Midnight blood call saves life of patient

Saturday midnight, and the patient was bleeding uncontrollably! The doctors are in attendance and diagnose a rare complication where the blood will not clot. The cure is six pints of fresh blood — immediatly. Blood type? Unknown — uncommon O negative required. Only one known on the peninsula.

In this manner another crisis developed at St. Mary's Hospital, Pender Harbour during the wee hours of August 20. Mrs, Verna Wolsynuk of Wilson Creek is well and home now because a number of persons, some known, others anonymous, gave up their sleep and their blood when the hospital called.

One pint of blood is kept at the hospital at all times. This was administered immediately and kept the patient's blood supply up. The only known donor was roused from his bed by telephone and hurried to the hospital from Sechelt. This transfusion started the clotting process and slowed the hemorrhage.

In the meantime the Powell River Hospital was alerted and located two donors. The Red Cross Blood Transfusion Service located two more in Vancouver. The blood from Powell River arrived first. It was rushed to Saltery Bay by the R.C.M.P. where it was picked up by Red Nicholson of Jervis Inlet Water Taxi. He delivered it to the hospital at 3.30 Sunday morning. This was sufficient to stop the bleeding.

The blood from Vancouver was met at Horseshoe Bay by Mercury Water Taxi and rushed to Gibsons. Al Byrnes of Roy's Taxi took over and drove through to Pender Harbour arriving at five in the morning. This was administered and brought the patient's circulation back to normal.

The doctors and the hospital thank everyone concerned for their prompt and efficient co-operation. Special thanks goes to the donor from Sechelt for his quick response to our urgent call.

This crisis has focussed attention on the need for a list of volunteer blood donors. The hospital would like the names of anyone willing to give blood in the event of another emergency The calls are quite rare.

Plan petition for water

At a meeting of West Sechelt's new water committee at the home of Jack Northcote a letter was read from the water rights branch in Victoria with a sample form enclosed. This form was a petition which will be circulated for the signatures of property owners. The water rights branch letter also offered guidance for the committee's consideration.

The petitions are now being prepared and will be circulated among property owners for their signatures. Further details were discussed before the meeting adjourned. Present were Roy Cumberland, Graham Craig, Jack Northcote, Ted Fitzgerald, Norman Franklin and Rolly Reid.

Correction!

To clear up any misunderstanding the new Overture Concerts association family plan will cover two adults and one child with other children of the family obtaining free admission to all concerts.

Last week the Coast News erred in reporting two adults and two children to be paid for then the rest free.

It is expected this plan will help families to arrange to have their children attend the season's concerts. Ticket sales are reportd to be coming along nicely but those desiring to join should not wait until the last minute. Canvassers are about and when in Gibsons visit Dick McKibbin's office next to the post office. He can help you!

Building total up for year

Six month residential, commercial and industrial expenditure on the Sunshine Coast for the period ending June 30, according to figures collated by B. C. Electric totals $1,345,800.

Based on this figure for the first half of the year it is quite likely the year end figure will be the largest yet recorded. The total last year was $1,104,079 and this was the highest amount up to that time.

To point up the way the area is developing $950,950 was spent on commercial projects in the area and of this amount the largest sum, $700,000, was spent in Port Mellon area by Canadian Forest Products on improvements for future extension of operation. Not included in any of these figures is that of something like $30,000 or more spent on street paving operations at Port Mellon, Gibsons, Sechelt and other points. This does not take into consideration any road work, paving or otherwise, done by the provincial roads department.

There were five residential permits issued in Gibsons for new homes in the first six months. These totalled $34,700 Sechelt issued two residential permits totalling $3,650 but in the unorganized area where most new homes were constructed the total covering 55 new homes was $356,500.

This means that 62 new homes were constructed on the Sunshine Coast in the first six months of the year.

Commercial ventures were nil in Gibsons, $36,950 in Sechelt and close to $700,000 for industrial expansion in Port Mellon.

Crew gets phones ready

A 12-man crew, under the direction of foreman Jimmy Crosato, is installing 650 dial phones in Sechelt in preparation for the simultaneous conversion Nov. 19 of the Sechelt and Gibsons manual exchanges to automatic operation.

A B. C. Telephone Company tion of approximately 950 dial spokesman said that installa-instruments needed to replace magneto phones in Gibsons will begin about Sept. 1.

Total combined cost of the Sechelt and Gibsons conversion is approximately $850,000 Cost of installing dial sets and rewiring of subscribers' premises alone will total approximately $26,000.

Subscribers will assist in the conversion by cutting a short wire marked with a yellow tag connecting the magneto and dial telephones at the time of the changeover. Automatic switching equipment necessary for dial operation is being installed in new central office buildings.

BAND PRACTICE

Elphinstone High School band will hold a practice at 3 p.m. Thurs., Sept. 1 in the music room of the high school.

Bracewell hints Sechelt will get liquor store

A hint that Sechelt would soon have a liquor store was dropped Saturday night at a Social Credit meeting in Sechelt's Legion Hall by Vince Bracewell Social Credit nominee. He intimated that soon people in that area would not have to journey to Gibsons to make liquor purchases.

The meeting was addressed by Hon. N. P. Staecy, minister of agriculture who reported he had in the last 16 days addressed 34 meetings and that the Sechelt meeting was the third event of the day for him.

Chairman Ron Haig of Gibsons introduced Vince Bracewell to an audience numbering about 30 and in opening remarks Mr. Bracewell said it was time "we got away from a selfishness and materialism for a new philosophy and Social Credit, he believed, was that philosophy. It would be up to the people of this province to decide if outside money will come to this province for industrial purposes. Their vote will decide.

He pointed to the work the government had been doing among the Indians and outlined some of the educational honors members of Indian bands had earned this last year. Mr. Bracewell supported Sechelt's efforts to obtain a breakwater, maintaining it was a necessity with a large increase in water travel taking place. It would be a federal government project, he added.

He also hinted it would not be long before Sechelt had its own liquor store so it would not be necessary for the upper end of the Sunshine Coast to have to get liquor from Gibsons. He dealt with the ferry situation and Squamish highway in the same way he did in his Gibsons speech adding a warning that the Squamish road in winter might not be free of snow at times.

Mr. Steacy recalled that his last visit to this area was 45 years ago and many changes had taken place. Not only has that area grown but the province has grown also but he said he had yet to hear any mention of this area in the house from the sitting member (Tony Gargrave CCF) which Mr. Steacy described as a disgraceful situation. He could not see how we could be represented in the lgislature "unless we elected the right man."

Turning to highways, Mr. Steacy said the present Sunshine Coast highway was a secondary road and not like the present roads now being built elsewhere. This road would be straightened out some day as part of a network of highways second to none. What was needed was some one pressing the government so it would know what was wanted in this district. As regarde ferry service Mr. Steacy maintained the Tsawwassen service was profitable and the Black Ball service could not do the job here, someone else will.

The present debt situation was outlined by Mr. Steacy who showed the difference between contingent liabilities liabilities were not a burden and direct debt. Contingent on taxpayers. They were paid for by people using the services involved. A law has been passed forbidding the government to go into long term debt which he said meant British Columbia would be debt-free forever. There was a present surplus of $71,000,000

Squamish road local issue says Gargrave

The Squamish road is the key local issue in this provincial election campaign, said Tony Gargrave, CCF candidate, at Sechelt Tuesday evening. Mr Gargrave was speaking in the Legion Hall.

The road around Howe Sound from Port Mellon through Woodfibre to Squamish would service 25,000 residents and the 500,000 people that live in the greater Vancouver area, the CCF candidate said. All Mackenzie candidates should support this project. Only when this is done will the Sechelt Peninsula really start to go ahead. A ferry and road over one of the Howe Sound islands will not do the job, Gargrave said.

The two provincial issues in the CCF platform that are creating widespread interest in the campaign said Gargrave are its power policy and its medical care plan.

The public ownership of the electric generation facilities in the province mean low cost power and low cost natural gas for homes and industries, he said. The B. C. Electric have one of the highest rates in Canada, he said. He told the meeting that Toronto, Ottawa and Winnipeg with public ownership of electricity have only half the rates of B. C. He said that Ottawa city paid only $3.92 for 500 KWH whereas Vancouver paid $11.53 for the same amount of power.

Gargrave said people did not believe him when he quoted these figures but they are in Dominion Bureau of Statistics records for all to see.

Mr. Gargrave said that the CCF would bring in a medical care plan for all citizens immediately. The CCF would not wait for a contribution from the federal government, but would start now. Those who say that they would wait until the federal government contributes half of the cost are only stalling, he told the meeting.

B. C. is already getting almost $20,000,000 from the federal government as aid to hospital insurance and the CCF would use this money now to set up medical care for all our people, he said.

Private plans such as MSA are not adequate Gargrave said because they do not help or older folk, the unemployed, and those not eligible to join. A universal medical plan for all is the civilized way to look after our sick, he said.

The CCF medical plan would charge a small fee, everybody would be covered, and the patient would be entirely free to choose his own doctor. Under the plan the medical profession would be in complete control of the medical aspects of the plan and would be free to come into the plan or remain outside of the plan. No doctor would be placed on salary said Gargrave, and payment for services rendered would be on the same principle as the present private plans.

The chairman of the meeting was Mr. Joe Benner of Sechelt. Mr Gargrave's next meeting is at the Community Hall, Port Mellon on Thursday, Sept. 1 at 8 p.m.

Mrs. Hubert Evans dies

Her many friends will be saddened to learn of the passing of Ann Winter Evans at her Roberts Creek home on Aug. 26.

Born in Ontario in 1891, Mrs Evans was a graduate of Victoria College, University of Toronto. She leaves her husband, Hubert A., and three children, Elizabeth Bakewell, West Vancouver; Joan Winter North Kamloops; Jonathon, Ottawa and nine grandchildren; also a brother, Edwin Winter, Coronach, Sask., and a sister Adele M. Winter, Vancouver.

For eight years Mrs. Evans taught in the Indian villages of Kitimat and Upper Skeena, and the desire to better the lot of the Indian people became one of her prime motivations. This interest was revealed in many of her articles and stories for children which have been published in Canada and United States.

Through the years Mrs. Evans was actively concerned with various community projects. She was the prime mover in founding the Roberts Creek Credit Union. While serving on the East Roberts Creek School Board Mrs. Evans worked for the amalgamation of schools in this area. It was just over a year ago she gave her time and strength in organizing the class for retarded children.

A member of the Vancouver Meeting, Society of Friends (Quakers) Mrs. Evans' funeral was held under their auspices at the Nunn and Thompson Chapel, Vancouver, followed by cremation.

"The bright light of her courage and conviction will not stop shining for those of us who knew her." — L.R.L.

Canon's wife dies in N.S.

Redroofs was saddened to learn of the sudden death of Mrs. Gertrude Greene, wife of Canon Alan Greene, D.D. They had just returned from a trip to England and the continent and were visiting their youngest daughter and her husband, Rev. Robert Tuck at their home in Canso, Nova Scotia.

Canon and Mrs. Greene arrived in Montreal about Aug. 23 and proceeded on to Canso where Mrs. Greene suffered a heart attack and died on Aug. 25. Residents of Redroofs had been looking forward to welcoming them home and plans were underway for a homecoming party and presentation.

She was born in Toronto, attended Havergale Ladies College, was a life member of the Women's Auxiliary of the Anglican Church of Canada.

She leaves two sons and three daughters, Alan and Marjorie in Vancouver, John in Toronto, Barbara in Spain and Catherine in Nova Scotia.

Funeral announcement will be announced later from Vancouver.

SCHOOL TUESDAY

Next Tuesday morning at 9 o'clock Elphinstone High School will welcome old and new students for the new school year. Students will assemble in the auditorium where they will be grouped into home rooms.

Students will be expected to pay their fees for books, student council, and in the case of grade 7's and new students, purchase locks. The amount of the fees is shown in an advertisement in this issue. The student association has set its fee at $1 for the coming year; during the assembly the first morning the need for this fee will be outlined to the students.

This year full senior matriculation is offered by Elphinstone High. Successful completion of this course will give the student full credit with the department of education and will allow the student to proceed to the second year of a university degree.

Students who are new to the school district are asked to get in touch with the school before Sept. 6. This does not apply to the elementary students who attended Port Mellon, Gibsons, or Roberts Creek schools.

Of interest to parents and students who are attending Elphinstone High for the first time is the list of supplies for juniors. In Home Economics, grade 7's require: 1 sewing box, scissors, needles (sizes 7 or 8), thimble, ¼ yard colored broadcloth and tape measure. Students in art require library paste, Reeves tempo discs, wax crayons. For physical education all students require running shoes and a uniform, details of which will be announced during the registration asembly.

On Wed., Sept. 7, school will begin regular classes.

A new chairman

Choice of Mrs. Charlotte Jackson of Wilson Creek as chairman of the Sechelt School District board is one which should be welcomed. Mrs. Jackson has a background of experience covering at least eight years one of which was with the old school board for the Sechelt area which was merged into the larger Sechelt school board in 1946.

During the eight years of Mrs. Jackson's tenure with the board the school district has grown considerably. Mrs. Jackson with her extensive knowledge of the operation of a school board will bring to bear on her decisions the experience of the past along with the necessities of the future.

Sechelt District school board over the last few months has had a somewhat ruffled existence due to dissatisfaction in one section over the proposal to keep grade nine in Sechelt at the new Trail Bay Junior High School. Perhaps the board under the chairmanship of Mrs. Jackson will have smoother sailing. Let's hope so because in striving to keep everyone happy even a school board has its moments of distraction. Sechelt school district covers a large area. Its problems are many. Co-operation can be achieved!

Chronics major problem

The provincial government's move to take care of chronic and convalescent hospital patients under a prepared plan announced last week by Hon. Eric Martin, minister of health services and hospital insurance, is an issue this paper has hammered at more than once.

It is long overdue when one considers the pressure placed on hospitals where expensive space is taken up by patients who could be taken care of under less expensive circumstances. The plan as announced by the minister comes effective Sept. 1.

In a speech to the Victoria Rotary Club, Aug. 25, when he made the announcement, he digressed, as he said, to say a new program of grants-in-aid would be started to non-profit societies to assist in construction of nursing home type facilities for care of bedridden aged and infirm. These people are not affected by rehabilitation measures.

The main part of his speech was given over to the rehabilitation angle for patients whom doctors believe would benefit. Perhaps Mr. Martin has figures to show the rehabilitation angle is more important than taking care of the bed-ridden. Perhaps it is according to how one views the situation. Any person who can be rehabilitated has usually reached the point where a hospital bed is of secondary importance. But when one comes to the chronic cases which are totally bedridden yet do not require hospital attention, the dollars and cents involved become a vital factor.

The plan to assist non-profit organizations in constructing nursing home type facilities for the care of chronics and aged is worthwhile and in view of the medical fraternity's efforts to extend one's life span it would seem that the problem for the aged could be of more importance numerically than that of rehabilitation measures for other patients. However we should be thankful for anything constructive any government decides to do.

A promise by Gaglardi

The move to get Hon. Phil Gaglardi to come into this area and speak on the transportation and road problem while raised at the Social Credit meeting Aug. 16 held in Gibsons Legion hall runs second to the efforts of the combined boards of trade of the Sunshine Coast.

At the last meeting of the Lower Mainland boards of trade in the Georgia Hotel Mr. Gaglardi when approached was sympathetic and promised he would visit the Sunshine Coast. Latest information to the combined boards of trade of Sechelt, Pender Harbour and Gibsons is that he will likely appear in October. Mr. Gaglardi expects to be re-elected!

A feather on the trail!

(By A. J. C.)

August is a holiday month for Birds; the great event of their year is in the past, the nests are empty and the young full-grown and strong on the wing—so they all gather in sociable groups to enjoy life. Birds are most active now in early morning and again in late evening, resting, hidden and silent, through the central hours of a hot day when only the tireless bees are abroad on their lawful occasion.

The particular structure of the homemade roof of my lodge gives it a resonant quality to anyone trying to sleep under it, and no sooner does the woodpecker rouse the woods with his vigorous tattoo on some dry shell of cedar — at the first paling of the eastern sky — than the birds land on my roof with successive thuds and much pattering about over the thin shakes that act as a sounding-board.

At this date they sing no more and rarely call but the noise they make on that roof is truly surprising. As I gave up one morning and opened the door to "let in the day" a cock robin alighted on the doorsill and looked pertly within and about until, seeing that I was on my feet he retreated as suddenly as he arrived — perhaps to spread the news that the oldman was up.

The young birds of this year are now of the full size for their various species but can still be identified because father and mother are looking somewhat frowsy at the moment; they are changing their clothes — moulting — and doing it a feather at a time so that the essential power of flight is not impaired.

That this necessary renewal of plumage goes on just now when there are no extra demands on the parent birds, when food is abundant, the temperature comfortably high and safe cover easily found seems to me worth more than the passing thought that is set in motion by the finding of a wing-feather on the trail — itself more marvellous the more it is studied.

What ships were built to be torn apart?

In the first half of the 19th century Europe and the West Indies were hungry for the cheap timber of North America. This appetite inspired the most daring shipbuilding project in Canadian maritime history. In 1823 John and Charles Wood, shipbuilders at Port Glasgow, Scotland, decided to evade the British timber tax by building huge wooden ships in Quebec, sailing them across the Atlantic, and then breaking them up for timbers. The Columbus, first of the lumber ships, was launched at a specially assembled shipyard four miles from Quebec City on July 28, 1824, and rigged as a four-masted barque. She was 301 feet long and registered at 3690 tons. She was not only the biggest ship of her day but, with one exception, the largest vessel built anywhere in the world for the next 30 years. The Columbus reached England safely. Then construction began on the Baron of Renfrew, an even bigger vessel — 304 feet long and 5880 tons. The Baron of Renfrew sailed in the summer of 1825 but was wrecked in the English Channel through a pilot's error. John and Charles Wood, her imaginative builders, collected from the loss an insurance payment that was a record for the times.

Who won 45 of 46 murder trials?

Robert Andrew Bonnar of Manitoba, one of the ablest criminal lawyers of his generation, lost only one of 46 murder trials in which he represented the defendant. Bonnar was born at King, north of Toronto, in 1860, the son of a Scottish schoolmaster who had come to Canada and taken up farming. He was taught at home, attended Barrie Academy for a time, and then studied law in Winnipeg. In 1889 he was called to the Manitoba bar and in 1915 he was created a K.C. Bonnar died at Headingly, Man., in 1932.

Where was Bonar Law born?

Andrew Bonar Law, the only prime minister of Great Britain (1922-23) not a native of the British Isles, was born in 1858 at Rexton, N.B. He was the son of the Presbyterian minister, the Rev. James Law, in this Kent County community. Rexton is situated on the Richibucto River, three miles south of the town of Richibucto. Until 1901 the community was known as Kingston. It was founded in 1825 and became a prosperous shipbuilding and lumbering centre. When the ferry downriver was replaced by a bridge at Rexton, the main road came through the community and the population further increased. A cairn to the memory of Bonar Law has been erected in Rexton.

A Challenge to CCF Leader Robert Strachan:

Tell B.C. where CCF would get $1,500,000,000 a year for jobs and construction

Harsh language and untrue charges are no answer to statements we have made warning British Columbia against possible loss of its good standing with investors.

We have said this:

1. It takes one billion, five hundred million dollars ($1,500,000,000) a year—mainly from outside B C —invested in private and public projects to keep B C prosperous. (This is undeniable.)
2. A Socialist - C C F Government would frighten away, not attract, such capital. (If you disagree, Mr. Strachan, you owe it to the public to say WHERE you would go to get the money.)
3. A Socialist - CCF Government put into office by alliance with a militant group of labor union leaders would give such leaders not only their present great economic power in B.C. but political power as well, through control of government. (Such power would be extreme and dangerous.)

You describe these warnings as "dirty, rotten practices", and "mud-slinging". Do you have any better answers?

You have charged that the B C Federation of Trade and Industry is a "front organization for the Socreds." The Federation was formed years before there was a Social Credit government in British Columbia, never has had association directly or indirectly with it nor with any political party whatsoever in British Columbia.

The Federation answers Socialist propaganda with factual statements and urges British Columbians NOT to take a gamble in state-ownership and class government which could dry up the vital flow of funds for new development and payrolls.

Junior wardens aid community

While the first duty of the Junior Forest Wardens is forest protection and fire prevention, these red-shirted youngsters of 10 to 16 play an important part in community affairs.

Considerable ingenuity is displayed in the ways in which various Warden Districts have lent a helping hand in their respective communities in recent months.

Vancouver Districts 101-102-103-104 and 105 paid a goodwill visit to the Crippled Children's Hospital where they put on a film show and distributed oranges, ice cream, balloons, story books and Smokey Bear comic books.

Tree planting projects were undertaken by Powell River District 133, Lake Cowichan 125 and Lynn Valley 110.

Wardens of Lonsdale 116 assisted the local Lions Club during a light bulb campaign to raise funds for the Crippled Children's Hospital.

In Boston Bar, a lively District 129 finds many ways to help their home town, such as assisting the volunteeer fire department by keeping hall, engines and ambulance clean and warming up engines when fire strikes; shovelling snow from walks free of charge for the old folks, and building bulletin boards for community groups.

Letters to the editor

Editor: Last spring the school board removed the school bus from the Porpoise Bay run, although the elementary pupil at the end of the run was 3.2 miles from the school. Since this run was not within the requirements set forth by the department of education, it was paid for entirely and out of the ratepayers pocket. By removing this run the board saved the ratepayers money to the tune of approximately $4.50 per day.

At Pender Harbour, there is a run referred to as the Oyster Bay run, which transports the high school children from the high school to the Oyster Bay road, a distance of approximately two miles by road, but a distance of little more than a mile by walking across a field. This is done to protect the children against the inclement weather conditions which exist in this area in the winter time. As you can see from the mileage involved, this is also an unauthorized run paid for entirely out of the ratepayer's pocket. When I questioned a trustee about this run, he freely admitted that it was an unauhorized run but added that he would fight to see that it was retained.

Through the efforts of the Sechelt Rural- Wilson Creek Ratepayers, both as a group and as individuals, the board at its last meeting agreed to run a taxi out to the end of the Porpoise Bay road, although at one board meeting in referring to a letter on transportation by this ratepayers group, the chairman of the transportation committee said that she felt it was none of the ratepayers' business to tell the school board how to spend their transportation money.

This year there are five Grade I children in this area, there is one girl at approximately 2½ miles who is physically handicapped. These students alone total seven. It is my understanding that a taxi load consists of six. What about the other children on this route? Does it seem reasonable to pick up one girl of a family and leave the other, or to leave the boy next door to walk, or to pick up the Grade I pupils and leave the Grade II pupils to walk when high school students are being transported on an unauthorized run at Pender Harbour?. Is this good public relations or are public relations between the school board and ratepayers superfluous? Another point this taxi will cost the ratepayers $3 per day. Is there any real saving here, all things considered?

This would appear to be a pretty muddled board policy if one could suspect that any overall policy exists at all.

Does this board not realize that they as a whole are responsible for any decision good or bad made as a result of representation by any individual trustee They are equally guilty if they agree to a decision, even though they lack adequate information, or even if they have been misinformed by any individual member,, whether through ignorance or malice aforethought. It behooves each board member to make certain that he is fully informed upon any matter before casting his vote, since each board member, as part of the group has to bear the brunt of public opinion when a wrong or unfair decision has been railroaded through.

What is the matter with this board? Are they so comfortably ensconed on Mount Olympus that they are incapable of an error in judgment, or are they so impressed with their own importance that they are unable to admit they have made a mistake (as in the Grade IX at Sechelt deal) or are they completely unaware of the inequities existing in this situation, or is it merely an example of muddle-headed, scramble-brained thinking?

You, the ratepayer, pay your money and you take your choice.

IGNORANT

Editor: At the meeting of landowners held recently at the Sechelt School activities hall in connection with the proposed water system for West Sechelt, it appears that a completely wrong impression has been held by some of the public of the intentions of Mr. T. A. Seymour, who, when the meeting was asked to elect its organizing committee, did nominate someone not connected with the small group of landowners who had been doing the initial spade work to bring the project to its present stage.

To correct the impression it should be known that Mr. Seymour was acting on the request of the members of this same "small group" who felt that this meeting should in no way feel obligated to vote for all or any of the members of this group, and that Mr. Seymour, in making his independent nomination would free the meeting from any restriction it might feel in that respect and give it a lead to appoint those it might consider would better represent the landowners.

We hope the above explanation will remove all doubt as to the motives of one who has from its inception been a strong supporter of the project, and regrets only that his business takes him away from home so much that he is unable to take a more active part in the furtherance.

Water Work Improvement Dictrict, per Rolly Reid.

Editor: With reference to the editorial in last week's Coast News relative to fire protection and in particular remarks re Sechelt and area:

In order to avoid misunderstanding I would point out that while the residents of the unorganized areas contribute generously the amount raised is not sufficient to cover the annual operating expenses, the purchase of new equipment, and completion of the fire hall by the fire brigade.

They also receive an annual grant from the commissioners of the incorporated village and a small grant from the department of Indian affairs for protection of the village of Sechelt and the Indian reserve.

It is the total amount realized from these various sources that enables the members of the fire brigade to successfully operate.

TO TEACH MUSIC

With years of experience behind her as a music teacher Sandra Harding, Gower Point road near Pratt road has opened a studio for violin and piano teaching. Pupils will be prepared for the Royal Conservatory of Music or for the B. C. Music Festival. During the war she played considerably in England and in Canada was a member of the Toronto Conservatory orchestra.

MEETS SCHOOL CHUM

While in Vancouver recently Harry B. Winn met a school chum he had not seen for 55 years. The chum was Frank Smith who came from Otley, Yorks where both he and Mr. Winn went to school. Mrs. Smith and Mrs. Winn also got together but they had not met previously. Later the Winns moved on to Squamish and Garibaldi, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clarke of Vancouver.

The recent forest closure saw John (Jack) Walker Fisher of Selma Park, visiting Vancouver where he received his membership into the "Turtle Club."

Jack, wearing his new hard hat complete with turtle decal and T.L.A. safety director, Bob Whiskin, display membership certificate, while C. R. "Rusty" Rustemeyer, safety training co-ordinator of Canadian Forest Products Ltd., adjusts Turtle lapel pin.

The club, which now boasts a world-wide membership, was founded by Mr. Rustemeyer and is sponsored by Fleck Bros Ltd. Today, the increasing Turtle club membership, with its slogan "Shell on head — We're not dead" proves beyond all doubt the value of head protection and the hard hat is the accepted trade mark of a logger.

Jack Fisher entered the select group by way of Continental Logging at Sechelt where he was struck by a haulback line when he was "caught in the bite" and the tail hold stump uprooted.

WINS PIANO

The piano raffled by Canadian Legion 109 on August 27 was won by Mrs. Alice Latham of Port Mellon.

Steacy at Sechelt

rising star of this province, he said. The railway was now paying its own way and would eventually clear its debt by self-liquidation. It has opened up the greater part of this province and while we may not benefit greatly at present our children would be the beneficiaries.

Recreation facilities in this area would be increased and there were future plans for establishment of marinas and more camps.

The government's welfare policy had rendered great happiness, he maintained, pointing out that departmental estimates for it had increased from $21 millions in 1952 to $44 millions in 1960, an increase of more than 105 percent. The B. C. old age pension was greater than either Alberta or Saskatchean he said with B. C. supplying a $20 bonus, Alberta $15 and Saskatchewan $5.

Mr. Steacy outlined the work being done by the government for the aged, correctional institutions, mental hospitals and the general situation under the hospital administration.

This area has supplied only 26 percent of educational costs he told the audience, pointing out that the department has supplied something like 74.12 percent of operating costs. It was necessary in some areas where the income level was low for the government to pick up the tab.

Mr. Steacy outlined how some years ago he had canoed through the area involved in the Wenner-Gren scheme and for many, many miles he saw as few as half-adozen people. As far as the Wenner-Gren proposal went, it was just a proposal. The right to investigate the northern area had been granted but nothing more. After the investigation discoveries must be turned over to the government and if they want anything out of those discoveries they must apply for them the same as anyone else. It was not a project because nothing had been signed.

When the railway was built in the north freight going in would first have to travel over the PGE. Mr. Steacy commented on what opposition leaders and the press were spreading concerning the Wenner-Gren and power proposals maintaining they were "malarkey, eyewash and hooey and were just belittling the idea." Nothing had been given and no concessions had been made, he added. If Wenner-Gren does not build the railway ,'we will," he added.

On the Peace power proposals, no concessions or privileges of any kind had been granted. The rates for eventual power would be set by the Public Utilities Commission. As regards the Columbia river scheme he said some people were so far off base it was disgusting. B. C. controls the water so B. C. will build the dam and receive return power benefits from American sources in return. The Americans must have water for irrigation so a deal may be completed shortly.

The home-owner grant was described as being of great benefit to old age pensioners. "We feel that it is your share of the natural resources of the province. We are not satisfied with it and want to increase it. As revenues grow so we will. It is one of the finest things we have ever done." Taxes in British Columbia, he added were lower than in any other part of Canada. Income taxes were higher owing to there being a higher income level.

"More things were being done for you in British Columbia and the government is going to continue its policies of the last eight years — not promises but plans for the future — a continued program of achievements," he said in conclusion.

Few questions were asked at the end of the speeches and in answering one concerning the highway to avoid Granthams bridge and hill Mr. Bracewell hinted something must be underway because Hopkins water board had been informed by the roads department the Hopkins water system was in the path but it would be taken care of during road construction.

WHAT MAKES TIRES SQUEAL?

Have you ever wondered what makes tires squeal? Here are some answers by the B.C. Automobile Association:

Speed, generally believed to be the sole cause, is one of many contributing factors, which fall into three main classes: Tread design, construction and operating characteristics of tires. Car front-end suspension and wheel alignment. The condition of the road itself.

The source of the squeal is "side slip." When tires slip sideways over road surface, however slight, the resulting noise is similar to rubbing two inflated balloons together.

Motorists can reduce tire squeal by following these BCAA suggestions: Keep tires properly inflated, observing manufacturer's recommended air pressure. Obviously, avoid taking corners fast. Check car front-end alignment periodically. Rotate tires regularly, at least 3000 miles, including spare in rotation. Replace worn or damaged tires.

The tapes and cords of Venetian blinds can be cleaned with a liquid white shoe polish. Start at the top and work down, washing the applicator pad if it gets dirty.

CHILD PROOF

A child-proof medicine chest is a necessity in any home. Enticing looking pills and colored cough mixtures must be out of reach of prying hands. If there is no locked cabinet the top shelf of the kitchen cupboard can safely take its place. Large cans, such as those for powdered milk, may hold bottles of medicine, bandages and pills. Bright colored enamel paint may be used for easy finding, and the contents listed on paper protected by pieces of plain polythene film. The colors can be keyed — red for poisons, yellow for pills and green for bandages.

A small braid rug can be slid under a stove or refrigerator, washer or dryer which is too close to the floor to allow passage of a mop. Lint and dust will stick to the rug which can be easily cleaned.

Household Hints

Add a few cup hooks to a wooden coat hanger and on these suspend brushes, chamois, dusters, etc. Hang this carrying rod over the door knob in the room in which you are working and you will save yourself many steps.

Deep marks made on rugs by heavy furniture will not be as noticeable when you change your furniture around if you place a damp cloth over the dents and press with a moderately hot iron to raise the nap. Finish with a slight brushing with a stiff brush.

Raw egg spilled on the kitchen floor makes a gooey mess. If you cover it with salt and let it stand for about 20 minutes, you will be able to sweep it up with a broom.

Cutting paper linings to fit dresser drawers is a nuisance job, but once you are doing it, no more effort is needed to cut half a dozen layers at the same time. Put them all in as a lining and when the top layer is soiled, remove it and the fresh one is already in place.

Change your piano keys from yellow to white by rubbing them with a cloth dipped in cologne water. Don't touch the black keys!

Rubber tacks fastened to the bottom of your meat board or bread board will prevent it from sliding when you use it on a smooth table or counter top.

70 are given swim lessons

With the visit Sat., Aug. 20 of the Red Cross examiner one of Pender Harbour's most successful swimming classes came to a close.

There was a great interest with over 70 children registering for lessons and under the competent instruction of Lynne Bredin and her assistants rapid advances were made by all.

A tribute was paid by the Red Cross examiner to the instructress and the way she handled the classes with the results of so many taking and passing their exams. The weatherman co-operated and all lessons went as scheduled five days a week for six weeks.

Since so many children in Pender Harbour live by the water and travel to school by ferry it is a necessity that they be taught to swim and water safety rules. This year the PTA earned a lot of credit for coming in at the last minute and making the lessons possible. It is hoped that the public will show its appreciation by supporting the PTA and thus insuring the possibility of such lessons for another year.

The PTA swimming committee express their appreciation to the many people who helped to make these swimming classes a success.

TO AID HUNGRY

The Canadian Government will contribute $23,000 to the special trust fund for the operation of a Freedom from Hunger Campaign launched July 1 by the Food and Agriculture Organization of the United Nations. PLAN NO. 1095
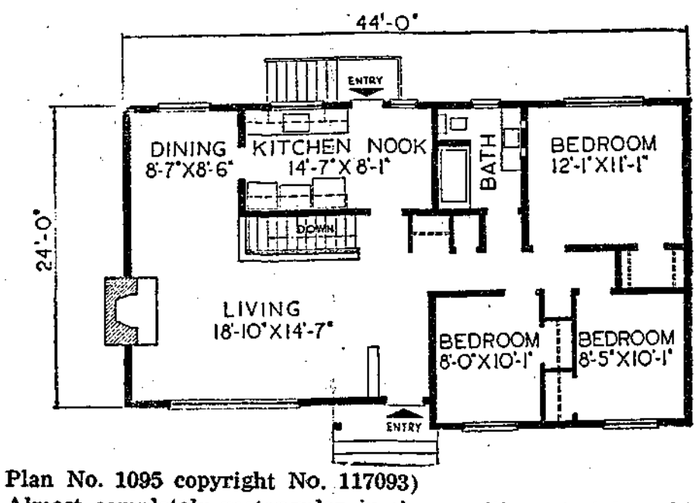
AREA - 1096 SQ. FT.
THE BUILDING CENTRE (B.C.) LTD.
PLAN SERVICE VANCOUVER B.C.



Plan No. 1095 copyright No. 117093)

Almost completely rectangular in shape, with a straight gable roof, this house is designed for economical construction with a maximum of living space for the average family.

Equally adaptable to either city or country locale, the use of the new modern exterior finishes — the soft toned stucco hues, the muted tones of the new siding — cedar or patent shingles in the new "shadow" colors — all these contribute to its inviting appearance. Note the wide overhang across the front of the house to protect the occupants from the winter blasts, and provide cool shadows during the heat of the summer sun.

Inside, the ever popular L shaped living-dining room has been given a new twist by the inclusion of the stairway down to the basement in the living room area with an open stairwell. Use the dining room for formal dining, family dining is provided for in the kitchen with a good sized nook for eating. The master bedroom is at the back of the house for complete privacy, but windows placed horizonally in the other two bedrooms ensure the same privacy there. The master bedroom also features a large "walk-in" closet. Well appointed bathroom completes the layout of this lovely home.

Wrought iron railings around the porch and down the side of the low steps, landscape the grounds with shrubs and trees, and here is a home to which the most discriminating owner will point with pride. Floor area is 1096 square feet, frontage is 44', but if you have a wider lot you can add a carport or garage as you see fit.

Working drawings are available — drawn for N.H.A. approval — from the Building Centre (B.C.) Ltd. 116 E. Broadway, Vancouver. To obtain a copy of our Select Home Designs Plan Book, send 25c in coin to cover cost of mailing and handling. 1960 EDITION NOW AVAILABLE.

One card idea

An insurance card for motorists, recognized across Canada as proof of financial responsibility, has been proposed by Canadian Automobile Association to provincial authorities in the 10 provinces. At present, the four western provinces have a reciprocal liability insurance scheme for motorists.

Rowley J. Hastings, of Vancouver, president of the 600,000-member CAA, said motorists from provinces not covered by agreements must carry separate cards for each province they intend to visit that have reciprocal liability insurance arrangements.

The CAA president gave the imminent opening of the Trans-Canada highway as his reason for urging provincial authorities across the country to reach an all-Canada agreement.

We who make whisky say:

DRINKING AND DRIVING DO NOT MIX

Fine whisky is a luxury and should be treated as such. And, knowing when to say "no" plays a great part in the art of sensible living.

Neither whisky nor any other alcoholic beverage has any place at the wheel of an automobile. Drinking and driving do not mix.

This conviction must be shared by every thinking person who drives a car, particularly this Labour Day week-end when many holidaying families will be travelling on British Columbia highways.

If you expect to be at the wheel of a car this week-end, we say to you: Think before you drink. Don't drink before you drive.

Martin outlines chronics program

Hon. Eric Martin, minister of health services and hospital insurance, announces that on Sept. 1, the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service will commence a coverage for rehabilitation, chronic treatment and convalescent care in hospitals or sections of hospitals approved for that purpose.

He stated the Canadian Medical Association B.C. Division and the faculty of medicine of the University of British Columbia, will give advice concerning the requirements of such a program.

Coverage would be for patients who no longer required intensive diagnostic and treatment services of an active treatment general hospital and who are certified by competent medical authority to be likely to benefit from rehabilitation treatments to the extent that they may be returned to their homes.

Mr. Martin called attention also to the Government's announced program of grants-in-aid to non-profit societies for the construction of nursing home type facilities for the care of the bedridden aged and infirm. A province-wide survey of nursing home bed requirements was now being completed, with the assistance of hospitals and doctors.

Mr. Martin emphasized that the entire coverage program will have to fit properly within the scope of the federal-provincial hospital insurance program. Due to the fact that there is a limited background of experience, it has not been possible to define policies and procedures as clearly as in the acute general hospital field. Coverage limitations will be subject to review from time to time in the light of experience.

He said also that the provincial government has repeatedly urged municipalities and community organizations to construct and equip hospital units required throughout the province for the full development of the rehabilitation, chronic treatment, and convalescent program, and had given assurance that the provincial program of grants-in-aid of 50% of the approved construction cost and 33⅓% of the cost of depreciable equipment would be provided for all necessary projects.

In addition, there exists in B.C. and elsewhere in Canada a shortage of the trained professional personnel necessary to staff a program of this nature. The representatives of the Medical Association and the faculty of medicine are planning the establishment of refresher courses and training facilities to assist in meeting this need.

Necessary additional facilities for the full rehabilitation, chronic treatment and convalescent program will not be built until there is the incentive of a plan actively in operation. It has, therefore, been decided to commence the program with such facilities as are available. Coverage will be provided for such patients as qualify on medical grounds in the following facilities:

G. F. Strong Rehabilitation Centre, Vancouver; Gorge Road Hospital, Victoria; Holy Family Hospital Vancouver; Queen Alexandra Solarium and Poliomyelitis Pavilion of the Pearson Hospital, Vancouver.

In addition, coverage will be provided in the Veterans' hospitals in Vancouver and Victoria for civilian patients entitled to treatment in those hospitals. It is anticipated that, immediately following the completion of the new Lions Gate Hospital, North Vancouver, the present North Vancouver General Hospital will be renovated to provide rehabilitation, chronic treatment, and convalescent facilities for the people of Greater Vancouver, and that, as soon as the new Nanaimo General Hospital is built, the present hospital building will also be available for the new program.

The development of the rehabilitation, chronic treatment, and convalescent program will not limit or change the B.C. Hospital Insurance Service policy of providing coverage in general hospitals for the period during which it is shown by the attending physician that a patient requires in-patient care in an acute general hospital, and could not be adequately cared for in a nurshome or like institution.

Surprise party given visitors

Mr. and Mrs. H. Bovenius were surprised at a farewell the home of Mr. and Mrs. Len Swanson, Gibsons, on the evparty held in their honor at ening of Aug. 27.

Six months ago Mr. and Mrs. Bovenius came to this country from Holland to visit Mrs. Swanson, their daughter, and her family. During their stay they have seen much of British Columbia, and have made many friends. They have taken albums of snapshots to speak for our province's scenery on their return to Holland, and have gathered many souvenirs of their journey.

The travellers had shown special interest in local wood carvings. Some of their newly made Canadian friends responded to this interest by presenting as a farewell token a finely carved figure and Indian head plaque.

Contributors to the gift were Don and Marj David, Ray and Evelyn Johnson, Ed and Maudie Turner, Alec and Bet King, Hank and Lisa Barendregt, Bill and Helen Weinhandl, Harold and Bea Swanson, Bruce and Lottie Campbell, George and Shirley Forshman, and Les and Iva Peterson.

Hank Barendregt, speaking first in Dutch and then in English, made the presentation.

Aqua ducks earn badges

Despite the chill of the evening and the seeming determination of the tide to create the problem of dancing in the dark, three sets of the Gibsons Squarenaders Dance club took to the water to qualify for the Aqua-Duck badge.

On the beach in front of the Gibsons Boat Works flames from the bon fire leaped to cast their light upon the water and above the music and calls of Harry Robertson could be heard the squeals and groans of the dancers as the slope of the beach and movements of the dance caused the water to splash high.

Those wishing to qualify for the Aqua-Duck badge must dance in ankle-deep water. Club members eagerly awaiting the "pinning" ceremony are Doris Solnik, Inez Hendrickson, Frank Girard, Pat MacIntosh, Art Holden, Jim and Mary Wardrop, Doreen Hough, Bill Morrison, Jack Inglis and Violet Winegarden.

While several sets were lawn dancing and some of the more hardy types were swimming, platters of hot dogs and plenty of steaming coffee was prepared.

With the singing of songs both old and new, another night of squaredance fun, friendliness and fellowship came to a close.

Inez and Walt Hendrickson were thanked for their hospitality and a vote of thanks goes to the residents of the Bay area who so patiently bore all the "disturbing of the peace." — V.W.
