58 youths at special service

An Anglican service with a difference — that is what the Rev. Jim Fergusson offered teenagers at St. Hilda's Church on Saturday evening last. 58 teenagers and 24 adults, some from as far off as Gibsons and Halfmoon Bay, turned up to sample the new formula and they certainly seemed to like it.

Mr. Syd Redman played the organ for the processional and recessional, but the negro spirituals and freedom hymns in which the young people joined enthusiastically were accompanied by Mr. and Mrs. Fergusson on their guitars. There followed the Magnificat, the Nunc Dimittus and the Creed.

Mr. Fergusson gave an address which was as modern and as full of vigor as the teenagers themselves. His message was straight-forward and down to earth, pulling no punches. After the service there was a grand hootenany in the church hall with more singing to the accompaniment of guitars and refreshments served by the Girls' auxiliary to St. Hilda's Church.

Class '64 Fashions

If you desire to keep up with the latest dress fashions at Elphinstone Secondary school the following taken from the school's Glad Rag publication should be of interest.

"Well, here we are back to another year of school, and back to the old routine of fads and fancies in regards to our clothes. As far as I can see, this year shows promise of boasting the best-dressed and best-groomed girls. Haven't you noticed? The girls are keeping their hair neat and tidy, most of them anyway, and their clothes are clean and pressed. Even those of us who can't afford to keep in the latest styles have no excuse for an unkept of a sloppy appearance.

"Just for your own information, here are the latest fads and styles for the opening term. Jumpers are in! Whether they are made of corduroy, cotton, suede or wool, they are a must! Again this year, the feminine-type flared skirts are very popular as are the slightly elevated heels. Mohair sweaters, bracers, and sling backs have rapidly lost their popularity and so have the high, back-combed hairdos.

"Hey Girls! Have you noticed the sharp way the boys are dressing this year? Some of them, however, still insist on wearing their shirt-tails out, the buttons undone, and those awful, horrible running shoes. Come on guys! You can do better than that.

That's all for this month, kids, but keep your ears open for more about the up-coming skirt and blazer."

Paintings sold

It was the picture of a freighter lurching its way through a fairly heavy sea and was the pick of the dozen or so pictures which were exhibited.

The showing was under sponsorship of the Arbutus Rebekah Lodge and many were the visitors who took the opportunity of seeing the display. A good many of the pictures depicted sail craft and verged into the steam and sail era with the one depicting the freighter bringing a note of today to the display.

CHIMNEY FIRE

No damage was reported as a result of a chimney fire at the Jorgenson home on Russell road shortly after 5 p.m. Monday. The fire department responded but were on the scene a short time only.

Area Centennial idea offered

Replying to a Coast News editorial of last week on an area-wide Centennial project, Canon Alan Greene who has been associated with the old St. Mary's Hospital at Garden Bay for many years, has offered a suggestion in the following letter:

Editor: I was quite stirred by your editorial, challenging your readers to the serious consideration of one big worth-while Centennial project, into which all of us could throw ourselves, forgetting smaller local projects we might have in mind. It is inevitable that they will be small, as the grants added to local contributions cannot make any worthwhile project possible.

May I suggest a project that has been on my mind for two years or more — the building at a point within reasonable reach of the new hospital and medical clinic at Sechelt, of Senior Citizen homes. It has always been a grave problem for social welfare workers in the area to find suitable housing for our aged neighbors, who are living in considerable isolation and under conditions that are bad from a health standpoint. It is difficult to get such people to move into boarding homes in Vancouver because this isolates them from their friends. So they stay on, sometimes in very lonely spots, with none of the amenities that would make their life far happier.

Let us get together under the direction, at first, of Mr. Tom Rubens, whose job it is to organize Centennial committees, and have a wide-open discussion of our various projects and see if there is not real merit in laying them aside in favor of one like this. It would have tremendous appeal to hospital auxiliaries, service clubs, churches, in fact to everybody.

I've had a little experience over the past 15 years directing a very modest Aged Folks Guest House project at Pender Harbour, and I know that over 60 elderly folk have found our cottage homes a source of peace and pleasure, that has made their later years really worthwhile. Once I got one unit in operation, others followed, with generous support from friends of our Mission all over British Columbia.

So challenging was your article that I personally will gladly join any group that will tackle this big job. I can forsee a lot of heavy work for any group that tackles it, but you've got my elderly cosmos quite excited, and I'm eager to see some real action. Financially, it doesn't worry me one iota. The provincial government will contribute one third. We must raise 10% in cash of the total cost and then probably go to National Housing officials for long term loans to finance the balance of the cost. Elderly citizens can have up to a total income of $138.60 including pensions and B.C. cost of living bonus before they become ineligible for admission.

The probable average cost of a unit for a single person would be in the neighborhood of $6,000.

If we get the project rolling, I forsee service clubs and other socially minded groups jumping right into the show and begging for a place in the program. Each community could take on a unit as its particular project, and have something to which they could give care over many years. Even our boys and girls in the schools would probably want a hand in the plan. And without a doubt, people would leave money to the homes in their wills. I know, because I've had that kind of luck with my homes at Pender Harbour.

Forgive this outburst, but the more I think of it the keener I get. Let's get together and put this over.

Alan D. Greene,
Redrooffs.

Dog menace under fire

The running down of a Gibsons man by two big dogs and his resultant injuries brought members of Gibsons Chamber of Commerce to urge it was about time something was done about the dog menace. The Chamber met Monday night in Welcome Cafe.

The injured man was George Jervis, 65, an employee of the liquor store in Gibsons. He was on School Road walking downhill near the Elementary School when the dogs rushed out, and knocked him down. He suffered two broken ribs at the back towards the spine. He is now resting at home. He was attended to at the Medical Clinic by Dr. Hugh Inglis.

Methods of keeping dogs under control were discussed with two members of council present. They were Chairman A. E. Ritchey and Councillor Fred Feeney who was also chairman of the chamber meeting.

Mr. Ritchey stated it was quite likely that dog licenses would cost more next year. He also suggested that the matter be brought to the attention of council at its Tuesday night meeting.

The meeting decided to write provincial government authorities concerning the dog menace generally and will provide council with a copy of this letter. A plea was also made that signs be put on beaches that dogs were not allowed as they are dangerous when young children are involved.

President Ken McHeffey was unable to be at the meeting as he was visiting his brother in New York. Mrs. Wynne Stewart was secretary and will be until the end of the year.

Members discussed the breakwater and bay improvement scheme after hearing Walt Nygren tell of his trip to Harrison Hot Springs where a beach job had been accomplished by the council there. Chamber members and village council members will get together to see what can be done as a joint effort.

Percy Lee introduced Les Peterson who with the aid of colored slides and comment showed numerous scenic spots in Jervis Inlet area and also gave some good shots of early Indian rock paintings in the same area.

Council boosts tax

The village dog problem came before Gibsons council Tuesday via a letter from the Chamber of Commerce as the result of Monday night's chamber meeting. The C. of C. meeting urged council see what can be done about it.

The injury to George Jervis Monday was referred to, resulting in comments that something should be done. As a start Councillor Fladager moved that the male dog tax be raised from $1 to $5 and female tax from $2 to $25. Council also decided to put no dogs allowed signs on the Municipal Beach.

The re-zoning of the Wyngaert property from commercial to residential-commercial, not being opposed, has resulted in completion of an amending bylaw.

Council was informed that the contractor, Bourrie and McLellan had visited a Winn Rd. spot for a new municipal hall and were now working on a plan for a proposed hall.

Council approved a request for water rights on Kullander Creek by Mrs. D. Parnwell, Cochrane St. Approval was needed for completion of the application with the provincial water rights branch.

The proposed sidewalk from the Jay-Bee store towards the post office has been shelved for the time being for a broader scheme which would entail curbing and the replacement of poles outside the sidewalk.

Council decided to drop out of Civil Defence operations on the basis it was of no further use.

DANGER!

One hundred percussion caps and eight sticks of dynamite are being sought by RCMP. They were stolen, believed by children, from a B.C. Hydro work operation in the Halfmoon Bay area.

A plea was sent out Tuesday over a TV station for anyone knowing who had these explosives to turn them over to an adult or the police. RCMP and Hydro officials are working on the case.

Wallet returned

About one month ago Ted Joe of Sechelt was helping to load a Japanese freighter at Port Mellon and somehow lost his wallet containing $25.

The other day he received from the Japanese freighter line agent in Vancouver the wallet complete with the $25 in it. Apparently it had travelled from Port Mellon to various ports before reaching Japan. He now has his wallet back.

Cars will help

A welcome feature has been added to the OES bazaar this year. There will be cars at the Shell Oil corner to transfer those who do not have transportation to the School Hall.

There will be a new stock of articles from which to choose, and the usual stalls of fine baked goods. It's the place where you will meet all your friends and neighbors.

Rural meeting

A rural area Centennial project meeting will be held Thurs., Nov. 26 at 8 p.m. in the Anglican Church hall in Gibsons The rural area concerned covers from Roberts Creek to Port Mellon. Tom Ruben, consultant of the Community Programs branch of the provincial government is expected to attend.

Total government spending in Canada amounted to $98 per capita in 1939, $283 per capita in 1949 and $738 per capita in 1963.

At the October meeting of the executive of the P.M.C.A. a donation of $75 was approved to be given to the Gibsons Boy's Soccer Club. This request came from Mr. Bill Sneddon. It was also resolved that $300 be donated to the Save the Children Fund at Christmas as a gift from the children of the members of the P.M.C.A. Photographs will be on view at the Children's Christmas party showing some examples of how the donation is put to good use.

The Children's Christmas party will be on Sat., Dec. 19 at the P.M. Community Hall. The Port Mellon Elementary School will put on a concert as the main part of the entertainment.

A donation of $100 was sent to the P.M. Volunteer Fire Department to help put on the Hallowe'en Fireworks display, in place of having the usual brief children's party before the fireworks.

At the November meeting of the Association on request of Mr. Norm Rudolph, a donation of $75 was approved to help provide transport from Vancouver of a recently acquired whaler to be used by the Mount Elphinstone District Boy Scouts.

Women form club

On Sunday last, Mrs. Ivy Baston of Powell River, provincial president of the Canadian Federation of Business and Professional Women's clubs, entertained more than 20 business and professional women of the Sunshine Coast at the Winning Post at Ole's Cove.

Mrs. Baston explained the purpose and objectives of the clubs which promote the interests of business and professional women throughout Canada. She introduced Miss Adele de Lange of Mission Point, a past provincial president, Mrs. Mary Walker of Welcome Beach, a past regional director of the lower mainland, and Mrs. Jo Benjafield of Garden Bay, a former member of the Prince George club. Mrs. Baston felt that the advice and help of these three women would be invaluable in forming a local club.

The meeting voted overwhelmingly in favor of forming a club and the following officers were elected: President, Mrs. Jo Benjafield of Garden Bay; vice-president, Mrs. Doreen Lee of Silver Sands; secretary, Mrs. Grace Harling of Garden Bay; treasurer, Mrs. Dorothy Bosch of Egmont.

The next meeting of the club will be a dinner meeting at the Winning Post at Ole's Cove on Tuesday, Dec. 1. Anyone interested will be welcome to attend and enquiries can be made to Miss de Lange at 885-2208 or Mrs. Grace Harling at Garden Bay.

SOCCER PLAYERS WANTED

Soccer players between the ages of 13 and 15 are urged to attend a practice Saturday noon at the Elementary school.

He will take the place of Mrs. Anne Burns who resigned by letter at the Sept. 28 meeting of the board. Mrs. Burns has been with the school board since 1944 when the former Howe Sound School board existed. Sechelt District School Board was formed in 1946 and the secretary of the Howe Sound Board became secretary of the new Sechelt School board.

A busy place

The Wilson Creek Community Hall was a busy place last Tuesday afternoon when many people attended the United Church Bazaar. The hall so gayly decorated gave warmth and festive air for the occasion. Mrs. W. M. Cameron officially declared the bazaar open at 2 p.m.

The meeting of friends and welcoming of newcomers to the area around a tea table proved a happy occasion.

The United Church Women extend sincere thanks to all who contributed to the generously filled sale tables and to those who so generously bought from them.

Anyone still missing a bake tin may contact Mrs. T. Lamb, 885-9975.

TICKETS GO FAST

Sechelt's Hospital auxiliary smorgasbord is apparently some attraction. Tickets went on sale Saturday at 10 a.m. and people were lined up to get them an hour before that. All were sold by 10 a.m. which is somewhat of a recrod.

AT ST. BART'S

Rev. Henry (Harry) Kelly is now announced officially as being the new priest for St. Bartholomew's Anglican church in Gibsons. He was a padre at the Seamen's Institute in Vancouver for several years.

Park still in debate

It is expected that Wednesday night's council meeting at Sechelt will amend the bylaws for the purchase of park land on the east side of Porpoise Bay road at Porpoise Bay.

The council held a special meeting Tuesday morning and deleted from a previous motion that the money be borrowed to cover this cost. Now it is reported that the method of purchase to be used would be to absorb the surplus the village now has in the down payment with terms for the remainder to be arranged out of annual revenue.

Purchase price is reported to be $28,000 and it is understood the real estate company involved is asking a $14,000 down payment.

If the prepared bylaw passes council Wednesday night, it will be put before Sechelt voters in the form of a plebiscite.

Frank Parker, councillor who has pressed for the purchase of this land for a park has previously announced he will not run again after his term expires as councillor at the end of the year.

Prizes for decoratious

As a Christmas bonus Gibsons merchants are sponsoring a home decoration competition which will give householders a chance to show their ability to be artistic with Christmas decorations.

There will be good prizes offered, details of which will be published later. It is expected that there will be many homes well lighted outside this year which will give the area quite a Christmassy aspect. Fuller details will be announced when they have been worked out.

Winter training

On Tuesday, Nov. 24 at 7:30 p.m. at Gibsons School Hall, the first evening of winter training will take place. This training will include calisthenics, isometric exercises and weight training, to help physically strengthen and help prepare young people for the spring sports, such as track and field and baseball.

Someone speaks up!

Canon Greene's suggestion for an area Centennial project which would be of great benefit for many, many years to come is worth considering. The Canon seeks to start something which is badly needed.

His idea for senior citizen homes has been mentioned hundreds of times by thousands of people in many places but not much has been done about it. Yet there is a great need for such homes.

To be a senior citizen in the present so-called opulent society which has mortgaged itself up to the hilt is not an easy matter. The senior citizen can only mortgage his old age, something which has no value in the field of mortgage financing.

Dangerous depths

Recent scuba diving tragedies call for comment on the dangers of this line of activity and if there is any organization which has the right to such comment it would be the B.C. Safety Council.

E. S. Robinson, M.D., chairman of the council writes that divers usually die because they drown. They drown because they panic. They panic because of some unexpected emergency. The emergency arises because of faulty equipment or because their training was not adequate, especially in how to deal with emergencies.

The diving safety committee, he adds, has produced a standard basic minimum curriculum for divers. It won't teach anyone to dive but it outlines the very least he should know. In this sport and occupation there is no place for ignorance, carelessness, bigotry or lack of discipline.

The Safety Council chairman is of the opinion the sport of scuba diving can be safe and wonderful fun, especially in the beautiful waters of B.C., all the year round. Divers have to realize that the surest way to ensure government regulations and limitations of their sport is the rising toll of diving deaths. Some form of self-regulation by divers of divers and by diving instructors of diving instructors is imperative.

Deep sea divers have to undergo a rather severe and lengthy training before they are allowed to operate alone. There should also be a similar period of training for scuba divers. It need not be as long or as meticulous but before anyone descends into the unknown depths much more than a desire to do so is needed. However with people being what they are there will be more scuba diving fatalities before controls take over.

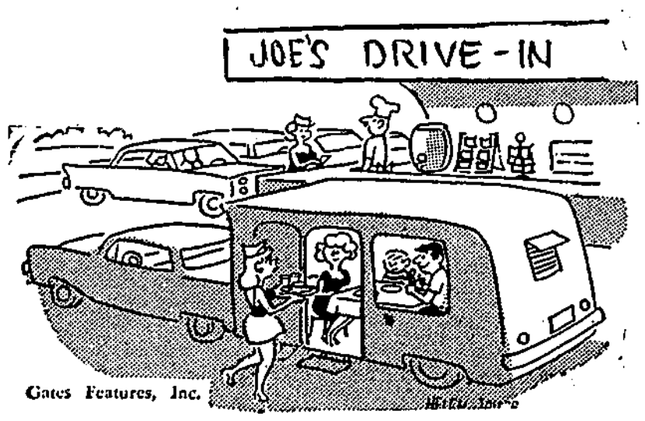
Perversion and $ $ $

With a great deal of attention being paid to misfits, freaks, perverts and others you can think of, on TV, radio, and some printed word media, perhaps it would be interesting to know if all the media outlets will ever find there is a monetary reward to be found in exploring the average person.

Time will tell. Just as soon as the average individual becomes worthy of getting a spot somewhere to tell the story of what the average individual is like perhaps the various media of communication will stop and ask "Where have you been all this time?"

Behind this facade of exploring over the borderline material, is the desire for notoriety. The mad race to be more daring than someone else has so captured the minds of people who believe the only words worth a damn are nudity, perversion and sick, sick, sick, that they are the sick ones.

Never mind, Mr. and Mrs. Average Person, your day will come and the minds of the dealers of perversion and all that goes with it, will marvel that there is something else in the world worth their attention. But you must remember, there should be a dollar tag attached to it. Without a dollar tag, the minds now finding monetary reward in the field of perversion just won't look at you.



History in a stockroom!

Mrs. M. WEST

While checking supplies in the stockroom at Gibsons Elementary School Mr. G. Cooper came across some old copies of the school paper of the early forties. Originally called the Howe Sound Herald and later School Days it was published by the students belonging to the newspaper club under the sponsorship of Mr. Trueman.

Selling for 5c per copy, it carried advertisments from local merchants such as Wally Graham, Cut - rate Hardware. Charges for advertising space are quoted at ¼ page 45c, ½ page 75c and full page $1.50 later $1.25, school news and gossip, jokes, community affairs, sports, church reports and as it was wartime numerous patriotic exhortations to buy victory bonds and war saving stamps were included.

From the May 1941 issue comes this report on the Village Fire Wagon written by Pat Smythe and Jean Lock: The village now has a very smart fire wagon. This buggy has two car wheels on the back and can be pushed by hand or pulled by a car. At the front is a tool box. At the other end is a reel to hold the 350 feet of hose. This structure is made of iron pipe. On the sides are two fire-extinguishers. This fire buggy can be seen at Dick Cooper's garage. All we need now is a fire brigade to operate it.

The report of water difficulties in 1945 may be of interest to todays councillors. Under Headlands Water Supply, one reads that for some years the water supply situation in the Headlands area has been growing more and more satisfactory. In 1935, with a dozen or so water users, a three quarter inch water main was laid and water supplied at village rates according to terms of a special agreement between the Village Commission and the Headlands association. The cost of laying the pipe was to be paid by a ten dollar connection fee. Since then, year after year, more services were connected until in the summer, users at the far end of the main could not get water except in trickles.

At the request of the Headlands Association no further connections have been made since the summer of 1944. This aspect of the situation can be solved only by a much larger water main which is feasible only when Headlands becomes organized with powers of local taxation for local purposes.

"A serious, if temporary, situation has arisen on account of the rapid increase in the use of water in the Gibsons Landing area. From 80 services with few toilets, the system has increased to over 200 domestic services with many toilets. The capacity of the Gibsons spring and pumps was reached last summer when with engines working 24 hours a day, the depth of water in the reservoir frequently fell to six inches and was seldom over 18 inches.

"New water services and more toilets have been added since then, and with the new gravity system yet to be completed, the commissioners were compelled to consider the question of cutting off outside users. The Headlands association was informed of this possibility last fall in order that residents of that area might be aware of the situation. It is to be hoped that the new system is completed in time to avert this local catastrophe."

Gibsons "Village Laundry' obviously left no stone unturned to encourage customers, two of their 1941 advertisements run as follows: The Village Laundry, Gibsons Landing (opposite Co-op store) take this opportunity to wish this publication unbounded success. If it's readers would experience success in laundry work we suggest they try the above service where city prices prevail." One month later the advertisement read: "To kill three birds with one stone is more than a trite saying, it is real economy. At the sign of The Library opposite the Co-op store, Gibsons Landing. You may borrow books at no cost, obtain laundry service at city prices and discuss your building requirements, including sash, doors, lumber and plumbing supplies. It costs you nothing to enquire or to borrow books, of which a new supply both of fiction and non-fiction has recently arrived."

Among other miscellaneous information to come to light is that in May '41 Bill Malyea's pet hate was teachers. Mr. Trueman's favorite song was It's nice to get up in the morning but it's nicer to stay in bed. Jim Drummond's favorite was String of Pearls but Herb Winn favored Jeanie with the light brown hair. Gibsons school trustee, Mrs Peggy Volen, was then vice-president of the newspaper club.

U.S. tourist influx grows

Uncertain summer weather did not prevent United States tourists from making 1964 British Columbia's best tourist year so far says Hon. W. K. Kiernan, minister of recreation and conservation.

Figures released by the Dominion Bureau of Statistics show a 9.1 percent increase in border crossings. This puts the province ahead of all Canada by a considerable margin. The August total of 103,954 permits issued was 8,640 more than a year ago.

Between January and August 1964, 415,037 permits were issued a 44,649 gain over January-August 1963 total of 370,388. This 12.1 percent increase is the highest in Canada.

"The totals show we are doing a good job in British Columbia. It also makes clear that, from the tourists' point of view, the province's popularity continues to increase. Without the co-operation of the many officials who agree that tourism is big business, the picture might not have been so bright and encouraging," Mr. Kiernan said.

FEWER CHILDREN

British Columbia has the lowest proportion of children under working ages. There are 31 percent of total population in this age group with 59 percent in the working ages and 10 percent over 65 years of age.

BEAVERS GO FOR SPUDS

The game department reports that Gourmet Beavers, in the Quesnel lakes area of Vancouver Island, have switched from their usual diet leaves, roots and stems of trees and pond weeds to potatoes. It has caused a considerable loss to local farmers.

Did you also know that a colony occupying a lodge consists of a pair with the young of the year and of the proceeding year. The two year olds then leave the colony in midsummer and pair up to find new lodges.

FOREST COMMUNITY

The forest is a community of living things. The marten is a denizen of the coast forests. Where mature stands of hemlock and Douglas fir are found, the marten is a resident. Here he feeds mostly on red squirrels and white-footed mice. When the big trees are felled marten must go else-where and today, logging operations on the mountain side have removed much habitat that was formerly occupied by this animal.

On the cut-over and along the forest edge the little blacktail deer thrives in the lush growth of shrubs and berry bushes that grow up after slash-burning.

Blue grouse also flourish in this comparatively recent environment. In spring and summer they feed on the berries produced on the cut-over, but in winter they migrate to the mountain tops and spend the cold months under the canopy of big firs. Generally speaking, the wet, coastal forests do not shelter as many species of wildlife as the drier, more open forests of the interior.

HOW SMOKEY CAME

How can a bear stop forest fires? There is a bear that does and here is the story:

This little bear was found wandering about in the black aftermath of a disastrous forest fire. His paws were burned, his coat singed, his mother killed by the fire.

A short time later the little fellow was taken to a veterinarian to have his paws bandaged. And while he was getting patched up, the forest rangers who rescued him had a wonderful idea. Why not name this little bear Smokey and make him the living prototype of the famous Smokey who appears on forest fire prevention posters throughout the country?

Well, to keep the story short, Smokey now lives at the Washington Zoo in Washington, D.C., and, each year, thousands of people from all over the nation come to see him.

And as they look at Smokey, they are reminded that nothing, nothing is more shameful and wasteful than forest fires.

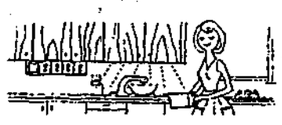
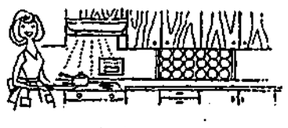
remodel your kitchen with LIGHT!

No other kitchen improvement can add so much for so little cost. You can give your kitchen a bright New look . . . make it easier and more pleasant to work in.

GENERAL LIGHTING: You'll need adequate light for seeing into cupboards, reading labels. Good overhead lighting makes for a cheerful atmosphere on dull days; extends a bright invitation to friends and guests in the evening. One way of getting the best general lighting is with a simple fluorescent fixture.



AT THE SINK AND COUNTER: Ample light is required to clean vegetables; to see if your dishes are really clean. Solution: install a recessed light above the sink. Or hide fluorescent lamps under upper cupboards to light counter surfaces.



AT THE RANGE: It figures: you will cook better if you can see what you are cooking. Is that steak rare or medium/rare? Is that pastry done to just the right shade of golden-brown? Install an attractive local light and you'll never wonder again.

Start planning your bright new kitchen now. Ease into it if you like, and add one lighting improvement at a time. You can add the cost of lighting fixtures to your monthly HYDRO bill - through the HOUSEPOWER FINANCE PLAN.

$50 bond for 1st baby

Mrs. J. Redman, president of Sechelt Hospital Auxiliary, welcomed three new members, making a total of 30 present at the Thurs., Nov. 12 meeting.

First discussion was about the raffle to be drawn at the Dec. 10 meeting. The Indian sweater knit by Mary Martha Joe was displayed. A vote of thanks was extended her. It was decided to have the tickets available to the public Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 26, 27 and 28 at Redman's Store, and Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Dec. 3, 4 and 5 at Shop Easy Store. Mrs. Paetkau as convenor, would like all tickets turned in by Dec. 5.

The smorgasbord plans are completed and being of Hawaiian theme, both ladies and gentlemen are asked to dress casual, ladies in a shift or similar type and men in gay shirts.

Donations to the Sechelt Hospital Auxiliary Memorial Fund are once again being accepted in lieu of sending Christmas cards This money is to be used in the pediatric ward so it's very worthwhile. The P.O. box is 193, Sechelt for anyone wishing to correspond.

The five auxiliaries on the Peninsula combined a sum of $10 each and with the total have purchased a bond to be presented to the first baby born in the hospital.

Recipes of fish and game so familiar to the Peninsula are needed for the combined cook book the auxiliaries are making. Any meat, vegetable or casserole recipes would be welcomed. Members are asked to bring them to the next meeting.

A nominating committee has been chosen, Mrs. C. Connor as chairman. The election of officers will take place next meeting and the installation will follow at the January meeting.

CHANGE OF DATE

The talk by Principal W. S. Potter slated for Sat., Dec. 5 will be held Fri., Dec. 4 in Gibsons United Church hall where he will describe with slides and comment his trip this summer to Africa. This event will be held under auspices of the Gibsons United Church choir gown fund and will start at 8 p.m.

Haig on radio

A radio program concerning the First World War on CBU which started Sunday, Nov. 15 from 1 to 2 p.m. will feature in part some tape recordings by Ron Haig, of Gibsons Royal Canadian Legion. Mr. Haig who was zone commender is now second vice-president of the provincial command. This program is a national CBC program and will air tapings from many veterans all over Canada.

EYES GLEAM IN NIGHT

One of the commonest subjects for argument around the campfire is the question why do creature's eyes glow when darkness falls? The light is not like the miner's headlamp that guides his steps. On the contrary, the owner of the gleam has no knowledge of it and the gleams differ greatly in color and size. The coon's light is yellow, the coyote's golden, as are some of the bears' and the wildcat's gleam is green.

Even the reptiles may show an orange glow and the stork gives out a silver gleam. Creatures that hunt in the dark may be carrying a beam for their mate or their young. No other reason can be given, for the light should not reveal the hunter. The different glows are interesting, but they seem to be of no benefit to the wanderers in the dark.

It takes 50 acres of ranchland to support one mature beef animal. There are 16 million acres of Crown land available for beef cattle grazing in British Columbia.

Halfmoon Bay

By MARY TINKLEY

The Christmas tea and sale arranged by the Halfmoon Bay Hospital Auxiliary on Nov. 14 was an outstanding success. The members of this small group who had put in so many hours of preparation during the past months were encouraged and rewarded by the crowds which jostled one another for bargains.

Mrs. Lynn Jorgensen, Mrs. Gladys Nygard, Mrs. Greta Jorgensen and Mrs. Pat Murphy were kept busy selling Christmas decorations, centrepieces, corsages, plants, sewing, dolls, guns and numerous other toys.

The first stall to be completely sold out was that presided over by Mrs. Bev. Robinson and Mrs. Ruby Warne. Pies, cakes, cookies and home baked bread disappeared as though by magic. Mrs. Meuse sold tea tickets and Mrs. Marion Foley and Mrs. Grace Rutherford were in charge of raffles. Mrs. Dorothy Greene, Mrs. Elsie Holgate and Mrs. Queenie Burrows were kept on their toes supplying tea to thirsty customers.

The door prize, a table centrepiece made of pine cones, was won by Mrs. Blanche McCrady. Mr. Frank Lyons won the planter which had been donated by Mrs. Greta Jorgensen. The hamper of groceries was won by Owen Edmunds and Mrs. Sam Dawe was the delighted winner of a beautifully dressed doll donated by Mrs. Jean Robinson.

The members acknowledge with grateful thanks a surprise donation of $50 and they thank everybody who helped in any way to make the afternoon such a successful occasion.

Halfmoon Bay Improvement Association will hold its annual Christmas dinner and get-together at the Winning Post at Ole's Cove on Saturday, Dec. 12. For reservations, members should apply to Mrs. Pat Murphy or Mr. Ed Edmunds as early as possible.

Members of the Lovers of Life League are advised that this month's meeting will be on Sat., Nov. 28 at 2 p.m. at the Greene residence.

Pat Burns helps

Tidewater Players Club, in search of authentic information as to historic events, being ever zealous in the matter of verity, called upon the memory of Mrs. Jen Monrufet only to find it rusty in the matter of certain dates.

That lady, always willing to land a hand, and not one to give in to a faulty memory, phoned Hot Line and was told by Mr. Burns that, although unable to give the precise answer off-hand, he would surely find it for her and let her know. Hardly had they hung up when the lines were deluged with numerous calls from those who not only remembered the event in question but also witnessed or participated in in. Can a confused scriptwriter ask greater co-operation than this?

GUIDES AT SERVICE

Roberts Creek Guides attended Evensong at St. Aidan's, Sunday, a special Church parade for Remembrance Day. Following the service they were invited to join the congregation for tea in the parish hall to welcome the new minister and his family, Rev and Mrs. Kelly. Preceding the service the Guides visited Mr. and Miss Harrald and were shown their interesting collection of insects, fossils and arrowheads.

O.E.S. BAZAAR

The O.E.S. Christmas Bazaar will be held Sat., Nov. 21 in the School Hall, Gibsons and cars have been arranged to transport those desiring to attend from the Shell Service station to the hall. There will be home cooking, novelties, sewing and a white elephant stall. This event will start at 2 p.m.

New team drops close game

(By GOALIE)

The newly formed Sechelt Legion entry in division 5 played its first league game last Sunday, and dropped a close one to Roberts Creek. Travelling away they gave up the first goal to the home team, took a one goal lead twice in the first half, but finally had to admit defeat by one goal.

A very promising start by the Sechelt lads indeed, and we are looking forward to seeing them in action in Gibsons. This team will have to play quite a few extra games on Saturdays in order to catch up with the rest of the league schedule.

Results of division 5 games played on Sun., Nov. 15 were as follows:

Roberts Creek 3, Sechelt Legion 2.

Sechelt Res. School 7, Port Mellon 2.

Gibsons Utd. 9, Gibsons Mercs 0.

Sunday, Nov. 22 schedule:

Gibsons Mercs vs. Roberts Ck.

Sechelt Res. Sch. vs. Gibsons Utd.

Port Mellon vs. Sechelt Legion.

All kickoffs will now be at 1:30 instead of 2 p.m.

LEAGUE STANDINGS
Division 5

Team	P	W	L	D	F	A	Pt
Gibsons Utd.	6	6	0	0	31	5	12
Secch. Res. Sch.	6	4	1	1	37	7	9
Roberts Ck.	6	2	3	1	12	24	5
Port Mellon	6	1	3	2	9	17	4
Gibsons Mercs.	5	0	5	0	3	38	0
Sechelt Legion	1	0	1	0	2	3	0

It is hoped that in the near future the soccer commission will be running a referee clinic in this area. We shall, through the medium of this soccer column and any other method feasible, be canvassing the district from Port Mellon to Sechelt for any adult who will be willing to turn out and referee. We welcome any one from 18 to 80; any one who knows the game or any one who does not. We will undertake to teach the rules of the game. We are short of referees.

The coach of the Merchants has had to take charge of three of the last four matches in which his team has taken part. This is not good enough for this area. Coaches are doing a good job, and they should be allowed to stay on the side lines and encourage their players.

I would like to take this opportunity to appeal to any of the fathers who have sons playing in this area to volunteer their services in this capacity. If you feel that you can help out in this respect, please phone G. Davies in Port Mellon, W. Thomas in Gibsons or Fr. Dunlop at the Sechelt Residential School.

In division 3 play last weekend the Gibsons team travelled up to Powell River and came back with a fair share of the spoils. They played two games, one on Saturday, Nov. 14 and a second game on Sunday. The first game ended in a 3 goals to 2 victory for the Gibsons team but on the following day they ran up against a real tarter and lost that one by 3 to 1. Our boys are shaping up real well, and I do not think we have seen the full potential of this team. They play at home either next Saturday or Sunday, and it will be worth a trip over to the school grounds to see them in action.

All the 45 playing members of the three soccer clubs in Gibsons, plus all the coaches, plus anyone else who will help, will be approaching the public in our drive to raise funds for juvenile soccer in this community.

Gibsons and district soccer club will be running a Christmas raffle in order to raise enough funds to completely re-outfit the two teams playing in division 5. The division 3 team had a new outfit earlier this season, which sort of depleted the club funds. All the other clubs in the league are sponsored or are at least helped financially.

Gibsons has had to raise its own money and so far we have had good help from anyone, or any organization we appealed to. The Port Mellon Community Association donated the sum of $75. The following 10 business people in Gibsons have donated prizes for the Christmas raffle: Thriftee Dress Shop, Gibsons Hardware, Don's Shoe Store, Super-Valu, Danny Wheeler, Marine Men's Wear, Sunnycrest Motors, Gibsons Shell Service, R. Kennett, Real Estate, and Co-Op Store.

Among the prizes to be won are a gift certificate, a Christmas hamper, a winterize job for your car, nylon stockings, sports shirt, and a pair of matching patio chairs. Other prizes will be announced next week. In all there will be at least nine prizes to be picked up, so when these young boys approach you with a ticket book, buy one. Better still, buy two or three. It's all for a really good cause. The price is 25 cents a ticket, and the draw will take place just prior to Christmas.

PROVINCIAL JAMBOREE

Three thousand Boy Scouts and their leaders from all troops in B.C. and some from other provinces, will attend the first provincial Jamboree ever held in British Columbia. The camp will be set up near Penticton in the Okanagan Valley, July 9 to 16.

The Davis Ottawa Diary

By JACK DAVIS, M.P.
Coast-Capilano Constituency

After 45 sittings, and having revised nearly 2,000 different designs, our special all-party committee on the flag made up its mind. By a vote of 10 to 4, it decided that:

"The National Flag of Canada be a red flag of the proportions two by length and one by width, containing in its centre a white square, the width of the flag, bearing a single red maple leaf."

The Union Jack would of course "continue to be flown as a symbol of Canada's Membership in the Commonwealth of Nations and of her allegiance to the Crown."

The house of commons as a whole, also appears to have made up its mind. Three quarters of our M.P.'s are for the flag. All they are waiting for is a free vote to show where they stand on this issue.

Some, it is ture, will demur. They still prefer the Canadian Red Ensign. Well they may. But the maple leaf, too, has a claim on our past as well as a symbol of our future.

Why do I say this? Let me quote the words of a veteran who has expressed this thought more eloquently than I can:

"On my 20th anniversary trip in July from our landing beach in Normandy along the route of the 1st Canadian Army to Antwerp I was stirred by present reminders and past memories of the place the maple leaf has as the symbol of Canada."

"Every Canadian grave from Beny-sur-Mer to Vimy Ridge is marked by a maple leaf carved in clean white stone. Canadians in French, British or Polish cemeteries are indentifiable uniformly by a maple leaf."

"During the movement of troops from the invasion beaches the Maple Leaf Up and Maple Leaf Down marked the roads for use by Canadian equipment. Maple trees are planted on the acres of Vimy Ridge donated by a grateful France in perpetuity to the Canadian government — the Canadian people."

"During the war, news was supplied to the troops by the Maple Leaf newspaper and troops lucky enough to go on leave had a Maple Leaf Club to fraternize with fellow Canadians. Army equipment was identified by a maple leaf." (So was that of the Navy and the R.C.A.F.)

"When the tumult and shouting of war died we were given service buttons with three red maple leaves on a white silver background with blue underlining to show that we had served the Armed Forces of Canada."

Signed: Douglas R. Smith, Perth, Ontario.

I might go on to say that the new flag bears a close family resemblance to that of Canada's Royal Military academy. Struck many years ago, it too, is red and white. The only difference is that it features a black mailed fist holding three red maple leaves.

Our new flag, in other words, is in line with tradition. Featuring our national colors, red on white, as authorized by King George V in 1921, and representing Canada, past, present and future, I know that our new Maple Leaf Flag will win increasing acceptance from all the people and in every corner of this great land of ours.

Near record goat

Mrs. V. Goudie of 2060 Church Road, Sooke, B.C. has earned herself a place in the record books of world renown hunters, it has been disclosed by the B.C. Fish and Game Branch. Mrs. Goudie, on August 16, shot a near-record mountain goat, the head of which was within two points of the Boone and Crockett world record. The Boone and Crockett list is the North American authority on record kills. The animal she shot on Telkwa Mountain, near Smithers, scored 54 2/8 points, to place it in a tie for fourth place in the latest (1958) records. The world record mountain goat which earned 56-6/8 points was taken near Babine Mountain, B.C., in 1949.

Twelve percent of Canadian families have two automobiles or more and 62 percent have one car.

First Centennial applications in

The first application for the provincial Centennial grant for administration and programming was received from the Rossland Centennial committee and this has been quickly followed by five others.

Deputy Provincial secretary L. J. Wallace, who is also general chairman of British Columbia's Canadian Confederation Centennial committee, reports that grant applications have also been received from committees in Oyama, Nelson, Malaspina, McConnell Creek and Alberni.

The provincial government is contributing 40 cents per capita for administration and programming, of which 10 cents is payable now; 10 cents in November, 1965, and 20 cents in November, 1966. These payments are in addition to federal and provincial grants that will be made for acceptable centennial projects.

In planning centennial projects there are some limitations. The purchase of equipment, such as ambulances, fire engines, etc., an acceptable project in the 1958 Centennial, will not be approved for the 1967 Celebrations. Additions to existing structures may be accepted but, in general, improvements of existing facilities is not likely to be approved.

Pulp hearings set for January

Public hearings will be held in January to consider applications for timber rights from two pulp mill companies. Hon. Ray Williston, minister of lands, forests and water resources, announces that on Jan. 4 he would hear an application by Rayonier Canada (B.C.) Ltd., for establishment of a pulpwood harvesting area over nine existing public sustained-yield units — Broughton, Redonda, Sechelt, Chilliwack, Harrison, Yale, Soo, Yalakom and Big Bar. If the application is successful the company plans a major expansion of its facilities at Woodfibre.

On Jan. 5 he will hear an application from United Pulp Company Ltd., for the establishment of a pulpwood harvesting area over ten existing public sustained-yield units — Cottonwood, Quesnel, Williams Lake, Lac la Hache, Big Bar, Yalakom, Soo, Stum and Taseko. The proposal is that a new company with United Pulp and Price Bros. as principals would erect a mill at Squamish.

The hearings will be held in Victoria. Both companies seek pulpwood rights in the Soo, Yalakom and Big Bar sustained-yield units.

RECIPES

Ham slices benedict, leftover ham slices on toast are topped with asparagus spears and creamy pimiento hollandaise made with undiluted evaporated milk. The velvety smooth sauce is delicious and nutritious as well because undiluted evaporated milk has twice the vitamin D, protein and minerals of whole milk and now is fortified with vitamin C.

HAM SLICES BENEDICT

4 tablespoons butter
2 tablespons flour
¼ teaspons salt
⅛ teaspoon pepper
1 cup undiluted evaporated milk
2 egg yolks, slightly beaten
2 tablespons lemon juice
2 tablespons chopped pimiento
6 slices toast
6 slices cooked ham
Cooked asparagus spears
6 pimiento strips

Melt 2 tablespoons of the butter in saucepan over medium heat. Add flour, salt and pepper. Stir until smooth. Slowly add evaporated milk, stirring constantly until thickened. Remove from heat. Slowly stir small amount of the hot sauce into egg yolks. Blend egg yolk mixture into remaining sauce; continue cooking and stirring over medium heat until thickened. Stir in remaining butter, lemon juice and pimiento. Top each toast slice with ham, asparagus spears and pimiento hollandaise sauce. Garnish with pimiento strips. Makes six servings.

Two tons and 40 miles!

Did you know that the average homemaker who still uses a clothes line lifts and lugs two tons of wash and walks about 40 miles in a year? Staggering amounts, aren't they? Hard physical work that can be eliminated with an automatic clothes dryer. The amount of ironing and pressing is greatly reduced too, so that you have more time to spend with the family, take care of other household projects, entertain, discover an interesting new hobby or sport.

Too, you can wash whenever you like; weather never enters into it. The automatic clothes dryer is ready to go to work, anytime you like, at the flick of a switch. Wash every day if you like, clothes and linens are dried, ready to go back into service the same day.

An automatic clothes dryer is a sound investment: saves on the amount of clothing and linen you have to buy; the gentle drying action is easy on clothing; dry cleaning bills too are cut to a minimum.

Drying chenille bedspreads was once a particularly difficult chore. Getting the wet bedspread hung on the line was quite an accomplishment in itself. And then, if the weather wasn't just right it would dry hard and matted — certainly not a pretty picture to the hardworking homemaker. Often her only defence was to send the bedspread to the dry cleaners.

Today, thanks to automatic clothes dryers, one can launder blankets — even chenille bedspreads with no problem at all. It's just a matter of taking the bedspread from washer to dryer. She knows it will come out fluffy and fragrant — perfect everytime, ready to put back on the bed or store. What a joy her automatic clothes dryer is. It saves her hard physical work, time and money everytime she uses it. An automatic clothes dryer, once considered a luxury item, is now a standard piece of equipment in many B.C. homes.

Prince Edward Island has the highest proportion of persons over 65 years of age with just over ten percent and British Columbia is second with just under ten percent.

Brilliant new surgeon?

The Roberts Creek branch was the first of the Hospital auxiliaries to witness the skill of the supposedly brilliant new surgeon who has arrived. Those privileged to watch the emergency operation Monday evening were amazed at the dexterity with which he handled the delicate tools of his trade. In all the length of the operation, in which the patient's innards were carefully extracted, overhauled and put back, the doctor had to refer to the book only twice.

Hitherto unknown, Dr. Ingiburt Hobswankaeu will be the surgeon most called upon in future. It is thought that he will be even more knowledgeable and skilful when, and if, he attends medical college. The auxiliaries might be wise to sponsor this clever operator.

Mrs. Manson, the patient, who went down fighting, is anxiously awaiting a bed in the new hospital so that she may convelesce after the terrifying experience. Allergic to anaesthetics, Mrs. Manson required a large watering can of the stuff plus several wallops on the cranium before she became oblivious to the knives, tongs, saws and other paraphernalia required in major surgery.

When the needle, the cause of it all, was extracted from the depths of her being, it was used, with a length of rope, to sew the several incisions. It so happened that there were no other needles at hand. Miraculously the patient was able to climb down from the operating table and walk away.

The nurses who assisted Dr. Ingiburt Hobswankaeu were Mrs. P. Pilling and Mrs. L. Brandys. Mrs. D. Heino and Mrs. D. Steinbrunner assisted in the theatre also. There was a strong resemblance between the doctor and Gloria Fyles.

The occasion was the pot luck supper put on by the Roberts Creek group to entertain the Gibsons auxiliary. The latter furnished the entertainment having been asked to sing for their supper.

While a little cramped, it was found that the mess hall at Earl Haig Camp did very nicely for the group of 50. The entertainment was held in the recreation building next door.

Mrs. C. Jones and her committee did a nice job of organizing the meal and the decorating. Oak leaves, fall blooms and paper streamers made a pleasing addition to the tables set with blue place mats and serviettes.

During the business meeting which followed, the president, Mrs. L. Flumerfelt, announced that Mrs. I. Redman, Sechelt, will attend the December meeting to speak on the convention which she attended.

Mrs. Beeman displayed the rug she has started as a project for the members to work on during meeting time. It will be a very handsome one, at least an inch thick, and will likely be raffled when completed. She asks that anyone with odds and ends of Indian wool donate them to the Auxiliary, either as is, or knit in garter stitch on No. 5 needles, in strips of seven stitches width; that is, cast on seven stitches and knit any length strips any color, or colors.

Joe's Note Books can be obtained from Mrs. J. Eldred at $1 each. They make nice little gifts and are handy to own. Contain recipes and household hints.

SUCCESSFUL TREATS

The tricks or treats racket paid off at Roberts Creek when young goblins made the rounds with a bag in one hand and a slotted can in the other.

They handed in to Mr. A. Merling, principal of the school, $28 more than the required $50 for care of the school's Korean adoptee Choon Seun Kim. Mr. Merling, happily free of foreboding visions of fund-raising projects during the year, sent a cheque in full to the Save the Children Fund.

5th generation

Four generations of both his paternal and maternal families attended the christening of Mark James Steele at St. Hilda's Church, Sechelt on Nov. 8, with the Rev. J. B. Fergusson officiating.

Present were the baby's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Mark Steele, his grandparents, Mrs. James Steele and Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Billingsley and his great-grandparents, Captain and Mrs. Sam Dawe and Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Billingsley. Three generations of the family were at the font, for Captain Dawe stood proxy for Godfather Geoffrey Whitaker Other Godparents were Miss Cheryl Billingsley and Mr. Albert Lynn.

The baby wore a christening gown which had belonged to his great-grandmother, Mrs. Sam Dawe and he will be the fifth generation of her family to have lived in Sechelt. After the ceremony, a luncheon was served at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Billingsley.

IN ST. PAUL'S HOSPITAL

Wishes for a speedy recovery are pouring into Mrs. W. B. Billingsley of Sechelt who is in St. Paul's Hospital for observation.

Andy McGuire — an 80 year old prospector — is a man who makes his living from The Fraser. For most of his life he has daily panned for gold, operating a sluice on the river. The story of the Mighty Fraser can be seen through the eyes of the people who inhabit its shores on "Canada 98" on the CBC television network at 8:30 p.m., Wednesday, November 25th. (Check your local listings).

Pioneer's 81st birthday

Halfmoon Bay's oldest pioneer settler, Mrs. Sarah Wall, celebrated her 81st birthday on Nov. 8 with a party at the Rigger's Roost. Helping her celebrate the occasion were her daughter Mrs. Pat Ness, granddaughter, Miss Beverley Ness, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Gamble, Clarence Speck and Larry Silvey. Mrs. Wall received many gifts and tokens of remembrance from old neighbors and was presented with a birthday cake and a bouquet of pink and white carnations.

During the 45 years she has lived in the Bay, Mrs. Wall has seen many changes. As she looks out at the busy highway which passes her door and sees the cars speeding by to reach Sechelt in 15 minutes, she recalls with a chuckle her first journey over that road.

When the road was first built in 1928, she was a passenger in the first car that travelled over it to Sechelt. Her companions were her late husband Tom, her two year old daughter Pat, Mrs. Clara Lyell, Tom Beasley and Mr. Dalgass, the road engineer. By the Halfmoon Bay Lake, the car stuck in the mud and had to be pulled out by the road crew. After such an adventurous trip the party had to stay the night at the hotel on the Sechelt waterfront, returning to Halfmoon Bay the following day.

Mrs. Lyell, who accompanied Mrs. Wall on this trip was postmistress for many years and was one of the first settlers in Halfmoon Bay. She was formerly a Mrs. Priestland and under that name she applied for land in the district in 1892. Mrs. Lyell died in 1933 and in her will she left to Mrs. Wall's daughter her organ which she had brought from England. The organ is now in the Parish Hall at Roberts Creek.

Magistrate's court

Appearing before Magistrate Andrew Johnston on a charge of driving a motor vehicle when his ability to do so was impaired by alcohol, Henry Dalton Hurren, age 57, of North Surrey was fined $300. Hurren had failed to negotiate the S turn near Gibsons and his car ended up in the ditch. Hurren admitted having celebrated Armistice Day somewhat too well.

George Lloyd Paull of Sechelt was sentenced to 30 days imprisonment and was prohibited from driving a car anywhere in Canada for two years when found guilty of a second offence of driving a motor vehicle while his ability to do so was impaired by alcohol. Evidence disclosed that Paull was found guilty of a similar offence and fined $150 in the same court a month ago.

Arthur William Paul and Daniel Alphonse Paul were convicted of breaking and entering and theft and each was sentenced to nine months definite and six months indeterminate imprisonment at Haney Correctional Institute. The two youths, cousins, broke into a trailer belonging to the B.C. Forestry Service and stole $73 from the wallet of one of the workers. Some of the money was recovered and restitution was made for the balance to the owner. Both youths had previous criminal records.

Harold F. Allen of Gibsons was fined $30 for driving without due care and attention. Allen's car was pushing a friend's car at an excessive rate of speed resulting in a collision with another vehicle.

Marvin Garriott of Gibsons, whose car was being pushed by Harold Allen, was also found guilty of driving a car in a manner not showing due consideration for others using the highway, and fined $30. In addition Garriott was fined an additional $20 for not having financial responsibility and failing to display car registration.

Three speeders were fined $25 each.

Table centres are in demand

When arranging their excursion to Mount Baker, Roberts Creek Guides decided to present the bus driver, Mr. Lewenden, with one of their Christmas table centres. However it wasn't completed in time so was taken to Vancouver a couple of weeks later. It caused quite a stir at the office as the assistant manager sent Mr. Lewenden to the public relations department so that photographs could be taken for the Pacific Stage Lines company magazine. Mr. Lewenden has ordered two more table centres, one to be sent to his son in Australia.
