THE CRESTON REVIEW

VOL. XIV. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, MARCH 3, 1922 No. 4

Erickson

Mrs. L. Leveque left the latter part of the week for Medicine Hat, Alta., where she will visit friends for a couple of weeks.

Eric Craigie arrived home from the hospital at Cranbrook on Saturday. He has to get about with his eye bandaged, but otherwise is not suffering from the effects of the mishap.

F. V. Staples was a week-end visitor at Kaslo, where he was attending the funeral of the late John Keen.

Mrs. Tomlinson of Edmonton, who has been here the past month on a visit to Mrs. Leveque, returned home at the end of the week.

Jos. Stinson, who has the contract for the erection of the combined store and residence on Main Street, expects to complete the work and have the premises ready for business early next week.

Rev. H. Varley will be here for English Church service in the schoolhouse on Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.

The United Farmers are quite hopeful of increased accommodation this year. Officials of the C.P.R. have lately been investigating the station facilities here—the result of an order from the Dominion Railway Commission that the company should show cause why the improvements asked for should not be granted.

R. T. Flett, the new divisional superintendent, made a short official call here on Tuesday morning. His visit was most timely as he was travelling on the way freight and on that morning the station waiting room and agent's private office were both filled to the roof with apples awaiting shipment.

At the United Farmers meeting on Tuesday night it was decided to continue the weekly Tuesday night meetings throughout March. The community centre committee had an encouraging progress report to make, and were instructed to ascertain the cost of the best possible site and to make a preliminary canvass for funds with a view to ascertaining whether such a project could be financed. At present it looks as if the undertaking can be tackled and made available for use this year. So far orders are in for over 700 feet of glass and over 70 boxes of powder. Those wishing to secure the latter are reminded that Saturday, March 4, is the very last day for ordering powder for spring delivery.

Alice Siding

Colds are somewhat common in the Alice Siding section at present, but so far none of them have developed into anything more serious.

T. Anderson and S. Vaness were Camp Lister visitors on Saturday, attending an informal G.W.V.A. social gathering at that point.

Mrs. John Johnson has the distinction of being the first to have 1922 hatched chicks in this section. She had a brood hatched this week.

The young folks had a big afternoon of it Sunday at skating on the slough.

Frank Simister paid a flying visit to Sirdar on Monday, returning the following day.

Mrs. McMurtrie was a visitor with Nelson friends a couple of days the latter part of the week.

Alice Siding Social Club had its fortnightly meeting in the Wood packing shed on Tuesday night. Interspersed with the dancing were songs by Mr. and Mrs. Beazer, Miss V. Marshall and Mr. Vaness along with readings by R. Stewart and T. Anderson. Refreshments were also served and the session thoroughly enjoyed throughout.

A party of friends of Miss Theresa Churchill helped her celebrate her eighteenth birthday at the Churchill home on Sunday night.

Spring building operations are under way, R. Stewart being busy completing the chimney on the Hester house this week.

A party of about fifty friends gathered at the home of Mr. Wood on Thursday night last for a social evening in honor of both Mr. and Mrs. Wood and Mr. and Mrs. Norris. Dancing was the feature of the evening, with Mr. Osborne contributing a a couple of vocal selections. A tasty supper was served, and a most enjoyable evening is reported by all the guests.

Mrs. Stace Smith is again a resident of Alice Siding. On Saturday she moved into the house on the Dr. Wells ranch, will be occupied until a house is erected on her property, adjoining Mr. Constable's and for the erection of which some of the lumber has already been hauled.

Sirdar

S. Pascuzzo lost a very valuable cow one day last week. A fall on the ice resulted in injuries that caused its death.

Arthur Dibbon was a Creston visitor a few days this week.

T. R. Flett, who succeeds Mr. Hall as superintendent at Cranbrook, was here on Monday making his first visit to the terminal. He was accompanied by Mr. McFadyen, master mechanic, and Mr. Robinson, of the B & B., the party returning on the way freight Tuesday.

Jack Roy, who has been engineer on the yard engine, returned to Cranbrook on Sunday.

B. J. Whitesides, who has been off work on account of illness, resumed his old job on the yard engine on Monday.

While the government dredge is working at the Landing the yard engine is working 20.30 to 4 a.m. Other hours than these would interfere with dredging operations.

Miss Hazel McLellan was a week-end visitor with Sirdar friends, taking in the Social Club dance on Saturday night.

Mrs. Martin left on Wednesday for Vancouver, after several months visit with her sister, Mrs Whitesides.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Cameron and Jim Pascuzzo were business visitors at Creston the fore part of the week, while Mrs. Dennes was calling on friends at the orchard city on Saturday.

The Social Club dance on Saturday night at the schoolhouse was one of the most enjoyable o the season, with Mrs. Foreman of Creston supplying the music. She was accompanied here by Mrs. Embree of the same town.

Messrs. Dobin and Parkes and Mr. and Mrs. Loasby were the Sirdar representatives at the Red Cross concert in Creston on Friday night, and during their stay at the metropolis were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Swanson. The two former returned on Sunday well pleased with their outing.

Red Cross Notes

Mrs. C. A. Lucas will give her lecture next Monday, March 6th, in her room, 24, Creston Hotel.

Mrs. C. A. Lucas, who has sustained an injury to her knee, through slipping on some ice at Canyon City last Thursday, is confined to her room at the hotel. Dr. Henderson, who is attending her, advises complete rest for the injured limb. This will prevent Mrs. Lucas from keeping her appointments throughout the Valley for the present.

Mrs. C. A. Lucas, R.N., Provincial Field Organizer for the Canadian Red Cross Society, who has been acting in the capacity of Public Health Nurse for Creston Valley during the past seven weeks, expects to receive orders from headquarters in the near future to arrange the program for the organization campaign throughout the province, where the Red Cross nurse is in demand. Mrs. Lucas expresses regret at being so soon called away from the Valley, where she has made many friends, and takes this opportunity to thank the many people who have contributed advice and assistance to her, which has materially helped her effort to give good service to the community in the best possible way, and hopes the same courtesy and kindness will be extended to the permanent nurse, Mrs. E. V. Carruthers, who will report for duty shortly.

The Late John Keen

In the passing of John Keen, whose death took place at Kaslo on Thursday last, British Columbia has lost an outstanding citizen and the Kootenay country generally mourns the passing of an always active and useful resident.

While for many years back Creston Valley has had a working knowledge of the deceased, since 1916 the citizens had become quite intimately acquainted with him, and irrespective of religious beliefs or political leanings, the late John Keen enjoyed a well deserved reputation for public usefulness on behalf of the Valley, as well as being one of that excellent old school who prize their reputation for service, honesty and gentlemanly conduct above the external advantages of rank and fortune.

Over a span of almost thirty years John Keen served British Columbia well, and in the four years that he directly represented the Kaslo constituency in the provincial legislature no man could have more intelligently or wholeheartedly undertook the tasks that were thrust upon him. In this latter connection Creston Valley is indeed his debtor, and not even in his well beloved Kaslo will his passing be more keenly felt than is his last call regretted at Creston.

Excellent Local Talent Concert

One of the best variety entertainments, from every standpoint, ever given locally is the verdict on Friday nights Red Cross benefit concert given under the management of Mrs. C. B. Garland. Creston theatre goers have come to expect something better than ordinary from Mrs. Garland's efforts to develop local talent and the enthusiastic reception given all of the numbers on last Friday's programme showed that this concert was no exception to the rule.

Much credit is coming Mrs. Garland for undertaking a benefit for such an excellent cause as the Canadian Red Cross, and, in addition, high praise is due for the assembling and arrangement of the programme, for the training and costuming of those taking part and for the stage decorations, all of which made up a wholesome evening's entertainment that gave more than full value for the price of admission.

As opening numbers to each part, and also at the conclusion of the programme, were very acceptable selections by the Creston District Brass Band. The band, under the capable leadership of Mr. Hendy, now numbers twenty players and the manner in which they are handling music that is more or less difficult in character is a credit not only to the leader and to the various individual members, but also to the Creston district.

In view of the acceptable manner in which the band assisted the Red Cross concert perhaps it would be in order to bespeak for this organization the support of the entire district. The Creston District Brass Band will be a welcome feature at all concerts and will be a necessary part of all outdoor gatherings during the coming season.

A feature, new so far as recent entertainments go, was the men's chorus made up as a double quartette with soloist, Messrs. Hamilton, Collis, Watson, Moore, Kyle, Spencer, W. Truscott, P. Truscott and C. B. Garland taking part. The chorus gave three selections: "Live for To day," solo taken by J. W. Hamilton; "Blow the Smoke Away," solo by W. Truscott, and "When Good Fellows Get Together" solo by L. Kyle. Judging by the applause all three numbers made a hit.

One criticism that might be offered was the fact that only one of the numbers provided an opportunity for part singing, which, after all, is what one wants to hear in a male quartette or chorus. Here again we are going to take liberty of offering a suggestion: Why not keep this chorus going with a weekly or semi-monthly practise and get together several good selections for men's voices. Mrs. Garland has proven conclusively that there is no scarcity of singers in Creston but there does seem to be a scarcity of suitable songs which are singable as choruses, quartettes, and duets. When a concert is being planned one has to use the material at hand which is often unsuitable, but this difficulty would not occur if something in the nature of a choral society were formed and suitable music procured and whipped into shape for any chance to use that might come along.

The girls' choruses, which were really the feature of the programme, were more fortunate in having suitable music. Two excellent selections were given, "The Jewel of Asia," from the "Geisha," and "Six Little Wives," from "San Toy." Those taking part were attractively costumed and made up to represent Geisha girls and with the artistic stage decorations for background presented a picturesque scene.

The singers were Mrs. C. B. Garland, Mrs. R. B. Staples and Misses Louise and Evelyn Bevan, Rose and Lillian Cherrington, Marguerite Crawford, Agnes and Hazel Hobden, Tilly Nickel, Lilly Barner, Laverna Whidden, Phyllis Hamilton and Ethel and Thelma West. We are quite sure that everyone in the audience felt proud of fact that Creston is able to get together in a few days fourteen girls who could conduct themselves so creditably on what was for most of them the first appearance before the public as singers. Not a single unpleasing voice was heard in the chorus, costumes in every case were perfect and no mistakes were made in the many movements that the chorus calls for. Proper staging, good singing and acting made these numbers given by the girls chorus delightfully entertaining.

In addition to her work in staging the other numbers Mrs. Garland contributed two good vocal numbers, singing acceptably the solo in "The Jewel of Asia," and also assisted by Mr. Garland a duet, "We'll Have a Little Cottage."

Mrs. Foreman gave the audience a real comedy treat in a black face singing and dancing act. Mrs. Foreman's make-up and excellent singing and dancing received unstinted applause that was well merited. Mrs. Foreman assisted Mrs. Garland as accompanist.

Children's numbers are always pleasing, and when handled as Muriel Oatway and Jim Cherrington handled "The Keys of Heaven" are a real delight to everyone.

Two recitations by Mrs. George Jacks made pleasant breaks in a programme that would otherwise have been entirely musical. Mrs. Jacks has a reputation as a talented elocutionist, and her rendering of "The Highwayman" and "Aunt Hettys Views on Matrimony" were well received.

The concert was a big success financially clearing, after all expenses are paid, almost $100. This sum will be banked to the District Nurse Fund, the work of establishing district nurses throughout the country being the main activity of the Red Cross at the present time.

Mrs. Stabler of Vancouver, Director of Nursing for the B.C. Division of the Canadian Red Cross Society, was in town on the night of the concert. She is on a trip of inspection covering all of the nursing centres in B.C. In addition, Mrs. Stabler is going further east for the purpose of stimulating interest in District Nursing, using for this work a two reel film entitled "An Equal Chance." This picture was run at the concert during the intermission and created a great deal of favorable comment.

The film impresses very clearly the work of district nurses—school inspection, pre natal instruction, instructive visiting, and organization work during times of epidemic. The film receives its title form the lesson taught that rich and poor alike receive help and health at the hands of district nurses. This is an American film which has been used by the American Red Cross in every state of the Union—at present the Canadian Red Cross have it borrowed for thirty days and Creston people were fortunate in having a chance to get such clear instruction in the work of the District Nurse.

Canyon City

Mrs. Wetherhead was a visitor with Nelson friends a few days last week.

A case of scarlet fever of a mild type has developed at the Gartland home, which has been quarantined, and every precaution taken to prevent it spreading.

The Methodist Ladies' Aid have things under way for another sale of work, cooking, etc., which will be held at the Mission Hall on Easter Monday afternoon, April 17th.

Definite announcement is expected next week of the Irish concert to be held at the schoolhouse on March 17. The best local talent is being booked and something decidedly worth while may be looked for.

Still another entertainment is promised before spring work puts the ban on pleasure. This will be a dramatic effort at which the comedy "Too Much of a Good Thing" will be the offering, the affair being under the auspices of the Literary Society. No date has been named, but it will likely be staged very early in April.

For the March meeting of the United Farmers on Saturday night an effort will be made to dispose of the business features by shortly after nine and then follow on with a dance and lunch. Music will be the best yet, with Mrs. Pochin at the piano, Yerbury Brothers on the guitars, and Tom Mawson, violinist.

The surprise party brigade selected Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Davie for their last week's visit, dropping in early on Wednesday evening, and having a real fine time of it with music and games and various amusements, and the usual fine line of refreshments for the inner man.

When Mr. Wearmouth made the trip to the flats at Creston on Friday for the usual weekly load of hay he was disagreeably surprised to find that a day or two previous someone had loaded up the couple of tons of this feed that he had left in a stack, and had made a very successful job in transporting it to parts unknown. As this would have been sufficient to see Mr. Wearmouth through till spring the theft is seriously resented.

Lister

Mrs. Alexander left this week for Lethbridge, Alta., where she will visit friends for a few weeks.

Mrs. Geo. Jacks was a week-end visitor at Creston, at which point she assisted with the programme of the Red Cross benefit concert on Friday night. Messrs. Jory and Finlay also lent a hand at the concert playing with the Creston brass band.

The Ladies' Auxiliary of the G.W.V.A. had their March meeting at the schoolhouse on Wednesday afternoon.

A couple of auto loads of Creston Veterans were here on Saturday night for the stag party given by Lister G.W.V.A. in the schoolhouse. There were songs, speeches, smokes and a splendid supper, and the affair was immensely enjoyed by all present.

Fred Rushton of Nakusp is the newest business visitor the camp has had. He represents the Clark Brokerage Co., Calgary, and was interviewing Manager Bernard of the Trading Company.

Lister United Farmers have their March meeting on Friday night, March 3rd, at the schoolhouse, and the session will be an interesting one as Delegate Adlard will be here to report on the proceedings of the Provincial U.F. convention at Vancouver in January. Orders will be booked for seed potatoes, stumping powder and bulk and package seeds.

Instructor Greenwood concluded his apple packing classes here on the 18th ult., and the most efficient packer at second school was Bert Yerbury, with Frank Alexander, jr., second. Nineteen minutes was the best time made in putting up a single box—two minutes slower than the speediest pupil of class number one.

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. WHAT DOES YOUR MIRROR REVEAL?

Does it Tell You That Your Blood is Thin and Watery

When a growing girl becomes pale, complains of exhaustion, dizzy spells, headache and stomach trouble, she should know that these things are evidences of anæmia or bloodlessness. A glance in the mirror will tell the story. There is immediate need for a tonic, a system builder that will completely restore the missing qualities to the blood that every part of the body will share in the benefit.

A good example of the result of wise treatment in cases of this kind is given by Mrs. George R. Smith, of Quensport, N.S., who says: "I cannot praise Dr. Williams' Pink Pills too highly for what they have done for my three daughters. My eldest daughter, Edna, at the age of 14, became run down, and I got her three boxes of the pills, and by the time she had taken them she was in good health, and is now a healthy married woman. My second daughter, Martha, at the age of 16, was awfully run down and pale. In fact she had always been a delicate child, but gradually became worse. At last she could not go upstairs without having to sit down and rest, and could not even do any kind of light work without being greatly fatigued. Finally I gave her Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and after taking them we found they did her more good than all the other medicine she had taken, and she is now in good health. Then my younger daughter, Greta, now 15, became so run down that she had to stop going to school. But after taking eight boxes of the pills she is now a big, healthy girl. I feel that after what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done in my home there can be no doubt of their value, and I hope someone else will benefit from our experience."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine or by mail postpaid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Policy of Delay

Germany Hoping to Get Out of Reparations Payment

The prolonged shuffling and repeated delays of the German Government in the matter of reparations have all the marks of a policy deliberately calculated. To gain time, to tire out the allies, to hope that something lucky may turn up in the chapter of accidents—those have been the obvious motives. We are now more than two years from the signing of the treaty of peace. In that period Germany, with a population of 60,000,000, has paid only about half the sum which France, with a population not much more than half hers, paid to Germany in the two years following 1870.—New York Times.

Science and Rural Life

Benefits of Scientific Achievements Should be More Fully Applied

Science has proved itself a great friend of mankind. Every department of civilization has been more or less benefited as the results of scientific experiment have been applied. Rural life has been perhaps slowest of all to reap the advantages of scientific knowledge. This was not because of lack of opportunity or need, but probably because the rural mind is naturally conservative and cautious about innovations. The keynote of most of the addresses on rural problems today is the wider application of science to all phases of rural life—farm and home both. This is important. Agriculture is first in time as an industry and first in order of importance. Civilization will get a great uplift and human progress a great impetus forward when rural life fully applies as it may the benefits of scientific achievements. It will result in better farming methods, accompanied by greater prestige and respect for the whole profession. It will benefit the farm home and make life vastly more attractive and agreeable there than it has ever been. Some homes today are quite model in reference to these standards, but the majority are lacking. "Science" is used in the broadest sense as touching every phase of home and outdoor life. Surveys show that very many homes have failed to relate themselves with the most common advantages such as lighting, power, bath rooms and ventilation. These improvements ought to come faster than they have, and until they do farm life will not be as attractive as it deserves to be.—Manitoba Free Press.

The Cause of all the Trouble

Low Price of Farm Products Affecting Trade

The field crops of Canada had in 1921 an aggregate value of $985,949,000, according to the preliminary estimate of the Dominion Bureau of Statistics. The value placed on the crops of Quebec was $192,773,000, but revised figures have raised the amount to $219,154,000, a substantial betterment of $26,381,000. Whether final figures will increase in estimate for other provinces is uncertain, but what is sure is that the income of the farmers of Canada has suffered a serious diminuation in the last two years. In 1919, field crops had a value of $1,537,170,000, so that it may be assumed the harvest of 1921 represented a loss of not less than half a billion dollars, or approximately one-third in gross value. The loss in net return should not be so great, since the price of farm labor was less than in 1919, and the cost of commodities purchased by farmers had also been somewhat reduced. The fact remains, however, that $500,000,000 taken out of the revenue of farmers from field crops must adversely affect the general trade of Canada, and necessitate the carrying over of loans to farmers until another crop has been gathered under more favorable economic conditions.—Montreal Gazette.

The Family Physician.—The good doctor is always worth his fee. But it is not always possible to get a doctor just when you want him. In such cases, common sense suggests the use of reliable home remedies, such as Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, which is wonderfully effective in easing inflammatory pains and in healing cuts, scratches, bruises and sprains. The presence of this remedy in the family medicine chest saves many a fee.

London, Ont.—"I wish I could tell all the women in the world who suffer with woman's trouble, what a wonderful medicine Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription is. The doctor's medicine did not seem to reach my trouble at all so my husband urged me to try Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription, and to please him I did. Before I had finished the second bottle the distress and dropsy left me and I felt in absolutely perfect health. I had no further trouble from that time on. I afterwards took Favorite Prescription whenever in a nervous rundown condition and it always strengthened and built me up."—Mrs. Lily Stoddart, 438 Ontario St.

Government Said To Be Considering Plans For New Wheat Board

Ottawa.—While consideration of the proposal has not yet reached that stage where it is possible to give any indication as to the course which may be laid down by the Government, it is understood that the matter of re-establishing a Canadian wheat board has been receiving serious atetntion at the hands of Premier King and his colleagues.

In the west the feeling is stated to be at the present time in favor of the re-establishment of such a board and the Cabinet is expected to reach a decision on the matter between now and the time the House meets.

Together with the question of a wheat board, the matter of continuing the grain trade enquiry is understood to be under consideration. One of the suggestions which has been put forward, it is understood, is that the grain enquiry shall continue but that it will be carried on by a reconstituted board.

Was Sore and Red. Hair Fell Out. Head Disfigured.

"From using the same brush and comb as my sister, whose scalp was troubled with dandruff, it caused my scalp to be itchy. My scalp was sore and red, and the dandruff scaled off and could be seen on my clothing. My hair fell out gradually and my head was disfigured. This trouble lasted six months. Then I sent for a free sample of Cuticura Soap and Ointment. I afterwards bought more, and I only used two cakes of Soap and two boxes of Ointment when I was healed." MIRACLE WORKED AT DUBLIN MEETING

PEACE IS SPRUNG ON DELEGATES WITH DRAMATIC SUDDENNESS

Dublin.—With dramatic suddenness a peace agreement, reached at the 11th hour between Free State and Republican leaders, was sprung on the Ard Fheis, or national Sinn Fein convention, and the huge gathering of delegates, impatient of any delay likely to endanger the pact with Great Britain, gave it unanimous approval and adjourned for three months. The general feeling was that in preserving intact the party organization, something like a miracle had been worked.

The net result of the two days' meeting of the Ard Fheis is to insure that no election can be held in Ireland for the next three months and that when it is held the issue will not simply be for or against the treaty to determine the judgment of the Irish people on the actual terms of a constitution in which the treaty will be embodied.

Supporters of the Free State have contended throughout that the treaty enables Ireland to frame for herself a constitution giving all the essentials of freedom, but the Republicans have denied this and have quoted interpretations placed upon the treaty in speeches by Mr. Lloyd George and other British cabinet ministers.

All the objections to the agreement raised on the floor after Eamonn de Valera had announced its terms eminated from prominent Republicans.

DISPLAY CANADIAN PRODUCTS IN LONDON

INVITATION BEING EXTENDED TO MANUFACTURERS TO TAKE SPACE

Toronto.—Canadian manufacturers are to see the benefits of showing their products in London, England. On February 6, the Department of Trade and Commerce published in their weekly journal an article by A. T. Willgress, Canadian Government trade commissioner, specially assigned to interview the big independent houses of London who act as purchasing agents for world markets. He reported at length to the effect that Canadian goods would be very welcome, but could not be considered unless our manufacturers had permanent representation in London with samples and prices available.

An invitation is being extended to all Canadian manufacturers to co-operate by taking space and showing their products. The men behind this national enterprise are planning to eventually show all classes of Canadian products in Cape Town, Melbourne, Buenos Aires and other capitals.

Suffering Gone She is Enthusiastic

Dame Edmond Roy Singing the Praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills

For Six Years She Was Troubled With Pains and Aches But Found the Relief She Looked For in Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Petits Mechins, Matane Co., Que.—(Special).—Rejoicing that she is again in good health after six years of suffering, Dame Edmond Roy of this place is singing the praises of Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"You can tell everyone," says Dame Roy, "that the pain in my side has disappeared and that my strength has come back."

"I suffered for six years," she continues, "I was also troubled with rheumatism, cramps in the muscles, backache and headache. I took only eight boxes of Dodd's Kidney Pills."

The reason that Dame Roy got such prompt help from Dodd's Kidney Pills is that every one of her troubles is a symptom of Kidney trouble. Dodd's Kidney Pills are purely and simply a kidney remedy. They strengthen the kidneys to do their full work of straining the impurities out of the blood.

Ask your neighbors about Dodd's Kidney Pills.

Striking Ceremony in Paris

DO YOU SMOKE TOO MUCH?

There are many men on whose heart and nervous system tobacco produces the most serious results. It causes palpitation, pain in the heart, irregularity of its beat, makes the hands tremble, sets the nerves on edge, causes shortness of breath and loss of sleep.

To counteract this demoralizing influence on the heart and nerves there is no remedy to equal

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

They make the heart beat strong and steady, restore tone and vigor to the nerves, and remove all the evil results caused by the tobacco.

Mr. Frank Lutes, 71 Terrace Hill St., Brantford, Ont., writes:—"I had been troubled with palpitation of the heart for a number of years, and by spells it would bother me a lot. The doctor told me it would stop on me sometime if I did not cut out tobacco. When I would get a spell my heart would pound, and I would break out in a perspiration, and get so weak I would have to sit right down and quit my work; also in the night I would wake up and my heart would be going, I should say, about 120 beats a minute. About three years ago I got a box of Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, took them, and found that they did the job. I am feeling fine and have gained over 20 pounds in weight."

Price, 50c a box at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Mrs. Ardiel Says She Was Astonished By The Wonderful Change

"It's no wonder so many people praise Tanlac to the skies—it is different from any other medicine I have ever taken as it does even more than is claimed for it," said Mrs. C. A. Ardiel, 147 Lorne St., West, Vancouver, B.C.

"Three years of suffering from stomach trouble have ended with me in the last few weeks and all on account of the wonderful benefit I have received from Tanlac. When I began taking it nothing agreed with me and I dreaded for mealtime to come round as the sight of food nauseated me. My sleep was broken, my nerves were on edge and I felt as miserable as a human being could feel.

"All this was quickly changed by Tanlac and I am like a different person now. I never dreamed a medicine could do what Tanlac has done for me."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

WRECK OF THE ROMA

BELIEVED ACCIDENT WAS CAUSED BY BREAKING OF ELEVATING RUDDER

Norfolk, Va.—A statement by Major-General Mason M. Patrick, head of the army air service, that he believed the destruction of the airship Roma was due to an accident to the controls regulating the altitude of the craft, is the only official statement from any of those investigating the accident which caused the death of 34 persons, the injury of eight others, and the destruction of the world's largest semi-rigid airship.

General Patrick expressed his opinion on the basis of the testimony he had heard thus far and substantiated statements previously made unofficially by survivors of the wreck that the elevating rudder, a contrivance resembling the wings of an airplane and attached to the stern of the Roma, buckled and fell forward, forcing the craft into a nose dive, which ended when she crashed into a high power electric transmission line, caught fire and burned with the greater number of her crew and passengers pinned beneath.

THIN, FLAT HAIR GROWS LONG, THICK AND ABUNDANT

"Danderine" costs only 35 cents a bottle. One application ends all dandruff, stops itching and falling hair, and, in a few moments, you have doubled the beauty of your hair. It will appear a mass, so soft, lustrous, and easy to do up. But what will please you most will be after a few weeks use, when you see new hair—fine and downy at first—yes—but really new hair growing all over the scalp. "Danderine" is to the hair what fresh showers of rain and sunshine are to vegetation. It goes right to the roots, invigorates and strengthens them. This delightful, stimulating tonic helps thin, lifeless, faded hair to grow long, thick, heavy and luxuriant.

1921 Apple Markets

At the annual meeting of the Grand Forks Co-Operative Fruit Growers Association early last month Mr. Barnes, the O.U.G. organizer was present, and the following extract from his talk on the 1921 apple marketing situation will be read with interest. Mr. Barnes said. In part:

"Now take the actual figures: the four Western Provinces only consumed 50% of their normal consumption. We expected at the beginning of the season we would have to ship out of Canada, that we would have to find some distant markets to take not less than 500 cars of the crop we were handling. Actually we had to find a market for 1300 cars. That will give you some idea of the condition of the prairie markets, but up to the 1st January we were still more or less optimistic. Though the prices had gone to pieces on the prairie, due to rush of everybody to unload his crop there, we had made arrangements to market a certain proportion of the crop outside, and it seemed absolutely certain that the eastern markets, the Atlantic seaboard, would be ready to take all the apples and pay good prices for them. Until the middle of the season we were still very optimistic as to the final outcome of apple prices. The United States sales were as disappointing as our own prairies. We did not know yet how it was going to turn out, as long as the eastern apple was on the market; it was a very short crop, but there was some of it. As long as that was on the market prices were very low; we could not sell and get enough to pay the grower for shipping. We were advised that by the middle of December the crop would be absorbed and there would be no apples on the eastern seaboard, because the eastern apple would run out before the N.W. apple reached the market.

"Acting on that advice we placed about 300 cars of fruit in the New York market and held them there. There was a period of shortage which came true almost as predicted; for two weeks we had the market to ourselves, and were able to sell Wealthys and McIntoshs at the best prices we had got the whole season. At the end of two weeks the N.W. apple began to arrive in large numbers. This year it has pooven true in every market that as soon as a surplus appeared on the market the bottom went out of it. That happened in New York; prices dropped $1 a box. We immediately stopped selling and placed the apples in cold storage. Just at that time you will remember it appeared almost certain that a railway strike would take place which threatened to tie up the whole railroad system of the U.S. In anticipation of that strike we rushed through three train loads of apples. The threatened strike did not come off, and the apples went into cold storage. They had to go there if they were to be sold at all; the prairies had every apple they could buy. We had 50 carloads of apples in storage waiting for the prairies to buy them. There was no question of selling any of these apples in New York—it could not be done. We put our apples into storage because it seemed absolutely certain—although we did not get the killing expected—that the supply would be absorbed by the middle of December, and by the middle of December it was absorbed. Prices began to stiffen and stiffen very rapidly. We began to sell, when an unforseen cause dropped the market back to its old condition. It is the custom in the United States to get apples to the distributing centre before the extreme weather sets in. These apples are sent to the Middle West and Atlantic seaboard and put into cold storage. Each city has a certain supply to meet winter demands, but that demand did not exist in the middle west. There they were with these apples on their hands. They had a large quantity of N.W. apples in storage in the middle west. As soon as the price advanced to $3 and over every box was shipped to the Atlantic seaboard. Prices dropped from $2.50 to $2.25. We stopped selling and put our apples into cold storage. Our agent told us it would be about the 10th to 15th January before the market would rise, but from that time it would rise steadily. He was correct about the market began to stiffen, and will continue until all our holdings are on the market.

"Under these conditions you will understand it has been impossible for the O.U.G. to even make a guess as to what the final returns will be on any one variety of apple unsold. That fact made it very difficult for us to give the grower any information as to prices. We did not want to talk of bad prices as long as we hoped to do better, or to say that we hoped to sell at high prices, in case the market should go bad.

"This is for you to get a bird'seye view. I want you to keep in mind that the Canadian market was filled to the very brim and overfilled, no more apples could be sold in Canada, 1300 carloads of apples had to be sold, and 300 cars were sent to England. No other market in the world could take that extra number of cars except the U.S. I have told you how we handled the U.S. market and doubt if anybody could tell you how we could handle it better."

DAUGHTER HAD TO HELP MOTHER

Now Can Do All Her Housework Alone Because Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her

Jasper, Minn. — "I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other medicines, but none did me the good that your Vegetable Compound did. Now I am able to do all my work alone while before I had my daughter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. JESSE PETERSEN, Route 1, Jasper, Minn.

There is no better reason for your trying Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound than this—it has helped other women. So if you suffer from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or are passing through the Change of Life remember this splendid medicine. What it did for Mrs. Petersen it may do for you.

The Vegetable Compound stands upon a foundation of nearly fifty years of service.

And then, quite unexpected, it came upon her, and thrilled her frame from toe to temple. Jim Travers! It had been in the background of her mind for months, the centre of the subconscious processes which culminated in this revelation. Yes, Fred Arthurs at twenty-five must have been such a man as Jim Travers Jim Travers at fifty would be such a man as Fred Arthurs. She was absolutely sure of it. Jim was living his own life, seeking out that which was worth while, culling the incidental from the essential, just as Fred Arthurs must have done. She remembered with sudden joy how Jim had held a little kindness to her of greater moment than the impatient engine in the plough-field; the scores of little labours he had undertaken, not as a sacrifice, but as a privilege—as his contribution to human happiness. She would marry Jim Travers. The strange part of it was her sudden certainty that she should marry him. She found herself enveloped in a flame of possession, a feeling that he was hers—hers now, this minute, and hers for ever. Beulah was a fatalist although she had never analyzed her own beliefs enough to know it, but she knew that Destiny had linked her life with his and that Destiny would not be balked. Her mind had been feeling its way, through the darkness of months, to this sudden ecstasy, but now that she had reached it she felt that it could never, never fail her. Her sense of possession, of mergement, was complete; she felt that already their souls had mingled irrevocably and indistinguishably.

The arrival of her mother at the Arthurses' ranch had brought fresh joy to Beulah's life. She saw the colour coming back to the old face, the frame straightening up a little, the light rekindling in the eye, the spring returning to the instep. She had not thought that her mother, after twenty-five years of unprotesting submission, had still the nerve to place a limit on that submission, and the discovery had surprised and delighted her. True, Mary Harris let it be known that she was only on a visit, and in due course would return to her home; but Beulah knew the die had been cast, and things could never again be quite as they were. And Beulah told her secret, and her mother just kissed her and let a tear or two fall in her hair.

So this morning, as the girl stretched her young limbs, rounding with life and energy, and the burnt-orange glow of sunrise suffused the room and lit the pink tissues of her slender fingers, she rested in the deep peace which, ever since her revelation, had enveloped her about. For a minute she let her mind dwell on the picture she carried in her brain, until the association became too keen and threatened to overwhelm her from very tenderness; then she sprang from her bed, and, flipping the window-blind to the top, drank in the beauty of the valley through the open windows. Her bedroom had windows both to the east and the west, and it was her custom to awaken early and feast on the glory as it surged up the valley, and then, turning, watch the long waves of light sink slowly down the white mountains. And this morning, when she thought the first beams must be gliding the highest peaks, she turned to the westward window and saw the light playing under a Chinook arch across a segment of sky so soft and near she could almost feel it with extended fingers. And then a sound caught her ear, and up the trail she saw two men on horseback, a mounted policeman and another, and behind them other men driving in a buggy.

By intuition Beulah knew that a mishap had occurred. The Arthurses' ranch was the first abode of real civilization on the way out from the mountains, and it was nothing unusual for a lumberman with a chopped foot, or a prospector caught in sliding rock, or a river-driver crushed between logs, or a hunter the victim of his own marksmanship, to come limping or riding down the trail to this haven of first aid. Quickly she drew on her simple clothing and hurried downstairs, but Arthurs was already at the door. The little party came into the yard, and the policeman rode up to the door. The other horseman sat with his back to the house; his hands were chained together in front of him.

"Good-morning, Sergeant Grey," said Arthurs. "You're early out."

The sergeant saluted. The salutation was intended for Arthurs, but at the moment the policeman's eyes fell on Beulah, and even the discipline of the Force could not prevent a momentary turning of the head.

"I've a badly hurt man here," he said, "a man who will need your hospitality and care for some days. There was a shooting up the valley last night. His father is here, too, unhurt, physically, but on the verge of collapse, if I am not mistaken."

"We will bring both of them in at once," said Arthurs. "Beulah, will you call Lilian, and your mother, too? They may be needed. But who is the third?" he continued, turning to Grey.

"A prisoner. It seems the older man overpowered him. Now let us get this poor fellow in."

The policeman beckoned and Harris drove the buggy up to the door. Arthurs glanced at him with a casual "Good-morning," but the next instant his eyes were riveted on the visitor. "John Harris!" he exclaimed, taking a great stride forward and extending his strong arm. "Man, John, I'm glad to see you, but not in these troubles."

Harris took his hand in a silent clasp, and there was a warmth in it that set his heart beating as it had not for years. "It's hard, Fred," he managed to say in a dry voice, "but it's good to have you by."

Arthurs bent over Allan, who was half sitting, half lying, in the buggy. His face was sapped and grey in the growing light. Tenderly the three men lifted him out. "Take him straight upstairs," said Arthurs. "It will save moving him again." Both spare-rooms in the house were occupied, but Arthurs led the way into Beulah's, and they laid the wounded boy on the white bed.

Arthurs heard Beulah in the hall. "Take off his clothes, Grey," he said, and turned to the doorway. "Where's your mother, Beulah?" he asked in a low voice, closing the bedroom door behind him.

"Dressing." The girl looked in his face, and drew back with a cry. "What's the matter, Uncle Fred? What's wrong?"

"A friend of mine has been hurt, and an old friend of your mother's. She must not see him just now. You will arrange that?"

"Yes. But I must see him—I must help."

Beulah hurried to the room where her mother was rapidly dressing. "A man has been hurt, mother," she said, with suppressed excitement. "We need hot water. Will you start a fire in the range?"

Mary Harris mistook Beulah's emotion for natural sympathy over a suffering creature, and hurried to the kitchen. Mrs. Arthurs was whispering with her husband in the hall, but a moment later joined Mary at the range.

Then Beulah entered the room. The policeman was speaking to Arthurs. "I must go into town now with my prisoner," he was saying. "I will send out a doctor at once, and in the meantime I know you will do everything possible."

Beulah turned her eyes to the bed. A man was lying there, and an old man was sitting beside it. At the second gland she recognized him, but in an instant she had herself under control. She walked with a steady step to the bed and looked for a full minute in her brother's face. Then she looked at her father.

Appetite Good, Gained 20 lbs.

Could Not Feel Better

From a nervous wreck this man was restored to health, strength and happiness.

He tells his own story in this letter.

Mr. Ralph A. Roberts, Loverna, Sask., writes:

"In 1917 I had lost all appetite, failed 25 pounds in weight, become very nervous and shaky and in fact given up all hope of recovery. For some time I had suffered from constipation, which kept getting worse, until I was fast becoming a total wreck. Doctors and their drugs were sending me to my grave at the age of 39.

"Then I read about people being restored by Dr. Chase's Medicines and after three months' use of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills I found that my bowels were restored to normal movement each day and the constipation was no more. I had a good appetite, had gained 20 pounds and could not feel better. I shall always be grateful for these benefits."

Gillett's Lye can be used for so many purposes that their enumeration here would be impossible. For example, Gillett's Lye can be used for making soap, in washing dishes, also as a disinfectant. For softening hard water. As a means of removing grease and smoke stains. These are only a few of its many uses, but they serve to indicate what has made Gillett's Lye such a general household utility to-day.

Work of Land Speculators

Edge Has Not Yet Been Taken Off Western Progress

"The Premier of Manitoba is sharpening the axe for land speculators," says the Toronto Globe, which adds: "But not before land speculation has taken the edge off Western progress." The Globe is mistaken. The edge has not been taken off Western progress, except as Western progress has been affected by the same world conditions that affect the progress of Toronto. And it will be Western progress principally that will later send Toronto's unemployed back from the streets to the factories.—The Calgary Herald.

Alberta's Seed Fair

Oats and Wheat Almost Perfect, Says Judge F. S. Grisdale

Never has there been such an exhibit of grain in Alberta, both as to quality, and quantity, as is shown at the provincial seed fair held in Edmonton, stated F. S. Grisdale, following the completion of his work as judge at that fair. In some of the oat classes the first four prize winners were so close that the decisions might have been reversed without much criticism. They were almost perfect, he stated.

This was true of both oats and wheat, and compared most favorably with the first prize winners at world competitions. There was a splendid exhibit of alfalfa, seed, some of it, though not all from the irrigated districts. One sample that came into the prize money was grown way north of Vermilion, and it was suggested by Mr. Grisdale that if such good seed can be grown in clovers and alfalfa, it should be put on a commercial scale.

WINTER HARD ON BABY

The winter season is a hard one on the baby. He is more or less confined to stuffy, badly ventilated rooms. It is so often stormy that the mother does not get him out in the fresh air as often as she should. He catches colds which rack his little system; his stomach and bowels get out of order and he becomes peevish and cross. To guard against this the mother should keep a box of Baby's Own Tablets in the house. They regulate the stomach and bowels, and break up colds. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Cream Lace Lightens Black Satin Frock

By Marie Belmont

Black satin is the fabric for spring and when it is developed with the new skirt of circular movement the effect is charming indeed.

The frock above of soft black satin finds individuality in its insets of cream colored radium lace and its attractive metal girdle. The circular skirt is reappearing and promises wide popularity. A compromise of this mode is sometimes seen in circular insets at either side.

Veritably, dresses may be built around fancy girdles this spring. The girdle here is of two slender silver chains enclosing at intervals square ornaments containing flat red stones.

First Stamp Dealer Dies

Had Been Conducting Prominent Trade in London Since 1860

London's first stamp dealer, William Simpson Lincoln, has died at the age of 78.

When at school in 1854, Mr. Lincoln began collecting, and became the possesor of about 210 varieties, which he kept in a small book.

Two years later he began exchanging with a fellow collector, and this was soon followed by ventures in dealing. From 1860 onwards he took a prominent part in the trade, conducting his business from a small shop in High Holborn. Over twenty years ago he moved to his present premises.

Worms, by the irritation that they cause in the stomach and intestines, deprive infants of the nourishment that they should derive from food, and mal-nutrition is the result. Miller's Worm Powders destroy worms and correct the morbid conditions in the stomach and bowels that are favorable to worms, so that the full nutriment of the child is assured and development in every way encouraged.

Mr. and Mrs. James Cook, who have been on a holiday visit with friends at Toronto and other Ontario points since the latter part of December, got back on Monday, stopping off on their return at Winnipeg and Medicine Hat. The feature of the March meeting of Creston Women's Institute will be an address on "Child Welfare" by Mrs. Garland Foster of Nelson. This is a topic on which Mrs. Foster is eminently well qualified to talk, and as she is quite a capable speaker, the meeting should be a decidedly interesting one. The Institute meets at 3 p.m., Friday, March 10th.

"One of the greatest thrills ever seen on toe screen," very aptly describes "Conflict," which will be seen at the Grand on Wednesday, March 15th.
