Creston Arranging for Annual Celebration, Victoria Day, Friday May 25

VICTORIA DAY, MAY 25 TO BE OBSERVED

The meeting called for Wednesday evening in connection with the celebration failed to materialize on account of other meetings.

As the time is limited we suggest that the committees meet and perfect arrangements without waiting for a public meeting.

The following members were appointed finance committee:

R. S. Bevan, S. A. Speers, D. Spiers, Rev. W. G. Blake, W. H. Crawford, W. V. Jackson, Geo. Heald, O. J. Wigen, and R. Telford.

Reverends Blake, Carpenter and Bull were appointed as committee on children's sports.

The Sports Committee: D. Spiers, F. Callendar, W. G. Blake, R. S. Bevan, and F. K. Hurry.

The Chairman Secretary and Treasurer were appointed as an advertising committee.

J. Hobden was elected Marshall.

BIG FUTURE FOR MINING INDUSTRY

According to a recent report given out by Fred Starkey, president of the associated Boards of Trade of Eastern British Columbia.

The mineral production for the province from 1852 to 1913 inclusive shows an aggregate value of $460,188,000. The production of metals, coal and coke in the Kootenay and Boundary districts of British Columbia for the year 1913 amounted to the grand total of $20,629,315.

It is pleasing to not that all these properties, sucn as the Le Roi Cente Star, Silver King, Molly Gibson, the Sullivan and Ainsworth camp properties were practically considered from a public standpoint, more or less as played out mines. Today these properties are estimated to be more valuable than ever an large producers for years to come. This has been baought about by capable and ecouomical management.

The wonderful optimism reguarding mining prevailing during 1912 and 1913 in the Kootenay and Boundry districts, is, cofident, going to be thoroughly justified. The standard min in Slocan only a few years ago was not tempting enough to keep attached to it the men who are now foremost in the ownership. The old timber the Silver King, is again to the fore, giving employment at the present time to some 85 men. The Slocan Star, that has made many of its original owners comfortable for life, is, with development of newfound ore bodies, likely to do the same for the present owners. The Molly Gibson, Kootenay Lake, another intance of what proper management will do. The early owners of this property were inexperienced men with insufficient capital to develop properly, consequently it was sold for a small amount. Today the old Molly Gibson is considered one of the best silver lead properties in the country.

Properties around Trout Lake and Ferguson, in the Lardo, have been receiving development, but not to the extent to properties warrent. It is a case of lack of capital On the Slocan lake the great producing Standard, the Hewitt, Vancover, Rambler Cariboo, and Ottawa are all shippers, and there are many others being developed. Sheep Creek district the Mother Lode and the Queen have proven very profitable especially the former. The owners, we understand, are trying to acquire further properties with a view to extending their holdings. In the Bayonne district, owing to lack of transportatoin facilities, no great extent of development, with the exception probably of the Spokane group, has been carried on this winter.

Dan Spiers left Wednesday for a business visit to the prairie, he expects to be away for a week or ten days.

Chas. Wright, of Kuskanook, arrived from the East today. He has bought a carload of Jersey cows which will arrive in a few days.

The meeting of committees for the celebration failed to materialize so it will be necessary for the chairmen to get together and arrange for a meeting at some future time.

E. Barraclough announces that he is going to have the Bakery and Ice Cream Parlor put in shape again and he solicits a continuance of the patronage which has been accorded him in the past.

The band instuments have arrived and at the rate at which the boys are pratizing we will have music for the holiday. The instruments were unpacked this afternoon and the air was immediately surcharged with waves of symphonious vibrations that would charm the heart of Mexican, and that is going some.

Dr. J. S. Henderson of the Social Service League of the Presbyterian church whose headquarters are in Vancouver came in on Tuesdays train and stayed over to deliver an address in the evening. The attendance was small but the subject well presented and those present were more than repaid for turning out.

George Nichols is the proud possessor of a freak chicken which is now two weeks old. This particular fowl displays great ambition to get along in the world as witness the two additional legs with which it is equipped. These pedal addenda are attached to the chicken's right side and while they are possessed of strength and grip do not help their owner at all in the problem of locomotion.

NOTICE!

The present Lessee, Editor and manager of the Creston Review, A. B. S. Stanley begs to state that he has not been responsible in any way for the sending out of notices threatening court procedure for delinquent subscribers. He has only had to do with this paper since July 1st 1913.

At the same time he would appreciate it if those who owe from that time would come in to see him about the matter as it costs considerable to get out the paper and money is scarce.

MRS. LEWIS VISITED BY HOLD-UP MAN

Tuesday morning word was received that the Residence of Ike Lewis had been the scene of a hold-up. A man appeared Sunday afternoon and asked Mrs. Lewis if her husband was in. She said he was not and then the fellow said he would wait. Mrs. Lewis all unsuspicious told him that Mr. Lewis was in town. Then he said is that his boat, and is that the way he will come." Being informed in the affirmative he pulled a revolver and demanded money. Mrs. Lewis, now on her guard, bluffed him out and gave him the few cents in change that came first to her hand deciding to take chance on his finding the rest or on the advent of some neighbor while the fellow made a search of the house. This he did thoroughly but without any success. Then before leaving he helped himself to some loaves of bread and some tea and silently went even as he had come. When Ike appeared Monday Mrs Lewis told her story and he at once went to Sirdar where he wired to Capt. Forrester but owing to delay on the wire the message was not delivered until Tuesday morning.

Forrester and Stanley Gwynne took the noon freight back to Sirdar and Lewis' place and made a thorough search but failed to locate anyone bearing the description of the hold-up. The supposition is that he came East on Monday undisturbed, and may now be in some of the larger centers of the prairies.

A. Lindley of the Quality, left Tuesday for a trip to the prairie to organize his market for the coming season. Mr. Lindley is happily the prossessor of a vein of optimism which sees for the valley a great future, and for this season a big increase over the business of last.

The Annual Business Meeting of the Canyon City Ladies' Aid was held on Tuesday the 5th inst. The business was concerned chiefly with the election of officers, after which the Vice President, Mrs Carfra, on behalf of the members, presented Mrs. Knott with a silver cake-basket and silver bread tray in appreciation of her services as organist of the church.

FRIDAY MAY 15 CLEAN-UP DAY

We are instructed by Health Officer Dr. G. B. Henderson to proclaim Friday May 15th as clean-up day for Creston. All kinds of rubbish, tin cans, etc, which have accumulated during the winter months must now be removed to the new dumping ground. All waste water and drainage must be attended to and sanitary conditions enforced. This is the occassion of all the year when the citizens have an opportunity to clean up the town and as it only comes once a year it would be a splendid thing to have it done thoroughly.

Incidentally clean up the lot next adjoining you if the owner is not in town.

For further information as to the disposal of refuse call up or see Dr. Henderson.

FIRE DOES DAMAGE TO THE CITY BAKERY

At about 1.45 on Monday morning Mrs. Barraclough, whose husband runs the City Bakery, was awrkened by a crackling noise and immediately awoke her husband, who jumped out of bed and rushed to the bake shop, a few feet away. The sight that met his gaze as he pulled open the tent flap made an impression upon him that he will not soon forget. The interior of the bake shop was a mass of flames and the only available water was inside the building. He made his way in and threw the two pails of water on the fire but was forced to retreat, receiving burns and singes for his bravery.

A few citizens had been awakened by the lusty cries of the children and in a very short time there was a small hose run in from Bob Reid's place which drove the fire back and made it possible to connect up to the faucet in the bakery. Then the town hose was connected up and began to play on the flames from the front.

The fire had burned its way to the second storey and to the space between the ceiling and the roof and it looked bad for Jackson's store and the Creston Review.

By shutting off the draughts and concentrating the water, at the of an hour's hard work it was seen that the fire was under control, to the great satisfactiou of all present.

The loss to both building and contents was considerable though covered by insurance.

It is very evident that the fire question is an important one and citizens should get together and procuse some more adequate means of fighting fiire in the future. As a means to reduce the insurance rate it would be a good investuent.

FIRE NOTES

Stanley Gwynne says Fred Little should have a reservoir of warm water reserved in case of fire. Goat Mountain dew in rather cold on a fellow who tumbles out in his nightei and has to take a shift as nozzleman. But Tom Crawford can tell just what it is like to meet the business end of a two-inch fire hose face to face.

Cuts and bruises are order of the day with some of the menbers of the Creston Fire Brigade.

We learn that several of our citizens were awakened at about 2 a. m. by what appaered to them to be the sound of a cow bell. Alas it was only the city fire alarm sounding its din on the quiet night air and reaching perhaps three doors away.

We ought to have a little more fire fighting apparatus, say 500 feet of hose, about a dozen more hydrants, some firemen's axes, a hose cart, and a few grenades.

A. B. S. Stanley - - - Lessee, Editor and Manager

Sir James Whitney's restoration to comparative good health is followed by indications of an early election in Ontario. Sir James is so strongly entrenched in the confidence and respect of the electorare that a renewed lease of power is regarded as foregone conclusion.—Province.

Canada has lost a good friend in the death of the Duke of Argyll, who as the Marquis of Lorne served with marked success as Governor-General of the Dominion from 1878 to 1883. Although luster was added to his term of office by the fact that his gracious consort was the daughter of the Great Queen, his own qualities of mind and heart were such as to win the confidence and esteem of the Canadian people and make his official association with their country long to be pleasantly remembered.

The Duke's friendly interest in the Dominion did not cesae with the expiration of his period of service as the representative of the crown. Up to the time of his death he continued to associate himself actively with every important movement at home tending to promote the welfare of the Dominion and to strengthen the bond which unites her with the Motherland. His presence always graces the gatherings in London which commemorated Canada's natal day and his addresses on those occasions showed that he continued to follow very closely the course of the country's development along every line. Undoubtedly but for the rule which prohibits Governors-General from returning to the Dominion in which they served, the Duke of Argyll would have been a frequent visitor to this side of the Atlantic, but he did the next best thing in showing unmistakable evidence of his unvarying regard for Canada and her people.—Times.

School attendance in Canada is set forth in a statistical work just published by the census branch and based upon the last census. The total population between the ages of 6 and 20 years was 2,141,909, of which number 1,124,800 were attending school in 1910. The percentage is 52.51. Of the total 991,534 were Canadians, 58,115 British and 75,151 foreign born. In the Eastern provinces the highest percentage of attendance between 7 and 14 years was in Prince Edward Island, with 84.60 per cent, closely followed by Ontario with 84.27; Nova Scotia, 82.86; Quebec, 80.96 and New Brunswick, 80.05. In the West, British Columbia led with 75.33 per cent; Manitoba second with 74.64; Saskatchewan, 66.71; and Alberta, 62.83.

Referring more particularly to the West, the bulletin says: The Western provinces being the mecca of the immigrant and the bachelor homesteader from the Eastern provinces have to face the conditions which are incident to the opening up of settlement in a new country, and, therefore, cannot be compared as regards school attendance with older provinces of Canada, where conditions are stable, but that they have not been remiss in their duty in providing means of education for the multitudes which flock to their cities ane spread over the plains in an ever increasing volume is evidenced by the fact that Manitoba has put in operation on an average two new schools per week each year since 1906; Saskatchewan about five and Alberta about three per week.—Vancouver Sun.

GROWING OLD

A little more tired at close of day;
A little less anxious to have our way;
A little less ready to scold and blame;
A little more care for a brother's name;
And so we are nearing the journey's end
Where time and eternity meet and blend.

A little less care for bonds and gold;
A little more zest in the days of old;
A broader view and a saner mind,
And a little more love for all mankind;
A little more careful of what we say,
And so we are faring adown the way.
A little more love for the friends of youth;
A little less zeal for established truth;
A little more charity in our views;
A little less thirst for the daily news;
And so we are folding our tents away
And passing in silence at close of day.

A little more leisure to sit and dream
A little more real the things unseen;
A little bit nearer to those ahead,
With visions of those long-loved and dead;
And so we are going where all must go,
To the place the living may never know.

A little more laughter, a little more tears,
And we shall have told our increasing years;
The book is closed, and the prayers are said,
And we are a part of the countless dead.
Thrice happy, then, if some soul can say:
"I live because he has passed my way."

THE QUAKER'S RULES

The following three rules are said to have been given by an old Quaker to Senator Scott, of West Virginia, when he was a young man. In following them the senator claims to have made his success in life:—

Not what thee eats but what thee digests will make thee healthy.

Not what thee earns, but what thee saves, will make thee wealthy.

Not what thee reads, but what thee remembers, will make thee wise.

These rules leave out a good many things; but though simple, are full of wisdom and sense The man who has a good stomach, a good memory, and a bank account only needs a good conscience and a high purpose to make life worth living.

When you want your next job of printing done, no matter what the job is, bring it to the Review office. We guarantee a first-class job and our prices are right.

JIM WRAY SIGNS TO COACH HARVARD CREWS FOR THREE MORE YEARS

The signing up of Jim Wray for another long period serves to bring out the recognized admission that the universities do not deem it advisable to part with professional coaching. Lately a hue and cry has been raised by the reformers about the unnaturalness of hiring a professional to teach 'simon-pure' college athletes and efforts have been made to have skilled graduate athletes take the place of the professional coach. Yale has tried out the scheme in football, and considering her importance in the athletic line, cannot be said to have made a success of it. The picture above shows the veteran Australian rowing coach Jim Wray, who has been turning out winning crews for Harvard University for the last six years and who has just signed a contract calling for his services at Harvard for another three years.

Owing to the fact that a big cottonwood tree drifting down the Kootenay bump into the ferry causing temporary damage, residents across the river are at present cut off from the rest of the world except as navigation in a row boat or canoe is concerned.
