THE CRESTON REVIEW

Vol. XVII. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, FEBRUARY 27, 1925 No. 3

Kitchener

Mrs. B. Johnson and Master Robert spent a few days in Cranbrook and Kimberley this week.

Mr. and Mrs. E. McGonegal were Cranbrook visitors this week.

Mrs. Loasby of Sirdar was a between trains visitor here on Saturday, a guest of Mrs. Fransen.

Mrs. Ernest Driffil was at Creston for the weekend the guest of Mrs. Geo. Young.

Mrs. Walby was hostess at a whist and dance on Sarurday night. The ladies' prize at cards was won by Miss Edith Gereux, while the gents' high score was made by A. Bains.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Johnson are entertaining at a dance in the Kitchener Hotel and will have Cranbrook music.

Mr. and Mrs. Dalbom of Wynndel have arrived to make their home at Kitchener, and will be remaining for some time, as they have leased their ranch at Duck Creek.

Sirdar

Mrs. Jones of Kuskanook was here on Thursday after a few days visit with friends at Procter, Nelson and Willow Point.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Goodman of Cranbrook were visitors with their daughter, Mrs. Roy Proctor, on Tuesday and Wednesday.

L. W. Walther, who is off on the usual two weeks' vacation, spent three days in Cranbrook this week. J. W. Reid of Cranbrook is in charge of the depot in Mr. Walther's absence.

The morning Church of England services will be as usual on Sunday morning—8 and 10.30.

Grant Hall, vice-president C.P.R., with general manager Murphy, passed through here on Tuesday night, leaving the Landing about midnight, and going east on an inspection trip. Divisional superintendent Flett, trainmaster Ironsides, and roadmaster Walker of Cranbrook met the party here and accompanied them over the division.

Alice Siding

Frank Simister has just had the telephone installed in his residence here. He has dissolved partnership as blacksmith with Mr. McKay at Creston and will stick to the ranch in future.

After being closed for several weeks due to ill health of Mr. Watcher, it is now "business as usual" at the old reliable blacksmith shop here.

Miss Elva Kelly left a few days ago for Kimberley, where she has taken a position and will be staying for some time.

Another start has been made at conducting a union Sunday school at Alice Siding, the first session being on the 15th, when there was a turnout of 20 scholars, whilst on the 22nd the attendance has grown to 27. Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Marshall constitute the teaching staff, and will appreciate assistance from others who are willing to take a class. The school meets at the house on the Todd ranch.

The Social Club had their annual hard times dance at the Todd home on Friday night last, and there was a large turnout of dancers and onlookers, and the affair surely furnished a great night's fun. The judges had some tall guessing to pick the "hardest" of the guests, but finally awarded the prizes to Misses Vera Rhodes and Gladys Stewart, and Bill Kelly and Bob Marshall.

Wynndel

Mrs. Grady left at the end of last week on a business trip to Spokane.

Carl Carlson was a Cranbrook visitor last week, returning on Saturday.

Peter Andestad was a business visitor at Cranbrook a few days last week.

T. W. Davies of Cranbrook, was a visitor here over the weekend a guest of A. H. Piggot, returning on Monday.

Miss Augustina Benedetti, who has been at Boswell the past month returned to her home here on Saturday.

Denny Frusch had the misfortune to break his arm in two places on Monday afternoon. He was playing with some other boys on the top of the old Dewar barn and fell off. His father took him to Nelson on Monday's westbound train.

Messrs. Middleton and Davies are still with us, and are spending the week visiting at various houses. On Tuesday night they held service at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Joy.

Dr. Ferguson was a visitor here at the weekend, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Taylor. He held service in the old schoolhouse on Sunday afternoon, going west on Monday for a Presbyterian conference at Nelson.

The soft, mild weather has forced most of the logging camps to stop operations until the ground dries up a little, and most of the men who have been away working are home again, and the place bears quite a lively aspect twice a day—at train times.

One sure sign of spring is that three travellers were seen in the Wynndel business section on Tuesday. They came down by car and went out on the westbound train.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Dalbom and family left on Friday for Kitchener where Dick has secured a steady job. They have rented their house here to Fred Frusch, who moved his family up there on Sunday.

Miss B. McFarlane, who went to Kitchener with her mother, Mrs. Dalbom, on Friday, returned on Saturday, and is now living with her grandmother, Mrs. J. R. Rudd.

The Lutheran minister was a visitor here on Friday and Saturday. He christened the son of Mr. and Mrs. H. Bredo on Friday afternoon, and held service that evening at the home of Mr. E. Ostrenski.

Percy Owles claims to have the early stuff this year. He put his glass house in shape and got a lot of his seed planted last Sunday. Orders for cabbage, red cabbage, cauliflower and tomato plants can be left at the Butterfield store. The prices are very reasonable.

The price of admission to the K.K. Club concert on Saturday night, February 28th, has been changed to 50 cents for concert, and those wishing to stay for supper and dance will be able to buy supper tickets at 25 cents; children under 14 will be charged 25 cents.

Canyon City

W. Lasher was here from Glenlilly a few days at the end of the week, the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Wearmouth.

Mrs. Chas. Robinson is a visitor at Calgary this week.

The United Farmers remind of the annual meeting to be held at the schoolhouse on Saturday night, March 4th. All members, and all interested, are invited to be present.

Quite a few from here were at Creston on Tuesday night for the high school concert, and were well pleased with the entire programme.

The Jim Johnston portable sawmill has been forced to shut down for at least a week. Due to the soft going the getting in of logs is retarded. It will most likely be the end of May before the cut is finished.

Mrs. Alf. Palmer and children of Erickson are stopping with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Wearmouth, while Alf. is at Vancouver.

The papers for incorporating the community hall association are now at Victoria for approval, and will be back in a few days, when the directors will start considering plans and devising ways and means for getting on with construction.

Lister

Frank Baker and W. K. Beard, who have been working at Klockmann, are here for a short stay at their homes at Lister.

Col. Lister got back at the end of the week from a few days visit at points at the other end of the riding.

Apparently the hunters did not get quite all the deer in this district last fall. A herd of eleven of them were seen browsing on the south side of the settlement in the neighborhood of the Lister ranch one day this week.

Harry Brown, who has been calling on Lister friends the past couple of weeks, returned to Kimberley a few days ago.

F. N. Thompson, secretary of the United Farmers, on Tuesday sent in the first of the season's orders for stumping powder, asking for delivery of 43 cases.

Geo. Chudley and H. Beeson, who have been home from Klockmann for a few weeks, returned there at the end of the week to resume their former positions.

H. Sparrow is the latest land purchaser in the Lister country, having just acquired twenty acres of Mrs. Cannady's holdings near Camp Two. Ed. Gardiner, who bought 20 acres on the Porthill road, is busy with the erection of a residence on his land.

A third radio set in the Camp Lister district has just been installed at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Byrne on the Lyon ranch. It is a five tube Atwater Kent set up for them by Lidgate Bros. of Creston; and which is picking up broadcasts in every direction.

The Lister Community Society had a business meeting on Friday night at which Mrs. Fred Power was chosen secretary to succeed Mrs. McKee, who is leaving the area. For this Saturday night, 28th, the society is putting on a straight dance in the schoolhouse.

Two of Creston's prominent citizens —Mr. McLellan, public school principal, and Mr. Boulton of the Imperial Bank, report the roads very bad in this section. While out driving in their car on Sunday they got stuck in the mud and it was several hours before the necessary assistance was given.

Erickson

Mrs. E. Botterill left at the end of the week on a visit with her sons, Lorne and Frank, at Dover, Idaho.

Denzil Maxwell of Cranbrook is a visitor here this week, at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Maxwell.

Miss Marguerite Benney, who has been a visitor here for some weeks with Mrs. R. Dodds, left for home on Saturday.

Erickson people are rejoicing mildly this month due to the 1925 tax notices showing a saving of a few dollars on most of the properties in the district.

Miss Connie McCarthy has returned to Cranbrook after a short visit with her parents here.

Public works department officials should be giving the Crawford hill and boundary corner highways the once over. The rains and thaws of the past month have left these roads in anything but the best of shape.

Erickson was well represented at the high school concert at Creston on Tuesday night, and certainly the Erickson and Erickson-born performers were just about the best of the evening.

Some land clearing operations are to be undertaken in this section this spring. Some stumping powder is already commencing to arrive.

The Whirlwind Club will make their next appearance late in March. It is possible a dramatic offering on the 20th will be the next feature.

Mrs. R. Dodds was hostess at a quilting on Thursday afternoon last, when Mesdames Clements, Putnam, Martin, Fraser, E. Cartwright, Telford, Clarke, Scott, Leadbeater, and Leveque were amongst the needleplyers and enjoyed an afternoon of ye oldtyme sociability.

Church Union Vote

Latest church union figures published show that in the Kootenay presbytery of 60 congregations that have voted so far Creston is the only one to turn down union. In the Kamloops presbytery the vote is 88 to 0, and in Cariboo presbytery the figures are 50 to 0—both in favor of union. Nelson has just voted into union and should Cranbrook do likewise Creston will be the only town between Macleod and Vancouver to have a congregation in the Presbyterian Church Association.

The Yellow Delicious

Visitors at the office of Creston Growers the past few days have had opportunity to sample some Yellow Delicious apples. These were grown on the Andy Anderson ranch and are a comparatively new variety which Mr. Anderson has introduced into the Valley and which, he states, promise to be suited to the district. Apparently the yellow variety does not keep quite as well as the red Delicious as the samples were more mature than the latter variety shows at the present time. The color is a rich golden yellow and the shape somewhat similar to the red Delicious but there appears to be only a slight resemblance in the flavor. The Yellow Delicious taste and texture are somewhat similar to the Grimes Golden.

Students' Concert Largely Attended

Creston High School Literary and Debating Society packed the Grand Theatre to capacity on Tuesday night for their second annual concert, this year's offerings, on the whole, being of a more popular character and invariably getting a more enthusiastic reception.

The evening's programme was nicely balanced, the opening half being the always favorite pierrot show, and closing with the one-act farce, "That Rascal, Pat."

The ability shown by the various pierrots and pierettes, all of whom were picturesquely attired, was so uniformly even that it would be hardly fair to attempt special mentions other than to compliment Miss Winnifred Palfreyman whose solo number, "The Amorous Goldfish," from the comic opera, "The Geisha," revealed a remarkably pleasing—though none too robust—voice for so young a vocalist.

The big hit of the evening was, undoubtedly, Ted Staples' costume song, "Chin, Chin Chinaman," from the same opera. He had everything that the number called for and convulsed the large audience with laughter.

Herb Manuel and Olaf Payne in the rube duett, "Take Me Back to Creston" was another of the evening's hits, their costumes and stage manouveres squaring up somewhat for a lack of lustiness in getting the song across. The girls' chorus, "A High School Girl," was nicely handled, and the boys were equally at home in similar capacity in "Marching Home Again."

The Pierrots opened in enthusiastic fashion with "How Do You Do," and the closing was equally fitting with Miss Ivin Compton leading the company in "Keep on Hoping." The other numbers were:

Chorus—"Some People."
Trio—"Three Little Maids," Gladys Webster, Edith Crawford, Jeanne Hall.
Song—"I'm in Love," Jack Hall.
Monologue—"The Fact Is," Ted Staples.
Duett—"Sucking Cider Through a Straw" Ivin Compton, Jack Hall.
Solo—"Drifting Back to You," Ivin Compton.
Chorus—"Polly Wolly Doodle." Company.

Pierettes—Misses—Jeanne Hall Gladys Webster, Ivin Compton, Clara Morrow, Irene Huscroft, Loreen Williams, Edith Crawford, Eileen Hendy, Winnie Palfreyman.
Pierotts—Charlie Holmes, Ivan Staples, Jack Hall, Herb Manuel, Robert Moore, Olaf Payne, Donald Young, Ted Staples.

Between the pierrots and the play Miss Edith Crawford's piano solo, "The Shepherd's Dance," was immensely popular; Miss Minnie Strong, in native attire, and Olaf Payne in a Spanish dance were vigorously encored, along with Miss Kathleen Littlejohn, who favored with a couple of well chosen recitations.

"That Rascal, Pat," a one act farce,

The Inevitable Happens

It is far from being an easy matter at times to thoroughly understand and fully grasp the attitude of the financial and industrial interests of Eastern Canada towards any real national policy for this Dominion. The positions assumed by them at varying intervals are so inconsistent, and so mutually destructive the one of the other, that it is impossible to believe they expect to be seriously considered.

The industrial East demands a high protective tariff and insists that such protection is imperative for a two-fold purpose—one, in order to secure the Canadian market to the producers of Canadian-made goods, and two, to compel United States' manufacturers desirous of doing business in this Dominion to establish branch factories here and employ Canadian labor. They seem utterly indifferent to the fact that, as a result, Canadian purchasers are obliged to pay more for their articles than these sell for across the line. As a matter of fact, prices are fixed just a trifle below the United States prices plus the Canadian duty. In other words, Canadian manufacturers pocket the equivalent of the duty as so much additional profit.

Having followed this policy Eastern Canada is now showing extreme nervousness because of the development of two inevitable results of such a policy. The higher cost of living and of taxation thus imposed on the Canadian consumer, as compared with those prevailing in the United States, has, and is, causing thousands of Canadian to emigrate across the line, thus restricting that "home" market which the Canadian manufacturer considers so all-important. He finds thousands of his best customers moving away.

Furthermire, Canadian manufacturers find that the branches established by United States concerns in this Dominion are out-distancing them in the race; that ever-increasing profits are flowing across the line into the head coffers of these United States concerns; that, in fact, Canada is maintaining a protective tariff to protect these United States branch factories from the competition of their parent factories, and, as a result, Canadian consumers are contributing unduly large profits to United States financiers and company shareholders.

United States investments in Canada are reported to have increased from $420,000,000 in 1914 to $2,500,000,000 in 1924. It is stated that one-third of all Canada's industries are owned in the United States; one-third of our producing mines; that a large part of Canada's timber resources, apart from Crown lands, and our water powers are similarly owned, and one-third of all Provincial and municipal bonds held by United States' investors. The East is becoming fearful as to the economic, social and even the political effect of this "money conquest" of Canada. Yet their pet policy, invited it and, persisted in, made it inevitable.

But not content with this policy of "protecting" outside goods from coming into Canada, there is now developing an energetic campaign to force the Dominion Government to impose heavy export duties or even a prohibitory embargo on Canadian pulpwood so as to compel United States paper makers to further increase their investments and industries in Canada and thereby still further accentuate the "money conquest" of the Dominion.

Recently the Saskatchewan Co-operative Elevator Co. announced its decision to erect a large grain elevator at Buffalo through which to handle export grain. Immediately a vigorous protest was voiced by Montreal interests, and this purely Canadian farmers' company was denounced for encouraging the development of trade through other than Canadian channels and Canadian seaports. Yet it is these self-same Montreal interests which are the most bitter opponents of the development of an out-and-out Canadian route and seaport through the completion of the Hudson's Bay railway, and they are also found in opposition to a reduction and equalization of freight rates which will enable the grain of these prairie provinces to be moved westerly over an all-Canadian route to the Canadian seaport of Vancouver. If Western farmers are to be denied access to Hudson's Bay, and if excessive freight rates are to continue to nullify the advantages of the outlet via the Pacific, what remains for them but to take advantage of the most feasible Great Lakes port even though it be in the United States?

The West is just as strongly in favor of a national policy for Canada as the East can possibly be; in fact, just a bit more so. But it must be really a national policy, and not one based on the assumption that the Canadian nation is to be found east of the Great Lakes and that the territory to the west thereof is merely a preserve to be exploited for the benefit and profit of the East.

Resentment has been expressed in the East over a declaration in a recent United States Government publication that "economically and socially Canada may be considered as a northern extension of the United States." The West likewise resents the calm assumption that it is nothing but a western appendage of the Dominion. On the contrary, it is part and parcel of the Canadian nation and must be treated as such.

Cars In Alberta Equal Its Debts

When any person complains about the size of the public debt in Alberta, or the amount of the annual expenditure, it might be well to reflect on the fact that Alberta has 47,500 motor cars worth in the aggregate almost as much as the provincial debt, and costing in maintenance, repairs and upkeep almost as much as the annual provincial revenue.—Calgary Albertan.

Britain Pays Again

Another Instalment of $90,000,000 Sent To United States

Great Britain prepared another $90,000,000 which was paid on fifteenth of December in cold cash to the United States in payment of her war debt to that country. It is one of the instalments which will go on being paid for 62 years when the entire debt will have been paid off.

There has never been in history such a wonderful sight as this; of a nation taking upon itself the payment of a colossal sum, borrowed to hold other nations, including the creditor one, because it felt bound in honor to do so. Although every year for sixty odd years large sums will have to be found for this purpose, they will still form grand object lesosns of the honor and integrity of the British people.

Crossword Puzzle Course

American College Has Added This To the Curriculum

The crossword puzzle as an academic requirement has been announced to the freshmen at Mount Holyoke College, Massachusetts. Professor Helen Griffith, of the department of English, has instructed students to hand in before the end of the semester a crossword puzzle based on new words learned in the course. The test is intended, principally, as an indication of the value of the course in increasing student vocabulary.

THE GROWING GIRL

Requires a Mother's Constant Care and Watchfulness

In their early teens it is quite common for girls to outgrow their strength, and mothers should carefully watch the health of their daughters at this time, for it is when strength is sapped by too rapid growth that anaemia develops. The first signs may be noticed by peevishness, languor and headaches. The face grows pale, breathlessness and palpitation follow, with low spirits.

At the first symptom of anaemia mothers should act at once. Neglected anaemia often leads to decline, but if you see that your daughter's blood is enriched there need be no cause for anxiety. The finest blood enricher ever discovered is Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. The pure, red blood created by these pills will quickly banish all signs of anaemia. They will build up your girl's health and ensure her a robust girlhood. Give your daughter a course of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills now. Make her strong like thousands of girls and women throughout Canada who have been rescued from the clutches of anaemia by Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50c a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Home For Stray Cats

A charity ball held in Rome to provide funds for a home for stray cats proved unusually popular. The ball, given by a humane society, was patronized by some of the wealthiest persons in Italy, and sufficient funds to build the cat asylum were obtained at this one affair.

Worms, however generated, are found in the digestive tracts, where they set up disturbances detrimental to the health of the child. There can be no comfort for the little ones until the hurtful intruders have been expelled. An excellent preparation for this purpose can be had in Miller's Worm Powders. They will immediately destroy the worms and correct the conditions that were favorable to their existence

Warning From Naval Expert

Claims Japan Is Preparing For War In the Pacific

William B. Shearer, U.S. naval expert and inventor, charges that the Japanese navy is again elevating its guns to gain greater range and that Japan is considering a great foreign war in order to save itself from socialistic influences at home. Mr. Shearer asserts that the navy general board had just obtained this information and that he had received it through a "leak." He also charges the Japanese with hostility to our proposed naval manoeuvres in the Pacific and said every evidence showed they were preparing for war.

Persia Wishes To Kill Opium Trade

Delegates to Geneva Expressed Desire To Suppress Traffic

At a sub-committee session of the international opium conference, the Persian delegation expressed anew its desire to gradually suppress the opium traffic in that country.

Alfred Sze, of China, emphatically approved the Persian stand and stated that the Government at Peking had instructed him to support any country in its efforts to reduce the use of opium.

Teacher Returns From Africa

After Serving Twenty-two Years In Educational Department

An echo of the days when 40 Canadian teachers were asked by Hon. Joseph Chamberlain to teach in the Boer concentration camps in South Africa, following the war (1899-1902), is found in a letter to a Halifax paper written by Miss Emma Ellis, dated Pretoria. She is returning after 22½ years service in the educational department, and is sailing for Europe for an indefinite period.

Striking Novelty On On British Autos

Bodywork of Crepe de Chine Gives Beautiful Finish

One of the most striking novelties at the Scottish Motor Show, is a motor car in which the principal ingredient of the bodywork is crepe de chine.

Apart from giving an astonishingly beautiful finish to the coachwork, the use of this material instead of paint has the distinct advantage that if it becomes worn or torn it can be patched or mended just like a pair of trousers.

This latest triumph in British coachwork is to be seen on a Daimler car on Windover's stand. Crepe de chine in shot colors is used, and the car changes its hue like a chameleon according to the light in which it is viewed. In certain lights a beautiful rainbow effect is produced.

Unique Begging Scheme

A panhandler who has grown moderately well-to-do through begging the price of a haircut on the streets of Paris has been arrested by police. The panhandler allowed his hair to grow long and ragged and then would apologetically approach strangers on the street with a plea that he would like money with which to "spruce up."

Instead of dreaming of tomorrow, the successful man is wide awake to the opportunities of today.

CHARACTER TELLS THE STORY!

People throughout this country are giving more thought to hygiene and to the purity of remedies on the market, but no one doubts the purity of Doctor Pierce's vegetable medicines, for they have been so favorably known for over fifty years that everyone knows they are just what they are claimed to be. These medicines are the result of long research by a well-known physician, R. V. Pierce, M. D., who compounded them from health-giving herbs and roots long used in sickness by the Indians. Dr. Pierce's reputation as a leading and honored citizen of Buffalo, is a sufficient guarantee for the purity of that splendid tonic and blood purifier, the Golden Medical Discovery, and the equally fine nerve tonic and system builder for women's ailments, Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It is made in Dr. Pierce's Laboratory, Bridgeburg, Ontario.

"Barren Lands" Of North Are Now Found To Be Suitable For Cultivation

Although nearly one-sixth of the area of the Dominion is included under the name of the "Barren Lands," there has been very little authentic information available about their nature and possible resources. Most of the exploration throughout these regions was carried on in the earlier days—from 1770 to 1834—in the way of various overland journeys in connection with Arctic expeditions by sea, searching for a northwest passage to the Orient.

From the close of that period of exploration to the present day, over a span of nearly a century, with its great strides in settlement and in the development of transportation and economic machinery in general, little has been done to reconsider the possibilities of these regions in the light of present-day conditions. In order to obtain first-hand information about the country, and at the same time lay down a skeleton system of survey for all possible future development purposes, control traverse and exploration surveys were extended during the past season through a series of waterways lying to the north and east of the easterly part of Great Slave Lake. This work was carried on by G. H. Blanchet D.L.S., of the staff of the Topographical Survey of Canada, Department of the Interior.

The waterways followed consist of a series of large lakes draining to Great Slave Lake which lie in a great plateau region of uniform elevation and generally subdued topography.

It was observed that the country became less rough toward the north and east, and that the accumulation of soil was greater with a corresponding improvement in the amount and variety of the vegetation. The name "Barren Lands" as applied to the greater portion of this country is a misnomer. It is true that trees do not grow beyond a certain line, and to the north and east of this line areas of barrenness exist where soil is either lacking or too coarse for ordinary plant life, but in the greater portion of the country a variety of shrubs and mosses cover the hills and grasses flourish in the swampy valleys.

Canada Needs Capital

More People and More Capital Needed If Dominion is to Forge Ahead

Canada must get more capital and more people if she is to survive and progress, and she must get them by uniting her policy with that of Great Britain, declared Dr. Stephen Leacock, professor of political economy at McGill University, in an address at Montreal.

Prof. Leacock said there was no need to disguise the fact that at the present time the country was not in a satisfactory condition. Statistics were not needed to tell the people that the country's lifeblood was being drained by emigration. A large proportion of those who had left in the last two or three years were young men, the best blood of the Dominion.

His Only Extravagance

Old Hen Roddy, from Hogskin Hollow, is fond of boasting of his amazing thriftiness, by virtue of which he has accumulated a fairly substantial bank account.

"You're very careful about your expenditures, aren't you, Uncle Hen?" the village schoolmaster asked one day.

"Yes, perfesser, I'm right smart that way. Fact, I don't recollec' that I ever spent but one quarter for jist dern foolishness. That was one Christmas-time when I let a storekeeper talk me into buyin' a pair o' socks."

Alberta Will Test Tuberculosis Serum

Prevention of Disease in Cattle Discovered By Pasteur Institute

What will probably prove to be one of the most far-reaching and effective steps ever taken by the Alberta department of agriculture for the improvement of livestock in the province, has consummated, following extended negotiations carried on by Hon. Geo. Hoadley, minister of agriculture, by the arrival from the Pasteur Institute at Paris, France, of a sample of the Calmette culture, evolved by Prof. Calmette of the above institution, for the inoculation of young cattle against tuberculosis. This culture has been turned over to the laboratory at the university for multiplication, so that a quantity of the culture can be obtained for use in making tests in the province.

Alberta is very forunate in having been able to procure the culture, and so far as is known, this is the only place on the American continent to secure the culture thus far.

Total Yield Of Grain

Revised Estimate of Crop Yield of Three Prairie Provinces

Revised estimates of the crop yields of the three prairie provinces were released today by the Northwest Grain Dealers' Association, Winnipeg. The total wheat crop was given at 247,145,000 bushels, which does not vary greatly with the earlier estimate of the association. Oats were shown at 289,113,000 bushels; barley, 52,856,000 bushels; rye, 8,228,000 bushels; flax, 7,523,000 bushels.

The estimate is based on figures issued in the previous report of the association last October 8.

The total wheat surplus for marketing is estimated at present to total 37,036,000 bushels.

Canada Not Behind In Health Legislation

In Some Respects Ahead of Other Countries Says Doctor

Canada is not one bit behind other countries in legislation for public health. In some respects it is ahead of other countries, Dr. Alexander Primrose, chairman of the Council of the Canadian Medical Association told the gathering of medical men and women, which assembled at Ottawa for a three day convention. About a hundred delegates were in attendance representing every province and every association which has to do with public health.

Canada's Minerals Barely Touched

Surprising That More Canadians Do Not Realize This

The St. Thomas Times-Journal says that, "It must have come as a revelation to the ordinary British citizen to be told that Canada is the second largest gold producing, and the third largest silver producing country in the world. His eyes must have opened still wider when he learned that the Dominion's hundreds of thousands of miles of mineralized strata have barely been scratched." But it is also a matter of some surprise that more Canadians do not scratch for more than a living there.—Kingston Standard.

A Queer Cleaner

Snapping Turtle Used to Clear Clogged Sewer Pipes

A western city has been using a snapping turtle to clean out sewer pipes that had became clogged. A cord more than three hundred feet long was tied to the turtle's tail, and the turtle was placed in one end of the pipe. It started off at a lively gait toward the other end three blocks away. When it got there some two hours later the cord was still attached to its tail. Men who were waiting at once fastened a scraper to the cord, with which the pipe was soon cleared.

Supremacy Of Marquis Wheat Over All Other Varieties Still Remains Unchallenged

Since Marquis wheat was first introduced, a good many growers and breeders have been making selections from it with a view to producing, if possible, an improved strain. From results obtained so far it seems quite clear that differences of greater or lesser importance actually exist. Before it will be possible to recommend one strain of Marquis over another, several years testing will be necessary, however.

While certain new varieties bid fair to replace Marquis in the west, yet until these varieties have been tested further, the supremacy of Marquis as a general variety for most parts of Western Canada will remain unchallenged. At the present time, it is estimated that approximately 90 per cent. of all the spring wheat grown in Western Canada consists of the above variety, while in the United States, statisticians claim that approximately 70 per cent. of the spring wheat growing areas of that country is devoted to the production of this variety.

Manitoba Bee Industry

Excellent Crop of Honey Brings Big Returns

That there had been an increase of some 1,800 per cent. in the number of beekeepers in Manitoba during the past five years was the statement made by Dr. H. J. Merkeley, at a luncheon in Winnipeg, taking as his topic the bee industry in the province.

Formerly Manitoba had been spending as much as half a million dollars annually for the purchase of honey from outside the province. Now this was not the case, honey being exported instead. This meant that not only was the half million dollars saved, but outside money was brought into Manitoba.

This year's crop of honey had been excellent in the west and north districts of the province, and generally where there was sweet clover. One of the best returns was rported from the St. Joesph's orphanage at Otterburn, where 21,000 pounds were taken from 108 hives. The largest report from any individual was that submitted by a little girl at Carman who got 300 pounds of honey from two pounds of bees purchased last spring.

Much assistance was given the bee industry by the Manitoba Agricultural College, Dr. Merkeley said.

Reduced Rate On Cattle

Hope To Lower Rate By $15 A Head To Get Steers Overseas

"I am very hopeful that freight rates on cattle from Canada to Great Britain will be reduced before long, so that exporters will be enabled to send over the light type of steer that is greatly in favor on the other," stated Dr. J. H. Grisdale, deputy minister of agriculture, during an interview in Winnipeg.

Mr. Grisdale said negotiations looking toward a reduced rate had been carried on in the Old Country for some time, and declared that if the rate could be cut to $15 per head, it would mean a great deal to the cattle trade and soon result in the establishment of a market for steers ranging from 300 to 1,000 pounds.

German Politics Not Profitable

Being a member of the German Reichstag, or parliament, is not a very lucrative position. The delegates are paid $140 a month, which is one-quarter the salary of cabinet ministers. But the German parliamentarian enjoys free railroad travel throughout the republic in first-class compartment.

Canadian Farmer Has Advantage

Is Better Off Than Neighbor to the South

"In spite of certain real difficulties with which he is faced today, the Canadian farmer enjoys certain clear advantages over his brother in the United States," stated Hon. Thomas A. Low, minister of trade and commerce.

"Canada enjoys an advantage," continued Mr. Low, "in the number of owners of farms. No less than 38 per cent. of the U.S.A. farms are occupied by tenants, as against only eight per cent. in Canada. Ownership gives the occupant a more permanent interest in the land and community than any form of lease. At present, there are 711,090 farms in Canada, as compared with 6,448,343 in the United States. The average farm in the United States republic is 148 acres, while 198 acres represents the average in this country; but the value is in reverse proportion, the Canadian holding being valued at $9,263.00. The net agricultural production per farm in Canada, with 1920 figures as a basis, averaged $2,136.00, compared with an average of $1,703.00 in the United States. On the basis of all farms, the average expenditure for labor was $185 in this country and $210 on the other side of the boundary."

Unemployment Insurance

Only Way to Protect Workers From Periodical Distress

However much, in the main, British trade may improve, there will still always be the ups and downs, or the ebb and flow, which lead to seasonal unemployment. Few reasonable people can have any doubt what is the proper method of dealing with this recurrent difficulty. The only remedy is a thorough and inclusive system of insurance. Without this, distress must periodically recur, and there can be no sense of security for the worker.—London Daily Chronicle.

Conservatives Make Ready

With announcement that West Kootenay Conservatives are to have their nominating convention in Nelson early in April, and with many of the outward and visible signs at the session at Ottawa indicating the possibility of an early appeal to the people, it begins to look as if the late spring and early summer may be livened up by the activities of a Dominion election.

In the prospective campaign developments in the Conservative camp will be watched with a new interest, insofar as the selection of a candidate is concerned. In the past twelve years, at any rate, it was always supposed that R. F. Green or some of the older school of Tories had prior claim to preferment, but with the defeat handed Dr. Rose, the 1921 rightfully considered successor to Senator Green and with the stock of L. A. Campbell, another of the old guard's strong men of four years ago, rather below par, it would look as if some of the Tory talent that in the past has been held in the background may have an innings at the impending get together to select a standard bearer.

Of this younger generation of Conservatives the impression grows that W. K. Esling, a former Tory M.P.P. for Rossland, is expected to be heard from and, undoubtedly, at other points in the riding there are other equally ambitious Meighenites who will need but little persuading to have them toss their hats into the ring.

While it is hardly the province of the Review to pick out opposition candidates, we sincerely trust at least one Creston resident's name will be on the blackboard when the delegates start marking ballots at the April convention.

In the last federal fight Creston supplied the Liberals with a candidate who for all round ability outclassed either of his opponets, and with an earlier start would assuredly have been there or thereabouts when the returning officer was declaring the elected choice of that contest.

Creston Conservatives include in their ranks men with all the essential qualifications for successful and agressive campaigning, and the Review trusts that now the field is wide open that this section will submerge all the modesty it has shown in the past in this respect and at this convention have one of our citizens in the sunning.

Losing Good Citizens

In the transfer of C. G. Bennett to assume the management of the branch of the Canadian Bank of Commerce at Fernie, Creston loses a citizen of whom it may be fairly said that his place will be hard to fill.

As to his qualifications as a banker there may be some who will question his ability, but that he has been a success in that line, and gives promise of still greater usefulness, is indicated in his promotion to the rather important branch at Fernie.

But it is as a citizen that Mr. Bennett will always be long remembered, for in a residence of over ten years one is hard pressed to recall any field of local activity where the departing manager has not played a generally conspicuous and successful part.

One of these fields that is apt to be overlooked is the service rendered by him in patriotic work during the war, and later as one of the committee in charge of the soldiers' memorial erection.

He has held every office in the gift of the local board of trade and seldom missed connecting up for a place on all the board's important committees.

In the fall fair he was equally as hard and effective a worker, and no man has given more time in promoting the varied activities of Christ Church.

In the preliminary work in connection with incorporating the village of Creston Mr. Bennett was no inconspicuous figure. At community work he was just about 100 per cent. efficient—and as thorough and agreable as he was willing.

If one may be permitted the Review would also like to pay a similar tribute to Mrs. Bennett who was almost as equally active in all departments of community life where the ladies have had opportunity to lend a hand, whilst in social affairs she was equally prominent and welcome.

In their departure Creston loses a couple of citizens of whose kind the village has altogether too few. All will wish them the best that's going at Fernie, or wherever else they may be located. Like the Irish, the best is none too good for them.

Domestic Pack

The attention of the ladies is called to the fact that again this year a feature of the Lenten season will be a series of Wednesday afternoon meetings for women, at which Pastors Knox, James and Varley will rotate in giving a series of addresses on practical topics. The meetings will be in the Parish Hall, and commence next Wednesday, March 4th, at 3 o'clock. The exercises will be undenominational in every detail, and will be helpful and as bright as music and address can make them. The Review does not advocate attendance at these meetings because the end of all things is at hand, or even around the corner, but is convinced that the gathering together of people under such happy circumstances must in some measure make for the good of the community, as well as give the ladies a chance to fraternize—something that cannot help but be beneficial in the somewhat trying times the community is now experiencing.

The arrival of a generous supply of eastern brook trout eggs for Corn and Meadow Creeks within a few days of the formal application for same by the Rod and Gun Club will surely convince most everyone that the organization has some standing, with the fishery officials at least, and will, doubtless, encourage the club members to keep up their efforts at protecting and supplementing the fish and game resources of the district. Good fishing is a tremendous asset to any community, but if local angling is to be got up to a high standard, and thus maintained, persistent and consistent effort such as the Rod and Gun Club has put forth in the past four years will be always necessary and whatever encouragement can be given the good work should be cheerfully extended. Certainly before the club came into being Creston got little more than "passing" attention from fishery officials, except since the appointment of Inspector Robinson, who has always given Creston his best attention.

NEWS OF KOOTENAYS

It will cost $24,600 to handle the schools at Rossland this year.

The Press expects to see at least 200 new residences built at Kimberley this year.

Penticton council has just donated four lots for the erection of a community hall in that town.

Cranbrook now has three dentists. A Dr. Large has just opened for practice in that town.

Fernie garage men are making customers pay spot cash for gasoline, parts and all repair work.

Kaslo people will have to raise $13,461 by the tax method to finance the town schools this year.

At Cranbrook the court of revision has just given the C.P.R. a reduction of $800 on its total assessment.

Last year it cost Cranbrook $66.03 per pupil for all children attending the town's public and high schools.

At its last meeting Cranbrook council slashed the salary of city engineer Brown a matter of $600 a year.

Grand Forks Fifteen Hundred Club is finding the getting of members a slow job, with but 303 enrolled and 103 of these ladies.

Kimberley has a second doctor. Dr. Davis, foremerly at Coleman, arrived last week to go into partnership with Dr. Hannington.

For $25 Henderson, the Rossland ice man, was given the right to cut the frozen fluid on the city water system reservoir this year.

According to the Herald Penticton's health is improving so fast that in four years the business at the hospital has been cut almost in half.

Vernon News: Reports from various parts of the district indicate that there is some sort of injury to the pine trees of the Okanagan valley.

The ministerial association of Trail and Rossland are devising ways and means of having every child in both towns go to Sunday school.

Now the "closed" town council is in the majority at Rossland it has been found possible to dispense with the services of the night policeman.

The movie theatre at Revelstoke now has Saturday night opposition in cinderella dances which the Veterans give each weekend in the drill hall.

Kaslo board of trade complains because owners of numerous flagpoles in that town neglect to set the bunting afloat to the breeze on public holidays.

Cranbrook and Kimberley are receiving at least fifty men a day from the prairie in quest of work, which is just about fifty too many according to the Courier.

Almost $200,000.00 was sent out of Cranbrook in money orders and postal notes alone according to a statement of postal business done in that town last year.

3 pounds 1 ounce, and 16 pounds 10 ounces were the champion heavy weight catches of cutthroat and Kamloops trout in the Cranbrook district last season.

The C.P.R. appears to be a considerable property holder at Cranbrook. Appeal has been lodged against the assessment of the 600 lots the company owns in that city.

Kaslo Fifteen Hundred Club paid but seven death claims in 1924 and has a cash surplus on hand of $9000. In future no member will be accepted over 45 years of age.

The Associated Growers claim that the only dealings they had with independent shippers last year was to the extent of not more than three per cent. of their tonnage.

Grand Forks Gazette rejoices somewhat due to the fact that Hill & Lynch, poultrymen in that district, have just imported a hen that laid 303 eggs in her pullet year.

At a test of the fire alarm system at Grand Forks school one morning last week it just took 59 seconds for the 360 pupils to get out of the building in perfect marching order.

Kaslo Women's Institute is agitated because the town has no band, no dentist, no benevolent society and cocoa is not served to pupils who have to bring their lunch to school.

Due to too much snow and work being well ahead the Staples Lumber Company at Wycliffe and the B.C. Spruce Company at Lumberton, have shut down logging operations for two months.

Nelson, Revelstoke and Pentiction are the latest interior Presbyterian churches to vote in favor of church union. At Vernon the congregation entered union without taking a vote.

According to the Cranbrook Courier there is every reason to expect another boom at Moyie. The high price of copper is to result in the re-opening of the St. Eugene and other mines in that area.

According to the Herald the hospital in Penticton owes the merchants of that town $4000, which it is unable to pay. A civic grant of not less than $3500 is asked this year. In 1924 the aid was $2000.

Business was so good with the brewery at Fernie in 1924 that it proved to be but the secord in fifteen years in which the firm has been able to pay a dividend. For last year shareholders get 5 per cent. on their investment.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland, for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free, permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Students' Concert Highly Successful

furnished a half hour of real entertainment, providing laughter and interest to everyone in the audience. Neither better nor worse than the average playlet available to amateurs there was nothing about either text or plot of unusual interest, and to the five High School pupils taking part must be given full credit for making the production far above an average success.

Everyone is familiar with the term "all star cast" and its application, and while not intended to be used in this connection it does not seem an unsuitable term to apply to the five student performers taking the excellence of their work into consideration along with their age and the short time they had in which to prepare. Each one of the characters was correctly interpreted both in voice and manner and the play as a whole was staged with smoothness of action that would have done credit to players of experience.

Due to the fact that in a farce the hero is never heroic the leading man had the most difficult role and Ivan Staples as Charles Livingstone, a gentleman of leisure, handled this part extremely well. Pleasing appearance, correct dress and good voice contributed to an all-round success in this part. Fault might be found with the failure of Charles to voice the right tone of a real and deadly anger in his dealings with Puffjacket, but apart from this scene Charles' work could hardly be improved upon.

With less to say and a shorter time on the stage than any of the others Loreen Williams, as "Laura," was called upon to be the beautiful lady in distress and succeeded in looking and acting the part perfectly.

In the farce the principal character is "Patrick McNoggerty," called "Pat" for short, who succeeds with equal ease in getting both in and out of all manner of difficulty. In all of his speeches Irish phrases and words predominate and much of the humour consists in introducing real Irish accent and pronunciation. Robert Moore, as "Pat", could not have done this better had he just returned from years sojourn in County Cork. In addition "Pat" succeeded in keeping his audience in continous laughter by effective actions and the frequent introduction of a winning smile. This part showed the result of intelligent and careful preparation, coupled with the ability of the actor to throw himself heart and soul into his work when on the stage.

"Pat" was ably supported by his sweetheart, "Nancy," the part being taken by Evelyn Hurry, who contributed very largely to the success of the play by her clever interpretation of the character of a servant girl. Both "Nancy" and "Laura" deserve great credit for the thought and care given their costumes and are to be complimented upon their fine stage appearance.

"Major Timothy Puffjacket," impersonated by Ralph Christie might if less effectively handled have been considered a part of lesser importance. As it was "Puffjacket" succeeded in sharing with "Pat" the honor of being the most amusing character in the play. In voice, demeanor and appearance "Puffjacket" was a man sixty years of age no small accomplishment for a schoolboy of sixteen years.

Mrs. C. B. Garland had charge of the Pierrots while the dramatic forces were handled by R. B. Staples, and both are deserving of full credit for the evening's really creditable amateur effort. The proceeds of the evening were $160—slightly less than the 1924 intake.

CAPTAIN BLOOD

RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS

Peter Blood, a young Irish physician, has taken up residence in Bridgewater, after years spent in the wars on the continent. Chance had sent him as a youth graduating from Trinity College, Dublin, to take service with the Dutch, who were then at war with France. He had a predilection for the sea and served under the famous de Ruyter. The forces of the Duke of Monmouth had come to battle at Oglethorpe's Farm. Blood knew of the impending engagement between the rebels and the royalists but he had remained indifferent, although he had seen the gathering of the foolish peasantry. He went early to bed and slept through the rumbles of cannon. At dawn he was awakened by Jeremiah Pitt, a young shipmaster, who summonses him to go to the aid of Lord Gildoy, a follower of Monmouth, who had been wounded and had taken shelter in the home of a yeoman, Baynes. Blood dresses and, providing himself with a kit of surgeon's instruments, mounts behind Pitt and rides to the house of Baynes. Peter Blood had set out upon his Odyssey.

CHAPTER II.

Kirke's Dragoons

Oglethorpe's farm stood a mile or so to the south of Bridgewater on the right bank of the river. On the bridge, as they had been riding out of Bridgewater, they had met a vanguard of fugitives from the field of battle; hoarse voices cried a warning that merciless pursuit was not far behind. But as Pitt's direction was a southward one, bringing them ever nearer to Feversham's headquarters, they were presently clear of that human flotsam and jetsam of the battle.

In the spacious, stone-flagged hall, the doctor found Lord Gildoy stretched on a cane-day-bed in care of Mrs. Baynes and her comely daughter.

Mr. Blood knelt to his task. He was still intent upon it a half-hour later when the dragoons invaded the homestead. His lordship showed considerable alarm, and the battle-stained Jeremy Pitt sped to cover in a clothes-press. Baynes was uneasy, and his wife and daughter trembled.

"Why, what's to fear?" Mr. Blood reassured them. "It's a Christian country, this, and Christian men do not make war upon the wounded, nor upon those who harbour them."

And then they came rattling and clanking into the stone-flagged hall—a young dozen jack-booted, lobster-coated troopers of the Tangiers Regiment, led by a sturdy, black-browed fellow with a deal of gold lace about the breast of his coat. The Captain stamped forward to the day-bed, and scowled down upon the grey-faced sufferer.

"A damned rebel, and that's enough for me. Out with him my lads."

Mr. Blood got between the day-bed and the troopers.

"In the name of humanity, sir!" said he, on a note of anger. "This is England, not Tangiers. The gentleman is in sore case. He may not be moved without peril to his life."

Captain Hobart was amused.

"Do you think it's to benefit his health we're taking him? There's gallows being planted along the road from Weston to Bridgewater, and he'll serve for one of them as well as another. Colonel Kirke'll learn these noncomforming oafs something they'll not forget in generations."

"You're hanging men without trial? Faith, then, it's mistaken I am. We're in Tangiers, after all, it seems, where your regiment belongs."

The Captain considered him with a kindling eye and soldier recognized soldier.

"Who the hell may you be?" he exploded.

"My name is Blood, sir—Peter Blood at your service."

"Aye—aye! Codso! That's the name. You were in French service once, were you not? Five years ago, or more, you were in Tangiers."

"That is so, I knew your colonel."

"Faith, you may be renewing the acquaintance." The Captain laughed unpleasantly. "What brings you here, sir?"

"This wounded gentleman. I was fetched to attend him. I am a medicus."

"A doctor—you?" Scorn of that lie—as he conceived it—rang in the heavy, hectoring voice. Mr. Blood's smile annoyed him.

"I am a physician practising my calling in the town of Bridgewater.

"Which you reached by way of Lyme Regis in the following of your bastard Duke."

It was Mr. Blood's turn to sneer. "If your wit were as big as your voice, my dear, it's the great man you'd be by this. Ye'll be remembering, Captain that Lord Gildoy will have friends and relatives on the Tory side, who'll have something to say to Colonel Kirke if his lordship should be handled like a common felon. You'll go warily, Captain, or, as I've said, it's a halter for your neck ye'll be weaving this morning."

The Arrest of Peter Blood

Captain Hobart swept the warning aside with a bluster of contempt, but he acted upon it none the less. "Take up the day-bed," said he, "and convey him on that to Bridgewater. Lodge him in the gaol until I take orders about him."

As his lordship was carried out, the Captain became brisk. Mr. Blood saw no profit to himself in lingering.

"By your leave, it's a very good day I'll be wishing you," said he.

"By my leave, you'll remain awhile," the Captain ordered him. Mr. Blood shrugged, and sat down.

The Captain opened the press, took the huddled inmate by the collar of his doublet, and lugged him out into the open.

"And who the devil's this?" quoth he. "Another nobleman?"

Mr. Blood had a vision of those gallows of which Captain Hobart had spoken. On the spot he invented not only a title, but a whole family for the young rebel.

"Faith, ye've said it, Captain. This is Viscount Pitt, first cousin to Sir Thomas Vernon, who's married to that slut Moll Kirke, sister to your own colonel, and sometime lady in waiting upon King James's queen."

Both the Captain and his prisoner gasped. But whereas thereafter young Pitt discreetly held his peace, the Captain rapped out a nasty oath.

"Fetch him along to Bridgewater. And make fast that fellow also," he pointed to Baynes. "We'll show him what it means to harbour and comfort rebels. And take this fellow with you." He pointed to Mr. Blood. "Faith it will suit me very well," said he. "For Bridgewater is my destination."

"Your destination there will be the quod."

"Ah-nah! You're surely joking!"

"There's a gallows for you if you prefer it. It's merely a question of now or later."

Rude hands seized Mr. Blood. Pinning him to the ground, they tied his wrists behind his back, then roughly pulled him to his feet again. The soldiers trailed out by the door leading to the interior. Mr. Blood was thrust by his guards into the courtyard, where Pitt and Baynes already waited. There were sounds of rending timbers, the shouts and laughter of brutal men; finally above all other sounds came the piercing screams of a woman in acutest agony.

MACDONALD'S MONTREAL

Says Egypt Must Show Its Ability

Necessary to Demonstrate Management of Affairs Says New Minister Of Interior

Sidky Pasha, the new minister of the interior, declared in an interview that the British ultimatum had impaired the independence and sovereignty of Egypt and made it necessary that certain questions be reserved for future negotiation.

"Our aim," he said, "is to restore the previous condition of affairs, arrest the murderers of the Sirdar and restore calm and tranquility. I do not mean that the country is agitated, but recently the authority of the country's rulers has become weak. It is necessary now to demonstrate how the Egyptians can manage their own affairs."

He asserted he had accepted the office conditionally and that he alone was responsible for the administration of the interior.

Canker Of Local Apathy

People Must Take An Interest In Public Affairs to Secure Good Government

Any system of government, or of balloting, or of citizenship must fail unless there is local patriotism and a healthy public opinion behind it. The system may be wholly good, but the apathy of the citizens may destroy the best effect which should be there. Local apathy is a canker to good government and it starts upon its wrecking career before the elections. If the people do not express themselves clearly in favor of better candidates and progressive government, they cannot expect good candidates in perfect sets, or a large choice of acceptable names on the ballot.—Brandon Sun.

Prince Had Key To Boston

Mayor Does Not Know Who Extended the Welcome

The Prince of Wales, on his recent visit to New England, received an official key to the city of Boston and an invitation to call on Mayor James M. Curley, either at the city hall or at the mayor's home.

But, although the Prince has formally thanked the mayor for the attention and took the key back to England with him, Mayor Curley declares that he never sent the Prince a key and that during his brief stay on the Massachusetts north shore, no welcome to the city was extended him.

Advocates Mixed Farming

Grew World's Champion Wheat

J. C. Mitchell, of Dahinda, Sask., declared world's champion wheat grower for the third consecutive time at the recent Chicago Livestock Show, who is now on his way to the Old Country on a demonstration tour. Interviewed at the Canadian Pacific head office enroute, he said that prize wheat is growing bigger and better each year. Exhibits which rank 15th and 20th now would have won first prize twelve years ago. The secret of bigger grain, he said, is in selection of seed. Only by picking out the biggest and best is the grower able to produce something better than other growers. This selection takes time but is eminently worth while. The selected wheat is not to be put through a machine, Mr. Mitchell said, but is flailed by hand or tramped out by horses. Although champion wheat grower, Mr. Mitchell, is an advocate of mixed farming.

LITTLE HELPS FOR THIS WEEK

In Him, we live, and move, and have our being.—Acts xvii., 28.

Thou knowest me altogether; I know not
Thy likeness till Thou mad'st it manifest.
There is no world but is Thy heaven; no spot
Remote; Creation leans upon Thy breast;
Thou art beyond all stars, yet in my heart
Wonderful whisperings hold Thy creatures dumb;
I need not search afar; to me Thou art
Father, Redeemer, and Renewer—come!

—Jean Ingelow.

He is very near every one of us; is the inspiration of every thought that seeks Him; is approachable by every soul that would be lifted higher, with the symbols if they aid, without them if one choose. He is the great fountain of influence, filling human life and thought with power of development.

Another Instinct Of Birds

Drop Clams From Great Height To Break Shells

It is a well-known habit of gulls and some other birds that feed in part on shellfish to carry clams to a considerable height and then drop them on some hard surface to break the shell. A man on the Board Walk at Atlantic City was struck on the head with such force by a clam that a gull had dropped that he was knocked down and for a little while was unconscious. It is an interesting question whether instinct or intelligence impelled the gull to drop the clam just at that moment.

Russian Girl Trains On Soviet Sailship

Is Practical Navigator and Will Eventually Command Merchantman

A weather-beaten ship, a Bolshevik sailing vessel, was in harbor at London, and a Daily News reporter, investigating certain rumors of propaganda, found nothing abnormal, but something rather interesting. The ship carried 61 people, 35 of them cadets, who were learning navigation on the instructions of the Soviet Government. Classes are held in the chart room every day. One of the most interesting persons is a pretty Russian girl of about 23. She is fourth officer and wears workaday clothes to suit her nautical position. She is a practical navigator and is to travel all round the world in this small sailing vessel. Eventually she will command a Soviet merchantman.

MRS. B. H. HART SICK FOR YEARS

Wants Women to Know How She Was Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Cornwall, Ontario.—"I am now giving your medicine a fair trial and it surely is doing me good and I am going to keep on taking it. I used to feel so tired in the morning that I didn't want to get up, but that feeling is leaving me now. I also sleep better and feel more like working. For seven or eight years I have had headaches, tired feelings, pains in my back and across my body. I read letters in the newspapers saying what good Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound had done others. My husband says I quit too soon, but I am not going to stop taking the Vegetable Compound and Lydia E. Pinkham's Blood Medicine until I am better and haven't an ache or a pain. Isn't that the right way? I have great faith in your medicines. They must be good when those who take them speak so highly of them. I am recommending them to my friends and I will gladly answer letters from women asking about them."—Mrs. Burt H. Hart, Box 1081, Cornwall, Ontario.

Mrs. Hart wants to help other women and is willing to answer letters from sick women asking about the Vegetable Compound.

Hooks On Airship Going Full Speed

Feat Accomplished at Belleville by Small Type Plane

The double feat of an aeroplane hooking itself onto an airship while both were in full flight and then freeing itself to sail away again, was accomplished for the first time at Scott Field.

The ship used was the army dirigible TC-3, and the plane was a Sperry Messenger, a small type. A metal hook attached to a frame over the motor of the plane was used to catch onto a small trapeze, swinging from cables slung under the bombing rails of the ship. The feat was accomplished at an elevation of 1,500 feet.

Deaths From Cancer

Heavy Toll Is Exacted in the United States

Deaths from cancer increased in the United States in 1923, while the fight against tuberculosis made progress.

A total of 86,754 deaths were reported to the Census Bureau as having resulted from cancer last year in a registration area composed of territory containing 87.6 per cent. of the total population, this representing an increase of 5,816 deaths over 1922. The rate per 100,000 population was 89.4 against 86.8 in 1922.

In the same area tuberculosis caused 90,732 deaths against 90,452 in 1922. But the rate per 100,000 decreased from 97 to 93.6.

Wheat Shortage

Decrease 440,000,000 Bushels Is Estimated

A decrease of 440,000,000 bushels in the estimated world wheat crop, compared with last year, is indicated in reports made public by the U.S. department of agriculture, which place the crop at 3,300,000,000 bushels. The average five-year pre-war total was 3,740,000,000 bushels.

The most important reduction shown is in Canada, where the crop is placed at 200,000,000 bushels below, and in Argentina with a reduction of 60,000,000. The European crop, with the exception of Russia, is reported 180,000,000 bushels below last year, and nearly 260,000,000 under the average.

Canadian winter wheat seeding area this year totalled 832,000 acres, or 60,000 acres above the 1923 figures.

Success With Alfalfa

By James D. McGregor, Glencarnock Stock Farms, Brandon, Man.

In Western Canada two crops of alfalfa may be cut each season, but the second crop must not be cut too late as it is necessary that the plants attain a fairly good growth after the second cutting in order to catch the snow and give it strength to carry itself through the winter.

Alfalfa hay is no harder to cut and handle than other hays; in fact, the stiffer stems make it somewhat easier to dry and it is les slikely than the clovers to be damaged in appearance by light rains or heavy dews. It has been found by analysis that the feeding value of the hay is greatest at the time when about the first one-tenth of the blooms have appeared. The hay becomes woody quite rapidly as it gets older, and the digestibility of it naturally decreases.

The starting of tillers or new shoots at the crown means that the old stems and leaves are no longer growing, and should be cut off. By cutting late, after the alfalfa is in full bloom, there is a loss on two crops—the late cut hay is stemmy because the leaves have fallen off, and woody because it is too ripe; cutting the new set of shoots delays the next crop, and allows the weeds to get a start.

The leaves are much more easily saved if the hay is cut early, as they do not drop off so readily. When the alfalfa plant is mature the leaves drop off naturally, the same as from trees in the fall. Late cutting and careless handling often reduce the value of the crop one-half. Cut early, just as the new shoots are well started, setting the sickle high so as to avoid cutting the new shoots.

The leaves of alfalfa contain nearly four times as much protein as the stems, a ton of dried alfalfa leaves containing as much protein as 2,800 pounds of bran; hence every effort should be made to cure the alfalfa in such a way as to save all the leaves. The method of curing will vary with the condition of the crop, ground and weather. When alfalfa has made a slow growth and the ground and weather are dry at time of cutting, there is no difficulty in curing. Often, under these conditions, it is safe to rake within a few hours after mowing, and stack a few hours after the alfalfa has been put in the windrows. When alfalfa has made a rapid growth and is rank and succulent and the weather and ground are damp, the problem of curing is a difficult one. It is easy to dry the leaves, but the stems will contain much moisture after the leaves are dry.

If the weather is very unfavorable and continues wet so that the hay cannot be dried, it may be stacked quite green; in fact, it is probable that the hay will be damaged much less by heating in the stack than by molding in the shock or windrow. When stacked green, the hay may turn a dark brown, but it is relished by the stock and apparently has lost very little of its feeding value. There is some loss from heating, but the palatability and digestibility are improved.

Former Riel Supporter Dies In Winnipeg

Andre Nault's Action Started Trouble Which Led to Rebellion

Andre Nault, who was one of Louis Riel's supporters in the troublesome days of the Red River settlement, died in Winnipeg, Dec. 17, at the age of 95. He was born in 1829 at Point Douglas.

The far-reaching strife along the Red River in 1870 was precipitated when Mr. Nault discovered a number of surveyors measuring his land. He immediately notified Louis Riel who ordered the government servants off the land. This action started the trouble between the French-Canadian frontiersmen and the authorities which led to rebellion.

"It was not a rebellion and I do not wish it to be called so," Mr. Nault consistently maintained. "All we desired was justice, our rights and that the Dominion Government should consult us in reference to the nature of the government in the colony."

May Amend Bankruptcy Act

More Favorable Condition For the Farmer Would Be Result

Better provision for bankruptcy proceedings in the case of farmers is in prospect, according to word brought back from Ottawa by Premier Greenfield, of Alberta.

The matter was discussed with the minister of justice at the capital, and his consent was secured to an effort to add an amendment to the present Dominion Bankruptcy Act through Parliament. What is aimed at is a more favorable condition for farmer bankrupts in respect to percentage payments on their liabilities. It was felt that there might be difficulty in securing legislation on this point because of differences of opinion in the different provinces, but this will probably be overcome by amending the act so that any province may pass supplemental legislation covering its own special conditions. It is expected that action along this line will be taken early in the federal session, and the Alberta legislation will follow quickly.

Fred Klingensmith, who is working at Birchbank, was a visitor with Mrs. Klingensmith and family, a few days at the end of the week.

C. G. Bennett, who has assumed charge of the Fernie branch of the Bank of Commerce, was a weekend visitor with the family here.

The High School concert on Tuesday night drew a crowd that packed the Grand Theatre to capacity, the door receipts being in the neighborhood of $160.

Principal Fleming of the high school was a Friday Sunday visitor with friends in Nelson, taking in the championship Rossland-Nelson hockey match on Friday.

Word from the hospital at Cranbrook is to the effect that Miss Alice Comfort is coming along nicely after an operation for appendicitis, which took place on Faiday last.

FOR SALE—Centrally located house with seven rooms, hot and cold water, bath, pantry and good concrete cellar. For further particulars apply Mrs. W. B Martin, Victoria Ave.

The Methodist Ladies' Aid invite you to their oldtime bean supper, which is being served this evening from 6 to 8 in the Parish Hall, at an admission of 50 and 25 cents.

The first of the Lenten services for women is on Wednesday afternoon next at 3 o'clock in the Parish Hall, and the address will be on "Humiliation." All the ladies are invited.

T. M. Edmondson, who has been carrying on a blacksmith and acetylene welding business in his warehouse on the hill the past few months, has sold out to his partner Matt. York, who is continuing the shop.

Foster's prediction that 1925 is to be a terribly dry year does not seem to be effective. During the past week the Valley has been favored with considerable rain and the daily supplies of sunshine are increasing slightly.

Mrs. T. Mawson and Mrs. Angus Cameron, who have been visiting with Estevan, Sask., friends since the middle of December, arrived home on Friday, the climate in that province not agreeing with the latter's usual good health.

G. A. Hull of the Cranbrook branch arrived last week to succeed Mr. Hill as teller at the Bank of Commerce. Up to the present there is no definite announcement as to who will be Mr. Bennett's permanent successor as manager here.

M. Winch of Spokane, a former resident of Park Road, Creston, is a business visitor here this week, and is having a sale of his furniture and household effects at the McCreath barn on Saturday afternoon, commencing at 1 o'clock.

WANTED TO RENT—Advertiser desires five to twenty acres partly cultivated near lake, road, school, town, preferably southern exposure. Write full particulars, price, terms first letter; photos if possible, to A. E. Cross, Lethbridge, Alta.

Miss McGregor, travelling secretary for Presbyterian Women's Missionary Society work in the west, will be in Creston on Monday and will speak on the work of the society at a public meeting in the church at 8 p.m., to which all are invited.

C. B Garland and Major Mallandaine got back on Friday from attending a meeting of the executive of the West Kootenay Conservative Association at Nelson. A convention to select a candidate will be he held in that city on April 7th.

Mrs. Erickson of Invermere was a visitor with Mrs. Bennett a couple of days at the end of the week, returning on Sunday and taking the Bennett children with her, where they will visit until their parents get settled in the new home at Fernie.

T. R. Flett, C.P.R. divisional superintendent, Cranbrook, with divisional engineer Robertson, were here on an official visit on Friday morning. It is expected that the work of filling in the trestle at Kootenay Landing will be continued again this spring.

Mrs. (Rev.) J. A. James was a weekend visitor at Nelson, going on to Grand Forks on Monday for the annual Kootenay Boundary conference of the Women's Missionary Society. Mrs. M. J. Boyd, is the other Creston delegate, who left on Monday.

Evangelist H. Arthur Barton was a Friday and Saturday guest of Rev. G. Knox, en route from Cranbrook to Kaslo where for this week and next he will be engaged in a two weeks' campaign, and from there he is booked for Victoria, and other coast points.

Friends of Miss Florence, third daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. Winch, will be interested to hear of her marriage, which took place on Saturday last at the home of her parents in Spokane, to William Taylor of the same city, where they are to make their home for the present.

Christ Church Ladies' Guild had another good turnout for the second of their afternoon whists in the Parish Hall on Friday. The high scores were made by Mrs. J. E. Hayden and Mrs. Bennett, while Mrs. Hester won the consolation honors. The refreshments were exceptionally fine and the afternoon was much enjoyed by all.

J. D. Moore of Kaslo, district road foreman, was here on an official visit at the end of the week. The timber for the repairs to the Goat River bridge on the flats has been hauled and the work will start shortly. Until such time as the 1925 appropriations are available at April 1st it is not likely much roadwork of any kind will be undertaken.

Creston Orange Lodge inaugurated the first of a series of social evenings in the Parish Hall on Thursday, when the officers were at home to the members and their wives and a company of invited guests at progressive whist at which the top scores were made by Mrs. W. H. Crawford and Dr. Henderson, whilst the low scores were hung up by Miss Alice Embree and Matt. York. A splendid lunch was served after which there was music and dancing, and the evening was very thoroughly enjoyed by all present.

There was a fine turnout of members as well as visitors on Saturday night for the emergent meeting of Creston Masonic Lodge, the occasion being the official visit of W. Bro. J. A. Austin, of Fernie, district deputy grand master for East Kootenay, who was accompanied by W. Bro. Currie of Fernie lodge. The first degree was conferred on a candidate and in his remarks the visitor expressed pleasure at the efficiency shown in the degree work as well as in the general conduct of the lodge. A dinner followed lodge at which the usual toasts were proposed and responed to, the visit proving one of the most enjoyable in recent years

Creston Valley Women's Institute showed their appreciation of faithful effort since the Institute was founded here by entertaining the membership informally in the Parish Hall on Saturday afternoon in honor of Mrs. C. G. Bennett, who leaves shortly for Fernie. Court whist was indulged in by about a dozen tables of players and just before refreshments were served the president, Mrs. M. J. Boyd, on behalf of the members, presented Mrs. Bennett with a silver casserole. An address expressing appreciation of the guest of honor's work accompanied the gift and was suitably acknowledged by Mrs. Bennett. Several musical numbers figured in the afternoon's proceedings which were very much enjoyed.

At the meeting on Thursday night last the election of officers of the Methodist Epworth League was completed, and those who will have charge of this work for the ensuing term are:

President—Miss Edna Holmes.
1st Vice Pres.—Vern Cook.
2nd Vice Pres.—Herb Gobbett.
3rd Vice-Pres.—Miss Alice Comfort.
4th Vice-Pres.—Miss Effie Arrowsmith.
5th Vice-Pres.—John Andrew.
6th Vice-Pres.—Miss Edith Cook.
Secy.-Treas.—Miss Violet Morrow.

The occasion for so many vice-presidents is explained in the fact that the work of the League is divided into devotional, missionary, recreation, literary, intermediate and junior commitees and the five vice presidents are in charge of one of these.
