Vol. X. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, JULY 12 1918 No. 22

Local and Personal

Extension window frame screens at Mawson Brothers.

Earthenware teapots and jugs, new stock.—Mawson Brothers.

Mrs. W. K. Brown will not recieve on Wednesday next nor again this season.

R. R. Piper was a business visitor at Nelson a couple of days the fore part of the week.

Pressing, cleaning, laundry, at store building across from Mirabelli's shoe shop, Creston.

Young Dog For Sale—Pedigreed Airdale, $15 or nearest offer. Apply Review Office.

Crate Nails, 1¼-inch at 12½c. pound. Apple box nails, 1¾-inch at 12½c., at Mawson Brothers.

R. B. Illsey of Armstrong, the provincial veterinary inspector, was here on an official visit yesterday.

Father Kennedy will be here on Sunday for the usual services in Holy Cross Church at the usual hours.

Wanted—At Sullivan Mine, Kimberley, shovellers and trammers. Wages $4 per day. Board $1 day.

For Sale—Three-months old thoroughbred Jersey bull. $25 or will ex. change for beef calf.—C. Moore, Creston.

Dr. and Mrs. Henderson and children were Nelson visitors a couple of days this week, returning on Thursday.

Walter B. Muir, who has spent the past three months with friends at Handford, Wash., arrived home on Sunday.

Land to Clear—Wanted to let two or three acres of brush and stamp land to clear in the Alice Siding district, Apply R. Stewart, Creston.

There will be both morning and evening service in Christ Church on Sunday, with celebration of Holy Commnnion after morning prayer.

The strawberry export is tapering off and next week will wind it up for most ranchers. For the whole Valley the export will exceed 8000 crates this season.

Red Cross members are asked to remember that next Tuesday is the regular monthly meeting, and the attendance of all of them is specially requested.

An auto load of young people were at Bonners Ferry for the circus on Monday, and report it a rather good animal show, but otherwise not in the real circus class.

The water on the flats is still in evidence, though it has gone down far enough to permit of foot traffic between town and Corn Creek at the end of the week.

Mr. and Mrs. T. W. Bundy and daughter of Wardner arrived on Wednesday for the summer vacation with Mrs. Bundy's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Dow.

Vehicle traffic to points across the Kootenay is still impossible. A new cable is being put in at the ferry and until it is installed the scow cannot be operated. The cable is expected this week.

The fuel controller's advice to buy the winter coal supply now is being heeded in Creston. H. S. McCreath is unloading a car of Galt coal, and expects two more of them to follow shortly.

Now that cherries are moving the express shipping at Creston station is taking about three trucks to hold the stuff. Tuesday was the big day of the year so far, with about 150 crates of stuff out.

Dan O'Neil, who came home from the Cranbrook hospital about ten weeks ago, after several months stay there, went back again on Sunday to undergo another minor operation to his injured leg.

The annual meeting for the Creston school district is scheduled for tomorrow night at 7 o'clock. The rate payers will be pleased to hear that only $3500 will be asked this year, as compared with $4500 in 1917.

Cow For Sale—Good milker, will freshen end of July. Apply to John Johnson (Canyon City), Erickson P.O.

Jas. Kerrigan, a Cranbrook rancher was here on Monday, looking some of the Valley ranches over, in quest of a winter's supply of hay. He was unsuccessful. The Valley crop is too short and light to allow of any export.

For the first time in years the tracks in the C.P.R. yard here was bare of cars completely the first couple of days of the week. Freight export is light at present. 11 cars of poles was the extent of the carload shipping in June.

The Womens Institute is meeting to-night in Speers, Hall, when the making of summer drinks and war time cooking recipes will be the features. Arrangements will also be completed for handling the ladies' section of the fall fair.

The Valley cherry export is now well under way, and this fruit promises to be a heavy shipper for 1918. Unfortunately it is the only thing in the fruit line that is inclined to be low in price, and the market gradually flooding. There is a considerable red and black currant export trade as far east as Winnipeg this year.

Another Creston soldier returned from the overreas fighting on Tuesday. It is Pte. Fred Hurry, who left here to go into training at the coast in February, 1915. and who has been overseas for almost three years now. He is wounded in the left arm, but otherwise looks as well and sound as ever. He received his injuries early last fall, and has been in an English hospital up till early in June. Fred's friends will be glad to hear that the doctors are quite confident that they can restore the use of the arm. After a few days leave he will return to the hospital at the coast.

Canyon City

Guy Browell, who has deen at Nanton, Alta., for the past few months returned to Canyon the early part of last week, and expects to remain here for some time.

The annual school meeting is announced for tomorrow night at the school house at 7 o'clock. A new trustee will be required to replace E. Olsen.

There will be the usnal service at the church on Sunday- All interested are asked to be present as at the close a meeting will be held to decide whether for the summer months service will be every Sunday or once a fortnight.

Chas. Simpson was a visitor at Nelson a couple of days the early part of the week, Mrs. Simpson spending the few days with Creston friends.

Mrs. Kelly, who had charge of the school the past year, left on Tuesday for the coast. She is not returning to Canyon again.

Haying is general around this part; or, at least, it was up till Tuesday night when a very welcome thunder storm put an end to operations temporaily. This shower with the one Friday night has made the raspberry growers smile. They now seem assured a fine crop of this fruit.

Stop. Look. Listen signs will soon be in order here. This week sees Huygens & VanAckeran added to the list of auto owners. They have invested in a Ford, secured at Cranbrook.

The Red Cross meeting at Mrs Wood's was another of the season's successus, despite the hot weather. The work sheet showed 20 trench caps and one suit of pyjamas finished, and the tea reciepts were $2.15. In addition to this the workers wish to thank Mr. Tomlinson for a cash donation of $5. This week the meeting is at Mrs. Lyon's, Deer Lodge.

Cranbrook Rod & Gun Club have just got in 100 ring necked pheasant eggs and are having them hatched out with a view to stocking that section of country with that variety of game.

Huscroft School

The June report of the Huscroft school shows the attendance well maintained up till the term closed. With an enrollment of 12 for the month the average attendance was 11.32, while the average attendance for the whole year was 8.81. Last month Fred and Elmer Huscroft were the pupils making perfect attendance. In the month the pupils contributed $2 to Red Cross work, and for the 10 months of school the total contributions were $16.75.

The honor rolls for the year were awarded at the end of June, as follows:

Regularity—Roy Huscroft.
Proficiency—Elizabeth Lyon.
Deportment—Laura Boadway.

The end of the term promotions are just announced. The successful ones are:

To Senior Fourth—Roy Huscroft.
To Junior Fourth—Walter Lyon, Fred Huscroft.
To Junior Third—Percy Lyon, Jane Huscroft, Irene Huscroft.
To Second Reader—Laura Boadway, Helen Hurry.
To Senior Second Primer—Gordon Hurry.
From Receiving Class to Senior First Primer—Pearl Huscroft, Elmer Huscroft.

The closing feature of the school year was an at home on the final Saturday evening at which dancing was the feature, and the proceeds of $9.51 being turned into the Red Cross collection. Mr. and Mrs. Bliss supplied the music and the renumeration usually paid was kindly donated by them to Red Cross work as well.

Wynndel

The strawberry export from Wynndel up to and including those going east on Thursday brings the total up to 5848 crates, with every prospect of the 6000 mark being reached at least. In addition to this about 250 pails have been sent to the jam factory at Nelson.

Miss Flossie White arrived from Winnepig on Tuesday to spend a few weeks with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. White.

There was a fine turnout at the dance Saturday night at the school the Creston deligation being especially noticeable. There was a fine lunch, good music and a good floor, and everybody had the best of good times—despite the mosquito invasion.

Creston callers are not numerous these times. Principal Dewar made the grade on Saturday, and Mrs. Rosendale and daughter were there on Wednesday.

The school meeting is the attraction for Saturday night, commencing at seven o'clock. W. J. Cooper's term as trustee is up, and his re-election or that of a successor, along with the auditor, will be the feature of the session.

Another launch has been added to the local fleet, the newest yachtsman being John Bathie, who receiveb a stylish looking craft from Nelson on Thursday last. The fish at Summit Creek and other nearby waters will take notice and govern themselves accordingly.

This section was favored with a heavy rainstorm during Tuesday night and Wednesday morning. It was late for the strawberries but will help out raspberries immensely.

Alice Siding

Mrs. Webster returned a few days ago from Stenen, Sask., accompanied by her father, Mr. Bailey, who will spend the summer here.

Mrs. Grundy and Mrs. Beach, both of Archer, were week-end visitors with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sinister. They arrived at the height of the mosquito season and the skeeters rather overdid the welcome with the result that the visitors' stay was somewhat shortened.

Mrs. Peake of Lethbridge, Alta., is spending a few days here, the guest of Mrs. Pease.

Raspberries are moving in fairly large quantities at present, and the rain which came on Wednesday will speed up the export for the next week at least. Owing to the mosquitoes there is same trouble keeping pickers on the job just at present.

T. Baines has been converted to the irrigation idea, and is asking for a right to utilize water from a slough near his ranch for the supply.

G. H. Bohlee left on Monday on a business visit to Waldeck and other Saskatchewan points.

To-morrow evening the annual school meeting will be held. John Miller's term as trustee has expired and it will be necessary to fill this position as well as that of auditor.

The end-of-the term school report includes the promotions and honor roll winners. Those who are moving up a class are: To First Reader—Bertell Carr. To Senior First Reader—Joseph Miller. To Senior Third Reader—Rudolph Carr. To Junior Fourth Reader—Wilfrid Mason, Roy Pease, John Miller, Robert Miller. Honor Rolls were awarded as follows: Proficiency—Anna Miller. Regularity and Punctuality—Wilfrid Mason. Deportment—Rudolph Carr.

Erickson

Mrs. E. W, Klingensmith returned from Bull River on Friday, and is spending a few days on the ranch here.

Mrs. H. B. Downs left on Friday to spend a few days with friends at Cranbrook.

Mrs. W. G. Birney and children arrived from Banff, Alta., to join her husband, who has purchased the Levesque ranch. If many more families arrive it will be necessary to enlarge the school to handle the increased number of scholars.

Erickson in common with other Valley points got a soaker of a rain on Wednesday morning and the raspberry crop is now safe for at least ten days. All classes of vegetadles are coming along fine as well.

The 1918 school meeting is called for 7 p.m. Saturday at the schoolhouse. F. Putman is the retiring trustee, and the auditor will also have to be elected. As yet nothing is definite as to whether Principal McCallum will return or not.

Methodist Pastor Bunt announces that from now on the Sunday school at the schoolhouse will start at 1.45 prompt.

J. M. Craigie left on a business visit to Greenwood and Boundary points. He will be gone about a week.

Mrs. F. J. Klingensmith left this week for Blairmore Alta., where she will spend a few days visiting friends.

Gerald Timmons is home again after a two weeks holiday with Spokane friends.

Geo. Cartwrigt has notices posted for the taking of a supply of water for domestic use from Babbit Creek.

Sirdar

The McCabe bridge crew finished operations here the latter part of the week, and have moved back to Bull River. This week we entertained the telegraph repair crew, who made a short stay making only needed light repairs.

The mosquitoes are the worst here in years. Even Mayor Daly has to admit this. On Monday night they were at their worst and some of the citizens gave up trying to sleep and took refuge outdoors behind smudges.

Switchman Cam is progressing nicely, but it will be along toward the end of the month before he is back to work.

Mr. Aspey is still at Cranbrook hospital, and recovering very slowly but, we hope, surely and permanently.

The annual school meeting is called for tomorrow night. T. Rodgers is the retiring trustee and it is safe to guess he will be returned by acclamation if he consents to take office again. We understand Miss Goodman will have charge of the school for another year.

The metropolis has not been favored with very many callers of late. W. H. Morris made the grade on Thursday.

The yard crew has the freight blockade well in hand now. The last train of stored freight came in from Creston on Friday.

The strawberry shipping season is about over here. The irrigation system helped materially in keeping the crop growing, but the excessively dry weather dried up considerable fruit de- [illegible]

Variety to July B. of T. Session

The July meeting of the Board of Trade on Tuesday night was largely taken up with disposing of correspondence and hearing committee reports. President Speers was in the chair and there was a good turnout of members.

The local Red Cross Society had a request from Nelson to donate something toward furnishing a returned soldiers ward in the new Nelson hospital. The Red Cross ladies had no funds for such a purpose so they passed the matter on to the board. As the board is even in a worse plight financially they in turn will hand the epistle along to the Women's Institute.

The C.P.R. authorities notified that they could not constitute the crossing at the Cook ranch a public highway without an order from the Railway Commission and suggested that the provincial works engineer make a report to the commision and a request that the railway be authorized to open it up for traffic.

The minister of railways and the attorney general wrote thanking for a copy of the ruling of the solicitor of the Railroad Commission as to the province's right to expropiate the K.V. right of way. The minister of works also wrote in the same strain and also notified that Engineer Ramsay had looked over the Sirdar-Kuskanook road but had not yet reported. However, Hon. Mr. King held out no hope of doing anything in either matter. The government had no money.

The Dominion Fishery Inspector wrote stating that the C.P.R. had again promised to put in a real fish ladder at Duck Creek as soon as the water at that point would permit. Mr. Wadds, the photographer the board wants to come in and take a series of photos of the flats in connection with reclamation publicity, cannot come until September.

For the Finance Committee Geo. Johnson reported that the raffle last week of the Shorthorn calf had netted the board $79.50. He was given the board's best thanks for his good work in this connection. The Publicity Committee was instructed to get on with the preparation of a leaflet setting forth the advantages of locating in the Valley, as well as the possibilities of this section, said leaflet to be sent out in every box of wrapped apples shipped this fall.

On Reclamation, Chairman Constable reported continued valuable publicity. Mr. Baillie Grohman, the man who first saw the advantages of reclamation, back in the eighties, sent copies of the London Nineteenth Century Magizine in which he had a six-page article "A Canadian Paradise for Returned Soldiers" which tells the advantages of the flats for agriculture. The same article also appears in the U.S. addition of the Nineteenth Century, and the proposition is therefore being intelligently placed before the better class of the reading public. Mr. Grohman assures that a similiar article was being prepared by him for the June issue of the Royal Geographical Society Journal in London. He asks for a supply of photos from which engravings could be made to illustrate the stories he is writing.

Another gentleman was electee to the board membership. He is Geo. Cartwright of Erickson. The board will be represented at the Western Canada Irrigation Congress at Nelson this month, Guy Constable having been named delegate.

Africa's Big Population

Every Eighth Person in the World Lives in the Dark Continent

Nearly one-fourth of the earth's land surface is comprised within the continent of Africa, and it is as far around the coast of Africa as it is around the world. Every eighth person of the world population lives in the Dark Continent.

The blacks double their number every forty years and the whites every eighty years. There are 843 languages and dialects spoken among the blacks of Africa but only a few of them written.

One area in Africa unoccupied by missionaries is three times the size of New England, a second would make four states like New York, and another is eighteen times the size of Ohio. Throughout Africa there is one missionary for every 133,000 souls.—From the Christian Herald.

The British Lion

Saved the Allied Fortunes in This Memorable Epic

Today one can measure the tenacity of the British lion. In a whole week the enemy has succeeded only in obtaining the results which he had appointed for his first day's rush alone! Honor to the brave Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig, whose clearness and cool-headedness with the management of his army in this formidable trial have saved the allied fortunes in this memorable epic. Honor to his brave officers whose names we hope will soon be made known to the admiration of the people, and glory to that heroic grand army of Great Britain, and to the magnificent youth of her soldiers, of whom said one of their officers, "the sight alone made the heart beat, when at the first breathing space one saw true resolution and serenity on their faces."—L'Homme Libre (Paris France).

Pale and Feeble But Now Well Again

MLLE. RICHER EXPRESSES GRATITUDE TO DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS

Tells How With the Impurities Cleansed From Her Blood, She Found a New Lease of Health

St. George de Windsor, Que., (Special)—Grateful for the splendid results she has obtained from the use of Dodd's Kidney Pills, Mlle. Marie-Anne Richer, a well-known resident of this place, is telling the good news to her friends.

"I am happy to recommend Dodd's Kidney Pills to all the world," Mlle. Richer states. "I was pale and feeble, and my blood was filled with impurities, but after taking some boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills I feel that I am cured.

"I am grateful for the marvellous effects obtained from Dodd's Kidney Pills."

If the kidneys are not doing their work of straining the impurities out of the blood the circulation becomes clogged, and sickness is bound to develop. The natural way to cure such sickness is to cure the kidneys. The cured kidneys cleanse the blood of the impurities, the seeds of disease, and the result is good circulation and good health all over the body.

Thousands of other women in Canada join with Mlle. Richer in telling the splendid results obtained from Dodd's Kidney Pills as a kidney remedy.

Next to doing things that should be done is learning to leave undone things that should not be done.

SELECT MEDICINE VERY CAREFULLY

Purgatives are dangerous. They gripe, cause burning pains and make the constipated condition worse. Physicians say the most ideal laxative is Dr. Hamilton's Pills of Mandrake and Butternut; they are exceedingly mild, composed only of health-giving vegetable extracts. Dr. Hamilton's Pills restore activity to the bowels, strengthen the stomach, and purify the blood. For constipation, sick headache, biliousness and disordered digestion no medicine on earth makes such remarkable cures as Dr. Hamilton's Pills. Try a 25c box yourself.

Unpopular Farming

The Soil Must Not Be Exhausted to the Point Where Profit Ceases

The day will come when the farmer who takes more plant food out of the soil than he puts back will be a very unpopular man. We are gradually coming to the point where we must build for the future and where the question of soil fertility will be so generally understood that robbing the soil will be recognized as such, and the man who practices that kind of farming will be looked down upon by his neighbors. The soil is not a mine from which any man is at liberty to withdraw dividends in the form of crops permanently, putting nothing at all back. The soil must not be exhausted to the point where profit ceases. Generously enriched with the essential plant foods, it will continue to produce profitable crops without end. Practicing a system of permanent soil fertility is not only profitable, but is the only method fair to future generations.—Farmers' Review.

Miller's Worm Powders never fail. They immediately attack the worms and expel them from the system. They are complete in themselves, not only as a worm destroyer, but as a highly beneficial medicine for children generally. They regulate the digestion and [illegible] the infected system so that the growth of the child will be retarded and its constitution weakened.

YES! MAGICALLY! CORNS LIFT OUT WITH FINGERS

You say to the drug store man, "Give me a small bottle of freezone." This will cost very little but will positively remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet.

A few drops of this new ether compound applied directly upon a tender, aching corn relieves the soreness instantly, and soon the entire corn or callus, root and all, dries up and can be lifted off with the fingers.

This new way to rid one's feet of corns was introduced by a Cincinnati man, who says that freezone dries in a moment, and simply shrivels up the corn or callus without irritating the surrounding skin.

Don't let father die of infection or lockjaw from whittling at his corns, but clip this out and make him try it.

If you druggist hasn't any freezone tell him to order a small bottle from his wholesale drug house for you.

Hog Raising Pays

Pork at Cost of $3.30 a Hundred Pounds

Eight hundred hogs were marketed from the Dominion Experimental Farm at Lacombe, Alberta, during the twelve months ending April 30. Mr. Hutton, the superintendent, claims that pork was produced at a cost of $3.50 a hundred pounds on alfalfa, with self-feeder for grain ration, and at $3.30 a hundred pounds on rape pasture, with self-feeder. A comparison of the cost of raising hogs in Alberta and the price at which they are now selling, with the cost of land, shows why hog raising in this province is a paying proposition.

Are Paying Penalty For Unpreparedness

Sir William Robertson Says Every Right-minded Person Will See War Through

"The war is likely to last a long time yet," said General Sir William R. Robertson, ex-chief of general staff, speaking at a meeting in London. "How long it will last no sane man would dare to estimate. One of the reasons why the war was not finished long ago is that we were unprepared for it when it began, while the enemy had been preparing for years. We are now paying the penalty for that unpreparedness, which in the past has caused countries to become bankrupt or ruined. But we have no intention of becoming bankrupt or ruined.

"I know," Sir William concluded, "that every right-minded person in the empire has made up his mind to see the thing through."

BUILD UP THE BLOOD

You Cannot Have Health if the Blood Is Weak and Watery

It is a hopeless task to try to restore your health while your blood is deficient in quantity or quality. The blood circulates through every portion of the body. It takes nourishment from the food and distributes it to the various organs and muscles; it takes also any medication that is administered through the mouth. The blood is the only means by which medicine can reach the nerves. Hence if the blood is poor the body becomes weak and the nerves shaky, and the victim may be subject to headaches and dizziness, poor appetite, indigestion, a constantly tired feeling or perhaps to rheumatism, sciatica or neuralgia. Poor blood is the forerunner of nearly every ailment to which mankind is subject, and you can only enjoy robust health by keeping the blood rich, red and pure. To keep the blood in this condition no medicine yet discovered can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Every dose helps to make new, rich blood which carries new health and new strength to every part of the body. When one becomes weak and pale Dr. Williams' Pink Pills restore the blood, bring the glow of health to the cheek, and make weak, ailing people energetic and strong. Mrs. Stephen H. Williams, Kitchener, Ont., says:—"Some years ago my health started to fail. The doctor said my blood was thin and watery, but the medicine I took did not do me any good. My joints and limbs would ache and swell, until it was almost impossible for me to get up and down, and no one knows how much I suffered or how discouraged I was. Reading of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills one day I decided to try them. I got a couple of boxes, and by the time I had taken them felt an improvement. I then got six boxes more and before I had taken them all felt like a new woman in every way. I could do my housework without feeling tired, and in fact I was enjoying better health than I had done for years. You may be sure I will always strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all other sufferers."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Cat Needed Tuning

The landlady bustled up to her new lodger as he came down to breakfast the first morning.

"Good morning, sir," she wheezed.

"Good morning," said the lodger.

"I hope you've had a good night's rest," said the landlady.

"No," said the mild-mannered little man. "Your cat kept me awake."

"Oh," said the landlady, tossing her head. "I suppose you're going to ask me to have the poor thing killed."

"No, not exactly," said the gentle lodger. "But would you very much mind having it tuned?"—Pittsburgh Chronicle-Telegraph.

"WHO WILL WIN THIS BATTLE?"

Your kidneys are the filters of the body. If they become inactive and fail to eliminate the waste matter, they are apt to throw the whole mechanism of the body out of order, thus toxic poisons can accumulate in the system and be as deadly as snake venom.

Besides causing the minor ailments of rheumatism, sciatica, lumbago and backache, neglect of the kidneys is apt to develop into more serious diseases, such as diabetes or stone in the bladder.

Rid the body of toxic poisons—clean the bladder and kidneys and cure the twinges of rheumatism with Anuric and you win the battle of life.

Anuric was first discovered by Dr. Pierce, and has benefited thousands of sufferers as well as appeased and eliminated the ravages of the more serious kidney diseases. Now procurable at any good drug store, or send Dr. V. M. Pierce, Invalids' Hotel, Buffalo, N. Y., or branch office, Bridgeburg, Ont., 10 cents for trial package.

Thorold, Ont.—"I was wonderfully helped by taking 'Anuric.' For about three years I had kidney trouble and rheumatism. I also had backache. My limbs would swell and I had rheumatism in my arms and hands. My hands would swell and joints would be so sore and stiff I could scarcely do my work. They would pain me something awful. I doctored but without relief. At last I saw 'Anuric' advertised. I began its use and two bottles completely cured me of all my rheumatism, and I think it was permanent for that was a year ago and I have never had any return of this ailment. I have never found a medicine as good as 'Anuric'."—Mrs. R. M. Hurey.

THE COMLYN ALIBI

— BY —

HEADON HILL

WARD, LOCK & CO., LIMITED
London, Melbourne, and Toronto

At the entrance of Laura and Jasper Morgan two men who had been talking together came forward to meet them—one a finely set-up young fellow with the unmistakable swing of the cavalry officer, the other, five years his companion's senior, clean-shaven and with tired eyes which flashed now and again like an occulting lighthouse. Sir Anthony West of the 14th Dragoon Guards and Clayton Kenyon, the rising criminal barrister, had been respectively fag and fag-master at Eton, and had met, for the first time since their school days, under Louis Gaspard's roof only a week ago. It was common talk in the clubs that Tony West was going to the dogs top-speed, but it would have surprised the solicitors who tumbled over each other to brief the brilliant advocate to learn that he spent his nights at baccarat or chemin-de-fer.

Kenyon nodded carelessly to Morgan, whom he only knew as a fellow gambler, moving aside with Laura who had flushed slightly at the barrister's approach. Sir Anthony, whose acquaintance with Morgan seemed to be more intimate, remained in conversation with the secret proprietor of the establishment.

"How goes it, old chap?" the young dragoon began rather boisterously. He had evidently been dining well, but in deference to the proprieties of Number Nineteen he dropped his voice as he added: "Been down to Comlyn, eh? Haven't seen you here for a night or two."

Mr. Jasper Morgan was one of those versatile persons who can suit their manners to their company of the moment. His demeanor towards the young baronet differed widely from his treatment of the bald-headed man who was now marshalling his "guests" to the baccarat table.

"Yes, I have been paying a flying visit to the Court," was the reply. "If it were not for the fascination of this gilded den of Gaspard's I should spend more time at the dear old place."

"Mrs. Morgan is quite fit, I hope?"

"She is very well, I thank you. By the way, Sir Anthony, she sent you her love, in case I ran across you. Rather a startler, eh, to an old stager like myself to have to carry such a message from one's wife to a gay young soldier nearly half my age? But there!" Mr. Morgan hastened to add as a puzzled frown began to pucker the baronet's brows, "I'm only fooling don't you know. We are well aware in our little village what the real attraction is. You mustn't mind my pulling your leg, Sir Anthony, over the innocent gallantries of a Bayard who is beyond reproach."

"I don't mind the least," West replied, and there was a hint of dryness in his tone. "See anything of the folk at the dower house?"

"Unfortunately no. My time was too short to permit of a call. But I heard that the old man was ailing."

The voice of Mr. Gaspard, mellow and ingratiating, was calling his flock to be fleeced at the long green-clothed table that bisected the room. The two men, whose thoughts for a brief space had been far away in the quiet country, took their places and the business of the night began.

Three hours later Sir Anthony West stood in the curtained alcove where Mr. Gaspard's guests were free to help themselves to refreshments. Sir Anthony's present use of the privilege was to pour himself out about two inches of brandy and mix it with the same amount of water. His boyish face had lost its reckless gaiety and was black with sullen anger. His last five-pound note was gone, and Gaspard had, most politely, declined to accept an "I.O.U." as a stake. There was no option but to withdraw from the table and suffer the humiliation as best he might.

And there was more to it than the humiliation. He was face to face with ruin. He had been gambling desperately for the last week in the hope of winning enough ready money to carry on with. But the luck had been dead against him, and he already owed Gaspard a few hundred which he was utterly unable to pay. He would have to leave the regiment and go and saw logs in a lumber camp in Canada. And a girl down in the west country would weep and weep in vain.

Brooding over the dismal future, he mixed a second drink, and was about half way through it when in the room behind there was a stir at the table. Play was over, and the players were about to leave. A moment later Jasper Morgan entered the alcove. Sir Anthony was in the mood to resent any reference to his recent set-back, but none such was forthcoming.

"Hullo, West! I thought you had gone," said Morgan, picking up a sandwich and helping himself to whisky and soda. "You're a good sportsman. Are you on for a bet—with a bit of fun at the back of it?"

Coming on the top of Gaspard's refusal to take his "paper," the suggestion was balm to the bruised soul of Sir Anthony West. Anyhow, here was a man who would trust him. Perhapsc this would be a way out.

"What's the bet?" he asked.

Morgan munched his sandwich and took a sip from his glass. "You know, or possibly you don't, that I have been caught scorching through police-traps in my car twice during the past month?" he said. "Plainly I am not smart enough for the boys with the stop-watches. I've been smitten with the notion that I should like a new Napier that I've just bought to best them, and not only that but to fool them so that in a certain contingency I can have the laugh on them afterwards. Now, you are a demon at the wheel, West, as anyone who has seen you at Brooklands can testify."

"Cut the cackle and come to the bet," urged Sir Anthony, mustard-keen now. This sounded like business.

"I will lay you a thousand pounds to five," Morgan went on, "that you will not take my car and run at not less than forty miles an hour through a trap that has just been posted between Gerrad's Cross and Beaconsfield on the London to Oxford road, and, further, that if you are caught you will not pass as Jasper Morgan at the police court without the fact of your having given a wrong name being discovered. You to win if either of the conditions is fulfilled."

"I take you." Sir Anthony promptly jumped at the chance. "All the same I don't quite see your game in the false name part of the jest."

"Very simple," Morgan was at pains to explain. "I am sure to be run in again before long, and your little affair will be brought up against me, along with other previous convictions. Then I shall turn the tables on them by proving that I wasn't the real culprit on that occasion—that someone was joy-riding in my car. Make 'em look silly, see?"

West laughed uproariously. "Rattling good spoof!" he declared. "I am going to win your thousand, Morgan. Not only because I want it, but because it's a sporting bet. When's it to come off? The sooner the better."

"You can have the car tomorrow morning at eleven, and to put everything ship-shape here's my license. If you're nabbed it will be wanted for endorsement. There are two other minor conditions. You must have someone with you—a pal of your own if you like—to see that all's fair, and I want your pledge that you will keep the wager secret till I have had my fun out of it and give you your release. I'm entitled to that, I think, for laying you long odds about what ought to be a walk over."

Why you should look for this Trade-mark on your Shoes

A TRADE-MARK is a manufacturers' signature. If a firm makes an article they are prepared to stand behind—they stamp it with their trade-mark. It is put on their goods so you may identify them. It stands to reason, therefore, that it is safer for the public to always buy "known" and "trade-marked" shoes rather than "anonymous" shoes.

Each working day of the year, the A. H. M. trade-mark is stamped on the soles of thousands of pairs of shoes for men, women and children, because we want you to know our shoes when you see them—because we are making a sincere effort to produce good values in footwear—because we believe you will find our shoes satisfactory—and buy them again and again.

Ames Holden McCready are Canada's largest makers of shoes. A.H.M. footwear is sold by thousands of dealers in every part of Canada—and by the leading merchants in almost every town.

We make such a large proportion of the boots and shoes that the Canadian people wear that you are probably wearing A. H. M. shoes now. However, the next time you buy shoes, to make sure, look for this trade-mark on the sole.

We make many grades and styles of footwear, but no matter what price you pay for them you will find them excellent value for the money. You will find it profitable and satisfactory in future to always make this trade-mark your guide in buying footwear for yourself and your family.

C. F. HAYES, Owner and Editor.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, JULY 12

Making Hay

The old saying that God helps those who help themselves would seem to be in a large measure fulfilled locally this season in the matter of the supply of shipped-in hay.

The southern part of Alberta, from which the Valley invariably gets it stock of baled feed, will not have enough for its own use. Even now in that province the department of agriculture is bestirring itself to see that any surplus of this feed that exists in the northern part of that province is so controlled that the shortage in the south may be relieved and the stockmen spared the necessity of unduly slaughtering their herds to cope with the feed famine.

While there is no real cause for alarm on the score of hay shortage in the Valley—hay such as some of it is—with an expectrd excellent crop on the flats, to assure the harvesting of this wild hay to the very best advantage as to feeding quality, it is to be hoped there will not be a rush to start cutting the first fine day after the flood waters disappear, regardless of the length and nutritive qualities of the stuff cut, as has been all too often the case.

A good suggestion has been made by one directly interested that in this somewhat critical season, for the benefit of all concerned, the authorities would be justified in at once examining the crop and fixing a day, before which it would be illegal to start mowing, putting it up to the provincial police to see that such regulation is reepected.

If, as now seems likely, we are to have the long, dry open season such as obtained last year, few of the early-bird haymakers will be seriously inconvenienced by having to await official opening date for hay harvest. Any real or imaginary troubles thus sustained will be surely counterbalanced in the slightly better crop of feed gathered.

Surely haying has been going on long enough now to have established the location and bounds of each haymaker's cutting area. If trouble is feared with an opening-day scramble for locations a permit system vested in the farmers' institute might be inaugurated, and continued permanently.

With the real hay shortage facing Alberta a little co-operation in handling the local situation is desirable if we are to have the greatest all-round good to the greatest number. While the Creator assuredly does help those who help themselves He gives no guarantee of being able to continue thus to operate if individuals will insist on a first-come-first-served and the-earlier-the-better policy in taking off a destructible commodity such as the Kootenay Flats wild hay crop.

School Affairs

Lest you forget, might we call attention to the annual school meeting which is scheduled for tomorrow night at the schoolhouse. To facilitate the educational moguls at Victoria have changed the gathering from a morning to an evening session, announced to start at seven o'clock.

In the life of any community nothing rivals in importance the handling of its educational institutions. These cost all of us no inconsiderable sum of money. For these two reasons, as well as for others just as obvious, citizens should be interested in getting to know how school affairs are being looked after. And the surest place to get this all-round information reliably is at these annual meetings.

Not only do you owe it to yourself to be present, but you are equally obligated to the trustees. They have certain reports to present and recommendations to make, and in proceeding with the latter it is of inestimable benefit to have the sentiment of the ratepayers generally which, also, can best be had at the yearly meeting.

Being merely human trustees sometimes err. If these sins be intentional censure should not be withheld, though by all means hear both sides of the story before pronouncing sentence—with the trustees entitled to the benefit of the doubt. If the mistakes be less serious an open, friendly discussion will do a whole lot of good and no harm with personalities omitted. And wherever the trustees have done well don't omit a word of commendation. The piling on of criticism—just and unjust—and the withholding of some deserved expression of appreciation is just what makes folks backward in coming forward for election as school trustee.

Thanks to a change in the regulations Creston district ratepayers will likely have a reduced school assessment this year, though a considerable increase in salaries is inevitable if an efficient staff of teachers is to be had. Other running expenses are on the up-grade as well.

Be out on Saturday night to get a line on school affairs generally. The trustees cannot be expected to know your wishes unless you tell them, and after the anhual meeting may be too late. If you are not sufficiently interested to be present, and accept office if called upon, it will be rather un-British to complain if some of your always-welcome suggestions go unconsidered.

Wise and Otherwise

While society in Grand Forks of late has quiescently acquiesced in a less stringent interpretation of the rule that formerly obtained as to "that which is chaste above the waist is improper below the knee," so much of the every little movement has a meaning all its own has got into the dancing in that town that a halt has been called. Hark to the Gazette of last week:

"Unless those responsible keep more careful supervision dances in these parts are due for a decided bump. There is no objection to the one-step and fox-trot when gracefully executed, but the levity permitted by some under these names is most obnoxious, and decent people will not attend dances where such is tolerated.

At Cranbrook a trifling incident like that would attract less attention than the Herald issuing on time, or Tom Caven speaking at a W.C.T.U. gathering.

Frank Romano very briefly but intelligently tells of the advantages of irrigation. Last year on his ranch where no water was available cabbages averaged about three pounds apiece. In his garden at the section house where he had water to use plentifully cabbages were all eight and ten poundera. Irrigation costs money, but the Romano ideident proves that the increased tonnage it ensures on vegetables and the same satisfactory increase has been shown this year on strawberries—entitles it to rank as an investment that pays back the principal the first year, and a tidy dividend each succeeding season, with a domestic water supply thrown in as a bonus. In inverse ratio Creston Valley will deserve about the same measure of commiseration as the story-famed southerner who couldn't repair a leaky roof when it rained and didn't need to when it was dry, if it fails to get busy on an irrigation system should the Biker report demonstrate the Arrow Creek proposition economically sound and within reason financially.

With commendable energy some citizen or citizens have equipped the soldiers' memorial tablet with a half-dozen zinc flower holders. The installation of these makes it possible to place floral offerings on the shrine with some assurance that the first gust of wird will not blow them away. Since their installation, too, the supply of flowers has never lacked, either as to quality or quantity. In view of the never-flagging interest shown might THE REVIEW ever so kindly call attention to the fact that at least two names are missing on the scroll of heroes. Both are men enlisted direct from the Valley, and whose numerous friends would, doubtless appreciate seeing the names added to those "gone west." It is slight tribute that we thus pay the memory of those who stood between us and destruction on the battle line, and it were surely fitting that such public recognition should be shown with the utmost speed local circumstances permit.

The Grand Forks Doukhobors assert that they are living on 15 cents a day at prerent, and will denote their savings to help win the war. On account of the poll tax, however they refuse to give to the Patriotic Fund.

Monday, July 15th

Starting on Monday our instructions from the Canada Food Board is that with all sales of Flour customers MUST BUY substitutes in the ratio of 1 to 4. That is, with every four pounds of Flour one pound of some substitute to use with flour must also be purchased.

Various obtainable substitutes are mentioned, but we wish to call special attention to OATMEAL, the possibilities of which are unequalled in any other cereal product.

It is high in food value, low in cost, and distinctly palatable this carefully-milled product of the best of oats, and offers the housewife her biggest opportunity to help the authorities provide our armies and Allies with the wheat flour they need. Where Oatmeal and Rolled Oats are carefully used as a substitute for wheat flour it is surprising the delicious Puddings, appetizing Soups, wholesome Bread, Rolls and Cookies that can be turned out.

Save wheat by using Oatmeal as a substitute. In this, as in every other household necessity, we can supply your needs at attractive prices.

Military Service Act, 1917.

Men 19 and 20 Years of Age.
Harvest Leave.
Leave of Absence on Ground of Extreme Hardship.
Procedure to obtain Leave of Absence.

Men Nineteen and Twenty Years of Age.

It has come to the attention of the Government that there is a widespread impression that young men of nineteen years, and those who became twenty since October 13, 1917, as well as those who may become nineteen from time to time and who have been or will be called upon to register under the Military Service Act, are to be immediately called to the colours.

This impression is quite incorrect. No date has yet been fixed for calling upon such men to so report for duty, nor has the question been brought before the Cabinet for decision. In view of the need of labour on the farm, it is most unlikely that consideration will be given to the matter until after the harvest is over, although of course the Government's action must be determined primarily by the military situation.

There is no further obligation incumbent upon young men of the ages above mentioned who have registered or who do so hereafter, until they receive notice from the Registrars.

Harvest Leave.

Some enquiries have been received as to the possibility of granting harvest leave to such troops as may be in the country at that time. No definite assurance can be given on this point as advantage must be taken of ships as they become available. On the other hand, harvest leave will be given if at all possible.

Leave of Absence on Grounds of Extreme Hardship.

It is desired that the Regulations respecting leave of absence in cases of hardship should be widely known and fully understood. Such leave will be granted in two cases:— (a) where extreme hardship arises by reason of the fact that the man concerned is either the only son capable of earning a livelihood, of a father killed or disabled on service or presently in service overseas, or in training for such service, or under treatment after returning from overseas; or the only remaining of two or more brothers capable of earning a livelihood (the other brother or brothers having been killed or disabled on service, or being presently in service overseas, or in training for overseas or under treatment after his or their return from overseas); brothers married before 4th August, 1914, living in separate establishments and having a child or children not to be counted, in determining the fact that the man is the "only" remaining son or brother; (b) where extreme hardship arises by reason of exceptional circumstances such as the fact that the man concerned is the sole support of a widowed mother, an invalid father or other helpless dependents.

It is to be noted that in all these cases the governing factor is not hardship, loss or suffering to the individual concerned, but to others, that is, members of his family or those depending upon him.

Procedure to obtain leave of absence.

A simple system for dealing with these cases has been adopted. Forms of application have been supplied to every Depot Battalion and an officer of each battalion has been detailed whose duty it is to give them immediate attention. The man concerned should on reporting to his unit state that he desires to apply for leave of absence on one or more of the grounds mentioned and his application form will then be filled out and forwarded to Militia Headquarters, Ottawa. In the meantime, if the case appears meritorious, the man will be given provisional leave of absence for thirty days so that he may return home and continue his civil occupation while his case is being finally disposed of.

REAL REASON FOR GERMANY'S BIG DRIVE ON THE WESTERN FRONT

THEIR EASTERN GAINS PROVE UNSUBSTANTIAL

Without a Future Upon the Sea Which Has Been the Cherished Hope Of the Enemy, Their Victory In the East is Only an Illusion

Germany's insistent drive on the western front betrays a dissatisfaction with what she has accomplished in the east. If her "triumphs" in Russia were as substantial as the kaiser in his vainglorious proclamations has tried to make out, Field Marshal von Hindenburg would not be hurling his troops in France to certain destruction by scores and hundreds of thousands. The truth is that, serious as the German inroads upon Russia admittedly are, they do not signify the fulfilment of her ambition for political and economic dominion.

No matter how deeply she penetrates beyond the Russian border, she cannot realize her scheme of imperial expansion if her enemies hold the seas. She is still a beleaguered nation, though the iron ring of her adversaries has been broken in the east. She has no ocean commerce, her colonies are gone, her fighting ships are bottled up at Wilhelmshaven and Kiel.

As long ago as 1898 the kaiser said: "Our future lies upon the water." But, except for the Baltic and Black seas—and the wider activities of her submarines—Germany is shut off from the water. Her greedy plans for the acquisition of territory beyond the oceans have been checked. She has no longer any foothold in Asia or Africa, and South America, on which she formerly cast an envious eye, has risen against her. She cannot permanently content herself with exploiting the border provinces of Russia. Even if she is enabled, through the downfall of the Russian power, to build a great fleet on the Black sea she will be confronted with the problem of getting it through the Dardanelles and into successful operation outside.

Thus the situation always comes back to the western front and the necessity, from Germany's point of view, for destroying the allied line of blood and steel that foils her there. Her Mittel Europa plan depends for its value on her ability to renew her business connections with the oversea world. She has been willing to relinquish, if need be, her lauded gains in the west in exchange for permission to work her will on the road to India. But this has implied a return to the maritime facilities she enjoyed before the war. These the allies are in no mood to grant. They rule the oceans and so retain a vital advantage against her. And they will continue to do so unless she breaks down and shatters their military and naval power in the west.

With these simple facts in mind, the vicious energy of her present campaign is easily understood. She confesses with every fresh sacrifice of her man-power in Picardy the insubstantial character of what she has won on her eastern frontiers. So long as the gallant armies of the allies in Belgium and France—together with the ships of the entente—are able to hold her back, the imperial future she has decreed for herself is impossible of attainment. She must crush her enemies where they have deliberately chosen to meet her supreme challenge—where today they oppose her with the great mass of their troops and war craft, and where they are systematically conserving their man-power at the expense of hers.

The German drive in the west for these reasons takes on a savage fury unknown heretofore even in this most fearful of wars. But the line and the resolution of the allies are unbroken, and Petain's grim words still thrill in the breast of every defender of the world's freedom: "They shall not pass!" — From the Providence Journal.

Saskatchewan and Destruction of Game

Objection to Slaughtering of Game as a War Measure

Respecting the more generous use of our game for the purpose of eking out our meat supply during war times, I might say that outside of the Indian population there is very little hunting of big game or even feathered game in Saskatchewan for the exclusive purpose of supplementing our meat supply, the sport being a primary consideration and the meat thus secured being quite secondary. During the past number of years, in order to provide against the reduction of our wild life, we have been legislating in the direction of greater and greater restrictions in the annual fall hunt engaged in by our Nimrods. Last session the game act was again amended so as to conform with the migratory bird treaty between Great Britain and the United States.

While a game act is probably one of the most transient pieces of legislation we have, still we feel we have got the foundation of it just where we desire after twelve years of long and arduous work. In view of this, it would be with some reluctance that the people would consider the turning of our game into a commercial article for the purpose of barter and sale.

If I might make a suggestion, I am of the opinion that the prohibition as a war measure of the slaughter of young lambs and calves would conserve and increase our meat supply in a far more practical manner than any attempt at commercializing our game supplies could possibly accomplish.—Letter from Hon. W. R. Motherwell, Minister of Agriculture, Saskatchewan.

Peace Treaties of No Value

German Brutality Shows That There Is No Use in Considering Negotiations

H. P. Davidson, chairman of the American Red Cross war council, is in London after a tour of inspection of Red Cross work in the allied countries of Europe and will return to the United States almost immediately to superintend the second Red Cross drive to raise another $100,000,000 in a single week.

A correspondent asked him what had most impressed him during the trip and Mr. Davidson replied that he had been most impressed by the apparent result of the Brest-Litovsk treaty, which, together with the treaty with Roumania, has eliminated from the minds of the allied peoples in Europe any question of a peace by negotiation. He said:

"There is no longer any talk about Alsace-Lorraine and Belgium or of indemnity. There is just one cry and that is, 'This world will not be safe until the military power of Germany is crushed.' The same conviction is held in Switzerland, Holland and other small neutral countries, for it is now demonstrated as never before that a treaty with Germany is indeed a scrap of paper and there is no security of life and property so long as she possesses her military power."

Shoot Him Back

No Place Now in This Country for Busts of Prussian War Lords

With a rope around his neck, the statue of Frederick the Great was lifted from its pedestal before the war college at Washington, hoisted into the air, lowered onto a truck and carted away.

It now reposes in the cellar of the war college building. The statue was presented to this country by Kaiser Wilhelm as "a lasting pledge for the continuation of friendly relations between Germany and America."

That was in 1904. There is no place now in this country for busts of Prussian war lords given to us as "lasting pledges." The statue of Frederick was the symbol of militarism and German kultur.

We have only one suggestion to offer to our government in this connection. Take Frederick out of the cellar, melt him into bullets and shoot him back home.—Port Huron Times-Herald.

Frozen By Pressure

The Ocean at a Depth of 34 Miles Turns to Ice

The belief seems to be widely held that at a certain depth an iron ship or any iron object will remain suspended, floating about and never reaching the bottom. Those who believe this evidently confuse weight and pressure. A body sinks in a fluid when it weighs more than the fluid which it displaces, which evidently has the same volume as the body.

For this reason any heavy body will go to the bottom in water, since water is nearly incompressible.

An engineer of high repute recently took exception to this statement, asserting that at a depth of 34 miles water would be as dense as cast iron and therefore cast-iron would float at that depth. As a matter of fact, water at such depths is frozen solid in the dense form of ice, frozen by the pressure of the water above it.—Tit-Bits.

FIENDISH CRUELTY OF THE HUNS IS APPALLING TO ALL HUMANITY

ATROCIOUSNESS OF THE ENEMY IS PAST BELIEF

The Innate Beastliness Of the Men With Whom We Are Struggling In This War Precludes Any Possibility Of A Truce or Peace Arrangement

What Germany Has Lost

War, From Every Angle, Proves a Losing Game for Germany

She has lost her high seas commerce.

She has, therefore, lost her foreign trade.

She has lost her last colony, with the successful conclusion of the East African campaign.

She has lost the respect and confidence of most of the nations.

She has lost her former leadership in many realms.

She has lost her monopoly of the dye trade.

She has lost many of her patent rights, that were once a source of great wealth.

She has lost her supply sources of many raw materials that are essential to her industrial life.

She has lost millions of her sons.

She has lost her soul.

Russia a Doubtful Asset to Germany

Taking Hundreds of Thousands of Troops and Police to Organize and Control It

The loss of Russia to the allies is a doubtful asset to Germany; until she can organize it for industrial and agricultural purposes it is a huge liability, taking hundreds of thousands of troops and police to organize and control it. On the other hand, Russia's place has been taken by the immensely wealthy and powerful democracy of the United States, whose influence on the western front is already being felt.

It is for us now to have patience; to hold fast to the faith that is within us; for the day is rapidly approaching when we will have the absolute mastery of the air, and then the end of Germany is in sight. With her artillery blinded, her troops raked with the machine gun fire of our squadrons of the air, her munition works splintered, her ammunition dumps and railways blown up, her towns devastated by avalanches of bombs, the war will be brought home to the German people. They will then and only then, realize what war is, and what invasion means, and they are not made of the stuff that can "stick it."

It is for us to back up our faith and our ideals, for democracy is now on trial. Is it to be "Right is Might" or "Might is Right?"

Concluding an arraignment of Germany because of her treatment of prisoners of war, the London Daily Telegraph writes: It is not only that the Germans deliberately frustrate every obligation into which they enter, though that is bad enough. But what really appals the conscience of humanity is the innate beastliness, the atrocious and fiendish cruelty of the men with whom we are struggling in this war. The historian of the future will be puzzled to explain how this German race, capable of such action, could ever have been considered a part of civilized Europe. We ourselves can hardly understand the phenomenon, we can only note it as one of the paramount reasons why in this combat of ours, and in this solemn crisis of our fate, we are compelled to say that no truce or peace is possible with Teutonic militarism—the monstrous machine which commits these outrages.

The German character as we know it is due partly to an innate brutality of the race which has always been in evidence, though for diplomatic reasons sometimes carefully concealed; and partly to definite teaching on the part of their philosophers and historians, who have confirmed and fortified the original Teutonic instincts. For what is it that these high priests of Kultur have taught their countrymen? The historians have devoted all their efforts to proving that the German race is superior to all others; the philosophers have lent the weight of their erudition to prove that power means success, and that right is to be interpreted only in terms of might.

German civilization has been wholly based on materialistic foundations, and it is one of the most permanent lessons of history that when a people is solely occupied with aims of crass materialism, all the graces of the spirit, all the tendencies towards mercy and kindness and good-fellowship, are withered and disappear. The report of Mr. Justice Younger's committee is only one proof added to countless others that in dealing with our enemy we must not assume that he is guided by motives in any sense similar to our own. As President Wilson has well said, the only way to deal with him is by "force, the utmost force," in order that a deadly poison may be eradicated from Europe, and a future prepared more consonant with civilized and humanitarian ends.

An Informal Visit

A member of the American Lafayette squadron had to make a precipitate descent and was fortunate enough to come down at a British aerodrome behind the lines, not, however, without mixing up things a bit.

After rescuing himself from the tangle of wires he limped slowly up to a "brass hat."

"Are you the big noise of this joint?" he asked.

"I am the commanding officer, if that has anything to do with it," was the reply.

"Well," said the American, "I just looked in to tell you I have spread the petrol tank on your grass plot."

Where the Passenger Was When He Wasn't

A well-known provincial paper in England makes itself responsible for the following story:

The tramcar was hopelessly overcrowded, and several people, who had achieved the upper deck, were transgressing all regulations by standing.

"Now, then," called out the girl conductor with emphasis, "you can't stand on top."

"Well," said one literalist, smiling blandly as he peered down the steps "we are standing, whether we can or not."

The girl answered nothing, but promptly pressed a button. The car jumped forward, and the literalist involuntarily took a seat on the floor.

"There," said the girl, apparently in complete good humor, quoting the barrister in a famous play, "you think you can, but you can't."—Christian Science Monitor.

Sensible Talk on Water

Have the Cows in Comfortable Quarters Where They Can Drink Whenever They Want to

Professor Propps at the last Nebraska dairymen's convention, stated in a few words some very important truths on the question of supplying the cows in winter time with what water they need and in a way that they will drink it. He said:

"I do not know of anything that will help the flow of milk in the winter so much as to have something to take the chill off the water and to have the cows in comfortable quarters where they can drink whenever they want to. Cows like to be able to drink occasionally and they will not go out in the cold to drink until they are driven to it. I do not know of anything that would help out so much the production of milk as guarding that little point about the kind of water the cows have and where they have to go for it."

In these days of such high-priced feed many of us will spend hundreds of dollars on the feed side and lose hundreds of dollars maybe on the water side. What a manysided question this handling of dairy cows is.

How to Make Potato Butter

Potato butter is recommended by the British ministry of food as a cheap substitute for butter, being made in England at a cost of less than 10 cents per pound, as follows:

"Peel the potatoes and boil until they fall to pieces and become floury. Then rub through a fine sieve into a warmed basin 14 ounces of potatoes and add 2 ounces of butter or margarine and 1 teaspoonful of salt. Stir until smooth and then mold into rolls and keep in a cool place. To make the appearance approvable use butter coloring, and if intended to keep beyond a few days, a butter preservation should be added."

Increased Shipping Facilities

The British admiralty has prepared to provide ships to move all the wheat that Canada will spare. Only 34,000,000 bushels remain on the continent that can be possibly available for export, unless consumption in this country and the United States is very substantially reduced.

Tired Nerves

TIRED out after sewing! What a common experience, whether the work is done by hand or machine. It is not so much on account of the muscular exertion as because of the strain on the eyes.

You feel tired all over, because the nerves are exhausted. The optic nerve, which controls sight, is extremely sensitive, and when in constant use consumes nerve force at a tremendous rate. If the nervous system is not in good, healthy condition this strain is more than you can stand, and you have headaches, and feel all tired out.

Many people feel the same way after a shopping tour, from riding on a train, or doing any work which requires the continued use and focussing of the eyes. Many are wearing glasses when what they really need is a nerve restorative, such as Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, to build up the exhausted nervous system.

By supplying to the tired, wornout nerves the elements from which new nerve force is created Dr. Chase's Nerve Food reconstructs the wasted nerve cells. Headaches, dizzy spells, sleeplessness and tired feelings soon disappear, and you find yourself feeling better in every way.

It is worth your while to give this treatment a thorough trial, for the whole system is benefited, and the results are lasting.

LOST— On July 8th, between section house and Mawson Brothers store, Creston, black folding purse, containing military papers and man-power registration certificate. Reward on leaving same at REVIEW Office.

Mr. and Mrs. T. P. Marshall of McLeod, Alta., were here for a couple of days the fore part of the week. They are looking for a B. C. home, but passed Creston up, as we are a little shy on some features of city life and conveniences.

Tuesday was another quiet day for the local Red Cross, there being no financial intake and but three pairs of socks—from Mesdames A. Smith, Mallandaine and Fraelick—and two suits of pyjamas, from Mesdames Fraelick and Mallandaine.

Creston Valley was favored with a rainfall of about a quarter of an inch via a thunderstorm during the early hours of Wednesday. The moisture is too late to help strawberries much but it is in the nick of time to help the raspberries and garden truck.

J. R. Anderson of Windermere, who last month bought the Lupton place on Victoria Ave., from Lu Yee, arrrived on Friday and they are getting settled in their new home. Mr. Anderson is a carpenter and expects to work at his trade in the Valley.

J. T. Mangan of Fernie was here on his usual monthly visit the fore part of the week. The firm have a small crew cutting posts at Corn Creek and are expecting a barge of cars up from Kootenay Landing any day now to load up about 35,000 of them now ready to ship.

R. B. Masterton, a former principal of Creston school, who taught at Greenwood last term, went through Wednesday to spend the summer at his home in New Brunswick, and was shaking hands with friends at the depot. He will return to Greenwood in September.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Cameron of Cranbrook are spending a few days with the former's parents here at present. They made the trip here by horse and buggy, and claim to have left home at the same time as the C. P. R. way freight and to have arrived in Creston ahead of it.

The board of trade raffle for the grade shorthorn heifer calf was a great success. 205 tickets were sold, and Geo. Mawson was the winner with ticket No. 129. After paying for the critter and the tickets there will be about $80 to turn in to the board's publicity fund.

At Tuesday night's meeting of the board of trade the publicity committee was authorized to proceed with the getting out of a small pamphlet telling of Creslon Valley and the farming possibilities here, a copy of which will be placed in every box of wrapped apples shipped this fall.

FURNITURE FOR SALE—Bedroom suite, sideboard, couch, dining room table and six chairs, rocking chair, three small tables, one single and two large Ostermoor mattresses, heating stove, cook stove, clock, carpets, dishes, quantity of sealers, house plants, and other articles.—Mrs. Jas. Stocks, Creston.

Rev. R. G. Vans of Lavington, in the Okanagan Valley, arrived on Friday anb has taken charge of the Presbyterian Church work here. He reports conditions in part of the Okanagan much worse than here. Not only are they wanting moisture, but last winter many hundreds of fruit trees were frost killed.

Engineer Biker and a couple of the officials of the Water Rights Branch, Victoria, were here yesterday investigating the local water supply with a view to sanctioning or otherwise the request of the Goat Mountain Waterworks Company to raise rates a matter of 25 per cent. The enquiry is proceeding as we go to press.

At the board of trade meeting on Tuesday night Guy Constable was chosen as delegate to the irrigation convention at Nelson the latter part of July. Hon. T. D. Pattillo will be there and the opportunity will be taken advantage of to remind him that early fall is the ideal time to finish up the reclamation survey work.

R. E. Beattie of Cranbrook was a visitor here on Saturday. He states that section is having even less moisture than here in the Valley and that grain and hay crops on St. Mary's prairie will be very light. Due to the partial failure of the prairie crop he is afraid lumbering operations will be greatly curtailed this winter.

The bridge on the K.V. opposite the Benney ranch has been dismantled this week and the square timber and ties are being towed to Duck Creek by launch by Monrad Wigen, who is said to have paid $250 for the structure. The piling is still standing and if it is replanked to keep the piling intact it would not be costly to later rebuild the structure sufficiently good for a trunk road.

During the thunderstorm which prevailed through the Valley on Friday night lightening struck a work bench in front of Hendren's undertaking parlors and had it not been promptly noticed it is likely the building would of gone up in smoke. There was little or no rainfall from the storm in town, though at Canyon City and the country east quite a soaker of a rain came down.

Miss M. Durham, who was here last week writing up the local Red Cross Society and the Valley generally for the Daily Province, Vancouuer, left for Nelson on Friday. She expects the article, which will contain pictures of the Red Cross officers, will appear the early part of August. She was particularly taken with the soldiers' shrine here, the first one she had met in her travels through B.C.

The Gilpin ranch, just beyond the cemetery, changed hands this week, the purchaser being E. C. Gibbs, who will move into the place at the end of the month. There is five acres of land in the property planted to plums, cherries and other tree fruits and is in good bearing shape. As a residential ranch home the place is ideal, there deing a comfortable cottage on the place. Mrs. and Miss Gilpin will likely make an extended visit with Alberta friends before deciding on their future home.

AN APPEAL FOR JUSTICE

EDITOR REVIEW:

SIR,—The annual school meeting takes place to-morrow and I desire to bring to public notice the recent conduct of two of the school trustees, Messrs. Cherrington and Crawford, in dismissing me as Principal of the Creston School, in opposition to the wishes of the parents and the report of the inspectors, and for reasons, as I submit, altogether false and flimsy as to suggest an underhand motive.

Throughout the year the school has run smoothly, and in my own classroom there have been good order and industrious study. There is good reason to think that the pupils have seldom been as well prepared for their examinations as this year, though, of course, there is always an element of fortune in examinations. In my last school, one similar to this, in Manitoba, I had almost the best results in the Province for two successive years. Just as a rancher knows whether his ranch is doing well or not, I know also that all my three classes have done especially well during the year.

Now note the following:

1. Throughout the year the trustees have made no complaints of any kind to me. It is a rule of fairness that if a trustee receive complaidts, which he regards as serious, he should communcate them to the teacher concerned or to the Principal. I question whether there were any serions complaints other than from the Chairman's OWN FAMILY. None were ever breathed to me.

2. Mr. Crawford has never troubled to visit the school and appears to take very little interest in school affairs, and to know nothing of them. Mr. Cherrington has paid three visits to my room of from thrse to five minutes duration, usually about some business matter.

3. The two trustees have acted in direct opposition to the inspectors' reports. Mr. DeLong, the High School Inspector, after watching me teach for a whole afternoon, gave an excellent report. Inspector Calvert inspected the Entrance Class only, but also gave a good report.

4. The third trustee, Mr. Frank Jackson, would not agree to the action of the two others.

5. Shortly after receiving the request to resign I met Mr. Cherrington and asked him to appoint a time when he would state the reasons of dismissal: He put me off, saying he was trustee on one day of the month only—the day of the board meeting. Accordingly I attended the board meeting a fortnight later to hear the explanation. This meeting was one that disgraced the very name of trustee. It was held over the counter of the Creston Mercantile store, and in its proceedings courtesy, dignity and fairness were entirely lacking. The Chairman began by stating that there were other reasons than teaching for which a teacher could be dismissed, but that he would not state any reasons until the annual meeting. How any trustee could honorably refuse I fail to see! However, I produced the School Law and the two trustees found thrmselves compelled to make their statement.

6. Mr. Crawford's reasons: In a blustering speech Mr. Crawford stated that ever since I had been at the school the discipline had been disgraceful and that no good had been done. When pressed to particularize he said it was in my room, "the boys there." When I informed him that there were only three boys there he said, "Look at that row in the spring when three or four boys were expelled." I pointed out that it was right to stop smoking at the school, and that no boys were expelled. Every statement he made was false, but this made no difference to Mr. Crawford. At last he wound up with, "You're fired, and you can get out." In face of my protests he calmly asserted that justice had nothing to do with the matter since trustees had the power to appoint and dismiss teachers and that he did not care for 40,000 ratepayers.

7. Mr. Cherrington's reason's were only trivial. I will mention two of them: Once, he said, he had visited and seen two girls cheating at the blackboard. Another time I had told him that his daughters could not write good composition and, he said, that thereby I was asking him as a parent to teach his girls composition in the evenings! He made other trivial complaints which to have been mentioned at all should have been made at the time. What a magnifying power the chairman has when he wants to dismiss a teacher!

8. The Parents' Petition for my reinstatement was next handed in. It was perfectly courteous, strongly worded and almost unanimous expressing the general feeling of the parents of the children in my room. Yet the two trustees slighted it, considering their own opinions, based at utmost, I believe, on the grumbles or tattle of three children, to be of greater weight. When I left the meeting I felt convinced that I was facing one thing only: not reason, not fairness, not even argument, but only—malice

Under the circumstances I have refused to resign. It seems likely that these two gentlemen from their past success in dismissing teachers think no more of dismissing them than of cutting off a yard of cloth or a pound of cheese. They seem entirely callous of the feelings of the teachers and not to know the injury they do them. Yet it is a grave injury to a teacher to be dismissed after a year's service, and before doing this injury trustees are bound to investigate and consider; also, they are bound to give the teacher a fair nearing.

Is it right that future teachers should serve under men who may act Messrs. Crawford and Cherrington have done. Respectfully I appeal from their verdict to that of the ladies and gentlemen who will attend the annual meeting. Yours truly,

CHARLES BROUSSON.
