THE CRESTON REVIEW

Vol. XIV. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, MAY 12, 1922 No. 14

Variety Galore at Tuesday Concert

Judging by the public interest that has been aroused, and by the amount of energy which the artists are putting into their rehearsals, the advanced notices of the big base ball concert were not over stating facts when they described "Amateur Night" as the biggest entertaining event in the history of Creston. One thing seems quite certain every one is talking about the show and every one intends to go.

The price which has been set has done much to make the affair popular. The dance will have a four-piece orchestra and an excellent supper, which will be well worth the usual charge of $1.35; certainly the concert is not too dear at $1.00 for reserve seats and 50c for general admission, and we consider that when a ticket for concert and dance, with supper included, can be had for $1.50 it is not surprising that the reserve seats are selling freely.

The programme will be divided into two sections, one consisting of the very best vocal and instrumental selections, the other part consisting of amateur contest for which a substantial prize is being donated. This prize will be given to the individual or company putting on the best number, and judging by the entries already received this part of the programme will be interesting and exceptionally humorous.

The baseball team is competing with a number entitled the "Pyramid Builders." This consists of a musical number specially written for the occasion and a series of difficult acrobatic stunts which require the team work of the entire nine players. This number will be entirely new.

J. V. Lockhead will give an exhibition of fancy roping. Jimmy can make lariat do everything but sing grand opera. Mr. Lochhead is also taking part in the lightweight contest, which insures that these two numbers will alone be worth the price of admission.

Other features of this part of the programme will be the singing of the prima dona Madame Screecherini and her youthful protege, solos by Jock Osborne and Will Long, readings by W. Truscott and J. Brubacker. Special mention must also be made of the literary number by R. G. A. Hockley. Mr. Hockley has a reputation of doing well everything he undertakes and many are looking forward to his first appearance before a Creston audience.

There will also be a negro camp meeting scene put on the stage in a realistic manner by a company of genuine down south darkies. These entertainers are under the management of R. S. Bevan, who gives them a most enthusiastic recommendation as high class artists.

The above is a more or less complete list of the numbers entered for the amateur contest. The band will play during intermission and will also give an outdoor concert before the commencement of the regular programme.

For the musical part of the programme we have instrumental trios, by Mrs. Lister, Mrs. Foreman and Mr. horlton. A solo with cello accompliment by Mrs. Foreman, and instrumental by Mr. Chorlton. Solos by Mr. Jory and Mr. Hall and a solo and chorous from the "Maid of the Mountains" conducted by Mrs. Garland and those taking part being Mr. Kyle, Misses Agnes and Hazel Hobden, Evelyn and Louise Bevan, Marion Swanson, Frances Lyne and Laverna Whiddon.

Sirdar

Miss McCabe of Boston, Mass., who is en route to Portland, Ore., was a visitor here a few days with her brother, Sid McCabe.

Mrs. Loasby, who has spent the past three weeks at Vancouver, arrived home on Thursday last.

Creston callers within the week include Mrs. Dennes, Mrs. Touhey and Mrs. Cameron. Ike Lewis was also a business visitor at the metropolis on Tuesday.

Owing to the illness of Mrs. Varley, Rev. H. Varley was unable to be here for service on Sunday morning, but will have evening worship in the schoolhouse on Sunday, May 21st, and in future will visit Sirdar the third Sunday evening as well as the first Sunday morning.

Contractor Proctor having finished extensive alterations to the Goodman residence is now busy with the erection of a garage for Yardmaster Loasby.

Owing to a break in the machinery pile driving operations had to be discontinued a few days early in the week until the necessary repairs were made.

Work on the big fill at the Landing, which was resumed a couple of weeks ago, is being rushed at top speed so as to have it far enough along to avert disaster when the high water season comes.

The ladies' sewing circle are having their May meeting at the schoolhouse on Saturday afternoon, and it is expected the date of the forthcoming bazaar will be set at this week's session.

Murdoch McLeod of Cranbrook, the well-known eyesight specialist, will pay Sirdar a visit on Wednesday, May 17th, at Sirdar Hotel. If you are having any eye troubles consult him.

Sirdar is taking on the real metropolitanic appearance now for sure, the appearance of Jack Cameron in a Chevrolet car this week being the latest touch of class.

There has been a great rush for accident insurance policies this week, the demand for special protection of this sort being due to the appearance of C. M. Loasby on our thoroughfares with his Ford car at the middle of the week. The yardmaster is readily getting accustomed to the change over from the jones hand lever action to the tin lizzie foot manipulation. By the end of the month he is confident he will be able to make the Kuskanook trip without any block and tackle equipment, and possibly negotiate Creston with the minimum of loss to the standing timber. Prompt action, however, by the superintendent at putting local roads in good shape would almost assure another Grit vote at Sirdar.

Late Saturday the Sunday baseball game arranged between Creston and Porthill Wynndel nine had to be cancelled and the locals had only a practice workout amongst themselves on Sunday. Efforts are being made to have Creston play at Yahk this Sunday afternoon.

Erickson

Mr. and Mrs. John Hall and family arrived from England on Friday and are at present guests at the home of the former's brother, W. W. Hall.

Clements & Young are the first Valley ranchers to have 1922 grown lettuce to market. They started supplying the Creston demand at the end of the week.

M. J. Boyd of Creston is a daily visitor here at present, having the contract to erect rock chutes and bins for the hard surface road operations this year. We understand he will also erect a blacksmith shop which will be needed in connection with 1922 road-making effort.

E. Cartwright is the first of the Erickson residents to invest in a new auto this year. His purchase is a Ford of the latest model, and has been appropriately named the Bearcat.

L. Leveque has completed his contract of slashing and clearing ten acres of the land owned here by H. A. McKowan of Cranbrook who, we hear, will this year break and plant most of it to orchard.

Sam Scott reports that he is rapidly getting Erickson's junior baseball team, the Doodads, into shape, and by the end of the month they will probably challenge the Creston team for the Valley school championship. A diamond has been made on the A. Scott place and practices are held most every night. There is ample pitching material in Ed. Martin and Jim and Jack Dodds, while Hugh Graham and Ernest Stinson show up well behind the bat. The other material to pick from is Keith Littlejohn, Ed. Clark, Will Graham, Walter and Bob Dodds.

H. Brownrigg has about completed the erection of quite a commodious garage on the Spence place, recently purchased by Mr. Bean.

Sam Fraser has just completed the unloading of a car of fertilizer—the second car he has put on his ranch from Kitchener this spring.

Now that the government has announced a cash bounty on gophers the slaughter of these animals by Erickson youngsters is very heavy at present. Most every boy in the district hopes to make enough to purchase a season ticket for Chautauqua on the gopher kill.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Maxwell of Vancouver arrived on Tuesday on a visit to the former's parents Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Maxwell.

Spraying operations commenced this week the ranchers on the lower road being the first to start the work this year.

Wynndel

The United Farmers dance on Saturday night was a very successful affair. The floor was quite well filled all evening, and excellent music was supplied by Miss D. Butterfield, and Messrs. E. Ringheim and A. Andestad on the piano, and M. Wigen, E. Ringheim and Jack Penson on the violin. Over $10 was cleared for the local.

Mr. and Mrs. J. P. Brooke and family, who have been residing in Medicine Hat, Alta., since last fall, returned to their home here on Thursday last. Jack Brooke is employed at the mill at present.

E. F. Post, who has been on the staff of the Wynndel Mercantile Company since last summer, left on Sunday for Cranbrook, where he has secured as assistant fire warden with the C.P.R.

The Co-Operative Fruit Growers are unloading two more cars of sheep manure, making seven cars all told that they have taken of this fertilizer this season.

The Athlectic Club opened the tennis season on Sunday when in spite of the bad weather several fast sets were played.

Mr. and Mrs. Sheppard of Winnipeg, Man., who purchased a block of land from H. A. Bathie, sr., arrived last week, and are located in the Homeseekers' Agency shack until their own house is built.

John Bathie was a week-end visitor at Kitchener, returning on Sunday afternoon.

Tenders are being called for a new schoolhouse to be erected here, which is figured to be ready for use after the summer vacation.

M. Wigen is building a large packing shed on his ranch, and figures to use the upper part to house his pickers and packers.

Mrs. W. B. Embree of Creston spent a few days here this week the guest of Mrs. Vic. Johnson.

Lister

Mrs. Halstead and her daughter, who have been the guests of her son-in-law E. L. Langston, the past three months, have returned to their Ontario home.

The regular U.F.B.C. meeting was held in the schoolhouse on Friday evening last, with Pres. Fred Powers in the chair. It was resolved that the branch would give a prize to the child who killed the most gophers in the area this season. The seed potatoes are expected to arrive any day, about a ton and a half having been shipped to the local. There will be no meeting of the branch for the next three months.

E. L. Langston has disposed of his property on the Porthill road, opposite the Rodgers farm, and taken over the old N. Stones property. He is busy planting two hundred fillers in the present orchard.

Jas. Jory has taken up his new duties, those of fire warden.

Fred Thompson has the contract of planting the Liddicoat orchard, V. Liddicoat being away working at Nakusp.

Canyon City

Norman Strong left a few days ago for Wasa where, we understand, he has secured work in the sawmill at that point for the summer.

Mrs. Robillard, accompanied by her father, spent a few days with Spokane friends last week.

"Dad" Browell has been named as the local fire warden for the Canyon City district for this season, and will be on duty whenever there is any fire fighting to be taken care of in this section. He has also been authorized to issue permits for burning.

Another ten acres of the Land Settlement Board holdings in the Fort Macleod section has just been sold to Ted Strong, who will start clearing operations shortly.

The United Farmers will have a couple of hours sociability at the conclusion of the regular session on the 18th in the shape of a dance, with Mrs. Pochin and Messrs. Davie and Wickholm furnishing the music.

W. Kolthammer has commenced the erection of a new residence on the ten acres he lately purchased opposite the Hale ranch.

The new power sprayer for Huygens, Olsen and Mawson arrived this week, and is being set up ready for operations as soon as required.

Fred and Elmer Chambers left a few days ago for Yahk, where they are both working in the C.P.R. mill this season.

Mrs. Wickholm, with a showing of 12 chicks from 13 eggs is claiming the diploma for Canyon's most successful poultryist this season. They are of the renowned Palmer Leghorn strain.

Preliminary arrangements for the memorial tablet unveiling on May 24th, provide for a children's picnic in the afternoon, and the unveiling ceremony to commence at 7 in the evening at the school grounds. The heads of the Valley C.W.V.A.'s, and other community organizations in the Valley, as well as the four clergy and Col. Lister, M.P.P., are amongst those who will be invited to take part in proceedings. Full particulars of the ceremony will be published next week.

1922 Chautauqua Programs Excel

Creston's big six-day afternoon and evening sessions of entertainment and education—Chautauqua—is announced to open in the big brown tent on the afternoon of Thursday, June 15th, and a look over the programme of attractions readily convinces that this year's Chautauqua will be at least 25 per cent. superior to the 1921 offerings.

The lecturers this year will handle topics that are of decidedly present-day interest and they all come with reputations that stamp them as being in the forefront of present-day speakers. Two of these are Moritz Hidus, who discusses the Russian situation, and Alex. Thompson whose address will be on problems of the British Empire, while Chief Strongheart will talk on the life and times of the North American Indians. William H. Stout has another timely address on "Seeing Life Whole." In lighter strain will be Herbert L. Cope and T. Dinsmore Upton.

In the musical line the offerings are all much stronger than last year. For Saturday afternoon and night we are to have the Eiler-Willoughby orchestra, along with which is Penwick Newell, a lyric tenor of operatic stage fame, and on Tuesday night the sterling English comedy, "Mrs. Temple's Telegram," will be submitted by an all star cast. For the other afternoons and evenings the musical features are all of the same high order.

Season tickets will be on sale at $3 for the dozen programmes, with the children admitted for the six days at the popular price of $1. For adults this works out at just 30 cents per performance—certainly the biggest bargain in the way of entertainment Creston has ever had, and those who are guaranteeing the attraction are hoping their efforts will be appreciated by a banner sale of season tickets, which will be offered the public.

Personal Efficiency

The workman whose eyes are inefficient is doing inefficient work, no matter how conscientious he may be.

It is a proven fact that a tremendous amount of nerve energy is lost by eye strain, which could be stopped immediately by wearing properly fitted glasses.

When eye strain is relieved or removed entirely other organs of the body are greatly benefitted.

For a pair of glasses to be satisfactory they must be ground from an accurate formula. For a formula to be correct it must be based upon a thorough, scientific examination of your eyes.

A hundred per cent. efficiency in your days work demands 100 per cent. eyesight.

More than 80 per cent. of headaches are caused by eye strain.

Don't wait until strain compels you to look after your eyes.

Give your eyes the aid and ease they demand before INJURY DEVELOPS.

Some Sound Advice

In this column last week emphasis was laid on the absolute necessity of every business man and artizan, in fact of every individual developing their old-confidence as a necessary first step towards solving the present business depression and consequent lack of employment. There is need for confidence by all, in themselves, in our business men and institutions, in Governments, and in our great wealth of God-given natural resources.

Coupled with a return of such confidence there is need for the abandonment of present-day ideas of softness and ease and a renewal of an old-time determination to work. If there is to be a return of prosperity and good times, it must be preceded by the old willingness and energy to work—a return of those days when everybody was busy from morn till night and found real pleasure in their work.

Shortly after his accession to the Premiership of Saskatchewan a few weeks ago, Hon. C. A. Dunning delivered several addresses before public bodies, and the keynote of each address was the need for confidence and the substantial grounds which existed to justify such confidence.

Hon. T. C. Norris, Premier of Manitoba, in an address to the Credit Men's Trust Association early last month, laid emphasis on the same need, and on the necessity for unremitting labor on the part of all citizens.

If any men in the West today are in a position to size up the weaknesses of the present situation; if there are any men who are confronted with heavier responsibilities and greater difficulties and problems than other men; if there are men who might with reason feel a lack of confidence in the future, it is those men who as heads of Governments have had to deal daily with the scores of complaints and grievances arising out of the hard times of the past year. If these men can look to the future with confidence, and are willing to devote their best energies and all their time in bringing about that betterment which is to be had if it is gone after in the right spirit and in an intelligent, determined manner, then there is no reason why others should be faint-hearted or lukewarm in effort.

In his address to which reference has been made, Premier Norris made an important point which is deserving of the serious consideration of all workingmen in cities and towns. If, he said, they desired to know the reason why so many of the brightest young men and women left the country for the city it was this: In the city men agitated for an 8-hour day and a 44-hour week. Every time they clipped anything off the working day or increased the pay by one cent an hour they created a condition which affected the farmers. Their men were anxious to come to the cities. If they shortened the time for earning money they increased the time for spending money. Every advantage of that kind cost something more in the production of food. Living became more expensive. More men and women were added to the ranks of the workers in the cities, with an inevitable increase in the number of unemployed and added acuteness to the problems which the city worker had to contend against.

Premier Norris expressed the opinion that the extreme labor man was thus standing in his own light when he advised a 44-hour week, because he took from the ranks of the producer on the farms and added to the ranks of the consumers in the cities. The balance must be kept equal to maintain the ability to bring in new money, and new money was that which was produced from the soil itself, and it was only to the extent that that new money was produced that steady and profitable employment could be provided for the city artizan, store clerk and office employee. Not less work, but more work, was the crying need of the times.

Another point urged by Premier Norris was that, along with a renewal of confidence and a determination to work hard and faithfully, there was a very great need for economy. In this connection he said: "The majority of wage earners and lower salaried men are living right up to the mark every month; indeed, a large number of them are living one month ahead of their salaries. If we can turn them around and get them to live one month behind their salaries for the next few months, getting them away from the effect of living beyond their salaries, success will attend the efforts of every person."

Summed up, Mr. Norris' conclusions as to the remedies to apply to present conditions, are: All citizens must develop more confidence. They must be industrious. There are too many persons who do not wish to work more than eight hours a day. Some people can afford to live in ease without work, but they are not many. If persons are not industrious they cannot succeed. They must practice economy. They can save enough money to get one month ahead of their salary, and they can easily do it if they make up their minds. They would find it was just as easy to live one month behind their salary as it was to live one month ahead of it if they would but make up their minds to do it. There must be industry and economy and with these would come optimism, confidence and prosperity.

Fleet of Flying Boats to be Used in Northern Manitoba

A fleet of five flying boats will likely be employed in Northern Manitoba during the coming summer to patrol forest areas for the detection of fires. Government agents who pay the annual treaty monies to the various Indian bands scattered throughout remote parts of the province will also travel by airplane, and thus will be able to accomplish in five or six days the work which formerly required several weeks.

After spending some time here, it came upon her suddenly that she loved Canada, the big crude land that had seemed so unfriendly at first. Read the opening chapter.

Under Soviet Rule

Slaves to a Harsh and Really Unintelligent Bureaucracy

In Soviet Russia there were to be no masters, or, in other words, everyone was to be a law unto himself. The madness has worked itself out, and now all men are slaves to a harsh, impractical and really unintelligent bureaucracy, and abject want has replaced plenty. We have been supplied with ample warning, which the sinister activities of Communist agents in this country, very busy just now, cannot cloak. Though there are at present, unhappily, no signs of a settlement, we still have faith that reason and good sense will prevail. The country has won one war at a heavy cost, and it cannot afford repeated assaults on its economic strength at a time when every effort should be directed to making good the ravages of the late struggle. —London Daily Telegraph.

Saskatchewan Butter Gets First Place

Dairy Industry is Making Rapid Strides in Recent Years

In a Dominion-wide competition in which six creameries of each province took part, Saskatchewan butter has been awarded the first place. Samples were shipped to a cold storage plant in Montreal and there scored by official graders. Scores were taken during the entire year 1921 and resulted in Saskatchewan being given the highest place among the provinces. Saskatchewan's butter industry has developed very rapidly in recent years.

"I had been dragging along for the last few years," he says, "till I wasn't able to do the chores. I tried two doctors but they seemed to do me no good at all.

"Then an advertisement led me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I am so much improved that I feel like telling everyone to use them."

For Better Roads

Spend $1,570,000 on Roads and Bridges in Saskatchewan

According to announcement made by J. C. Gardiner, Saskatchewan Minister of Highways, approximately $1,570,000 will be spent on roads and large capital bridges in the province this season. The Legislature voted $2,035,932 at the last session for public improvements.

This expenditure will be apportioned as follows: Roads constructed under the Federal aid scheme, $900,000; large steel and concrete bridges, $120,000; main market roads, $550,000.

It is estimated that a sum of $120,000 will be required for large bridges of permanent type, viz., reinforced concrete bridges of arch or beam type, or steel trusses on concrete foundations. These bridges will be located on main lines of travel serving some market centre.

About $900,000 will be required to complete the contracts entered into last season, and those contracts which will be called for this spring for the construction of provincial highways under the Federal aid scheme.

Lloyd George Dwells On Political Dangers That Confront Europe

Genoa.—Premier Lloyd George has drawn an alarmist picture of Europe. In addressing the British and United States press representatives he declared that the object at Genoa was to clear up the political differences which were full of menace. He compared Europe to seething racial lava, which, like the earth's crust, was seking a proper level. This adjustment was full of perils. He emphasized that Europe must take cognizance of hungry Russia, which could be equipped by an angry Germany.

"The world must recognize the fact," the Premier said, "that Russia and Germany combined contain over two-thirds of the people of Europe. Their voice will be heard, and the Russo-German treaty is the first warning of it."

As proof of the danger, he cited the fact that there was no frontier line from the Baltic to the Black Sea, including the Rumanian, Galician, Polish and Lithunian frontiers which had been accepted.

"I wish America were here," Mr. Lloyd George exclaimed. "Some people think we want the United States for some selfish purpose. This is not true. We want America because she exercises a peculiar authority; her very aloofness gives her the right to speak.

"America could exercise an influence no other country could command. She could come here free and disentangled, and, with the prestige which comes from her independent position, she would come with the voice of peace.

"But America is not here; so Europe must do her best to solve the problems in her own way."

Mr. Lloyd George gave it at his opinion that the disorganization of Europe would affect the entire world, including the United States. He was amazed at people who ignored the portentious fact facing Europe today. Unless Europe is re-organized, in other words, unless the Genoa conference succeeds in arranging a pact, he was confident that if not in his own life, certainly in the life of the younger men present, Europe would again welter in blood. "We triumphed in the war," he said, "but our triumph will not last for ever. If our victory develops into oppression, vengeance will follow, just as Germany's action which started the war was followed by vengeance.

"We must be just and equitable and show strength; we must realize that Europe is not on good terms and that storms are arising which we must deal with. We had hoped that the end of the Great War meant the end of brute force, but unless Europe's problems are solved, there is no assurance that force has given way to right."

HALIFAX EXPLOSION WRECKED HER NERVES

The reader will, no doubt, remember when a few years ago there was a collision in the Halifax, N.S., Harbor and one of the munition ships was blown up, causing great loss of life and laying a large portion of the city in ruins, and causing a great deal of suffering and distress among the inhabitants.

Mrs. Winfield Dill, now of Windsor, N.S., was living in Halifax at that time and went through this trying experience and the shock wrecked her nerves. She writes as follows:—"I was living in Halifax at the time of the explosion, and it wrecked my nerves so that I could not do my housework. I would take such nervous spells I would be under the doctor's care.

Farm Laborers from B.C.

British Columbia's Unemployment Problems Solved by Prairies

Vancouver.—The increasing demand for farm laborers on the prairies is rapidly solving British Columbia's unemployment problems. About 1,000 men have been sent east from here and more are going at the rate of 60 a day, Labor Department officials state.

Replying to a request for 50 men a day until further notice, made by the Saskatoon United Farmers' Club, Mayor Tisdall wired that only an average of 30 experienced men could be sent.

Strained Muscles, Strains, Can Be Treated Quickly

In minor sprains, the muscle is strained a little, and all that is needed is a vigorous rubbing with Nerviline. This draws the extra blood away and permits the muscle to return to its normal condition. The supremacy Nerviline enjoys is owing to its penetrating power, it strikes deeply, that is why it removes deep-seated pains, and fixes up folks that have Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuralgia and Sciatica. There is about five times the pain destroying power in Nerviline than you find in the average liniment. Sold everywhere, 35c per bottle.

Tokio.—A heavy earth shock centering in Tokio, caused the death of a few persons and considerable damage was done to buildings in the city and their contents.

The earthquake was preceded by an eruption of Mount Asam-Yama, ninety miles northwest of Tokio, which broke out with a loud report pouring forth volumes of ashes, stones and smoke. No serious damage was caused by the eruption. There were many escapes of the narrowest sort from collapsing chimneys and walls. The earth shock was one of the most severe experienced here in a long period. Officials stated it lasted 15 minutes, the longest in years.

Drop in Canadian Sea Fish Catch

Only Increase Was in Herring Taken on Pacific Coast

Ottawa.—A report on the fishing results for the month of March, 1922, issued by the Department of Marine and Fisheries, says: The total catch of sea fish on the Atlantic and Pacific coasts for the month was 116,866 cwts., valued at $515,869. In the same month last year 100,833 cwts. valued at $724,534 were landed.

On the Pacific coast there was a big drop in the catch of halibut, only 10,208 cwts. being taken compared with 20,268 cwts. in March, 1921. The catch of herring on the other hand shows a considerable increase, 46,898 cwts. being taken against 18,304 in the preceding March.

What This Buffalo Physician Has Done For Humanity

The picture which appears here of Dr. Pierce of Buffalo, N. Y., was taken in 1910. As a young man Dr. Pierce practised medicine in Pennsylvania and was known far and wide for his great success in alleviating disease. He early moved to Buffalo and put up in ready-to-use form, his Golden Medical Discovery, the well-known tonic for the blood. This strength-builder is made from a formula which Dr. Pierce found most effective in diseases of the blood. It contains no alcohol and is an extract of native roots with the ingredients plainly stated on the wrapper. Good red blood, vim, vigor and vitality are sure to follow if you take this Alterative Extract. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery clears away pimples and annoying eruptions and tends to keep the complexion fresh and clear. This Discovery corrects the disordered conditions in a sick stomach, aids digestion, acts as a tonic and purifies the blood. Write Dr. Pierce's Invalids Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., and receive confidential medical advice without charge. All druggists sell Discovery, tablets or liquid.

Plans Are Made For British Settlement Within The Empire

London.—In the House of Commons, Lieut.-Col. L. C. Amery, Parliamentary Secretary of the Board of Admiralty, moved the second reading of the Empire Settlement Bill, the object of which is to make better provision than is the case at present for furthering British settlement in overseas dominions.

Col. Amery stated that the bill was intended to give effect to resolutions passed in conference with the dominions last year. He acknowledged that the dominions' present restrictions were necessary owing to their own labor conditions.

Two schemes are now submitted—first, assisted emigration, and second, land settlement development.

The overseas settlement committee, Col. Amery said, is now of the opinion that not more than one-third of the passage money should ordinarily be granted free to an emigrant. "The experience of our own country and of the dominions has convinced us that the capacity of the dominions to absorb any really large immigration depends strictly upon the opening up of agricultural resources," Col. Amery said. "Therefore, direct settlement of men on the land will constitute the economic regeneration of the Empire." Consequently he attached greater importance to the land settlement development scheme than assisted emigration.

It was not proposed to spend more than £1,500,000 in the present year, Col. Amery pointed out, but the normal expenditure was fixed at £3,000,000, of which about £1,000,000 would be required for assisting emigration. To this the dominions furnish another £1,000,000. Col. Amery estimated the annual emigration at something between 60 and 80 thousand—one thousand persons to begin with, and a considerably larger figure eventually if the repayment of the advances was added to the fund for fresh assistance. The remaining £2,000,000 of the United Kingdom's settlement fund would be available for assistance to those who settled on the land and developed it. Probably about 3,000 heads of families as farmers might be settled for a loan expenditure of £1,000,000, Col. Amery said, but block schemes might yield larger results.

Archduke Ferdinand's Yacht

Canadian Government Has for Sale Yacht Once Owned by Duke Who Was Assassinated

Halifax.—The Hochelaga, former yacht of Archduke Ferdinand of Austria, whose assassination preceded the war, is being offered for sale by the Department of Naval Service here, along with a company of ships which include the Niobe, former British and Canadian cruiser; the Grilse, once the United States yacht Winchester; and the Canada, for many years the flagship of the Canadian fisheries patrol and Canada's leading naval craft; and the Petrol, also of the fisheries service.

The Hochelaga was purchased by the Canadian Government from Andrew Morgan, of New York, a brother of J. P. Morgan, the financier, in 1915, for Atlantic coast patrol.

May Float Loan Within Canada

Possibility that Government Will Make Another Domestic Loan Issue

Ottawa.—The possibility of the next Government loan being floated in Canada was foreshadowed in a report made by Hon. W. S. Fielding, Minister of Finance, to a deputation representing the Bond Dealers' Association of Canada, which waited on him for the purpose of considering the question of further issue of loans.

The recent financing in New York has supplied the present needs of the Government and it is understood that there will be no immediate further borrowing.

Mr. Fielding intimated, however, that the maturing obligations of the Government were large, that at no distant day further borrowing would be necessary, and that his desire was that then the conditions would be such as to permit the floating of a domestic loan.

No Restrictions on Grain Shipments

TELLS DYSPEPTICS WHAT TO EAT

Avoid Indigestion, Sour Acid Stomach, Heartburn, Gas on Stomach, Etc.

Indigestion and practically all forms of stomach trouble, say medical authorities, are due nine times out of ten to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach. Chronic "acid stomach" is exceedingly dangerous and sufferers should do either one of two things.

Either they can go on a limited and often disagreeable diet, avoiding foods that disagree with them, that irritate the stomach and lead to excess acid secretion or they can eat as they please in reason and make it a practice to counteract the effect of the harmful acid and prevent the formation of gas, sourness or premature fermentation by the use of a little Bisurated Magnesia at their meals.

There is probably no better, safer or more reliable stomach antiacid than Bisurated Magnesia and it is widely used for this purpose. It has no direct action on the stomach and is not a digestent. But a teaspoonful of the powder or a couple of five grain tablets taken in a little water with the food will neutralize the excess acidity which may be present and prevent its further formation. This removes the whole cause of the trouble and the meal digests naturally and healthfully without need of pepsin pills or artificial digestents.

Get a few ounces of Bisurated Magnesia from any reliable druggist. Ask for either powder or tablets. It never comes as a liquid, milk or citrate and in the bisurated form is not a laxative. Try this plan and eat what you want at your next meal and see if this isn't the best advice you ever had on "what to eat."

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, MAY 12

C.P.R. Efficiency

In connection with Atlantic ocean steamship travel the Canadian Pacific Railway has lately made an announcement that will meet with unanimous and hearty public approval. Briefly stated the new order of things guarantees train passengers from any part of Canada connection with the ocean steamers regardless of any delay that may be encountered on the rail trip to the seaboard. Hitherto, to be quite sure of connection, travellers invariably started at least a day early, but now, as the C.P.R. puts it, "when a passenger boards a train on the Canadian Pacific that is due to connect with a company steamship at Montreal or Quebec he is stepping on the gang plank." The official announcement in this connection reads: A guaranteed connection between trains and steamships bound for the east has just been announced by Canadian Pacific Railway officials at Montreal. Under the new arrangement this guarantee of connection with steamships is extended more surely to travellers from points further west. If any of the trains bearing steamship passengers are delayed in arriving at Montreal the steamer will be held two hours if by so doing the passengers can embark at that point If the delay is longer the steamship will proceed to Quebec and there await the delayed passengers. Transportation will be arranged from Montreal to Quebec for passengers booked to sail from Montreal.

Amusement Tax

The attention of those who take charge of amusements of any sort to which an admission fee is charged is called to the fact that, with the excepeion of entertainments for church purposes, every such entertainment must pay 10 per cent. Amusement Tax, and that the law in this regard provides rather severe penalties for those who refuse or neglect to pay such tax.

In connection with its collection the law is very clear that those responsible for entertainments must either purchase Amusement Tax coupons from the provincial police to sell to their patrons, or else a return must be made direct to the police officer within a week of the holding of any entertainment, on a form provided, and such form must contain a declaration that the amount paid is exactly 10 per cent. of the gross receipts of the affair.

During the past six months dances, concerts, etc., have been held in unusually large numbers but those responsible for them have in all too many cases neglected to make any returns—due, possibly in some cases, to the prevailing impression that it was up to the police officer to be in attendance and take his percentage, or go without, or due to the incorrect idea that anything for community benefit or charitable purposes was not liable for amusement tax.

There is no desire on the part of the local provincial police to have any unpleasantness over enforcing the law in this respect, but it is well the public should know that the amusement tax applies to all entertainment except those given for religious purposes; that the authorities at Victoria are insisting on the tax being collected, so there is nothing for it but for the police to enforce the act on every occasion.

Any leniency that may have been shown in the past will not be repeated, and as Mr. McLaren is a close reader of the papers and a frequent visitor at all points in the Valley he is in excellent position to know just about everything that is going on in the entertainment line, and will certainly insist on the purchase of coupons or the weekly presentation of statements.

Where the money comes out of a general fund no hardship is worked on any particular individual, and no possible excuse therefore exists for evading this feature of the common law any more than the other regulations that safeguard the community's welfare.

May Have Potato Bugs This Year

In this meeting with the growers here on May 1st, Prof. Eastham surprised a majority of his hearers with the announcement that there is a possibility of Creston Valley this year being invaded by the old reliable eastern potato bug, and in order that the situation may be intelligently coped with Mr. Eastham devoted quite a considerable portion of his address to a discussion of potato beetles.

According to the speaker there are three distinct kinds of beetles which attack the potato. The potato flea-beetle is a very small bluish-black one with a golden sheen, which gets its name of "flea beetle" on account of its jumping powers. These beetles eat small holes in the leaves and when present in large numbers leave nothing but the veins. However they are rarely serious. There is also a black square-cut beetle about half an inch long, and commonly known as the old-fashioned potato beetle, which is sometimes found eating the vines. While this insect may at times do a certain amount of damage, it is probably more useful than harmful, since it feeds to a large extent on the eggs of locusts and grasshoppers. Lastly, we have a much more serious pest in the Colorado beetle, or so-called "potato-bug" of the east. This pest is now present in the East Kootenay as far west as Wardner, and will gradually spread here unless every care is taken. Unfortunately the infestation at Wardner was right by the side of the railroad track, and as the adult beetles fly freely, they may have got on to passing trains and been carried down the valley. There is the possibility, therefore, that the pest may be found this season anywhere between Cranbrook and Kootenay Landing. The possibility of cleaning up any such introduction before the pest becomes established depends entirely on the grower recognising it and taking immediate measures. The adult beetle, which is the stage which winters over and appears with the first warm weather, is a rather broad beetle about half an inch long and with ten black and ten yellow stripes running alternately down the back. The underside is a bright orange colour. The female lays about 500 eggs, in batches on the underside of the leaves, egg-laying taking place for a month or more. The eggs are a bright yellow. From these the larva or grub, the most destructive stage of the pest hatches. This is of a brick red colour, fat, and with a peculiar hump on it. When full fed it goes into the ground to change into the adult.

If this pest appears it will be found at first only in small numbers, and therefore it is important that the grower should keep a very careful watch over his potato fields in order to spot it. Only occasional plants will be attacked at first, and these will be noticed as they become eaten by the bug. If any of the adults are seen they should be killed at once. If grubs are found, the attacked vine should be pulled and placed in some container so that none of them can get away, a search made on the ground for any that have dropped, and on adjacent plants for any that have moved from where the eggs were laid. Above all get in touch with your local inspector. It is true that in the east the pest is controlled by spraying with arsenicals two or thre times, but this will cost three to five dollars per acre for materials alone, in addition to labour and machinery. It is scarcely necessary, therefore, to emphasise the desirability of suppressing the pest at its first appearance.

Fire Blight

This has proved the most destructive orchard disease of the province, hundreds of bearing trees having been destroyed by it, especially in the Okanagan and Grand Forks districts. It is a bacterial disease, carried by insects, and attacking apples, pears, and quinces, being especially severe on the two last. It is a most expensive disease to control, the only method being cutting out and disinfecting. Creston is now threatened with an invasion of the disease from two sides. There was a severe infection on pears at Nelson last year, and another in an orchard near Cranbrook. Creston is much favoured by isolation but there is danger. There have been a number of outbreaks of the disease on the Arrow and Kootenay Lake districts during the last eight years, but all were completely got rid of except the one at Nelson. The reason was that the growers did not conceal the outbreak or attempt to deal with it themselves, but reported at once to the inspector. The disease is perhaps the most treacherous one we have, and anyone unfamiliar with it should leave it alone until control measures have been carefully explained. The disease appears as a blighting of the blossoms of the young growth gradually extending down the branch. The cambium turns brown or is at first streaked with orange, the leaves die, watersoaked areas appear in the bark and a honey-like sap exdues from them which dries into beads of gum. This exudate is full of bacteria and is carried by insects to flowers or twigs, where it may produce new infections. If you find anything suspicious notify your inspector at once.

MY CANADA

— BY —

ELINOR MARSDEN ELIOT

Published by Special Arrangement with the Author

I.

Winnipeg,
June 2nd, 19—.

Had any one a year ago told me that I should ever be reduced to the necessity of keeping a diary in which to record my woes I would have refused to believe the prophecy—I, Elinor Marsden Eliot, healthy, happy, and moderately good-looking! And just here I may confess that the aforesaid Elinor is popularly supposed to be rather strong-minded, simply because she has reached the mature age of twenty-five without finding a husband necessary to her well-being.

Mary Arnold tells me that I must drop my roundabout mode of expression if I wish to find listeners in this busy country, so perhaps I had better go back a few months and begin at the beginning of my story instead of in the middle of it. Mary also says that all my observations should be prefaced with the explanation, "I am English, you know." On my pointing out to her that she also is English, she retorted, "Not on your life! Canadian for mine!" I have remarked that she is more than usually lavish in her use of slang when she is speaking to me; she is a dear girl, however, and I am sure that she would allow no one else to guy (or, in Canadian, "string") me as she herself does.

Well, I am English, you know, and a few months ago, upon attaining my twenty-fifth birthday, I came into a small legacy, the bequest of a maiden aunt. This aunt, by the way, made provision in her will that, in the event of my marrying before the age of twenty-five, the hundred pounds a year was to go to a Dogs' Hospital in London! One of Father's curates—he is really awfully fond of dogs—tried to divert the money to this worthy object, but, as Mary says, "not for mine."

Ever since the Arnolds visited us in England three years ago I have longed to see Canada. And Mrs. Arnold invited me to spend a year with them, and she promised mother to take good care of me if I were allowed to go; but as I had already been taken care of for twenty-two years, that prospect did not appeal to me. I wanted to go a-pioneering on my own responsibility, and of course Mother and Father would not consent to such a plan. Imagine, then, their consternation when I called a family council the day after my last birthday and informed them of my intention to go to Canada, with their consent or without it!

Mother cried. Father took his glasses off, wiped them carefully on the bit of chamois he carries in his waistcoat pocket for the purpose, put them on again, and then said in his own kind way, "Well, my dear we'll talk it over." Ralph, aged twenty-two, winked solemnly at Helen, eighteen, and remarked to the world in general that I was afraid that my money would go to the bow-wows if I stayed within reach of Arthur—Arthur is the curate. Helen had seemed to be on the verge of following Mothers example, but Ralph's nonsense acted as a general restorative, so I went on to tell them of the plans I had made.

I intended to go to the Arnold's home in Winnipeg, and from there to look for a situation as working companion on a farm. Then, when I had gained a fair amount of experience, I would buy a small place of my own and go in for poultry-farming—far away from curates and mothers' meetings. Quite an ambitious programme for a girl who had never been out of England, was it not? But I longed for a complete change; I never was a success as "t' parson's daughter"; Helen plays that part much better than I do, perhaps because her godfather is a bishop. My godfather is an eccentric old bachelor who once aspired to Mother's hand, and who invariably supports my periodic rebellions against Mrs. Grundy.

After all, I think the greatest surprise of the day was mine, for this time Father and Mother agreed to let me try my wings. I have always suspected that in the bottom of his heart Father sympathized with my desire for a broader outlook, but the only way in which the poor dear man could ever show his feeling was by allowing me to study Latin and Trig. with the pupils he had to take before Aunt Josephine died and left us her money—peace to her ashes! Mother, however, while as sweet as she could be, is decidedly mid-Victorian in her ideals. Since I grew up she has at all times and seasons painted matrimony in the most glowing colours, and I firmly believe that only her conservatism prevents her from petitioning for a new clause in the Litany:—

"From all strong-minded women, feminists and suffragettes, Good Lord, deliver us."

One day she went so far as to point out to me that I was tempting Providence by refusing three offers of marriage when I had been privileged to receive more than my proportionate share. She had been perusing a table of statistics which showed an appalling preponderance of women over men in the British Isles. Perhaps I was tempting Providence, but I think I was justified. The first offer was from a retired Anglo-Indian with a good pension and a bad liver; he wanted a nurse-housekeeper. The second was from an old pupil of Father's, a dear boy—but two years younger than I. The third was from Arthur, the fourth, fifth and sixth also; he will have a title some day if sundry uncle and cousins die, but he wears low collars and has no sense of humour. So what could a poor girl do?

We were very busy for the next few weeks. It seems to me as I look back that all my time was spent either in the shops or in the sewing-room; but at the last I had one lovely long week in which to say good-bye to every man, woman, and child in the village. I never realized before to what an extent Wilmington had contributed to the population of North America; my address book was full in no time, and I innocently promised to look up people in New York and Norway House, Prince Rupert and Halifax.

I shall follow a time-honoured custom and draw a veil over the parting with my family. I can still feel the lump in my throat, and still hear the perfectly idiotic answers I made to Ralph's equally idiotic questions.

I presume my ocean voyage was like every other ocean voyage, and therefore need not be described. "Dear Arthur's" aunt's sister-in-law, or some such creature, crossed with me. Her presence was a great source of comfort to Mother, I believe, but I, suffering from a combination of homesickness and seasickness, would much rather have been alone.

"Alone, alone, all, all alone,
Alone on the wide, wide sea!
And never a saint took pity on My soul in agony!"

(All sentimental young ladies who keep diaries have poetical quotations in them—in the diaries, I mean—and this seemed so appropriate.)

"Well, Elinor dear, you are a most fortunate girl—my sakes, please—dear Arthur has always been a comfort to his friends. He never caused his mother a moment's anxiety—and the small box of capsules—he could repeat the whole of the Catechism before he was six years old—my shawl, dearest, no, not that one, the lavender with white trimmings."

We parted at Montreal, and I was so overjoyed that I gave a dollar, my first Canadian expenditure, to a convenient Salvation Army lass.

When I asked Mary if I should preserve for posterity the record of my impressions from the moment my foot first touched Canadian soil, she told me that on no account must I make such a mistake, as nothing east of Winnipeg was of any importance. Of course it was Mary who planted in my fertile mind the seed that produced this diary—I am really proud of that sentence; living in "the breadbasket of the Empire" seems to improve my literary style.

While I was dressing for dinner on the night of my arrival in Winnipeg, I must confess that I shed a few tears. Mary discovered their traces, and after administering consolation in the comical elder-sisterly style she affects—Mary is twenty—she advised me to invest in a diary.

"You are sure to be homesick at times," she said, "and I can assure you that there is no more certain relief for that worst of all diseases than to write down your inmost feelings. When I was away at school I used to write the most mournful letters possible—the sort one can wring salt water out of, you know—address them to Mother, and then post them in the kitchen stove. Sometimes the chimney smoked for weeks, but I felt a whole heap better."

On the whole her advice seemed to be worth following. And—who knows?—perhaps my grandchildren will be glad to read my chronicle!

On reading over what I have written, I feel as if it had been prepared for someone to read. But as I had no particular person in mind as I wrote, my imaginary confidant must be someone whom I have not yet seen. Rather a pretty fancy, that, one quite worthy of a young person who keeps a diary!

No Appetite

Nervous exhaustion leads to distaste for food. The nerves of the stomach are weak, digestion fails and you become generally upset and out of sorts.

The secret of complete restoration is in getting the nervous system fully built up.

Mrs. R. Cheney, 208 Richmond St., Chatham, Ont., writes:

"I was troubled with indigestion, which caused me many sleepless nights. I would be in terrible distress at times, and would get no relief for two or three hours. For sixteen months I ate nothing but Shredded Wheat biscuits, as I dare not eat anything else. I did not know what to do, as I had tried so many different remedies, as well as doctors' medicines, without gaining permanent relief. Finally I got some of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and while on the second box noticed that I was improving. I continued the treatment until I am now fully restored, and have returned to my regular diet. My husband has also taken Dr. Chase's Nerve Food with splendid results, so we are glad to recommend it to others."

Our New Serial Story

Elinor Marsden Eliot was a typical English girl who came to Canada to satisfy a long-cherished idea to go a-pioneering. If you will read "My Canada," the new serial story which commences with this issue, you will learn what fortune awaited her at the foot of the rainbow.

Want Binder Twine Factory

Saskatchewan Grain Growers Want Factory Established at Penitentiary

Binder twine in Saskatchewan represents an investment of millions of dollars by the province's farmers at harvest time, and the Regina branch of the Saskatchewan Grain Growers is asking that a binder twine factory be established at the Provincial Penitentiary at Prince Albert. Not only does the branch want inquiry made into the feasibility of this establishment, but consider the advisability of utilizing prison labor in the manufacture of farm implements.

Mrs. Fowler Gains Twenty Five Pounds

Esteemed Winnipeg Woman Is The Very Picture Of Health Since Taking Tanlac, Declares Husband.

"I've got every reason to be satisfied with Tanlac, for it has restored my wife's health and she has actually gained twenty-five pounds in weight," said George J. Fowler, of 624 Cathedral Ave., Winnipeg, Man.

"About three years ago, she had a bad attack of dyspepsia. Her food would lie like a lump of lead in her stomach and the gas that formed fairly made her gasp for breath. She was very weak and thin and got worse as the months went by. Finally her health broke down completely.

"But when she started on Tanlac, the way she picked up was astonishing. Now she has completely regained her strength, and is the very picture of health. We both have the greatest faith in Tanlac, and recommend it whenever we get a chance."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Do You Keep a Diary?

The heroine of our new serial story wanted to jot down her first impressions when she visited Western Canada for the first time after leaving her home in England, so she kept a diary. Well kept diaries often reveal the most intimate thoughts of the diarist in a very interesting manner. Miss Eliot was no exception and if you read the story, "My Canada," which will be found in another column you will be more than repaid for the time spent in perusal.

NEURALGIA AND SCIATICA

Caused by Starved Nerves Due to Weak, Watery Blood

People think of neuralgia as a pain in the head or face, but neuralgia may effect any nerve of the body. Different names are given to it when it affects certain nerves. Thus neuralgia of the sciatic nerve is called sciatica, but the character of the pain and the nature of the disease is the same, and the remedy to be effective, must be the same. The pain of neuralgia, whether it takes the form of sciatica, or whether it affects the face and head, is caused by starved nerves. The blood, which normally carries nourishment to the nerves, for some reason no longer does so and the excruciating pain you feel is the cry of the nerves for food. The reason why the blood fails to properly nourish the nerves is usually because the blood itself is weak and thin.

When you build up the thin blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, you are attacking neuralgia, sciatica, and kindred diseases at the root. The value of these pills in cases of this kind is shown by the experience of Miss Beulah M. Fairweather, Cumberland Bay, N.S., who says: "A few years ago, following an attack of measles, I was left in a badly run down condition. I was weak and very nervous, and had no appetite. A doctor was called in and gave me medicine, but it did not help me. My blood was thin and my hands and my feet were always cold. Then to add to my misery I was attacked with neuralgia, from which I suffered greatly. I was reduced to a mere skeleton, and did not care whether I lived or not. I was in this deplorable conditions when I began taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. It was some time before I could notice any benefit from the pills, but before a half a dozen boxes were used there was no doubt that they were helping me. Then I got six more boxes, and before they were done, I was once more enjoying good health and am now strong and healthy. I shall always feel grateful for what the pills have done for me, and urge all weak people to give them a trial."

You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Increase of Suicides

Growing Complexity of Our Modern Life is Given as Cause

The Save-a-Life League has issued a report on suicide for the year 1921. The league officials have definite information of 12,000 suicides, and they estimate that at least 8,000 occurred which were not reported to them. The report declares that suicides were 23 per cent. more numerous in 1921 than in 1920, and contains the following observation:

The growing complexity of our modern life, the feverish unrest, crimes, divorce, bizarre and questionable dress and other things have caused deranged nerves, depression and less self-control.

The suicides reported include "10 editors, 10 well known writers, 40 college students, 51 school teachers, 21 clergymen, 57 judges and lawyers, 7 mayors, 93 bankers and 38 presidents of large business concerns."—From the N.Y. Independent.

Indian Head Nursery

Shipments of Seedlings Will Be Very Heavy This Year

The shipments of tree seedlings and cuttings going out this spring from the Dominion forest nursery station at Indian Head, will be among the largest in the past five years. The kinds sent out are chiefly Russian poplar, willow and caragana. They are used solely for planting shelter belts on prairie farms. Since the nursery was established, about sixty million seedlings and cuttings have been distributed to prairie farmers.

Give the average man half a chance to talk about himself and he will deliver the goods.
