color of ingredients. The Buchu in my preparation predominates; the smallest quantity of the other ingredients are added, to prevent fermentation; upon inspection it will be found not to be a Tincture, as made in Pharmacopœ, nor is it a Syrup—and therefore can be used in cases where fever or inflammation exist. In this, you have the knowledge of the ingredients and the mode of preparation.

Hoping that you will favor it with a trial, and that upon inspection it will meet with your approbation.

With a feeling of profound confidence,
I am, very respectfully,
