Hard to Get Political Pot to Bubble in Federal Campaign

J. A. MacKelvie fired the first shot in the federal campaign by addressing the people of Enderby last Wednesday evening. There was a good number of people present in spite of the roads being in a bad state for travel. Mr. Hassard was in the chair and introduced Mr. MacKelvie to the audience. Mr. Hassard's remarks may be summed up in the statement, that during the brief time Mr. MacKelvie had represented the Yale electors at Ottawa, he had discharged his obligation and responsibilities in a splendid manner. In fact he went on to state that, with all due respect to those who had represented them previously, not one had such a fine record as Mr. MacKelvie. He therefore, trusted that after listening to the speaker of the evening, they would return him again to Ottawa.

Mr. MacKelvie was listened to by the audience with calm attention at first and towards the end with sympathy and encouragement. Mr. MacKelvie repudiated the argument that the Borden-Meighen Government had outstayed it's mandate. It had been elected on a platform which included the solution of problems arising out of the war, and its grand leader had been laid to one side by the arduous duties thronging upon him. At the conclusion of peace it had fulfilled its pledges.

Demobilization of the Canadian forces had been the envy of the world and its settlement schemes had been largely copied by other nations. No government since Confederation had accomplished such great reforms as the Union Government, simply because it was formed of Liberal and Conservative unionists who were determined to discharge the tremendous responsibility laid upon them in a non-partisan spirit. This had been done in such a way that no one could point the finger of scorn at Canada. Other countries, on investigating charges of graft, had found the deeper they went the worse they grew, until they became a joke and investigation had to cease. Canada had spent millions in the war, but no such finger of scorn could be pointed at her.

Mr. MacKelvie stated that there would be an attempt to cloud the real issue of the election. It was summed up in one word, and that was tariff. The farmer party was out for the total abolition of duties on agricultural implements and all food articles. With regard to the Liberal program it was difficult to know where it began and where it ceased. For they had one program for Quebec and one for the other provinces. The farmers were demanding free trade, but who had more protection during the war than the farmers. They were protected with regard to their wheat and thus realized a handsome profit. Fact of the matter was, Canada could not live without protection. Her industries were here today because she had given some measure of protection to them. Let us deal with that which lies near at home, for instance the apple industry of the Okanagan. The apple growers of Washington were sending apples so cheap that it seemed as though the fruit growers were doomed. After a great deal of effort and due representation a tariff of thirty cents was placed on the box coming from the States. The result was seen today when the apple crop in the Okanagan is worth eight millions.

As far as Enderby was concerned Mr. MacKelvie said he had tried in every way to bring to the right quarter the question of the reserve and he hoped at no distant time the question would be dealt with.

Mr. MacKelvie spoke very kindly of his opponent and said that he wished the campaign to be conducted on clean sportsman lines. The meeting was brought to a close with the singing of the National Anthem.

RETURNED CITIZENS' BANQUET

On the night of November 11th, forty-four returned citizens of Enderby, and a few guests, sat down to dinner spread in the Farmers' Hall, and enjoyed a very happy reunion, the old sentiments of fraternalism being the ruling note throughout. Toasts to the King and Governor-General Lord Bing of Vimy, were proposed by Comrade Henniker, toastmaster; "The Empire," by Comrade Gilders; "The Allies," by Comrade Keathley; "Navy, Army and Air Forces" by Comrade Fielden, replied to by Comrades Gilders, Piper and K. Glen; Absent Members, Comrade Henniker; Fallen Comrades, Comrade C. D. Glen; Red Cross Nurses and Doctors, Comrade G. Duncan, reply Dr. Keith; "Our Guests," by Comrade Bigge, replied to by A. Reeves.

The toasts were interspersed by songs, ditties and reminescences ranging form "Tassels" to prohibition, followed by a discussion which possibly has the germ of a Citizens-Veterans' Club for Enderby.

SPEAKS FOR SUTHERLAND

Last Saturday in the Enderby Farmers' Hall, Mr. Makovski of Armstrong addressed a small audience in the interest of Mayor Sutherland, the Liberal federal nominee. Interest in the address was little in evidence, either in numbers to listen to the speaker, or in enthusiasm.

Mr. Makovski is a weighty writer but a somewhat difficult speaker to follow. However, he gave a very interesting talk from the standpoint of the Liberal candidate.

A personal greeting card, conveying your message of love to friends at Christmas time is the most acceptable gift you can send. And the cost of these cards is from $2 to $3.50 per dozen, with envelopes to match.

STRUCK BY TRAIN

When leaving the Grindrod store last Thursday morning the driver of the Salmon Arm cream truck picked up Leonard Smiley intending to give him a lift to his farm home some distance away. As the truck climbed into the road from the soft clay by the roadside, the morning freight train was noticed bearing down upon them from the north. Thinking they could make the grade ahead of the train the driver did not stop but ploughed through the mud. When on the track the wheels skidded and this was enough to throw the cream truck in front of the on-coming engine.

The truck was hit and badly smashed and both the driver and Mr. Smiley were caught in the smashup. The former was not seriously injured, but Mr. Smiley received a contusion of the brain, and had several bones broken. He was taken to the Vernon Hospital where he died the following day. Burial took place at Enderby cemetery, the funeral being attended by a very large gathering of friends.

HELPING THE NEEDY

The citizens of British Columbia responded in a most generous manner to the call for funds for the relief of the victims of the floods at Britannia, Squamish, Coquitlam, Pitt Meadows and Maple Ridge districts. The suddenness of the disaster in the little camp with its toll of dead and injured came as a shock to the residents of the province. The work of caring for the needy once again demonstrated the readiness of that wonderful organization, the Red Cross Society to cope with any situation. Co-operating with the Boards of Trade and City Council relief committee, the Red Cross, Vancouver branch, was able to clothe the survivors and give temporary shelter within a few moments of being acquainted with their requirements.

ENDERBY BRIEFS

Jas. Wynn leaves for England this week to be absent indefinitely.

Dr. Henderson, of Lansdown, left for Vancouver on Tuesday seeking medical treatment.

Dr. Sumner will be in Enderby all of next week, from the 21st to the 26th. At King Edward Hotel.

Miss Magonegal, of Vancouver, is visiting her sister Mrs. John Reid, having arrived Tuesday morning.

Mrs. Ida Glen returned on Friday from Manitoba where she spent the past two years visiting friends and relatives.

At the contract price of 80 cents a yard Mr. Teece cleaned up $8.00 a day for his team and himself in gravelling Knight street from the City's gravel pit.

A quiet wedding was solemnized in St. George's church on Monday afternoon at 3 o'clock when Provincial constable Jere Moore Smith and Miss Jenny Morris were united in marriage by the Rev. Cecil A. Blay. Congratulations.

When you spend your money for goods that are Made in B. C. you get a chance at your dollar again, and you have the goods. When you send it out of the province, you get the goods, but you lose sight of your dollar for good.

On Friday evening the Dempsey-Carpentier fight pictures are to be shown in the Enderby Opera House. The show will start at 7:30 in order to make the Opera House available for the High School Cadet dance, at 9:30 or thereabouts.

The value of the Board of Trade movement n this province has been shown by the splendid manner in which the boards of trade throughout British Columbia responded to the call to collect funds for the victims of the floods on the coast.

Cliff street was cleaned of its mud blanket Armistice Day and the roadway greatly improved thereby. If the Provincial Department of Work would do likewise to the bridge, it would save the structure and be a blessing to pedestrians.

J. E. Bogert returned from a trip to Grand Forks this week. From Penticton he made the trip by auto. Speaking of business conditions, Mr. Bogert is convinced that the Okanagan has every other place, visited by him backed off the map.

British Columbia needs a greater population of employed men and women. Recent taxation studies by the Civic Research Committee of Toronto show that taxes are higher in this province, per capita, than in any other portion of the Dominion.

HIGH SCHOOL DANCE

Tomorrow (Friday) evening the scholars of the Enderby High School will hold a dance in the Enderby Opera House that should receive the support of every individual inclined to dance. The purpose is to raise funds to complete the equipment of the High School Cadet Corp recently formed under the able direction of Mr. Keathley.

Often when the Banff orchestra has visited Enderby to give a dance the boys have walked away with $150 to $200.

The High School boys hope for as lib ral treatment on behalf of their local organization. They have engaged the Vernon orchestra for the occasion and will serve refreshments. They are charging $1.50 per couple and 50 cents for extra lady.

If our Enderby and district dancers can turn into the pockets of the Banff orchestra boys $150 for a dance where no refreshments are served, surely they will do as well for the local cadets when the music will be the best and refreshments will be served.

City Prepares Polltax Bylaw Under New Provincial Act

At a meeting of the City Council Monday evening, with the Mayor and Aldermen Gaylord, Coltart, MacKay and Nichol present, a letter was read from R. M. Taylor, assistant district engineer, stating that he had received instructions that the Highways Act did not come into effect until March 31st, 1922, and that he had no authority to order any work to be done on the primary highway (Belvedere St.) through town.

Reports were received from J. H. Teece, contractor for the gravelling of Knight St, showing amount of gravel hauled.

Aldermen Coltart and MacKay were appointed to act with the Mayor as a court of revision on the Voters' list.

A letter from J. H. Teece, for the Methodist church, was read, making application for repayment of taxes paid in respect of the church site, amounting to $118. It was decided to postpone action pending receipt of instructions from the Provincial Government.

The finance committee recommended payment of the following accounts:

Okanagan Telephone Co.	$ 6.00
Okanagan Telephone Co.	8.70
C. Dugdale	66.77
W. Airth	7.86
A. Elliott	7.86

Bylaw No. 130, (Poll tax) was given its first and second reading. This Bylaw imposes a polltax of $5 on all male persons within the municipality and the school district who are not otherwise taxed by the city to that amount, except persons 60 years of age whose last yearly income did not exceed $700, and any person engaged in active naval or military service, and any person who served overseas since the 4th of August, 1914.

WORK STARTS ON RINK

Committee Finally Empowered to Proceed with Construction

At a well-attended meeting of the pledged shareholders in the Enderby Rink and Agricultural Hall Company in the Farmers' Hall, on Monday evening the question of building plan and site again was brought up, and there was considerable discussion on questions which have come up.

J. L. Ruttan, at the request of the committee appointed to carry on the business of the shareholders until incorporation is completed, submitted a price of $5000 for which he was prepared to contract for the erection of a building with a shingle roof covering size and general line of construction set forth heretofore in plans submitted by Mr. Johnson, with this difference that the roof would be given greater pitch.

As this was the first figure definitely given at which the building would be placed on the ground, a considerable portion of those present favored accepting the building on the contract basis. Later in the discussion there developed a feeling that the structure should be put up by day labor and that the committee should confine itself to the Johnson plan. The final outcome of the discussion was a motion authorizing the committee to proceed with the building as soon as possible on the plan deemed most acceptable.

The question of site was then brought up. It was explained that Dr. Keith was prepared to give two lots, Jno. McMahon one and A. McPherson one, to be used as a building site a block nearer town than the site previously accepted in the Walker acreage, which would allow the Walker block to be utilized in connection with the park site without being broken up by the building site. Three hundred feet, more or less, lie between the newly proposed building site and the park site secured by the city, on the same street, and these lots, it was stated, might be procured any time, which would connect up the building with the park.

Authorization was given by the meeting to the committee to change the building site to the new location if it was deemed advisable in order to make the most out of the park site available in connection therewith.

Acting upon the authorization given by the meeting the committee met at once and it was decided to build upon the new site.

Ald. Coltart pointed out to the members of the committee the difficulties that might be encountered in connection with the change in sites, and strongly objected to the building being constructed separate and apart from the agricultural park, as by taking this course he feared the project would lose the support of the farmers. He said there need be no fear as to the recreation ground on the park site, as this would come by the time the whole project had been whipped into shape. It was pointed out that there was no probability of the present recreation ground being given up before the park grounds could be put into shape, which would require a year or two at least.

The work of levelling the new site was started yesterday and it is understood, unless present plans are altered, the building will be underway in a few days. It will be built by day labor and will be under the foremanship of Mr. Grant.

POPPY DAY

Enderby citizens thoroughly enjoyed the Armistice Day services in the grounds of St. George's church, the day being delightfully warm and bright with sunshine. Poppy emblems were worn by everybody, the sale by the local Veterans' Association resulting most satisfactory.

Rev. C. A. Blay, Rev. J. Stott, Rev. Capt. J. G. Gibson, Messrs. C. G. Piper, W. M. Keatley, Roy Wheeler and J. Gilders assisted in the outdoor service which was held at 10:30. Brief addresses were given with prayers and singing interspersing.

So generously had the people of Enderby bought up the Poppy emblems a day or two previously, that none were left for distribution on Poppy Day. There was realized by the ladies from the sale of poppies the sum of $61.20, and by the G. W. V. A. $24.90, with an additional donation of $6.10 from the Chautauqua committee. A balance from the Armistice Day service, will be turned over by the Rev. Mr. Blay, which will be made up to $100 by the secretary.

The Misses Mowat, Lang, McMahon, Keith, Peel, Sharp, Walker, Dreschning, Ruttan and Gilders canvassed the town and sold poppies. It is evident from the generous response that Decoration or Poppy Day has come to stay.

The local secretary, Mr. Gilders, on behalf of the Dominion Command and Poppy Lady of France, and the Widows' and Orphan's local and needy, wishes to thank the ladies, and all for their splendid assistance.

Department Store Special

"Why, hello Pat! I hear you lost your job in the Department Store."

"Oh, yes, I got fired."

"You got fired? How did that happen?"

"Oh, I just took a sign from a lady's waist and put it on a bath tub."

"And you got fired for that? Well tell me what the sign read."

"It said, How would you like to see your best girl in this for $2.75."

Canada's Railroad Problem

If we are to judge by what we read of the tremendous deficits which meet us each year through the operation of railroads owned by the government, there is good reason to believe that the suggestion made some time ago that the government should turn the roads over to the C. P. R. and let them all be operated under one head, is worthy the earnest consideration of Canadians. Either this, or buy the C. P. R. and formulate a policy that will enable the railroads to be operated at a profit, yet protect the country against inaquitable rates, and poor service.

The first-suggested policy would seem to be the better, for the C. P. R. has a reputation for service that cannot be excelled, and its management has been safe and sure, and rates not any higher than the American roads similarly operated.

Fault may be found with the suggestion that all our roads should be brought under one head, and, if there was any probability of competitive rates being charged by the government lines and the C. P. R. whereby the public and business of the country might profit, perhaps the competitive policy would bring the better results, but as things are, with the C. P. R. so closely involved in our governmental system, and in our finances and the development of the country this seems an impossible outlook. There cannot be competition in rates or in business except at a further loss to the government roads, and surely they are losing enough already. Why, then, shouldn't the roads be brought under one head and thus avoid the annual deficits which the government-owned roads are now earning?

MacKelvie and Sutherland

In the Federal contest in Yale Riding there are but two candidates in the field—J. A. MacKelvie the Government member, and Mayor Sutherland of Kelowna, representing the opposition. With these two men to choose from there is little doubt what the outcome will be. Mr. MacKelvie's long newspaper experience, and the fact that he served the riding at the last session of parliament and is well started in looking after the interests of his constituency, will go a long way in winning continued support of the electorate. It is felt that he has served well and will serve better as time goes on.

There is also that old-time feeling of confidence in the sitting member and the general desire to let him have more time to prove his worth as the Federal representative, and this sentiment surely will outweigh any party feeling the opposition may work up in the interest of Mayor Sutherland, who is popular enough in his own home town but is little known in other parts of the riding. Mayor Sutherland is particularly unfortunate, also, in that he has no line of argument left him with regard to the tariff issue. Here our fruit interests are demanding protection, which, after all, is more in line with Mr. Meighen's policy than that of Mr. Mackenzie King. The war record of the Liberal party leader, Mackenzie King, is also against him. We feel convinced that Mr. MacKelvie's majority will be greater than that given him last year.

Too Democratic

We in Canada are more democratic under a monarchal head than the Democracy of the United Statet. We are so democratic in fact, that there is a question of doubt if we get as good and effective a government as we might otherwise. For instance, under our system, the chosen head of our federal and provincial governments is confined in his selection of cabinet material to what he can pick from the elected representatives from the various constituencies. Theoretically the policy would seem to be good. But is it the best? Men are chosen as representatives with no regard to their past training, and certainly without capacity as government ministers, yet in forming his cabinet the leader must make his pick from these representatives. It is little wonder that so often governments prove weak and unbusinesslike. A dentist or a doctor may be selected as minister of finance; just an ordinary good fellow, with little or no technical training may be put in as minister of mines; a man of no educational training may go as minister of education, and a man whose experience has been confined to a little law office in his home town may be selected as minister of revenues and a tooth-puller as minister of agriculture.

Let us contrast this policy with that of the Democracy to the south of us. There the chief executive is permitted to choose members of his cabinet from the ranks independent of party and without regard to the ballot of the people. Men are chosen because of their training and experience in certain lines of study and their ability to cover the requirements of the post to which they are called. In this way experts are chosen of practical working experience just as they are chosen by large corporations to fill particular positions on the manager's staff. Which policy think you is inclined to give the best results?

B. C. Budget

According to Hon. John Hart, minister of finance, the net debt of British Columbia was $39,530,003 on last March. Since that time the Oliver Government has borrowed for various purposes some twenty-five millions, bringing the funded debt up to $61,851,436, against which there is in the sinking fund approximately $7,900,00,

The total appropriations for 1920-21, according to the financial statement, including expenditure made by virtue or statutes, and authorized by special warrants, mounted to $21,645,080.73: the total expenditures of all accounts aggregated $19,626,680.95, showing a net saving of $2,018,399.78, every department being able to effect economies in the expenditure of their appropriations. The total expenditure on current account was $15,236,931.35, $17,667 greater than the revenue. Had it not been that it was economy to borrow heavily during the year for various purposes, entailing an outlay on account of public debt, $383.761 greater than was estimated, we should have been able to show a surplus on current account of well over $350,000.

Services which show an increase over 1919-20 are $849,000 on account of education, including $267,000 for school buildings, $80,000 for per capita grants, and $32,000 for the University: $333,000 on account of lands, including $125,000 on account of surveys; $72,000 for forest protection; $223,000 on account of the provincial secratary, including $90,000 for mental hospitals, $28,000 in grants to hospitals and charities, and $115,000 in grants for patriotic purposes; $674,000 on account of public works, $583,000 of which was spent on roads, streets, bridges and wharves.

Capital expenditure amounted to $4,389,749.60, the chief items of which were: Sinking fund $1,143,832.23; interest on Pacific Great Eastern Railway guarantee bonds $591,134.82; interest on P. G. E. guarantee note $175,515.55; advance to P. G. E. for construction and operation $750,000; expended under the Soldiers' Land Act, 1918, on the development of the Southern Okanagan tract, $644,388.57; main highways and industrial and settlement roads $297,857.47; boys' sub-normal school buildings, $265,888.20; advances to municipalities for the relief of unemployment $123,000.

Hon. Mr. Hart said that the balance sheet for the year ending March 31, 1921, showed an increase in captial liabilities of $12,439,500, of which the P. G. E. accounted for $8,828,000, by way of construction costs and note payments. Capital assets, as a result, had decreased by $7,798,033.

Boost

Boost your city, boost your friend;
Boost your lodge that you attend,
Boost the street on which you're dwelling,
Boost the goods that you are selling,
Boost the people round about you;
They can get along without you,
But success will quicker find them
If they know that you're behind them.

Boost for every forward movement,
Boost for every new improvement,
Boost the man for whom you labor,
Boost the stranger and the neighbor;
Cease to be a chronic knocker,
Cease to be a progress blocker;
If you'd make your city better,
Boost it to the final letter.

At a cost of $100 an acre to clear forest land and bring it under cultivation, the money spent to build one battleship at, say, $20,000,000, would clear 200,000 acres of land and make homes for two thousand families with 100 acres under cultivation for each family. Do we want more battle ships or more families on the land and more acreage under cultivation?

"Wanted—a Man to Lead"

There isn't a lad but wants to grow
Manly and true at heart,
And every lad would like to know
The secret we impart.
He doesn't desire to slack or shirk,
Oh! haven't you heard him plead?
He'll follow a man at play or work
If only the man will lead.

Where are the men to lead today,
Sparing an hour or two,
Teaching the lad the game to play
Just as a man should do?
Village and slums are calling—come!
Here are the boys, indeed,
Who can tell what they might become
If only the man will lead.

Motor and golf and winter sport
Fill up the time, a lot,
But wouldn't you like to feel you'd taught
Even a boy a knot?
Country and home depend on you,
Character most we need:
How can a lad know what to do
If there isn't a man to lead?

Where are the men to lend a hand?
Echo it far and wide,
Men who will rise in every land
Bridging the "Great Divide,"
Nation and flag and tongue unite,
Joining each class and creed;
Here are the boys who would do right
But where are the men to lead?

Experimental Farm Results

Greater efforts will be made in future to bring the results of experiments carried out by the experimental farm section of the Dominion department of agriculture more forcibly to the attention of the farmer for whose benefit the work is undertaken, according to Mr. F. C. Nunnick, chief of the extension and publicity section of the experimental branch. After a tour of inspection of prairie and British Columbia experimental farms, Mr. Nunnick is in Vancouver to consult with the local exhibition officials.

At present the experimental farm work is brought to the attention of farmers by means of exhibits at all the important fairs throughout the country and bulletins are issued, Mr. Nunnick explained. It is planned in future to distribute a number of typewritten lectures, together with lantern slides, to farmers' institutes, rural high schols and community clubs throughout the country, Nunnick says. These lectures will be written for delivery by laymen. The production of pure milk and poultry husbandry will form the subject of the first lectures.

Lending old Mother Nature a helping hand, assisting the farmer to make an easier living and adding to the prosperity of Canada generally, is the work of the experimental farms. Thanks to the experimental farm division of cereal husbandry, the famous Marquis variety of spring wheat was produced. This wheat ripens ten days earlier than any any previous known variety and has enabled the Canadian cereal-growing line to be pushed from 100 to 200 miles further north. In this way from $50,000,000 to $60,000,000 a year has been adder to the wealth of Canada.

Winning by Hard Work

Thomas A. Edison was asked once if his inventions were not "brilliant intuitions" that came to him while he was lying awake at night. The reply of the inventor was that he never did anything worth while by accident and that none of his inventions came indirectly through accident, except the phonograph. The "secret" about his accomplishments was that he just kept "pegging away" at an idea that he conceived until something was worked out of it. A lot of worry and disappointment and not a little of the bitterness of failure, may be avoided by the young men and women of today, if the hard truth is grasped that neither in the period of training nor at any other time is good fortune going to steal upon them unawares or success be the result of anything but good old-fashioned work.—Kansas City Star.

We read in the paper the other day where some who thinks he knows said that a woman is as old as she looks and the man as young as long as he looks.

Which?

Crerar — The head of a great trading organization which unites its trading with its politics—a political theorist—has lost control of the political movement he started and is being driven into impossible positions by class rule extremists. He is under the domination of Wood, the political boss of Alberta. He would give effect to Free Trade, thus destroying Canada's industrial and economic structure.

A Vote for Crerar is a Vote for Chaos

King — So evasive that nobody knows where he actually stands on the great issues of the day. Fits his policy to suit his audiences. Talks Free Trade to the West and Protection to the East. Specializes in high-sounding phraseology. His party is pledged to a large measure of Free Trade, but fails to suggest new methods of obtaining necessary National Revenues.

A Vote for King is a Plunge in the Dark

Meighen — Easily the outstanding figure in Canadian public life to-day, and the only real Leader in sight. Able, forceful, courageous, and upright in character. A statesman of demonstrated ability with broad National and Imperial vision and an unassailable record. Stands firm for the maintenance of a reasonable Protective Tariff, and aims to provide the maximum amount of profitable labour for all.

A VOTE FOR MEIGHEN IS A VOTE FOR A SPEEDY RETURN TO MORE PROSPEROUS TIMES

Tired

All day the busy feet have trod the garden paths; all day the merry voice echoed through the rooms; but now, when twilight is deeping into night, and the lamps of heaven are being lighted, the noisy feet grow still, the childish voice is hushed to the low-breathing of the evening prayer, and as the brown head sinks wearily to rest upon the pillow the red lips murmur faintly, "So tired."

Ah, tired one, ofttimes thy feet will falter and grow weary ere they reach the prime of manhood; and to thee will come hours when not as now the innocent sleep of childhood will bring thee rest.

Often from other lips than childish ones has escaped a sigh, the burden of which has been, "So tired!" Eagerly we toiled for an independence which some day in the far-off future is to bring us rest; but as night after night we laid our weary heads upon our pillows, we are still looking forward, still unsatisfied; and thus it will ever be with us till the Master calls. Sometimes ambition is the guiding star spurring us onward to the temple of fame. But the path is a thorny one; the footsteps falter; the brain grows dizzy, and from the heart goes forth the cry, "So tired! Yet temptingly a siren voice whispers of glory and of rest and again the feet press forward, till the goal is reached. But, alas! for the rest that ambition brings. Too often with the cup of glory is mingled the poison of envy, and again is heard the bitter cry, "So tirel!" 'Tis thus we are all weary. And yet, we would not fold our hands in idleness, because perchance, we may sometimes grow "faint with the burden and heat of the day." To us has been given a glorious privilege to press forward in the battle of life, and if our chosen path be that of truth and right the assurance of well-being will be our sweet reward when, by-and-by, we shall partake of that joy and peace of which the blessed never tire.—Ex.

ARMAMENT CONFERENCE OPENS

Business World more Buoyant as Result of Improved Outlook

"As the Armament Conference begins its work," writes Walter E. Brown, editor of the New York Commercial, "the hope of what it may accomplish is already spreading throughout the business world and has added a buoyancy distinctly noticeable. The conference simply must not fail. The blow to business morale would be so great that it would mean a setback of years.

"It would retard the recovery of the entire world for it would mean that even the limitation of Germany has not removed the menace of war and that among the Allies themselves jealously and suspicion would be emphasized. It would mean that a war cloud was ever hanging over our heads, and the spirit of endeavor would droop accordingly.

"On top of it would be the realization that the burdens of taxation must be carried indefinitely; that productive pursuits must be curtailed and mankind suffer accordingly. Without a doubt every delegate to the conference realizes this, and every country represented will strive to accomplish some results. We need not expect the millenium, but we have every right to believe a step forward will be taken.

"The building of war vessels is destructive to capital. A $20,000,000 battleship not only represents a depreciation of $2,000,000 a year, but it represents also the loss in maintenance. Capital destroyed can never be recovered. Yet, not counting upkeep, it represents, on a 5 per cent. basis, the loss every year in the earnings on $40,000,000 of capital, allowing for only a single turnover, to be multiplied many times by the possibility of more frequent turnover, and the number of battleships built.

"On the other hand, let this capital be turned into productive channels and the capital itself is saved for indefinite production. It goes back into industry and renewed earning power, in increased buying power, in reduced taxation, and in a steady move forward to economic stability that will help the entire world to recover its equilibrium."

NORTH DEEP CREEK NOTES

School Inspector Miller visited Deep Creek school last week.

Miss K. Piggott visited Miss Bowes at Hullcar for the week-end.

The people in the district will be pleased to hear that Mr. Lawson will be able to leave the Armstrong Hospital for home in a few days.

Mrs. W. Johnson has returned home from Enderby where she has been for several weeks at the home of her parents, Mr. and Mrs. F. Hassard.

Owing to the death of Leonard Smiley the U. F. B. C. have postponed the whist drive and dance, which was to be held on Nov. 18th, indefinitely.

Mrs. R. Best and daughter, Bertha, of Vernon, visited Mr. and Mrs. T. Sharpe last week. They were on their way to Kaslo where they intend to spend the winter.

The distressing fatality which befell Leonard Smiley on Thursday last came as a shock to the whole community. Leonard was of a cheerful disposition and will be greatly missed by his many friends. The sympathy of all is extended to his bereaved parents and the rest of the family who are left to mourn his loss.

GRANDVIEW BENCH NOTES

F. Dysart was an Enderby visitor on Saturday.

Mr. A. and Miss M. Lidstone returned from Woods Lake last week.

The United Farmers' social held last Friday night was a most successful affair in every way, there being a large number in attendance.

The regular monthly meeting of the Grandview Bench United Farmers was held last Saturday night and was well attended. After the regular business A. R. Copeland of Lumby gave a very interesting talk on the United Farmer movement.

No present is so acceptable as a Xmas gift as a personal greeting card, nicely printed with your name and address. Order early from the selection at the Walker Press office.

MARA NOTES

Miss Carefoot from Enderby, is visiting friends here.

Wm. Coell come down from Vernon Friday night, returning on Sunday.

Henry James is on a visit to his grand parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cadden, coming in last week from his home on Vancouver Island.

The Mara Local U. F. held a very successful dance last Friday night, quite a large number being present, a group coming from Sicamous.

Stanley Patterson, who has been living with Mr. and Mrs. Gray has gone to Vernon, having decided to reside with his father who is in business there.

A very successful public meeting was held last Monday night to consider the question of the annual Xmas tree. Mr. Owen was chairman, and E. Bennett secretary. It was decided to have the tree on December 21st. The various committees were formed and a further meeting is called for Thursday night to receive reports, etc. Judging by the interest displayed this will be a bigger and better one than ever.

The sad news was received here last Friday that Mrs. Aleaxander had died at Kelowna. Up till her marriage a few months ago, she lived at Mara with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Cutler, moving to Kelowna a short time ago, her husband and father having bought a place near that city. She was interested in all social gatherings, and her sudden death from typhoid fever is a sad blow to husband and relatives. Mrs. Hill and Mrs. Tilstead are sisters.

J. A. MacKelvie held a very successful meeting here last Thursday night, quite a large crowd turning out. Several local questions were publicly brought to his attention, particularly the timber birth, and the damage caused by the river wash. In the later case, it was pointed out to him that as this was a job that could be done to the best advantage in the winter when the river and roads were frozen, we should expect it to be proceeded with irrespective of the results of the election. The audience was very orderly and attentive, and Mr. MacKelvie seemed well pleased with it.

GRINDROD NOTES

One more telephone has been added to Grindrod's line. One being installed at the mill this week.

Mr. MacKelvie who held a meeting in the G. F. Hall on the 9th was very disappointed because of the small attendance. Had the meeting been in the evening a larger number would have attended. It is quite impossible for the people to attend an afternoon meeting in these parts. Mr. MacKelvie gave a very interesting talk to the few who attended. The meeting of Mr. Sutherland's campaign manager held on Saturday was very poorly attended but he will give another meeting in the near future in hope of addressing a larger audience.

An enjoyable Orangeman social was held in the G. F. Hall on Tuesday by the Orangemen. Games, music, cards and dancing were enjoyed by the people who attended. At 12 o'clock a light supper was served.

SCIENTIFIC PALMIST HERE

Prof. Rosen, Son of One of the Greatest Palmists of Europe, Visiting Enderby

Prof. Rosen, celebrated palmist arrived in Enderby yesterday and will be at the King Edward Hotel until Saturday afternoon when he leaves for Revelstoke. Prof. Rosen is a naturalized Canadian citizen, though of Polish-Russian origin, and went overseas with the Canadian forces. He is the son of one of the greatest palmists of the European Continent, and carries with him many credentials. A provincial exchange says of him:

"The professor is an expert palmist, and if you are interested in the subject you could not do better than pay him a visit. He delinates incidents in your past life correctly, giving you details and incidents that had completely slipped your memory. Sergt. Rosen, who served in the war, is a son of one of the greatest palmists of the European Continent."

Many people who would not believe in the science of palmistry have changed their minds after consulting Prof. Rosen. He claims to be an expert in bringing peace to the mind and determination to the troubled and undecided individual. Inquiry of anyone who has consulted the palmist and phrenologist will bring forth words of praise for him. He will tell you the past, present and future, and will be here for a few days. Will be pleased to make private calls. Don't miss the great opportunity to visit him.

Order your personal greeting cards early. You will find at the Walker Press a very choice selection to choose from, ranging in price from $2 to $3.50 per dozen, printed with your selection of greeting, name and date, with envelopes to match. All ready for mailing.
