VOL. XI. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, JULY 4, 1919 No. 21

Propose Adding Another Room

If there is anything to the saying that when you touch a man's pocket-book you start him thinking in a hurry, the 1919 annual meeting of the Creston School District on Saturday, July 12th, should attract a very large attendance.

As will have been noted by reports of board proceedings, as well as figures furnished in the monthly reports, Creston school is right now overcrowded, and the department, through the inspector, urges that something be done forthwith to provide more accommodation.

The trustees at a special meeting on Friday night decided to submit three schemes for consideration to overcome the difficulty. The first is to erect a new building on the present school grounds which would be utilized solely for high school puaposes, as well as furnish a room that would be available for manual training, domestic science, or any other effort where such a room would be desirable. The second proposal is to enlarge the present school building, and the third is to rent a building suitable.

As we understand the situation the department is agreeable to raising the Creston school to the status of a high school, thus making it unnecessary for scholars to go elsewhere to take their final-year high school work.

But while the department is agreeable to wajving certain regulations that have hitherto confined high schools to organized municipalities, in the way of assistance it will only consent to paying the usual allowance to the extra teacher a new room will necessitate, and the furnishing without cost of the necessary equipment, although correspondence is still passing urging better terms.

All of which gets us round to the point that this year's annual school session will be called upon to vote enough money to provide for the extra room as per one of the three suggested plans, as well as the stipend of a fifth instructor of the young idea, on top of the usual $3500 or thereabouts formerly required.

Since the first of the year the average enrollment in the three lower rooms at the school has not been less than 40 pupils, and certainly the prospect for the coming term is for an increase rather than a falling off in attendance—an increase that it is extremely doubtful that the size of the present classrooms would accommodate were the necessary seats available, leaving entirely aside the question as to how many pupils a teacher could do justice to.

Were the full-fledged high school available it is possible the other Valley school districts might vote some part of their revenue toward it, but so far as we can learn no such promise has been made, and in considering the matter the ratepayers in the Creston school district must be prepared to temporarily, at any rate, bear the whole increased school-cost burden.

Kitchener

Mr. and Mrs. W. Johnson and family were auto visitors at Creston on Sunday.

Mr. Howard, who is now employed at the mill at Yahk, spent a few days at his home here last week.

Miss Blanche Hendren of Creston was a visitor with Mrs. Spiers between trains on Tuesday.

A. Anderson of Creston, who has been working here on the annex to the hotel, left for home on Sunday. The addition houses the poolroom and provides two additional bedrooms.

Mr. Begg, who had the bad luck to break his leg the early part of the winter, and has since been a patient at the Cranbrook hospital, returned to Kitchener last week, and has resumed his work with the Sash & Door Co.

Mrs. J. Wilson of St. Catharines, Ont., arrived a few days ago on a visit to her sister, Mrs. G. A. Hunt.

Provincial police Vachon paid Kitchener his usual official visit on Wednesday last, and spent a few hours sampling the fishing before returning the following day.

Scott Price is helping swell the C.P.R. dividends these days. He was at Kaslo the early part of last week, and on Friday pulled out for Spokane.

E. McGonegal, who had a bone in his arm broken in the ball game at Creston a couple of weeks ago, is having his injured wing attended by Dr. Green at Cranbrook, and it will be at least another month before he can get back to work.

Messrs. Ebbutt and Young, who have been doing development work on some claims here for the past few weeks, spent a few days at Creston. We understand they have uncovered quite a show of iron ore, the vein having a width of 30 feet at points.

School closed for the summer holidays on Friday last, and the teacher Miss Z. Johnson, has returned to her home at Creston. Those winning honor rolls this term were Edith Geroux for punctuality and regularity; Annie Olson for deportment, and Louis Brown for proficiency.

School closed for the summer vacation on Friday last, and the rate payers will meet for the annual school district business session on Saturday evening of next week.

Erickson

Erickson came back strong at baseball in the Dominion Day game at Creston on Tuesday afternoon, winning without exerting themselves by a margin of 16 to 9.

The telephone has just been installed at the residence of R. Dodds, and several more are having them put in as soon as the company can get the instruments for installation.

Miss Melva Cartwright arrived from Cranbrook on Sunday to spend part of the summer vacation at her home here. She is accompanied by Dorothy McKowan.

Smith brothers of Bellvue, Alta., who recently purchased a couple of five acre lots here, have the material on the ground and are starting the erection of their residence this week.

Express shipping at Erickson still holds up to about an average of 75 crates a day, and despite the dry spell there is about 15 or 20 crates of strawberries amongst them. Raspberries started moving on June 30th, R Dodds being the first to have these. Nowadays about half a dozen crates are moving. Both sour and sweet cherries are noticeable, and there is no let-up to the gooseberries.

Parents are congratulating the school trustees in securing Miss Jeanne Palmer to take the Erickson school for another year. She has been given a generous increase in salary, her next year's stipend being just under $1200.

The interesting feature of the school closing exercises on Friday was the presentation of honor rolls for the term, the winners of these being Robert Long for proficiency, Richard Penson for regularity and punctuality and Clarence Staples for deportment. The school report for June shows an enrollment of 25, and an average attendance of 21. Those making perfect attendance were Aubrey, Molly and Lyle Komp, Robert and Walter Dodds Richard Penson and Walter Long.

W. V. Jackson yesterday took delivery of a new fifth model Cleveland tractor, which will replace the second-hand Cleveland he has been using this season. The new machine is the very latest thing in tractor construction and of 24 horsepower capacity. His investment in the new machine would indicate that tractors are a good investment. After the middle of the month the Jackson machine and outfit will be available for ploughing, etc., for neighboring ranches at a very reasonable rental charge per day.

The Truscott ranch of 6¼ acres changed hands on Saturday, the buyer being Geo. Cotterill, who gets possession immediately. While the purchase price is not made public it is known to be a most attractive one, partly due to the fact that the place is alongside the Chas. Cotterill place, and the two brothers will work together. There are five acres of trees, and the balance in small fruits. Truscott boys are building on the 20 acres lately purchased from R. Lamont, and will move there to reside shortly.

Canyon City

Lieut. Rice, who is in charge of the surveying for the land settlement board land clearing operations here, has leased the Hickey house from Alfred Spencer, and will be moving into it in a few days.

The sawmill commeneed cutting on Monday, and everything running in fine shape. There is at least a two month's cut of logs in the yard, and more of them coming in every day.

I. N. Rhodes, who was working at the mill at Fort Steele, which was burned the latter part of June, is back again at his old job at scaling at the mill here.

Strawberry shipping ceased at this point the latter part of the week. The crop is the lightest on record. Gooseberries are still moving and the biggest ever crop of raspberrries is coming along nicely.

We have it on good authority that road boss Harris is finishing up all needed road repairs in other parts of the Valley so as to be able to make an early start at the approaches to the new high level bridge and stay on the job until finished.

Con. Hall has taken the contract to clear four acres on the North ranch recently purchased by Mr. Jenner of Blairmore.

The land settlement board crew commenced their building and clearing operations near old Camp 5 and are putting in a number of buildings that certainly indicate that they are here to stay, and that the men employed will have the very best of accommodation.

Mrs. Hodnet and two children left on Sunday for her home at the coast, going via Spokane. So far as we can learn her work has given the very best of satisfaction, and the regret is general that she will not be returning. For the year the school had an average attendance of at least 30.

Canyon City is beginning to look like old times again. Mert. McCullough is again residing here, moving back with his wife and family last week.

School closed for the summer holidays on Friday last and the following are the winners of the 1919 honor rolls: Proficiency, Katherine Clayton; deportment, Nissie McRobb; regularity and punctuality, Elmer Chambers. Promotions for the term are as follows: To Junior 4th on trial, Nissie McRobb. To Second Reader, Billy Clayton. To First Reader, Ruth Clayton, Helen McRobb. To Second Primer, Lottie Chambers, Eva Weatherhead. The enrollment for the year averaged 35 pupils.

May & Ockey of Cardston, who had a deal on for 160 acres at the Yale about the time the Company sold to the land settlement board, were advised on Saturday that the government would complete the sale of this tract to them. Mr. May secured an outfit in town, and with a team hired from McCreath's livery is now busy on the place.

Saffron Petroschuk, who recently sold his place to C. Nelson, is at present occupying the house on the Major Burritt ranch.

Value of C.P.R. Land Grant

Misconceptions of the Value of Subsidies Given the C.P.R.

The Montreal Gazette, in discussing the value of the original land grant to the C.P.R., says in part:

In discussion of the railway problem in Canada the traditional misconception of the value of subsidies given the Canadian Pacific Railway persists. At the recent meeting of Grand Trunk shareholders in London, the chairman, Mr. Smithers, more than once alluded to three subsidies as having a value of $350,000,000, and the Toronto Globe, distorting facts and presenting half-truths, thus comments:

"Where did the Canadian Pacific get this princely heritage of land, greater in extent than some of the European kingdoms, for the possession of which the great war was fought? From the people of Canada, as a free gift, to enable the company, by providing cheap and adequate railway service to open up the West for settlement. And have the proceeds of this vast land grant been devoted to the intended purpose?

"Let us look the situation squarely in the face. As a railway living on its own earnings the Canadian Pacific might be able to pay six per cent. a year upon the capital actually invested in it by its shareholders. As the most richly-dowered corporation on earth, by drawing upon its vast landed estate, it actually pays ten per cent.

"Almost all of this vast landed estate came to the Canadian Pacific from the people of Canada without the payment of a dollar, either in acquiring title or in taxation, during the long period in which the land was growing, acquiring value from the labors of the early settlers, who proved its worth."

The Canadian Pacific did not receive a single acre of land from the people of Canada as a free gift; to assert otherwise is a misnomer of facts. The railway company acquired the lands as a matter of contract, and came into possession of the lands as the contract was fulfilled. The Government, representing the people, desired the construction of a transcontinental railway, partly in fulfilment of the terms upon which British Columbia entered confederation, partly for the settlement of the northwest, and partly to [illegible] the union. The government, therefore, entered into a bargain with a syndicate of gentlemen of wealth, patriotism and enterprise, to construct a railway from Montreal to [illegible] the work in cash, in land and in two periods, half a dozen of the best years of the road nor the [illegible] land were [illegible] in the [illegible] place, [illegible] It was proposed [illegible] to be [illegible] and [illegible] been performed no payment would have been made. It was no more a free gift than is the money a merchant pays a contractor for the erection of a warehouse. The Globe prates about the princely heritage of land possessed by the Canadian Pacific. Who gave it value? The government? No! Its value was created by the company, by large expenditure of money, by promoting settlement, by fulfilment of its contract. Before the steel was laid across the prairies the land was not worth ten cents an acre, because inaccessible for commercial purposes. Even in 1885, after the rails had been laid, the government did not place a higher price upon the land than $1.50 per acre, which figure was deemed excessive by the Globe and its political friends.

One would infer from some of the criticisms that the whole Canadian Pacific system was promoted, paid for, and handed over to the company by the people of Canada; that the earnings of the company belong, at least in large measure, to the people, and that the great prosperity of the enterprise should be censured rather than commended. What is the fact? The price the government paid for the railway is insignificant when contrasted with the amount invested by debenture and shareholders. The railway was considered by investors so poor a proposition, even with its "princely heritage" of land, that the original share issue of $65,000,000 realized only 46 per cent. of face value, and at one time these shares were offered on the stock exchange at 33, with few buyers.

If today the lands of the company have large value, that value has been given them by the company. When the lands were handed over by the government for full value received, and much more than full value, indeed, they were practically worthless; and when these lands are appraised as a subvention or purchase payment, they should be appraised at their value in 1880, when the contract for the building of the railway was made, not at the value given them in 1919 by the enterprise, expenditure and able management of the company.

Heart Palpitated
Could Count Every Beat

When the heart begins to palpitate, it will beat fast for several seconds, then slow, then start to flutter, and a feeling of utter depression will come over your whole system, accompanied by weak, fainting and dizzy spells.

When the heart gets into this condition, you become weak, worn and miserable, and are unable to attend to either social, business or household duties.

Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills will give prompt and permanent relief to all sufferers from any heart weakness or nerve derangements.

Mrs. Walter Greives, Apsley, Ont., writes:—"I had been run down, and doctors told me I was anaemic, but did not help me with their medicines. I could not sleep nights, my heart palpitated so, and I could count every beat.

I used to have such dizzy spells I would have to go to bed. I was not able to do any work for eight months. A cousin of mine had taken Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills and told me what they had done for her. I took eight boxes of them, and now I am able to help every day with the work. I am so thankful to tell others what they have done for me, so that they may try this great and wonderful remedy. I hope this may prove good to someone who is suffering the way I did."

Bush Fires in Rainy Lake District

Between Virginia and International Falls Gangs Are Out

St. Paul, Minn.—Several bad fires were reported to State Forester W. T. Cox. Heavy rain is necessary to put out the flames, although all are reported "under control." Rangers' reports say fires are making "acute situation."

Several square miles of valuable timber were burned northeast of Manitrap Lake. More than 100 men of Virginia and Rainy Lake Lumber Co. are combating the fire between Virginia and International Falls, and other fires are raging between Vermillion and Rainy Lakes. The most serious is on Vermillion River.

Judge Wants Power To Deport Aliens

Ontario Chief Justice Says Present Machinery Utterly Insufficient

Toronto. — In its presentment to Chief Justice Sir William Mulock, the Grand Jury at the Assizes reported that the majority of cases it had been called on to deal with had been of a serious nature: murder, attempted murder, and manslaughter. "We have been impressed by the fact," the presentment read, "that the foreign elements contributed largely to these serious cases, and this grand jury endorses any legislation to limit the influx of foreigners to this country. It is the opinion of this grand jury that any steps taken towards the deportation of these undesirables now within the country would be greatly in the interests of the country at large."

Sir William remarked that the machinery for deportation was utterly insufficient, and added that he did not see why there should be any statute limitations. Every court, he thought, should have the right to try and deport aliens. Some aliens came to the country, remained quiet for a time, but eventually their early environment reasserted itself.

The cereal crops of the United States were worth over $7,000,000,000 to the farmers who raised them in 1918.

Never Troubled With Headache

This Relief From Suffering Fully Appreciated by the Writer of This Letter — Tells Others How Cure Was Effected

South Fork, Sask., June 9. — Mrs. Letts, of this place, has a happy experience to relate. She suffered terribly with headaches, but headache medicines never seemed to help her.

The trouble came from torpid, sluggish action of the liver, kidneys and bowels, and when this condition was overcome by the use of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, the headaches disappeared, and Mrs. Letts felt that her health was greatly benefited.

Mrs. A. F. Letts, South Fork, Sask., writes:

"I suffered from terrible headaches, so severe I thought sometimes I would go crazy from them. No remedy I ever tried helped me until I used Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. Since using these I can say I am never troubled with headaches now, and feel much better generally."

This statement is endorsed by Mr. O. P. Cole, Postmaster at South Fork, Sask.

Mrs. F. L. Harris, Keatley P.O., Sask., writes:

"I was suffering from liver trouble—had a heavy pain under one shoulder-blade all the time, and was nearly as black as dirt around the eyes, so I concluded to try some of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. I did so, and before I had taken one 25c box the pain had left me, and I commenced to gain in flesh, and by the time I had taken two boxes I was completely cured and felt like a new person. My trouble was caused by heavy work out of doors, and, of course, heavy eating, and constipation. I would advise anyone suffering from Kidney or Liver trouble to give Dr. Chase's Pills a trial."

Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills, one pill a dose, 25c a box, at all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Limited, Toronto. Refuse substitutes. The genuine bears the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., on the label.

Wins 20,000 Francs

For being the first aviator to successfully land his plane on the roof of a building, J. Vedrines, noted French flier, was awarded a prize of 20,000 francs. Vedrines landed on the top of the Galeries Fayette, Paris, an area about 45 x 80 feet. Additional credit for this remarkable achievement is given him because the spread of his planes was only a little less than the width of the roof.

For Preserving Thousands of the best housekeepers have discovered that using half sugar and half Lily White Corn Syrup makes preserving more uniformly successful.

To start with, the consistency is bound to be just right from the very nature of the syrup; there is no danger of the preserves crystallizing; the syrup brings out the natural flavour of the fruit; the keeping quality is excellent and the preserves do not have the cloying sweetness of all sugar.

Armenia's Claims For Independence

President of Delegation at Peace Conference Summarizes Events

New York, N.Y.—Armenia's case for independence was stated in full by Avetis Aharonian, president of the Armenian delegation at the peace conference, in the memorandum he presented to the conference some time ago, a copy of which has now been made available to this office. The memorandum, which summarizes the series of events in northern Armenia which culminated in the establishment of the Republic of Armenia, concludes as follows:

"It is this republic, whose government and parliament sit in its capital, at Erivan, which has delegated us as its representatives to the peace conference, and has charged us to submit to it the following:

"1. Russia, in abandoning the Armenians to their lot, in spite of their prayers, in bequeathing to them a war which it was manifestly beyond their power to carry on; in handing over to Turkey by the treaty of Brest-Litovsk, without even consulting them, the Armenian provinces of the Caucasus, Kars, Ardahan, and Kaghisman, thereby causing incalculable injury to hundreds of thousands of Armenians, has, by these very acts and of her own free will, broken for ever all ties existing between Russia and Armenia.

"2. The Republic of Armenia, accordingly, believes itself justified in demanding the immediate recognition of its independence, which has been merited and won upon the field of battle, and which the success of its arms has obliged even its enemies to recognize.

"3. Taking into consideration this war, which Armenia has waged all alone for the defense of the cause of the allies and the superhuman sacrifices which all the Armenians have made, I have now the honor to claim, in the name of the Armenian nation, the place which Armenia has justly merited at the peace conference, beside Emir Faizal and the representatives of the Zecho-Slovaks, Poles, and Serbs.

"4. The delegation of the Armenian Republic submits that it acts in all its demands and proceedings in perfect accord with the Armenian delegation from Turkey, presided over at Paris by His Excellency Boghos Nubar Pasha."

The first sperm whale found on the Californian coast in forty years was discovered in Monterey Bay by rock cod fishermen, who found the carcass off Point Pinos. The fishermen reported that the whale—which was 65 feet long—had been killed by a species of dolphin called the "killer." Its tongue had been eaten out. The whale was towed in and sold to a local fish company, and ten barrels of oil were obtained from its head.

WOMAN'S NERVES MADE STRONG

By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Winona, Minn.—"I suffered for more than a year from nervousness, and was so bad I could not rest at night—would lie awake and get so nervous I would have to get up and walk around and in the morning would be all tired out. I read about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and thought I would try it. My nervousness soon left me. I sleep well and feel fine in the morning and able to do my work. I gladly recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to make weak nerves strong."—Mrs. ALBERT SULTZE, 603 Olmstead St., Winona, Minn.

How often do we hear the expression among women, "I am so nervous, I cannot sleep," or "it seems as though I should fly." Such women should profit by Mrs. Sultze's experience and give this famous root and herb remedy, Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, a trial.

For forty years it has been overcoming such serious conditions as displacements, inflammation, ulceration, irregularities, periodic pains, backache, dizziness, and nervous prostration of women, and is now considered the standard remedy for such ailments.

A GRAND MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES

Mrs. Avila Noel, Haut Lameque, N. B., writes: "I can highly recommend Baby's Own Tablets as they have worked wonders in the case of my baby. The Tablets are a mild but thorough laxative which regulate the bowels and stomach, thereby banishing constipation, colic, indigestion and a host of other minor ailments of little ones. The Tablets are absolutely guaranteed to be free from opiates or narcotics or any of the other drugs so harmful to the welfare of the baby. They cannot possibly do harm—they always do good. Biggest Saloon Closed

Average Daily Bank Deposits Have Been $5,000

At Bridgeport, Ohio, the biggest saloon in the world went out of business when Ohio became dry under an amendment to the state constitution. This saloon is located in a city of 4,200 inhabitants, just across the Ohio river from Wheeling, W. Va. It was owned and operated by Sam Ungerleider. It employed 77 bartenders and clerks and had 216 feet of bar. For the last year or two its average daily bank deposits have been $5,000, or $1,825,000 a year. It has made Bridgeport famous in the Ohio valley.

Mr. Ungerleider is 36 years old and is a millionaire. He says he never smoked or drank intoxicating liquor. He estimates that since 1915 approximately 20,000 drinks a day have been sold over his bar. He also asserts there has never been a fight in his saloon. He attributes this largely to the fact that he would not sell to a drunken man or a minor.

Rhine Republic Is Not Unanimous

Berlin.—The inhabitants of Mayence and Weisbaden began a 24-hour strike in protest against the attempted coup in proclaiming an independent Palatinate republic. It is also reported that pro-German Palatinatists at Mannheim declared a general strike and that the inhabitants of the Palatinate, notwithstanding threats by the French of court-martial, everywhere are tearing down the posters proclaiming the republic.

SUFFERING CATS! GIVE THIS MAN THE GOLD MEDAL

Let folks step on your feet hereafter; wear shoes a size smaller if you like; for corns will never again send electric sparks of pain through you, according to this Cincinnati authority.

He says that a few drops of a drug called freezone, applied directly upon a tender, aching corn, instantly relieves soreness, and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts right out.

This drug is a sticky ether compound, but dries at once and simply shrivels up the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue.

It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone obtained at any drug store will cost very little, but is sufficient to remove every hard or soft corn or callus from one's feet. Cut this out, especially if you are a woman reader who wears high heels.

Reds Pillaged Riga

In the Various Prisons, Sixteen Hundred Hostages Were Found

Paris.—The Bolshevik, before they retired from Riga, shot thirty persons in the central prison there, according to official reports received by the American peace delegates. The anti-Bolshevik troops captured Riga with slight fighting, surprising the Bolshevik, who fled hastily.

All the stores and homes of the well-to-do were pillaged by the Bolshevik and most of the bourgeoise were compelled to leave the city before it fell. The material damage to the city was slight. In the various prisons, sixteen hundred hostages were found. The reports describe them as being in a state of unspeakable misery and starvation when they were released.

Held Empire Day Service

London, England. — Empire Day was celebrated by a memorial service for the overseas forces, at Westminster Abbey, at which the King and Queen with other members of the royal family and representatives of the allied nations, British colonies and army and navy were present. The keenly anticipated American march was unavoidably postponed, public military ceremonies being conspicuous by their absence. Buildings were decorated with flags and the occasion was celebrated in a fitting fashion in the schools.

Swedish Government Asks For Plebiscite

To Determine Nationality of Aland Islands

Paris, France. The Swedish Government has sent the peace conference a note asking that a plebiscite be taken as soon as possible to determine the nationality of the Aland Islands, lying between Sweden and Finland, at the entrance to the Gulf of Bothnia. The note reads:

"The Royal Government feels that it must insist upon the conference taking into consideration as soon as possible the question of the rights of the population of the Aland Islands to decide by a plebiscite, carried out with the necessary guarantees, whether the archipelago is to belong to Sweden or to Finland.

"The Royal Government presumes that on account of the principles expressed at the peace conference, Sweden will be allowed to take part in the discussion of this question. It is needless to add that the Royal Government greatly wishes that if the plebiscite gives the islands to Sweden, measures shall be taken to prevent the construction of military buildings in the archipelago, and also to prevent attacks on the archipelago by another power."

THE CRESTON REVIEW

Issued every Friday at Creston, B.C. Subscription: $2 a year in advance; $2.50 to U.S. points.

C. F. HAYES, Editor and Owner

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, JULY 4

The Site Beautiful

A convincing argument in favor of THE REVIEW'S contention that the soldier's memorial should be erected on the Wilson Avenue site, next the drugstore, was furnished this week when a member of the veterans enquired as to what ladies and others were doing toward keeping the present tablet suitably decorated with flowers.

As compared with a year ago the paueity of flowers placed on the wooden memorial was readily noticed, and can be accounted for in no other way than that, following the usual bent of human nature, folks are beginning to lose interest in an undertaking that certainly deserves greater consideration. If this state of affairs is in evidence before peace is actually signed it does not require a prophet to forsee what is to happen as the months and the years roll into eternity.

And all the individual exhortations, no matter what form they take, will not remedy affairs. Its the old story of everybody's business being nobody's business. Individual members of the G.W.V.A. are doing what they can to keep up appearances in this line, but not enough of their membership so situated as to be able to lend a helping hand.

To get away from this undesirable state of affairs in connection with the new monument it is at once evident that a site must be chosen that will provide room and lend itself as admirably as may be to permanent decorative effect in the way of growing flowers, shrubs, etc., that will give quite the desired artistic setting with the minimum of effort and expense.

For this purpose the Wilson Avenue lot has nothing to rival it in town. The buildings on either side can be grown up with flowering vines such as the wisteria, climatis, morning glory, etc., while the lattice fence at the back would look admirable trained up with sweet peas, golden glow, or a climbing rose or two. While in nicely arranged plots on either side and in front of the pillar nicely arranged rows of tulips, naricissus, daffodils for the early season flowering, and the always welcome asters, gladiolas, dahlias, Canterbury bells, and a host of others to select from that would keep up the flowering effect until almost snowfall.

Yes, it will take some effort and some money to look after such a plot from year to year but the good work could be passed around say from board of trade next year to the Women's Institute in 1921, thence to one of the lodges, thence to the school children and following them the ladies' aid of the union church that should be with us at no distant date, to say nothing of several other organizations that are sure to come into existence in a centre like Creston is destined to be.

There need be no worry about the unkeep cost in any event. We have a number of amateur gardeners that would be glad to take on the work, and in such a good cause the passing of the hat once a year and a couple of winst drives and a dance or two ought to bring forth revenue enough and to spare. Whatever is decided upon in the way of monument location it is to be hoped the committee will not plan as for the Creston of to day. The place is just at the threshold of its greatness and as good as go [illegible] this fact should not be lost sight of.

Let us Rent

To erect a seperate building, enlarge the present structure, or rent temporary quarters; these three propositions will be submitted to the ratepayers at the annual school meeting on Saturday evening of next week to cope with the matter of more accomadation for the increasing school attendance.

Of the three THE REVIEW believes that the wise thing to do will be to rent if anything approximating suitable quarters can be had at somewhere near a reasonable rental. Present building costs—both as to material and labor—are abnormal, at least to some extent, and if to this we add the salary the extra teacher that is going to be required, the high cost of living will have nothing on the high cost of school education in these parts.

However, far be it from THE REVIEW to oppose a new building on the score of expense; the best educational facilities are none too good for the Valley. Our reason for advocating a policy of making haste slowly is on the score of building both wisely and well in view of future devolopment—the scale of which is for the present obscured

To our way of thinking this is only the first instalment of the demand for increased accommodation at Creston, and that the town school's experience in this regard is but one of a family of like needs that will very shortly be manifest at some other spots in the Valley. Such being the case it would seem well to put up with a little temporary inconvenience if need be until the situation sufficiently develops to handle it intelligently.

In a compact area like the Creston Valley there should never be many schools, but rather one good school. New settlers are coming in all over the Valley and will shortly add new centres of population. Existing schools can not be moved, and wherever it can be possibly avoided the opinion is fairly general that the one-room school should not be encouraged.

The solution is the consolidated school, and the logical location for such a seat of learning is undoubtedly Creston. With the not-remote possibility of the establishment of a central school here, and a prospective development within the confines of the school district itself, THE REVIEW reiterates the opinion in the way of providing new buildings the present policy of the trustees should be one of watchful waiting. Even the immediate future is fraught with possibilities that it is as yet too early to forsee much less intelligently prepare for in consideration with which any inconvenience that may be temporarily experienced is dwarfed even to obscurity.

Unionists Out of Luck

As forshadowing what is likely to happen at the national Liberal convention at Ottawa next month, a meeting of representatives of the Ontario Liberal party at Toronto on Thursday is significant.

When the former Ontario Liberal leader, N. W. Rowell, joined up with the Unionist cabinet about two years ago, William Proudfoot was elected temporarily to the opposition leadership in that province with the understanding that a permanent leader would be chosen at a convention to be held before the next Ontario election.

At the convention last week out of a vote of over 300 delegates Mr. Proudfoot polled less than 35 votes, the mantle of leadership eventually falling on H. H. Dewart, a pronounced anti-Unionist. D. D. MacKenzie, the temporary Dominion leader, was among those present, and the tone of his remarks were undoubtedly that no Liberal Unionist need aspire to go up higher in straight Liberol party preferment.

All the signs point to a similar state of affairs existing at the Ottawa conclave in early August. Just at present thoese who stayed with Laurier in his unwise win-the-war policy are not holding out the olive branch to ambitious Liberal Unionists who may be wavering in their loyalty to Unionism as we have it at Ottawa. Unconditional surrender with no guarantees as to future consideration is all that can be hoped for by those who would return to the fold.

About the only thing that can prevent the Ontario convention policy being re-enacted at Ottawa is the attitude of the Liberal Unionist press, which in turn must perforce play safe until the proposed reorganization of the present Unionist government is effected and a permanent Unionist policy laid down.

If this takes place before the big Liberal get together the sailing will be quite smooth. In his remarks at Toronto while Mr. MacKenzie was none too considerate of the members who had bolted the party, he was circumspection itself when pressed to say something regarding the newspapers that had embraced Unionism in such wholesale fashion.

While the temper of those in control of the party machinery would seem to be to take a chance without the Liberal Unionists the fact that they are not sure of the old-time newspaper support may produce the conciliatory attitude so essential if the Liberal party is to again become the factor in shaping Canada's destiny that its founders intended it should be. A cause that is not big enough and broad enough to enunciate a policy and select a leader that is acceptable to its one-time journalistic friends could hardly expect to proselytize successfully amongst the not less wary of the Canadian people, much less win the support of those who temporarily quit the party due to the opinions expressed by their favorite party paper.

Wise and Otherwise

Cranbrook is now blessed with two newspapers. The second journalistic venture is the Courier, which made its appearance last week. L. P. Sullivan, well-known in Kootenay newspaper circles, is in charge and announces that his aim will be to publish a live paper that will serve the interests of that vast section of East Kootenay that feels the need of the timely assistance a representative newspaper can render. Gotten out under the usual first-issue rush the Courier just to hand is quite creditable, though by no means a sample of the Courier that THE REVIEW feels certain will shortly develop. With the extensive territory the Courier aspires to serve one can safely say there is plenty of room for the newcomer, and one can as confidently remark that if "Sully" gets the right sort of support he will produce a paper his chosen field will have good reason to be proud of. Sullivan writes well, know news when he runs across it, and is a 24-hour a day man seven days a week if that be necessary to get and publish the news while it is news. With these essential qualifications, plus a reasonable amount of initial working capital, the Courier's success is assured. THE REVIEW extends the right hand of fellowship, and with it best wishes for long, useful and prosperous life.

The Gazette says the closing of the Granby smelter in that town will not be the severe blow outsiders imagine. Of late less than 100 men have been employed in the policy department [illegible] on the payroll.

Mr. and Mrs. Loasby had another overseas visitor with them the latter part of June in Sergt. McClenaghan of Ottawa, the former's nephew. After a few days at Sirdar he left on a trip ta the coast via Spokane and Seattle, after which he returns to Ottawa. He had almost four years in khaki, being wounded once.

Mayor Daly was a passenger east again on Tuesday. We hear he was bound for Cranbrook where Jae Jackson has just got in the first of a supply of self-refrigerating neckwear. Between the hot weather and the political situation warming up the mayor will welcome anything that tends to keep him from getting hot under the collar.

Mr. and Mrs. Sid McCabe have gone to Wallace, Idaho, where they propose to spend the next few weeks visiting friends. Sid has never felt himself since he had the bad attack of flu last fall, nnd all hope the well-deserved holiday will send him back as well as ever. Soldier Settlement Board Investigate

The Creston Valley was given a very thorough look-over by B. E. Paterson and R. G. L. Clarke, provincial representatives on the Soldier Land Settlement Board, whose sole duty is to investigate every likely settlement area in B.C. and report on economic, agricultural, climatic and social conditions as they find them.

The latter gentleman is well known here, being the chief Dominion fruit inspector for British Columbia, in consequence of which investigation proceedings were considerably simplified here. These gentlemen started on this work in March, the Okanagan and the coast sections being first visited, so that they are now in the last lap of their provincial tour. They came here from the east where they had been investigating the Windermere country and the area around Cranbrook.

Both gentlemen were much taken with the Valley, and are recommending it highly to landseekers who are desirous of going into fruit growing, with the usual couple of cows, pigs and chickens on the side. Both have the utmost confidence in markets developing to absorb any increased production that may take place in fruit for many years to come.

While the mission of the visitors is solely for the purpose of gathering information as to the possibilities of the Valley, said information to be kept at the soldier settlement board office at Vancouver, so that men wishing to take up land can get authentic information on each of the various districts they favored THE REVIEW with some information as to the loans the board makes that will be of considerable interest.

In the first place the board selects its prospective settlers with care. Men with previous farming experience are about the only ones it encourages to tackle agriculture. Before a landseeker will receive any consideration he must have at least 10 per cent. of the purchase price of any tract he selects to buy. If he has that the board will pay outright the remaining 90 per cent. to the party selling and take title to the property, giving the settler 25 years to repay the board, with interest at 5 per cent. A loan of $1000 may be had on the same terms for buildings. $2000 is also available wherewith to buy stock, seed and implements and neither principal or interest is asked on this for the first two years, but a payment must be made at the end of the third year, and the whole of the $2000 and interest repaid at the end of seven years.

In connection with both stock and implements the board's policy will be to buy these in quantities wherever sufficient soldiers locate in an area to make this policy feasible. In this connection, too, the board will make every effort to have each section where stock can be distributed in this fashion to specialize in two or three breeds of cattle, and also standardize the buying in the matter of implements.

Mr. Paterson informs that since they have been on their tour almost 1000 soldiers have secured loans and are now, in most cases, already at work on their farms. To date the greater preference has been shown for the Fraser Valley country between Vancouver and Chilliwack, on both sides of the river.

Speaking of the area at Canyon City now in the process of clearing Mr. Paterson stated that if the cost of this land when it is available to the soldiers partially cleared is in proportion to the other Valley lands in a similar state of development, and sufficient soldiers want to settle on it, the Dominion settlement officials will be prepared to buy up the whole tract, pay spot cash for it—less the $500 bonus the province gives, and the 10 per cent the soldier settler must be possessed with.

For the work they have in hand Messrs. Paterson and Clarke seem to be well qualified. They strike the happy medium between the over-optimist and the semi-pessimist to a nicety. Undoubtedly the Creston Valley will get a favorable report at their hands, though their coming at a time when all hands are wishing for rain it is more than likely that any report they make will include a recommendation for irrigation.

Mr. Stace Smith, who has been a patient at the Nelson hospital for the past few weeks, arrived home again on Monday, somewhat improved in health, and all are hoping the improvement will continue until we have him around again in his usual health.

School closed for the vacation on Friday. The trustees are looking for a new teacher, Miss Arrowsmith having tendered her resignation as principal some weeks ago.

Shipping at the Smith crossing is running between 40 and 60 crates a day, and mostly strawberries, but the end of these are in sight. The three-week dry spell has put most patches out of business.

Alice Siding was invaded by the Presbyterian Sunday school children, staff and parents on Tuesday for their annual picnic, which was held near the Reed & Mather ranch. The spot selected was a good one, and the youngsters had a very large time.

Through this section the June drop in the orchards has not been at all serious and with July now under way it looks safe to predict that a whole lot of hand thinnidg will have to be done.

Friday was a great day at the Alice Siding school. Besides being time to close up for the summer the occasion also witnessed the handing out of the year honor rolls. For this term these were won by Everard Constable for regularity and punctuality. Wilfrid Mason for proficiency, and Rudolph Carr for deportment. Promotions to take effect next term are as follows: To Entrance class, Wilfrid Mason, Roy Pease. To Junior Fourth, Rudolph Carr. To Senior Third, William Veness. To Second Reader, Bessie Mathews, Bertell Carr, Joseph Miller, Will McCoach. To First Reader, Everard Constable.

The Winnipeg Strike

The attention of all Canada is focussed on the city of Winnipeg, which since May 15 has been in the throes of the greatest industrial strike ever known in the history of this Dominion. The strike had its origin ostensibly in the failure of the metal trades employers to recognize the metal trades council, representing the metal trades workers, and, in order to assist these workers in their fight for recognition, a general sympathetic strike of all workers in Winnipeg was called by the Winnipeg Trades and Labor Council.

The claim of the strike leaders is, therefore, that they are fighting for recognition of the right of labor to organize, to engage in collective bargaining, and for a living wage for all workers. But their actions belie their words.

The right of labor to organize in craft unions, to engage in collective bargaining as it has always been understood in the past through such unions, and to a living wage, is not denied nor challenged. On the contrary, it is frankly and openly admitted.

But certain revolutionary leaders who have succeeded in obtaining the upper hand in labor circles in Winnipeg now insist that collective bargaining shall be understood as meaning the right of all workers to organize in One Big Union and to compel all employers of labor to deal with that union rather than with the craft unions to which the men they employ belong. And in order to enforce this revolutionary change, and destroy all international labor unions as now constituted and managed, they ordered the complete tie-up of the city of Winnipeg and attempted to deprive the people of all public utilities, and even the necessaries to sustain life itself.

[illegible] of the One Big [illegible] and all that its leaders declare it stands for including the abolition [illegible] profit, the nationalization of all industries, including all [illegible] of all political prisoners, [illegible] enemies, [illegible] hour work [illegible] can only be [illegible] by a complete revolution [illegible] system of responsibility [illegible] and the [illegible] of the [illegible] they have [illegible] in [illegible]

The sympathetic strike in Winnipeg, and the strikes called in sympathy with it in other western cities, is, in reality, the One Big Union in actual operation, and aims at the overturn of properly constitutioned governmental authority as we have it in this country. The declarations of the strike leaders make this very clear, and, after studying the situation, two members of the Federal Government, including the Minister of Labor, himself a union man, have become convinced of this fact. Furthermore, in the early days of the strike the strike leaders actually usurped the functions of the Dominion, provincial and municipal authorities, while their recognized chief, Rev. Wm. Ivens, declared that the government of Winnipeg "had been transferred from the City Hall to the Trades Hall."

It is a revolutionary movement, and unfortunately, a large number of the organized labor unions have been led into it innocently and are being used by these men of Bolsheviki ideals. The sane leaders of labor are opposed to the One Big Union and the general strike in Winnipeg. They are doing all they can to combat these revolutionary movements, while citizens generally are alarmed and have organized to defeat the attempt to overthrow constitutional government in this country.

The time has arrived when the Federal Government must bestir itself to control these Red agitators and revolutionists, and if they cannot be controlled they should be deported. They represent a small but noisy and dangerous element in the country, and wherever they obtain control over a group of individuals or an organization there is bound to be trouble.

In these days following the war, and the difficulties and burdens which that great struggle has imposed upon all nations and peoples, Canada included, it is all important that in working out needed reforms we should be constructive, not destructive, that we should follow the safe path of evolution, not revolution, and that all should recognize the fact that it is the first duty of every man and woman to devote their best thought and energies in the direction of the highest possible maximum of productive effort.

AFTER EFFECTS OF INFLUENZA

Often as Serious as the Disease Itself How to Get New Health

There are few homes in Canada that were not touched by the sorrow that trailed in the wake of the Spanish Influenza epidemic. Estimates of the loss of life caused by this epidemic show that it was almost as great as the losses caused by the war, and these take no account of the baneful after-effects which are sometimes as fatal as the disease itself.

Victims of the disease are generally left with impoverished blood and a weakened system. In this condition they are exposed to many dangers unless precautions are taken to enrich the blood and strengthen the nerves. The debility that invariably follows influenza is not a disease of any organ. It is a general condition of unfitness. It must be met by a remedy whose good results will be quickly felt throughout the entire system. In this condition Dr. Williams' Pink Pills will be found invaluable. The mission of this medicine is to enrich the blood and this new, red blood carries renewed health and strength to every part of the body. The case of Mrs. George Louder, Hamilton, Ont., proves the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills in cases of this kind. Mrs. Louder says: "I had a very severe attack of Spanish influenza, which left me pale and very weak. My appetite completely failed me and the least noise would startle me and make me cry. I was under a doctor's care, and finally he advised me to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I had not been taking them long before I could tell they were helping me. I used altogether nine or ten boxes and am now feeling as well as ever I did in my life. I believe if it had not been for these pills I would have been a chronic invalid."

Such proof as this must be interesting to everyone who suffered from an attack of influenza, and who still feel in any way weakened as the result of the trouble. It points the way to new health and strength, and if you are one of the sufferers you should avail yourself of this medicine at once. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box, or six boxes for $2.50, from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Minor Modifications Of Treaty Terms

New York.—The Associated Press issues the following:

In Paris the Council of Four continues to discuss points brought out by the German counter-proposals to the German peace treaty, especially as concerns territorial questions and reparations.

Experts on both these questions have been called before the council for conferences, and the belief apparently prevails in unofficial quarters in Paris that some modifications may be expected in the original terms of the treaty, particularly as regards the Saare basin and Silesia.

Discussion of the protest of Germany that being left without merchant ships, she is rendered impotent to resume her trade, and thereby unable to aid in paying the indemnities asked, also has been taken up by the council.

The expectation is that the council will heed reports of the urgent necessity to render a quick decision on the matters in controversy owing to the situation in Germany.

One report has it that Herr Noske, the German minister of defence, has inspected the coast defences and ordered the garrisons to be ready for emergencies.

An appeal to the United States people by magistrates of 200 German municipalities, representing virtually half the population of Germany, has been signed. It demands a "peace of justice," under President Wilson's 14 points, and protests against the continuation of the blockade against Germany.

Paris. — These are anxious days throughout peace conference circles, with both the German and Austrian treaties in the balance, and every effort is being made to secure early and united action. Many private conferences are going on, including one between A. J. Balfour, British Foreign Secretary, and Col. House, of the American delegation, all seeking to clarify the situation and determine the course of action.

The prevailing view of those taking part was hopeful of early and satisfactory results. They admitted that the conditions were difficult and the differences were rather sharply drawn, but insisted that there was nothing like an impasse or anything threatening an agreement. Indications were that certain general results are already beginning to take form. The German counter-proposals, as a whole, undoubtedly will be rejected, but a number of suggestions may be embodied in the allied treaty, not with any purpose of modifying or softening the document, but for the purpose of making it workable and achieving the supreme end of getting it signed and restoring peace.

Certain concrete results appear to be taking form, namely the fixing of reparations at a definite sum around one hundred million marks, instead of giving the commission indefinite authority to assess beyond that sum, reducing the period of occupation of the western frontier from fifteen to twenty years.

Readjustment of the Silesia terms at which Germany was greatly aroused, so that the population may secure self-determination, probably through a plebiscite. With respect to the League of Nations, the British and United States view at first inclined toward admitting Germany, on the ground that it would bind her to keep peace. But France would not consider any association with Germany. So it is understood that Pres. Wilson has gradually come to M. Clemenceau's view of keeping Germany outside the league.

Besides making the amount of the reparations definite, the time for the first payment may be extended. The allies have fixed two years; the German counter-proposal asks seven years. The experts suggest a compromise of four years.

The German complaint that they will be without merchant ships, it is suggested, will be met by the allies chartering a limited number of ships so that the resumption of trade will permit the payment of reparations.

G.W.V. Would Probe Labor Unrest

Suspicion That Workers Are Being Systematically Robbed By Profiteers

Toronto. — An immediate effort to reach the solution of the labor unrest manifest throughout the country is demanded by the provincial executive of the Great War Veterans' association, which has been in session here. The executive calls for "drastic steps to deal with the labor, food and clothing situation by the present cabinet."

The unanimous opinion of the executive was that their efforts to find employment for returned soldiers were fruitless because of the labor unrest. This unrest, the executive believes, is largely due "to suspicion that the workers are being systematically robbed by profiteers."

The executive calls for a solution of the high cost of living. It asks for representation upon any committee which is chosen for investigating the question.

Petrograd Threatened

Enemies of Bolshevism Are Moving Against the City

Omsk.—A Bolshevist dispatch from Moscow, dated May 24, gives the text of a proclamation of the executive commission of the Bolshevist party as follows:

"The Petrograd front, until recently, was for us a matter of secondary importance. During the last days the situation has changed entirely. The enemies of Bolshevism have decided to take Petrograd, and the Finnish and Esthonian White Guards, as well as troops of General Udenich, Col. Belokhovetch and Gen. Rodzianke are moving against the city.

"This unexpected attack has brought about great demoralization in our ranks. Every minute counts. All of us must rise to defend Petrograd."

An unconfirmed report has reached Copenhagen that Petrograd has been captured by Finnish and Esthonian troops.

Allies Stop General Strike

Germans Protest Against Rhenish Republic

Coblenz.—A general strike throughout the occupied area was declared by the Germans as a protest against the reported launching of the Rhenish republic at Wiesbaden. It was brief, however, being only four hours in duration, the workmen returning to their labors after being warned of the consequences by the allied military authorities. The principal strikers were railway employees and the street car workers at Treves and Coblenz.

When the news of the strike became known, word was sent the leaders that unless the Germans returned to work by 1 o'clock the leaders and all the other strikers would be deported into sections of Germany unoccupied by allied troops. The inter-allied railway commission reported that all the workers had returned to their jobs. Newspapers in Coblenz printed stories denying the birth of the German republic at Wiesbaden, and asserting that the report was an effort on the part of certain Germans to mislead the population of the Rhineland.

German Chancellor's Declaration

Two Austrians Killed at Hamilton, and Two Wounded

Hamilton, Ont. — Two Austrians were fatally shot and two others fatally wounded at the Tuckett Arm, on the Beach road.

Eight Italians, who claimed they were liquor detectives, insisted on searching the house for liquor. They lined up the ten Austrians who occupied the house, and at the point of revolvers went through their pockets. After securing $1,800, they deliberately shot into the line of Austrians, who were unarmed and who did not resist. Four of them fell, two mortally wounded, and the Italians escaped.

Amir's Treachery

Military Position of British in Afghanistan Is Satisfactory

London.—Reuter's learns that the position in Afghanistan from the military viewpoint is much improved. Probable developments from the Amir's latest move cannot be foreshadowed until more definite information with regard to Afghan attitude is available, but it may be pointed out that the Amir's letter to the viceroy and his orders to his generals both contain glaring inaccuracies.

The suggestion that the Afghans were obliged to take defensive measures on any British act is, of course, quite untrue. The fact is the Afghan troops crossed the border at a dozen places and were mobilizing against our frontier as rapidly as possible when they received no provocation whatever.

Postal Employees Are Discharged

Austria Is Apathetic

Willing to Accept Conditions as Laid Down and Thus Bring Peace

New York.—The Associated Press issues the following:

Like the German government, the Austrian government is said to be dissatisfied with the peace terms of the allied and associated powers, which are declared by one of the responsible newspapers of Vienna to be unacceptable.

Unlike the German populace at large, however, the Austrian people apparently are apathetic, having expected no easy terms, and are willing and even anxious to accept the conditions as laid down, and thus bring peace to the sorely stricken former empire, which is rendered by the treaty virtually an inland state of small territorial proportions.

U.S. Bomb Terrorism

Effect of Outrages Is to Prepare New and Severe Penalties for Convicted Perpetrators

Washington. — Investigation of the bomb explosions at eight cities, which were intended to kill public men, has convinced secret service chiefs here that the outrages had a common source, and that they probably can be classed as an unsuccessful attempt on the part of a still-unknown anarchistic group to resume a reign of terrorism, begun with the May-Day attempt to deliver a series of infernal machines through the mails out of New York.

Washington police devoted their efforts to re-assembling fragments of the man who was killed at the door of Attorney-General Palmer's home, while attempting to plant his cargo of explosives. Mr. Palmer himself dismissed the incidents today as "utter failure to terrorize the country and stay the hand of the government," which purpose he ascribed to the authors of the outrages.

Government experts on explosives after surveying the site of the explosion here and the partially demolished dwelling, came to the conclusion that two separate bombs exploded, probably when the man carrying them tripped over a stone in the entrance.

In both houses of congress members began the preparation of measures providing new and severe penalties for convicted perpetrators of such crimes.

Order Arrest of New President

Berlin.—The German government has issued an order for the arrest of Dr. Dorden, the president of the new Rhenish republic, the North German Gazette announces.

The government also, the newspaper states, has entered protests both at Paris and at Spa, the headquarters of the armistice commission, against the behavior of the French authorities in the occupied area of the Rhineland.

Tribute Paid to Railway Employees

Honor Roll Unveiled at Montreal Carrying Names of Eighty-One C.P.R. Apprentices

Montreal.—As a tribute to the 81 C.P.R. apprentices who enlisted for overseas service during the war, an honor roll was unveiled at the Angus shops in the presence of Mr. Burns, works manager, Mr. Muir, assistant works manager, and a representative gathering of foremen and apprentices. Mr. C. Kyle, supervisor of apprentices, occupied the chair. Mr. Burns paid a fitting tribute to the boys who had paid the supreme sacrifice, and asked the apprentices to be worthy of the sacrifice made by their comrades while fighting to make this a better world for other people to live in. He commended the progress being made in school and shop, and referred especially to the good work done at the evening classes, and to the prize given by the Montreal council of arts and manufacturers. The C.P.R. itself gives five scholarships for proficiency in mathematics and mechanical drawing, while 380 apprentices get two hours instruction each week.

Ottawa, Ont. — That the government is determined not to reinstate post office employees who went out on a sympathetic strike in the West and declined to return to duty when requested to do so, seemed clear in two telegrams sent by Sir Robert Borden, one to R. Sincks, secretary of the central strike committee, Calgary, and the other to V. Hollingsworth, secretary of the Alberta Methodist conference.

The prime minister's telegrams were in reply to messages received by him. The message from Mr. Sincks to the premier conveys a long resolution passed by the Brotherhood of Dominion Express employees condemning the announcement by Postmaster-General Blondin, that postal employees on strike should be considered dismissed.

The telegram concluded:

"The central strike committee notes in passing that the Dominion government, after having been appealed to to settle present crisis in a manner satisfactory to labor, has answered the appeal by taking up an antagonizingly retaliatory attitude. The people's government is once more asked to stand behind the people, not against them."

The telegram from the Alberta Methodist conference covered a resolution passed by that body, expressing the view that the action of the government "cannot but perpetuate rather than alleviate the social unrest, and to be subversive of the principles enunciated by the commission on labor legislation accepted by the peace conference, in the preparation of which Sir Robert Borden is said to have had a leading part."

The telegram called upon the government to repeal its action and expressed the opinion that employees of governments, municipal, provincial and federal, must be guaranteed the right of effective protest against wrong conditions.

Sir Robert Borden's reply to the secretary of the central strike committee was as follows:

"It is desirable that your attention should be called to facts which your committee has not taken into consideration. The government has always been prompt to give its best consideration to the demands of all public servants. In doing so it has no purpose to serve other than the public interest. It can only act under the mandate of the people's representatives in parliament and always as trust and guardian of the public interests. The postal employees were bound by obligation and by oath faithfully to serve the people of Canada. They went out on strike in Winnipeg, not in respect of any grievance of their own, but in alleged sympathy with employees of private companies. They were given three days within which to return to their duty, and they were distinctly informed that they must make a choice between directions received by them from the strike committee and the duty which they owe to the people of Canada. Some of them returned. Those who persevered in the strike took their course deliberately and with full notice of the consequences which would inevitably follow.

"In other western cities before any strike took place a most distinct and positive intimation was given to postal employees that abandonment of their public duty, obedience to the directions of another authority and participation in a sympathetic strike would mean their permanent retirement from the public service. The people of Canada cannot tolerate the proposal that under such circumstances civil servants shall be permitted to violate their engagements, to dislocate the public service, to occasion intense public inconvenience and suffering, and to put aside all respect for public duty. The government cannot reinstate men who have deserted their posts under such circumstances unless it is prepared to abandon all effective attempt to maintain the national services.

(Signed) "R. L. BORDEN."

Creston Presbyterian Sunday school scholars had their annual picnic on Dominion Day in the woods near the Reed & Mather ranch, with a big turnout of both scholrrs and grownups. There was a good line of sports and an ample spread of good things to eat including a big supply of ice cream. Needless to say an enjoyable time was had by all.

The Valley raspberry crop started moving on Monday, when the first few crates went out. The season is opening about the same date as last year, and indications are for a very large crop if the necessary supply of moisture is forthcoming. Cherries of all varieties are also on the shipping list, with the Bings proving a better yield than at first anticipated, though hardly up to last year's standard.

The Chas. Edward Smith company of vaudeville and novelty entertainers who were here about a month ago, are playing a return engagement in Mercantile Hall on Wednesday night, when they will be assisted by Mrs Foreman, piano, and J. The Valley is still in the grip of the dry spell, not even Dominion Day with a Sunday school picnic being sufficient to loosen up old Jupiter Pluvius. This is the glorious fourth of July with a shift of the moon thrown in for good luck. If no rain happens along there will be no hope for another week when the equally glorious twelfth will be here. If all of these fail the situation will be hopeless indeed.

Saturday Shipments of Fruit

Practically all shipments of Fruit made out of Creston on Saturday are not used until Monday morning. Most close-in buyers refuse to accept shipments which arrive at destination on Sunday, and this means that the only places left to which we can ship on Saturday are points beyond Medicine Hat and Calgary. This season there is no train north out of Calgary on Sundgy, so that Saturday shipments must go east. Ranchers are advised to cut down Saturday shipments to the lowest possible minimum, and avoid losses which are bound to occur if Saskatchewan markets are overloaded with l.c.l. Raspberries once each week.

Imperial Bank Opens in Creston

A full-fledged branch of the Imperial Bank of Canada opened for business in Creston yesterday.

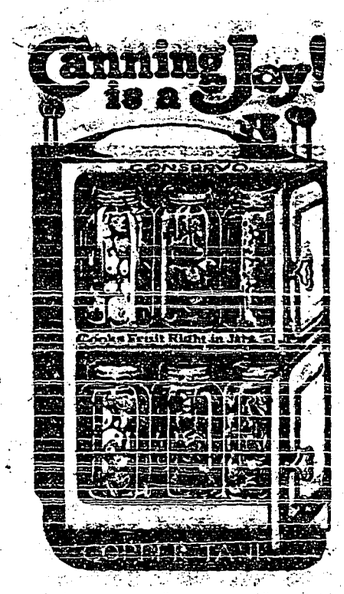
The visit of Manager Benson of Nelson last week so convinced him of the possibilities of Creston that he decided that no time should be lost in opening for business here and he immediately leased the office building of R. Lamont and by Saturday had the workmen busy making necessary alterations, building counters, and otherwise fitting things up in good shape. As we go to press this (Thursday) afternoon it looks as if the bank will be ready for business to-morrow at the latest.

The Creston branch will be in charge of C. W. Allan of the Fernie branch, who arrived on Friday last, and is supervising the remodelling of the premises. For a start he will have the assistance of one clerk. The bank's quarters are well appointed, while the apartments on the second floor are quite nicely adapted for quartering the staff.

The Imperial Bank needs no introduction to our readers. It has been in business in Canada since 1875, and by efficient management and a sound development policy has spread until now there are almost 150 branches in the Dominion, and the institution has a paid-up capital of $7,000,000, and a reserve fund of like proportions.

The Creston branch will perform all the usual functions of a chartered bank affording every facility to the man on the land as well as the business section of the community. Money will be available to those needing it to handle their crops or to develop the livestock feature of ranching. Of course there will be a savings department, and bank money order will be on sale.

Manager Allan invites all to drop in and get acquainted, and to utilize every facility the bank has to offer. The careful and courteous treatment and the broad business policy that has made the Imperial popular at other centres will assuredly obtain at the Creston branch.



With an IDEAL Home Canner and Steam Cooker cooking is a joy because food is better cooked without the work and worry of cooking it.

You prove the principle this way: Set vegetables and custard side by side to cook in the Ideal, and the custard will not take on the odor or flavor of the onions. The cooking is done by steam pressure, and all the nutriment, flavor and food value of the food is cooked right into the food.

There is no evaporation. Foods weigh the same when cooked as before.

The cheaper cuts of meat and less expensive foods are made as tender and delicious as the more expensive cuts of meat and the higher-priced foods cooked by the ordinary method.

Foods cannot scorch, dry up, over-cook, burn. Food may be kept hot and delicious for hours. Foods may be cooked in the same utensils in which they are to be served.

By the same principle all of these splendid results are accomplished, the trouble of cooking is done away with—the cooking foods do not have to be watched, basted, turned stirred. You simply prepare the food as you have been accustomed to doing, and place it in the Ideal. That is all there is to cooking. The Ideal will do the rest. It will see to it that everything is cooked just right and never bother you once; and it will call you if the water needs replacing. There is a whistle for that purpose. It blows for 15 minutes before the water is gone.
