Taylor-Harman Address Growers

The largest attendance ever seen at a meeting of the Valley ranchers was in evidence on Saturday afternoon at the public meeting which was addressed by Messrs Taylor and Harman of Kelowna, dealing with fruit marketing conditions as they had found them from an extended personal visit of inspection to numerous prairie points this fall.

In the absence of the president, vice-president Bennett of Creston board of trade presided, and was greeted with an audience in excess of 100—the second largest crowd the speakers had talked to in a total of 29 meetings held so far.

As Messrs. Taylor and Harman left on the afternoon train, the first feature of the session was the addresses by these two men, which was an appeal for the organization of an association that would include all the growers and selling agehcies, with a view to strictly controlling distribution.

After these speeches the meeting decided to organize a growers' committee to take action on the strength of the addresses given, and the following were selected as the committee: Messrs. Bennett, Littlejohn, Putnam, Adlard, R. B. Staples, Constable, R. Stark, Hilton Young and R. J. Long, with the two former named chairman and secretary respectively.

A meeting of delegates representing all points in the province to consider the whole marketing proposition is being held at Kelowna this week, and the committee named Jas. Adlard as the Creston Valley delegate, and he left for Kelowna on Monday.

A meeting to hear Mr. Adlard's report on this get-together will be held in Speers' Hall at 2 p.m., Saturday, December 16th, when it is hoped there will be the same fine turnout of growers.

In making his address Mr. Taylor said, in effect, that he and General Harman had investigated first hand the market conditions in most of the more important cities on the prairies, and also at several minor points. The results of this investigation were very discouraging, and the nett prices for fruit sold on the prairie markets this season were likely to be the worst ever received. Figures were quoted in proof that cars of apples were sold at prices that will not pay transportation and haulage charges.

Mr. Taylor described their visit to Calgary where they found the market badly disorganized—carloads of apples were arriving daily, consigned to the various jobbers, while nobody was buying, except in small quantities; many retailers buying only sufficient to last them one day, fearing that their competitors would, by buying later, be able to undersell them and force them to unload at a loss. As a consequence of selling on a consignment basis this price cutting continues indefinitely, and the loss sustained remains almost wholly with the grower

Contrary to general idea, fewer apples are sold on a falling market than when prices are consistently steady. The reason is that the house wife, who generally makes the purchases, observing apples for sale in one store at, say, $2.25, and in the next at $2.15, and in another at $2.00, in almost all cases decides to wait until "tomorrow," in the hope of getting them for $1.95; and the worst of it is she generally does get them.

From Calgary the Committee went to Edmonton where the conditions were much the same, and box apples were selling at low prices, if sold at all.

From Edmonton they journeyed to Saskatoon, which was and is still the worst market of all. Things seemed in such a hopeless condition they could accomplish nothing, so continued on to Winnipeg. This city, said Mr. Taylor, is the great dumping place for "rolled" cars, a type of consignment. Cars would be loaded in the Okanagan Valley and sent out unsold, billed to Winnipeg. Wires would be sent to various centers to the jobbers, with the hope of their buying them. If so bought they would be diverted in transit, but if not, they arrived in Winnipeg and were consigned. In a season like this few "rollers" were diverted, and as a consequence the tracks and the warehouses of Winnipeg are jammed full of consigned apples, in quantities impossible to dispose of. The shipping of large quantities of crates was particularly condemned by the speaker, most of these crates being sold at prices below cost of production.

Mr. Taylor then took up the case of the grower shipper—that is the grower who belongs to no regular marketing association, but operates as a free lance in his own interests and without consideration of the interests of his fellow growers.

In the speaker's opinion the responsibility for a consignment market must be largely placed on the grower shipper. The Committee were astonished to find how many of these men were operating from B.C. Wherever they went there was plain evidence of their depressing effects on the apple market. It is not contended that these men act in any bad faith, or that they are by any means all alive to the real harm they are working to the business. They are, they contend and believe, out to make a living, just as are their neighbors who co operate, and they have every legal right to do so. But they overlook the fact that when, in their anxiety to make a sale, they undersquote a fair price set by the far greater body of their fellows who do co-operate, they demoralize the market, and, sooner or later, bring about their own fall as well as that of others.

Mr. Taylor quoted one instance where a white grower shipper had consigned his fruit to a Chinese retailer. This Chinese was asked by Mr. Taylor what the grower would get for the apples. The Chink pointed to a stack of apples: 'I buy 'rm," he said, "they my apples, I sell 'em first, then I sellem consign apples; maybe he get something—maybe not."

Shipper growers are apt to think that their small shipment cannot effect the market, but the speaker described how one car of McIntosh apples put the market flat at Edmonton. This car arrived in that city far in advance of other Macs, sold quickly and probably returned a good figure to the shipper. The housewife seeing Macs advertised as having arrived asked her dealer for Macs and on being told that they were sold out refused to purchase Wealthy apples instead, anticipating further shipments of McIntosh. The sale of Wealthies practically ceased for a whole week on that market.

Speaking of the trip to prairie points Gen. Harman stated that the conditions as they found them were appalling. The glut was general, and not confined to larger centres. At the town of Lacombe, for instance, with a population of 2300, no less than 21 cars of apples were shipped in. Such a quantity could not possibly be disposed of there to advantage.

Kitchener

Naugle Pole & Tie Company, with headquarters in Chicago, has opened an office in Kitchener. Mr. McKenna is the bookkeeper.

The Christmas tree committee had a most successful evening on Saturday, when the proceeds from the whist and dance totalled up to almost $28.

Nearly all the Duck Creek men who have been working on the new road have been laid off for a few days, but hope to resume their jobs before long.

T. W. Davies and Reg. Price, while out hunting deer, had the good fortune to shoot a bear. Davies very kindly distributed the meat, which was much enjoyed by the many recipients. John Bithie is another of our successful big game hunters. It is reported that he got a cougar while out with his rifle a few days ago.

Wednesday's whist drive was thoroughly enjoyed by all. The prizes for high scores went to Mrs. Packman and Walter Cooper. Monrad Wigen again distinguished himself by gaining a prize—the only difference being that this time he gained the "booby."

A very pleasant evening was spent last Saturday at the home of Mrs. Eakin, when a bunch of the younger folks sprang a surprise on Bessie Eakin. Dancing, games and songs were the order of the evening, and about 11 a dainty lunch was served.

The coldest touch of the season was on Tuesday morning, when the mercury touched 6 above zero.

Miss Alice Carr was a visitor with Wynndel friends this week.

The Kelly home was the scene of a most enjoyable house party on Tuesday night last when quite a gathering of friends spent several hours very pleasantly with music and dancing, Mr. Finlayson supplying the music for the hop. A very tasty lunch was served about midnight.

Lister

Fred Weston has taken possession of the C. Burgess place, the latter having this week moved to his new home at Canyon City.

The feature of the United Farmers meeting on Friday night was the talk by E. Langston on the proposed egg marketing circle, which will have its headquarters at Nelson.

The friends of Sam Lazachuk are faring sumptuously on venison roasts, steaks, etc. Sam got a fine buck on Monday, and is distributing many of the choice cuts to numerous friends.

The children's Christmas treat and entertainment will be held in the Lister school on Tuesday evening, December 19th, at 8 o'clock. Following the entertainment there will be a Christmas ball for the grownups.

Harry Vernon is a visitor here for a few days, prior to his departure for England, where he will visit old friends for a few months. While overseas he proposes visiting some of the old fighting grounds in France and Belgium.

The sale of work staged on Saturday by the sewing class of the Sunday school was a great financial success, the intake for the day amounting to almost $50. There was a sale of cooking, candy, sewing with afternoon tea also served. Mrs. Stevens and Miss Lena Frampton had charge of the sale of cookery; Miss Cora Frampton disposed of the sewing; Mrs. Chudley was in charge of the refreshment booth, while Dick Stevens manipulated the fish pond.

Canyon City

C. Burgess of Lister, who recently purchased the Alfred Nelson ranch, has taken possession this week.

Miss Annie Samuelson was rather seriously cut about the face and arms one day last week, when she fell coming downstairs with a tray full of plates, cups and saucers.

T. Hickey who has resigned his position as foreman at the portable mill at Camp 3, was a business visitor at Calgary a few days last week.

A. Nelson has just completed the purchase of the ten-acre Olmsted ranch, the deal being put through by R. Walmsley of Creston last week.

Miss Muriel Knott, who has spent the last two weeks at Glenlilly, arrived home the latter part of the week.

A sum of $40 has been raised by freewill donations to provide a Christmas treat for the children of Canyon City, and an entertainment in this connection will be given at the schoolhouse on Friday evening, Dec. 22nd. Plans are being made to remember some 90 children.

$20 was netted for the piano fund at the whist and dance under United Farmer auspices at the schoolhouse on Friday night. Cards were in order until 11, the prizes going to Miss Nissie McRobb and Hilton Young. Supper followed the whist and then dancing was in order until 3 a.m., the music being by Mrs. Foreman and G. Davie. Mr. Pratt of Erickson favored with a number of violin numbers, that were much appreciated.

A Rogue's Romance

"A Rogue's Romance," which will be shown at the Grand Theatre on Saturday, December 9th, is filled with the atmosphere of gay Paris. Its cafes, its night life, its Bohemian existence are all caught by the camera. Even Earle Williams and Rodolph Valentino become distinctive French types in this story of a famous French crook who did more good than evil and who aided the police. The well known resorts of Paris are pictured, depicting the gay night life, and Rudolph Valentino does an Apache dance which would do credit to Paris itself.

Much of the French atmosphere is preserved by art titles with the streets of the city and its famous haunts visible in the background. Paris famed in song and story has been caught by the eye of the camera and brought to the theater in "A Rogue's Romance."

XXVI.

Bar B Ranch,
February 28th, 19—.

My petty troubles and resentments have been forced into the background by real tragedy. It is all so fresh that I can scarcely write or speak about it, and at the same time I feel as if ages had passed since I wrote in my diary only three weeks ago. And what a pitiful, childish outburst that was! After all, I am not the first person to learn that dolls are made of sawdust and imagination.

When I went downstairs on that seemingly far-off Sunday I found Mrs. Bingham standing beside the hall window, with an anxious expression on her usually placid face.

"If there anything wrong?" I asked.

"Do you see that sky?" she answered, as she drew me to the window. "I am afraid it means a storm, and a storm here means death." She lowered her voice with the last words.

"Oh, surely not!" I said. "No one would venture out if a storm were coming up."

"People who live in such a country grow reckless," she replied, and then changed the subject with an effort.

Just at sundown her prediction came true, the wind rose, and inside an hour we were in the grip of the storm. It was no gentle drift of fleecy flakes that threw a white blanket over a bare and ugly world, but a howling, shrieking hurricane, accompanied by fine snow which stung like millions of needle-pricks wherever it touched the bare skin. While it was still light enough to do so, I watched it from the window, fascinated, in spite of myself, by the fantastic shapes of the eddying snow which seemed to fall to within a few inches of the ground, only to be caught up again like dust by a whirlwind. As it grew darker, the wind became wilder, and all night long it blew, sometimes moaning in a way to make one remember all the world-old stories of lost souls, and then again rising louder and louder until it ended in a blood-curdling shriek. We sat up until after midnight, Mr. and Mrs. Bingham, Mr. Livingstone and I, trying to forget in the warmth and light of the big hall the awful danger which threatened the life of everyone who might be out on such a night. Even after I went to bed I could not sleep for a long while, tired as I was; but the storm must have worn itself out before daylight, for at eight o'clock I woke from troubled dreams and looked out upon a quiet world. A world covered as far as I could see with glittering white snow, blue in the shadowed hollows, but almost blinding in its radiance where the sun shone upon it. And the Banshee, swift and cruel-looking as ever, ran like a black ribbon through all this dazzling beauty.

When I went down to breakfast the dining-room was empty, but in a few minutes Mrs. Bingham came in, followed a moment later by her husband. As soon as I saw them I knew that something awful had happened.

"What is it?" I asked.

Mrs. Bingham tried to speak, but before she could control her voice Mr. Bingham answered for her.

"It's Paget, Miss Eliot. When I went to the stables this morning, his team and wagon were standing in the open shed, but there was no driver. He must have missed the road in the storm and gotten out of the wagon to look for it. Livingstone and two of our men started back on the trail at once. Better have a cup of tea," he finished kindly; "we can always hope for the best you know, and you must not make yourself ill. It wouldn't surprise me in the least if Paget were to come in this minute, grumbling about the bad walking."

With this Mr. Bingham went out, and Mrs. Bingham and I sat down at the table and coaxed each other to eat.

The next hour is like a nightmare to me. We had just risen from our make-believe breakfast when mad barking from David sent us both to the door like a flash. Mr. Bingham was there before us, however. "The men are coming back, Helen," he said reassuringly, as one always says the obvious thing in an emotional crisis, and hurried out to meet them.

In a few moments the wagon pulled up at the door, and Don and Mr. Bingham carried in all that was left of poor Lawrence Paget. They had found him only a mile from the house. At first we thought, or pretended to think, that he was still living, but it was a sorry pretence. And the bitterness of it is that he was so close to safety all the time—to think that while we sat in comfort the night before he was battling for his life!

There was very little for Mrs. Bingham and me to do; the men attended to everything. When all was quiet again, Mr. Livingstone came into the hall where I sat alone.

"I found this in Paget's pocket," he said, and handed me my English mail. And then I broke down and cried like a baby—I couldn't help it. His very last words to me came back with a rush of feeling that I had not considered possible: "We Britishers must stand by each other, you know."

I have scarcely seen Mr. Livingstone since then; he has been very busy looking after Mr. Paget's affairs. But he has been very nice and friendly whenever we have met. Mr. Paget's death has sobered us all, I think. Of course I shall never feel towards him just as I did before—why should I, when he is apparently satisfied with the present situation? To come right down to the bare facts: I evidently took his kindness to mean more than he actually meant by it, and feeling so, I thought that I had a right to feel hurt by his sudden devotion to Mary. I see my blunder now, and I shall not repeat it.

XXVII.

Bar B Ranch,
March 30th, 19—.

I open my diary again only to close it.

I realize that what I am about to write will read exactly like the last chapter in a novel, but that cannot be helped.

Last Sunday was the first day of spring. Saturday had been wintry, but the seasons are true Canadians—always in a hurry, and with no half-tones—and as soon as I woke on Sunday morning I knew that the winter was over.

"Will you come for a ride after breakfast?" Mr. Livingstone asked me as we met in the hall.

I did want a ride, under any circumstances, so I said yes, and in an hour I was on Cupid and "headed for the south to meet the summer," as Mr. Livingstone put it.

Both the horses were fresh and eager to stretch their limbs, so we let them race for a while and did not attempt to talk. The warm lazy breeze was busily blowing away all my unpleasant memories, and as we slowed our horses down to a walk at the top of a steep hill it came upon me suddenly that I loved Canada, the big, crude land that had seemed so unfriendly throughout the winter.

"That was glorious!" I said to Mr. Livingstone.

"Yes, wasn't it?" he replied. "Don't you wish Miss Arnold were here to enjoy it with us?"

All the little demons came back instantly, and I gave poor Cupid a cruel cut with the whip. One unbearably long minute followed, during which I seemed to fall half-way through to Australia, and then all was black and I knew nothing more until I came to my senses on a swiftly-revolving hillside, while Mr. Livingstone poured brandy down my throat with as little consideration as if I had been a funnel. I hate brandy, but it had the desired effect, and before long the hills settled back into their accustomed places.

"What happened?" I asked, as I stood up, very shaky, but very independent.

"Cupid bolted, and half-way down the hill he put his foot into a badger hole. It is a wonder that you both were not killed—especially when you will insist on wearing that Hyde Park riding skirt."

Mr. Livingstone had evidently been badly frightened, and, manlike, he showed his concern by blaming the woman.

There was a good sized stone not far from where I had fallen, so I went over and sat down on it, glad to be able to view the situation from a more or less comfortable seat. I seemed to have acquired a short circuit in my nervous system.

SASKATCHEWAN WOMAN RECOVERS

Melaval, Saskatchewan.—"I saw Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound advertised for women's troubles and when a friend recommended it to me I tried it and it has done me so much good in the two years in which I have been taking it that I find I am a different woman since then. I recommend your Vegetable Compound as much as I can and you may use my letter as a testimonial."—Mrs. Wm. J. Thomas, Melaval, Saskatchewan.

These letters recommending Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound ought to convince women of the great worth of this medicine in the treatment of ailments to which they are often subject.

Mrs. Thomas writes that she is a different woman now. If you are suffering from troubles women often have, or feel all run down, without any ambition or energy for your regular work, take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. It is a natural restorative and should help you as it has Mrs. Thomas and many, many other women.

This medicine has been helping sick women nearly fifty years—surely a long record of service.

Passing of Bob Edwards

Editor of Calgary Eye Opener Succumbs to Heart Failure

R. C. Edwards, M.L.A., editor of the Calgary Eye Opener, died recently at his residence in Calgary.

For many months he had been prostrated with heart trouble, brought on by an attack of influenza, contracted while attending the spring session of the Alberta Legislature.

He is survived by his widow, there being no children.

The late Mr. Edwards was born September 12, 1864, at Edinburgh, Scotland. He was educated at St. Andrew's and Fife Colelges and later graduated from Glasgow University.

Coming to Canada in 1895, he entered the field of weekly newspapers in Alberta towns. For the past decade he had been the editor of the Calgary Eye Opener.

Mr. Edwards remained single until four years ago, when he married Kate Penman, of Blackbridge, Scotland. He was a Presbyterian in religion and independent in politics.

He was first elected to the Alberta Legislature at the general elections of 1921.

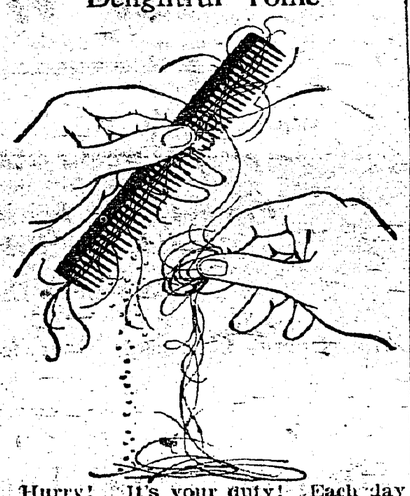
A SIN TO LET HAIR FALL OUT

35c "Danderine" Saves Your Hair—Ends Dandruff! Delightful Tonic



Hurry! It's your duty! Each day you see a little more hair falling out and you are making no effort to avoid baldness. What a pity. Falling hair means your hair is weak, sick—possibly dandruff is strangling it, or the hair root pores in the scalp are not firm and tight, thus wasting the hair-growing oils.

Danderine almost instantly stops falling hair of men or women and cleans every particle of dandruff away, then the hair takes on new life, vigor and strength to grow strong, thick and long.

Danderine is delightful—not sticky or greasy. Go to any drug store now and get a bottle. Use it. Have healthy, heavy, beautiful hair and lots of it.

WHY RHEUMATISM OFTEN COMES BACK

The Usual Treatment Does Not Reach the Root of the Trouble

Most treatments for rheumatism do no more than aim to keep down the poison in the blood and enable nature to overcome that particular attack. Then when the system becomes run-down from any cause the disease again gets the upper hand and it all has to be done over.

Sufferers from rheumatism who have found their condition unrelieved or actually growing worse while using other remedies, would do well to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The tonic treatment with this medicine has proved in thousands of cases that it builds up the blood to a point that enables it to cast out the rheumatic poisons through the regular channels of excretion, the bowels, kidneys and the skin. When this is done rheumatism is banished, and as long as the blood is kept pure and rich the patient will be immune from attack. This is proved by the case of Mrs. J. Hewitt, Beach P.O., Hamilton, Ont., who says: "For a number of years I was troubled with muscular rheumatism, which caused me a great deal of suffering. I would get rid of the trouble for a time, but it always came back. A friend recommended Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I have not had an attack of rheumatism since I took them, and that is five years ago. I have since used the pills for anaemia and found them equally good, and I now recommend them to any friends who may be ailing."

You can get these pills from any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

This is of Importance to You

As I had tried Dr. Pierce's Anuric Tablets on my other son, I decided to give him Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and after using four or five bottles he was entirely well. I shall always say a good word for all of Dr. Pierce's remedies. Today our medicine cabinet contains a bottle of each of these famous remedies."—Mrs. Catherine Dempsey, 32 Bridge St.

May Use Goats Milk In Tuberculosis War

In the fight against tuberculosis, announcement is made by the Winnipeg Anti-Tuberculosis Society that a number of local medical men and interested citizens have banded together for the purpose of purchasing a herd of goats for Winnipeg, so that babies in the city may be supplied with goats' milk.

It was stated at the recent meeting of the society at Winnipeg that goats had been found to be practically immune from tuberculosis. Of the 4,000,000 babies born annually in the United States it was estimated that 1,000,000 died from bovine tuberculosis.

Minard's Liniment For Distemper

PUTS ON 20 POUNDS AND FEELS FINE

"Tanlac and I are old friends. I took it when it first came out and have used it off and on as a tonic then, and I always keep fit." This statement was made recently by Robert J. Moore, highly respected and widely known farmer of Regina, Sask., residing on N. Albert St. Mr. Moore is also well known at Rouleau, where he was farming before coming to Regina.

"When I first took Tanlac," he said, "I was not what you would call seriously sick, but I certainly was in such bad shape I knew I had to have something to make me get well, and so I decided on this medicine. I was all run-down and suffering from rheumatic pains that often made my shoulders, arms, back and hips stiff and sore. My stomach wasn't acting right, either, and my appetite kept falling off. Sometimes my food would disagree with me badly and cause me considerable suffering.

"Reading about Tanlac in the Regina papers started me taking it, and it put an end to my trouble quickly. I went up twenty pounds in weight. I haven't had a trace of rheumatism since, and have enjoyed perfect health. I unhesitatingly recommend Tanlac to anyone."

Tanlac is sold by all good druggists.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, DEC. 8

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

Timely Admonition

EDITOR REVIEW:

SIR,—About the time Canadian women were given the right to vote one of our politicians is credited with saying, "Give women a vote? What for? Haven't we enough ballots to count already and isn't there enough old women in politics?"

B.C. women have taken their part in both a Provincial and a Dominion election. No doubt the experience was sufficiently novel to be more or less bewildering to all of us, and no doubt for this reason most women were only too glad to make use of the more experienced judgment, or lack of judgment, of the men in whom they had confidence.

Women, however, have had the franchise for a sufficient length of time to be cured of political stage-fright, and should be showing some evidence of exerting that beneficient influence on our political life that all honest men hoped they would exert.

And yet at a time when it seems reasonable to expect that we should begin to realize some of the weight of responsibility that must inevitably go with our struggle for the right to vote, and our acceptance of the franchise, it might be hard for us to successfully contradict the statement (if made) that the apparent result of giving the women of B.C. voting powers has been to multiply by two the number of ballots to be printed and counted and to add a few more "old women" to our political life.

All of which comes as a result of attending the last meeting of Creston Womens Institute, and in leading up to what I hope will be looked upon as a kindly criticism made because of a firm conviction that we as women are daily passing up opportunities to exercise a powerful influence for good upon political life. A criticism made in the hope that it may help a little towards causing a few of us assume the responsibility of using our influence intelligently.

At the Institute meeting referred to two items of routine business seem to me worthy of notice. One was a proposal to purchase a few packs of used playing cards. This involved the expenditure of a dollar or two and provoked considerable discussion.

The other was for a request from the Harrop Institute asking that the Creston Institute endorse and forward to the Public Works Department a resolution calling for construction and operation of a ferry for the accommodation of the people of Harrop and district. This resolution was passed without discussion.

Now Harrop is served by the Crew boat which in the morning would transport their produce for shipment to Prairie points, and in the evening to Nelson. The Kaslo boat, I believe, calls at these points, and in addition Harrop has train service to Nelson.

They have, however, no highroad connection and it seems probable that the chief reason for asking for a ferry is to enable these people to invest in Ford cars and parade their purchases in Nelson a distance of sixteen miles.

The total assessment of the district interested is about the same as that of the Creston school district and while a ferry would benefit these people, so would a steam boat service to Sirdar benefit the residents of West Creston during high water.

Now a ferry at Harrop would probably cost $10,000.00, and its operation would cost probably $3,000.00 per year. Extending operation costs over a five year period means that the resolution passed by our Institute without discussion called for an expenditure of $25,000.00.

In other words the Womens Institute that gave serious thought to the purchase of six packs of playing cards, worth say a dollar and eighty cents, did not hesitate to use their influence as voters to request the Government to undertake the expenditure of $25,000.00 and made the request without one single enquiry as to whether the expenditure was necessary or wise.

We used to marvel how foolish men were in political matters but I do not believe any body of men would have been guilty of letting such a resolution get by without knowing all the facts, unless it might be a partisan association who would pass the matter along figuring it was just one more item of worry for our friends the opposition.

Now the Womens Institute is non partisan, and I am quite certain that the Creston branch is a representative body of women voters well above the average in intelligence, and in addition have just as much sense of political responsibility as the average body of women voters.

When a body such as this considers the purchase of a few second hand cards of more importance than a resolution to be forwarded to the Minister of Public Works what answer can we give when asked to justify our acceptance of the franchise.

So far as the Harrop resolution is concerned the point is not whether there should or should not be a ferry, but is that the facts were not put before the meeting for discussion.

The Institute should discuss such matters and should forward intelligently considered resolutions to the Department, and having forwarded them should demand information as to what consideration such resolutions received or, better still, should demand that the Member for the Riding see that due consideration be given the requests of his constituents.

Just in this connection I am reminded of a resolution which was passed by the Institute last spring asking that no liquor store be opened at Creston. Surely a righteous request to make to the Government.

Colonel Fred Lister, M.P.P. for the district, however, thinks so little of the resolutions of his women constituents that he freely advocates the opening of a liquor store here; not only that, but during the present session on the floor of the house advocated the free sales of beer and light wines by the glass, which in other words simply means the return to the open bar.

Possibly incidents such as occured at the recent meeting of the Institute give Colonel Lister good reason to think very little of resolutions passed by bodies of women voters.

Surely if Institute resolutions are to mean anything to anyone, or if they mean anything to the women themselves, the Institute should have passed a resolution severely censuring Colonel Lister for misrepresenting the wishes of his constituents.

Possibly the majority of us take so little interest in our new political responsibilities that we don't even know that the speech was made, and this is the most serious aspect of the situation.

If women value the franchise so highly, and carry the burden of political responsibility so easily, that they are simply going to tag along with husbands or brothers, and make out duplicate ballots, why not ask to be relieved of even this much useless bother and find some means of giving back our right to vote, which we value so highly.

Better still, infinitely beteer, let us waken up to the fact that we are being discredited as electors by our actions and lack of action. Let us realize in the fullest measure our responsibility to intelligently understand, and our power to influence legislation. Needless to say when the awakening comes our power and influence will always be for right.

Dealing with the remedies for the situation he advocated control in the orchards. The grower is the best judge of when to pick his own fruit, but he should not haul his fruit to the packing shed as soon as picked, but use common sense, allow one variety to be cleaned up before taking the next variety to the packing house, and so avoid congestion. The Dominion fruit inspectors on the prairie specially criticised the shipping of so many varieties at once. Late summer, fall and winter varieties are conflicting in some cases. The provision of storage facilities was also declared to be absolutely essential in order to spread the apple season over a longer period and to avoid the rush of the present short season. Also the building of by-product plants for the production of apple rings, etc., to supply the Old Country trade. Figures were quoted showing the huge proportions of this trade between the U.S. and Great Britain. There was no reason why much of this trade should not be captured by Canada. Preferential tariff rates could be obtained on these products, they not being of a perishable nature.

Gen. Harman advocated central control of distribution for all B.C. fruit. For the export market we must make our main feature the fact that the fruit is the product of British Columbia, and to this extent be prepared to sink local names.

For our home market it would not be fair to expect districts such as the Kootenay to have their apples go on the market labelled "Okanagan." The Okanagan is not the only district that can grow good apples. The Kootenay "Baxter" was selling anywhere from 10c. to 20c. more than the Okanagan McIntosh. Districts must retain their individuality and thus foster healthy competition in raising the quality of the British Columbia apple.

There are at present no less than 38 regular shipping houses in B.C. Add to this the very large number of growers shipping on their own, and can it be wondered at that the very existence of the B.C. apple grower is now in jeopardy. The remedy lies with the grower. Will he co operate; not half-heartedly, but whole heartedly? Will he cease to believe that his whole duty to man has been done when he has endeavored to do the best by himself regardless of his neighbors? Or will he at last recognize that a fair living for all can only be brought about by a true spirit of co operation, with equal regard for his neighbor and himself. The course for the future is clear—we must cut out disloyalty to our association, and selfishness to our fellow growers. If this cannot be done, sooner or later the majority must go under.

Tomatoes Ripen In North Country

Farmer Secures One Thousand Pounds Of Ripe Tomatoes In Peace River Country

Just north of Peace River, which is 550 miles north of the International Boundary, a farmer, Pendell Bush, ripened 1,000 pounds of tomatoes of the best quality this season. At Fort Vermilion, 100 miles farther south, tomatoes, cucumbers, pumpkins and musk melons were matured. Wheat is stated to be "Number One Hard, as usual," and the hay crop abundant. Settlement of the Peace River country is continuing at a healthy rate and this year more than 1,300 settlers have secured farms in Northern Alberta through homesteading.

A Prosperous Nation

Future Well-Being of the Dominion Is Assured

The truth is that Canada is a cozy corner of the world. We have our problems, and they are not light, but, compared with the difficulties of other nations, they are as nothing. In the light of the achievements of the past eight years, they cannot impose fear.

All that we require is reasonable sanity. If we can but guard against the intoxication which threatened us with wreckage, in pre-war days, can adhere to realities and cut our financial coat to suit our financial cloth, our future prosperity is assured.—Ottawa Journal.

GUARD THE CHILDREN FROM AUTUMN COLDS

The Fall is the most severe season of the year for colds—one day warm, the next cold and wet, and unless the mother is on her guard, the little ones are seized with colds that may hang on all winter. Baby's Own Tablets are mother's best friend in preventing or banishing colds. They act as a gentle laxative, keeping the bowels and stomach free and sweet. An occasional dose of the Tablets will prevent colds, or if it does come on suddenly their prompt use will relieve the baby. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Grows Figs In Ontario

Hamilton Man Says Figs Can Be Grown for Commercial Purposes In Canada

Upon results which have attended his efforts in the past two years, John Flett, of Hamilton, has come to the conclusion that figs can be grown for commercial purposes in Canada. Mr. Flett, a well-known organizer for the American Federation of Labor, has grown a second crop of figs to support his claim.

"During the war I planted a fig tree and gave it no more attention. By last year the tree was six or seven feet in height and yielded a peck of figs," he says. "The figs were larger than any I have seen in the United States, even the most southern parts, and they were perfect for domestic purposes."

CASTORIA

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for Baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. U. F. A. Ask For Federal Inquiry Into Rural Credit System

Calgary.—Demands that the Federal Parliament, at the next session, institute a searching public inquiry into the basis, function and control of the financial credit system, and the relation of credit to produtcion and distribution, were embodied in a resolution unanimously endorsed at the annual convention of the East and West Calgary U.F.A.

The resolution further asked that whatever amendments are made to the Canada Bank Act, the act should be left open for further revision, as, it was pointed out, the bankers had engaged the most competent legal talent to present their case, whereas the farmers practically were unprepared. That the inquiry proposed be held publicly was another demand.

Denunciation of the liquor squad enforcing the Alberta Liquor Act was voiced by Irricana local, which demanded that the squad be abolished or made effective.

The convention refused to take a stand upon the agitation to have the Bible read in Alberta schools, although H. W. Wood and several delegates commented favorably on the proposal.

"The plank of democracy is bearing the fruit of autocracy," said President Wood in an address to the delegates. "You have democratic machinery at the bottom, with autocratic tendencies at the top. The result is a conflict in the U.F.A. movement, for you claim the inalienable right to carry on your own democracy, while your elected representatives at the top are forming political machinery.

"Thus is formed a political party in the old sense, with all its accruing evils. It will be impossible for this to function, and, inevitably, division means failure. This, I believe, is the crux of the whole situation upon which your whole organization depends."

Increase License Motor Fees

Toronto.—A report came from the Parliament Buildings that a levy of $1 will be placed on all motorists in addition to the regular license fee in 1923. The dollar will bring in a revenue of $250,000, which will pay for the markers and all administration expenses. It is also understood that the license fees imposed on heavy trucks will be increased.

HUSBAND DIDNT DARE LEAVE HER ALONE — HEART WAS SO BAD

Those feelings of faintness, those dizzy spells, the all-gone sinking sensations which come on from time to time indicate a weakened condition of the heart and a disordered state of the nerves.

MILBURN'S HEART AND NERVE PILLS

have no equal as a remedy to strengthen the heart, invigorate the nerves and build up the run-down system.

Mrs. C. Vanhorn, Eckville, Alta., writes:—"About a year ago I had heart trouble. My husband didn't dare leave me alone, and often had to stay up at night with me. I would just feel kind of faint and my heart would seem to stop beating. I would just faint away, and it would sometimes be an hour before they could bring me back to life. Someone told me about Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills. I got three boxes; I took them and felt much better, so continued all Winter, and now I never feel any such faintness. I surely do appreciate the good they have done for me."

Negroes Warned to Leave

Athens, Ga.—Two hundred negroes and 50 white farmers of Oconee county held a mass meeting, according to reports published here, after notices were posted on several negro churches and lodge rooms Sunday, warning the negroes to leave before the end of the year. The negroes at the meeting adopted a resolution declaring confidence in the "law-abiding white citizens of our country, and, further, that we will not be driven from among the white people whom we know to be our friends without first giving them an opportunity of protecting us."

Gen. Harington Issues Warning To Turks To Keep The Peace

Constantinople.—Lieut.-Gen. Harington, commander of the Allied forces here, has issued a stern warning to the Kemalists that any further encroachments upon Constantinople would be at their peril. Addressing a large gathering assembled to witness boxing bouts between British soldiers and sailors at the auditorium of the British headquarters, he declared that the Allied forces in Constantinople were a rock marked "dangerous," upon which the Turks would wreck themselves if they persisted in trying the patience of the Allies.

"The Allies are very conciliatory, very patient," he said. "They have exercised great forbearance and restraint. Our ministers have gone to Lausanne with the same spirit of conciliation, justice and fairness. They are, however, human and there is a limit to human nature. Those who try to exceed that limit play with fire. They would be well advised by the referee to break away."

It is understood that the decision of the national assembly at Angora to replace Rafet Pasha as military governor at Constantinople was taken for three reasons. The first was that the assembly took exception to certain of Rafet's speeches; second, he was considered as showing a too conciliatory attitude in his relations with the Allied Generals here; and lastly, the Nationalists disapproved his remarks to the effect that native Christians would be unwise to leave Constantinople. On the latter count, the view in Angora is said to be that the more Christians leaving voluntarily the fewer there will be to expel later.

B.C. May Deprive Japs Of Fishing Rights

Federal Fisheries Commission Want Licenses to Orientals Reduced

Vancouver.—On thousand and forty-two Japanese fishing licenseholders and their crews will be deprived of the right to fish in British Columbia waters, if the recommendation of the Federal Fisheries Commission to the Minister of Marine and Fisheries in Ottawa, is accepted. The commission recommended that licenses to Orientals be reduced by 40 per cent. This year licenses were issued to 2,606 Japanese.

A terrible experience had Edw. J. O'Connor, of Sault Ste Marie. From boyhood he writes: "I have been a constant sufferer from Asthma and Catarrh. My nose and throat was often stopped up, and I had disagreeable droppings from my throat. When an attack of coughing came on, it seemed as if I would barely live through it. I would gasp for breath. Catarrhozone made me well. Its soothing healing action was exactly suited to my case." To those who suffer from Catarrh, Asthma, Throat Irritation and Bronchitis, Catarrhozone is highly recommended. I have used it for my children as well as for myself for colds and bronchitis, and we find it gives immediate relief. Three bottles of this medicine once relieved me of an obstinate cold when doctor's medicine had failed. The Ladies Guild of Christ Church scored another big financial success at their annual bazaar in the Parish Hall on Friday afternoon last, the intake from the various stalls and raffles being in the neighborhood of $250.

Although the high wind that prevailed most of Wednesday gave the impression that that was the coldest day thus far, the mercury readings show that Tuesday a.m. holds the season's record for cold, 6 above being recorded on Tuesday morning.

The Board of Trade meet in December session on Tuesday night in Speers' Hall, and as this will be the last regular meeting of the year it is hoped there will be a good turnout to clear up all unfinished business and arrange for the annual session in January.

The Banff orchestra made their first appearance of the season here at the Grand ballroom on Monday night and was greeted with quite a good turnout about 130 dancers being in attendance. Cateser Norris is complimented by all on the excellence of lunch provided.

The Sirdar visitors brought along the music for the dancing, which was the big feature of the evening.

Fire was discovered at the rear of the second story of A. E. Although the mercury dropped to 6 above zero on both Tuesday and Wednesday mornings in some quarters the idea still prevails that the winter will be a mild one. Former easterners, now resident in the Valley, who have done the fall pig killing, tell us the "melts" are long and lean—a sure sign of an open winter. The muskrats, too, have not made their usual preparations for a severe winter.

At the annual meeting of the agricultural association on Wednesday night practically an entire new board of directors was chosen—most of them being ranchers. A feature of the meeting was the presentation of a 8 lb. tin of smoking tobacco to secretary R. Walmsley—a token of appreciation from the directors for services well rendered the past three years. A full report of the meeting will appear next week.

In connection with this year's Christmas mail the postoffice department asks people to refrain from sending small cards or envelopes. Where speedy delivery is essential these small envelopes all too readily slip out of bundles of letter mail; they are too small to put through stamp cancellation machines, and in hand stamping great care has to be taken otherwise the cancellation stamp will obliterate part of the address. In many other ways they too readily lend themselves to slow handling, and in case of delay responsibility rests entirely with the sender.
