The building was partly insured.

The visit of Mr. Kelly, the representative of the Victoria, Australia, government, at the King Edward hotel on Wednesday, resulted in numerous interviews and enquiries from Enderby people. Mr. Kelly reports an extraordinary interest displayed in the question of Australia, especially amongst the farmers of the prairie provinces.

DOUBLE WEDDING

A very pretty double wedding was solemnized in St. George's church, Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 17th, at 1:30 o'clock, the Rev. Mr. Seager, of Vancouver, officiating, and the Misses Warwick and Messrs. Williams and Hatcher the contracting parties.

The church was daintily decorated with flowers, and a number of friends were in attendance to witness the happy event. Mrs. Howard Mann officiated at the organ.

By this ceremony Miss Isabelle Helen Warwick became the wife of Mr. William Jeffreys Hatcher, and Miss Wilhelmena Mary Warwick the wife of Mr. Guy Lorne Williams.

Mr. Geo. Warwick gave the bride to Mr. Hatcher, who was supported by Mr. R. E. Wheeler, and Mr. Jack Warwick gave the bride to Mr. Williams who was supported by the bride's brother.

After the ceremony the bridal party adjourned to the dining room of the King Edward hotel, where Host Murphy spread a lavish luncheon. Suspended from the ceiling over the tables hung a beautiful floral bell, made by Mr. F. V. Moffet, which was really a work of art and was much admired.

Luncheon over, Mr. H. H. Worthington proposed the health of the brides and grooms, and the grooms responded. From the bridal tables the party went to the brides' home, where the wedding cake was cut and partaken of with wine. Later the wedding party were driven by auto to Salmon Arm where they took the train on their wedding tour. Mr. and Mrs. Hatcher will visit San Francisco, San Diego and other California cities, while Mr. and Mrs. Williams go to Edmonton to visit the parents of the groom.

ENDERBY BOY SCOUTS

Desiring to learn from headquarters how the Enderby Boy Scouts acquitted themselves at the recent Government cadet camp at Oyama, Scoutmaster Campbell addressed a letter to Lt. Col. Bott, Vernon, who was in command of the camp, and received the following:

From Lt.-Col. C. L. Bott, O. C. 30th Regt., B.C.H., Vernon:

To G. G. Campbell Esq., Scoutmaster 1st Enderby Troop, Enderby:

Sir: In reference to your letter of the 20th ult. in regard to the Enderby Troop of Boy Scouts, I would say that the behaviour of the Enderby troop was very good, the drill and discipline was entirely satisfactory, while their keenness in the field and their readiness to undertake fatigues showed that the boys were made of the right stuff.

I have the honour to be,

CECIL. L. BOTT, O.C.
30th Regt., B. C. H.

SPECIAL FEATURE SHOW

To-night at the Opera House there will be a specially interesting and enjoyable picture and vaudeville show. In addition to an unusually good 4-reel picture show, the Musical Eckards will appear. These people are too well known to require any introduction to an Enderby audience. The picture show will include "The Snare of Fate," a Thanhouser 2-reel feature drama; "The Strange Way," a beautiful domestic drama; "For the Love of Mabel," a Keystone comedy of exceptional merit. The last-named reel is said to be the most laughable picture ever put on, and the Opera House management hope to see all their friends there to enjoy the treat.

Having taken over part of the Polson implement stock, we are prepared to supply your wants in Plows, Waggons, Buggies and Harrows, to your entire satisfaction.

Tenth Annual Convention of Alberta and East B. C. Press Association

The Tenth Annual Convention of the Alberta and East British Columbia Press Association, held at Edmonton, Sept. 11, 12, 13 and 14, was the most successful the Association has held. One hundred and fifty delegates and their wives were in attendance, and the entertainment provided by the City of Edmonton, the Ad Club, and the Grand Trunk Pacific officials was of a princely type, and every moment that could be spared from actual convention work by the delegates was filled to overflowing by the convention's hosts.

A detailed account of the convention proceedings will be given in subsequent issues. This week we are restricted to a brief mention of the events that made the convention so interesting and profitable to the delegates.

The following officers were elected: President, F. W. Galbraith, Red Deer; 1st vice-president, W. G. Foster, Nelson; 2nd vice-president, Chas. Clark, High River; 3rd vice-president, L. J. Ball, Vernon; secretary, Mr. Carswell Red Deer; executive, A. J. M. Terrell, Medicine Hat, V. C. French, Wetaskiwin, Geo. Gordon, Ponoka; W. A. Buchanon, Lethbridge, H. M. Walker, Enderby.

Vernon was chosen as the place for the 1914 convention.

A public reception and luncheon was given in Empire Auditorium at noon, Sept. 11th, which was addressed by the mayor of Edmonton, and several ministers of the Provincial Government. This was followed in the evening by the chartering of the s.s. "City of Edmonton" and the carrying of the delegates and their wives up the river to Laurier Park, where the party enjoyed a regular old-time barbecue, returning to their hotels about 11 p.m.

On this trip the Edmonton band and orchestra furnished music for concert and dancing, and every minute of the hours put happiness into the hearts of the visitors.

Luncheons and theatre parties for the ladies, and motor drives about the city of Edmonton, made the following day a busy one for all, and at 10 o'clock that night the delegates and their ladies became the guests of the Grand Trunk Pacific on a three-hundred-mile trip to the end of steel on the new transcontinental road through the Yellow Head Pass. This was a big task for the railway company to handle, but throughout the trip, occupying as it did two full days and three nights, and through a country which is as yet only discovered, there was not a hitch on the journey, and every possible courtesy was shown to all. The generosity of the company and the magnitude of the undertaking may be judged when it is stated that it required nine of the company's largest Pullman coaches to handle the crowd and furnish supplies for the dining car. The train crew were all select men, otherwise they never could have carried the undertaking through with such ease and lavishness. The sleeping car and dining car service could not have been surpassed were the trip being made between Toronto and New York, and this trip was being made over a road yet in the building and through a country that, while in later years may produce fabulous wealth, has as yet produced nothing. There were broad-guaged men in charge of that special train. They knew the game. They knew how to provide the essentials for the full enjoyment of such an outing, and had a faculty for keeping out of the way and giving their guests time to be alone and at ease.

This trip took the press delegates as far north as, Tete Juan Cache. Here the train tied up for three hours or more, permitting the sightseers to visit the remnant of that wide-open construction camp. The remnant is only sufficiently alive to give some idea of what has been. In the crooked, narrow passage ways between the buildings of the tent city, were seen the ruins of "Fatty's Restaurant," "Bill's Beds," "The Reno Rooms," "Sam's Barber Shop" and others of the "has-been" days. To-day the construction gang is some miles beyond Tete Juan e Cache and the camp followers have gone thither, leaving only a shadow of the camp city that was. There are four trained nurses in the remnant of a camp, and these are handling twenty or more typhoid cases.

From Tete Juan Cache the press delegation were taken back to Jasper where the train remained until the following afternoon. After a quiet night the bugle sounded "out of bed" promptly at 6 o'clock. Having had breakfast the delegates were assembled for divine worship shortly after 9 o'clock, and following this there was a trip planned for Patricia lake, four miles away, over a newly-built wagon road climbing hills and valleys very similar to the hills and valleys of Enderby Heights, and with the growth of vegetation and varieties of trees and berries and flowers about the same. Here the party became the guests of Mr. P. G. Bernard Hervey, Chief Superintendent of Dominion Parks, and Col. S. Maynard Rogers, Superintendent of Jasper National Park, who were the hosts at a luncheon served by the Jasper Park men.

Lake Patricia is one of the beauty spots of Jasper Park and a gem of the Rockies, where one day not so far distant will be erected the most popular tourist hotel on the continent of America. It will be to the Grand Trunk system what Lake Chateau now is to the Canadian Pacific.

The party remained at Jasper until 4 p.m., and then proceeded to Pocahontas, where Colonel Rogers piloted them to Punch Bowl Falls, a beautiful stream of water flowing over a rocky ledge into a huge bowl-shaped crevice two hundred feet below. The model mining town of Pocahontas was then visited. Here the Pocahontas coal mining company has laid out a town on a picturesque hill-top, some distance from the mine, and has erected nearly 100 cottages for the accommodation of the families of the miners. The streets are clean, and the homes neat and tidy, being provided with telephone and electricity for lighting.

The train left Pocahontas at 10 p. m. and arrived in Edmonton at 7.30, just in time to enable the British Columbia delegation to catch the 8.15 train for Calgary.

OUR TIRELESS CRITIC

Editor Enderby Press:

Dear Sir: Most people like myself are of the opinion that the correspondence column of any up-to-date paper is for the use of those who wish to avail themselves of its privileges and not usually monopolised by the editor. Such is not the case with the Walker Press, as any correspondence that may come forward the editor takes upon himself the privilege of replying, whatever the subject, and as often happens he branches into subjects that he evidently knows little about, and in many cases gets as far away from the facts as possible, as in reply to my last letter he states that the North Enderby School District was organized to escape excessive taxation when the new Enderby School was decided upon. The North Enderby School District was organized in the year 1906 and school opened in January, 1907, which proves itself the truthfulness of this statement.

The editor also fills about three parts of his valuable space with the grievances of a few in our district who he states after sending their children to the North Enderby School for one season decided to send them to the Enderby School for the better teaching facilities, etc. Let me state that those people referred to have never had their children attend the North Enderby School, some for reasons best known to themselves.

Now I think in justice to those interested and to the subscribers to this paper the correspondence column ought to be left to those who, even if they are not aware of all the facts of anything under discussion, will at least have more respect for the truth than has been evident in our editor's remarks on the "three-mile limit" question, and I will leave it for the readers of this paper to judge who has been up in the flying machine.

Further comment under the circumstances is useless.

J. C. METCALFE,
Sec.-treas. North Enderby S.D.

(We wish we could run this paper so as to please such kind friends as Mr. Metcalfe. We have been knocking about the world some 38 years, 25 of which have been spent in the newspaper work. That we have learned so little about the business is perhaps due to our not having a master mind of Mr. Metcalf's calibre to instruct us. This, however, is our loss. We should never have ventured to reply to Mr. Metcalfe's previous letters had he not been so insistent in his questions directed at us and so deliberate in his statements made against us. Just as he is in his communication above, he has been in his letters of the past. He states that the North Enderby School District was established in 1906. This Mr. Metcalf knows, is a mere quibble in an attempt to make it appear that the editor stated false facts. The original North Enderby School District was, it is true, organized in 1906, as Mr. Metcalfe states. But in 1910-11 the people of Grindrod withdrew their children and established a school at Grindrod. Mr. Metcalfe knows this. And when the Grindrod school was organized the North Enderby School was closed and in 1912 the district was reorganized with altered limits, and the school house moved from its original site to a site within the new North Enderby District. Mr. Metcalfe knows this, too. In his letter criticising the editor two weeks ago, Mr. Metcalfe said along this line:

"Why were the people of this district not approached in the matter when they were at the time without a school through the organization of the Grindrod School District? Why did they wait till we had our district reorganized and the one-roomed school house removed at great expense to a more central position."

For Mr. Metcalfe's information, we will state we have no desire to question the argument of any correspondent on any matter of public interest nor to check correspondence of this character. On the contrary, we desire to do all we can to encourage it. But we do not propose to allow the public statements of this paper to be branded as false by Mr. Metcalfe or anyone else.—Ed.)

Yearning for Sir Richard.

Under the heading "United States Needs a Man Like Sir Richard McBride," the San Francisco Examiner publishes the following editorial:

"In everything but name, British Columbia is an independent state. Exercising its sovereign power, British Columbia has forbidden the issue of timber, mining and fishing licenses to Orientals, and has denied to these aliens the right to buy or own land within the boundaries of the province.

"There exists between Great Britain and Japan a treaty of alliance, which is both military and political, and the Japanese have vigorously protested to the court of St. James against the action of British Columbia. The British Government, in turn, has notified Sir Richard McBride, the premier of the province, of the protest of Japan. And the reply of Sir Richard McBride to the imperial government is plain, brief and straight to the point.

"'The Province of British Columbia,' he says, 'is sovereign in control of its internal affairs. This province has legislated in regard to Orientals within its boundaries, and this legislation it is determined to enforce.'"

NO GRAPE-JUICE DIPLOMACY.

"They breed men in the Canadian Northwest, evidently—men whose veins are full of blood and iron. This Sir Richard McBride now, as you will observe, mingles no grape-juice with his diplomacy, nor any milk and water. He does no rant nor flourish big sticks, nor wheedle nor whine platitudes of universal peace. He speaks for his people firmly, emphatically, in the strong, modest words of a modest, strong man who knows exactly what he means to do and knows that he will do it.

"It was men of that breed who signed the great Declaration; who knelt behind the rail fences at Bunker Hill; who fought the sea fights that immortalized the names of Hull and Decatur and Rodgers and Lawrence; who fell to a man at the Alamo; who triumphed at Beuna Vista; who met each other with an equal valour on the fields of that great war which began at Bull Run and ended at Appomattox.

"What this United States needs just now is a secretary of state built on the specifications of Sir Richard McBride—a man who can distinguish the line at which national efforts to preserve peace cease to become admirable and become pusillanimous; a man who neither blusters nor cringes, but who affirms his country's sovereign dignity as a matter of fact and is ready to keep that country's honor sweet with the sword as with courtesy and honorable dealing.

WOULD LIKE TO TRADE.

"We have had a Seward, a Blaine and a Bayard, and we did not need to look toward Canada with envious eyes in those days. Now we have Mr. Secretary Bryan, and grape-juice diplomacy, and academic twaddle of universal peace and peripatetic lecturing campaigns, with platitudious harangues to the gentler sex of both genders—and the sword of the nation rusty in the scabbard while every peon spits at our flag and shoots down unarmed American men and outrages helpless American women in Mexico at his own infernal, cowardly will and pleasure!

"Would that we could exchange prime ministers with British Columbia, if but for a day. A voice of courage and command would speak the indignant will of the American people to Mexico before the sun went down if a Sir Richard McBride sat in the seat in which William Jennings Bryan preaches and proses of impossible universal peace while our honor is stained, our authority flouted, our flag insulted and our citizens outraged, robbed and murdered by the unrebuked and unpunished savage across the Rio Grande."

HELPING FRUIT INDUSTRY.

The Hudson's Bay Company has placed an order for twenty carloads of Okanagan apples to be shipped to their department stores in the northwest.

Negotiations had been in progress for some time between the executive of the Okanagan Fruit Growers Ltd., and the Hudson's Bay Company with a view to interesting the latter firm in the new project recently organized for handling the fruit and produce output of the Okanagan.

Mr. Simms, on behalf of the Hudson's Bay Company stated that the firm was for a time uncertain in which form their assistance to the ranchers of this district would prove the most acceptable, whether to take a block of shares in the new organization or to create and develop new markets for the Okanagan fruits.

The latter was eventually the policy decided upon by the Hudson's Bay stores commissioners, and an order for twenty cars has been placed with the Okanagan United Fruit Growers. This fruit will be the best of its kind; in quality it will be kept up to exhibition grade, and ought to prove a big advertisement for the Okanagan wherever it is displayed and sold.

GOOD WORDS FOR CANADA.

Sir Richard McBride is doing his best to counteract the effect of Mr. Horne Payne's statements by assuring British investors that the bonds of Canadian municipalities form the wisest possible investment. Speaking especially of British Columbia municipalities, Sir Richard says in a statement published recently:

"Most of our rural municipalities have not a dollar of bonded or floating debt. Moneys advanced to cities to cope with the abnormal civic development and for railway terminals are absolutely safe. There could be no wiser investment in the Empire. Our municipalities are well-ordered and are getting the best value out of every dollar."

Sir Richard especially instanced Vancouver to show the huge tasks of civic development that are being successfully carried through in the West.

PROVINCIAL SUPERVISION.

British financial houses concerned with Canadian municipal issues are awaiting with great interest the development of the proposal made at the convention of Alberta municipalities, that the provincial governments, whose high status here everyone recognizes, should exercise over civic borrowing, a supervision analogous to that exercised over British municipal borrowings by the local government board, whose president is a member of the British cabinet. The fact that Canadian municipal and public borrowings exceeded $46,000,000 during the first eight months of the current year compared with $26,000,000 for the whole of 1912, while easily explained seems to many English houses to suggest the wisdom of reassuring the nervous and not-too-well-informed British investor by creating some sort of Canadian local loan stock whereby, as in England, towns and districts below a certain status, would be enabled to borrow under the imprimatur of the government of its province, which would satisfy itself that the loan was necessary.

THE AWFUL COST.

Some statements have been made of the cost of the Balkan war in lives and money to the combatants, which we summarize.

Bulgaria mobilized 450,000 men, of whom 80,000 were killed in fighting with Turkey and 60,000 in the fighting with the allies. The war cost Bulgaria $480,000,000.

Servia mobilized 250,000 men, of whom 30,000 were killed in fighting with Turkey and 40,000 in the fiighting with Bulgaria. The war cost Servia $260,000,000.

Greece mobilized 150,000 men, of whom 10,000 were killed in fighting with Turkey and 30,000 in fighting with Bulgaria.

Montenegro's mobilization was small, and so was her loss in battle and her cost of the war.

Turkey mobilized 450,000 men, of whom 100,000 were killed. The cost of the war to Turkey was $400,000,000.

Including deaths from cholera and people slain in massacres, the total death roll is put at upwards of 400,000 and the total cost to the governments concerned at $1,360,000,000.

The above estimates take no account of the number of persons incapacitated for earning their living by wounds or disease, nor the tremenduous amount of property destroyed. We confess that the figures seem somewhat high, but even if great reductions are made from them, the cost of the struggle in life, suffering, waste and money is beyond computation, and all for, what?

MORE WORK, TALK LESS.

"I think it would be far better if we talked less and did more to show our friendship with the United States."

Sir Thomas Lipton thus laconically snubbed half the British peerage when asked to join them in contributing a sentiment to Oliver Bainbridge's book, "Lessons of the Anglo-American Peace Centenary."

Lipton holds strong views favoring the Panama-Pacific Fair.

HON. MARTIN BURRELL HOME.

Hon. Martin Burrell, Minister of Agriculture, who has been in Europe for the past two months, has returned. The minister spent some time at the exhibition at Ghent.

"It was most successful," he remarked, and I have no hesitation in saying that our Canadian exhibit was the best feature of all. Our Canadian commissioner, Mr. Hutchison, will stay there till the show is wound up, and later in the Fall will proceed to San Fransisco. We are planning a handsome building and extensive exhibit at the Panama-Pacific Exposition. The final arrangements will be made when Mr. Hutchison comes back.

"In London I conferred with Right Hon. Walter Runciman regarding a number of matters, including the removal of the embargo on Canadian cattle, but I am not hopeful of anything in that line being done. In reality the embargo is a form of protection more than anything else. The Old Country is taking steps to provide compensation where animals are affected with tuberculosis and from it we have much to learn, as outside of British Columbia little in that line has been done."

INSECT PESTS.

Mr. J. M. Swaine, etomologist of the Canadian Conservation Commission, has been engaged for some time past in making a study of economic insect pests in British Columbia. He has been working in conjunction with the Forest Branch of this province. It is understood that he has discovered up to date several new species of dangerous forest insects, one of which preys to a large extent on the larch wood of the province. In such a thickly timbered country as British Columbia it is doubtful if measures for the destruction of these insects, or the mitigation of the harm they achieve, could be accomplished without unwarranted expense.

NEWSPAPER PUBLICITY.

During a recent national convention of advertising men in Baltimore one advertising manager of wide experience dwelt with much emphasis upon the value of concentrated newspaper publicity.

He made a vivid impression. He said that the newspapers constituted the only real medium through which a manufacturer could create a demand for his products in a particular locality.

Only the newspapers can build up business locally, because advertising in local newspapers creates demand. There is a vast difference between creating desire for a product and creating actual demand. Demand means sales over the counter.

SEALED TENDERS addressed to the undersigned, and endorsed "Tender for Jetty and Dredging at the North Arm of the Fraser River, B. C." will be received at this office until 4.00 P. M., on Tuesday, September 30, 1913, for the construction of Jetty and Dredging at the North Arm of the Fraser River, B. C.

Earle, Esq., District Engineer, Winnipeg, Man.; J. S. MacLachlan, Esq., District Engineer, Victoria, B. C.; J. L. Michaud, Esq., District Engineer, Post Office Building, Montreal, P.Q., J. G. Sing, Esq., District Engineer, Confederation Life Building, Toronto, Ont., and on application to the Postmaster at Vaocouver, B. C.

Persons tendering are notified that tenders will not be considered unless made on the printed forms supplied, and signed with their actual signatures, stating their occupations and places of residence. In the case of firms, the actual signature, the nature of the occupation, and place of residence of each member of the firm must be given.

If the tender be not accepted the cheque will be returned.

Death Not Part of Divine Plan, but an Extreme Form of Fear

Slowly but surely the wisdom of this world is recognizing that the grand old Book of books contains the solution for every human problem.

One of the unsolved problems, the greatest of all problems of mortal existence, is that of death.

Advanced thought in physical science has announced that there is no physiological reason why death should occur.

While this question is agitating the minds of thinkers, and laboratory research is delving deeply into the problem, the Bible containing a complete treatise on the subject of death, clearly setting forth cause and cure, patiently awaits the seeker after truth, who will surely come when all material knowledge has failed.

Truly said the Book. "The wisdom of this world is foolishness with God."

The hope that sometime death might be overcome has always existed in the heart of man, and this of course proves that death is an abnormal condition, for if it were natural and right, a proper part of the divine plan of creation, mankind would not rebel, but would pass willingly to the grave.

Death is the greatest fear of human existence. In his letter to the Hebrews, Paul refers to this fear in describing the mission of Jesus, which was to "deliver them who through fear of death were all their lifetime subject to bondage."

To the average mortal who has accepted death as an inevitable conclusion of earthly life, the idea of escaping it seems preposterous and unworthy of consideration; to such a one it is the one thing about which there is no doubt.

This belief illustrates how little so-called followers of the Master really understand his teaching.

As it is in the present day, so was it in the days of his ministry.

From the dramatic description of the raising of Lazurus, we learn that those to whom Jesus spoke did not comprehend him.

Martha replied to his declaration. "Thy brother shall rise again." "I know that he shall rise again in the resurrection at the last day."

Even she could not believe it possible that the decree of death could be set aside.

The Scriptures declare that death is the wages of sin, and from this it would logically follow that in the degree that sin was overcome the liability of dying would be lessened.

Again, the Master declared, "Verily, verily I say unto you, if a man keep my saying, he shall never see death."

One of the reasons why this teaching has not appealed more strongly to mortal is that mankind has been led to believe that the term death refers to spiritual observation, and that it has no reference to what is termed physical death.

This conclusion, of course, is proved fallacious by the practice of the Master and his disciples in raising a number from death.

If death were normal and in accordance with God's law, even Jesus would have been powerless to interfere.

Paul tells the Corinthians that "the last enemy that shall be destroyed is death."

From this statement and others that have been quoted in this article, it is evident that the Scriptures regard death as abnormal and unnatural, the effect of sin.

They furthermore point out the remedy in the teachings and practice of the Master.

Here is a topic worthy of profound study and consideration: one that means more to the human race than all the material discoveries and progress of the ages.—Los Angeles Tribune.

TIMBER RESOURCES

The possibility of deriving a larger and more proportionate revenue from the timber resources of British Coumbia is the main object of the inquiry into the royalty question which is being undertaken by Hon. W. R. Ross, commencing at Vancouver on September 8. The matter is one that affects the interests of the public at large. After deliberation which involved consideration of the subject from many angles the conclusion has been reached that the stumpage is in some instance being sold for less than its worth and the object of an increased and possibly graded royalty is to insure that the timber resources, which are the property of the people as represented by the crown, yield a revenue that is considered commensurate with their great value. At present the royalty is 50c per thousand feet, board measure, but this is insufficient. It is not considered a wise policy that the timbermen should be enriched at the expense of the public, and while the Government is anxious to do everything in its power to encourage the lumber industry the duty of safeguarding the public interests is paramount to every other consideration.

It is with this object in mind that the Hon. W. R. Ross, the Minister of Lands, is setting forth on his important investigations that is hoped will lead to an important step forward in the timber policy of the Government. It is his hope that evidence will be submitted to him by all lumbermen who have interests in the Province and that those who are unable to appear before him in person will make out memoranda of their case and forward them to be considered before definite legislation is drawn up. This course should illustrate to those who hold timber licences from the crown that the Government is prepared to give careful consideration to any arguments against an increase in the royalty that may be advanced. But at the same time it should not be forgotten that the Government, in all questions of its administration, owes a duty to the people of British Columbia and in the matter of the timber resources of the Province it is essential that the return in revenue should be arranged for on a fair and equitable basis.

SYNOPSIS OF COAL MINING REGULATIONS

Coal mining rights of the Dominion in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the Northwest Territories and a portion of the province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or sub-Agent of the district in which rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee for $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

"With Brains, Sir!"

¶ Sir Joshua Reynolds, answering the inquisitive man who asked him what he mixed his paints with, thundered, "With Brains, Sir!"

¶ We mix tailoring with the same ingredient, which accounts for the nation-wide reputation justly earned by "The House of Hobberlin."

¶ Hobberlin designers possess that necessary brain power which finds expression in the artistic, stylish, perfectly fitting garments that are the product of Hobberlin real tailor shops.
