Institute Flower Show Best Held

Although the terrific heat that prevailed on Saturday kept down the attendance at the annual flower show of Creston Women's Institute the show of blooms was fully up to the standard of other years years both in quantity and quality while the profusion of flowers and greenery deftly handled for hall decoration gave the building such an attractive appearance that the first expression heard from those entering was the splendid look of the hall. Lister

BIRTH—On June 18th, to Mr. and Mrs. W. K. Beard, a daughter.

W. Mitchell, sr., who is just getting over a severe attack of the flu, is a visitor from Kellogg, Idaho, at his home here, and expects to remain for about a month.

Miss Clark, of the nursing staff at the Cranbrook hospital, is spending a short vacation here, the guest of Miss Ruby Lister.

Rev. J. Herdman took his first service in the Lister United Church on Sunday morning, and was greeted by with a representative turnout. Until the second minister arrives on the circuit he hopes to be paying Lister fortnightly visits.

Mr. and Mrs. Niblow and family are moving this week to their new home at Canyon City, where he has purchased a ranch.

A. P. Lye, who is working at Kimberley, was home for a few days, arriving on Thursday and returning on Tuesday.

Mr. Willis of Kimberley was a visitor for a few days at the end of the week, a guest of Col. and Mrs. Lister.

The school attendance is rather slim this week, due to the absence of eight pupils at Creston writing on departmental examinations. Those taking the high school tests are Frances Malthouse, Jane Huscroft, Alec. Mitchell and Elmer Huscroft. The Entrance candidates are Dorothy Niblow, Flossie Evans, Jack Jory and Doris Millington.

Friday afternoon last at the Lister school was largely given over to a social session at which there was a programme, presentation and refreshments. The entertainment features were given by the scholars, who during proceedings presented the teacher, Miss Rose Cherrington, with a suitably worded address and several pieces of French ivory, in appreciation of her services as principal since the first of the year, the address being read by Elmer Huscroft. A lunch was served at the close and the affair was very much enjoyed by all.

Kitchener

Alice Molander and Ellen Andeen are at Creston this week, where they are writing on the high school entrance examinations, which last until Friday night.

Mrs. Bush and her two sons are away at present on a visit with relatives and friends at United States points.

Mrs. Devlin, who has been away on quite an extended visit east, arrived home a few days ago, accompanied by her son, Clarence, who has been a prairie visitor for some time past.

C. R. Paulson and young son arrived in from Spokane at the end of the week. Preparations are about completed for operations to resume early next week.

E. LaPage, who has been employed with Mr. Geroux on a logging contract near Nelson, is here for a few days, being off work with a cut ankle.

The Baseball Club dance in Hunt's hall on Saturday night was fairly well attended, but it did not change the team's luck as they were beaten again by Creston on Sunday afternoon, by an 8 to 6 score.

Mr. Neelands and an associate arrived a few days ago from Idaho, and have gone up to join the other men who are working at the Leadville mine.

Building operations in the residential line are unusually active this year. Mr. Molander's new residence is about ready for occupancy, and the new cottage home of E. Driffill on Kitchener Heights is well along toward completion. Mr. Devlin is having an addition put to his house, and a back verandah has just been added to the residence of E. McGonegal.

Alice Siding

Alice Siding claims the first of the season record for raspberry shipping this year, the Trevelyan ranch having a crate of them for Creston Valley Produce Company on Sunday.

Mrs. W. T. H. Smith of Porthill has returned home after a short visit with her daughter, Mrs. Dick Smith.

Mrs. W. Payne got back on Sunday from a few weeks' visit with old friends at Mountain View, Alberta.

Frank Simister is busy at present with the erection of an addition to his ranch home here.

The newlyweds, Mr. and Mrs. W. Kelly, left on the 13th for their future home at Elko, where the groom is in charge of a farm.

Miss Ruth Compton is again holding down the position of assistant accountant with the Creston Co-Operative Fruit Exchange, starting work with the rush of the berry season.

John Johnson of Wynndel, who is field boss for the Reed & Mather strawberry harvest, is easily the busiest man in the district with a staff of about 35 pickers and eight packers to supervise. The crop this year should run to 2000 crates, with the biggest day so far on Sunday, when 165 crates were loaded.

E. Ostrenski had the misfortune to lose his hay shed, which was full of hay, by fire about 8.30 Sunday evening. The fire caught from a smudge which was being carried by his young son, Charles, and with help scarce and the fire burning fast the fire got such a good start that when help arrived little could be done to save anything but the surrounding buildings. Mr. Ostrenski wishes to express his appreciation of the good work done by the neighbors and friends in saving his house and other outbuildings.

Corp. A. E. Smith Likes Wembley

The many friends of Corp. A. E. Smith, who was lately in charge of the Creston post of the R.C.M.P., but now on duty at the British Empire Exhibition, will be glad to hear that Mrs. Smith and the two children, Inez and Colin, have reached England safeley, and have taken apartments near London.

Writing to a Creston friend Corp. Smith tells of a most interesting visit he had at the Canadian Pavillion with "Colonel" Edmonds, who served in the Northwest Rebellion with the same detachment of red coats as Yardmaster Loasby of Sirdar, and tells of the stirring times at Fort Pitt, Duck Lake and other points where the indians gave the Canadian troops plenty of rifle practice in the Reil uprising of 1885.

An interesting feature of the exhibition on June 1st was the exhibition of life size statue of the Prince of Wales made of Canadian butter in which he represented a chief of the Stony Indians. Corp. Smith was on duty at the Canadian building that day and estimates that not less than 15,000 people had a look at the future king that day.

On another occasion Corp. Smith states "Insp. Hill and six of us stood beside the Royal Dais on the opening day of the Exhibition, in the Stadium. We were only about five yards away from the King and Queen. It was a glorious sight. There were about 111,000 present. The massed bands of the Guards, Air Force, Marines, etc., played together, and the music could not have been beaten.

"Old London seems just the same as it did when I left it twelve years ago, only the people around Wembley are all out to make money, in fact one gets disgusted with them. The Mounties who are over here this year are a little older than the previous draft, and they are making a great hit, and trying to keep up the reputation of the old force. So far we have escorted the Queen, the Duke and Duchess of York and several others of the Royal Family through the Canadian Pavilion, which I must say looks fine. Everyone says it is the best in the Exhibition and I must say I thoroughly agree.

Sirdar

Mesdames Brawn, Loasby and Dennes were at Creston on Saturday, where they attended the annual Women's Institute flower show at the Parish Hall. They state that the show of blooms and the general appearance of the building was wonderfully attractive.

The church service scheduled for last Sunday evening had to be cancelled. The mosquito season is at its height and as the pests are worse than ever this year worship was out of the question.

Jas. Mannerino, who has been at Nelson hospital for ten days due to an injury to his knee, got home at the first of the week, navigating on crutches, which he will have to use for a few weeks to give the injury a chance to recover.

Mr. and Mrs. R. Heap, who have been here on an extended visit, left for their home in Coalhurst, Alberta, at the end of the week.

Mr. Walthers and children, along with Mr. and Mrs. Loasby, were motor visitors to Creston on Monday.

Cabbage is another unusually early shipper, Clements & Young supplying Creston Valley Produce Company with a 100 pound crate of it for shipping on Monday, some of the heads weighing five pounds.

Mrs. F. V. Staples returned on Saturday from a week's visit with Fernie and Cranbrook friends.

L. T. Leveque got back on Monday from Vancouver where he has been the past few weeks under medical treatment, but is not yet enjoying his former day health.

The residential property of the late M. McDougall, on which tenders were called some weeks ago, has been sold to F. W. Speaker, who is occupying the property.

Frank Tompkins is the latest Ericsonite to adopt the auto for transtation. He took delivery of a 1925 Chevrolet from the Lidgate garage at Creston last week.

Five pupils from Erickson school are at Creston this week writing on the Entrance examination papers. They are Florence Craigie, Molly Kemp, Edward Martin, Beaulah and Stewart Penson.

Miss Richter, teacher of Division II. of Erickson school, was agreeably surprised on Saturday afternoon when she found herself the guest of honor at a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. Geo. Cartwright, about forty of her Erickson friends foregathering that afternoon to present her with a variety of gifts more particularly adapted for housekeeping in view of her marriage to a well known Kimberley resident early this fall. Varied amusements were the order of the occasion, along with refreshment, the affair being much enjoyed by all the guests.

Canyon City

Will Lush, who has been staying with Mr. and Mrs. Knott for some months past, has gone to Cranbrook, where he is working in a dairy in that town.

Canyon and Erickson schools will have joint closing exercises at Erickson today. A varied programme has been arranged for both morning and afternoon, with a picnic style lunch at noon.

Jim Bateman is having a visit of a few weeks from his brother, who arrived a few days ago from Lethbridge, Alberta.

The United Church was inaugurated at Canyon on Sunday afternoon, when Rev. Mr. Herdman took the service here, after being at Lister in the morning. As a speaker and in meeting the people he made a very favorable impression.

Gordon Vance has got into the auto-owning class, taking delivery of a Ford touring car last week from the Bevan garage at Creston.

Six pupils from Canyon school are at Creston this week writing on the Entrance to high school examinations at that point. They are Helen McRobb, Mary Nouguier, Thelma Vance, Ruth Clayton, Harry VanAckeran and Ted Clark.

The Ladies' Community Club are having a dance and ice cream social at the schoolhouse tonight, June 26th, to which all are invited.

The vetch, which is grown for a cover crop in Canyon orchards is showing a remarkable growth for this time of year, some of it having already attained eight feet in length.

The strawberry shipping season is at its peak this week, and the crop will all be pretty well shipped within the next ten days. The yield this year is about the best in Canyon's history, and prices are equally satisfactory.

Alf. Nelson of the Creston Valley Produce Company, was a business visitor at Cranbrook and Kimberley at the first of the week, and will likely open a retail fruit business at the latter place.

Canada's Child Immigrants

The tide of immigration is again flowing Canadawards and prospects are that the number of incoming settlers this year will be in excess of those for any year since the outbreak of the war. It is also fairly evident that much greater care is being taken in the selection of immigrants by officers of the Department of Immigration and Colonization overseas than was formerly the case, with the result that there is a fairer chance of those actually arriving in this country making a success of their venture.

Better machinery for the placing of settlers from the British Isles and assisting them in making a real start has been created under the arrangements arrived at between the Canadian and British Governments through the medium of the Overseas Settlement Committee. There is reasonable hope, therefore, that while there may be an increase in numbers, there will be a still more striking improvement in the quality of our new settlers and in the probabilities of their success in Canada.

Especially satisfactory is the increased interest being taken both in Great Britain and in Canada in the subject of child migration and settlement in this Dominion. Last year a delegation was appointed by the British Government, on the request of the Canadian Government, to visit Canada and obtain first-hand information on this very important aspect of immigration, which delegation has made an instructive and constructive report. At the same time the Committee of the Social Service Council of Canada on Immigration and Colonization concentrated its attention last year upon the question of child and juvenile immigration, and it, too, has made a comprehensive report on the subject.

Unquestionably there is much to be said both for and against child immigration, although it is probably much easier to advance objections than it is to cite cogent reasons in support of such immigration, but the conclusions reached by both the investigating bodies above referred to appear to favor such immigration within reasonable limits, providing necessary care is taken in the matter of selection of these young immigrants, and proper supervision undertaken after their arrival in Canada, first in the matter of placement in foster homes or as apprentices, and later that they are protected and assisted until well established in Canada.

In support of child immigration there is the definite conclusion of the British delegation that the prospects for these boys and girls in Canada are better than they would have been had they remained in the United Kingdom. There is the further fact that Canada needs population, and that it is the desire of most Canadians that a preponderating number of immigrants should be of British birth. Then there is the argument that these children will more easily become adapted to Canadian ways and more readily absorbed into the life of the community than would be the case with those more advanced in years.

On the other hand it is urged that as many of these children are "Poor Law Children" who have become charges of Boards of Guardians through poverty or other failure of the home, or who have been committed to industrial schools for offences, or are orphans or "under-privileged" children whose homes are unsatisfactory for one cause or another, they constitute a real menace to Canada as future citizens and the parents of Canadian-born children.

The responsibility for final approval of children to be emigrated to Canada rests, however, with the Canadian Government officials in England who have it in their power to reject any child recommended for emigration. It follows, therefore, that if proper inspection and examination takes place and close inquiry made into the antecedents of each child, much of the danger to be apprehended from the above causes can be avoided.

Both the British and Canadian investigating bodies are unanimous in recommending against the immigration of very young children and they are agreed that only boys and girls who have reached the school-leaving age should be allowed to emigrate, except, of course, those who are accompanying their parents.

It is likewise the opinion of the Canadian investigating committee that after these children reach the age of eighteen, and are then discharged from their apprenticeship, it is still necessary that some plan of supervision, protection and helpful assistance be provided by the Department of Immigration if they are not to fall by the wayside instead of becoming happy and successful citiezns, an asset rather than a liability to the Dominion.

Real Enterprises Will Have Plenty of Investors

"English visitors are sensible people and are unlikely to visit upon genuine Canadian enterprises their legitimate grievances in connection with Grand Trunk matters."

This is the remark of the Financial Times, in connection with statements regarding Canadian mines, made by Dr. McIntosh Bell, just before his departure for Canada, which have been largely used in the British financial press. Bell and his colleagues have an enviable reputation for energetic development by straight and fair financial methods.

In the course of an interview Dr. Bell gave a satisfactory account of the Keeley and Vipond developments in Ontario. He denied that Vipond had been acquiring neighboring property.

BLEMISHES OF THE SKIN

Are Proof the Blood is in a Weak and Watery Condition

One of the surest signs that the blood is out of order are the pimples and unsightly eruptions that break out on the face or body. The same condition is indicated by an attack of eczema of scrofula. You cannot get rid of these troubles by the use of purgative medicines, as so many people try to do. Purgatives merely gallop through the system and leave it still weaker. What is needed when the blood is shown to be out of order is a tonic which will restore its missing elements and leave the blood rich and red. For this purpose there is no other tonic can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, every dose of which helps enrich the blood, drives out impurities, and brings a new feeling of health and energy. Mrs. R. E. Bishop, Hawthorne, Ave., Hamilton, Ont., tells for the benefit of others what these pills did for her. She says:—"I was suffering terribly from Scrofula. I doctored with several doctors, but without success. My complexion was sallow, I had no strength, feeling very weak and languid. My neck was full of lumps called scrofula, and at times they were very painful. After trying several so-called blood medicines, Dr. Williams' Pink Pills were recommended to me and I got half a dozen boxes. After taking them I found a decided improvement in my appearance, and to my joy the lumps were disappearing from my neck. I persevered in the treatment, and finally the only sign left of the trouble was a scar on my neck where one of the swellings broke. Since that time I have been in robust health and heartily recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to any suffering from impure blood."

You can get these pills through any medicine dealer or by mail at 50 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Asthma Cannot Last when the greatest of all asthma specifics is used. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy assuredly deserves this exalted title. It has to its credit thousands of cases which other preparations had failed to benefit. It brings help to even the most severe cases and brings the patient to a condition of blessed relief. Surely suffering from asthma is needless when a remedy like this is so easily secured.

British Families Welcomed

Women in Different Communities Had Houses in Order

The 39 British families, which arrived in Halifax, March 29, have been received in the various communities in which they have settled, with genuine cordiality, according to reports being made to Hon. J. A. Robb, minister of immigration. Officers of the land settlement branch of the department have directed the new arrivals to their homes, and in each community women of the neighborhood have set the houses in order, and in some cases even supplied the larder with immediate necessities.

Field Marshal Haig's Visit

Proposal is Made to Change Date of Arrival at Ottawa

A change in the date of the visit to Canada of Field Marshal Haig is proposed in a cablegram received by the Dominion command, G.W.V.A., from the London headquarters of the British Empire Service League. With the previous arrangements it was found that the governor-general, Lord Byng, could not be at Ottawa for the official welcome, so it is now proposed to advance the date of Haig's arrival to Sunday, June 28, instead of July 19, so that His Excellency may be present.

Under the new arrangement, the conference of the British Empire Service League will open in Ottawa on June 29, continuing for three days, after which the field marshal and Countess Haig, their daughter, Lady Alexandria, and party will make a brief tour of Canada, going west to Winnipeg.

London Living Space Crowded

Compressed Furniture and Bunks Installed in Newest Flats

The demand for living space in London is so acute that bunks, one above the other similar to those aboard ships which fold up out of sight when not in use, have been installed in some of the newest flats in the crowded City of London, where inches have to be taken into consideration whenever any building is being done.

Another innovation in the compressed furniture line is a "six-in-one" contrivance which includes a folding bed, washstand, chest of drawers, mirror, shoe rack, and space to place the bedding when the bed is not made up.

Great Britain, France and Italy are watching the Moslem drama. It may have vital consequences to all of them and to every white power with a foothold in Africa or Asia. Not that there is any danger of a holy war. Islam's internal wars must end and its ranks close before the green flag of the prophet becomes a menace. The continuing Islamic ferment, however, is not making the "white man's burden" any lighter, and at any time may take an ominous turn for the western world.—Philadelphia Ledger.

The holy carpet will not be sent from Cairo to Mecca this year, the Egyptian Government has decided owing to the condition prevailing in the Hedjaz. The carpet is retained for only one year, a new one being made to replace it. The old one is cut up and sold to pilgrims.

A Free Lance Investigator Is Warm In His Praise Of Conditions In Canada

After nine months' travel and observation in both the urban and rural areas of Canada, S. Frank Mussared, of the South African Irrigation Association, Johannesburg, is "perfectly satisfied of the possibilities Canada has to offer the right type of settler." In a recent letter to Hon. James A. Robb, minister of immigration and colonization, Mr. Mussared wrote the following unsolicited testimonial:

"I have the honor to advise you that I have just completed an agricultural tour of Canada from Quebec to Victoria, B.C., from June, 1924, to March, 1925.

"Landing as an ordinary immigrant in Quebec, I have made a detailed study of agricultural conditions in Sherbrooke, Toronto, Northern Ontario, Hamilton, Niagara, Guelph, Kitchener, Winnipeg, South Saskatchewan, Calgary, Vancouver, Okanagan, Fraser Valley and Victoria, B.C. My investigations have been entirely those of a 'free lance,' but with the backing of agricultural experience in Scotland, Africa and Australia.

"I may say I landed in Quebec, coldly critical of a country of whose colonization schemes I had heard such varied criticism, and after nine months strenuous work in urban and rural areas, entirely on my own initiative, I conclude my tour warmly enthusiastic, and perfectly satisfied of the possibilities Canada has to offer the right type of settler.

"As a free lance investigator, I am prompted to write these few words, solely by the large amount of adverse criticism of your country which has appeared in the Old Country press. I may say that criticism of Canada, after a tour of Canada in a C.P.R. tourist train, is futile in the extreme; nothing would have given me greater pleasure than to have refuted the criticism on a public platform, of the pseudo-colonization experts of the English press. In closing I should like to pay a tribute to the efficiency of your rank and file in the colonization department."

Selected Immigrants

Regulations For Settlement of 3,000 Immigrants Under Empire Settlement Act

Regulations for the settlement of the three thousand selected immigrants who are being brought to Canada under the Empire Settlement Act have been made public. They provide for the setting aside of land for the new settlers, the allocation of the lands to the immigrants at a price to be fixed by the independent advisory settlement committee for the district in which the farms are situated, and that all buildings on hand for soldier settlers shall be placed in good repair in order to leave the farms ready for immediate occupation.

The regulations set forth that the total advances of all descriptions to any immigrant, including the value of the land and the British advances, shall not exceed $7,500 in the case of any one settler. The advances to settlers are to be paid in 25 equal annual payments, and the first instalment is due twelve months after the October following the date of his taking the land. The rate of interest charged shall not exceed five per cent.

Will Raise Sugar Beets

Experiment to be Made in the Brandon District

Generous support and encouragement will be given farmers in the Brandon district who will undertake to grow sugar beets in an experimental way during the coming season. The Brandon board of trade and horticultural society and, in fact, every other organization, will do all that is possible in this direction. The prospect of the establishment of a sugar beet factory in Manitoba was proven a great impetus to residents who are desirous of promoting the industrial and commercial prosperity of the province. Seed is supplied free. It is strongly hoped that the experiment will prove a success.

The Case For the Road

Amply Sufficient Reasons for the Completion of Northern Route to Tidewater

The foundation upon which the agitation for the Bay road should now rest is that it has been promised by the men of Canada, whose promises were supposed to be good; it has been paid for by money raised from the sale of land in the territory which the road will ultimately serve; the weight of opinion is that the route is feasible; the amount required to put the route to a reasonable test by completing the line and providing comparatively meagre terminals is inconsiderable compared to the amount already spent, which will be irretrievably lost if the road is not proceeded with. These considerations are amply sufficient to warrant the completion of the road. It isn't necessary to accept possibilities as facts; it is not necessary to treat opponents as fools; it is not necessary to exalt dreams into legitimate expectations; it is necessary that the road should be built.—Western Producer.

Potatoes Replace Wheat

Economies in Germany Lessens Consumption of Wheat Products

Farmers the world over are facing the most serious crisis in the history of economics, Frederick Hagedorn, secretary of state for agriculture for the German Government, said on his arrival in New York recently.

Europeans, he said, beset with the necessity of keeping down their expenses as a war aftermath, seem to be basing their personal economies on the amount of food they eat." He added: "This is particularly true of wheat. Wheat eaters are turninig into potato eaters."

Herr Hagedorn said that farmers were being squeezed between high costs of implements on one side and "amazing falling off of food consumption," on the other.

Herr Hagedorn is here with a commission of four German university experts on agriculture who will spend several months in the study of farming conditions in the United States.

Western Farmers Optimistic

Prairies Are Looking For Bumper Crop For Coming Year

"Prairie crop prophets are already comparing the present season with spring conditions preceding the bumper crop of 1915," said Charles Murphy, of Winnipeg, general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, western lines, on his arrival at Vancouver after an inspection trip through the prairie provinces and British Columbia.

"The usual optimistic feeling of Western Canadians is a little more pronounced this spring than usual," Mr. Murphy stated, who attributes this cheerfulness to these promising conditions on the land, and to the large amount of money which has been circulated as the result of the high prices received for last year's crop.

Sheep Registration

Reduced Rates Are Provided For Under Certain Conditions

At the last annual meeting of the Canadian Sheep Breeders' Association, the following amendment was made to to constitution, allowing recording at reduced rates to those who have not previously been recording in the Canadian National Livestock Records.

The amendment reads as follows: "That the fee for registration whole flocks which have been registered in American Flock Records recognized by the Canadian National Livestock Records, be 50 cents for each registration, regardless of age, providing such were registered in the American Flock Record prior to January 1st, 1925. This privilege expires January 1st, 1926."

Canada's Flour Exports

Canadian flour exports for the year 1924 aggregated 11,447,806 barrels, according to a report issued by the department of trade and commerce. This compares with annual exports of around 4,500,000 barrels twelve years ago, and compares with slightly more than 10,000,000 barrels in 1923.

Finding "Run" Direction of Salmon

Thousands Will Be Tagged Before They Are Released

Thousands of baby salmon, when they start life's cruise, in future will carry identification tags for the benefit of science. Small metal discs will be attached to their tails, it was decided at a recent conference of Canadian and United States fishery experts held at Seattle.

British Columbia, Alaska, Washington, California and Oregon hatcheries will each place tags on 10,000 or 15,000 little fishes before their release to seek their fortune in the ocean.

The object is to ascertain where they go and in this way determine the direction or "run" of the salmon. The experiment was tried successfully in Alaska, and some of the salmon with identification tags were found in the runs along the British Columbia coast, and one was caught among fish going up a river in Siberia.

Boost Alberta Pools

Will Launch Concentrated Campaign to Secure Membership

Plans for a vigorous and concentrated campaign to secure memberships among the farmers of Alberta, for the dairy, livestock and poultry pools now in process of organization, were formulated at a series of meetings held in Edmonton.

The dates for this drive have been set for the period from June 8 to 28 next, and the whole province will be covered by the campaign to secure signatures to the contracts for these new co-operative marketing pools.

Corn Has Taken Its Place Definitely As An Established Fodder Crop In The West

Secure Government Aid

Agricultural Committee of Alberta Legislature Passes $15,000 in Form Of Loan

Assistance to the Alberta egg, livestock and dairy pools to the extent of $15,000 in form of a loan to cover organization expenses, was approved by the agricultural committee of the Alberta legislature.

Dr. H. M. Tory, president of the University of Alberta discussed at some length the question of rural credits, advocating as a result of his investigations a system whereby the Dominion Government will purchase provincial securities, the funds to be distributed through local boards and credits associations in whose hands the making and controlling of the individual loan would be entrusted.

He pointed out that it costs more to establish a man in the agricultural industry than in most professions or other industries, and some means of obtaining more easily available credit was absolutely necessary. He also contended that there must be a restoration of confidence between the land owners and the borrowers.

Mr. Tory definitely stated that money at from 7 to 10 per cent. was too high a rate for the farmer, and probably the best way of improving this condition would be through a joint provincial and Dominion farm loan scheme.

Canada's Dairy Production

Twelve Billion Pounds of Milk is Used Annually in Dairy Produce

Canada's annual dairy production approximates between $235,000,000 and $240,000,000, according to a statement made by Dr. J. A. Reddick, Dominion dairy commisisoner. In 1923, the last year for which complete returns are available, the total production in various lines in Canada was as follows: Cheese, 151 million pounds; creamery butter, 162 million pounds; dairy butter, 100 million pounds; whey butter, 1 million pounds; condensed milk, 27 million pounds; besides milk powders, etc., and 5,600,000 gallons of ice cream. The total quantity of milk required for all these products reaches the stupendous figures of nearly 12,000,000,000 pounds.

Considered Herself Royalty's Equal

Mrs. Nicholas Longworth probably was the only woman commoner who did not curtsy when presented to King Edward. This was under the misapprehension that those of royal rank did not curtsy, and as daughter of the president of U.S.A., she considered herself the equal of royalty.

Some considerable surprise was expressed when at the 1924 International Hay and Grain Show at Chicago, in Region No. 1, which includes all the Northern States and Canada, the Dominion secured, through growers from the province of Ontario, the sweepstakes for ten ears of White Dent Corn, and in all twelve out of fourteen prizes, the first eleven and fourteenth. It was a new indication of the possibilities of Canada in corn production and effective refutation of the assertion made years ago that the limit of the corn belt stopped far short of the international border.

Similarly, Western Canada has been making marked progress in the production of fodder corn. This has, in fact, been the outstanding feature of the agriculture of this region in the past few years, having an intimate connection with the remarkable progress achieved in butter production and the dairy industry generally. Corn has taken its place definitely as an established fodder crop in Western Canada and every year goes further to confirm this.

In the year 1924, according to the preliminary return of the Federal Government, the three prairie provinces of Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta had a total of 215,303 acres devoted to corn growing, this being divided respectively 60,716 acres, 87,115 acres and 67,472 acres. The average production per acre was 5.73 tons in Manitoba, 3.18 tons in Saskatchewan and 2.92 tons in Alberta. The respective totals were 345,000 tons, 227,000 tons, and 197,000 tons, making an aggregate of 769,000 tons. Sold at figures of $6.00, $4.00 and $5.00 per ton, the aggregate value of the corn crop of the prairie provinces is estimated to have been $4,163,000.

These figures well illustrate the growing interest in corn production in Western Canada and the adaptability of that area to the crop. Compared with 1923 figures there is an increase of 45 per cent. in the acreage under corn, though owing to smaller average yields in 1924 there was a decline in total production of some 1.6 per cent. Higher prices prevailing, however, brought the value up some 21 per cent. Since the year 1915 the corn acreage of the prairie Provinces has increased by some 2,017 per cent. and the production by some 1,150 per cent.

Fodder corn shows a consistently high yield in the prairie provinces. The yield averages for the past five-year period, 1917 to 1921, were: Manitoba, 5.85 tons; Saskatchewan, 6.85 tons; and Alberta, 5.70 tons. Average production per acre, as indicated in the year in which the last U.S. census was taken, in Minnesota was 2.2 tons; in Iowa, 2.5 tons; in North Dakota, 2.2 tons; in South Dakota, 1.6 tons; in Nebraska, 1.6 tons; in Montana, .5 tons; and in Wisconsin, 1.6 tons.

An Era of Development

Forsees Great Expansion of Industry In Next 20 Years

"I believe the next wenty years will see the greatest expansion and the greatest accomplishment American industry has even known," said Charles M. Schwab, chairman of the board of the Bethlehem Steel Corporation, in a speech before the annual meeting of the New York building congress.

Co-operation between competitors in industry and Democratic relations between employer and working men were points on which the speaker dwelt. He prided himself that in his long career, in which he had handled hundreds of thousands of working men, he had never had a strike.

CRESTON, B.C., FRIDAY, JUNE 26

Fire Brigades

A Review reader, who was in the Valley sometime before the laying of steel, informs us that we are misinforming the public when we claim that the 1925 brigade is the first lot of fire fighters the town ever had.

According to documentary evidence produced for our inspection Creston had quite an effective fire handling organization as far back as 1899, which had fourteen men enrolled, and was under the direction of C. W. Grain.

The equipment consisted of three tanks, which were erected at different parts of the town which, at that time, was all on the lower side of the track. On each tank was a crosscut saw, three axes a ladder, and a dozen pails, each of the firemen having either a pail or an axe that it was his duty to handle in case of a conflagration. The alarm was given on the iron triangle which has, apparantly, continued in use to the present day, and it still hangs on the post opposite the former Speers' store.

Further protective service was given by the activity of a chimney inspector, which work was in charge of R. Sinclair Smith, who was most efficient in seeing to it that where stovepipe chimneys were used that these were so placed as to give the maximum protection against fire. A weed inspector also functioned over a quarter century ago in the then village area.

The roll of members of the first ever brigade shows the names of R. S. Bevan, W. H. Crawford, R. J. Long and Major Mallandaine still resident at Creston, and the former a member of the recently organized fire fighting organization.

Benefits of Incorporation

Although village incorporation has been effective less than a year improvements already conferred by self-government (with no increase in taxes) have surely convinced those who last year opposed municipilization that the management of local affairs by our own elected representatives is the only business like way of getting what the village wants somewhere about the time it wants it.

Perhaps the most effective demonstration of this is the putting down of new sidewalks particularly on Canyon street from opposite the C.P.R. crossing to the Presbyterian corner. For at least four years every effort was made to have the yublic works officials replace the dangerous old walk, and although in that time almost $12,000.00 was taken out of the village in taxes, poor makeshift repairs was the best that could be had. Today pedestrians can negotiate the street as comfortably and safely as they would the board walk at Atlantic City—and this is but a sample of the good work that will be done all over town.

The newly organized and not-too-badly equipped fire brigade is a departure that brings equal satisfaction, and if the brigade can do as well in responding to all alarms as they did at the test on Monday of last week, the chemical engine alone will give villagers a service (if necessary) that would never have been available had incorporation been deferred.

The enforcement of the by-law prohibiting livestock running at large is another convenience local control has brought us, and while not altogether welcomed by out of town cattle owners is very thoroughly appreciated by those in the village who believe that gardens and lawns, particularly, do not depress the value of their homes—nor the feelings of visitors who occasionally look the village over.

In the ten months they have been administering affairs the commissioners have not been as spectacular as some would like, probably, neither have they made mistakes that invariably travel in company with too much speed. After many years of unorganized inactivity the slow but sure policy of the commissioners is quite welcome and practical, and here's hoping future activities will be as well and wisely chosen as those undertaken so far.

Drainage by Districts

The unusual activity this season of officials attached to the Dominion department of the interior in connection with installing water gauges and otherwise studying the flood situation on Kootenay Flats would look as if the board of trade's interview last fall in this matter with Priemier King, along with similar pressure that interested parties in northern Idaho have brought to bear on the authorities at Washington, has had some effect, and is on a fair way to securing for the reclamation boards of both countries at least the data or information requisite and necessary for each to figure out its true interests with this fertile area.

Whether this activity will produce anything definite, one way or the other, remains to be seen, but those who keep in touch with drainage developments are of the opinion that this latest drive will bring things to a head.

In Idaho some five drainage districts have been formed and have already reclaimed, or have state approved plans for draining in the neighborhood of 12,000 acres. Where the reclaimed land has been cropped the results have been so satisfactory that all the other Idaho owners of lands embraced in Kootenay Flats are demanding an opportunity to bring their holdings under similar cultivation, which is, of course, impossible, until the big reclamation scheme goes through, which probably explains the request for some action Washington has made on Ottawa and which in due course will assuredly be passed on from Ottawa to Victoria.

With something like 30,000 acres of land on its hands in the Sumas, Southern Okanagan, Merville and Lister areas, it must be admitted the provincial government has enough expensive acreage to dispose of just now without a further addition to its holdings of approximately 35,000 acres embraced in Kootenay Flats, so that if the latter area is to be developed reasonably soon it would look as if the lands department would be well advised in determining the price and terms on which it will part company with the flats to anyone who will undertake its reclamation.

Or if it cannot see its way clear to go this length there seems no reason why it should not sub divide likely portions of it to be formed into drainage districts, similar to the policy adopted in Idaho, and permit of anyone willing to take on such investment to reclaim any stated and well defined tract or tracts.

Our information is that in Idaho, where these drainage districts have been formed, no trouble has been encountered in securing funds for the work, this class of bonds or securities being in good demand—in Drainage District Number One the contractor took full payment for his work in the bonds issued by the district itself.

While the big scheme to reclaim the whole area is devoutly to be wished for, if this is out of the question for the present, and if capital (American or any other kind) can be found to carry on drainage by districts, it is to be hoped no dog in the manage policy, as it were, will be tolerated to prevent the opening up of sections of it—this district can stand the benefits that will accrue from such a development policy, and at this time the revenues the province would receive in taxes and otherwise would be entirely welcome.

On July 15th shareholders in the Trail smelter will be paid $320,875—the half-yearly dividend for 1922. Since its commencement the smelter has paid $8,102,670 in dividends.

SYNOPSIS OF LAND ACT AMENDMENTS

PRE-EMPTIONS

Vacant, unreserved, surveyed Crown lands may be pre-empted by British subjects over 18 years of age, and by aliens on declaring intention to become British subjects, conditional upon residence, occupation, and improvement for agricultural purposes.

Full information concerning regulations regarding pre-emptions is given in Bulletin No. 1, Land Series, "How to Pre-empt Land," copies of which can be obtained free of charge by addressing the Department of Lands, Victoria, B.C., or to any Government Agent.

Records will be granted covering only land suitable for agricultural purposes, and which is not timberland, i.e., carrying over 5,000 board feet per acre west of the Coast Range and 8,000 feet per acre east of that Range.

Applications for pre-emptions are to be addressed to the Land Commissioner of the Land Recording Division, in which the land applied for is situated, and are made on printed forms, copies of which can be obtained from the Land Commissioner.

Pre-emptions must be occupied for five years and improvements made to value of $10 per acre, including clearing and cultivating at least five acres, before a Crown Grant can be received.

For more detailed information see the Bulletin "How to Pre-empt Land."

PURCHASE

Applications are received for purchase of vacant and unreserved Crown lands, not being timberland for agricultural purposes; minimum price of first-class (arable) land is $5 per acre, and second-class (grazing) land $2.50 per acre. Further information regarding purchase or lease of Crown lands is given in Bulletin No. 10, Land Series, "Purchase and Lease of Crown Lands."

Mill, factory, or industrial sites on timber land, not exceeding 40 acres, may be purchased or leased, the conditions including payment of stumpage.

HOMESITE LEASES

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites, conditional upon a dwelling being erected in the first year, title being obtainable after residence and improvement conditions are fulfilled and land has been surveyed.

LEASES

For grazing and industrial purposes areas not exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or a company.

GRAZING

Under the Grazing Act the Province is divided into grazing districts and the range administered under a Grazing Commissioner. Annual grazing permits are issued based on numbers ranged, priority being given to established owners. Stock-owners may form associations for range management. Free, or partially free permits are available for settlers, campers and travellers, up to ten head.

Abram W. Conover of Portland Ore., is announced to give an illustrated lecture in Speers' Hall tonight, June 26th. His topic is "The relationship of the ruins of North and South America to the Book of Morman." The admission is free, and everybody invited.

Miss Lizzie Lewis arrived home a few days ago from Calgary, Alberta, where she has been attending business college for the past few months. Miss Ethel West who was at college with her, has received an appointment to the teaching staff of a similar school at Medicine Hat.

The prevailing hot weather is bringing along the strawberry crop at top speed and another ten days at the outside will see the end of shipping. Ideal moisture conditions have prevailed and the crop harvested is almost sure to be bigger than any early season estimates.

Mrs. Chas. Murrell and son, George, are leaving today on a visit to the old home in England, and will be away for at least three months. Mrs. Murrell was a guest of the Ladies' Guild at a tea at Mrs. F. Jackson's on Wednesday last at which she was presented with an Eversharp pencil.

Mrs. McCreath was an afternoon hostess at court whist on Friday, when four tables of players competed, the high score honors going to Mrs. Garland, while the consolation prize fell to Mrs. Bert Nelson. Refreshments were served and the affair was very much enjoyed by all present.

Work commenced on Monday at replacing some of the wornout sidewalks in the village, Canyon street west from the Chautauqua grounds receiving first consideration. The new walk is a wonderful improvement on the old state of affairs and good time is being made at putting it down.

The Valley is having the earliest raspberry season of recent years, crate shipments commencing on Sunday. W. K. Brown is the first villager to have them and some sample cups on display Monday indicate that for earliness Kuskanook takes second place, whilst for quality the fruit could hardly be surpassed.

Miss Grace Comfort, who has charge of the school at Johnson's Landing, is home for the summer vacation. Although her school enrollment is only ten pupils in the recent forestry department crossword puzzle contest four of the scholars annexed a second and three of the five third prizes in a competition in which almost a thousand school children competed.

The Borson Orchestra of Idaho made a decidedly favorable impression at the first appearance here at their dance in the Grand Theatre ballroom on Wednesday night. There was a large attendance and all speak in high praise of the music supplied by the four musicians. Misses Gladys Wood and Thelma West had charge of the catering, giving splendid satisfaction.

The young people very much enjoyed the dance in the Farish Hall on Wednesday night of last week, at which Miss Lyda Johnson was hostess. Excellent music was supplied by Mrs. Lister, assisted by Mrs. Carr, Miss Louise Bevan, with Alex. Lidgate on the drums. A tasty lunch was served at midnight, and going home time came all too quickly for the company of about forty guests.

Wynndel

Miss Ellen Johnson, who has been a guest of Miss O. Hagen, left on Monday for her home in Cranbrook.

J. O. Moore of Riondel is spending a few days at the home of his wife's parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. Hagen.

Co-Operative Fruit Growers Association made the biggest single day's shipping on Tuesday, when they had two straight carloads of berries, besides several hundred crates shipping l.c.l. Another car roled Wednesday, and two more on Thursday, making a total of ten cars to date.

H. S. McCreath of Creston has a truck here this season, hauling in berries for the Co Operative Fruit Growers Association, and is kept busy. The service is fully appreciated by the Association, who are able to get the berries in when wanted.

Buck Creek has three selling agencies disposing of this year's berry crop. Co-Operative Fruit Growers Association, managed by E. Uri; Mr. Sexsmith, looking after the customers of Creston Growers; T. E. Slingsby, who is shipping his own as well as the crop of a couple of neighbors. One or two growers are selling through Creston Valley Pronuce Company.

The Tennis Club had a very enjoyable dance in the old schoolhouse on Saturday evening, a large crowd being in attendance. Although it was the hottest day of the year and the mosquitoes a bit troublesome everyone had a good time.

Mrs. Dalbom was a surprise party guest of honor at her home on the evening of June 13th, when her daughter, Miss Barbara, entertained in her mother's honor at whist, with four tables of players competing and the high score prizes going to Miss G. Towson and Mr. Opel, while the consolation prizes fell to Mrs. Towson and Mr. Isaac. A tasty lunch was served after cards and then dancing was indulged in for a couple of hours, everyone reporting the best of good times.

A most unfortunate and fatal accident occurred here on Thursday last, causing the death of little Miss Doris, the four-year old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clem Payette. While in the act of putting some wood in the stove to keep the fire going for Mrs. Payette, who was absent berry picking, the sleeve of the child's dress caught fire. Her cries attracted immediate attention from her brother who drenched the unfortunate girl with a pail of water, but not before the clothing had been almost entirely burned, and the injuries from the burn and the shock from the water proved too much for her, death ensuing at an early hour on Sunday, despite the best of medical care by Dr. Burnett and the tenderest of nursing by the sorrowing mother. The funeral took place on Monday to Creston cemetery, the remains being taken on the the eastbound train and many citizens accompanying to pay a last tribute of respect. The last sad rites were conducted by Rev. J. Herdman, with Masters Lewis and Whitman Abbott, Andy Hagen and Manuel Irving as pallbearers. In their heavy bereavement Mr. and Mrs. Payette have the very genuine sympathy of a wide circle of friends, many of whom paid a last tribute of respect with floral remembrances, some of which were:

A Romance of the Spanish Main

CAPTAIN BLOOD

RAFAEL SABATINI

Copyrighted, 1922, by Rafael Sabatini

"CAPTAIN BLOOD," a Vitagraph picture with J. Warren Kerrigan in the title role, is an adaptation of this thrilling novel.

SYNOPSIS

Captain Peter Blood, buccaneer, in command of his ship, the Arabella, named after Arabella Bishop, with whom he is in love, engages two Spanish ships in battle and overwhelms them. After the fight he rescues Arabella and Lord Wade, an emissary sent to the West Indies by King James to make peace with piracy, and makes them his guests. The sight of Arabella stirs all his love for her, but he fears his career as a pirate has blasted all hopes of winning her love.

His lordship decided to seek additional information from Miss Bishop. For this he must wait until Pitt and Wolverstone should have withdrawn. He was hardly made to wait so long, for as Pitt rose from the table to follow Wolverstone, who had already departed, Miss Bishop detained him with a question:

"Mr. Pitt," she asked, "were you not one of those who escaped from Barbadoes with Captain Blood?"

"I was. I too, was one of your uncle's slaves."

"Did you ever sail with a Frenchman named Cahusac?"

"Cahusac?" Pitt laughed. The name evoked a ridiculous memory. "Aye. He was with us at Maracaybo."

"And another Frenchman named Levasseur?"

"Aye. Cahusac was Levasseur's lieutenant, until he died."

"Until he died?"

"Levasseur. He was killed on one of the Virgin Islands two years ago."

"Who killed him?"

"Captain Blood killed him."

"Why?"

"They quarreled," he said shortly.

"Was it about a . . . a lady?" Miss Bishop relentlessly pursued him.

"You might put it that way."

"What was the lady's name?"

"Miss d'Ogerón. She was the daughter of the Governor of Tortuga. She had gone off with this fellow Levasseur, and . . . and Peter delivered her out of his dirty clutches. He was a black-hearted scoundrel, and deserved what Peter gave him."

"I see. And . . . and yet Captain Blood has not married her?"

"Not yet," laughed Pitt, who knew the utter groundlessness of the common gossip in Tortuga which pronounced Mdlle. d'Ogeron the Captain's future wife. He paused in the doorway to impart a piece of information.

"Maybe it'll comfort you to know that the Captain has altered our course for your benefit. It's his intention to put you both ashore on the coast of Jamaica, as near Port Royal as we dare venture. We've gone about, and if this wind holds ye'll soon be home again, mistress."

He went out, leaving his lordship pensive, those dreamy blue eyes of his intently studying Miss Bishop's face for all their dreaminess; his mind increasingly uneasy.

"He amazes me, this man," said he, in his slow, languid voice that never seemed to change its level. "That he should alter his course for us is in itself matter for wonder; but that he should take a risk on our behalf—that he should venture into Jamaica waters . . . It amazes me, as I have said."

"What is still more amazing is that he does not hold us to ransom," said she at last.

"It's what you deserve."

"Oh, and why, if you please?"

"For speaking to him as you did."

"I usually call things by their names."

"Do you? Stab me! I shouldn't boast of it. It argues either extreme youth or extreme foolishness. So does the display of ingratitude."

A faint colour stirred in her cheeks. "It is news to me that ingratitude is a fault only to be found in the young and the foolish."

"I see. And—and yet Captain Blood has not married her."

"You are probably aware that he delivered us," said he. "And living as you have done in these savage places of the world, you can hardly fail to be aware of what is known even in England: that this fellow Blood strictly confines himself to making war upon the Spaniards. So that to call him thief and pirate as you did was to overstate the case against him at a time when it would have been more prudent to have understated it."

"Prudence?" Her voice was scornful. "What have I to do with prudence?"

"Nothing—as I perceive. But, at least, study generosity. I tell you frankly, ma'am, that in Blood's place I should never have been so nice. Sink me! To be sold into slavery! Uh!" His lordship shuddered. "And to a damned colonial planter!" He checked abruptly. "I beg your pardon, Miss Bishop. For the moment . . ."

"You were carried away by your heat in defence of this . . . sea robber." Miss Bishop's scorn was almost fierce.

His lordship stared at her again. Then he half-closed his large, pale eyes, and tilted his head a little. "I wonder why you hate him so," he said softly.

He saw the sudden scarlet flame upon her cheeks, the heavy frown that descended upon her brow. But there was no explosion.

"Hate him? Lord! What a thought! I don't regard the fellow at all."

"Then you should, ma'am." His lordship spoke his thought frankly. "He's worth regarding. He'd be an acquisition to the King's navy. A great man, Miss Bishop. A man worth regarding."

Miss Bishop was moved to sarcasm. "You should use your influence with my Lord Sunderland to have the King offer him a commission."

His lordship laughed softly. "Faith, it's done already. I have his commission in my pocket." And he increased her amazement by a brief exposition of the circumstances. In that amazement he left her, and went in quest of Blood.

He found the Captain pacing the quarter-deck. With the amiable familiarity he used, Lord Julian slipped an arm through one of the Captain's and fell into step beside him.

"What's this?" snapped Blood.

"I desire, sir, that we be friends."

"That's mighty condescending of you!"

Lord Julian ignored the obvious sarcasm.

"It's an odd coincidence that we should have been brought together in this fashion, considering that I came out to the Indies especially to seek you." And he proceeded to explain himself and his mission.

"Ye're my guest aboard this ship," said Captain Blood, "and I still have some notion of decent behavior left me from other days, thief and pirate though I may be. So I'll not be telling you what I think of you for daring to bring me this offer, or of my Lord Sunderland—since he's your kinsman—for having the impudence to send it. But it does not surprise me at all that one who is a minister of James Stuart's should conceive that every man is to be seduced by bribes into betraying those who trust him."

COULD NOT SLEEP NIGHTS

Pains and Headaches Relieved by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Dublin, Ontario.—"I was weak and irregular, with pains and headaches, and could not sleep nights. I learned about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound by reading the letters in the newspapers and tried it, because I wanted to get better. I have got good results from it as I feel a lot stronger and am not troubled with such bad headaches as I used to be and am more regular. I am gaining in weight all the time and I tell my friends what kind of medicine I am taking. You may use my letter as a help to others."—Mrs. JAMES RACHO, Box 12, Dublin, Ontario.

Halifax Nurse Recommends

Halifax, N. S.—"I am a maternity nurse and have recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to many women who were childless, also to women who need a good tonic. I have one which I keep to lend. I will willingly answer letters from any woman asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. S. M. COLEMAN, 24 Uniacke Street, Halifax, Nova Scotia.

Promise Prince Fine Time In South Africa

Nothing Too Good For Heir to British Throne

Predicting that the Prince would have a glorious time in South Africa, J. S. Smith, the new high commissioner, said it was for the Prince to decide whether he wanted to drive a team of 16 oxen or whether he wanted to assume charge of anything else his heart could desire within South Africa.

The Dutch farmers of Cape Colony, Smith said, were vieing with one another to provide the British heir with suitable horses for his use during the visit. Or, if the Prince cared to shoot lions, South Africa would provide plenty of them, or plenty of most anything in the wild animal line. If the Prince desired more feathers for his coat of arms, Commissioner Smith assured him South Africans could show their royal guests the best of their ostriches and invite him to select the choicest of their plumes.

Pet Lioness Put In Zoo

Animal Belonging to General Smuts Was Becoming Troublesome

General Smuts' lioness Sally, who is now twelve months old and well on the way to adolescence, has been condemned to the solitary confinement of a zoo cage at Pretoria.

Sally used to roam freely over General Smuts' farm, following the general like a faithful dog, but, startling his guests considerably.

Recently sheep, game and poultry had been disappearing mysteriously, but Sally always seemed innocently aloof. Her diminished appetite for her customary food, however, combined with her rapid growth, placed her under suspicion, and she was removed to the zoo.

Synthetic Wood Alcohol

Germans Make Motor Fuels From Water Gas

America's $100,000,000 wood alcohol distillation industry is threatened with extinction by German chemists, it was declared at the meeting of the American Chemical Society in Baltimore.

German are making synthetic methanol, formerly known as wood alcohol, from water gas, and are shipping it in such quantities, it was said, as to arouse fears that the American production of methanol from hardwood will be wiped out.

Another forward step of German science was described by Dr. Franz Fischer, director of the Kaiser Wilhelm Institute at Mulheim-Ruhr, who said that a process closely related to that by which synthetic methanol is produced is being employed to manufacture liquid motor fuels from water gas.
