School starts Sept. 3 – Elphie 'usable'

September 3 is the big day for about 2568 students in Sechelt School District who will be returning to school for another ten months of reading writing and arithmetic.

Wednesday has been set aside for registration, text book issue and classroom organization. Thursday will be a teacher planning day and schools will be closed. Instruction starts Friday.

One of the big questions all summer has been: Will Elphinstone be ready by September? School Board Secretary-treasurer Roy Mills says the new high school will be "usable but it's not as far along as we would like it to be." He said workmen will be putting finishing touches on the building for the first few weeks in September. Student enrolment at Elphinstone is estimated at 850.

Mills said the renovations to the Gibsons Elementary School are complete except for a new rug which will not arrive until the middle of September. Extensive renovations during the summer involved changing three large open area classrooms into smaller classrooms with a library in the center.

Schools in the district will be starting at various times in the morning to facilitate bus routes. For a complete list of times and bus routes see pages 10 and 12.

WOULDN'T you know it. Here we were just starting to enjoy the summer holidays and then September comes along. And that means school. And that means books, and pencils, and erasers, and all the other great things our mother lets us buy.

Nine year old Deanna Cat tanach, left, and her sister Heather were caught in the ritual of buying school supplies this week. School starts September 3.

Inquest for Pender death

An inquest has been ordered to investigate the death of a North Vancouver district fire department captain who died as a result of a boating mishap in Pender Harbour two weeks ago.

Sechelt Coroner Charles Mittlesteadt has called for an inquest to investigate the death of David R. Sim, 58, to take place in Sechelt. No date has been set pending further investigation by Sechelt RCMP.

Sim is believed to have died almost instantly when a 17 foot fiberglass powerboat in which he was a passenger rammed a 40 foot ferro-concrete sailboat in Garden Bay. Two other North Vancouver men who were in the boat at the time of the accident were taken to hospital.

Four occupants sleeping aboard the sailboat were unhurt.

PNE winner from Sechelt

In the past week many people from the Sunshine Coast visited the Pacific National Exhibition in Vancouver — some entered their wares and came home with prizes.

Mrs. E. Berg of Sechelt won second prize for a colored cotton embroidery in section one of the textile division of the Home Arts, Craft and Hobby show. She received a third prize for a stuffed toy made from wool yarn in the toy division.

Mrs. Berg also received an honorable mention for her toy in the handicrafts and collection division.

Program for diabetics

St. Mary's Hospital has finalized plans to commnce a Diabetic Day Care service in October, 1975. The service will provide a program of instruction for diabetic patients to enable them to have a better understanding of diabetes. Hopefully, as a result of the instruction, a patient's hospital stay will be shorter, or hospital admission may be avoided altogether, a hospital press release states. This new service will be available to ambulatory diabetic out-patients at any stage of their disease.

St. Mary's Hospital intends to have the service available at least once a month or more often if the demand for this service so requires. Any diabetic patient interested in attending such a clinic is requested to register with the dietician, Mrs. M. Black, at the hospital by phoning 885-2224.

Report is final position say forest companies

B.C. forest companies, incuding Canfor, this week accepted the Hutcheon report and said the acceptance was the industry's final position.

Don Lanskail, chief spokesman for Forest Industrial Relations Limited and Pulp and Paper Industrial Relations Bureau, said:

"All three of the unions involved, the IWA, PPWC and CPU, must understand clearly that the industry's acceptance of the Hutcheon Report is the final position, irrespective of how long a strike lasts or how far it may spread."

Lanskail said acceptance of the report had been reached "very reluctantly," and he added:

"f consideration of the report was confined to economic factors alone, there would be a clear case for rejection. However, in reaching a decision, the industry also considered the serious consequence of a prolonged strike on the provincial economy and were mindful of Premier Barrett's recent appeal in this regard.."

Members of Local 1119 of the Canadian Paperworkers Union at Port Mellon earlier rejected the settlement proposed by the mediator's report by a 96% negative vote.

President of Local 1119, Ron McPhedran, was quoted as saying the offer of a four and one-half percent increase over a two year period was an insult.

Tuesday, McPhedran said CPU members at Port Mellon will be receiving their first strike pay this weekend as a result of contributions from non-striking CPU members. He said 40,000 members have volunteered to donate one hour of pay per week.

McPhedran said the union has offered to help striking members experiencing financial difficulties but thus far there have not been any problems.

As a result of the 24 hour picket line at Canfor's Port Mellon mill, logging operations have also stopped at McNab Creek. Logging there is being carried on by Fleetwood which is owned by Canadian Forest Products. IWA members have refused to cross the CPU picket lines.

One tax notice covers all

Gibsons taxpayers will now be receiving one tax notice per year covering all taxable services.

Ald. James Metzler put forth a motion to this effect at a village council meeting last week. Previously, individual tax notices for such services as sewer and water were mailed to taxpayers.

The reason for the change is to cut down administration duties and costs.

The single tax notice will cover present costs levied for water, sewer, and property tax provided now or in the future. Taxpayers will be given the option to pay by quarterly or half-yearly installments.

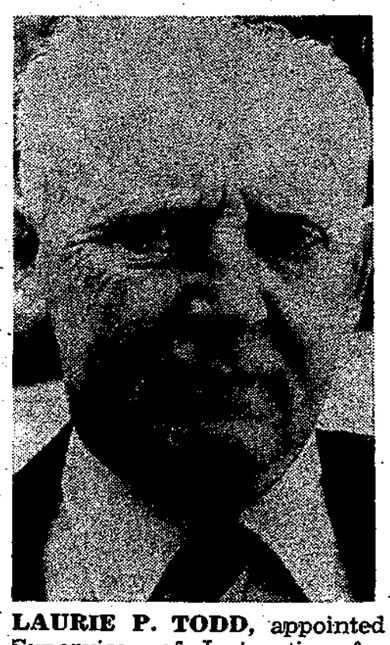
School supervisor appointed

Sechelt school board announces the appointment of Laurie P. Todd to the position of Supervisor of Instruction for Elementary and Secondary schools. He fills the position left vacant by George Cooper who retired earlier this year.

Mr. Todd was educated in Vancouver graduating from UBC in 1935 with a BA and a Masters degree in 1962. He has been a classroom teacher and administrator in Whitehorse, Cranbrook, New Denver, Powell River and Vancouver. He has spent the last six years as Director of Instuction in Terrace. Mr. Todd also spent two years with CIDA as an advisor to the Tanzanian government at a teacher training college in East Africa.

Mr. Todd wil be responsible to the District Superintendent of Schools and will have as his prime concern the quality of instruction in both elementary and secondary classrooms of the district. He has a particular interest in the teaching of English and Mathematics.

Mr. Todd comes from a family well known in educational circles. His father was head of the Classics Department at UBC and there are seven Todds still active in teaching or administration.



LAURIE P. TODD, appointed Supervisor of Instruction for Sechelt School District.

He and his wife Jean have managed to spend at least a week during each of the past few summers on the Peninsula playing golf and enjoying a bit of clearing on their lot at Wilson Creek. They are planning to build a house on Browning Road and are looking forward to taking an active part in community life.

A personal renaissance

Retirement. The word conjures up visions of endless hours of happy freedom. Why, then, is it such a disillusioning experience for so many people?

The natural tendency is to look forward to devoting unlimited time to travel, hobbies, grandchildren, sports and entertainment. All of which are enjoyable. But when one actually comes to fill day after day in these ways, life can soon pall. Fulfilment is not achieved so easily.

What's missing, according to psychologists and human relations consultants, is involvement in interests outside one's self. Taking part in community affairs, charities, church work or worthy fund raising projects offers such oportunities. Can you teach English to a new Canadian? Offer volunteer service to some social agency or hospital? Take a part-time job? There are many other ways by which you can make a worthwhile contribution.

As for hobbies, they can be wonderfully rewarding outlets for one's interests and energies. They can even prove to be the basis of a profitable second career. But to get the most out of any hobby, start taking it up in earlier years. Later, you'll have the necessary skill to allow you to get infinitely more fun and satisfaction out of your efforts. Especially if it's the kind of hobby you can share with others.

Above all, leisure years are brightened by friendships, both old and new, and by maintaining a lively interest in the fascinating world around us. Given reasonably good health, you may well find that the November-December years are the best of your life.

Give youth a chance

Somewhere along the way the term "young people" has lost the overtones of vitality, originality and the enviable naive idealism. Instead the term conjures up images that often carry derogatory connotations. The following, which first appeared as an editorial in the White Rock Sun, expresses the real "problem" of youth.

A teenager finds it hard to believe in the self-styled "middle-aged" group. He finds them a peculiar breed, much given to generalization and exaggeration. All juveniles become "delinquents" and the city is no longer safe, even for the muggers.

Even more peculiar, to his pragmatic mind, are the numerous meetings they hold to combat the youthful blight on their otherwise well ordered society.

Some of the "solutions," publicly stated, border on the ludicrous. They range from "kick their butts" to "cut off their sugar." The latter from a medical "expert." A group they had previously trusted to some small extent.

This constant and loud harangue from every side finally convinces them, and decent young people begin to feel that not to be a delinquent is to let their side down.

Maybe they should form a union. Everyone else does, including the adult delinquents incarcerated in our prisons. They could then have a spokesman at the meetings held by the middle-aged pundits.

It would be nice to see a few kind words about our much maligned youth. For a start, proportionately, there are probably more hard-core drunks, crooks and shady businessmen in the adult group than among the youths.

A bad guy is a bad guy is a bad guy at any age. There are also laws to deal with them. We must avoid the trap of branding as bad a whole segment of our population because of the misdeeds of a few.

Canada is lucky to have a fine group of young people well prepared to take over the mess we will leave them.

They are acutely aware of the problems. They are well educated, and they are wise in the ways of ecology.

It is time we stopped treating them like second class citizens. All too soon they will be the governors and the lawmakers responsible for the shape of the world some of us will live in in our dotage.

We should listen a little more to the voice of youth and not carry such a big stick.

Let us hear from the young people. Write us, or drop in and say your piece.

We would like to give equal space to your views. Tell it like it is — we'll pass it along.

The Newspaper - a business like any other

In the old days a newspaper was the only means of communication in a community, and because of that situation it took on credibility and anything which appeared in the paper was regarded as gospel. In answer to the question "where did you hear that?" you only had to reply "I read it in the newspaper" to assure your listener that it was absolutely true.

Today we have radio and television to present the news and the gossip, and newspapers have to fight for their share of the market in order to stay alive.

This does not mean that newspapers have lost their credibility, but it does mean that they have to govern their news output relative to the amount of advertising they receive. Simply stated, a newspaper cannot survive if the amount of news copy cannot be paid for by the revenues received.

We often receive complaints about the newsworthy items we omit, or the scant coverage we give to certain functions. The remark "You are a newspaper" is, we suppose, meant to convey that we must cover everything that happens in our area no matter how unimportant it might seem, or how much offsetting revenue we can generate.

The public seems to imagine that we have a moral and legal obligation to be "holier than thou" and that we be impartial in every argument, and see and understand all sides of every case. Be that as it may, the fact remains that the newspaper business today, especially the small independently owned one, sees its first obligation as staying alive, after that anything is a bonus.

The days when people would work for nothing but satisfaction are long gone, with the result that newspapers no longer have the kind of people with "ink in their veins" who worked for peanuts and the love of the game. Today, with minimum wage laws and militant unions, the game is hardly worth the candle. Large chains buy their material from news-syndicates and syndicate their own writers to save money and cut costs. Today, the newspaper business is simply a business like any business and it operates strickly on a dollars and cents format. The big metropolitan papers have the circulation and therefore they get all the cream of the advertising business; the small local papers get the scraps and if their product is inferior it is usually because it cannot afford to compete with the biggies.

The big advertisers, and this includes all forms of government, place for their ads where they feel they will have the most impact, and this makes sense. So, while advertising controls the quality of a newspaper, we cannot expect any changes from the trend which sees small papers getting smaller and being gobbled up by the chains and the chains in turn becoming more powerful and more insular

About the only solution to having a newspaper which is truly a news paper, is to have the financing divorced from advertising. How this can be done is a question for the public to decide. CBC Radio has banned ads and it can survive because it is funded by the taxpayers. As a result it can take any stand on any issue and not have to worry about osing readers or advertisers. Maybe some such procedure should be used for the newspaper business.

Perhaps it's time that newspapers were again used just for news. This would allow in-depth coverage of events which affect our lives — such as the price of eggs in various parts of the country. It would allow the media to do some investigative reporting to find out where our money is being spent and by whom. It would allow politicians and others in high office to explain their policies and their plans. The newspaper could then become a sort of Public Broadcasting Service. This would, we hope, solve the problems of communication which everyone seems to believe exists.

A newspaper, with news delivered to your home or apartment and charged against your income tax might not be a bad idea.

Your Horoscope

Horoscope for the next week
By TRENT VARRO

ARIES - March 21 to April 20
The "changes" that are occuring in your life right now will be exactly what you make them. This is not a bad aspect, but you should be careful! If you handle it right, you will gain!

TAURUS - April 21 to May 21
You have got plenty of interesting and exciting things to look forward to after next Thursday. Probably some experience to show you clearly the benefits that are coming your way soon.

GEMINI - May 22 to June 21
The aspects for your sign are basically good right now but there is a slight chance that you might let some romantic interlude cause a "clash" with a loved one. Be careful!

CANCER - June 22 to July 22
If you are careful and considerate of the feelings of others you should gain tremendously at this time. If, however, you act in a selfish manner, you'll lose a lot of prestige.

LEO - July 23 to August 23
By next week things should be clearing up nicely. You should feel a relaxing of tension and a tendency to want to take things easier. And a very good idea too. Indulge yourself.

VIRGO - Aug. 24 to Sept. 22
Virgo people are now in favoured times. This won't last too long, so if you're going to "make it" you'd better make it soon. After next week things may get a little rough.

LIBRA - Sept. 23 to Oct. 23
Wait until after Sept. 9th before you put any new ideas into operation! If you don't, you'll only run into a brick wall. The longer you can wait, after this date, the better things will be.

SCORPIO - Oct. 24 to Nov. 22
Be EXTREMELY cautious in your business dealings during the next week. Things are 'coming up roses' in your chart shortly, but you just might "louse things up" by a wrong move at this time!

SAGITTARIUS -Nov.23-Dec.21
Another "good period" is indicated for the sign of Sagitarius starting this week. The stars are helping you immensely. Business and finance are under most favourable aspect.

CAPRICORN -Dec. 22 - Jan. 20
Take care that you don't let social activities interfere with business interests at this time. There are long-range plans that are most important that you should be working on.

AQUARIUS - Jan. 21 - Feb. 18
A start in "something new" is indicated for Aquarius. Much help will come from others, who will probably give you the help you need to put you "over the top". Don't gamble!

PISCES - Feb. 19 to March 20
Much gain is coming your way if you are able to "see ahead" and separate the wheat from the chaff. There may be a tendency to go to extremes, which obviously will not help your cause.

Plant care

House plants should be placed in a shady area away from heat or conditioning vents while you are away on vacation, advises Consumers' Association of Canada. Make sure your plants have an adequate supply of water by moistening them throughly before you leave. To keep them moist, cover the plants entirely with a clear plastic bag and fasten the open end loosely to the pot. Place small pots in loosely packed material such as peat moss and moisten it well. Fertilizer does not need to be added if you are vacationing for only a short period. The plant can live off the nutrients in the soil. Be a conscientious gardsoil. Be a concsientious gardener. Course for Homemakers

by Karin Hoemberg

The Homemaker Service has become an institution on the Peninsula. Although the organization is only about a year old it has since long proved its value to a vast number of people in our community.

The homemakers are part of a health team consisting of the staff from Human Resources, the Mental Health Centre, the Health Unit and St. Mary's Hospital. They provide help to people who are in need of assistance due to short term illness and to those who need a daily hand with housekeeping duties, but who otherwise are perfectly capable of taking care of themselves.

The help provided by the homemakers is invaluable because it has made it possible for many people to remain in their homes instead of being totally dependent upon institutions or family.

In order to enable the homemakers to do a professional job, Co-ordinator of the Homemaker Service, Mrs. Doreen Robson and the Centre for Continuing Education have planned a basic training program which in the future will be manditory for all homemakers in order to secure the best possible service to the residents on the Sunshine Coast.

Mrs. Robson intends to increase the number of part-time homemakers during the fall in order to meet the need for good service. Men and women who are interested in this job-opportunity are therefore encouraged to participate in the course, which is free of charge. The present group of homemakers range from 18 to 72 years of age, and we strongly believe there is a space and a need for the young energetic people as well as for the more mature persons who can share useful experience and knowledge with the clients.

The Basic Training Program for Homemakers will be held every Tuesday 9.30 a.m. to 12.30 p.m. at the Health Unit in Gibsons. The course starts on September 16 and runs for 12 weeks until December 2. The same course is also expected to be held every Thursday at the same time and place, commencing on September 18. A maximum of 15 participants will be accepted for each class.

The purpose of the course is to increase the homemakers ability to deal with a complexity of daily situations ranging from household duties to safety precautions and how to deal with special diets. It is important that the homemakers are aware of family problems and how to deal with them in an intelligent way. Lectures and discussions will be held on patient care, child care, communication, body mechanics and nutrition. Other lessons are devoted to safety in the home, and Chronic illness. The homemakers will be informed about Community Resources, Mental Health and Special Needs Children. The role of the home maker, areas of responsibility and confidentiality are also considered to be important subjects for discussion and lectures.

It has been very encouraging to discover that the professional people we have asked to lecture on these subjects have reacted with enthusiasm to the idea of teaching the homemakers how to become competent members of the community health team.

Preregistration is necessary for this progam. Call Mrs. Robson, at 885-2876 and she will also be happy to give any additional information about the Homemaker Service.

Wilson Creek land for park

The Wilson Creek Community Association announces the acquisition of property adjacent to Chapman Creek in Davis Bay. The association, more than three years ago, began application for the portion immediately adjacent to the creek to commence the Chapman Creek Green Belt, put forward by the Regional District.

The provincial government has granted the lease on the basis of a combined Group Home and park land use. In a presentation to the Regional Board three years ago the association offered to construct a public park in the gravel pit area and in the treed strip approximately 120 feet wide and 800 feet long next to the creek. At that time the board was unable to accept a ready made park from the association as it did not have the park function.

The association will re-open the park discussion at its September meeting. In the meantime design of the park and projected cost of construction will get underway. Mr. and Mrs. Ed Cuylits Sr. of Davis Bay will be pleased to receive any suggestions for the park. Many residents of the Wilson Creek-Davis Bay area have for some time discussed the possibilities of one day having a walkway starting from the highway and following the creek up to the falls. The dream is one step closer to reality.

The lease cost was set at a nominal $25 per year. The association expressed thanks to MLA Don Lockstead for his diligent work on behalf of the people of Wilson Creek, Davis Bay and the Sunshine Coast.

Rugby club to field 2 teams

With baseball season drawing to a close many of the local sportsmen will be putting the old glove in mothballs for another year and polishing the cleats for a season of rugby.

Gibsons Rugby Club held its first practise Sunday night. Club spokesman Ken Johnson said there was a good turnout of bodies at the practise but any interested participants are still welcome. The club hopes to field two teams this year with one team playing regular league games and the other competing in exhibition games.

The club's A team will play in the third division of the Vancouver Rugby Union which involves about ten others from Vancouver Island and the lower Mainland.

Practises are scheduled for the back fields at Gibsons Elementary School every Tuesday, Thursday, and Sunday evening at 6:30. For further information phone Ken Johnson at 886-7344 or Bob Crosby at 886-7032.

Concerned

Editor,;

As a patient of St. Marys Physiotherapy Department, I was very pleased to receive professional treatment from the staff of Miss Mary Walton and Mrs. Roberto Rosberg. I have the greatest admiration for them, as I found them to be two dedicated specialists.

I was very concerned to find that the physiotherapy department would be closed in the near future.

As you recall the reason for moving the hospital, from Garden Bay to Sechelt was to provide a first class hospital with all facilities, surely a physiotherapy department is part of a first class hospital. Are people of the Sunshine Coast to be denied physiotherapy treatment because of some internal dispute, or can public opinion place enough pressure on the hospital to retain these facilities.

I am concerned, are you?

— G. Provencher.

Strike

McPhedran said the picket lines at Port Mellon were moved back by about 200 yards in order to include the access road to McNab Creek. He said the union's aim was not to prevent IWA members from working but rather to eliminate the cash flow of all Canadian Forest Products operations.

SPECIAL TRAVEL FEATURE

By helicopter to the top of Mount Cheam

Take a 4,800-foot mountain valley, strew it with alpine flowers and surround it with mountain peaks and you have something to excite the most jaded traveller.

The upper Fraser Valley has just such a treasure. Spoon Valley is tucked behind 7,000-foot Mount Cheam and even higher Lady Peak. Supplementing its unique beauty is Chipmunk Creek, a creek that begins in the valley and flows down to the Chilliwack River half a dozen miles away. And in the background, high on the sides of Lady Peak, you may see mountain goats browsing against the sky.

Until recently the only access to Spoon Valley was a torturous and long-abandoned logging road from Popkum on Highway 1. It is passable to four-wheeled drive trucks and has always been a favorite for hikers hardy enough to climb its 12 miles to the top of Cheam.

But lately something new has been added .

A young ex-Montrealler with a continuing love affair with British Columbia's mountains decided that the joys of Spoon Valley should be easily available to everyone. Working with Highland Helicopter pilot Fred Fanrich of Agassiz, Mike Roberge put together a visitor package that could be the most exciting of its kind in Canada.

For a nominal fee, the visitor is lifted to the peak of Mount Cheam in a Jet Ranger Helicopter. From there, he is escorted on a gently sloping alpine meadow trail, carefully marked to avoid damage to the flowers, along the rim of the valley toward the base of Lady Peak. The walking is easy and the scenery magnificent.

At the base camp in "The Spoon" is a commisary tent, primitive comfort station and a place to relax over a mountaineer's luncheon comprising several varieties of dried fruits, nuts, coffee and comradeship.

The fun begins from the moment of take-off. In a few seconds the Fraser river and its broad valley take on new perspectives. To the east, the sky is claimed by the Coast Range mountains and as the helicopter circles for altitude, Harrison Lake and its surrounding mountains become clearly visible.

Mount Cheam is famous for its "angel", a unique snow silhouette that diminishes but never disappears from its face during the hottest summers. During the seven-minute ascent, you circle across the angel and curve around rocky outcroppings that are so ominous and awesome that you wonder how the trees can maintain their footholds.

As one visitor commented: "During the climb, I felt my heart was in my mouth. It was not from fear but from sheer exhileration. That is just the way it affected me. It was the most beautiful ride in my life."

Surprisingly enough, the peak of Cheam is not the solid rock you might expect but is loose, brown shale among which grows mountain heather. Another surprise: chipmunks frolic between the rocks.

Before beginning the hike to the base camp, most eyes focus on Mount Baker to the south west. Probably everyone secretly hopes to see something that would indicate volcanic activity but nothing is visible.

Unti dinnertime the visitor will explore the valley, study the flowers or climb the slopes. When the dinner gong sounds he will be ready for the barbecued salmon cooked over an open fire. There is no way to describe the taste.

As the shadows cast by the mountains lengthen, the helicopter returns to pick up the "adventurer" and return him to the mundane world.

To ensure the safety of the visitors, trip organizers maintain a four-wheeled drive vehicle at the end of the logging road. They recommend that visitors wear sturdy shoes with cleated soles if possible. A light sweater is advisable in case of weather changes. Normally, there is only a slight difference in temperature between ground and valley level.

Anyone interested in the trip should contact Sherpa Tours, Tranmer Road, Agassiz, B.C. or phone Agassiz 796-9610.

TOPS active during summer

Reports indicate activities and attendance have held up surprisingly well during the summer weeks for TOPS B.C. 578, Gibsons. Much credit for this must go to the good attendance of the executive itself.

In addition to regular meetings the chapter worked many hours on the Sea Cavalcade float entry and all members were delighted to be awarded first prize for club entries. Many members turned out for a morning of tennis and Dorothy Lukacs' hospitality was enjoyed with an afternoon on her beach.

The chapter has now passed its seventh birthday. Special awards were presented and a special pledge read to mark this event. Thanks for this fine effort are due to Pat Edwards, Celia Fisher and co-leader Jean Jorgenson.

Miss of the month for June was Debbie Ball whom leader Jan Rowland presented with a bouquet of roses, a beautiful banner, a pin and a trophy. Debbie Koch was runner-up and Dorothy Lukacs made honorable mention. Tina Youdell won the "hairdo."

Miss of the month for July was Louise Mason winning her appropriate banner, a pin and a trophy. Presentations were made by Debbie Ball with a pertinent poem. Runner-up for that month was Tina Youdell.

Leader Jan Rowland also awarded Louise Mason with the "hairdo" for the most pounds lost during the month independent of weekly attendance. During July Louise also earned her half-way charm, her eight weeks without a gain charm, a 25 pound loss pin and then achieved her KIW (Kops In Waiting) charm by reaching her goal weight. The gold on white KIW banner and the weight achieved charm were presented by leader Jan to a members standing ovation.

Tina Youdell was the winner of the current contest of which Jean Jorgenson was chairman

Leader Jan shared a proud moment with the members when she presented Jean Jorgenson with her 50 pound loss pin, an appropriate banner, a poem, and the best wishes from all members.

TOPS not only has another new member but also another new KOPS. Faye Edney's special day included receiving her KOPS pin, a gold on white banner, and a book of momentos from co-leader Jean Jorgen son who made the presentations in absence of leader Jan Rowland. All members are looking forward to Faye's graduation at Inspiration Day in Vancouver next October.

Faye Edney has won many awards since joining TOPS in February. She achieved her KOPS standing in a very short time --- a record envied by all members.

Marybell Holland received her eight week charm and a beautiful bouquet of gladiolas from leader Jan and best wishes from all members for the attainment of her goal weight in the near future.

The Creek finishes second

In senior men's baseball recently, Roberts Creek finished second in zone four playoffs held in Squamish.

The Creek finished with a 3-2 record in the August 10 playdowns. Both losses came at the hands of Ernie Wall and the Squamish Terminals. Wall struck out 17 batters in the first encounter and struck out six in the second game giving up only one hit.

On the same weekend Pen Hotel captured the zone 4 'C' playoffs when they downed Big Bird Sound of North Vancouver 1-0 in the final. Alex Skytte scattered five hits and drove in the winning run.

Pen was undefeated in the double knockout tournament giving up only one run in three games. The team now travels to Richmond on Labor Day weekend to compete in the B.C. finals. Last year Pen represented zone 4 in the 'Rec' finals and this year they will represent their zone in the 'C' finals.

In final league play locally, Roberts Creek capped their most successful season by beating the defending champs Pen Hotel 3 games to 2 to win league playoffs.

The Creek had earlier captured the league tournament, finished first in the league, and then ended up by winning the playoffs. Pen Hotel, by virtue of their second place finish in the B.C. finals will move up to 'C' class ball.

Guides for hunters

Three hundred and twenty thousand copies of the 1975 hunting regulations synopsis are now being printed and will be available to the public in the next few days.

The Hon. Jack Radford, Minister, Department of Recreation and Conservation, stated that there are major changes in this year's regulations and he urges all hunters to be sure to familiarize themselves with the new pamphlet before commencing their hunting trip.

Under the new system the province has been divided into 217 "management units." The new system will permit the Fish and Wildlife Branch to intensify wildlife management practices and programs on various species of wildlife through out British Columbia.

Maps of each of the seven resource management regions showing the various management units will be included in the regulations synopsis.

The new regulations will be available from most sporting goods stores as well as from Govenment Agents and Fish and Wildlife Branch offices throughout the province.

With the termination of shift at Elphinstone the bus routes have been completely redesigned. The board has taken the opportunity to try to reduce walk distances to about one mile wherever possible. As a result some roads are being covered that have not been covered before, notably Reed, part of Gower, and the Bay area of Gibsons. These routes being completely new are liable to adjustment as experience proves necessary. In order to permit the available buses to cover these new routes it has proved necessary to stagger the starting times of certain elementary schools:

Halfmoon Bay Elementary	8:30 a.m.
Roberts Creek Elementary	9:15 a.m.
Gibsons Elementary	9:15 a.m.

Other schools will commence at the usual time of 9:00 a.m.

Efforts have been made to have the first bus pick-ups no earlier than 7:45 a.m., this too may have to be adjusted in light of experience.

Lunchtime kindergarten runs will be provided wherever possible.

PLEASE a) study these schedules carefully.
b) have patience the first week or two until the schedules settle down and problems are ironed out.

250 hear Bennett knock NDP gov't

One of the first things the Social Credit party would do if elected to form the next provincial government would be to revoke the controversial Mining Act bill 31.

This is what opposition leader Bill Bennett told over 250 people attending a special Social Credit function at Sechelt's Peninsula Drive-in last Thursday.

Bennett was on a speaking tour last week visiting several communities along the coast and Vancouver Island.

While in Sechelt, Bennett was guest at a Buffet dinner organized by McKenzie constituency Social Credit Party headed by Suzanne Van Egmond.

Bennett told an enthusiastic group that his party would invite private insurance companies back to compete with ICBC.

In a statement released in advance of his speech, Bennett said the provincial government is eroding local government control of property development.

He said the NDP government was taking over much of the planning process but that a Social Credit government would insist on a system of co-operative regional planning.

"Central planning is extremely dangerous if we wish to preserve the principles of freedom in British Columbia," Bennett said. "The very fact that under locally-elected councils we have distributed power downward is one of the basic safeguards for the freedom of the individual."

Bennett has also critized the Barrett NDP government for building a huge and costly civil service, for centralizing government operations in British Columbia, and for failing to "level" with the people on the state of operations at ICBC.

The Social Credit party, with about 500 members on the Sunshine Coast, has opened an Information office on Wharf Street in Sechelt. Hours are from 10 a.m. to 4 p.m.

OF SHOES AND SHIPS AND SEALING WAX . . . By ROB DYKSTRA

A. G. Bell solves the great Canadian problem

If Pa Bell could see us now. Using his invention I mean.

Think of it. B.C. Tel is considering the elimination of long distance rates between Pender Harbour and the rest of the Sunshine Coast.

For a few pennies a month more on your telephone bill you will be able to call Fred at five o'clock in the morning to see if the fishing is decent, and you will call the dry goods store to check the price on oyster shuckers.

But think of the profound social implications. At last, the Pender Harborites will become one of US. What more could you want? In the words of a regional district director: the toll free calling would greatly bridge the gap between Pender Harbour and the rest of the Peninsula eliminating the feeling that Pender Harbour was being treated like a second class citizen.

Ho-ho. See what I mean. If you can't pick up the horn and dial direct to Roberts Creek, man you're in sticksville. Second rate. You from Pender Harbour — to the back of the line. This bench is not for you.

Now if we can eliminate all that regional disparity in this area just by putting in a direct line to the step-'n-fechits in the northern wilds, think of the possibilities for the rest of this fragmented nation.

All that fuss about Quebec — bilingualism, biculturalism separatism oh, Pierre, when will you get your head out of the sand-ism?

It's all so simple. The way to libre Quebec libre is to install a direct phone line and eliminate all charges between Quebec and the rest of Canada. Can't you see if such a simple solution can assimilate the Pender Harbour species, there should be no problem with the rest of our mosaic.

If you think this is all brouhaha, think again. I can hear even the most austere Ottawa MP proclaim it now: the great Canadian gulf has been bridged. No longer will the Quebecois be treated like second class citizens.

Put that on your fleur de Lis.

Imagine picking up the phone and speaking directly to Jean-Claude in St. Louie de Haha (look it up on the map if you don't believe me).

"Allo Jean-Claude comment are vous? Mois in Gibsons here."

You can parler with him as long as you like without the persistant interruption of that nasal voice: your number please? A couple of phone calls a week and we'll solve tous les differences, eh, Claude?

And it doesn't even have to stop there. After we've tied our Quebec cousins to the wire, we'll see what we can do for the rest of the world.

Et tu Northern Ireland.
