Parents demand abuse answers

Schools Superintendent John Denley is pensive during a presentation by John Revington and more than 80 parents at last week's school board meeting. They want answers about child abuse in the school district.

"Is there any place where the buck stops here (in School District 46)?" Tim Frizzell asked the school board last Tuesday evening when he led a group of some 80 parents who have unanswered questions and concerns about what happened when Robert Noyes taught in the local schools.

Noyes is at present appearing before a sentencing hearing in Vancouver, having plead guilty to 19 counts of sexual abuse, many incidents of which occurred while he was a teacher on the Sunshine Coast. Parents and other concerned citizens have been pressuring the school board to conduct an enquiry into the events which led from Noyes' hiring to his departure for Ashcroft where he was hired as principal with recomendations from this district.

Frizzell, who resigned from the school board last year in frustration at delays in calling those involved to account, said that although personnel issues are always discussed 'in camera' when the details of a particular case, such as the Noyes affair, are widely known it did not seem realistic to conduct questions and answers in private.

"Statements that have come out of a Supreme Court hearing for sentencing which led the public to have concerns about School District 46 and who knew what and when, are in the public domain," Frizzell told the board.

Frizzell said that many parents would like to have the board interview a principal involved in the Noyes case to clarify testimony that was heard at the sentencing hearing.

"There are also 40 people who want to discuss the Superintendent's testimony at the Noyes hearing," Frizzell told the board. "We would also like to know if, when the contract comes up for renewal, there will be public input?"

Frizzell said that delaying an enquiry until the matter is out of the Supreme Court could take years, if Noyes were to appeal as it is believed he will if he is found to be a dangerous offender.

The two methods by which offenders have been dealt with in the past by some school districts were described by Frizzell as being the medical and the legal.

"The legal one is through the proper process, for the children and for the teacher accused. The medical solution says that a deal can be struck if the offender agrees never to do it again and will seek psychiatric help. He gets moved to another district after a quiet talking to. This is identical to Dr. Blatherwick's solution (Blatherwick sent Noyes on from the Coquitlam school district)," Frizzell explained.

"This is not fair either to the teacher, if he is innocent, or for the children. If he did commit the offences it's very important to deal with them at once and legally," Frizzell continued.

The questions which Frizzell hopes the board will answer are "Is the medical solution a long-standing procedure for handling abuse in this district and was it used for Noyes?" - "Why were so many letters of support and evaluation written for Noyes

Mayor Joyce Kolibas takes notice of the enthusiastic support evident at a meeting in the Senior Citizens' Hall in Sechelt for the seniors' application for Expo Legacy Funds. See story below.

From Council and Chamber

Seniors get support

A possible conflict between Sechelt Council and the Senior Citizens in the quest for Expo Legacy Funds was averted last Tuesday after a meeting at the Senior Citizens' Hall in Sechelt saw almost two hundred people squeeze into the hall for meetings with representatives of council over the fact that both groups were seeking Expo Legacy grants. Mayor Joyce Kolibas and Alderman Graham Craig were the village representatives.

Mayor Kolibas told the meeting that council had been trying for years to do something about the village's waterfront. She said they were hoping to build a boat ramp and a beach wall and other improvements which would benefit the whole community.

Alderman Craig said that the council was facing "an agonizing choice between two equally meritorious projects".

Of the several speakers who spoke on behalf of the seniors' project of a Seniors' Hall, for which the land has already been purchased, the most eloquent was Jean Sherlock who spoke of her background working in occupational and recreational therapy for senior citizens in central B.C.

"Any money coming to this area and to the seniors is coming to the best possible spot," said Ms Sherlock.

"I found in my work in an asylum for the elderly that most of them were hospitalized by the lack of a social life and the resultant depression. It has been proven that if you can keep elderly people active and social they are not institutionalized, which is a benefit to the whole community, given the high costs of institutions."

Other speakers on behalf of the Seniors' project included Director Peggy Connor and President Larry Grafton. The meeting, which was intense but very amicable, was chaired by Len Herder.

Later in the week a spokesman for the Sechelt and District Chamber of Commerce, which body had originally proposed the waterfront project, told the Coast News that the chamber would be sending a letter to the village council throwing its support behind the Seniors' project.

The village council held a special meeting on Thursday, March 27, and released the following statement:

"Council has reviewed the two proposals for Expo Legacy Funding and have decided that, in the best interest of the greater Sechelt area, the Village of Sechelt will lend its full and enthusiastic support to the Senior Citizens' Branch No. 69 application to the Expo 86 Legacy Fund and will therefore withdraw its application."

Gov't sweetens the pot

Restructuring vote set for May 3rd

The dates have been set and the pot sweetened as the push to restructure the Village of Sechelt moves into its final phase.

The proposed restructuring would push the village boundaries as far south as the Girl Guide Camp at the edge of Roberts Creek, east to Tuwanek, and north to include all of West Sechelt.

The current proposal originated with Charles Lee of Selma Park who held a seat on the regional board and on the village council, and was taken up by Jon McRae when he became director for Area C (Davis Bay to Tuwanek) after Lee retired.

A press release for the restructuring committee, which has been meeting in camera recently because of land considerations according to a spokesman, gives details of the new and presumably final proposals.

"The Honourable W. Ritchie, Minister of Municipal Affairs, has recently introduced a program of grants to new municipalities which in the case of Sechelt would make available some $500,000 in the first three years of incorporation. He has also confirmed that planning grants adequate to cover preparation of a revised overall community plan and consolidated zoning, land use, and subdivision by-laws will be forthcoming.

"Also following a deputation to Victoria, the Honourable A. Fraser, Minister of Highways and Transportation, has revised his department's offer for roads maintenance to $895,000 over five years, an increase of $250,000 and the Honourable J. Kempf, Minister of Lands, Parks and Housing, has promised to give favourable consideration to the request for a land grant.

"These and any other changes which have occurred since our last information release are now being put together in a final information package to be published and distributed.

"The Minister of Municipal Affairs has approved May 3, 1986 as the date of referendum and the chain of events planned is as follows;

April 8: Publication of Restructuring Committee's final updated report.

April 14: Mail drop of final report.

April 15: First official notice of referendum.

April 17, 18, and 19: Drop-in 'question and answer' meetings. (Time and place to be announced.)

April 22: Second notice of referendum.

April 25: Advance Poll.

May 3: REFERENDUM."

Caldicott speaks

On Thursday, April 3, at 7:30 p.m., Helen Caldicott, whose award winning film If You Love This Planet has won international acclaim, will be speaking at the UBC War Memorial Gym. This is a joint effort between End the Arms Race and the UBC AMS.

Tickets are available at all CBO or VTC ticket outlets. For more information on this please call 736-2366.

Teachers get Board support

The Teachers for Peace were at the school board meeting last Tuesday night to ask the board for support, both financial and moral, in their push to introduce into the elementary schools a small reader on the subject of peace. Bert Slater spoke on behalf of the group.

He commended the board for its stance against the promotion of war toys and asked the board to approve $100 towards the cost of purchase of the booklets.

"A private citizen has given us $100," Slater told the board. "The Sunshine Coast Teachers' Association has given us another $100 and the Peace Committee has donated $25."

"The book has no religious or philosophical bias and it has been tested at Simon Fraser University where it's been shown there's no sexist or religious bias," Slater continued.

The board agreed to the request although the actual method of allocating the funds was a ticklish problem.

"This is not sophisticated propaganda," Slater said. "This is a simple and easy read -a step in a positive direction."

The book, We Can Do It, is in the form of an alphabet, with entries showing, for example, two world leaders shaking hands, children expressing joy at the end of war, advice on how to be angry without hitting or being violent, the desirability of living in harmony.

For bulk orders the book costs 70 cents a copy.

Dr. David Yaxley, representing the Physicians for Social Responsibility, commended the board for its decision to make the book available.

"There is a lack of this issue in curriculum. I know that my 14 year old is uninformed as to these issues," Yaxley told the board. "This book is basic and innocent and is a good start to help develop children's awareness on this issue. We don't have to be politically aligned to be in favour of peace."

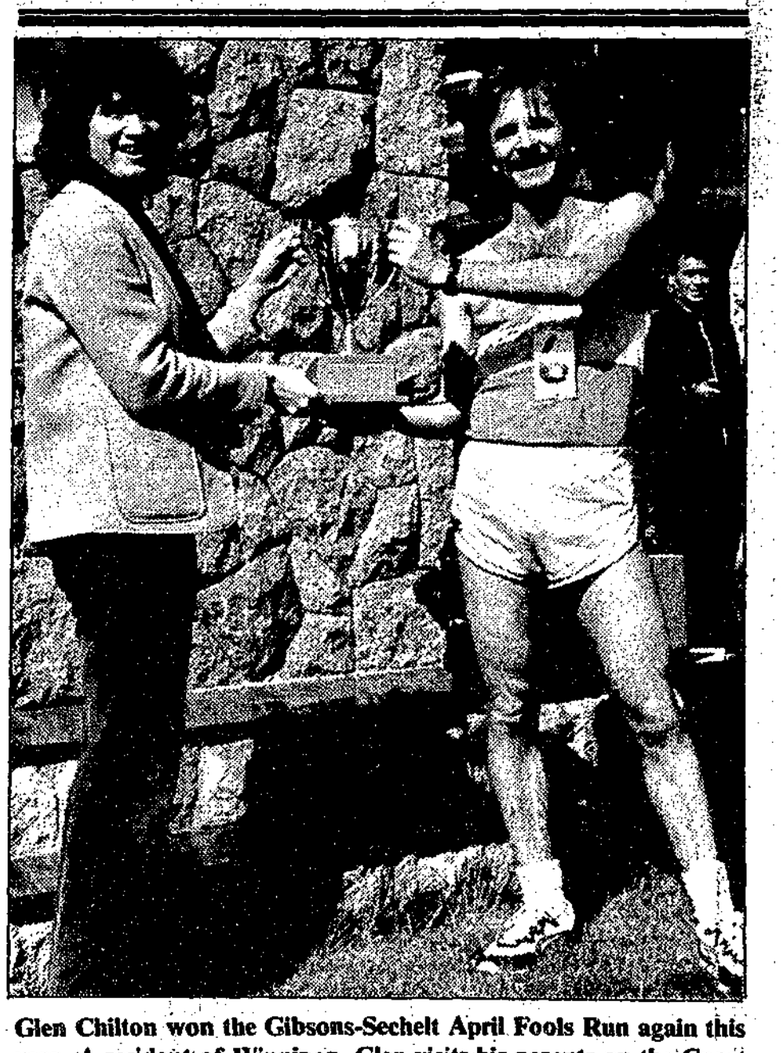
The book will be made available to the children but will not at this time be a part of their curriculum.

Roads action sought

"Remedial action should be a priority" says the letter going to the Department of Highways from the regional board concerning the S bend on Gower Point Road in the vicinity of 12th Street.

Joan Mahlman, Chairman Jim Gurney's alternate director, read the letter to the board last Thursday night in Gurney's absence.

A petition of more than 80 names accompanies the letter; the petition was circulated after an accident at the ravine, the latest in a string of more than a dozen such accidents, some of which have resulted in hospitalization for drivers and passengers.



Glen Chilton won the Gibsons-Sechelt April Fools Run again this year. A resident of Winnipeg, Glen visits his parents on the Coast every year and times it to take part in the run. If he wins three consecutive times we're going to let him keep the Coast News Challenge Cup. Details next week.

Schoolyard bully

There's an old joke which defines the height of ambition as a flea crawling up the leg of an elephant with rape in mind.

We were reminded of it last week when, with a straight face, the spokesman for the White House justified the American action against Libya as saying it was occasioned by a patrol boat steaming towards the 6th Fleet 'with hostile intentions'.

There were three aircraft carriers and two dozen other heavily armed warships and this patrol boat was steaming right out there to take them all on.

Do you remember the Gulf of Tomkin? It's a body of water just off Vietnam and when an incident took place back in about 1964 involving the U.S. Navy and a North Vietnamese patrol boat Lyndon Baines Johnson was righteously outraged and the Congress along with him and the escalation into Vietnam was on.

It was some years and hundreds of thousands of casualties later we found out that the incident had never taken place. President Johnson needed a pretext to get the support of Congress for his military ventures.

The Nicaraguan ambassador to Canada was asked on CBC's The Journal what he thought were the prospects of peace for his country.

He said if there is a will for peace there will be peace. If the Americans refuse to recognize us as Americans but as part of some East-West dichotomy, this is a close paraphrase, they can destroy us any time they want.

"We are a small country of three million people and they own the skies," he said.

So, too, is Libya a small country of some three million people. It is hard to believe that the cause for peace in the world and a future for mankind is being well-served by the United States of America, with all its matchless might, rushing about the world like a schoolyard bully punishing and intimidating the small folk.

Well-done

It is with congratulations and a sense of relief that we welcome the decision of the Sechelt and District Chamber of Commerce and the Sechelt Village Council to throw their weight behind Branch 69 of the Senior Citizens' Association in their quest for Expo Legacy funding to help build their new hall.

The likelihood is that had Victoria been asked to choose between two applications from Sechelt they would have granted neither. Governments do not like to make enemies when they disburse largesse. They like to give their money to unified communities.

Nor is there any doubt that the seniors of Branch 69 are a most deserving lot and that their hall would be a great boon to all of the Sunshine Coast.

Sincere congratulations then, to the Sechelt and District Chamber of Commerce and the Village Council. We may be getting the hang of this co-operation business around here.

Children's views of war

"This is my house and there are three airplanes bombing it. And three soldiers are cutting down the corn. They want to take away our food, so we will die of hunger. And a soldier wants to kill a man who is out working for food for his family. And they want to kill him just for that. They want the man to die of hunger. And the soldier says: "I hope this old wolf dies of hunger."

Norma Castro was 12 years years old when she wrote those words to accompany a drawing she made in a Honduran refugee camp. She is Salvadorean, forced to leave her home along with 1,600,000 others in Central America, because of repression or fear of it.

There was a small, powerful exhibition on the Coast last week of drawings by children living in the refugee camps which abound in Honduras, El Salvador, Guatemala, Mexico, Costa Rica.

Children have a simple view of life. They are unencumbered by the things we teach them as they grow. Hence their messages are clear. It is the simplicity of the messages that can reach the heart.

Soldiers carry guns that fire bullets that hit people who fall down and die. Helicopters carry bombs that set fire to villages and fields of precious food. Parents, friends, family, other children, donkeys, chickens, dogs, these are the victims; these incidents of terror are what will one day be their childhood memories.

Along with the exhibition, which was on display at Langdale Elementary School, was a book in which those who see the drawings may write their comments. I read through it and on every page Canadian children repeated the same messages: "I am so very very sad," "I wish there was no war," "How lucky we are to live in this country and be free," "I wish there was something I could do to help," "Sad, sad, sad."

I was reminded of the pictures we've probably all seen of little boys, old before puberty and dressed in rags, with hand outstretched perhaps, waiting for the trains to take them to the camps of Hitler's Germany. And the eyes. Always the eyes that have seen too much that makes too little sense. Always the eyes that have seen death and watched dreams die before they ever had a chance to grow.

And children in our own time - distended bellies, barely skin enough to cover the bones, children who may never have enough to eat, or have a home, a school, a toy to play with, perhaps even time enough to reach maturity. Whether it's in Ethiopia or the Sudan, Chad or Mali, we send them to hell before they get a glimpse of heaven.

What is it in the way we look at our children? We would die for our own children; we fret and worry, push and cajole, love and cherish, yet so often the caring doesn't extend to any but our own.

When will we learn? When will we start to see children, not as ours, but as human beings with the right to live with dignity, to be treated decently. There are millions upon millions of children in this world this very day who are hungry, cold, unloved perhaps, alone, sick, uneducated, rejected. And every time another war arises, or another billion dollars is spent on bullets and bombs, or another hand raised in anger, the children suffer. They are the silent victims.

To Spring

On thou with dewy locks, who lookest down
Through the clear windows of the morning, turn
Thine angel eyes upon our western isle,
Which in full choir hails thy approach, O Spring!

The hills tell one another, and the listening
Valleys hear; all our longing eyes are turned
Up to thy bright pavilions: issue forth,
And let thy holy feet visit our clime.

Come o'er the eastern hills, and let our winds
Kiss thy perfumed garments; let us taste
Thy morn and evening breath; scatter thy pearls
Upon our love-sick land that mourns for thee.

O deck her forth with thy fair fingers; pour
Thy soft kisses on her bosom; and put
Thy golden crown upon her languished head,
Whose modest tresses were bound up for thee.

Maryanne's viewpoint

Man belongs to earth

by Maryanne West

The seminar on the foreshore was an eye opener. A moratorium on further applications for fish farms seems long overdue.

Most of us I expect haven't set eyes on a fish farm, we've read stories and letters in the newspapers, we may even know people involved in the aquaculture industry, but few of us have any first hand experience.

Many of us have had questions popping in and out of our minds and the foreshore seminar with such a comprehensive slate of experienced people both from government and the fishing fraternity was an opportunity we'd been waiting for.

Everyone giving thought to foreshore use, an area of the province which previous governments have kept as far as possible for public use, must have been asking themselves questions.

Questions such as, do we know what the intrusion of millions of captive fish will have on the ecology of the immediate and surrounding area? We know that John Muir's thoughts on the interdependence of all living things has been proven many times in the following century, that you cannot introduce fish farms without having an impact on all the creatures which occupy that immediate area and that the spin offs may well reach far beyond, like a pebble thrown into a pond.

Whether anything will be done to protect all the natural predators of fish who will be lured by the artificially created bounty and the prospect of an easy meal? Will our resident populations of seal, sea lion, otter, mink, raccoon, heron, eagle and kingfisher be decimated as they dare to partake of a feast set out for them?

Even those who only rate things by their dollar and cents value will appreciate that these creatures also have an economic value to the area - a part of the wild, unspoilt picture we present to tourist and prospective resident alike.

But, we kept telling ourselves, we have provincial and federal departments of the environment as well as fisheries staffed with competent biologists all of whom know all this and more, so undoubtedly proper precautions are being taken and fish farming is being introduced in an orderly and responsible fashion.

So the seminar was an eye opener. The government departments are in a complete state of disarray, without funds to carry out proper on-site surveys, bending under pressure from the industry.

That shouldn't have been a surprise, we should have known how governments are. What was a shock was the map showing the sites already occupied or leased. Nelson Island looks like one big fish farm and there are other occupied sites along the Coast and right up the inlets.

It must have been obvious that it is in everyone's interest, especially the interests of the fish farmers to have a moratorium on any new applications for at least a couple of years or as long as it takes to collect the requisite data.

Let's not let anyone try to blow this up into a fight between the aquaculture industry and environmentalists. It shouldn't be, little can be gained by "destroying nature and building an arrogantly artificial world".

For the fish farmer who has a great deal of money invested in his operation the knowledge of how to work with the forces that govern the forest and the sea, to share with nature not destroy it, is essential. Nature has a way of having the last word.

Let us read again, with humility, the speech of Chief Seattle of the Suquamish given in 1854. It reads in part - "The earth does not belong to man; man belongs to the earth. This we know. All things are connected like the blood which unites one family. All things are connected.

"Whatever befalls the earth befalls the sons of the earth. Man did not weave the web of life; he is merely a strand in it. Whatever he does to the web, he does it to himself...Even the white man...cannot be exempt from the common destiny...One thing we know which the white man may one day discover - our God is the same God. You may think now that you own him as you wish to own our land, but you cannot. He is the God of man...the earth is precious to him and to harm the earth is to heap contempt on its Creator. The white too shall pass, perhaps sooner than all other tribes. Continue to contaminate your bed, and you will one night suffocate in your own waste.

"So, if we sell you our land, love it as we have loved it. Care for it as we've cared for it...And with all your strength, with all your mind, with all your heart, preserve it for your children and love it...as God loves us all."

Another performance suggested for play

Editor:

When the Wind Blows, I'll be glad I have my doors on. The retired country couple in the recent play, skillfully performed by the Driftwood Players, didn't because they had removed them to erect a Fallout Shelter in their living room.

My twelve year old daughter and I went to the play as an "evening out with Mom". The program suggested discussion over coffee and cookies before and after the play. We should have gone for the "before".

After the first nuclear attack the lettuce had evaporated, the road melted, and the birds silenced, but Hilda and James Bloggs waited for "the authorities" to bring relief supplies as they had done during WW II.

Radiation effects caused headaches, nausea, bleeding gums and blue body spots which would surely be cured by a trip to the chemist. However, Hilda and James took extra precautions that night to sleep in paper bags, in case another one came. It did. There was no curtain call.

Nor was there any appetite for fat chocolate chip cookies, or "It's still raining out" talk.

I closed and locked both my doors, and prepared hot Inka and grilled cheese sandwiches. Only then did I ask, "What did you think of the play?"

"It freaked me Mom. I wish I hadn't seen it," my daughter replied.

As we talked about our hope of eternal life, the gloom began to lift.

I never thought to tell her that the fatal omission in the survival instructions was to erect a sign on the country road one block from their home saying "Nuclear Free Zone".

Thank you Raymond Briggs (author), Colleen Elson (Director) and cast for giving my nebulous impressions about nuclear war vivid clarity.

Thank you too for making my faith in a God who loved me enough to die for me extremely precious. The documented proof that Jesus died and rose again is still our only hope.

Would you consider another performance?

Ontario Hydro supplies nuclear fuel

Editor:

I recently received a letter from Energy Probe, one of Canada's most influential citizens' groups, with some startling information on tritium. The Canadian author, Margaret Laurence, who is a spokesman for Energy Probe, is circulating this information in the hopes that Canadians will demand a stop to tritium sales.

What is tritium? A by-product of Ontario Hydro's Candu reactors, tritium is the US military's number one weapons priority, as it is vital to making new nuclear weapons.

Over 90 per cent of tritium produced is used in making new hydrogen bombs, in refreshing existing bombs (without tritium infusions most nuclear weapons would soon be useless), and in the making of neutron bombs.

The entire US military can only produce 11 kilograms a year, and to this Canada potentially adds four kilograms more - enough to refresh most of the existing 25,000 US nuclear bombs or to provide all the tritium needed for 1000 new hydrogen bombs.

Ontario Hydro admits that tritium is crucial to manufacturing bombs, but isn't stopping sales because of the potential profits.

Energy Probe strongly urges you to write to the Prime Minister asking him not to allow the sale of tritium. If you would like more information you can contact Energy Probe at 100 College Street, Toronto, Ontario M5G 1L5.

Location of French Immersion disputed

Editor's note: The following letter was received for publication.

The Board of School Trustees
School District No. 46
Box 220
Gibsons, BC

Dear Members:

I am writing in response to the school board's decision to place the French Immersion Program in Sechelt (Board meeting, March 25, 1986). As a strong supporter of French Immersion I feel that many Gibsons and Roberts Creek students will be excluded from participating in the program and must therefore disagree with the board's decision.

A survey taken indicated that the strongest interest in the French Immersion Program came from the Gibsons/Roberts Creek area. It showed that there were enough children to have two classes for kindergarten and two classes for Grade 1.

I feel that the board's decision to place the program in Sechelt simply because of extra classrooms was reached as a matter of convenience to the budget, not to the students.

I'm sure that many parents feel as I do that to bus or car pool our kindergarten and Grade 1 children to Sechelt every day is completely impractical. It would mean a very long day with extra travel time and make extra curricular activities almost impossible. Consequently I think most people in Gibsons and Roberts Creek would be forced out of the program.

It is my understanding that the school board is preparing a needs budget. If this is the case, now is the time to stop bowing to the restraint policies and work for the needs of the children.

I ask that the members of the board reconsider their decision and locate a French Immersion Program in Roberts Creek or Gibsons.

Why not U-Down-'Em?

Editor:

Noticed in last week's issue that Jon ("take my word on it") Van Arsdell was good enough to write in and help us all feel cosy about the U-Catch-'Em pens. I immediately felt compelled, as one of the leading (take my work for it) international experts on bird droppings, to say some things for "Aira West".

After intensive and excessively expensive testing we have determined that the U-Catch -'Em pens will have no obtuse impacting of any siignificant measure on the local ecology whatsoever.

As for "disgust" over treatment of the birds themselves -does a species that chooses to live year round in Stanley Park on a diet of carmel-covered popcorn sound sensitive to you?

It is our opinion that if more Coasters showed the kind of iniative Mr. Burns displays, the current "suck that buck" plaign both councils are running might really get off the ground!

How about "U-Down -'Em"? Ever notice how the loggers somehow overlooked just a few of the really BIG old Douglas Firs?

Imagine a lottery for Expo guests, the winners of which get to cut down the "Last of the Big Ones".

We save the largest tree till the end and while the lucky winner saws down the last of the great trees, we the citizens gather round and (to paraphrase our mayor) "smile the Sechelt smile, wear the Sechelt T-shirt, and sing the Sechelt song."

You know the one - "M.I.C...K.E.Y... MO...USE...

Editor:

The Roberts Creek Community Association would like to take this opportunity to thank Neil Olsen and Larry Smith of the Sheepskin Slipper Company for their co-operation in removing the sign which seemed to offend so many local residents.

We appreciate their courtesy and community-mindedness. We hope that their new sign on Highway 101, near Flume Road, will bring them lots of customers so that their business will thrive.

Thanks

Editor:

May I please use your paper to thank those people who attended the lighting of the totem pole at Sechelt Elementary School on Tuesday, March 25, on such a foul night.

I hope the light will further the bond between the Indian people, the school and the community.

Roberts Creek

Guides sign up

by Jeanie Parker, 886-3973

There's good news for girls ages 9 to 12. A Guide Group is being formed in Roberts Creek under the leadership of Mrs. Wilma Erskine with help from Sue Shepherd. Sue just returned from a conference at Naramata and is really enthused about all she learned there with lots of ideas for projects, games, and field trips.

There's a registration and information meeting on Wednesday, April 9, at 3:30 in the Community Use Room at Roberts Creek Elementary. Girls who haven't been in Brownies are welcome. For more information phone Sue Shepherd at 885-2972.

FAIRE TIME

The Roberts Creek Parents' Auxiliary is holding an organizational meeting for the annual Fun Faire on Thursday, April 10, at 10 a.m. in the Communy Use Room at the school. Anyone who can help is welcome as they're looking for new ideas.

The Fun Faire is the major fund-raiser for the school so it is very important and needs lots of people and energy. The proposed date for the Faire is Friday, May 9, so there's only a month to get ready. Please come to the meeting and lend your assistance.

DANCE TICKETS

A lot of people are already talking about the dance at the Community Hall on April 12 so get your tickets early. "Slim and the Pickups" will be opening the evening and Randish and John Paulin will be back on the Coast with "Razzbabboon", a new six piece band.

The dance is sponsored by the Hall Committee. Tickets are $7.50 at Seaview Market. No minors.

NEW LOOK

It's out with the old and in with the new in the Roberts Creek Volunteer Fire Department. They're trying to sell the old original fire truck, fondly referred to as the "old turkey". At the same time, they're sporting new uniforms, the latest in haute couture for fire protection.

The ice cream white with green flourescent stripes is certainly a shock after the grubby old gear and not likely to remain in its pristine condition long. But WCB regulations require the change to the new fireproof material for the protection of our noble volunteers.

Volunteer openings

by Batyah Fremes

The Volunteer Action Centre is presently helping several services on the Coast fill volunteer openings for Spring and Summer.

Drivers in the Gibsons area are needed immediately to transport clients to and from medical appointments. One needs to have a car and be available for daytime driving two or three times a month. Mileage is paid for all trips both on and off the Coast, as well as ferry fare from Vancouver.

Gibsons Library is searching for a mature gentleman to read every other week to preschoolers. Eight to 20 children assemble every Wednesday for an hour's story time.

The Adult Basic Literacy Program (ABLE), is especially short of tutors in the Sechelt area right now. Adults are required two or three hours a week to help peers develop essential reading and writing skills. ABLE provides all the necessary training for volunteers, as well as on-going support throughout the tutoring process.

The Sechelt Baby Clinic wants a warm friendly person to welcome new mothers and their infants to this post natal care facility. For a couple of hours every second Wednesday afternon, this woman would perform the much needed duties of hostess, receptionist and assistant to the Public Health Nurse running the clinic.

To register, or find out more about these volunteer opportunities and others listed with the Volunteer Action Centre, call 885-5881. Registration interviews are conducted in Sechelt and Gibsons.

Halfmoon Bay Happenings

Sell-out

by Ruth Forrester, 885-2418

Three weeks before show date of April 12 the Halfmoon Hams Farewell Show tickets have all gone. This is when we wish that we had a hall capable of holding three or four hundred instead of having to turn people away.

But don't give up hope just yet - if you give your name and phone number to the ticket outlets you will be called if there are some cancellations, and there usually are some. So get your name on top of the list. The Book Store, Strings 'n Things and Books and Stuff are the places to call.

I do have a suggestion to make for those of you who are disappointed and had been planning to spend $5 for the show. If you feel you would like to make a donation to the cause for which the show is being presented, namely the Erin Kelly Van Fund, the above mentioned ticket outlets or any of the Hams would be delighted and grateful to receive your contribution.

OPEN HOUSE

A reminder to all you Halfmoon Bay mums that the Welcome Beach Play School is having Open House Tuesday, April 8 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

FIRST SIGHTING

Elsie Julian of Redrooffs reported her first sighting of a visiting humming bird on Tuesday, March 25. Guess it's time to get some feed out for our little friends who bring us so much pleasure. Right now they are hungry after their long flight and need a little boost till the pollens are more plentiful.

A GREAT LIGHT

I'm not sure whether it should be the highways department or hydro who should be given a vote of thanks for the brand new street light which has recently been erected on the highway at the junction of Hwy 101 and the Halfmoon Bay School road.

This is of great help to those getting off the bus on dark nights.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY

The next monthly meeting of the Halfmoon Bay Branch of St. Mary's Hospital Auxiliary will be at Welcome Beach Hall on Monday, April 7 at 10 a.m. Anyone interested in giving some of their time to help with auxiliary projects will be made most welcome.

PLANT SALE

The date has been set for the Welcome Beach Community Association's annual plant sale at the hall. It will be on Saturday, May 17. Mary Murray will be in charge and is the lady to call if you would like to lend a hand for this popular event. You can reach Mary at 885-2613.

Park in need of care

by Jean Robinson, 885-2954

Brookman Park needs some TLC. Why this park is continually vandalized is a mystery. It has a great gazebo for Moms and Dads to sit while they watch Junior play. Someone has torn a big hole in the roof.

The benches have been tipped over and parts removed.

A work party will meet at 10 a.m. at the park on April 19. Some boards and ropes will be replaced. A general clean up of the area, and removal of all benches will be done, rain or shine. We can toast weiners in the bonfire and coffee will be provided.

If there are no donations of materials or money, then some of the existing structures may have to come down.

Be a part of your community. Attend the General Meeting at the Wilson Creek Hall on April 14, 7:30 p.m. and the park clean up on April 19, 10 a.m.

Needed - three old tires that are not steel belted, in order to replace the swing seats.

MOTORCROSS

Had a chat with Lance Gray who says the Motorcross Races have begun again. He will be giving times and dates for the next races in a future column.

He reports there are many racers but only he and his wife, along with John Pinkster to do all the setting up and labour involved with the races.

Come on guys and dolls. If you want to play you have to pay. Give these people your support.

MISCELLANEOUS

Nice to see you up and around again, Jack Marsden.

W.H. John Johnson, chairman of the Sandy Hook Property Owners Association, urges all interested home owners in Area C to attend an informational meeting on April 16, 7:30 p.m. A local representative from the Ministry of Forests will outline the 10 year plan for logging in the area. Come and ask questions. Find out how this will affect streams, lakes and ultimately, your homes.

A small park is in the process of being cleared for a childrens playground at Sandy Hook. Sounds like they are all in gear and pulling together in Sandy Hook.

Bridge is finished at the Wilson Creek Hall until fall. Many thanks to Hazel Seeton and Helen Heath who ran it and to Harold Heath who helped set up the tables all season.

Don't forget the Conservation and Outdoor Recreation Education (CORE) course starts Monday, April 7, 7 to 9 p.m., and continues until the 30th. This takes place at the Wilson Creek Clubhouse, off Field Road, at the end of Gunclub Road.

The course costs $60, including $20 to pre-register. Send cheques payable to Bea Rankin, R.R. No. 1, Sechelt, 885-9787. This class is not yet full and is a must for a first time B.C. hunter's license.

Daffodil Days

by Peggy Connor, 885-9347

Daffodil Days are April 4 and 5, buy a bunch of the sunny flowers and help with cancer research.

The cancer mail-drop will start on April 14. Please support it.

Important fact: of all the Canadians who are diagnosed as having cancer during 1986, 50 per cent will be alive and considered well in 1991. A whole lot better than it used to be. Cancer can be beaten.

SLIDE NIGHT

Saturday, April 5, starting at 7:30 p.m. at St. Hilda's Church Hall there will be an historical biblical film on Israel with commentary.

Refreshments will be provided. Admission by donation goes to the Building Fund.

The new church is rising up to become a beautiful building and all those who have worked towards this end can be proud of what is being achieved.

Whale of a Sale will be on at the hall on Saturday, April 12, starting at 10:30 a.m. Plants and white elephant items, but no clothes, will be needed for sale. If you have anything you wish to contribute call 885-2593 for pickup.

GARDEN NEWS

The Sechelt Garden Club is planning an award for the most beautiful garden in the Sechelt area from West Sechelt including Wilson Creek, up to the Girl Guide Camp.

The work on the garden must be of the owner's doing, no professional landscaping. Watch for further details at the garden show in the Trail Bay Mall on April 19.

B&P WOMEN

Don't forget to pick up your tickets for the Sunshine Coast Business and Professional Women's fifth Annual Bursary Fashion Show. It will be held on two nights, Wednesday and Thursday, April 16 and 17, at the Sechelt Indian Band Community Hall.

Pub issue alive

Jose and Consuelo Martinez have signed a covenant to accompany their request for rezoning of their Davis Bay property to allow a neighbourhood pub.

This covenant was drawn up following a meeting with the regional district planning department and on the heels of a planning committee meeting where concerns were expressed about the possible uses to which the property, site of the Casa Martinez Restaurant, might be put in the future.

Although opposition was expressed to the granting of the rezoning request at a public meeting, the board had given the zoning by-law second reading, but balked at giving third reading and approval because of their concerns about property use.

At last Thursday's board meeting Martinez, who was present, declined to comment, but in a letter to the board received at the same meeting and accompanying the convenant, asked that the matter be tabled until after an April 1 or 2 meeting with Coast-Garibaldi Health Unit, where their concerns about his application will come under discussion.

Pender People 'n' Places

Harbour's loss

by Joan Wilson, 883-9606

Pender Harbour has lost an outstanding member of the community with the sudden death of Harry Holliday of Garden Bay.

Harry's green boat was a familiar sight in coastal settlements from Kingcome Inlet to Klemtu. He and his wife Hilary, a physiotherapist who gave much time to these isolated communities, were long-time Harbour residents.

Harry was a member of the Coast Guard Auxiliary, and helped many a boater in distress. He will be sadly missed here and all along the West Coast.

SPRING DANCE

Tickets for the Community Club Spring Dance are available at the Oak Tree, Harbour Video, and Centre Hardware. The date is April 12, 9 to 1 at the Community Hall. The music will be performed by "Nightshift".

Dance those springtime blues away!

NEWS BRIEF

Edith Daly is in New York getting a bionic hip. You set the style, Jock Gibson!

Col. Flounders is adding on, now that they're back from holidays.

Michelle Rivers scared her family with a ruptured appendix recently. She's home now, recovering nicely. Get well soon, Michelle!

Can someone tell me if the Irvine's Landing Marina is changing hands?

MADEIRA PARK ELEMENTARY NEWS

During March, MPES held an Open House, an indoor track meet, and a parents' meeting.

The new May Queen is Deena Lowings, with attendants Christy Gooldrup and Melanie Godkin. Flower girls are Nikki Bathgate, Jessica Munro, Angeline Gough and Kristal Garbers.

HEART BEATS

Annabelle Antilla would like to thank the people from Wood Bay to Egmont who donated so generously to the B.C. Heart Foundation. Our total was $2,732.35!

Special thanks to our volunteers for their time and energy canvassing: Marjory MacKay, Shirley Dumma, Margaret Porter, Pat Vaughan, Anne Cook, Eileen Alexander, Ann Cook, Wilma Thompson, Sue Elsdon, Simone Chappell, Joyce Garbers, Shelly Christian, Elizabeth Beadle, Les Beharrell and Mel Likes.

LIONS AUCTION

The Pender Harbour Lions Club is appealing to the community for donations of saleable items for their annual auction. Your generosity in the past has helped the Lions' activities right here in the Harbour.

They are looking for attic treasures, hand tools, machines, motors, mowers, stoves, household items, dishes, lamps, boats and gear, fishing equipment, hardware, bicycles - all manner of things thay may just be taking up space in your garage or basement.

For pick up, please call Earl Ansell, 883-2752; Les Beharrell, 883-2528, or Walter Blair, 883-9409. Thanks for your continuing support!

THEY'RE BACK!

Can anyone beat Joe and Gayle Adams' sighting of the first hummingbird? The Adams spotted one on March 20 at their home on Whiskey Slough, and promptly put out the feeder. Despite the rain and fog, we are now certain that spring is here!

APRIL IS CANCER MONTH

Volunteers for the Cancer Society will once again be selling daffodils on April 4 in Madeira Park. Please support the work of the Cancer Society.

You can protect your health in two important ways: know the seven steps to health (available from the local branch) and give generously for research and support services during April.

HOLIDAYS

Easter holidays will disrupt everyone's plans during the next week. You won't get me on the phone for news, and my next community column. See you in April!

DON'T FORGET

Community Club Swap Meet, Saturday, April 5. Call Hans Schroeder, 883-2573, for a table.

Watch for the SPCA Plant Sale at this time.

Egmont News

Egmont's fast lane

by Ann Cook, 883-9167

EASTER HAT LUNCH

It's life in the fast lane, Backeddy boogie on Friday, breakfast at the Lions on Saturday, now luncheon on Wednesday at the hall.

That's 1 p.m. this Wednesday, April 2. It's cold plate and dessert plus tea or coffee for $3 and $1.50 for kids.

Create your own Easter bonnet as there will be prizes for prettiest, funniest, most original, etc., etc. There will be prizes for little girls also, so come on moms, and grandmoms have a fun day with them making hats and going out for lunch.

There will be door prizes, raffles and fun games plus socializing.

Vi Berntzen is definitely the hostess with the mostest and keeps her cool. She'd never slap her aide Dolly Wallace. If you have relatives or friends visiting for the Easter holiday bring them along as it's Wednesday and the Thrift Store is open upstairs in the hall.

On view there is the beautiful kitchen knife set made in Egmont by John Seabrook and being raffled at this time. Also second prize, rechargeable flashlight and third prize which is a surprise, but it's there to view. See you Wednesday 1 p.m. sharp.

MISCELLANEOUS

More action for Egmont, tennis court that is.

Welcome home from world travelling and tennis playing Bill and Shirley Hall of North Lake. P.S. to Diana, Adam, Geoff, Denny and John; they brought a case of TB's with them.

"Inagin outagin" it was for Gene Berntzen who had eye cataracts removed and was out of hospital next day. I wouldn't be surprised to see Gene and Vi out on the tennis court.

Dolly Wallace says Thank you for meals on wheels. Dolly -Little Che Wing Wallace broke her arm a few weeks back and has been coping quite well especially with neighbours and friends bringing her meals, stove wood and flowers and their company. She's coping so well she worked at the Bargain Barn last week.

I did not see it but heard we almost had another house fire. Thanks to fast-moving volunteers it wasn't a disaster. Bet a siren could have helped them gain two or three minutes which is crucial when a wood fire is just starting.

Don Jeffries is leaving Egmont. (I'll bet!)

The Backeddy will have "Geraldmusic" daily in the pub by May. For sure weekends until then.

Not a rumour! Lions auction will happen so get in touch with them to pick up any "auctionables" you have to donate.

Happy anniversary Bill and Jean Graham on your 47th.

BIRTHDAYS

April Fool! Last month I said April birthdays. Here are the April birthdays. (Some are Aries, Aries is symbolized by the ram and in spite of frustrations, failures and disappointments, Aries always survives)

Doug and Elaine Silvey, Katie D., Gloria F. and Len Silvey, Tina Broeker and her Grandad Dan C., Patti Jackson and Marty Lowe, Mike L., Walt H., Jaccie J. and Kinji. Three year old Elisha Barham wherever you are.

Coast overlooked

B.C. Ferries have done it again, Director John Shaske told the regional board last Thursday night.

Some time ago, Shaske said, the Ferry Corporation agreed that when new schedules were announced in the Vancouver papers, the Sunshine Coast schedule would be included in the advertising.

"Two weeks ago the new sailings for Routes 1 and 2 were advertised in both the Sun and the Province. It was a large ad with lots of space, but there was no Sunshine Coast," Shaske said.

"Let's write to the General Manager, to the operations manager, to everyone involved and remind them of what they agreed," Shaske suggested.

This the board agreed to do.

Halfmoon Bay Happenings

Sell-out

by Ruth Forrester, 885-2418

Three weeks before show date of April 12 the Halfmoon Hams Farewell Show tickets have all gone. This is when we wish that we had a hall capable of holding three or four hundred instead of having to turn people away.

But don't give up hope just yet - if you give your name and phone number to the ticket outlets you will be called if there are some cancellations, and there usually are some. So get your name on top of the list. The Book Store, Strings 'n Things and Books and Stuff are the places to call.

I do have a suggestion to make for those of you who are disappointed and had been planning to spend $5 for the show. If you feel you would like to make a donation to the cause for which the show is being presented, namely the Erin Kelly Van Fund, the above mentioned ticket outlets or any of the Hams would be delighted and grateful to receive your contribution.

OPEN HOUSE

A reminder to all you Halfmoon Bay mums that the Welcome Beach Play School is having Open House Tuesday, April 8 from 9:30 to 11:30 a.m.

FIRST SIGHTING

Elsie Julian of Redrooffs reported her first sighting of a visiting humming bird on Tuesday, March 25. Guess it's time to get some feed out for our little friends who bring us so much pleasure. Right now they are hungry after their long flight and need a little boost till the pollens are more plentiful.

A GREAT LIGHT

I'm not sure whether it should be the highways department or hydro who should be given a vote of thanks for the brand new street light which has recently been erected on the highway at the junction of Hwy 101 and the Halfmoon Bay School road.

This is of great help to those getting off the bus on dark nights.

HOSPITAL AUXILIARY

The next monthly meeting of the Halfmoon Bay Branch of St. Mary's Hospital Auxiliary will be at Welcome Beach Hall on Monday, April 7 at 10 a.m. Anyone interested in giving some of their time to help with auxiliary projects will be made most welcome.

PLANT SALE

The date has been set for the Welcome Beach Community Association's annual plant sale at the hall. It will be on Saturday, May 17. Mary Murray will be in charge and is the lady to call if you would like to lend a hand for this popular event. You can reach Mary at 885-2613.

Park in need of care

by Jean Robinson, 885-2954

Brookman Park needs some TLC. Why this park is continually vandalized is a mystery. It has a great gazebo for Moms and Dads to sit while they watch Junior play. Someone has torn a big hole in the roof.

The benches have been tipped over and parts removed.

A work party will meet at 10 a.m. at the park on April 19. Some boards and ropes will be replaced. A general clean up of the area, and removal of all benches will be done, rain or shine. We can toast weiners in the bonfire and coffee will be provided.

If there are no donations of materials or money, then some of the existing structures may have to come down.

Be a part of your community. Attend the General Meeting at the Wilson Creek Hall on April 14, 7:30 p.m. and the park clean up on April 19, 10 a.m.

Needed - three old tires that are not steel belted, in order to replace the swing seats.

MOTORCROSS

Had a chat with Lance Gray who says the Motorcross Races have begun again. He will be giving times and dates for the next races in a future column.

He reports there are many racers but only he and his wife, along with John Pinkster to do all the setting up and labour involved with the races.

Come on guys and dolls. If you want to play you have to pay. Give these people your support.

MISCELLANEOUS

Nice to see you up and around again, Jack Marsden.

W.H. John Johnson, chairman of the Sandy Hook Property Owners Association, urges all interested home owners in Area C to attend an informational meeting on April 16, 7:30 p.m. A local representative from the Ministry of Forests will outline the 10 year plan for logging in the area. Come and ask questions. Find out how this will affect streams, lakes and ultimately, your homes.

A small park is in the process of being cleared for a childrens playground at Sandy Hook. Sounds like they are all in gear and pulling together in Sandy Hook.

Bridge is finished at the Wilson Creek Hall until fall. Many thanks to Hazel Seeton and Helen Heath who ran it and to Harold Heath who helped set up the tables all season.

Don't forget the Conservation and Outdoor Recreation Education (CORE) course starts Monday, April 7, 7 to 9 p.m., and continues until the 30th. This takes place at the Wilson Creek Clubhouse, off Field Road, at the end of Gunclub Road.

The course costs $60, including $20 to pre-register. Send cheques payable to Bea Rankin, R.R. No. 1, Sechelt, 885-9787. This class is not yet full and is a must for a first time B.C. hunter's license.

Daffodil Days

by Peggy Connor, 885-9347

Daffodil Days are April 4 and 5, buy a bunch of the sunny flowers and help with cancer research.

The cancer mail-drop will start on April 14. Please support it.

Important fact: of all the Canadians who are diagnosed as having cancer during 1986, 50 per cent will be alive and considered well in 1991. A whole lot better than it used to be. Cancer can be beaten.

SLIDE NIGHT

Saturday, April 5, starting at 7:30 p.m. at St. Hilda's Church Hall there will be an historical biblical film on Israel with commentary.

Refreshments will be provided. Admission by donation goes to the Building Fund.

The new church is rising up to become a beautiful building and all those who have worked towards this end can be proud of what is being achieved.

Whale of a Sale will be on at the hall on Saturday, April 12, starting at 10:30 a.m. Plants and white elephant items, but no clothes, will be needed for sale. If you have anything you wish to contribute call 885-2593 for pickup.

GARDEN NEWS

The Sechelt Garden Club is planning an award for the most beautiful garden in the Sechelt area from West Sechelt including Wilson Creek, up to the Girl Guide Camp.

The work on the garden must be of the owner's doing, no professional landscaping. Watch for further details at the garden show in the Trail Bay Mall on April 19.

B&P WOMEN

Don't forget to pick up your tickets for the Sunshine Coast Business and Professional Women's fifth Annual Bursary Fashion Show. It will be held on two nights, Wednesday and Thursday, April 16 and 17, at the Sechelt Indian Band Community Hall.

Pub issue alive

Jose and Consuelo Martinez have signed a covenant to accompany their request for rezoning of their Davis Bay property to allow a neighbourhood pub.

This covenant was drawn up following a meeting with the regional district planning department and on the heels of a planning committee meeting where concerns were expressed about the possible uses to which the property, site of the Casa Martinez Restaurant, might be put in the future.

Although opposition was expressed to the granting of the rezoning request at a public meeting, the board had given the zoning by-law second reading, but balked at giving third reading and approval because of their concerns about property use.

At last Thursday's board meeting Martinez, who was present, declined to comment, but in a letter to the board received at the same meeting and accompanying the convenant, asked that the matter be tabled until after an April 1 or 2 meeting with Coast-Garibaldi Health Unit, where their concerns about his application will come under discussion.

Harbour's loss

by Joan Wilson, 883-9606

Pender Harbour has lost an outstanding member of the community with the sudden death of Harry Holliday of Garden Bay.

Harry's green boat was a familiar sight in coastal settlements from Kingcome Inlet to Klemtu. He and his wife Hilary, a physiotherapist who gave much time to these isolated communities, were long-time Harbour residents.

Harry was a member of the Coast Guard Auxiliary, and helped many a boater in distress. He will be sadly missed here and all along the West Coast.

SPRING DANCE

Tickets for the Community Club Spring Dance are available at the Oak Tree, Harbour Video, and Centre Hardware. The date is April 12, 9 to 1 at the Community Hall. The music will be performed by "Nightshift".

Dance those springtime blues away!

NEWS BRIEF

Edith Daly is in New York getting a bionic hip. You set the style, Jock Gibson!

Col. Flounders is adding on, now that they're back from holidays.

Michelle Rivers scared her family with a ruptured appendix recently. She's home now, recovering nicely. Get well soon, Michelle!

Can someone tell me if the Irvine's Landing Marina is changing hands?

MADEIRA PARK ELEMENTARY NEWS

During March, MPES held an Open House, an indoor track meet, and a parents' meeting.

The new May Queen is Deena Lowings, with attendants Christy Gooldrup and Melanie Godkin. Flower girls are Nikki Bathgate, Jessica Munro, Angeline Gough and Kristal Garbers.

HEART BEATS

Annabelle Antilla would like to thank the people from Wood Bay to Egmont who donated so generously to the B.C. Heart Foundation. Our total was $2,732.35!

Special thanks to our volunteers for their time and energy canvassing: Marjory MacKay, Shirley Dumma, Margaret Porter, Pat Vaughan, Anne Cook, Eileen Alexander, Ann Cook, Wilma Thompson, Sue Elsdon, Simonne Chappell, Joyce Garbers, Shelly Christian, Elizabeth Beadle, Les Beharrell and Mel Likes.

LIONS AUCTION

The Pender Harbour Lions Club is appealing to the community for donations of saleable items for their annual auction. Your generosity in the past has helped the Lions' activities right here in the Harbour.

They are looking for attic treasures, hand tools, machines, motors, mowers, stoves, household items, dishes, lamps, boats and gear, fishing equipment, hardware, bicycles - all manner of things thay may just be taking up space in your garage or basement.

For pick up, please call Earl Ansell, 883-2752; Les Beharrell, 883-2528, or Walter Blair, 883-9409. Thanks for your continuing support!

THEY'RE BACK!

Can anyone beat Joe and Gayle Adams' sighting of the first hummingbird? The Adams spotted one on March 20 at their home on Whiskey Slough, and promptly put out the feeder. Despite the rain and fog, we are now certain that spring is here!

APRIL IS CANCER MONTH

Volunteers for the Cancer Society will once again be selling daffodils on April 4 in Madeira Park. Please support the work of the Cancer Society.

You can protect your health in two important ways: know the seven steps to health (available from the local branch) and give generously for research and support services during April.

HOLIDAYS

Easter holidays will disrupt everyone's plans during the next week. You won't get me on the phone for news, and my next community column. See you in April!

DON'T FORGET

Community Club Swap Meet, Saturday, April 5. Call Hans Schroeder, 883-2573, for a table.

Watch for the SPCA Plant Sale at this time.

Egmont's fast lane

by Ann Cook, 883-9167

EASTER HAT LUNCH

It's life in the fast lane, Backeddy boogie on Friday, breakfast at the Lions on Saturday, now luncheon on Wednesday at the hall.

That's 1 p.m. this Wednesday, April 2. It's cold plate and dessert plus tea or coffee for $3 and $1.50 for kids.

Create your own Easter bonnet as there will be prizes for prettiest, funniest, most original, etc., etc. There will be prizes for little girls also, so come on moms, and grandmoms have a fun day with them making hats and going out for lunch.

There will be door prizes, raffles and fun games plus socializing.

Vi Berntzen is definitely the hostess with the mostest and keeps her cool. She'd never slap her aide Dolly Wallace. If you have relatives or friends visiting for the Easter holiday bring them along as it's Wednesday and the Thrift Store is open upstairs in the hall.

On view there is the beautiful kitchen knife set made in Egmont by John Seabrook and being raffled at this time. Also second prize, rechargeable flashlight and third prize which is a surprise, but it's there to view. See you Wednesday 1 p.m. sharp.

MISCELLANEOUS

More action for Egmont, tennis court that is.

Welcome home from world travelling and tennis playing Bill and Shirley Hall of North Lake. P.S. to Diana, Adam, Geoff, Denny and John; they brought a case of TB's with them.

"Inagin outagin" it was for Gene Berntzen who had eye cataracts removed and was out of hospital next day. I wouldn't be surprised to see Gene and Vi out on the tennis court.

Dolly Wallace says Thank you for meals on wheels. Dolly -Little Che Wing Wallace broke her arm a few weeks back and has been coping quite well especially with neighbours and friends bringing her meals, stove wood and flowers and their company. She's coping so well she worked at the Bargain Barn last week.

I did not see it but heard we almost had another house fire. Thanks to fast-moving volunteers it wasn't a disaster. Bet a siren could have helped them gain two or three minutes which is crucial when a wood fire is just starting.

Don Jeffries is leaving Egmont. (I'll bet!)

The Backeddy will have "Geraldmusic" daily in the pub by May. For sure weekends until then.

Not a rumour! Lions auction will happen so get in touch with them to pick up any "auctionables" you have to donate.

Happy anniversary Bill and Jean Graham on your 47th.

A flag story

RECOLLECTIONS

Andy Maragos Sr. has recently returned from a short visit in Windsor, Ontario where he saw sons Costa and young Andy, and a long-time friend he hadn't seen for thirty-five years.

"Castas and I landed in Canada together from the old country in 1954," Andy said, "and later he was the one who introduced me to my wife, Tula."

"My friend lives in Detroit now, an electrician," Andy said. "We had plenty of recollections of old times in Winnipeg and in Kitimat.

"Young Andy likes his studies but misses Gibsons."

A VIVID PLAY

The play presented in Gibsons by Driftwood Players just over two weeks ago has left vivid impressions on the minds of those who saw it, and for many of those viewers, thoughts disturbed by the utter horror of a nuclear attack.

The horror - the blinding flash, the tremendous blast, the invisible creeping death by radiation led one viewer to give me her notes on her reactions to the play.

First, however, some acknowledgements to some cast and crew whose contributions were not noted the other week.

Besides praising the set design and construction, the lighting effects by George Murray and sound by Bruce Forsyth and Pat Baker, the diligent props people, director Colleen Elson commended the producers - those people who co-ordinate the production - Sandi Decker and Alice Albrecht.

"This play was so vivid to me," the viewer said, "that I wanted to rush backstage to see that the couple (played by Nest Lewis and Ian Corrance) were really still there."

"When they vanished at the last deafening blast - evaporated, I suppose - and the huge paper bags they had pulled over themselves as a final futile safety measure lay crumpled and empty on the stage, I felt their fear, and loneliness, and unbelief in what was happening to them."

"No wonder the husband called on God for help," said the viewer, "when he saw all their little world crumble before their eyes."

FLAG STORY

At its March general meeting, Gibsons Legion Branch 109 was presented with a framed photo of the members of the Gibsons Legion of 1933.

This photo, which had been gathering dust on a store-room shelf in the Branch, was printed in the Coast News last November along with the names of the members in it. The names had been supplied by Eric and Lenore Inglis who remembered all but one of the men.

Now this prized memento can be hung on the clubroom wall for all members to see.

When a request from Australia for a Canadian flag was read out at the meeting, a member offered to send one he had on hand.

The request had come from the Returned Veterans Club of Alice Springs through Mary Doray of Elite Travel Agency who had visited Alice Springs on a recent tour.

"It is a particularly fitting," says Doug Dickson, the member who has offered to send a flag to Alice Springs, "that this flag is going to Australia."

Was it yours?

"No, not mine. I was only a flying instructor then. It was the time of the Commonwealth Air Training scheme on the Canadian prairies."

"About 3 a.m. one night," Doug continued, "I was awakened by three or four young Australian lads who were doing their flying training with me. They draped the commandant's flag over me, said it was a gift, and took off. The next morning I found out they'd chopped the flagpole down to get the flag."

Did you think to return the flag to the commandant?

"By no means, no. I was too scared," says Doug. "But 30 years later when we met by chance, I told him about it. He had a descriptive name or two for me. No, I didn't offer to return his flag. He didn't need it then."

So Alice Springs will get a flag from Canada as a result of a prank done by some of their own servicemen. And pranks like that the Aussies were famous for.

Coast Baby Clinics

Baby Clinics will be held in Gibsons from 1 to 3:15 p.m. on April 1, 8, 15, 22 and 29.

Sechelt Baby Clinics will be from 1:15 to 3:15 p.m. on April 2, 9, 16, 23 and 30.

In Pender Harbour the clinics will be held from 1:30 to 3:30 p.m. on April 15 and 10 to 11:30 a.m. on April 22.

Gibsons travellers' clinics will be held from 3:40 to 4:25 p.m. on April 1, 8, 15, 22 and 29.

Tuberculosis testing will be conducted in Gibsons from 3 to 4 p.m on April 14 and 21.

Please make appointments for all clinics for Gibsons and Sechelt by calling 886-8131.

Prenatal classes in Gibsons are being held from 7:30 to 9:30 p.m. on April 10 and 17 and on April 24.

The hospital tour will take place the last Wednesday of the month. Please phone St. Mary's Hospital switchboard for this information, (885-2224).

Prenatal classes in Pender Harbour can be arranged upon request. There will be a class April 22 from 5 to 7 p.m and a Breastfeeding class April 15, 7 to 9 p.m. Please phone the Pender Harbour Clinic at 883-2764 to register.

The drop-in baby group gives parents an opportunity to meet new parents and discuss common concerns. The group gathers every Tuesday from 2 to 3:30 p.m. at the Coast-Garibaldi Health Unit, 1538 South Fletcher Road, Gibsons. Telephone 886-8131.

There is no fee for any of these services.

Play School all set

Jack and Jill Preschool is pleased to announce that an extension has been granted by St. Mary's Church. This means school will open in September, 1986, as usual, in the present buildings. The extension is until January 31, 1987, at which time the school will move to a new building.

For further information and enrolment, please contact Helen Robinson at 886-8787.

IF YOU ARE THE PARENT

of a school age child you will, I'm sure, know ahead of time that the week of Spring Break is usually hectic. "They" are under your feet all day; no sooner have you got rid of one meal than they're crying about perpetual starvation; that there's never anything to eat in their house; that there's nothing in the fridge...You perhaps debate that it would be good to send them out for a long healthy walk but then you realise that you could never cope with the appetite that would reappear. Well, one way to cope with this without completely wearing yourself into a frazzle is to be prepared. So taste test this on them:

SALMON TETRAZZINI

- 2 tablespoons butter
- 2 tablespoons flour
- ½ teaspoon salt
- black pepper to taste
- 1/8 teaspoon grated nutmeg
- 2 cups milk
- 2 tablespoons dry sherry
- 2 cups cooked spaghetti
- 1 cup chopped mushrooms
- 2 cups salmon, flaked
- 2 tablespoons bread crumbs
- 4 tablespoons Parmesan cheese

1. Melt the butter and saute the mushrooms until soft. Remove mushrooms and set aside.
2. Blend flour with remaining butter, stir in milk gradually. Cook until sauce thickens, stirring continuously. Add seasoning to taste and add sherry.
3. Mix half the sauce with spaghetti and mushrooms. Place in greased casserole dish.
4. Mix second half of sauce with salmon. Place in casserole.
5. Sprinkle bread crumbs and Parmesan over top. Bake for 25 minutes at 350°F.

Good Luck,

NEST LEWIS

Children see brutality

by Donna Shugar

It is unfortunate that the exhibition of Children's Drawings from Central America on display last week at Langdale Elementary did not get wider exposure.

The drawings, collected from refugee camps in Honduras, Costa Rica, and Mexico and church organizations in El Salvador, tell a story which is becoming familiar to us through media reports. But in this case it is told in such a direct and naive way that the truth of the matter cannot be avoided.

The daily requirements of life - growing crops, hauling water, tending to babies and animals -carry on in the midst of the cruel reality of life in a war zone. Helicopters and machine guns are as ubiquitous as the sun shining in the upper left corner.

But these are not children's depictions of Rambos or other TV fantasy heroes. The dead bodies on the ground are members of the artist's family. The scenes are from his or her own bloody experience.

In many cases the children have written texts to accompany their drawings. For many, their first school experience was in the refugee camp and the simplicity of their writing even at age 11 or 12 reflects this:

House - Soldier - Dead -Ducks - Chickens - My mama -My papa - Airplanes that bomb the village. Dinarce Elizabeth, age 11.

With limited materials (small pieces of paper and coloured pencils) these children give us the very personal details of lives crowded with brutality. At the same time they are filled with hope - that life goes on, that the love and support of family sustains us.

Pages from a Life-Log

Surviving in hell

by Peter Trower

Roger Caron is living testament to the indomitable nature of the human spirit. He has survived torments both mental and physical that would reduce men of lesser fibre to snarling animals or blank-eyed basket cases. But Roger Caron did more than merely survive. He overcame the limitations of a minimal education, laboriously taught himself to write and has produced two books that tear the lid off the horrors and inequities that, despite some belated reforms over the past couple of decades, still exist to a large extent in the Canadian penal system.

The remarkable Caron first impinged himself on the public consciousness a few years back with his searing prison memoir Go Boy, a no punches pulled account of 24 years behind bars in some of Canada's toughest institutions. Go Boy (soon to be both a TV mini-series and a movie) is one the most graphic and shudderingly powerful prison books ever written.

Caron lays bare his tragic life with an urgent honesty, from his estranged and unhappy childhood; through nightmarish stints in one punitive hell hole after another; through depths of solitary despair it beggars the mind to imagine; through the harrowing extremities of brutal experience; to walk at last, through the towering steel gates of his final prison, a nominally free man.

But Roger Caron will never be truly free. He admits that he finds it difficult adjusting to life on the outside. The traumatic years of incarceration have left many scars; Caron will carry these scars for the rest of his life.

In an effort to further exorcise the hellish memories that haunt his dreams, Roger Caron has recently published a second book about his prison experience. Entitled Bingo (con slang for a full-scale riot), it deals with the shocking series of events that began at Kingston Penetentiary on April 14, 1971. Caron touched briefly on these occurrences in his previous book. Here, he zooms in close and leads the reader step by step through one of the msot savage outbreaks of inmate violence in Canadian penal history.

Unlike Go Boy, which spans Caron's entire life, Bingo concentrates on two years in the early seventies. Caron after a period of "going straight", is tricked by an ex-cellmate called Lorne, who has promised to get him a legitimate job, into nearly participating in an armed robbery. When he discovers what Lorne actually has in mind, Caron is furious and the two men scuffle. Unfortunately, this attracts the attention of a police patrol. The car is searched and a cache of guns is discovered in the trunk. Because of his record, Caron's protestations of innocence are ignored. In addition, the treacherous Lorne swears that Caron engineered the whole thing. He comes up before a hard-line judge and is sentenced to a draconian 21 years.

Understandably stunned, Caron launches an instant appeal. In the meantime, he is transferred to Kingston to begin serving the numbing sentence.

Shaking time in Kingston Pen. is sadly, an old story to Roger Caron. He has passed through those daunting gates on more than one previous occasion. Caron knows the language and the unwritten rules of the convict subculture. He is bitter but resigned. He has seen it all before - or so he thinks. He is wrong.

At the Arts Centre

A busy week

This is a busy week at the Arts Centre in Sechelt!

Opening Wednesday, April 2 and running until April 20, the superrealist drawings and paintings of David Sloan and Connie McLaren will be on display. These two young artists are both BFA graduates of Mt. Allison University in New Brunswick and have been working diligently ever since. David describes himself this way: "I'm a Vancouver native (Vancouver General Hospital, 1947) who actually had never visited any of the local mountains in my life until my first reluctant stab at skiing on the Cypress Bowl Bunny Trail just before Christmas. My work, therefore, is all of cityscapes -and nothing of B.C.'s (I think, rather vulgar and coarse) natural beauty is featured in it. The city is my whole life." Cafes, street scenes, interiors with figures, and portraits are his prime subjects.

Connie's work is more intimate and delicate. Her subjects are always people that she knows well or domestic views that she loves.

The public is invited to meet these two very talented artists at a reception at the Arts Centre on Saturday April 5 at 2 p.m.

Films are featured at the Arts Centre this month with showings every Wednesday evening. On April 2 at 8 p.m., to kick off the Sloan/McLaren exhibition, two NFB art films will be shown. The first, Jack Bush (Executive Producer was Don Hopkins of Gibsons), shows Canadian artist Jack Bush in an interview given before his death. He discusses his life, his work, and the development of art in Canada. The second, Off the Wall, is about art, as business or as passion, and about the survival of the artist in the marketplace.

Admission is by donation.

April is also the month of the Arts Centre's spectacular plant sale to be held this year on April 12. To get you in the mood, the Arts Centre invites you to a Garden Evening, Saturday, April 5 at 7:30 p.m. Barb Jackson, a graduate of the Master Gardener Program at Van Dusen Gardens, will lecture on all aspects of soil preparation. Following the talk, Bill Webb will share his slides of flowers of the West Coast.

Admission is by donation.

Soprano's debut

Marisa Gaetanne is making her professional debut April 13 with the Vancouver Symphony Orchestra. But you can hear this exceptional coloratura-lyric soprano 8 p.m. on April 12 at the Arts Centre for only $4.

Marisa will be accompanied by Philop Tillotson, an assistant professor of accompaniment at UBC.

She was chosen to sing the Queen of the Night in Vancouver Opera Association's production of The Magic Flute but decided she wasn't ready for it. She plans to attend opera school next winter in London, New York or Toronto.

Few sopranos have the high register to sing the Queen of the Night with its top F's. This is half an octave over the usual soprano range.

Marisa will sing a concert of contemporary music including music by Leonard Bernstein. His West Side Story is well-known, but Marisa has chosen a song from his earlier musical, Candide.

She is also singing Song of Solomon/Cantique de Cantiques. This was commissioned for the 1985 Eckhardt Gramatte Competition for the performance of Canadian music (in which Marisa is a finalist) from Stephen Chatman. His spirited settings of British Columbia folk songs were sung here in November by the Vancouver Chamber Choir.

Tickets are available at the Hunter Gallery, Seaview Market, Strings 'n' Things, Books 'n' Stuff, the Arts Centre or the Bookstore.

Gibsons Library shows growth

by Pamela Feichtner

To date there is every indication that 1986 will be another busy and successful year for Gibsons Library. During the first two months we had 34 new children and 81 new adult members join the library. January and February circulation was up from 4921 in 1985 to 6298 this year. The children's circulation was up 593 and the adult 784. A total increase of 1377 for the two month period.

We were pleased to have two groups of children visit us on March 12, from the Jack and Jill Playschool. Nest and Gail continue to read for the ever popular Story Time on Wednesday mornings.

On February 24, we held a Volunteer Staff Meeting. We discussed several items from the Question and Problem Box. There was good participation and we were able to clarify several procedures. Following the coffee break we discussed the possiblity of changing and increasing the library hours.

Since that time there has been considerable planning and scheduling to reach this goal.

Therefore, with the continued co-operation of our dedicated volunteers we are pleased to announce that as of April 1, we will be open 20 hours a week. Our hours will change to:

Tuesday:	1:30 to 8 p.m.
Wednesday:	10 to 4 p.m.
Thursday:	1:20 to 4 p.m.
Saturday:	11 to 4 p.m.

We would like to thank Mrs. Tyson, a member and Joan Aelbers, a volunteer, for the lovely Spring flowers they have brought into the library recently. We really enjoy them.

I was able to attend an Advanced Workshop for Community Librarians, sponsored by Library Services, in Vancouver from March 2 to March 7 inclusive.

Sessions were given on Building the Reference Collection; Building Reference Skills; Personnel Practices; Promoting the Library in the Community; Building the Adult Book Collection; Performance Measures; Children's Collection and Services; Small Library Automation; Audio-Visual Materials; Library Service to the Aging and Handicapped.

I came home feeling that although we receive less Municipal and Regional Board support than most other community libraries in the province, we are giving good service to the community and are on the 'right track'.

However, I do feel very strongly that in order to maintain our level of service or improve it, it is imperative that we get suitable financial support as soon as possible.

Gibsons Public Library
Hours:

Tuesday:	1:30 - 8 p.m.
Wednesday:	10:00 - 4 p.m.
Thursday:	1:30 - 4 p.m.
Saturday:	11:00 - 4 p.m.
STORY TIME	Wed. 10 a.m.

The carnival came to the Coast last week and promptly got stuck in the middle of Gibsons. By-pass anyone?

A Texan's retrospective

by Frank Fuller

When my grandfather Shannon was in his late 70's he loved to sit in the sun in Alamo plaza. There wasn't any cenotaph then. It was just as well because he wasn't burdened with the Alamo mentality which seems to afflict present day Texans.

He did love, however, to stay on into the warm Texas night to watch the big cowboy sign on top of Joske Bros. department store at the south end of the plaza.

The sign was a unique arrangement of large electric light bulbs. They switched on and off in such a way to create the illusion of a cowboy on horseback galloping furiously after a steer while twirling his lariat, then he would lasso the steer to the ground. Grandpa was never tired of watching this scene. The sign was taken down during the war.

I often sat with grandpa before I left for California. He would talk about the old days "down home" on Bedias Creek in Madison County. His favorite story was about driving cattle to the Abeline, Kansas railhead before the railroad came to Texas. My uncle said grandpa was a liar. I believed my grandpa. My uncle was just bitter because he had to take care of grandpa in his old age.

Grandpa was stone deaf. He had lost his hearing from the wet and cold, crossing streams on horseback while driving cattle to market in the late 1890's. He had been moderately successful and saved his money when his bank failed. His favourite advice to me was "Son, never put all your money in one bank."

Grandpa didn't have an Alamo mentality, but he was deeply proud of the work he had done in his life and of his Texas roots.

He was a high-spirited man, small of frame, wiry and strong even in his old age. He had a vocabulary of colourful profanity mostly related to the land and cattle in his life. They don't make cuss words like that anymore.

His father, grandparents and great grandparents had entered the Texas province of Mexico illegally in 1821. They were fleeing the depression in Georgia of that period. An aunt was killed by an Indian arrow in protest at their entry.

They stayed on to help found the Republic of Texas which is being celebrated today. You might say I repeated this process when I slipped past the LAPD blockade of freight train immigrants to California in 1934.

Yes, I am bitter at the hucksters. They are corrupting the memory of the real Texas -the lumberjack, cotton farmer and pickers, the store clerks and secretaries, and the oil workers, et al. They are replacing them with multimillionaire zombies and clowns in coonskin caps. In a way, isn't that what is happening to the memories of us all.

Fun for the family

It's a fuzzy, furry afternoon for everyone when Lois Walker's Puppcorn Family Fun Show - Live! comes to the Twilight Theatre on Friday, April 11, 1986. This fast-paced musical vaiety hour is filled with the mop-haired, rag-bag Puppcorn puppets together with sing/songwriter/storyteller, Lois Walker.

Designed for four to 12 year olds and their parents, the show has live, sing-along music, Lois' original songs and lots of audience participation.

The Twilight Theatre features one performance only by the Puppcorns on April 11 at 4 p.m.

Lois and Herb Walker and their crazy collection of Puppcorns are well-known in central Canada for their Ottawa based TV show, which won the 1984 Canpro Award for outstanding children's television.

With a combined total of 30 years experience in language arts and creative arts education, the Walkers have delighted audiences in schools, workshops and educational seminars from the Yukon to Florida. They have been invited to perform for such noted families as the Clarks, Trudeaus and Schreyers and also have a number of books and albums to their credit.

The Walkers and their host of delightful 'creations' moved to the West Coast in the summer of 1984 and have had sold-out performances at the James Cowan Theatre in Burnaby and at the Surrey Arts Centre.

The Twilight Theatre show on April 11 will be their first appearance in Gibsons. Tickets are $3.50 for adults and children and are available at Henry's Bakery, Jack and Jill Preschool and at the door. Book early to avoid disappointment.

Legion #109

by Adam McBride

The Vissy Day Commemorative Dinner will be held at our Branch on Sunday, April 6, at 1 p.m. On hand to entertain will be the 69'ers, a fine choral group, and the Sechelt Legion Pipe Band, complete with dancers.

Starting in April a new policy of musical entertainment will be introduced. Friday nights will be, as usual, for those who prefer rock and roll with its upbeat atmosphere.

Saturday nights will be quieter, older music, waltzes, fox trot, tango, polka, etc. for dancing and listening pleasure.

"Reckless Driver" is back Friday by request and the "Jack Bourne Trio" should draw a good crowd on Saturday night.

March 31 is the day all membership dues must be paid to ensure continous membership in the club.

Toast of the Coast

One of my earliest recollections as a child is that of our family going out together to a restaurant. Both my sister and I were stiff and uneasy in our "Sunday best" and self-conscious about our table manners.

Way back then, if there was such a thing as a fast-food franchise we were blissfully ignorant of the fact. A restaurant was to us a mysterious place where children were seen, but seldom, if ever, heard.

My own two children, daughters both, exhibit few if any such inhibitions; a family outing to the Omega Pizza Steak and Lobster House was simply another step of life to be taken joyfully in stride.

The Omega bills itself as a family restaurant and even features a children's menu that includes steak. My three year old thought that a grand idea and ordered hers medium-rare. My nine year old chose Rigatoni, a pasta dish with meat sauce, and a double ginger-ale.

Over on the adult side of the table, I ordered an 8 oz. New York Sirloin medium rare, and my companion the fresh Jumbo Prawns. Both entrees included a choice of soup or salad, and a choice between rice or Potatoes Omega (Potatoes Omega are a singular delight, and must be experienced to be believed).

The service at the Omega is always dependable, and our dinners all arrived at the same time, long before the girls had even thought of getting fidgety.

After the delicious and satisfying meal there was dessert, a choice of chocolate layer cake or fresh strawberry topped cheesecake. I settled for coffee and little bites of everyone else's.

All in all, drinks and dessert included, the total fare was quite reasonable - just over ten dollars per person. The next time you are thinking of taking your family out, think of the Omega Pizza Steak and Lobster House overlooking beautiful Gibsons harbour, home of The Beachcombers.

P.S. It may be a little early, but it is worth mentioning that Friday, April 5 is Greek Night at the Omega. There will be a show of seven professional Greek dancers in authentic Greek costumes and a special Greek dinner. Don't be disappointed - phone for your reservations today.

S.C. Golf and Country Club

Weather or not

by Ale Warner

The Spring Mixed Scramble Tournament of Sunday, March 23 saw 87 golfers tee off at 8:30 a.m. It turned a mite cold and wet towards the last few holes but the majority of the teams finished the 18 holes.

In first place with a score of one under par was the team of Wolfgang Reiche, Ozzie Hincks, Tom Held, Delores Lawless, and Ben Taber.

Two teams tied for second place with a score of even par. They were the team of Roy Scarr, Fred Moore, Ruby Head, Marg Arbuckle, Dawn Bayford, and Dick Thompson, and the team of Laurie Todd, Bill Gibbons, Bill Sutherland, Isobel Cowley, Isobel Rendleman, and Pat Mulligan.

Thanks are due to the convenors, Roy Scarr and Bill Boragno for a well organized tournament.

Lady Luck seems to have deserted the ladies as their second Ladies' Day turned out wet and cold, resulting in a second cancelled golf day. Third time lucky girls, guaranteed good weather next week!

52 seniors showed up for Men's Seniors' play on Thursday, March 27. The sunshine (liquid form!) shone on the first place team of Bill Bader, Dave (Mexican) Hunter, Ernie Hume, and Joe Mellis, followed in second place by Vic Vaughan, Jack Knaus, Bill Sutherland, and Jack White. In third place the team of Ozzie Hincks, John Petula, Bob McCallum, and Chuck Barnes. Closest to the pin at No. 8 was Dave Doig.

Youth Soccer ends

The Sunshine Coast Youth Soccer Association had its year end tournament on Saturday, March 22.

The games for each age division were set up as a round robin tournament which meant all teams in each age division played an equal number of games and the winner was decided by the win/loss record.

In a round robin tournament it is possible for two or more teams to end up with the same point standings. There was an order decided before all the games started on how to break a tie in point standings and one way was to go into overtime.

In the 6 and 7 Year Old Division (this is the non-competitive age group), to decide who won the tournament the two top teams had to go into overtime and at the end of the overtime both teams were tied still. So in the 6 and 7 Year Old Age Division there was a tie for first place in the tournament.

The two teams were: Larry Penonzek's team from Gibsons and Pete Emerson's team from Roberts Creek.

In the 8 and 9 Year Old Division in past years the league winners were defeated in the tournament. But this year the Sechelt Lions, coached by Frank Hoehne, won their age division in the league as well as their age division in the tournament.

Well done, Sechelt Lions.

The second place team in the tournament for 8 and 9 Year Olds was Elphi Rec coached by Bill Sluis.

In the 10 and 11 Year Old Division, Sechelt Towing and Salvage, coached by Ron Bunting defeated the league winners GBS to win their age division in the tournament.

Thank you to Gerry Gaudry, Pete Emerson and Graham Chapman for lining the fields for the tournament and thanks to Lief Mjanes for making the tournament schedule up.

The executive would like to thank all the coaches and volunteers for their time, and hope that all the players and parents enjoyed this year's soccer season. Registration for the next soccer season will be the first weekend after school starts in September (September 6).

Please register on that day so teams can be made up and start playing while the nice weather is with us.

Seals swimmers hard at work

Well all you sports minded readers out there we are back and still going strong. Our Pender Harbour Seals Swim Club members have been hard at work and here are some of the results of that hard work.

On March 22 and 23, the Canadian Dolphins Swim Club hosted a swim meet for the more senior swimmers and the results are:

Very well done kids! Your hard work and effort has not been wasted as you can see from these results.

Well the senior swimmers have not been the only ones hard at work. Our Junior swimmers have been little eager beavers too.

The Richmond Racers Swim Club hosted a meet March 15 at Percy Norman Pool which our younger swimmers were able to attend along with the older ones. For some of the younger swimmers this was their first or second meet ever so they were a little nervous but they came through with flying colours as you can see from the results.

I just want to add that our swimmers are having a Swim-A-Thon and they have been or will be asking for pledges. These kids put a lot of effort into this event to raise money for equipment that helps better their skills. I hope that you will help by pledging one of our swimmers. Many thanks for your continuing support for our Swim Club.

Minor Hockey

Another exciting season has been concluded and we hope that the players learned something and had a good time.

Play off winners were: in the Pups Division, the Diggers; in the Atom Division, the Wings; in the Pee Wee Division, the Blackhawks; and in the Bantam Division, the Seahawks.

There will be an awards night on April 10 at the Sechelt Indian Band Hall at 7 p.m.

On April 16, at 7:30 p.m. there will be an annual general meeting at the arena. This is the proper forum to come and air your complaints and suggestions.

Curlers wrap it up

by Judy Frampton

Our curling season is over for another year and with that comes our Semi-Annual General Meeting on April 9 at 7:30 p.m. to elect a President, Vice-President, Treasurer, Secretary and three Director positions.

Terry Connor is our nominating chairman and can be reached at 886-7040 if you are interested in running for office or would like to nominate someone. We urge everyone to come out and vote and to voice any opinions or suggestions.

After a very successful season, the teams with the most points over the year are as follows:

Monday Afternoon Ladies -Carol Skytte, Doreen Stewart, Judy Frampton and Trudy Ruck.

Monday Men's - Ron Baba, Keith Frampton, Alex Skytte and Harold Nelson.

Tuesday Mixed - Jack Clement, Moira Clement, Bob Bjornson and Marlene Bjornson.

Wednesday Mixed - Keith Frampton, Judy Frampton, Ian Harding and Brenda Harding.

Thursday Men's - Larry Boyd, Ron Nielson, John Jensen and Brent Turner.

Thursday Ladies' - a tie between the teams of Aleta Giroux, Maureen Sadler, Cay Nelson, Jean Rowledge and Nora Solinsky rink of Kathy Reitze, Marie Connor and Michelle Borley.

Last week saw an exciting round of playoff games. The playoff winners were:

Monday Afternoon Ladies' -Carol Skytte, Doreen Stewart, Judy Frampton and Trudy Ruck.

Monday Men's - Larry Penonzek, Glen Fisher, Gary Flumerfelt and Peter Emerson.

Mixed Champs - Keith Frampton, Judy Frampton, Ian Harding and Brenda Harding.

Ladies' Champs - Nora Solinsky, Kathy Reitze, Marie Connor and Michelle Borley.

Thursday Men's - Larry Boyd, Ron Neilsen, John Jensen and Brent Turner.

Our annual Awards Dinner and Dance will be held on April 12 at the Gibsons Legion Hall. Extra tickets are available at $12.50 so invite your friends and make a night of it.

We would like to take this opportunity to thank the many volunteers who helped make this season such a success and a very special thank you to Syd Basey for "sprucing up" Holly's office and all the other little extras you have done this year around the club, it is appreciated.

Have a good summer, but keep the fall season in mind and talk to people about trying our sport.

See you at the General Meeting!

Horse Show on Sunday

Sunday April 6 will be Timber Trail Riding Club's first horse show of the season.

This show will be an English Western schooling show. A perfect opportunity for those horse owners in the community to get their horses going for the year and receive some valuable advice on riding, training and handling.

The show schedule will be starting at 9 a.m. with Halter and Showmanship, Western Flat Classes, Western Games, Lunch Break, English Jumping and English Flat Classes.

The club would like to encourage anyone with a horse or who is interested in horses to come up and watch or take part in a day of fun. For information or entries call Caron Hayward, 885-5291.

A concession stand will be available for lunch and refreshments.

TTRC's riding ring is located just above the power lines by way of Field Road in Wilson Creek. Watch for the signs.

Vancouver plans Festival of Peace

The City of Vancouver, the Vancouver Centennial Commission and 225 community, professional, labour, religious and peace groups are going to be holding the largest and most intensive peace and disarmament event in Canadian history later this month.

The Vancouver Centennial Peace Festival will be held from April 19 to 27.

Opening the festival will be the Mayor of Hiroshima and Michael Harcourt, the Mayor of Vancouver.

From April 24 to 26, a symposium in the Orpheum theatre will be featuring world famous political, military and economic experts.

A few of these speakers are:Rear Admiral Eugene Carroll, Deputy Director of the Washington based Centre for Defence Information; General Gert Bastion, Founder of Generals for Peace: Federal Republic of Germany; Professor Kosta Tsipis, Nuclear Physicist at M.I.T.; The Very Reverent Lois M. Wilson, President of the World Council of Churches; Paul Warnke, Chief US SALT II negotiator.

The Peace Festival will culminate with the annual Walk for Peace on Sunday, April 27. The Walk will begin at Kitsilano Beach and Cambie Street and will end at the B.C. Place Stadium.

For more information, contact End the Arms Race, 1708 W. 16th Avenue, Vancouver BC V6J 2M1 or call 736-2366.

Police news of the week

GIBSONS RCMP

"Now that warmer spring weather is here," an RCMP spokesman said, "minors are frequently seen consuming alcohol in public places."

This practice is being closely watched by the police who will clamp down before it becomes widespread.

A residence on Park Avenue in Roberts Creek was unlawfully entered late on a recent Sunday evening. A Vancouver resident, male, 32 years old, was apprehended and will be charged.

On March 22 to 23 there was a theft of parts from a Volkswagen beetle parked at the Seaview Apartments.

Minor damage was done to the driver's side of a blue 1986 Honda parked near the propane tank at Sunnycrest Mall. The damage was done on Saturday, March 22 between three and four p.m. Any witnesses?

SECHELT RCMP

On March 17 a Garden Bay residence was entered and a carved silver bracelet, valued at approximately $1000 was taken.

On March 18 an adult male was charged with theft from the Sechelt Liquor Store.

Also on March 18 a gold ring with a large square stone valued over $500 was lost in Sechelt.

On March 20 a chainsaw was stolen from a residence on Garden Bay Road.

On March 21 a theft of as 15 foot Davidson boat and a 25 horse power Evinrude motor valued at $4000 was reported from Klein Lake.

On March 26 a theft from the Cozy Court Motel resulted in charges of break, enter and theft being held against an adult male.

Also on March 26 a break-in was reported at Golden City Cafe, a quantity of liquor was taken. Investigation is continuing.

Living with learning

by Ricki Moss

A review of adult education in general indicates that there are a number of concerns that need to be addressed, particularly in regard to long term training policies and developing a skilled, competitive labour force while ensuring equitable access of all Canadians for life long learning.

But an increasing emphasis of our educational system inevitably implies a decline in the evitably implies a decline in the arts and humanities. If we are to be more than mere technicians, policies must support a wholistic approach that provides us with the ability to analyse trends that, at best, may do no more than support the status quo.

We must actively advocate policies that foster critical thinking and creative expression of our most human qualities.

Here on the Sunshine Coast we are fortunate to have access to a wide range of formal and informal learning opportunities. School district adult education activities, college entrance courses, community and volunteer associations and employers all offer information and experience that promote personal well-being.

Perhaps the most important asset is an essential attitude that equates living with learning. Without this, life becomes mere existence.

Strikes and Spares

Twenty of us took in a 10 game singles tournament at Old Orchard Lanes held last Sunday. Irene Rottluff won 14th place money and Bob McConnel won seventh place and took a high single pot. They were the only money winners we had, the rest of us had to settle for a day out.

In the Classic League, Frank Redshaw rolled a 305 single and Dianne Clement the highest total with a 265-995 score.

In the Gibsons A League, Freeman Reynolds rolled a 330 single and an 801 triple, Jim Middleton a 328 single. In the Slough-off League, Nora Solinsky a 331 single and a 726 triple.

In the Ball and Chain League, Gloria Tourigny rolled a 321 single and a 796 triple, and Wally Dempster a 278-743 triple. In the Phuntastique League, Wendy Watts started her third game with five strikes and ended with four in a row for a nice 353 single.

Hockey Stars shine

On March 21, two Atom House League teams from Sechelt went to the Fifth Anual Odd Fellows Tourney in Chilliwack.

The Stars, coached by Ron Protocky and Dan Rusnak, and sponsored by Jackson Brothers Logging Company Limited, went all the way winning top honours in the event; first defeating MacDonalds of Chilliwack 3-2, North Delta Kings 7-3 and Kolher Meats of Aldergrove 9-0 in the round robin. They then advanced to the semi finals where they defeated Sabil Insurance from Aldergrove 10-1, and in the final beating the Red Wings from North Delta in a hard fought game 3-2.

Top Goal Getters: Cody Munson, Rudi Brackett, Murray Howes, and Jason Cochet. Lots of assists came from Brad Protocky, Neal Mavin and Mathew Collishaw. Steady defence was offered by Chad Gibson, Chad Pockrant, Ron Brackett and Dion Procknow, with great goal tending by Nathan Gough.

The Wings coached by Don MacLeod and Barry Wingfield and sponsored by Elphie Rec. and Coast Cable Vision, were not so lucky. The runners up last year were bumped out in the round robin winning against Dairy Queen of Chilliwack 6-0, Dawson Bull of Aldergrove 11-0 and losing a squeaker 3-2 to the RCMP of Abbotsford.

Stars were Brad Wingfield, Graham Ruck, Adam Bothwell, Garry Blace, Mike Lewis and Colin MacLeod. John Snazell registered both shutouts allowing only three goals in the three games.

Both teams did the SCMHA proud in the ways they won and lost.

Sign up for softball

Registration will continue one more Saturday in Trail Bay Mall on April 5 from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m.

At noon, Wednesday, April 9, there will also be a registration at Chatelech for boys born between 1970 and 1973, and for girls born between 1968 and 1973.

Our program this year includes: a fastball league for ages 6 to 8; a mixed softball league for ages 8 to 11; a girl's softball league for ages 12 to 15 and new this year for girls ages 16 to 17; a boy's softball league for ages 12 to 15 that is also new this year.

Fees this year are $12 per person with a maximum fee of $18 per family.

Regular scheduled games will begin the first week of May on weeknights only from 6:30 to 8:30. Teams will play twice a week.

Anyone interested in an Umpire Clinic please contact John Denham at 885-5392. There is a tentative date set for April 13.

Board battles bad air

"Why are we running the train on this?" Trustee John Struthers wanted to know at last Wednesday's school board meeting when the problem of unsatisfactory air in the classrooms and Staff room at Chatelech Secondary once again came to the board's attention.

Struthers and the other trustees are frustrated because no one seems able to pinpoint the problem and hence to find the solution to the poor air quality in many of the classrooms, especially on the mezzanine floor and in the staff room. Trustees feel that the problem should have been dealt with before this time.

The latest report from engineer D.W. Thomson indicates that the system in place in the main school is adequate for the student population. However, according to a memo from Secretary-treasurer Roy Mills, Thomson says that not enough fresh air is getting into the school. He suggests setting the fresh air dampers wider to bring in perhaps 50 per cent fresh air.

The other problem Thomson has pointed to is that of missing ceiling tiles. These were taken down in order to put up buckets to catch dripping water from roof leaks. The absence of the ceiling tiles would greatly affect the flow of air, since the air in the space above the tiles should be at a greater pressure than that below the tiles, thus forcing the air to flow.

Trustee Maureen Clayton suggested that an opening window be installed in the staff room over the Spring break. Chairman Don Douglas said that he would like to see an exhaust fan installed in the room -according to Douglas a request for such a fan has been in the works for the past four years.

Clayton said that in a discussion with Anton Hendriks, maintenance manager, Hendriks had said he could open up some air ducts into the mezzanine floor and increase the air flow.

Discussion went around the board table at some length until it was decided that Hendriks should be instructed to take whatever steps are necessary to improve the situation, including the installation of a window or a fan if he thinks it needed. A ceiling of $2000 was put on the work.

Trustee Dave Mewhort asked that a report on what had been done be brought to the board after the Spring break. Tests will be conducted on the air after students have been back to school for a week or two and the results brought to the board at the April 22 meeting.

Boy Scouts use park at their own risk

A request to the regional board from the local Boy Scouts to use Cliff Gilker Park for a Hikeathon on April 12 has focussed attention on what is a serious problem in this district and in municipalities and other districts throughout the province, indeed, throughout both Canada and the United States.

Liability insurance rates have skyrocketed so that it is impossible for districts and municipalities to obtain it. Consequently, all those who use facilities like Cliff Gilker Park do so at their own risk.

The board agreed to the Scouts' request to use the park, but in a letter will advise them that it is at their own risk.

Other parks and beach accesses on the Coast are also deemed unsafe and will be discussed at the next Parks Committee meeting in April.

over such a short period of time? Was it to encourage him to be picked up by another school district?" - "Will the board itself interview the principal involved?" - "When the board met 'in camera' to discuss dismissal of a staff person for abuse why did the lawyer advise the votes be handled by consensus without a recorded vote? Is it to avoid leaving a paper trail?" - "Did the board discuss Noyes' problem 'in camera' and then avoid any recording of the meeting?" -"Will an enquiry take place?" -"Who will interview the board members, children, parents, the superintendent, the lawyers?" and perhaps most importantly, "If results damaging to the staff or to the board are arrived at will those results be disclosed?"

Chairman of the board, Don Douglas told Frizzell that he would not answer those questions immediately until he had had a chance to examine them. He did say that the board had already completed drawing up terms of reference for an enquiry into the matter which he anticipated would begin within the next couple of weeks.

Douglas also said that he had had meetings with other school districts and also with representatives from the Ministry of Education and the attorney general's department and it seemed almost certain that a provincial enquiry would also take place beginning within a month or so. Such an enquiry would bring the full power of the attorney general to bear on the proceedings and would make available information to which the school board has no access. In this sense it would be more thorough; it will also encompass all the school districts in which Noyes was employed.

Trustee Doris Fuller also spoke to the crowd: "I am concerned about disinformation about this...The board is being put on the spot. When we do get the committee's reports are people going to believe us?...We are trying to do our job, please respect that."

John Revington, who also addressed the board on the same issue said that he had approached the board in July of 1985 and put eight questions to them, none of which had been answered. He too was concerned about discrepancies in testimony given at the Noyes hearing but expressed the hope that the board will conduct its enquiry properly.

"I have no axe to grind with the board," he said. "I'm sure the enquiry will be done properly. But, the results must be given out. Everyone must be informed."

Frizzell finished his presentation to the board with an emotional plea.

"I have sat 'in camera' and heard, 'It's none of your business, once that teacher's resignation is accepted, to be concerned with what happens when he goes on to the next district.' I've lived with that," Frizzell said, "and I don't want to live with it anymore."
