FORTY ACRES OF TOWNSITE SOLD

William T. Myers Will Convert It Into a Ranch and Orchard--Will Irrigate With City Water

McQuarrie & Robertson, of Nelson, this week sold a 40 acre tract on the Columbia flat, just north of the Pacific hotel, to William T. Myers, who arrived in the city last week from Assiniboia, Sask., with his family, household effects, stock and farming implements. It is understood that the price paid was in the neighborhood of $125 per acre. Mr. Myers will start at once to improve the property, having made arrangements with the city for water for irrigation purposes until a general irrigation system is installed here. The tract consists of first-class soil, and with water the land can soon be converted into a highly productive orchard and ranch.

The Myers family have taken up their residence in J. H. Plath's house, opposite the Sun orchard.

Extension of the Road to Roach River

A Princeton report says the building of fourteen miles of wagon road, between the 16 and 30 mile posts, on the transprovincial road will be undertaken without delay, providing the necessary appropriations can be arranged for. This will afford transportation facilities for the returned soldiers who have made application for land on Roach river. W. K. Gwyer, district engineer, after going over the route, was waited upon by a deputation from the Great War Veterans' association and a committee of Princeton citizens. Mr Gwyer said he would recommend an appropriation of $20,000 from the government for the carrying out of this piece of work. The road could later be made suitable for automobile travel and form a part of the Hope-Princeton highway, which in time will be completed.

Engineer Gwyer was assured by the G.W.V.A. deputation that at least thirty returned soldiers could be put on the work as soon as he was ready to say the word.

Dr. Vigneaux Is Drowned in Lake at Nelson

Dr. Maurice Vigneaux, a well known Nelson physician, having numerous friends in Grand Forks, was accidentally drowned in the lake at Connaught park, Nelson, last Friday.

It appears that the physician, with his wife and children, had gone to the park for the afternoon and while there he noticed a little child, Elsie Turner, aged nine, in trouble off the sdore. Dr. Vigneaux could not swim but immediately went to rescue her, succeeding in reaching the child and was returning, handing the little one to another person, when he evidently stepped into a deep hole.

In the excitement following the rescue of the little child, no notice was paid to Dr. Vigneaux, who, however, had cried out for help, and it was later noticed that he was missing.

An alarm was given and rescuers, after some thirty minutes, succeeded in recovering his body. All efforts to resuscitate him failed, however.

Dr. Vigneaux was practicing his profession in Nelson and was quite popular. He frequently came to Grand Forks and was here quite often during the war, being connected with the army medical corps, also serving some time overseas.

U. S. TO OPEN RETAIL STORES

In Fourteen Big Cities First -- Hoarding and Speculation Is Charged Before House Committee on Appropriations

WASHINGTON, Aug. 26.—Further steps to bring down soaring prices were taken today by the government, the war department announcing plans for opening on September 25 in a number of cities through which surplus household commodities and clothing will be made available to consumers throughout the country.

Meantime congressional committees continued consideration of legislation designed to reduce the high cost of living. This included amendments to the food control act, to punish profiteering and hoarding, bills to rogulate cold storage and appropriations for the federal trade commission to investigate stocks and give the information to the public

Through the retail stores to be opened by the war department the army's large surplus stock of socks, underwear, shirts, raincoats, blankets, gloves, tobacco, soap and other household commodities will be sold. Consumers in the large cities where the stores will be opened will be able to purchase over the counter, but the stocks will also be made available to persons in other communities through the parcel post.

Price lists are being prepared and these will be furnished to all post offices for the convenience of the public. While no announcement has yet been made, it is expected the prices, like those on the foodstuffs now being disposed of, will be considerably below the market.

The present plan is to open stores in the 14 zone supply cities, Boston, New York, Philadelphia, Baltimore, Atlanta, Jeffersonville, Chicago, St. Louis, New Orleans, San Antonio, Omaha, El Paso, San Francisco and Washington. The chain will be extended to additional cities as rapidly as possible.

The price paid was $20,000. Mr. Omanney, who was a soldier in the late war, is now in an hospital in England, but he will come out here next spring.

Drunk With Spending

It was a disconcerting speech delivered by G. L, Lamb at the Kincardine United Farmers of Ontario convention, says the London Advertiser, yet, it add, it is hard to deny the truth of his statement: "My country is drunk, and our good neighbor is putting out her hand to steady us." It is not comfortable to know that the ordinary expenditure of the Dominion, apart from war debt, has been going ahead of revenue for some years. Mr. Lamb quotes the New York Sun, which says "we must steady Canada."

As he says, Canada needs to do two things as soon as possible, retrench in public and private expenditure, and produce more. Particularly agriculture, our basic industry, must be encouraged. By every reasonable means prices must be cut dowu, especially on the things the farmer buys.

The farmer will find a powerful weapon against the forces which are bringing Canada towards bankruptcy in the proposed tariff legislation of the Liberal party's platform. It is perfectly true that since 1911 the country has gone drunk on borrowed money, but let us straighten up ourselves without waiting for a steadying hand from over the border.

The claim is made that the United States government's vigorous campaign against profiteering is having the effect of reducing the cost of living in that country. If this is true, the campaign must be acting like a teeter board, because in this country prices appear to be still on the up grade, and if this rule is to continue, it is to be hoped that prices won't drop too far on the other side of the line. This may be a selfish wish, but self-preservation is always the first law of nature.

There has been a brisk demand for Kettle valley ranch land during the past week, and there are indications that this demand will continue or even increase in vigor. If we are successful in obtaining the irrigation system now under consideration, Grand Forks will before many years be the center of one of the best and most prosperous fruit growing and mixed farming districts in British Columbia. The main idea at present is to keep a weather eye on tue water.

Health authorities and workers in Canada should be alive to the danger of insidious propaganda now being carried on in the name of religion to emasculate the entire public health program. The movement is not so in evidence in the Dominion as in other countries, but it is insidiously pursuing its nefarious and deadly work. The most recent manifestation of this 'cult' was the introduction into the state legislature of Minnesota of a bill, entitled "To prohibit compulsory medical examination and treatment, except in certain cases, without their consent and, in case of minors, without the consent or their parents or gaurdians, and prescribing remedies against and penalties for violation thereof." The bill failed of passage, but the public are cautioned against a movement of this kind by which the physical examination of cases of communicable diseases, even in epidemic form, or the powerful agent of quarantine itself, would be prohibited and penalized. Under the sacred name of religion many prejudices have taken shelter and questionable things have been done in the past. This attempt to frustrate the safeguarding of public health is the most modern form of this hypocrisy.

Water does not injure automobiles, but sunlight is bad for them, and since moist air works in between the layers of cotton they deteriorate rapidly in a humid atmosphere. They should be stored in a dry, dark place.

The cost of living in Germany is rapidly falling. Eggs have got down to $3.96 a dozen. You can buy a bar of chocolate in Berlin for $3.75, a cake of imported soap for $4.50, a pound of coffee for $4.00 or a pound of butter for $6.25.

Although the American bison will probably never again roam the western plains in great numbers, it is good to know that the herds in the American national parks are growing rapidly. The herd of fifteen that was brought a few years ago from the state of New Yorks to the Wichita national forest in Oklahoma—one of several successfully "planted" herds—has increased to more than a hundred.

Men, my brothers, men and workers, ever reaping something new;
That which they have done but earnest of the things that they shall do;
For I dipt into the future, far as human eye could see,
Saw the vision of the world, and all the wonders that would be;
Saw the heavens fill with commerce, argosies of magic sails,
Pilots of the purple twilight, dropping down with costly bales;
Heard the heavens fill with shouting, and there rain'd a ghastly dew
From the nations' airy navies grappling in the central blue;
For along the world wide whisper of the south wind rushing warm,
With the standards of the peoples plunging thro' the thunder storm;
Till the war-drum throbb'd no longer, and the battle-flags were furl'd,
In the Parliament of man, the Federation of the world.
There the common sense of most shall hold a fretful realm in awe,
And the kindly earth shall slumber, lapt in universal law.
—Tennyson.

Hon. T. D. Pattullo, minister of lands; E A. Cleveland, comptroller of water rights, and J. E. W. Thompson, M.P.P., are expected to visit the city next week in connection with the irrigation project. Some definite news concerning the scheme should be available after their visit.

W. J. E. Biker, of Nelson, district water engineer, will visit Grand Forks next week.

Stanley Davis has been ill at his home during the present week.

Sometimes it is necsssary to drill an oil well 4300 feet to sink all the money invested in it.

During his visit to this city Ernest Miller kept the bass in Christina lake guessing which way to turn to evade the hook.

Even if the West end was slighted, it is gratifying to know that one section of the city had a good, drenching rain this week.

Don't Pose When You Telephone

There was a picture in the papers recently of Enid Bennett, movie star, using the telephone. Miss Bennett is a fine actress, and she surely knows how to use a telephone, but in this case she had her face turned away from the transmitter. Perhaps she was posing, but it might have suggested to some one that her method was the proper one when telephoning.

When you telephone, talk directly into the instrument, with your lips an inch or so from the transmitter. Then you will have to talk in an ordinary tone, and the person at the other end will be able to hear you distinctly.

Extraordinary Breed of Hens

An American spending his holidays in County Roscommon, Ireland, fell into a conversation with a farmer who was feeding his hens. "I guess Pat, you haven't as good hens here as we have in the States!" "Perhaps not," said Pat. "I'll tell you," said the Yankee, "about a hen my mother had. She went out one day and ate a feed of corn and returned and laid fwelve eggs. She went out the next day and ate a feed of corn, and laid twelve more eggs. She went out the third day and returned and laid twelve more eggs. She went out the fourth day and hatched seventy-two chicks out of the thirty-six eggs. Now that is the kind of hens we in the States" "Well," said Pat. "I'll you about a half blind hen my mother had. She ate a feed of sawdust thinking it was oatmeal; she went to her nest and laid a plank twelve feet long. Again on the second day she ate more sawdust, and laid another plank twelve feet long On the third day she ate more sawdust, and laid another twelve-foot plank. She sat on the three planks and hatched three kitchen chairs, a sofa, one table a mahogany chest of drawers. Now," said Pat, "that is the kind of hens we have in Roscommon."

One of Lloyd George's Most Amasing Stories

Probably with all the stories associated with the name of Lloyd George the following is the best: During the Welsh disestablishment campaign the Bishop of St. Asaph had held a meeting in Flintshire. In due time the future prime minister had a reply meeting. His chairman, a Welsh deacon, with strong convictions but no sense of humor introduced Lloyd George in the following terms: "I haff to introduce to you tonight the member for the Carnarvon borough. He hass come here to reply to what the Bishop of St. Asaph said the other night about Welsh disestablishment. In my opinnion, gentlemen, the Bishop of St. Asaph is one of the biggest liars in creation, but, thank God, we haff a match for him tonight."

The Had Met Before

"Socially as well as historically, the war has brought many changes," said Senator Chamberlain at a dinner in Washington. "The man who was boss at home quite often was the private at the front. In fact, the whole order of things has been knocked topsy-turvy. At the ball held at Chevy Chase the other night I overheard one lovely young matron remark to an officer with whom she had danced for the third time: 'Do you know, captain, I can't get it out of my head that we have met before.' 'I don't doubt it in the least, madam,' replied the officer, courteously. 'I was your milkman for the past three years.'"

The Real Point

In a certain case, where the charge was the theft of a watch, the evidence was conflicting. As the jury retired the judge observed that he would be glad to help in adjusting any difficulties that might present themselves to the minds of the jury.

Eleven jurors filed out of the box. One man who remained wore an expression of extreme perplexity.

Observing his hesitation the judge said:

"Would you like to ask me a question?"

"Yes, your honor," replied the juror eagerly. "I'd be very glad if you'd tell me whether the prisoner really stole the watch."

A Periodic Stammerer

Mick's eyes glistened as his friend Pat brought out the bottle.

"Now, Mick, say when," Pat remarked as he slowly poured.

Time passed, but as Mick remained tongue tied Pat stopped and stared.

"Begorra, say when. Can't ye see O'm pourin' out?" remarked Pat, letting a few drops fall.

"Wh-wh-wh-when," exclaimed Mick at last.

"Sure, Oi didn't know yer stammered," remarked Pat, attending to his own glass.

"Bedad, Oi don't as a rule," repiled Mick, smiling, "but, shure now, Oi can't help it on special occasions."

Hadn't Changed a Bit

A fresh young man was pressing a gentleman, who evidently felt bored, to give an illustration of the transmigration of souls, showing how a person's identity might be maintained.

At last the old gentleman replied: "Supposing you should die, your soul might appear in a canary bird; when the canary bird died it might reappear in a lion or a tiger; again, it might reappear in a jackass—and I might stroke its ear and say, 'My dear fellow, you have not changed a bit.'"

The Delirious Kind

Senator Sheppard said the other day in Galveston:

"Drink, drink, drink. An honest old colored woman once visited a Galveston undertaker to arrange for her husband's burial.

"'Ham was a good man,' she said, 'and I want to bury him in an oak coffin.'

"'An oak coffin,' said the undertaker. 'Very good. An oak coffin. And what kind of trimmings?'

"'Trimmings?' said the old woman, in a frightened voice. 'No trimmings, sah. It was trimmings he died of.'"

SECOND EDITION WRIGLEY'S B.C. DIRECTORY ISSUED

The 1919 edition of Wrigley's British Columbia Directory is just off the press.

The past year has seen an increase of 32 places in the province that last year were not on the map. In all, 2042 cities, towns and settlements are described, giving geographical location, local resources, population, etc., followed by a list of business firms, residents and farmers.

Roy F. Wrigley, editor, states that the increase in number of pages from 960 to 1400 in this year's edition is made up mainly in new names and occupations of returned citizens who were last year on active service.

The Directory is an index of the whole province, and in addition to the description of 2042 places, contains a classified business directory under 446 headings, a trade name and brand section, and also gives a 100 page year book containing not only a list of all provincial government ministers and departmental officials but a synopsis of the jurisdiction of each department, of the functions of nearly every important official, and a summary of important legislation. There is also a concise history of the province, illustrated.

The price of the Directory is $10, and is published by Wrigley Directories, Ltd, Metropolitan Building, Vancouver.

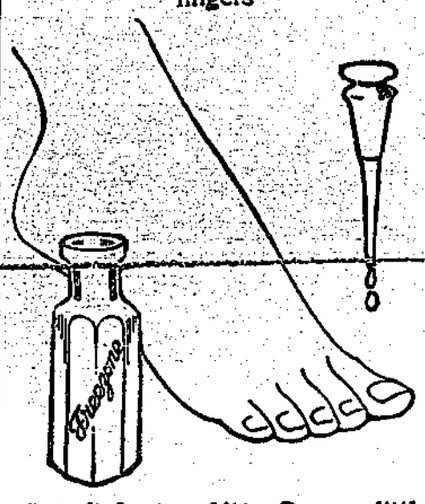
LIFT OFF CORNS!

Apply few drops then lift sore, touchy corns off with fingers



Doesn't hurt a bit! Drop a little Freezone on an aching corn, instantly that corn stops hurting, then you lift it right out. Yes, magic!

A tiny bottle of Freezone costs but a few cents at any drug store, but is sufficient to remove every hard corn, soft corn, or corn between the toes, and the calluses, without soreness or irritation.

Freezone is the sensational discovery of a Cincinnati genius. It is wonderful.

GIRLS! LEMON JUICE IS A SKIN WHITENER

How to make a creamy beauty lotion for a few cents.

The juice of two fresh lemons strained into a bottle containing three ounces of orchard white makes a whole quarter pint of the most remarkable lemon skin beautifier at about the cost one must pay for a small jar of the ordinary cold creams. Care should be taken to strain the lemon juice through a fine cloth so no lemon pulp gets in, then this lotion will keep fresh for months. Every woman knows that lemon juice is used to bleach and remove such blemishes as freckles, sallowness and tan and is the ideal skin softener, whitener and beautifier.

Just try it! Get three ounces of orchard white at any drug store and two lemons from the grocer and make up a quarter pint of this sweetly fragrant lemon lotion and massage it daily into the face, neck, arms and hands.
