THE CRESTON REVIEW

Vol. XVII. CRESTON, B. C., FRIDAY, JULY 17, 1925 No. 22

Kitchener

G. A. Hunt was a weekend visitor at Cranbrook.

A very bad fire is raging up Goat River and most of the available men here have been called out to fight it.

E. McGonegal received the sad news a few days ago of his brother, William, being killed in a motor accident at Chase.

The secretary of the school board is getting a very big mail these days. For the position of teacher no less than one hundred applications have been received from Vancouver alone.

Simon Taylor and H. B. Carter were here last week putting men to work taking down the mill once owned by Kitchener Timber Company. They are moving the machinery to the other side of Wasa.

The Amusement Club have their fortnightly dance on Saturday. With the Creston orchestra supplying the music a large crowd is looked for.

The auto traffic through Kitchener this month is the heaviest ever witnessed, the tourist rush last Saturday being particularly heavy.

Mr. and Mrs. Bayle of Creston and family were camping at Goatfell a couple of days last week, while Mr. Bayle was winding up some timber business in that area.

The trustees are negotiating with Miss Randall to take charge of Kitchener school next term. She has taught at the Huscroft school for two years, and comes very highly recommended.

District engineer Wm. Ramsay was in here on an official visit the early part of July, and in addition to road matters his attention was drawn to opening a street to take care of the residents on Kitchener Heights, as well as the necessity of some sidewalk construction.

R. B. Staples of Creston was among the fishermen trying out their luck in this district at the weekend, the feature of which was the catch of a couple of very fine char—the first of the size ever taken in local waters, as very few of them ever negotiate the Goat River canyon.

Geo. Young has some men at work clearing out trails and getting the Hill claims on Iron Mountain in shape for an inspection by Mr. Wilson of Fernie, who is making the visit on behalf of some eastern capitalists who are prepared to back a steel plant if sufficient iron ore can be obtained to keep it busy.

At the annual school meeting on Saturday night E. McGonegal was elected to succeed himself for another three-year term on the board of trustees, and with G. A. Hunt and B. Johnson will make up this year's board of managment. Alf. Howard was re-elected auditor and a tax levy to secure $400 for school purposes will be made to finance the school for the next twelve months.

Botterill–Kirsch Nuptials

A pretty July wedding was that of Wednesday afternoon at Christ Church when Miss Maude Alberta, eldest daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Botterill, was united in marriage with Theodore M. Kirsch of Dover, Idaho, the rector, Rev. H. Varley, officiating; a company of friends and invited guests witnessing the happy event. The bride, who was given away by her father, was handsomely gowned in white satin with handkerchief drapes and veil, with a boquet of sweet peas. The bridesmaid was her sister, Miss Annie Botterill, who was attired in peach shaded radium silk and also carried a boquet of sweet peas. The best man was Mr. Lorne Botterill. The groom's gift to the bride was a string of pearls and a ruby ring; to the bridesmaid he gave a pearl ring. After the ceremony the guests adjourned to the bride's home where Mrs. Botterill, whose gown was of a deep brown altynie crepe, was assisted by Mrs. F. Jackson, Mrs. Thurston and Mrs. D. Timmons in serving a buffet luncheon. Mr. and Mrs. Kirsch leaving later in the afternoon by motor on a honeymoon trip via Nelson to Spokane, Seattle and other coast cities, after which they will make their home in Dover, the bride travelling in dark brown with burnt orange trimmings with hat to match. The popularity of th bride was strikingly evidenced in the social functions in her honor which preceded the happy event and the many handsome wedding gifts that were received. The bride is a very popular member of the younger set and the best wishes of a wide circle of friends are extended for a long and happy wedded life.

Wyndel

M. Wigen's sawmill resumed cutting last week, after a few weeks' shutdown for the berry season.

A large camping party left on Sunday morning in O. Ringheim's motor boat, heading for Cultus Creek, where they figure to stay for a week or ten days.

BIRTH—On July 12th, to Mr. and Mrs. John Whitman, a daughter.

Jack Hindley is here on a visit from the Old Country, and is the guest of his brother, Charles. He came on to here from Harrop, where he was a guest of a brother who has a farm at that point.

Bass are now running strong in the mouth of Duck Creek and some very fine catches have been brought in this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Ofner were Nelson visitors this week, the latter having to go there for medical attention, returning on Tuesday.

The tennis club held the last of their berry season dances in the old schoolhouse on Saturday night. A very large crowd attended, and everyone had a real good time.

E. Beck, who has been visiting his sister, Mrs. W. A. Robinson, left last week for Appledale, where he has bought a piece of property. He is having the hay cut on it and the ploughing done before returning here.

Fred Hagen had a most unfortunate accident on Monday morning. While helping load lumber at the Winlaw sawmill a lumber pile toppled over onto him breaking his leg. Dr. Henderson arrived speedily and Fred is now making a very satisfactory recovery.

Berry picking is now finished and most of the growers have their patches mowed down and burned, and are busy cultivating them for a big crop next season. All growers report larger crops than they figured on, due to the heavy rains just before picking started.

A host of friends here will extend congratulations to Donald Dewar, a former Wyndel resident, whose marriage to Ruth McLean took place at Fernie early this month. He is a son of D. J. Dewar a former school principal and merchant here.

The accommodation of the old schoolhouse was heavily taxed on Tuesday night for the reception tendered by the congregation to Rev. and Mrs. Herdman, who have just taken charge of the church work. G. Taylor presided in his usual capable fashion, and extended a cordial welcome to pastor and wife, which was suitably acknowledged by Mr. Herdman, who expressed satisfaction on behalf of Mrs. Herdman and himself for such a splendid welcome. During the evening most appropriate speaches were made by A. W. Mason, Ashley Cooper and Alex. Cameron, emphasizing the need and the opportunities of the United Church in the community. Miss Ada Cuell and Mrs. Ashley Cooper favored with piano solos; Mrs. H. A. Bathie a vocal number; Mr. Lunt, violin solo, while Miss Ethel Towson's Irish dancing rounded out an evening's programme that was thoroughly enjoyed. Refreshments were served by the ladies at the close. During the evening Chairman Taylor announced that arrangements were well developed and work on the new church building would start almos immediately.

Sirdar

Mrs. North was calling on Creston friends between trains on Friday.

Mrs. Roy Proctor, who has been a visitor with her parents at Cranbrook for some days past, returned on Saturday.

Mrs. Moore and family of Cranbrook, who have been holidaying with Mrs. Loasby the past week, left for home on Saturday.

Rev. H. Varley will be here for Church of England service in the schoolhouse on Sunday evening at 7.30

Excavation work is completed for the proposed liquor store at Sirdar, which will be built on a lot between the new residence of S. Pascuzzo and the Rogers store.

Cam. Lindsay is handling the passenger run formerly taken by Conductor Hall, who has just been superanuated, but his appointment is only temporary as conductors Tiffin and Dallas are senior to him.

Mrs. Jones was here on Saturday en route to Creston on a business visit. The auto tourists passing through Kuskanook so far this season are more numerous than in any past year.

Mr. and Mrs. Brawn are expected back this week from a three weeks' vacation spent at Penticton and coast points.

The hours of the switch crew underwent a change at the first of the month, the work now starting at 1 a.m. and they knock off about nine in the morning.

A Nelson firm is busy with logging operations in the Kuskanook district back of the Neil ranch, and has almost a boom of logs ready to water for towing to their mill in that city.

Between the heavy ore and concentrates movement west and posts and lumber going east the freight traffic through Sirdar is just a little heavier than usual for this time of year.

Mr. and Mrs. Tanner of Calgary were Sirdar visitors a few days this week, guests of Mr. and Mrs. Loasby. Master Jim Tanner is remaining for a visit with Master Clifford Neil at Kuskanook.

Sid McCabe is again in charge of the B & B crew after an enforced vacation of about three months. The crew is back from Kimberley and is now making repairs on the coal chute.

Mr. and Mrs. Loasby were motor visitors to Porthill on Monday where the former was renewing R.N.W.M.P. acquaintance with J. C. Rykert, who was a member of the force as far back as 1873.

The attendance at the annual school meeting was too slim to permit of the evening's business being carried on and adjournment had to be taken to secure the election of a trustee and auditor. Announcement was made that Gordon Hunter of Vancouver has accepted the principalship for next year, and comes well recommended. The annual meeting will be asked to have the new assessment raise $200 to carry on the school next year. W. D. Touhey is the retiring trustee, Mr. Rogers and Mr. North completing the board, with Mrs. Jones, auditor.

Lister

Harold Langston, who has been working at Kimberley for the past two months, is here this week for a few days stay at the ranch.

A. Latoille is another Kimberley resident who is here at present looking after some work on his ranch.

C. H. Phillips and his friend, Geo. Hannington, of Kimberley, spent a few days at the Phillips ranch this week.

Another of the Lister girl graduates at this year's Normal school has been appointed to a local school, Miss Hazel Hobden having accepted the position of principal of the Huscroft school, succeeding Miss Randall, who has had charge for two years.

W. Millington arrived from Kimberley at the end of the week and is busy packing up the household effects, preparatory to moving to Bourne, near Vancouver, where they will reside in future.

Miss Flossie Evans was a visitor to Bonners Ferry at the first of the week where, we understand, she is entering the hospital in that town to take the three-year course as a nurse.

E. Ferguson, provincial assessor, of Nelson, made a visit of inspection to the Lister area at the end of the week, and for the first time on record local residents will be receiving the time-honored tax notices at the end of the year.

The attendance was not large at the annual school meeting on Saturday night at which E. J. Malthouse and F. N. Thompson were re-elected to succeed themselves as trustee and auditor for another term, and the former along with Jas. Jory and John Bird make up the board of education. $218.50 was voted as the sum necessary to finance the school the next twelve months.

At the annual meeting of the ratepayers of the Huscroft school district on Saturday night. T. Banks was returned for another three year term and Mrs. Ed. Smith, who was forced to resign due to now being resident in the Lister school district, is succeeded by John Huscroft, H. Holme, secretary, being the third member of the boord. $250 will be collected in taxes to finance educational affairs the oncoming term.

Miller–Hood Wedding

A very pretty house wedding was that of Wednesday at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John R. Miller, when their eldest daughter, Miss Ann Elizabeth, was united in marriage with George Hood, the ceremony being performed by Rev. J. A. James in the presence of a company of invited guests. The living room was prettily decorated for the occasion, the bride being given away by her father, and wearing a gown of white crepe de chine and carrying a boquet of white roses. Her bridesmaid was her cousin, Miss Jennie Marshall, who was also gowned in white and carried a boquet of sweet peas, while the groom was supported by John Smith. Immediately after the ceremony a wedding luncheon was served Mr. and Mrs. Hood leaving to catch the boat at Kuskanook on a wedding trip to Nelson and points west, the bride going away in a fawn travelling suit with hat to match. Many handsome gifts bespoke the popularity of the young couple whose many friends extend hearty congratulations and all good wishes for the future. On their return they will reside at the groom's home at Alice Siding.

Canyon City

Principal Kolthammer is at Summit Creek at present, where he is in charge of a crew fighting fire in that area.

Miss F. Lyne of Vancouver, who is holidaying with her parents at Creston, was a Friday and Saturday visitor with Miss F. Knott.

Prairie schooners still continue to come along on the trek south. Five of them went through on Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Speaker and family are now residents at Erickson, occupying the M. McDougall place, which he purchased a few weeks ago.

Mrs. Wetherhead was a guest of honor at an afternoon reception at Mrs. Knott's on Monday, when the ladies of Canyon—on the eve of her departure for Nelson—presented her with a silver cake dish by way of showing appreciation of their guest's good work ever since coming here in all lines of community endeavor. They will be leaving at the end of the week, and all will be sorry to see them go as Canyon has never had more willing and progressive citizens than Mr. and Mrs. Wetherhead.

One of the most harmonious and all round satisfactory annual school meeting Canyon has had for some time was that of Saturday night, which was presided over by F. Knott and at which T. Mawson was elected to the vacancy on the trustee board, replacing A. D. Pochin, who declined re-election, whilst F. Knott was the unanimous choice for auditor. Messrs. Wearmouth and H. Young are the other two trustees. $1600 was voted to finance educational affairs the coming year.

Erickson

Mrs. J. S. Peck and family of Edmonton, Alta., are visitors here this week with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Cartwright.

Misses Ella and Phyllis Botterill of Red Deer, Alberta, arrived at the end of the week for a visit with Mr. and Mrs. E. Botterill, of whom they are neices.

Mrs. C. G. Bennett of Fernie was an Erickson visitor this week, the guest of Mrs. F. V. Staples.

Frank Putnam and young son, Perley, were visitors in Spokane a couple of days the latter part of the week, making the trip by auto.

Mr. and Mrs. H. A. Dodd and family got away at the first of the week on a motor trip to coast points, going by way of Spokane and will return via the Okanagan and Nelson.

The hard surface road crew has been at work in this section making general repairs to the highway and putting on a coat of oil from the Crawford hill east.

Mr. and Mrs. F. V. Staples were motor visitors to Spokane last week, returning on Friday.

Mr. and Mrs Lorne Botterill and Mr. and Mrs. Frank Botterill were here from Dover for the Botterill-Kirsch wedding, Wednesday.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Percival and young son of Yahk, were week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Dodds.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Waylett were auto visitors at Bonners Ferry on Sunday. The north and south highway is still eight miles out from Porthill and will hardly reach the boundary this year.

Peace and harmony prevailed throughout the annual school meeting on Saturday evening, with a fairly good turnout of ratepayers in evidence. For the first time on record Erickson will have a lady trustee, Mrs. Frank Putnam being the unanimous choice to fill the one vacancy in the board, with R. J. C. Richardson re-elected auditor. $1500 was voted for running expenses, and this will be ample to allow for a slight increase in salary to Miss Trembath, who is returning to take the principalship for another year. The other members of the trustee board are E. E. Cartwright and R. M. Telford.

RED ROSE COFFEE "is good coffee"

The Richer Life Of The West

The people of the prairie provinces of Canada are engaged in the very large task of converting an empire of vacant or still sparsely settled territory into a thriving nation, and in doing so are seeking to lay foundations firm and true upon which the great structure of the future shall be erected. While much has been accomplished, the days of the pioneers are by no means past, and tasks enormous in their magnitude yet call for the initiative and energies of Western people.

It is both natural and inevitable that during these years of pioneer settlement and development the thought and activities of the people should be directed to those material and physical things necessary to the opening of the country and providing for its financial success and prosperity. Problems of transportation by rail and ocean, the construction of roads and bridges, development of markets and access to them for Western products, questions of credits and adequate banking facilities, mortgage loans and rates of interest, and all the other economic problems therefore loom large at present throughout the West, and the very fact that they call for so much consideration, agitation and legislation, has a tendency to create in the minds of people elsewhere a false idea that the people of the West are wholly material, even mercenary in their outlook, giving little thought to or having little regard for what are generally termed the finer and better things in life.

The surprising thing about Canada's prairie provinces is not that so much attention is necessarily devoted to the material development and well-being of the country, but that such a large amount of time, earnest thought and hard earned money is so freely given by Western people in these early days of their country's history to what are termed the finer arts, and to the development of a strong, intelligent and cultivated citizenship. It is one thing for old established, well settled and wealthy countries to erect and maintain great universities, museums of art, conservatories of music, symphony orchestras, etc., etc., but quite another thing for sparsely settled pioneer communities to do so.

Nevertheless on these prairie provinces greater attention is being paid to the provision of higher institutions of learning than in many old and wealthy countries, and even in these still pioneer days the work of collecting art treasures, establishing museums, and cultivating a popular taste for the best in literature and music is receiving increasing attention and support.

None of the older Canadian provinces are putting forth anything like the same effort in the encouragement of good music among the masses of the population as is carried on year after year in these prairie provinces through the instrumentality of the annual musical festivals. In the older provinces and in the states to the south, good music is, as a rule, provided through the benefactions of a few wealthy patrons. Here in the West, where people of great wealth are few and far between, these "finer" things can only be made possible through the self-denying service of the people themselves, maintained by the small contributions of all.

These annual musical festivals, which are increasing in popularity and attaining a higher standard of excellence year after year, are but the culmination of faithful, painstaking work on the part of scores of small musical organizations scattered throughout the cities, towns, villages and rural districts of the Canadian West, and all of which are constantly bringing real pleasure and profit to their respective communities. And what is being accomplished in the development of a popular taste for good music is to an increasing degree also being accomplished in the realms of literature and art.

The people of the West are not mere money grubbers. They are striving hard to attain to material prosperity, it is true, and they are insistent in their demands that those material things essential to the attainment of that object shall be provided. But such material prosperity is regarded by the vast majority of Western people merely as a means to an end, that end being the enrichment of the whole life of the people and the upbuilding of as fine a country and race of people as are to be found in the world. The fact that so much is now being done to achieve that result when the means for its accomplishment are so limited, speaks volumes for the ideals and aspirations of Western Canadians, and holds promise of a rich and wonderful future.

"Play Streets"

Where Automobiles Are Banned and Children Can Romp Without Fear of Death

In some cities of the United States the problem of safeguarding the lives of children has been solved by the designation of certain streets as "play streets." During certain hours of the day automobiles are denied access to these designated zones. The plan, it is said, has proved to be popular with the kiddies, their parents and the motorists themselves.—Hamilton Spectator.

62 Billion Tons of Coal Lie Under the Soil of Alberta

Sixty-two billion tons of coal, half of this amount recoverable, lie beneath the surface of Alberta soil, according to Prof. J. A. Allan, provincial geologist, and head of the department of geology of the University of Alberta, in a statement made before the Alberta coal commission. The commission was also told that $12,000,000 had been lost by the abandonment of coal mines during the past 20 years. This loss is ascribed to loss of markets.

NEW STRENGTH FOR WEAK GIRLS

Can Be Had Through the Rich, Red Blood Made By Dr. Williams' Pink Pills

There comes a time in the life of almost every girl when weakness attacks her. The strain upon her blood supply is too great, and there comes headaches and backaches, loss of appetite, attacks of dizziness, heart palpitation, a constant weariness and a tendency to a decline. All these symptoms may not be present in any particular case, but the presence of any one of them shows the necessity for prompt treatment. And the very best treatment is through the blood-making tonic qualities of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They are the one thing needed to maintain the health of growing girls and women of mature years.

Here is a bit of strong proof:—Miss Matilda Brean, King Highway, Newcastle, N.B. says:—"I was in an extremely run-down and nervous condition. I was losing flesh, had a poor appetite, always pale, and suffered frequently from headaches. In fact my condition can best be described as miserable. I had tried several treatments but they did not help me in the least. Then, reading one day about Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, I decided to try them. After using three boxes I was much improved, but continued until I had taken six boxes, with the result that I am now well and strong, with good color and a hearty appetite. In view of what Dr. Williams' Pink Pills have done for me I cannot recommend them too highly."

You can get these Pills from any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

For Increased Pensions

Commons Passes a Resolution Amending the Pensions Act

A resolution to provide for amendments to the Pensions Act was introduced in the house by Hon. H. S. Beland, minister of soldiers' civil re-establishment. Among the amendments contemplated are provisions for a definite pension, irreducible for two years in cases of pulmonary tuberculosis; for increased pensions to mothers whose husbands are physically helpless, or in a dependent condition; and for conditions under which pension may be continued to dependent parents.

The resolution was carried without further discussion, and a bill based on it was given first reading.

Juvenile Migration

London Saturday Review Deals With This Important Question

The London Saturday Review, dealing with the subject of child immigration in Canada, says the annual reports of the chief inspector of British immigrants' receiving homes show but little initiative and they carefully avoid criticism of the methods followed in connection with child immigration.

"Juvenile migration towards Canada," the Review says, "has too long remained only an adjunct to the work of reclamation of child life in the English and Scottish congested areas. These limitations should be removed and a state-aided and state-controlled system inaugurated that would be available for boys and girls of all classes."

HEART WAS WEAK NERVES ALL GONE

Mrs. J. H. Hallenbeck, 117½ Welland Avenue, St. Catharines, Ont., writes:—"I was in a gas explosion; it left me with a weak heart, and my nerves were all gone. I suffered everything; couldn't sleep, or endure any excitement, and when left alone I felt as if I could scream. I took dizzy spells, often falling and bruising myself. My mother read about your Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills, and bought me a box, but having taken so many different kinds of medicine it just seemed that I did not have any confidence in any of them. I took one box of H. & N. Pills, and felt so much better I continued with them until I had used five boxes, and after I had taken them I did not need any more. I cannot praise, or recommend, Milburn's Heart and Nerve Pills too highly after all they have done for me."

An Oil that is Famous.—Though Canada was not the birthplace of Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, it is the home of that famous compound. From here its good name was spread to Central and South America, the West Indies, Australia and New Zealand. That is far afield enough to attest its excellence, for in all these countries it is on sale and in demand.

Mr. Alfred Gagnon Recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills to All Who Suffer.

Moulin Bersimis, Que.—(Special).—"A few words about your Dodd's Kidney Pills. They have done me much good," states Mr. Gagnon, a well known and highly respected resident of this place.

"For pains in the back and kidneys, I have taken Dodd's Kidney Pills and they have done me good immediately. I always keep a box in the house. To-day, thanks to your pills I am quite relieved of my trouble and recommend them to all who suffer. Kindly send me one of your almanacs."

Dodd's Kidney Pills are purely and simply a kidney remedy. They act directly on the kidneys, strengthening them and putting them in condition to do their full work of straining the impurities out of the blood. Dodd's Kidney Pills have been in use in Canada for more than thirty years. They demonstrated their worth in the most serious forms of kidney disease, such as rheumatism, dropsy, diabetes, neuralgia and sciatica.

Chief of Royal Air Force Would Abolish Aeroplanes As a Menace to Civilization

Aeroplanes should be abolished because they are a menace to civilization, according to Sir Hugh Trenchard, chief of staff of the Royal Air Force in Britain.

Sir Hugh, one of the eminent British aviation authorities, brought his audience up with a jerk when he condemned the weapon he commands in a speech in London.

"All the good aeroplanes can do in civil life," Sir Hugh said, "cannot balance the harm they may do in war. If I had the casting vote I would say abolish aeroplanes. They are an infinitely more harmful weapon than any other and terrifically powerful. The aeroplane is the best offensive ever invented.

"It is a bad weapon for defence, but it is the only means of defence against other aeroplanes, and I doubt whether any one weapon will take its place within this century.

"Nearly all naval battles 250 years ago were fought within one mile of shore. An aeroplane may not sink ships 250 miles from shore, but it can damage them and prevent bombardment of shore positions. Within another 50 or 100 years the air will be the only practical efficient means of defending the empire."

Empire Settlement Act

Provisions Made For Three Thousand Selected Immigrant Families

Regulations for the settlement of the three thousand selected immigrant families who are being brought to Canada under the Empire Settlement Act, have been made public. They provide for the setting aside of land for the new settlers, the allocation of the lands to the immigrants at a price to be fixed by the independent advisory committee for the district in which the farms are situated, that all buildings on land for soldier settlers shall be placed in good repair, and that the total advances of all descriptions to any immigrant, including the value of the land and the British advances, shall not exceed $7,500 in the case of any one settler.

Tree Planting

Farmers Can Make No Better Investment Than Setting Out Trees

Trees are not only things of beauty. They are things of comfort, as well. They afford protection from the sun in summer and the winds and snow in winter. They conserve moisture and attract birds, which in turn maintain the balance of nature by destroying pestiferous insects. Saskatchewan has made a good beginning in tree planting; but it is only a beginning. This spring, and every succeeding spring, should see more and more trees set out on farms and in the cities, towns and villages until the saturation point has been reached.—Regina Leader.

Salt Production In Canada

Salt production in Canada during 1924 amounted to 210,737 tons, of which quantity 207,979 tons worth $1,374,780 was marketed, according to a report issued by the bureau of statistics. Plants operated in Ontario contributed 97 per cent. of the total production, the balance, or 4,551 tons, was made up of shipments from the Malagash mine in Nova Scotia.

Fish From Prairies

Value of Product of Three Prairie Provinces Reaches High Figure

The product of the commercial fisheries in the three prairie provinces in 1924 had a total market value of $2,054,162, apportioned as follows: Manitoba, $232,563; Saskatchewan, $482,492; and Alberta, $339,107.

Compared with the preceding year the value of Manitoba's fishery product increased by $211,968, or 21 per cent.; and of Saskatchewan's by $195,849, or 68 per cent. The value of Alberta's product decreased by $99,630 or 23 per cent.

The value of the fishery production of the Yukon Territory in 1924 was $18,773.

In Manitoba the principal kinds of fish, in order of value, were pickerel, whitefish, sturgeon and pike. In Saskatchewan and Alberta, whitefish is of first importance, the value of this fish in the former province representing 75 per cent. of the total value of the fishery production of the province, and in the latter province 71 per cent. For the three provinces as a whole, whitefish represents 42 per cent. of the total value of the fisheries production and pickerel 28 per cent.

Pigs Sensitive To Sudden Sunlight

Must Get Acquainted Gradually to Extremes of Light and Heat

Pigs require a range on the ground. Any breeder of hogs will tell you that, but while hogs require range they must be familiarized very gradually with the light and the sun. Contrary to our ideas generally the hog is a delicate animal under certain conditions, and one thing that will hurry his passage by the unprofitable route to the happy hunting grounds is a sudden change from a cool, dark pen to brilliant, scorching sunlight. While, therefore, the hogs should be let to the ground, a good deal of judgment should be used in keeping the porkers away from the extremes of light and heat, till there has been a gradual accustoming thereto. Even when this has been done, in a field where there are no shade trees, shelter should be provided into which the hogs may go for sleep or rest.

Big Colonization Scheme

Purchase 260,000 Acres of Land in Central and Northern Alberta

Acquiring the tract of 260,000 acres of land holdings of the Western Canada Land Company, originally purchased from the Canadian Pacific Railway, the British Land Settlement Corporation plans a great colonization scheme for Central and Northern Alberta. The lands in question stretch across the province north of Edmonton from the district north of Vermilion to Wabamum. It is intended to bring out groups of immigrants who will receive financial assistance.

Romance Passing

Historical Spots Are Invaded By Modern Appliances

Modern science is taking the romance out of the region "where the River Shannon flows." A huge hydro-electric development project has been started on the river.

Other romantic and historic spots are being stamped with the progress of science. Gasoline motor cars now churn up the mud on the road to Mandalay; a railroad runs through the famous Nottingham forest, and a large dam is being built on the Jordan River in Palestine.—Chicago Evening Post.

An Honest Taxi Driver

A Parisian taxi-cab driver turned over to the police a brief case containing 200,000 francs in bank notes and bearer bonds which had been left in his cab. He refused to give his name, answering, "I only did what any honest man would do and would not dream of taking a reward."

Immigration to Canada

Considerable Activity in Immigration This Year Is Indicated

In March of this year immigration to Canada totalled 6,575 compared with 2,210 in February, an increase of 4,365. Of the 6,575 an official statement issued by the department of immigration and colonization shows that 3,273 were British, 1,297 from the United States and 2,005 from other countries. In the same month 2,731 Canadians, who had been in the United States six months or longer, returned to the Dominion.

For the fiscal year 1924-25 ended March 31st last, the total immigration was 111,362, made up of 53,178 from the British Isles, 15,818 from the United States and 42,366 from other countries. In the same period 43,775 Canadians returned from the United States so that if this number is added to the general immigration total of 111,362 the combined count is 155,137.

Indication are that there will be considerable activity in immigration during the next few months.

Our Forest Production

Billions of Shingles and Lath is One Item Only

Recently a great amount of newspaper space has been given to the holding up of a lumber cargo at Boston under a customs regulation requiring that each individual piece should be marked with the name of the country of origin. It was looked upon as almost a hopeless task, as there were said to be five million pieces of shingles and lath in the cargo. Five million lath and shingles do look like a lot, until they are compared with Canada's yearly output, and then this shipment represents less than one-seven hundredth part of the annual cut. In 1923 there were 2,506,967,000 shingles and 1,031,420,000 lath cut from Canada's forests. Canada deals in big figures where its forest industry is concerned, but forest fires are threatening this valuable natural resource.

Higher Than Eiffel Tower

Two broadcasting towers are now under construction in Germany that will exceed in height all others in the country. Both will be provided with elevators, and will be used as observatories as well. One, to be located in a suburb of Berlin, will be 1,049 feet, topping the Eiffel Tower at Paris.

Prize Cattle From West

Fine Consignment Shipped By Alberta Livestock Association

The first consignment of export cattle for 1925 left Montreal recently. It was in all probability the finest that ever left the shores of the Dominion. Consisting of two hundred and seven head shipped by the Livestock Producers' Association of Alberta (the president of which is H. P. Kennedy) and averaging around twelve hundred pounds in weight at three years of age, they made an imposing spectacle when viewed on the Montreal East End Stockyards where they were held for twenty-four hours following their long journey.

One hundred and twenty-five of the number came direct from Edmonton spring show where they had captured the first five prizes in the carload class. Others included in the lot were the grand champion steer formerly owned by the University of Alberta and five Hereford steers that took first place at Regina, Calgary and Saskatoon shows.

The lot was consigned to Mr. J. T. Irwin, Glasgow, under whose name a number of them will be shown at some of the leading shows of that country as an example of Western Canadian beef.

Canadian Sugar Industry

Considerable Increase in Production is Shown in Returns Made

Favorable progress by the Canadian sugar industry is shown in the statistical report issued by the bureau of statistics covering the activities of the industry for the month of March. For the four weeks ending March 28, the total manufactures amounted to 88,552,188 pounds of granulated and yellow sugar, as compared with 75,533,521 pounds of sugar for the same period last year. For the period from January 1 to March 28, inclusive, manufactures amounted to 214,445,157 pounds, as compared with 170,840,832 pounds.

This committee will be under the joint chairmanship of Dr. Torey, representing the research council, and Dr. J. H. Grisdale, deputy minister of agriculture, Ottawa, and the first meeting, for organization purposes, is to be held in Ottawa at an early date.

Corn In Western Canada

Aggregate Value of Corn Crop in Western Canada Estimated at $4,163,000

The aggregate value of the corn crop of the prairie provinces last year is estimated to have been $4,163,000. The area planted last year in the three prairie provinces, with average ton yield per acre in brackets, was as follows: Manitoba, 60,176 acres (5.85); Saskatchewan, 87,115 (6.85); and Alberta, 67,472 (5.70).

Encourage Sugar Beet Growers

Sugar beet growers in Southern Alberta will be backed financially to the extent of $25 an acre by the Co-operative Credit Society of Alberta, according to an announcement by W. H. Caswell, inspector of the credit societies. The beets will be grown for the new $1,500,000 sugar refinery now being erected at Raymond.

Favors to Industries

Under the Industries Assessment Act, just passed by the Alberta Legislature, municipalities are granted permission to extend certain favors to industries, bonuses are not allowed but fixed assessments on a reduced basis are authorized.

Treat For London Children

Twenty thousand London school children are to be taken to theatres to see Shakespearean plays during the year. The cost, $6,000, will be borne by the London County Council.

The total number of Indians in Canada is 106,000, of whom 30,000 are to be found in the prairie provinces—Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta. The Indians own 5,000,000 acres of land and the amount of band funds held in trust for them is almost $12,000,000. They own livestock worth $4,500,000, and personal property of $65,000,000. There are 326 schools provided by the government for their education—day schools, boarding schools and industrial schools—and the average attendance at these is 13,000 pupils out of a possible 16,000 of school age. About 10,000 Indians still cling to their aboriginal beliefs, and of the remainder about half are Protestants and half Roman Catholics, says the Industrial and Agricultural Progress of Canada.

While the Indians of Eastern Canada are engaged in a variety of occupations, being in extensive demand for hunting, guiding, bushwork, etc., the majority of those in the prairie provinces follow agriculture almost exclusively. In 1923 they had 68,456 acres of land under crop, an increase of 15,942 acres over 1922. On this they produced 1,276,579 bushels of grain, an increase of 531,569 bushels over the year before.

A very fine example of the intelligent encouragement which is being given by the Canadian Government and the progressive work being accomplished through the active and enthusiastic co-operation of the Indian population is given in the case of the File Hills Indian Reserve in Saskatchewan, where wonderful results have been achieved. Under the commissioner's policy a portion of the reserve was set aside for graduates of boarding and industrial schools, and this was surveyed into farms of eighty acres. Each pupil was given a grant of $125 to buy lumber, etc., for his log shack, and a yoke of oxen, harness and plow, to be paid for in four years.

This was in 1903, when three colonists enlisted under the plan. Despite hardships and discouragements of various kinds, their number was added to yearly and increased by marriage until in 1915 there were thirty-six farmers, twenty-eight of whom were married, and the children of the colony numbered ninety-six. In that year they had 3,616 acres in crop, but an anticipated crop of 100,000 bushels was reduced by hail to 20,000 bushels.

Western Canada's Wool Clip

Western Canada's wool clip last year had a total value of $631,700, according to the latest government returns. This sum was realized for 2,690,000 pounds of wool.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, JULY 17

Election Talk

While press despatches emanating from Ottawa inform that the betting is six to four in favor of a Dominion general election this fall, about the only ones getting excited about the matter are the Conservatives, who are active in spots in getting their candidates in the field.

With British Columbia Liberals, who have but one member in the federal parliament, there is nothing stirring, and pretty much the same thing applies with the party all over western Canada.

In East Kootenay the Conservatives have their nominating convention at Cranbrook this week, and if it should so happen that Dr. Rutledge is the Tory choice that constituency will have one of the most interesting campaigns in its history, granted Hon Dr. King, minister of public works, again carries the Liberal banner, and the fight is a two party affair.

East Kootenay is made up of Columbia, Fernie and Cranbrook provincial ridings, which return Liberal, Labor and Conservative members respectively to Victoria.

Dr. Rutledge enjoys a personal popularity over a considerable part of the constituency, but whether it is sufficient to overcome the prestige a cabinet minister carries, plus the friendship it is reasonable to suppose has been created at Fernie for Dr. King due to the aid given Home Bank depositors, polling day alone can decide.

Just at present the odds favor Dr. King—but we use the word "present" advisedly, because if the election is too long delayed most anything may happen at Fernie to kill off the good effect the Home bank relief has had on the Liberal candidate's chances.

Domestic Pack

In addition to giving about the maximium of good service on a none too generous appropriation for maintenance of highways and bridges, the new road superintendent is to be commended for seeing to it that in whatever expenditure there is to make most everyone who needs employment and has a reputation for giving eight hours work for a day's pay, gets a chance to share in the payroll. Just how well this policy is being worked out is illustrated in the outlay for June when a total of 83 men shared in the public works disbursements in the territory between Boswell and Goatfell.

In discussing undertakings by the public works officials in this district it is to be hoped that the department will give good heed to the request from Kitchener, where some sidewalk construction is asked for. The place has a small but well defined business section that should have attention, and a walk from the station to town is also in order. Kitchener occupies quite a prominent location on the main highway and works of this sort all go to make the place look a little more attractive, as well as providing a convenience for the residents of the place.

Now that the schools are closed and the class of tourist who appreciates a camping ground is likely to be on the road in considerable numbers, citizens generally are asked to remember that Creston has a fine camping ground at the F. K. Smith ranch, and to pass the information on to any who may enquire if such a stopping place is available here. By 1927, at the latest, the much talked-of north and south road across the U.S. will be open for traffic and the number of motorists likely to come this way via Porthill will be all the larger by starting in right now to make it as widely known as possible that Creston is in shape to handle tourist business.

If something of some sort is not undertaken in British Columbia very shortly in connection with draining Kootenay Flats in whole or in part, inactivity on this side cannot fairly be charged to lack of leadership in this respect, particularly in view of last week's annoucement that steps are now being taken to reclaim a tract of 6000 acres of these overflowed lands in the Copeland district. That the Copeland people are awake to the benefits that follow bringing such an area under cultivation must be apparent to all when one figures out that a cost of $40 per acre for the work the project will entail an expenditure of almost a quarter of a million dollars. Considering the none too populous district of which Copeland is the centre such an undertaking seems almost unbelievable, and if this sort of development spirit keeps on coming north, should Creston balk at drainage this district might stand irrigation

Along with the northward advance of the development spirit Creston can also stand a westward movement of the sort of public spirit that has obtained of late at Fernie and Cranbrook. At the former place community effort has provided funds for the establishment of a swimming pool, while at the latter similar endeavor has brought in a few thousand dollars which has given the children a playground and equipment that the youngsters are certainly making great use of. What Creston is most in need of is an organization to take hold of athletics in the village and district. After witnessing the benefit match a couple of weeks ago one cannot help being struck with the abundance of first-class baseball talent there is amongst the intermediates, which with handling and encouragement will in the next couple of years give the town a nine that will be at home in the fastest of Kootenay company. The urgency of systematic handling lies in the fact that the talent is at the age where the prospect of getting along into senior company must be in view in order to keep up the players' active interest in the sport. In the mild weather that obtains here there may be legitimate reason for passing up winter sports, but no such excuse goes in the case of the activities of the other seasons of the year. If Creston really appreciates baseball it has a wonderful opportunity to have a winning team of its own production, but more encouragement in several directions than has been in evidence this year will have to be forthcoming if baseball is even to be kept moving locally.

WANTED—Well bred Jersey cow. Also some well bred Barred Rock and Leghorn hens. B. F. Whitney, Creston.

Mr. and Mrs. Campbell are visitors to Creston this week, guest of Mr. and Mrs. York, the former being a brother of Mrs. York.

R. Lamont, who has been a visitor at Hamilton and other Ontario points for the past six months, arrived back at the end of the week, looking and feeling his old time self.

Miss Agnes Hobden has joined the sales staff at the S. A. Speers store and will succeed Miss Evelyn Bevan, who has been accepted as a nurse in training at the hospital at Kelowena, and leaves to take up her new profession about the end of the month.

Charlie Cotterill joined the staff at Creston Drug & Book Store this week and is intending to serve the three years of apprenticeship in the store before taking the two year course in pharmacy at the University of British Columbia at Vancouver.

Creston fans will have opportunity of seeing the best junior baseball of the season on Sunday afternoon when the Nelson High School team will be here to meet the Creston High School nine. The game will start prompt at two o'clock as the visitors are returning on the Sunday afternoon train.

At the village council meeting on Monday night accounts totalling almost $900 were passed in payment for lumber and labor in connection with the new sidewalk construction. The town flagpole is to be overhauled and a new flag purchased, as well as some needed equipment for the fire brigade.

Mrs. F. A. Barton and son, Gordon, of Vancouver, are renewing acquaintances in Creston at present, and are guests of Mrs. F. H. Jackson. They are returning from a trip to Winnipeg and Brandon, Man., at which latter place her daughter, Miss Dorothey, is on the nursing staff at the General Hospital.

The ratepayers were in particularly generous mood at the school meeting on Saturday night, voting a sum of $1100 in excess of last year for the carrying on of school affairs in 1925-26. $500 of this will be used on improving the old school building—mostly in painting, and $350 will be required for salary increases.

Provincial assessor E. Ferguson of Nelson was here on an official visit at the end of the week. For the purpose of school assessment he will use the roll for the village as prepared by assessor W. O. Taylor. He spent a couple of days at Lister making the first-ever assessment of the soldier settlement lands.

A number of the girl friends of Mrs. Geo. Mawson (nee Nellie Wilson) were hostess in her honor at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Cherrington on Thursday afternoon, at which quite a large company of the girl and married friends of Wednesday's bride remembered her with a splendid assortment of appropriate gifts and a very pleasant afternoon socially was spent by all.

T. Lancaster, who was in business here in 1914-15 in the old Speers' store, leaving to take on a hardware business at Calgary, and later going to Bowden, Alberta, was shaking hands with old friends on Saturday. With Mrs. Lancaster and the two children they were on a motor trip west. Due to his wife's health not being adapted to the prairie he is again compelled to locate in B.C. and was on his way to Armstrong to investigate a mercantile proposition.

Although arranged on short notice the ladies of the L.O.B.A. and the Orangemen had quite a large turnout for their picnic at the grove on the Compton ranch on Wednesday afternoon, the crowd being entertained with various lines of amusements, music and a couple of appropriate addresses which were delivered by Col. Fred Lister, M.P.P., and Rev. J. A. James. The affair was the old time basket affair, everyone bringing the eats for both dinner and supper, and a thoroughly enjoyable day was made of it by the whole company.

A quiet wedding was solemnized at the manse on Wednesday evening when Rev. J. A. James united in marriage, Miss Helen, eldest daughter of Mrs. Jas. Wilson, with George Mawson. The couple were unattended, the bride's costume being of peach georgette crepe with fur trimmings and wearing a satin hat to match. They left on a honeymoon trip that will be spent on a cruise of Kootenay Lake, and on their return will take up housekeeping in Creston. Both are well known members of Creston's younger set and have the heartiest good wishes of a large circle of friends for future success and happiness.

D. T. Scrimgeour, manager of the Bank of Commerce, was at Nelson on Friday and Saturday for a branch manager's conference in that city with Superintendent Hamilton, who had just completed an inspection of the bank's branches in Kootenay Boundary. C. G. Bennett, now in charge at Fernie, was shaking hands with Creston friends whilst taking the air here both going and coming. He was particularly pleased to note the entire absence of the bovine and equine quadrupeds from the village scenery.

Schools Require $7990.00 1925-26

Ratepayers to the number of about thirty who were out for the annual school meeting on Saturday night were in an unexpectedly generous humor, the trustees having little or no trouble in securing the adoption of the current year's budget which allows for an expenditure of $7990.00, as compared with but $6300 somewhat grudgingly conceded a year ago, this year's increase being necessary to take care of $350 required for salary raises, $500 for painting the main schol building, and the other $350 to take care of other increased expenditures.

R. S. Bevan was selected chairman of the meeting, with S. A. Speers taking the minutes of proceedings. The auditor's report as well as the estimates for this year were shown on the blackboard, and evoked about the minimum of discussion. Due to the practice of every possible economy and the collection of a little better than $800 in high school fees from pupils outside Creston the board was able to close the year with a balance of over $1400—this, of course, taking into account a cash surplus carried forward from the year previous of about $700 nett.

For this year the board will be favored with the services of a lady school trustee, Mrs. (Dr.) Henderson's being unanimously chosen to succeed G. Nickel, whose three year term had expired, while for about the twelfth successive time Dr. Henderson was the unanimous choice as auditor.

What discussion there was of the budget had mostly to do with the teachers salaries, which follow, payments in this connection for the past and coming years being shown:

	1925-26	1924-25
H.S. Principal	$1700	$1600
" Assistant	1600	1500
P.S. Principal	1650	1500
" Division II	1300	1300
" Division III	1250	1250
" Division IV	1100	1100
" Division V	1150	1150

To the $7990 which will be raised by taxation, must be added $4060.00 which is the grant from the department in connection with teachers giving the district a total outlay for the year on education of just over $13,000.00. The estimates for the coming year are as follows:

Water	$ 85.00
Fuel	300.00
Insurance	315.00
Supplies	360.00
Miscellaneous	300.00
Painting and repairs	500.00
Janitor	650.00
Teachers salaries	5640.00
Secretary	50.00
	$7990.00

Trustee S. A. Speers, the board treasurer, submitted the statement of receipts and expenditures, which the auditor has certified correct, as follows:

RECEIPTS
Balance on hand	$ 854.88
Taxation	6800.00
High School fees	837.50
Women's Institute grant	25.00
Library rebate	39.42
	$8556.80
EXPENDITURES
Teachers' salaries	$5290.00
Janitor	675.00
Supplies	342.06
Miscellaneous	82.50
Fuel	197.02
Merchandise	67.30
Water	85.00
Secretary	50.00
Fall fair grant	10.00
Medical examination	85.00
Repairs	17.25
Insurance	90.00
Cheques unpaid, July, 1924	152.41
Balance	1412.36
	$8556.80

Up to the present there has been only one resignation from the staff, that of Miss Carrie, assistant at the high school, who is going to Fernie next term. Miss Vickers is absent until Christmas, subject to the approval of the new board, which cannot meet for the present due to the absence from town of both Trustees Goodwin and Speers.

Picture May Be Worth Million

Work of Old Master Bought in Junk Shop for $7.00

The picture owned by Mrs. Stuart Livingstone, Vancouver, showing a troubador in drinking pose, which she turned over some months ago to Signor Farina, an authority on the work of the old masters, for inspection, has been pronounced by him to be a genuine Velasquez and worth perhaps a million dollars.

The picture was bought in a Winnipeg junk shop 40 years ago for $7.

A Romance of the Spanish Main

CAPTAIN BLOOD

RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

Things had not sped at all well with hi in the past fortnight, since his acceptance of the King's commission. There had been trouble with Bishop from the moment of landing. As Blood and Lord Julian had stepped ashore together they had been met by Colonel Bishop, who took no pains to dissemble his chagrin at the turn of events and his determination to change it.

Blood's thoughts were upon this and other things as he lounged there on the day-bed. He had been a fortnight in Port Royal, his ship virtually a unit now in the Jamaica squadron. And when the news of it reached Tortuga and the buccaneers who awaited his return, the name of Captain Blood, which had stood so high among the Brethren of the Coast, would become a byword. And for what had he placed himself in this position? For the sake of a girl who avoided him so persistently and intentionally that he must assume that she still regarded him with aversion. Nor was that the worst of it. He was allowed plainly to perceive that it was the graceful, elegant young trifler from St. James's, Lord Julian Wade, to whom her every moment was devoted. What chance had he, a desperate adventurer with a record of outlawry, against such a rival as that; a man of parts, moreover, as he was bound to admit?

A boat that had approached unnoticed from the shore came scraping and bumping against the great red hull of the Arabella. Captain Blood rose, tall, active and arrestingly elegant in a scarlet, gold-laced coat that advertised his new position.

"A note for you from the Deputy-Governor," said Jeremy Pitt shortly, as he proffered a folded sheet.

Blood broke the seal and read. "It is a very peremptory summons," he said, and passed the note to his friend.

The young master's grey eyes skimmed it.

"You'll not go?" he said, between question and assertion. "Why did ye let Wolverstone and the others go?" he cried, with a touch of bitterness "You should have seen the danger."

"How could I in honesty have detained them? It was in the bargain. Besides, how could their staying have helped me?" And as Pitt did not answer him: "Ye see?" he said, and shrugged. "I'll be getting my hat and cane and sword, and go ashore in the cockboat. See it manned for me."

"Ye're to deliver yourself into Bishop's hands," Pitt warned him.

Blood knew as well as Pitt that in going ashore that morning he carried his life in his hands. Walking leisurely, he skirted the embattled wall and passed through the great gates into the courtyard. On his right stretched a spacious garden, beyond which rose the white house that was the residence of the Deputy-Governor. In that garden's main avenue, that was fringed with palm and sandalwood, he had caught sight of Miss Bishop alone. He crossed the courtyard with suddenly lengthened stride.

"Good morning to ye, ma'am," was his greeting, as he overtook her; and, hat in hand now, he added on a note of protest: "Sure, it's nothing less than uncharitable to make me run in this heat."

"I beg that you will let me pass"

"Why do you run, then?" she asked him coolly, standing slim and straight before him, all in white and very maidenly save in her unnatural composure. "I am pressed," he informed him. "So you will forgive me if I do not stay."

"You were none so pressed until I came."

"Since you perceive it, sir, I wonder that you trouble to be so insistent."

That crossed the swords between them, and it was against Blood's instincts to avoid an engagement.

"Faith, you explain yourself after a fashion," said he. "But, since it was more or less in your service that I donned the King's coast, you should suffer it to cover the thief and pirate."

She shrugged and turned aside, in some resentment and some regret. Fearing to betray the latter, she took refuge in the former. "I do my best," said she.

"So that ye can be charitable in some ways!" He laughed softly. "Glory be, now, I should be thankful for so much. Maybe I'm presumptuous. But I can't forget that when I was no better than a slave in your uncle's household in Barbadoes, ye used me with a certain kindness."

"Why not? In those days you had some claim upon my kindness. You were just an unfortunate gentleman then."

"And what else would you be calling me now?"

"Hardly unfortunate. We have heard of your good fortune on the seas; how your luck has passed into a byword. And we have heard other things; of your good fortune in other directions."

She spoke hastily, the thought of Mademoiselle d'Ogeron in her mind. And instantly would have recalled the words had she been able. But Peter Blood swept them lightly aside, reading into them none of her meaning, as she feared he would.

"Aye: a deal of lies, devil a doubt, as I could prove to you."

"I cannot think why you should trouble to put yourself on your defense," she discouraged him.

"So that ye may think less badly of me than you do."

"What I think of you can be a very little matter to you, sir."

"Can ye say that now? Can ye say that, beholding me in this livery of a service I despise? Didn't ye tell me that I might redeem the past? It's little enough I am concerned to redeem the past save only in your eyes. In my own I've done nothing at all that I am ashamed of, considering the provocation I received."

"I—I can't think why you should speak to me like this," she said, with less than her earlier assurance.

"Ah, now, can't ye, indeed?" he cried. "Sure, then, I'll be telling ye."

"Oh, please!" There was real alarm in her voice. "I realize fully what you did, and I realize that partly, at least, you may have been urged by consideration for myself. Believe me, I am very grateful. I shall always be grateful."

"But if it's also your intention always to think of me as a thief and a pirate, faith, ye may keep your gratitude for all the good it's like to do me."

A livelier color crept into her cheeks. But, if she resented his tone and his words, she stifled her resentment. She realized that perhaps she had herself provoked his anger. She honestly desired to make amends.

"You are mistaken," she began. "It isn't that."

"What is it, then?" quoth he, and added the question: "Lord Julian? Och, be frank with me," he urged her, unpardonably. "T" will be a kindness, so it will."

"You—you are quite insufferable," she said. "I beg that you will let me pass."

"I'll not be detaining you any longer, ma'am. After all, the cursed thing I did for nothing can be undone. Ye'll remember afterwards that it was your hardness drove me."

"You take that tone! You dare to take that tone!" she cried, astounding him by her sudden vehemence. "You have the effrontery to upbraid me because I will not take your hands when I know how they are stained; when I know you for a murderer and worse?"

"A murderer—I?" he said at last.

"Must I name your victims? Did you not murder Levasseur?"

"Levasseur? He smiled a little. "So they've told you about that!"

"Do you deny it?"

"I killed him, it is true. I can remember killing another man in circumstances that were very similar. That was in Bridgetown on the night of the Spanish raid. Mary Traill would tell you of it. She was present."

He clapped his hat on his head with a certain abrupt fierceness, and strode angrily away, before she could answer or even grasp the full significance of what he had said.

HER NERVES BETTER NOW

Received Much Benefit by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chatham, Ontario.—"I started to get weak after my second child was born, and kept on getting worse until I could not do my own housework and was so bad with my nerves that I was afraid to stay alone at any time. I had a girl working for me a whole year before I was able to do my washing again. Through a friend I learned of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took four bottles of it. I gave birth to a baby boy the 4th day of September, 1922. I am still doing my own work and washing. Of course, I don't feel well every day because I don't get my rest as the baby is so cross. But when I get my rest I feel fine. I am still taking the Vegetable Compound and am going to keep on with it until cured. My nerves are a lot better since taking it. I can stay alone day or night and not be the least frightened. You can use this letter as a testimonial and I will answer letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. CHARLES CARSON, 27 Forsythe Street, Chatham, Ontario.

Conquers Bad Breath and is Popular Again

"The day I started taking Carter's Little Liver Pills," says Mr. John A. Perry of New York City, "my habitual bad breath and bad stomach stopped. I strongly recommend them to all those afflicted with these nasty troubles. I assure you that my own case was a bad one, causing me untold embarrassment, and Carter's helped me right from the start."

Bad breath comes from sour stomach and can usually be relieved quickly by Carter's Little Liver Pills.

They are wonderful for constipation, sick headache and indigestion and they physic the system in a mild and gentle manner, no bad after effects.

Recommended and for sale by all drug stores.

Liquor Manufacture in Canada

Canada's output of hard liquor continues to increase. In the fiscal year 1924, 4,411,896 proof gallons of spirits were actually manufactured in Canadian distilleries, compared with 3,828,879 in 1923.

MAKE CARE OF BABIES EASIER

Stomach disturbances and constipation are responsible for much of the peevishness of babies and young children. When the baby is cross or irritable the mother should not resort to so-called soothing mixtures to correct the trouble for in the majority of cases these mixtures simply drug the child into an unnatural sleep. What is needed is a gentle laxative that will sweeten the stomach and regulate the bowels. Such a remedy is found in Baby's Own Tablets. They are easy to take and are guaranteed to be entirely free from opiates and narcotics. Concerning them, Mrs. Jos. Tousaignant, Ste. Sophie, Que., writes:—"I would like all mothers to know that I feel there is no other medicine to equal Baby's Own Tablets. I always keep a box in the house and their prompt use never fails to restore my little ones to health." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

"A Babe in the House Is a Well-Spring of Pleasure"

—Evans Studio

Mrs. Carrie Peckham of 837 Van St., London, Ont., says: "I took Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription during my last expectancy to keep up my strength. I had no sick stomach, nor any other distressing ailment such as usually come to the prospective mother, and my baby has been just as fine and well as can be. He is now eight months old and has never known a sick day. I would never hesitate to recommend Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription as a tonic and nervine in young motherhood, for I know that it helps in many ways, both the mother and the child."

Get this "Prescription" from your neighborhood druggist, in either liquid or tablet form, and write Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for free, confidential medical advice. Send 10 cents to Dr. Pierce's Laboratory, Bridgeburg, Ont., if you wish a trial package of tablets.

ECLIPSE FASHIONS
Exclusive Patterns
by F. Cecil Boyne

A Variation of the Straight-line Frock

The silhouette still follows straight and slender lines, but much fullness is often added at the lower portion of the skirt by means of the circular flounce. A smart combination of materials is achieved by using a white and black printed silk for the main portion of the dress, and soft black satin for the collar, circular flounce and loosely knotted string ties. The model pictured, No. 1053, has short kimono sleeves with a seam on shoulder, and convertible collar. It is an unusually smart design for afternoon wear. Made in sizes 34 to 42 inches bust. As pictured, size 38 requires 3 yards 36 or 40-inch material for the upper part and 1½ yards for the flounce. If dress is made of one material, size 38 requires 4½ yards of 36 or 40-inch.

Some Nations Overtaxed

When Taxable Capacity Is Exceeded, Industry Will Suffer

There is such a thing as a nation exceeding its taxable capacity. Russia has done it. Industry there no longer exists in free form. What little does thrive is kept alive by artificial stimulants. Our own experience has demonstrated clearly that the taxable capacity of large incomes has been exceeded. Larger incomes and more of them in the class above $100,000, when the maximum surtax was 50 per cent., in addition to the normal rate, yielded less revenue than was paid by the same classes of incomes when the surtax rate was much lower. Nations used to perish because of political excesses. In the future, if the present trend continues, they may die through economic excesses.—Providence Journal.

New Industry For West

Mill Being Started to Manufacture Paper From Straw

Utilization of straw in the manufacture of paper is likely to add an important industry to Western Canada, and increase revenue from wheat fields according to W. R. Allan, president Union Bank of Canada, Winnipeg.

Work will be started, says Mr. Allan, on a mill which will turn out 50 tons of straw paper a day. He predicted that within 25 years straw will entirely take the place of pulpwood in the manufacture of paper. It is estimated that farmers will get 20 cents for straw with every bushel of wheat.

A Powerful Projectile

Armor Piercing Shell Perfected For the British Navy

An armor piercing shell has been perfected for the British navy. Its mighty power to crash its way through the protective armor of battleships would have been thought impossible a few years ago, according to Sir Robert Hadfield, whose firm has perfected the shell. The shell is for 16-inch guns.

Sir Robert said he was not at liberty to disclose the tests applied to the projectile, but enigmatically remarked that "the dream of experts and metallurgists for years has come through."

Mrs. W. Simington and daughter, of Moosejaw, Sask., were visitors with the former's sister, Mrs. F. H. Jackson, a few days the fore part of the week, en route to the coast for a short holiday.

W. J. E. Biker, water rights branch engineer, of Nelson, with his assistant, Mr. Evans, were here a couple of days at the end of the week, making observations of the water situation on the flats on both the Idaho and B.C. sides.

The ice cream social under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid of the United Church on Thursday night last on the parsonage grounds was splendidly attended, the intake from the sale of refreshments running to almost $35.

The weather continues dry and very hot, Saturday being one of the warmest days ever recorded, the mercury hitting 96 in the shade in the early afternoon. Rain is badly needed to keep the vegetable crops coming right.

Miss Frances Lyne, who is combining the university course in nursing with practical work in that line at the General Hospital, Vancouver, arrived home on Wednesday, for a vacation with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. H. Lyne.

Mr. and Mrs. S. A. Speers and family got away on Sunday on a two weeks' motor trip on which they will visit Lethbridge, Medicide Hat and Calgary, Alberta, making the return trip via Banff and the Windermere country.

Miss Helen Eddy arrived from Vancouver at the first of the week to take charge of the bookkeeping at the Creston Drug & Book Store. In future Mr. Kelly will always be out in front devoting his entire time to the selling end of the business.

Members of the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association and the L.O.L., who attended service at the United Church in a body on Sunday night, along with the usual congregation, taxed every foot of available seating space in the edifice to capacity. Rev. Mr. Herdman was in charge of the service, and in his carefully prepared address sketched the principles for which both the societies stand. The choir rendered special selections, including a solo by J. Young.

That Creston Valley Northern Spies from trees of a few years' bearing have the flavor and keeping qualities of the old-time eastern favorite of this variety was demonstrated last week when some of the 1924 Spies from the W. S. McAlpine ranch were sampled on the 11th. In taste and appearance they could not be excelled and were sound enough to be exposed for a week for retail selling and still be fine Spies, and they had been kept in very ordinary cellar storage at the ranch.
