Henry B. Downs Tells of Fruit Fair

The Review this week publishes the first of two letters from Henry B. Downs to Creston Fruit Growers Union, Ltd., dealing with the Valley exhibits in both the competitive and non-competitive classes at the recent Imperial Apple Show at the Cyrstal Palace, Loudon, England.

It has been learned that although Creston failed to gain a better standing than fourth in the desert apple class in the British Empire section, Mr. Stark's Cox Orange were less than ten points behind the fruit taking the first prize, and the inferiority of the Valley apples was due to lack of color—a weakness that could not be avoided owing to the early date the local Cox had to be picked in order to be carefully packed and reach England in time for the the exhibition. Mr. Down's letter to the Union is as follows:

According to instructions received I arrived in London on October 22nd, and on the following day first thing I called to see T. J. Poupart, Ltd. in company with their general manager I at once proceeded to the Crystal Palace and found that the fruit had arrived on Sunday, 22nd, and was being brought to its various sections in the show. To all appearances the fruit travelled in satisfactory mannee, the boxes being in good order.

As it was not possible to touch the boxes of competitive fruit until the covers were removed, and the preliminary judging had taken place, I devoted my time and advice to Messrs. Poupart, in the opening and examining of the fruit.

I would report the fruit as in fair condition, but some varieties better than others. Cox Orange Pippins in excellent order, but large sizes showing some spot and loose in pack.

Delicious good, but in small sizes some immature and green fruit.

Jonathans travelled well, as did the Spitzenbergs.

Winter Banana in full color, but showing more bruising than necessary.

Ontarios are in worse condition than any other variety.

The Greenings are staged as "Creston Wonders" as Messrs. Poupart and the judges would not accept them as true Greenings.

All the Pears in good order and much admired.

Messrs. Poupart devote the whole of one side of their stand to this display and it is very effective indeed, and an excellent advertisement for British Columbia in general and Creston in pareicular.

On the 24th inst. I interviewed Mr. Wade, Agent General for B.C., and was accorded a very pleasant reception. Mr. Wade most kindly placed at my diposal the assistance of member of his staff for the purpose of unwrapping and replacing the fruit in the boxes after the preliminary judging had taken place.

We were allowed to touch the fruit on the 25th when with the aid of the staff from B.C. House under Mrs. Scrimes, Mr. Wade's daughter and Mrs. Downs, we prepared the Empire Classes for final judging. I may say that in order to assist Mr. Forsyth Smith to the utmost we not only unwrapped the B.C. fruit but much of the Ontario, Quebec and Nova Scotia fruit.

The 26th was devoted to preparation of the Overseas Classes and kept us busy until a late hour, and again with willing assistance from staff at B.C. House.

The judging was completed in the Empire Classes on Thursday and I much regret to report that British Columbia was unable to obtain an award higher than "Very highly commended" this being the 4th position in the class for Dessert apples. We have not any reason to complain as but for the fact that a wonderfully fine and uniform exhibit of Cox's Orange Pippins (English) were disqualified for having the top layer unwrapped, it is more than possible that Canada would not have received the Premier Award.

I would state that Mr. Starks' Cox's Orange Pippins," "V.H.C." were very fine and in the opinion of many competent judges should have been placed in a higher position. Personally I should have put them either first or second. There was a certain want of uniformity in colour and the packing of larger sizes a little too slack. As I pointed out to Mr. Stark I considered the insertion of packs smaller than 188 a mistake and this was remarked upon by one of last year's judges and by many of the great fruit houses. In future it will be advisable to make 188 the limit for exhibition purposes.

Mr. Littlejohns "Cox's Orange Pippins" were unfortunately showing Baldwin spot in the larger sizes and were irregular in colour. I must state that the grading and packing could have been distinctly better.

In the Overseas classes we have less reason for regret, considering the number of our exhibits, Creston taking the following awards:

Snow—1st and 2nd, Ontario. 3rd, W. G. Littlejohn.
Cox Orange—1st, R. Stark. 2nd, Nova Scotia. 3rd, Ontario.
Any Other Variety—1st, R. Stark, Winter Banana. 1nd, Nova Scotia. 3rd, R. Stark, Delicious.
Pears—1st, R. Stark.

Mr. Hamilton's Greenings received no consideration. I may say they they were not in the best condition, many being very ripe and yellow—quite destroying the appearance of the boxes.

I will report more fully on the Overseas classes in letter to follow.

HENRY B. DOWNS.

Next week we will publish Mr. Downs' second letter, which deals at some length with features of the Overseas classes, as well as setting out the prizewinnings.

Mrs. Vinc. Liddicoatt, who has been here on a visit with Mrs. Rowbury, for a few days, is leaving this week for Cranbrook.

Harry Brown, who is working at Klockmann, and J. A. Head of Port hill, were here for the week-end, and took in the hard times dance at the school on Saturday night.

Mrs. W. Hurl, who spent the summer with friends in Vancouver, and the fall in Alberta, has returned home with her two sons.

There was a fine turnout at the hard times dance at the schoolhouse on Saturday night, which was floor managed by A. H. Bernhard, and music was supplied by the player piano. Quite a tidy sum was netted for the children's Christmas Tree Fund.

On Saturday, Dec. 2nd, the sewing class in connection with the public school will hold a sale of work at the schoolhouse for the purpose of raising funds to finance the children's Christmas treat. A large exhibit of children's needlework will be staged, including children's clothes, house dresses and aprons, and will be sold by auction in the afternoon. Tea will be served at 10 cents. Mrs. Stephens will be pleased to hear from anyone willing to assist with the affair.

Growers to Have Meeting, Saturday

Every rancher in Creston Valley should be at Speers' Hall to-morrow (Saturday) at 2 o'clock prompt, for the public meeting of growers that will be addressed by Messrs. Harman and Taylor of Kelowna.

These gentlemen are members of the Okanagan Growers Committee who have been investigating marketing conditions for the last six months, having made a trip to all the important centres on the Prairie, observing the way our fruit was handled, the way in which it was sold, prices, and general market conditions, and they are exceptionally well qualified to inform growers as to the why and wherefore of present market demoralization and to suggest remedies for the future. It will be well for every fruit grower, who has any fruit what ever to sell, to take every advantage of hearing what these gentlemen have to say and be guided by their advice.

Our information is that both these men are independent shippers who, finding that the 1922 apple market would be an unsatisfactory one, promptly decided to go out onto the marke and learn from personal experience all that could be learned of the fruit marketing problem.

They have been addressing growers' meetings all through B.C. the past three weeks, and have made a great impression wherever they have spoken.

The president of the board of trade will preside, and it is requested that all be on hand early so there will be no delay getting the meeting under way at two o'clock.

Sirdar

Rev. H. Varley will be here on Sunday for the usual Church of England morning service in the schoolhouse.

Mrs. McCabe and children were visitors at Cranbrook for a few days the latter part of the week.

Section foreman Tolerico, who has relinquished the job and intends to spend the winter in Italy, is succeeded by an Austrian whose name is too much of a twister to put in print on such short acquaintance.

Mrs. North, who was critically ill the fore part of the month, continues to make a steady recovery but is not able to be out as yet.

Mrs. Lombardo is leaving for Spokane this week, where she will consult an optical specialist for a rather serious eye trouble she is at present bothered with.

Messrs. Constable, Bevan and Frank Staples of Creston were visitors here on Saturday morning for a live pigeon shooting tournament in which Harry Hughes and Conductor Cameron lent a hand as well. Out of some 30 birds released 13 were brought down, Staples getting 5, and Bevan and Cameron four each.

Miss Margeory Goodman was a visitor with relatives and friends at Cranbrook a few days last week.

The fruit shipping season is practically closed, and in addition to a heavy local sale, the express shipments would indicate that exports are fully 25 per cent. heavier than last year.

The Austrian tie contractor operating near here has made delivery of about three carloads during November and these have been distributed along the track between here and Duck Creek for spring renewals.

The McCabe bridge crew was at Erickson on Friday unloading and placing the new steel for the bridge at Canyon on the falsework erected to expedite steel laying.

Ben Whitesides is a permanent resident here at present, having booked off for a few weeks to get the Whitesides' store stocked up with the staple lines for the Sirdar trade.

Milt Beam was making a trip through the district on Friday, circulating a petition in connection with the closing of Goat River for a period of two years, in order to re-stock the stream with fry, the closed area being between the Canyon and Kitchener.

Frank Staples was at Sirdar on Saturday for a live pigeon shoot at which he managed to make the highest score of the half dozen men competing.

Penson & Wilson have commenced work on the erection of quite a commodious new barn on the McKelvey ranch.

The social season was opened on Friday night when Mrs. Kemp was at home to quite a large house party, a number from Creston being amongst the guests. Dancing was the feature of the evening, with a sumptuous supper served about midnight.

The Co-Operative store unloaded a car of Lethbridge coal last week supplying customers at $11 a ton taken direct from the car.

Frank Putnam and Frank Palmer have closed a heavy logging contract with J. B. Winlaw, which will keep several teams busy all winter. They are bringing in three teams from Alberta, which the latter purchased on a recent trip east.

G. Bayle of Creston is operating in the white pine timber on the road from the Canyon bridge along to Arrow Creek. The logs are being shipped to Nelson where, we hear, they care cut into match blocks, and are shipped back east to be manufactured into matches.

An occasional car of apples moves from Erickson these days, but otherwise shipping is quite light. Up to the present but three straight cars of potatoes have moved out.

Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Hobden got away on Thursday via Spokane and Seattle for California, where they will spend the winter at Longbeach, and may decide to make their permanent home. A few days before their departure Mrs Hobden was given a farewell reception at her home by the ladies of the Methodist congregation.

The bridge crew and work train outfit was here on Friday unloading the shipment of steel rails that are being placed on the Canyon bridge by the Vickers Company crew.

Fall Fair Prizes Prove its Worth

The 1922 fall fair at Creston has done much to demonstrate the wisdom of the Provincial Land Stetlement Board in choosing the undeveloped south end of Creston Valley—the area now known as Camp Lister—as a most satisfactory location for the re-establishment of the returned soldiers who, for various reasons, have desired to take up the age-old profession of agriculture.

Not before the fall of 1922 had Camp Lister been sufficiently established to warrant an attempt to compete with the older portions of the Valley, but this year's successes has done much to establish the confidence of the settlers in the quality as well as the quantity of the produce from the heavy clay loam that predominates the area.

If the awards made to this area by competent judges—people with wide experience—may be any indication of the quality of the exhibits, then the future of the south end of the Valley is assured.

Potatoes, a crop of considerable importance, were able to attract the judges' decision for a first, John Huscroft being the successful exhibitor with his Early Ohios—the spuds being so typical of the variety that they are also being shown at the Provincial Potato fair at Grand Forks this month

Mr. Huscroft also scored with his drumhead cabbage—his 40-pound specimens beating all comers. In addition to this he secured prizes on Sunflowers, mangolds and garden vegetables. More notable, too, are these winnings when it is remembered that the land that produced them was broken only in 1920.

Poultry, a popular and profitable sideline on Lister ranches, had several ardent supporters, practically all the breeders having decided to make the White Wyandotte the standard breed for the area. The grand prize of the poultry class, the President Jackson cup for the best male bird in the show, was awarded to Fred Powers, his cockerel, a handsome specimen of the Wyandotte taking first in his class, as well as carrying off the cup. E. L. Langston, a 1921 winner, also secured two prizes in the Wyandott section.

Last, but not least, in the woman's sphere of farmdom, Mrs. Fred Power, with an exhibit of butter, carried off first prize in open competition with the best dairy woman of the Valley.

So satisfied are the ranchers of Lister with the results of this year's exhibition effort that they are determined to stage an exhibit in 1923 that will effectively demonstrate the all round capabilities of the southern section of the Creston Valley.

Canyon City

Jess Filmer of Lister is reported to have purchased the Charles Rinker place here, and will take possession in the spring.

Mrs. Vance is back from Spokane where her husband is taking medical treatment, and Clifford Vance left for that city on Friday, to be with his father, who will be absent for at least another two weeks.

The United Farmers are having a whist drive and dance in the schoolhouse on Friday night, Dec. 1st, the proceeds to go toward the piano fund. The December session of the U.F. is scheduled for Saturday night, 2nd.

The ladies' aid had quite a successful silver tea at the home of Mrs. Wearmouth on Thursday afternoon.

Dad and Fred Browell, who recently purchased a Cleveland tractor from the Land Settlement Board at Lister, have it rigged up to their cordwood sawing outfit.

The day prior to his departure for Spokane Clifford Vance bagged another deer—the second he has secured in the last three weeks.

The ladies' aid announce Friday, Dec. 15th, as the date for their annual bazaar and sale of needlework, cooking, candy, etc., as well as the serving of afternoon tea.

Immigration And Settlement

Prominent Canadians recently returned home from visits to Great Britain have been giving public expression to their views on the subject of immigration to Canada, and one and all have referred to the opportunity which now presents itself to Canada of obtaining thousands of the very best type of British emigrants if only the right policy is adopted by this country and an energetic effort put forth to direct the steps of these people Canada-ward.

It is universally agreed that some hundreds of thousands of people in the British Isles must migrate annually, and that Canada can obtain the best of these people if they are gone after and looked for in the right way. At the present time, however, the eyes of the majority of these intending British emigrants are turned towards Australia and New Zealand, rather than towards Canada, and it is reported that considerable amazement prevails in England and Scotland that Canada should be neglecting such an opportunity of obtaining good settlers when, admittedly, this Dominion is so badly in need of population.

Probably the Federal Government is working out a new and comprehensive immigration policy. At least it is to be hoped so. But in the meantime Canada is losing tens of thousands of new settlers which might be obtained, and it must be realized that every British immigrant to Australia or New Zealand becomes an additional inducement for others to go there and join friends and relatives rather than come to Canada, just as every one coming here is apt to influence someone else to come.

We have advanced the argument that, so far as the Canada Colonization Association is concerned, it cannot do better work at the present time than to immediately apply its declared policy of "assisting settlers to make good" to those already in this country who are located on land unsuitable for successful agriculture, and actively interest itself in the removal of these farmers to other and more suitable locations. We adhere to that view, and likewise approve the decision of the Government to grant extra homesteads to men who find they cannot make a success of their present holdings.

But while this work of re-location is being proceeded with, the Government should not neglect the opportunity which is now theirs of encouraging the right type of British emigrants to choose Canada in preference to any and all other countries. Nevertheless, the almost universal opinion seems to be that this opportunity is not being grasped as it ought to be.

Greater care must, however, be exercised in future in the location of immigrants on the land. In the past, with millions of acres of arable lands conveniently near to existing lines of railway, immigrants were located in colonies long distances from means of transportation with the result that they have been, and still are, unable to make a success of farming because of the prohibitive cost of getting their crops to market. They find it useless to raise large crops because the cost of hauling their products to market is greater than the price that can be realized. These settlers may not face starvation, because the land will produce their own food, but they lack ready money and are making no progress.

Such settlers are not active agents in adding to the volume of traffic so sorely needed by our National Railways in order to make that system a financial success. Yet if they had been located nearer those railways, both they themselves and the railways would have benefitted and prospered. This is a lesson which should not be lost on our immigration authorities in connection with all future settlement.

Apart from the excessive cost of getting their crops to market, these farmers in isolated districts have to pay exorbitant prices for all needed supplies, and when it comes to threshing time the cost of securing the services of outfits also operates to destroy profits and to render the cultivation of increased acreages impossible.

In connection with the re-location of present settlers, as well as the location of incoming settlers, every effort should be put forth to populate the vacant lands now reasonably near existing lines of railway. The West needs a more intensive settlement of people within the radius of existing transportation facilities, rather than a further spreading out of scattered settlements.

Wheat Movement Breaks Record

History was made on the last day of October in the movement of Western Canada's big wheat crop. The receipts on Winnipeg Grain Exchange that day were the greatest for any one day in the history of the Dominion, the total number of cars inspected being 2,824. The grain is of high quality, less than ten per cent. falling below number three northern, while the greatest volume is number one northern.

Reduced Freight Rates On Grain

Estimated That Fourteen Million Dollars is Saved to Western Farmers

The closing of navigation, with the consequent longer hauls of western wheat for the railways, will not have any effect in increasing railway earnings, according to opinions expressed at Ottawa. It was pointed out the greater part of the western grain moves during the two months between threshing and the closing of navigation, and that consequently shipments after the close of shipping on the lakes will be somewhat intermittent.

The reduction of the railway rate on grain will save the farmers of the three prairie provinces something like $15,000,000, it is estimated, and the reduction in freight rates, without any accompanying reduction in operating costs, was bound to have an effect on the railway net nearnings.

Where the railways are benefitting, however, as compared with last year, is in the fact the total grain crop to be moved is considerably in excess of that available last year, and this brings about a greatly increased volume of business for the national roads to share in.

Farm Loans Are Profitable

The annual report of the Manitoba Farm Loans' Association, a Government agency, shows a profit of $40,553 after repaying to the Provincial Government the grant made for organization purposes. The report covers a period of nine months ending August 31st, 1922. The purpose of the association is to assist in the financing of farm undertakings in connection with which it has at present outstanding advances amounting to $7,528,639.

Gains 35 Pounds; Rheumatism Is Gone

The wonderful reconstructive powers of Tanlac are again very forcefully demonstrated. In this instance the grateful beneficiary is John H. King, locksmith, living at 229, 14th Ave., West, Calgary, Alberta, who declares:

"Tanlac built me up to good health, with a gain of thirty-five pounds in weight, over a year ago and I have been feeling fine ever since. Just after coming back from overseas, about two years ago, I was taken down with an attack of rheumatism that crippled me up so I couldn't work and sent me to a hospital for about ten months.

"During this long siege of rheumatism I lost fifty-five pounds in weight. I was just a shadow of my old self and had no strength or energy left. I felt tired out and exhausted all the time.

"Finally I resorted to Tanlac and got back on my feet so quick that it surprised me. By the time I finished the fourth bottle I was feeling a hundred per cent. well. I don't believe Tanlac has an equal."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

Calgary Receives Large Shipments Of Wheat

Over One Million Bushels Have Been Inspected

Calgary.—One thousand and twenty-nine cars of wheat have been inspected in Calgary since November 1, according to figures compiled by George Hill, Dominion grain inspector. At an average of 1,300 bushels to a car, this makes 1,337,000 bushels of wheat.

According to local grain men, the wheat shipments into Calgary have passed the peak, although many cars are coming into the city daily.

British Electors Give Substantial Majority To Hon. A. Bonar Law

London.—The election returns indicate that the Conservative ministry formed three weeks ago by Right Hon. Andrew Bonar Law is returned with a substantial majority over all other groups. Features of the returns are the gains scored by Labor and the poor showing made by the Independent-Liberals under the banner of the former premier, H. H. Asquith. Mr. Asquith was returned in Paisley with a much-reduced majority, and many of his lieutenants fell by the wayside.

The Lloyd Georgians showing is not regarded as a feather in the cap of the former premier. Lloyd George himself is in by acclamation, and two of his former ministers are also returned.

Two members of the Government were defeated, Col. Leslie Wilson, chief Conservative whip, and Col. Stanley, Under-Secretary for Home Affairs.

One surprise was the election of a Liberal for Oxford, where in both town and university the Liberals have been in the wilderness for many years.

Lady Astor comes back to the House from Plymouth, despite the strong campaign made against her because of her attack on the liquor interests. She had practically the same support she commanded in the first election.

Strained Muscles, Sprains, Can Be Treated Quickly

In minor sprains, the muscle is strained a little, and all that is needed is a vigorous rubbing with Nerviline. This draws the extra blood away, and permits the muscle to return to its normal condition. The supremacy Nerviline enjoys is owing to its penetrating power, it strikes deeply, that is why it removes deep-seated pains, and fixes up folks that have Rheumatism, Lumbago, Neuralgia and Sciatica. There is about five times the pain destroying power in Nerviline than you find in the average liniment. Sold everywhere, 35c per bottle.

The Old Favorite

Is Just As Popular As Ever

And Just as Effective in Relieving Coughs, Colds, Croup and Bronchitis

Family Size 75c

For over a quarter of a century Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine has been the favorite treatment for coughs and colds.

It is still growing in favor, for the simple reason that it can be depended on as a positive relief for Croup, Bronchitis, Whooping Cough and Asthma.

Bronchitis

Mr. J. Penrose, 207 Oak St., Toronto, Ont., writes:—"I was troubled with bronchitis and had a very bad cough. I had the cough so long I was becoming afraid of other developments. I tried all kinds of cough remedies without relief. I saw Dr. Chase's Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine advertised and tried a bottle. I was greatly surprised at the relief I got from the Linseed and Turpentine. I bought five more bottles and was completely relieved."

Severe Cold

Mr. Lloyd Ballen, Sunnybrook Farm, Pownal, Lot 49, P.E.I., writes:—"After I got over the 'flu' last winter, I took a very severe cold. I tried several kinds of cough medicines, but none of them gave me relief and I began to fear it would turn to something more serious. One day, however, I picked up a copy of Dr. Chase's Almanac and saw your Syrup of Linseed and Turpentine advertised. I got one bottle immediately, which completely relieved me."

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, DEC. 1

This is Your Business

Every rancher in the Valley should be out for the growers' meeting in Speers' Hall, on Saturday afternoon, which will be presided over by the board of trade president.

Messrs. Taylor and Harman, who will speak, have this season given a couple of months time and their own money, we believe, to study the marketing of fruit at many prairie centres.

As producers they are thoroughly familiar with the growers' end of the business, and certainly should be in excellent position to discuss all phases of the marketing problem—more particularly as their visit to Creston pretty well winds up a speaking tour that has covered most of all B.C.

Now is the time to get all the information available. If the situation is to be improved the improvement will not come by sitting down and trusting to luck and the government; each and every grower will have to do his part, and if Saturday's speakers have not got a solution to offer they will certainly impart considerable information that will be helpful in bringing about better marketing conditions.

This is your business. Be on hand, and be on time.

"Dry" Partizans

In his speech on the budget in the legislature on Wednesday opposition leader Bowser observed that the government's pledge of strictest economy the coming year probably presaged a provincial general election. Further evidence to substantiate Mr. Bowser's guess is furnished in Friday's Nelson Daily News, which refers to the local member as "Col. Lister, Independent, Kaslo."

In the two years of his representation about the best evidence of independence the colonel has revealed was early this session when he boldly asserted that he wanted more liquor stores established in order to put the bootlegger out of business, and also the sale of light wines and beer by the glass in much the same style as the open bar of almost forgotten memory.

Col. Lister's independence in this connection has been so overpowering that not up till the time of going to press has the Citizens Committee or the Women's Institute put through any resolution of protest, nor has that doughty champion of the "drys," William Searle, recovered himself sufficiently to take his pen in hand, and on behalf of the prohibitionists generally express disapproval of the Kaslo member's attitude.

When it comes to nullifying a board of trade resolution its wonderful the head of steam the ultra drys can get on, but when it comes to tackling the local member on the same issue what a rare collection of partizans some of the local organizations and prohibitionists appear to be.

Oriental Question Talk

Apropos of all the talk and resolutions the Women's Institute are grinding out at their monthly sessions has it ever dawned on the ladies that insofar as the local situation is concerned the Oriental menace can be measurably abated if the citizens generally would have no truck or trade with the celestials even in the matter of washing.

Those who have observed the Chinese situation in the smaller centres are quite agreed that invariably the first of this heathen race to invade a town is the laundryman, and if he succeeds in making it stick follows the Chinese laborer, and then other Chinese tradesman as the colony expands.

Next to the Review office is a vacant lot which provides a convenient short cut to one of the local Chinese wash houses and if the editor was to give out but a few names of Institute members themselves, to say nothing of their husbands, who make almost weekly trips to this one laundry, particularly in the hot weather, we fancy an abrupt end would come to this Oriental resolution activity.

In Creston today if the two laundries were put out of business there would be no Creston Valley Chinese menace, because these wash houses are the employment bureaus as well as homes of possibly 75 per cent. of our celestial citizens.

For long enough we have had the anti-Chinese preachment; for the next few months let's have some direct action to clear up the situation. Example is much better than percept—and, really, the fyling cabinets at both Ottawa and Victoria are bulging already with so many resolutions of this sort that there's no room for more.

Financing the University

To a rather numerous class of taxpayers who do not take any too kindly to having help meet the bill for higher education in any form announcement as to how B.C.'s new university buildings are to be financed is awaited with interest.

At least one speaker in the legislature has intimated that a popular loan would be the correct way of handling the matter, and the Review is heartily in accord with the suggestion, which might be worked out by a double bond issue, one of which would bear interest at the rate of 3 per cent.—the savings bank rate—and these would be offered to all and sundry who insist that the university be proceeded with at this time when the public generally are urging rigid economy.

After strict canvass has been made of all favoring the university, another issue might be offered at say 5 per cent. to make up any balance left after a possible failure of the university enthusiasts to invest fully at the lower rate.

In this way the building fund debt would be somewhat lightened, and those who boldly asssure that the university can be easily financed would have a splendid opportunity to demonstrate the faith that is in them in this connection at a not losing rate of interest.

The Review is quite interested in the idea, too, as some months ago when the University Players Club appeared here in "Mr. Pim Passes By," it was astonishing the hand Prof. Wood got when he appeared before the curtain and made a plea for the immediate construction of the much needed buildings, and the really remarkable feature to the applause was that in some cases it came from residents who only a few weeks before had appeared before Judge O'Shea at the court of revision and asked that their assessments be substantially reduced.

At one time the idea prevailed that charity began at home, but it might seem that in our midst we have some so public spirited that whilst wishing to economize on local expenditure they are not at all averse to having their money spent on a two or three million dollar enterprise at Vancouver.

Subsidized Millinery Help

A letter was read from Mrs. E. Healey, thanking the school board and the secretary for the assistance lent in securing from the government a grant equal to three-fifths of the salary of the instructor for the millinery classes which were carried on under the auspices of the Women's Institute.—Cranbrook Herald.

The foregoing will be read with interest by both men and lady readers. The average male will possibly pass it up with the observation that now the women have the vote most anything may be looked for.

To the more observant will probably be borne home the fact that times are changed; that if this is a sample of the schemes that are these days getting government assistance it might be well to be at least a little more charitable when it comes to accusing the administration of wilfully squandering public revenues.

On behalf of the ladies we particularly commend the intelligence to the Women's Institute. If instead of worrying overmuch about things that do not directly concern the community, the directors would give more heed to providing practically free millinery tuition and possibly similarly supervised and financed instruction in many other useful lines, the women folk of the Valley would not only rise up and call them blessed, but in token of practical appreciation lend a hand n hustling along the much needed community hall the Institute has projected.

Dead Men Tell No Tales

John Rattray was desperate and almost reckless in his outlook upon life, but he was horrified at the wholesale murder at sea committed in furtherance of a scheme in which he had become involved. He was fiercely opposed to the additional murder of George Stevenson Cole, which Santos, Captain Harris and Jose were eager to accomplish. Even Rattray, good hearted as he was in a way, was inclined to let the plotters kill Cole when he learned the young barrister was his rival for the hand of Eva Dennison.

There are many tense situations and spectacular scenes in "Dead Men Tell No Tales," a Tom Terriss all star special production, which will be shown at the Grand theater on Saturday, December 2nd. It is the visualization of the tremendously popular novel of the same name by E. W. Hornung, author of "Raffles."

Lister

The United Farmers meet in December session on Friday evening at which a canvass will be made of those interested as to buying in quantity all the fruit trees that will be required for spring planting.

C. W. Traves, provincial poultry inspector, was here last week signing up local ranchers for the Nelson Egg Circle. He was accompanied on his trip through the area by E. L. Langston, who will be pleased to explain the circle's working arrangements to any and all interested.

Alice Siding

There is quite a water shortage here and at present Stanley Paul is busy deepening the well on Mrs. Stace Smith's place.

Mrs. Churchill is a visitor with Mrs Mason at Wynndel at present.

Reed & Mather are busy putting down the ditch for the extension to their irrigation system.

W. A. Mason of Wynndel was here a few days last week on a visit with Mr. and Mrs. Churchill.

R. Stewart was a business visitor at Cranbrook a few days last week.

Secondhand Store in connection with business

There was quite a gathering of friends at the home of Mr. and Mrs. R. Stewart on Friday night, to celebrate Hector's birthday. A thoroughly enjoyable social evening is reported by all present.

All interested in the Alice Siding Social Club are invited to a social evening to be held at the house on the Pendry ranch on Tuesday evening, Dec. 5th, and the ladies are specially asked to bring refreshments. At this meeting the club will be re-organized for the present season's operations.

Local and Personal

All shotgun shells and rifle ammunition going at 10 per cent. off present prices until the end of the season. Mawson Brothers.

Miss Blanche Hendren has joined the Creston postoffice staff to help out with the Christmas rush, and citizens are again reminded to mail their parcels for Old Country distribution not later than Monday. It is also asked that the sender put his or her name and address on the outside of parcels or letters, so that in case of non-delivery they can be returned without going to the dead-letter office.

Every rancher in the Valley should be out on Tuesday afternoon at 2 o'clock, for the growers meeting in Speers' Hall, that will be addressed by Messrs. Harman and Taylor of Kelowna. They have much useful information to give out on the marketing end of the fruit business, gleaned from a two months' study of apple selling at different prairie points this year.

W. C. Robinson of Nelson, the Dominion fishery inspector, was here on an official visit at the end of the week. He has just had an official report on the black bass that are being caught in the Kootenay by local anglers and the experts pronounce them of the large mouth variety, and liable to obtain a weight of seven pounds. So far four-pounders are the biggest that have been taken.

Creston is likely to have its first opportunity to listen to local talent amateur comic opera some time during January, when it is expected the popular Gilbert and Sullivan number, "H.M.S. Pinafore," will be put on under the direction of R. B. Staples, who has had previous experience at work of this sort, and the proceeds will go toward wiping off the remaining debt on the soldiers' memorial.

ELINOR MARSDEN ELIOT

Published by Special Arrangement with the Author

"Oh," ejaculated Miss Marshall, with a world of meaning in her tone. "I thought you were old friends."

"That estimable young woman needs watching," Mary warned me that night after we had gone to bed. "If I know anything, she has her eye on my Uncle Don. Don't let her get him, Elinor! If you don't want him, I do; it would be a pity to let such an interesting specimen out of the connection."

I pretended that I was asleep, and Mary—doubtless suspecting the pretence—smothered what I thought was an unnecessary laugh in the pillows. I have ceased to pay any atetntion to Mary's teasing—why, she teases even Mr. Bingham, and if that does not prove her incurable, I have nothing further to say.

For two weeks before Christmas Mrs. Bingham had taken charge of all parcels that came, and would allow none of them to be opened; so on the eventful morning the Christmas-tree was covered with bundles of all sizes and shapes, and several big ones had to be piled on the floor. I think I was almost as much excited as Sunny, but not quite so noisy, I hope. Everyone remembered me, and a list of my gifts would read like a bazaar prospectus. "Jerry" Brown sent me a rug about six feet square made of beautiful silky badger skins. I suppose I should return it, but I hate to hurt his feelings—and then the rug is so lovely.

"I'd like you to keep it for yourself," ran the note which accompanied it; "the badgers was all shot on my own place. But if you don't want to keep it, I guess you'd better send it home to your father. I notice that Old Country folks generally like such things. Don't feel bad about 'the poor badgers,' a lot more good horses won't get their legs broke with them out of the way."

No one here, except Mary, knows who sent the rug, and I have the pleasure of seeing them all consumed with curiosity.

I do not know what time Sunny woke on Christmas morning, but I do know that she woke me before seven by pounding on the door and shouting, "Please let me in, Auntie Elinor. I have something for you from Uncle Don."

To calm the tumult I jumped out of bed, lighted the gas, and opened the door. Sunny was in her dressing-gown and slippers, and she carried a long box which she handed to me with an impressive bow.

"Look here, Sunny," said Mary, who of course had been awakened by the noise, "Uncle Don must have meant you to give that to me."

"No, he didn't," said the messenger decidedly; "he said give it to Auntie Elinor with his love, and not to wake Mary. I guess he thought you would be tired."

"Very considerate of him, I'm sure," drawled Mary mockingly. "Elinor dear, I think you had better lie down again; you look rather feverish."

"Not scarlet feverish?" queried Sunny anxiously.

"Perhaps it's only the reflection of that pink lamp-shade," Mary answered, after a moment of consideration, and Sunny looked happy again.

I wish I could cure myself of that foolish habit of blushing!

"Hurry up and open your box," commanded Sunny, "and then you and Mary get dressed and come down to breakfast. I just feel as if I couldn't wait a minute longer to see what Santa Claus brought me, and Mother says that I must wait until everybody else is ready before I touch one thing."

I opened the box, and found—an immense bunch of big, velvety La France roses! To appreciate my feelings, one must remember that the nearest florist's shop is hundreds of miles away. Mary looked a whole circulating library, but said nothing. She is calling me now to go downstairs and play with her. I think it best to do so, as she threatens to confiscate and read my diary if I do not go at once.

XXV.

Bar B Ranch,
February 5th, 19—.

The first month of the New Year has passed uneventfully. Almost before I know it I shall have come to the end of my year in Canada.

Mary left us last week, and all the flags are flying at half-mast—to speak figuratively.

DANGER!!!

That is to remind Elinor Eliot, aged seventy-five, to skip a few pages just here. It is well for age to forget the follies of youth.

I know quite well that I should not be jealous of Mary, but I am, and I was never really jealous of anyone before. It is not a comfortable sensation, I can assure you. I am very fond of Mary, and I hope we shall always be good friends, but I must confess it troubles me to hear her praises sung from morning until night. Isn't that a despicable frame of mind to be in?

Of course there is a man at the bottom of it—who was the idiot who first said that a woman was at the bottom of all the trouble in the world, I wonder? He simply did not know what he was talking about. For my part, I think this would be a perfectly lovely world if there were no men in it.

Mr. Livingstone and I were the best of friends before Mary came, but of late he has changed towards me. I do not like to be hard on another girl, but I do think that Mary flirted with him a little brazenly. And I could do nothing but ignore the change in his attitude, and at the same time reproach myself for being so credulous as to believe that real friendship was possible between a man and a woman. It is quite evident now that Mr. Livingstone was so very good to me simply because I was the only girl at hand. I suppose he would have flirted with me if I had given him any encouragement. I hope he does not know that he is hurting me; I would rather die than let him see just how much I feel the loss of his old brotherly manner.

I have one thing to thank Mary for, although I was angry when first I heard about it. She told Mr. Livingstone about Arthur. How much she told I cannot say, nor do I care now. He (Mr. Livingstone) is evidently of the opinion that we are as good as engaged, and I shall let him continue to think so. It is one way of saving my pride, and I intend to save my pride even at the expense of my boasted honesty. And poor Arthur has nothing to lose by the deception—Mother tells me that he is openly transferring his affections to Helen! "The very best thing that could happen," says Mother in her last letter, and I had not the heart to laugh; "his prospects are good, and he will make a more suitable husband for Helen than for you. Helen is just what I was as a girl, but you are different. Your husband will have to be your master, and Arthur is too much of a Christian gentleman to even wish to be any woman's master." It looks as if Mother is beginning to understand her duck chicken at last. Is it possible that, under her mid-Victorian veneer, she also has known the charm of a slightly modernized caveman? I hope Helen will not fail in love with Arthur. I wish my baby sister to have something better than my cast-offs—but perhaps Helen is not jealous!

Mr. Livingstone drove Mary in to Carbon City and saw her started on her journey home. I had taken it for granted that I should go too, but when the time came they let me see very plainly that I was not wanted. They said that it was because the day was stormy and I might catch cold, so of course I had to submit gracefully. But I know quite well that they did not want me. I suppose it is perfectly natural for people in that condition to wish to be alone to say good-bye. I am horrid, I know.

I feel utterly wretched, and the thing that hurts me most is the knowledge that there is a cloud between Mary and me. (Perhaps that is not quite honest, but I shall let it stand.) When she kissed me good-bye, she was very much affected, and so was I, but her last words braced me up as nothing else could have done. "You will forgive me some time, Elinor," she whispered, and then tore herself away before I could reply. Have I made it so plain to her that Mr. Livingstone's desertion has hurt me? She might at least have had the grace to refrain from speaking of it. I hate to feel so towards her—and I wish that I had never seen Don Livingstone!

I had a letter from her to-day, just a few lines written on the train and posted when she reached Winnipeg. I do not know how to answer it in my usual way, but I must try to do so. If I can help it, no man living shall come between Mary and me.

I have not had a letter from home for two weeks, but I hope to get two this evening. Mr. Paget called yesterday on his way to Carbon City, and he will come back this way to-night if there is any mail for us. "It is no trouble at all," he assured me when I thanked him; "we Britishers must stand by each other, you know. And we all feel jolly blue when we think the people at home have forgotten us." Every once in a while Mr. Paget does or says some tactful little things that makes me regret the many times I have made fun of him. And then, as he says, we Britishers must stand by each other.

ARE YOU A MOTHER?

Mrs. Dalton tells of a Well-known Doctor's Prescription that is safe for Young Mothers to take as a Tonic and Nervine because it contains no harmful ingredient.

London, Ont.—"Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription saved my life years ago and for that reason I am most enthusiastic in my recommendation of it to women who are ailing and weak. I was taken with the measles when in an expectant condition; then blood poisoning set in and my family became greatly alarmed. The doctor advised them to give me Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and I took several bottles of it and was restored to absolutely perfect health. I later took Favorite Prescription as a tonic and nervine and received great benefit from it. As a woman's medicine it is unequalled."—Mrs. Jennie Dalton, 767 York St.

Jasper, Minn. — "I saw in the paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took it because I was having such pains in my stomach and through my back that I could not do my work. I had tried other medicines, but none did me the good that your Vegetable Compound did. Now I am able to do all my work alone while before I had my daughter staying at home to do it. I have told a number of friends what it has done for me and give you permission to use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. JESSE PETERSEN, Route 1, Jasper, Minn.

So if you suffer from displacements, irregularities, backache, nervousness or are passing through the Change of Life remember this splendid medicine. What it did for Mrs. Petersen it may do for you.

RICH, RED BLOOD NECESSARY TO HEALTH

Weak, Watery Blood Needs a Tonic to Build it Anew

Why are we continually told that health-giving blood must be bright red? What has color to do with the quality? Just this—the oxygen in the air is the great supporter of all organic life. One function of the blood is to take the oxygen from the air—which it meets in the lungs and delivers to the tissues of the body. When the blood, filled with life-sustaining oxygen, is sent out by the heart, it is bright red. When it returns, impure and deprived of oxygen it is dark.

You will see, therefore, that there are two prime requisites of health, pure air and bright red blood—the pure air to furnish the oxygen, the rich red blood to carry it where it is needed.

Pale, anaemic people, whose nerves are on edge, who tire out easily, and who suffer from frequent headaches, do so because their blood is thin and watery. All such people can improve their condition through a fair use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, which enrich the blood, thus enabling it to carry oxygen to the system. Among those who have benefitted from the use of this medicine is Mr. Charles A. Stayner, Glenholme, N.S., who says: "Some four years ago I found myself badly run down. I tired very easily, and found it difficult to do my work. My appetite failed and I slept badly at night. I was taking medicine, but it was not helping me, and I was growing weaker and weaker. A friend who called to see me advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got six boxes and before these were done I felt better. Then I got six more boxes, and after taking them felt as well and strong as ever. Four years have passed since that time, and I have continued in good health and working all the time. I have recommended these pills to others and shall continue to do so."

These pills are sold by all medicine dealers or will be sent by mail, post paid, at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 by The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

RUPTURE KILLS 8,000 ANNUALLY

Eight thousand persons each year are laid away—the burial certificate being marked "Rupture." Why? Because the unfortunate ones had neglected themselves or had been merely taking care of the sign (swelling) of the affliction and paying no attention to the cause. What are you doing? Are you neglecting yourself by wearing a truss, appliance or whatever name you choose to call it? At best, the truss is only a makeshift—a false prop against a collapsing wall—and cannot be expected to act as more than a mere mechanical support. The binding pressure retards blood circulation, thus robbing the weakened muscles of that which they need most—nourishment.

But science has found a way, and all truss sufferers in the land are invited to make a test right in the privacy of their own homes. The PLAPAO method is unquestionably the most scientific, logical and successful self-treatment for rupture the world has ever known.

The PLAPAO PAD when adhering closely to the body cannot possibly slip or shift out of place, therefore cannot chafe or pinch. Soft as velvet—easy to apply—comparatively inexpensive. To be used whilst you work and whilst you sleep. No straps, buckles or springs attached.

Learn how to close the hernial opening as nature intended so the rupture CAN'T come down. Send your name and ten cents, coin or stamps, today to PLAPAO CO., 482 Stuart Bldg., St. Louis, Mo., for trial Plapao and instructive information. —(c) P.L.

Doctor Lost Both Hands Through Experiments With X-Ray

Dr. John Spence (50), Edinburgh, as a result of X-ray experiments, sustained serious damages to both hands, necessitating amputation of the right forearm. Dr. Spence was among the first in Scotland to take up research work of X-ray and medical electricity. Although he well knew the risk he ran, and while still suffering from dermatitis, Dr. Spence continued his valuable and heroic work for the benefit of suffering humanity. He is still carrying on his work as radiologists at Leith Hospital, and Craigleith Hospital, Edinburgh. The trustees have awarded Dr. Spence a medallion and an annuity of £130.

Minard's Liniment Co., Ltd.

Gentlemen.—I have used Minard's Liniment and have found it a good remedy. After the explosion I was pretty well shaken up, having quite a number of bruises and cuts, but thanks to Minard's Liniment I am my old self again. It healed the sores and bruises and gave me much relief. It is true to its name as the King of Pain, for it stopped the pain almost at once. I first noticed the ad in the Montreal Standard and decided to invest in a bottle, for which I am not sorry, but can say with truth that I am thankful for it having done all it claimed to do, and in my case much more, and a satisfied customer is the best ad. one can possibly find. That is my view of it and I think you will agree with me too.

Yours very truly,

Nation-wide Fame.—There is scarcely a corner of this great Dominion where the merits of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil have not been tried and proved. It is one of the world's most efficient remedies for sore throat, lame back and many other ailments arising from inflammation. Rubbed on the skin its healing power is readily absorbed, and it can also be taken internally.

HALL'S CATARRH MEDICINE is a liquid, taken internally, and acts through the blood upon the mucous surfaces of the system, thus reducing the inflammation and assisting Nature in restoring normal conditions.
