BUILD TO SPOKANE

Vice-President Jenkinson Says Construction on Kettle Valley Extension Will Start in June.

When Finished the American Interests Will Buy the Stock and Bonds of the Toronto Capitalists.

In lieu of any definite news concerning railway construction in the immediate vicinity of this city, it is cheering to read the statement, made in Spokane a couple of days ago, of George B. Jenkinson, of New Yorks, vice-president of the Kettle Valley lines, which has been changed to the Spokane & British Columbia railway, to the effect that there was no doubt in his mind that the road would be extended from Republic to Spokane, and that the construction on it would commence in June.

Mr. Jenkinson said that, as vice-president of the road, he represented New York financiers who are furnishing the money to extend the road. W. T. Beck, of Republic, is the nominal head representing the Toronto capital that owns the road from Grand Forks to Republic. As soon as the line is completed to Spokane the American interests will buy the stocks and bonds of the Toronto people and will be absolute owners. The capital stock of the company has been increased from $1,000,000 for this extension. A bond issue will be made to cover the most of construction and improvements. The four miles of the road in British Columbia will still be operated under the old Republic & Kettle Valley charter. An extension from Republic to Keller would pay from the start. It is definitely located and will be built whether the extension from there to Spokane is made or not. The only question is from Spokane to Keller as to how such a road will pay. I am convinced it will. The Colville Indian reservation will be opened within two years at least. That will give us one of the richest timbered and mineral sections in the northwest. We will put a steamboat on the Columbia to run 60 miles north of the mouth of the Spokane river that will bring thousands of bushels of fruit to us. The road to be built will be 140 miles long. It will run south from Republic down the San Poil valley to the Hell's Gate on the Columbia. There the company plans a cantilever bridge with a single span of 650 feet. It will be all of steel and 70 feet above the river at high water.

Mr. Senkinson, accompanied by H. W, Warrington, chief engineer of the road, left Spokane today in an automobile for a trip over the entire proposed route to Republic.

WEDDING BELLS

The marriage of Miss Jannette Fraser Munro, of Gravel Hill, Ont., to Leonard Vaughan, of Grand Forks. B. C., was solemnized in St. James Presbyterian church, on March 29, at 3:30 p.m. Rev. G. Weir, of Avonmore, performed the ceremony. The bride was handsomely gowned in a tailor-made suit of dark broadcloth, lined with pearl white satin and trimmed with real pearl buttons and applique. Her hat was of the same shade, with a touch of white. She carried a bouquet of white roses. The bridesmaid, Miss Margret Blair, a niece of the bride, wore a dress of blue cheviot and a black picture hat. She carried a bouquet of pink roses. Little Miss Jessie W. Newman, of Maple Lane Place, acted as maid of honor, and Miss Dorothy Janet Munro, a niece of the bride was flower girl. The groom was attended by a brother of the bride, James S. Munro, merchant, Monkland. As the bride entered the church, leaning on the arm of her brother, Charles C. Munro, Mendelssohn's wedding march was played by the organist, Miss Clara Coulthart. The ushers were M. McRae, G. H. Bigelow, Stewart Begg, Archie Stewart and Matthew Crawford. The groom's present to the bride was a handsome mink stole and muff; to the bridesmaid, a chilian topaz ring; to Miss Jessie Newman, a miniature diamond ring; to Miss Dorothy Janet Munro, a solid gold necklace; to the groomsman, a gold ring; to Charles Munro, a stick pin with pearl settings, and to Miss Clara Coulthart, a five-piece shirtwaist set. The church decorations were simple but effective. The bridal party stood directly in front of a bank of evergreens, white roses and carnations. There were potted plants in each window, and each pew was decorated with evergreens. A dainty bow of white festooned hung gracefully in the background. After congratulations, the newly-wedded couple left on the 5:21 p.m. train for Boston and other New England cities. They were showered with confetti, rice, old rubbers and good wishes. They will spend a short time among friends here before leaving for their home in British Columbia.—Cornwall (Ont.) Freeholder.

Mr. Vaughan is one of the largest and most prosperous ranchers in this valley. The Sun joins the numerous friends of the happy couple in wishing them a long and happy married life.

HE GOT THE HORSE

Mr. Joe Manly recently took so strong a fancy to one of George Taylor's horses that he made up his mind to acquire the animal, no matter what the price might be. Yesterday the deal was closed, Mr. Manly giving three lots and a good dwelling house in the North addition in exchange for the horse. On the property is also a bearing orchard, and Mr. Taylor says he is going to sell enough fruit this fall to buy two horses like the one he parted with.

NOTICE

The City Council will furnish free of charge shade trees to persons who wish to plant them on the street; provided, that both sides of the street in any block are planted, and a guarantee for proper care of such trees is given by owners of the respective lots.

Persons wishing to be supplied with trees must petition the Council not later than Monday evening, April 17th inst.

NEWS OF THE CITY

Taylor & Fisher Secure the Contract for Digging the Irrigation Ditch on Covert's Ranch.

Items of Local Interest Gathered by The Sun's Industrious and Veracious Reporter.

Taylor and Fisher, the general contractors, have been awarded the contract for digging the irrigation ditch from Fourth of July creek to Covert's ranch. The ditch will be 6600 feet in length, of an average depth of three feet, and it will take about two weeks to complete the work. The water will have a fall of about 300 feet. Five or six carloads of wooden pipe are expected here soon, and on their arrival the pipe will be laid in the trench, which will then be re-covered.

Ald. Chas. Cusson this week disposed of his interest in the Queens notel, near the Great Northern station, to his partner, Ed Duford, and with his family will shortly remove to Winnipeg, where he resided prior to coming to Grand Forks. Mr. Cusson has also rented his ranch for five years. He is an old-timer of this city, and has served for a number of terms both in the Columbia and Grand Forks city councils, being at present a member of the latter body. His many friends will regret to learn of his intention to leave the city.

Evangelist McDermid will preach in the Baptist church Sunday morning at 11 o'clock, and in the opera house in the evening at 7:30. The evening subject will be, "The Bible the Word of God." The evangelist will answer the question, "Why do you believe the Bible to be the word of God?" Everybody welcome. Be early, and take a seat as far forward as you can.

In a letter, received this afternoon by The Sun, from Wadds Bros., the Vancouver and Nelson photographers, they state that owing to an unexpected improvement in their business at Nelson they will be unable to open their Grand Forks studio this week, as advertised, but will be over next week and be ready for business Good Friday morning, remaining over Easter Monday.

In Knox church next Sunday Rev. J. R. Robertson, pastor, will preach at both morning and evening services. Morning subject, "Life's Great Memorial." Evening subject, "The World-Wide Flock of the Great Shepherd." The service in the evening will be in harmony with the week of prayer for missions abroad, which is being observed by the churches in Canada and the United States.

Mrs. F. Robertson, mother of Rev. J. R. Robertson, of this city, arrived yesterday from her home in Manitou, Man., and will be visiting at Knox church manse for some time.

N. McLellan returned last night from a two weeks' trip to Spokane and the coast cities. He says business is good on the coast; but he likes Grand Forks better than ever, and will remain here for a short time longer at least.

City Solicitor E. Miller returned last night from a short visit to Victoria.

James H. Kennedy, chief engineer of the V., V. & E., returned to the city this week from a trip to the Princeton. C. A. DesBrisay, right of way agent of the same road, is also in the city.

Mrs. Chas. Peterson and son are visiting friends in Spokane this week.

Remember the annual concert to be held in the Grand Forks opera house on Monday, April 24th, under the auspices of Knox church Ladies' Aid. Preparations are about complete for a high-class and popular program. A special feature will be the selections by some of Mrs. Dahl's pupils, who are being specially prepared for the occasion. The program will be annouced next week.

Methodist church services on next Sunday at the usual hours. Morning subject, "Light on an Old Subject;" evening, "A Startling Announcement." Everybody welcome.

H. W. Warrington, chief engineer of the Kettle Valley lines, is in Spokane, as is also W. T. Beck, of Republic, president of the same road.

Jay P. Graves, of Spokane, general manager of the Granby Consolidated, visited the smelter and mines this week on a tour of inspection. Mr. Graves intends to go east shortly for the purpose of closing a deal for financing the Inland road, of which he is the promoter.

Provincial Constable I. A. Dinsmore left for Nelson this week. It is supposed that he was called to that place on account of the labor troubles at Salmo.

C. A. Stoess, C.E., formerly of this city, but now a resident of Vancouver, arrived here this week, and will superintend the construction of the big irrigation ditch on Covert's ranch.

Dr. K. C. MacDonald, dentist, has returned from Vernon, where he has a branch office.

A pleasant party, under the auspices of the Ladies of the Maccabees, was given at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. S. Shannon, in the West end, Wednesday evening. A literary and musical program was rendered, and tea was served.

Satisfactory progress is being made with the preparations for the concert to be given on Easter Monday, April 24th, in the Grand Forks opera house, under the auspices of Knox Church Ladies Aid society. Mrs. Dahl is training some of her most efficient pupils for a number of choice selections for the occasion.

J. F. Royer, who operates stages between Phoenix and Greenwood, is contemplating putting on a line to Hedley City.

PLANTING TREES

More Fruit Trees Are Being Set Out in This Valley This Spring Than Ever Before.

Timely Suggestions on the Preparation of the Soil and How to Plant Properly.

Fruit growing has long since passed the experimental stage in this valley, and this spring thousands of fruit trees, sets and plants ore being set out by the ranchers. April is the busy planting time. Perhaps more trees are planted during this month than at any other time. As The Sun has now an expert horticulturalist on its staff, this indispensable family journal feels amply qualified to offer a little good advice on this subject. The ground should always be prepared thoroughly, plowing, harrowing and discing until perfectly fine. In the volcanic ash soil pulverizing may not be so essential, though plowing to aerate the soil is always advisable. In the irrigated sections some planters make deep furrows, then let the water run in and plant trees with the water running. Generally speaking, when planting, dig holes large enough to admit the roots of the tree to spread out in their natural position; then, having the tree pruned, let one person hold it in an upright position, and the other shovel in the earth carefully, putting the finest and best from the surface in among the roots, filling every interstice, and bringing every root in contact with the soil. When the earth is nearly filled in, a pail of water may be thrown on to settle and wash in the earth around the roots; then fill in the remainder and tread gently with the foot. The use of water is seldom necessary, except in dry weather early in the fall or late in the spring. Guard against planting too deep; the trees, when the ground settles, should stand in this respect as they did in the nursery. In very dry, gravelly ground the holes should be dug twice the usual size and depth, and filled with good loamy soil. If the trees are tall and much exposed to wind, a stake should be planted with the tree, to which it should be tied in such a manner as to avoid chafing. A piece of matting or cloth may be tied between the tree and the stake. When the tree is planted throw around it as far as the roots extend and a foot beyond, five or six inches deep of rough manure or littar. This is particularly necessary in dry ground, and is highly advantageous everywhere both in spring and fall planting. It prevents the ground from baking or cracking, and maintains an equal temperature about the roots. The grass should not be allowed to grow around young trees, after being planted, as it stunts their growth.

THE EVENING SUN,

PHONE 55. GRAND FORKS, B. C.

FRIDAY, APRIL 14, 1905

From every indication, there is to be great activity in railway construction all around us during the coming summer. If we a provincial government with a little more backbone, the prospects for this immediate vicinity in this respect would now be considerably brighter.

Of course, the North Fork extension may be built without provincial aid. There are well-founded rumors that the company intends to do so. But as to the reports that the governernment is entering into a secret agreement with the company—that's all tommyrot. The government is powerless to render any assistance until the house meets again.

There is every prospect of good-sized boom in fruit lands in this valley during the coming summer. Things are a great deal brighter than they appear to be on a cloudy day.

The Great Northern will build 100 miles of road west of Midway this summer. The Okanagan and Similkameen districts should be the most prosperous sections in the province during the next twelve months.

It is to be hoped that the North Fork extension of the Kettle Valley line, from this city to the main line of the C.P.R., is double-tracked by the time The Sun's orchard, which is now being set out, gets to bearing. Freight blockades are rather inconvenient.

How to Get Consumption

90 per cent of the 'lungers' contract consumption by allewing power of resistance to fall so low that a favorable condition for the development of the baccilli is provided. In a healthy system consumption can't take root. But where there is weakness and debility, there you find tuberculosis. For developing strength and building up the weak, nothing equals Ferrozone. It makes the blood nutritious and the nerves enduring. The way it converts food into nutriment, the appetite it gives, is surprising. Just what the man verging on consumption needs —that's Ferrozone. If tired and weak don't put off. Fifty cents buys a box of fifty tablets—at all dealers.

Wadds Bros., Photographers

This well-known firm of Vancouver and Nelson will be at Blome's old staud, in this city, from Friday, April 21st, to Tuesday, April 25th. Parties desiring to see how handsome they are, should not fail to have their photos taken by these gentlemen, as they are acknowledged to be the leading artists in the province. Their work invariably takes the first prize at the New Westminster exhibition.

Millinery and Dressmaking

Mrs. Kelliher's millinery establishment on Winnipeg avenue carry the finest goods in the city. # RAILROAD NEWS

Contract for 100 Miles of Great Northern, West of Oroville, Has Been Let.

Reported From Victoria That Kettle Valley Line Will Build Without a Bonus.

The Great Northern has let the contract for its road from Oroville, Wash., on into the Similkmeen district of this province. Sims & Shields, railroad contractors of St. Paul, have taken the contract, and will probably sublet a large part of it. L. E. Shields passed through the city today with a large party of railroad contractors, who will go with him over the route. He was accompanied by James Coughren, Grant Smith, John Porter, William Winters, T. F. Wren, E. N. Jones, D. D. Twohy and Patrick Welch.

The section between Midway and Oroville will not be built at present, as there is an attempt to hold up the company for right of way between these two point. If this is persisted in, the company will build west from Republic or Curlew.

The Great Northern engineers are now stationed at Keremeos.

It reported from Victoria that F. M. Holland is authority for the statement that the North Fork extension of the Kettle Valley line will be constructed this summer without a provincial bonus.

Postmaster General Mulock has made the announcement that the parliamentary special committee on telephones will be glad to get written information or evidence from British Columbia or elsewhere.

His honor Judge Spinks, of Vernon, held a sitting of the county court here yesterday, but very little business was transacfed.

Synopsis of Regulations Governing the Disposal of Dominion Lands within the Railway Belt in the Province of British Columbia.

A LICENSE to cut timber can be acquired only at public competition. A rental of $5 per square mile is charged for all timber berths excepting those situated West of Yale, for which the rental is at the rate of 5 cents per acre per annum.

In addition to the rental, dues at the following rates are charged:—

Sawn lumber, 50 cents per thousand feet B.M.

Railway ties, eight and nine feet long, 1½ and 1¾ cents each.

Shingle bolts, 25 cents a cord.

All other products, 5 per cent, on the sales.

A license is issued so soon as a berth is granted, but in unsurveyed territory no timber can be cut on a berth until the licensee has made a survey thereof.

Permits to cut timber are also granted at public competition, except in the case of actual settlers, who require the timber for their own use.

Settlers and others may also obtain permits to cut up to 100 cords of wood for sale without competition.

The dues payable under a permit are $1.50 per thousand feet B.M., for square timber and sawlogs of any wood except oak; from ½ to 1½ cents per lineal foot for building logs; from 12½ to 25 cents per cord for wood; 1 cent for fence posts; 3 cents for railway ties; and 50 cents per cord on shingle bolts.

Leases for grazing purposes are issued for a term of twenty-one years at a rental of two cents an acre per annum.

Coal lands may be purchased at $10 per acre for soft coal and $20 for anthracite. Not more than 320 acres may be acquired by one individual or company.

Royalty at the rate of 10 cents per ton of 2,000 pounds is collected on the gross output.

Entries for land for agricultural purposes may be made personally at the local land office for the district in which the land to be taken is situated, or if the homesteader desires, he may, on application to the Minister of the Interior at Ottawa the Commissioner of Immigration at Winnipeg, or the local agent for the district within which the land is situated, receive authority for some one to make entry for him.

A fee of $10 is charged for a homestead entry.

A settler who has received an entry for a homestead, is required to perform the conditions connected therewith under one of the following plans:—

(1) At least six months' residence upon and cultivation of the land to each year during the term of three years.

It is the practice of the Department to require a settler to bring 15 acres under cultivation, but if he prefers he may substitute stock; and 20 head of cattle, to be actually his own property, with buildings for their accommodation, will be accepted instead of the cultivation.

(2) If father (or mother, if the father is deceased) of any person who is eligible to make a homestead entry under the provisions of the Act, resides upon a farm in the vicinity of the land entered for by such persons as a homestead, the requirements of the Act as to residence prior to obtaining patent may be satisfied by such person residing with the father or mother.

(3) If the settler has his permanent residence upon farming land owned by him in the vicinity of his homestead, the requirements of the Act as to residence may be satisfied by residence upon the said land.

Application for a patent should be made at the end of three years before the local agent, sub-agent or a homestead inspector.

Before making an application for a patent, the settler must give six months' notice in writing to the Commissioner of Dominion Lands at Ottawa, of his intention to do so.

Unto the Third Generation

By CICELY ALLEN

Copyright, 1904, by M. Wood

Francesca climbed the stairs with dragging steps. Dick caught up with her and supported her elbow with his strong, firm hand. It was good to feel his support, his presence, even though she had grown somewhat accustomed to it, and she turned to him with a wan smile.

At the head of the first flight of stairs they turned into Mrs. Miller's little sitting room, and Francesca dropped wearily into the low rocker by the window. Dick sat on the window ledge swinging his feet. His hall bedroom was on the floor above. Francesca had the room next to Mrs. Miller's, but since their engagement had been announced the good natured landlady had rather turned her little sitting room over to their use.

"In my days young folks didn't have to do their courting in the park, and I don't think it's right and proper," she had said in explanation to her oldest boarder, a crusty bachelor.

And now the two young people sat in the twilight, typifying the two sections of the country from which they had come—Francesca, gentle, clinging and drooping in the fierce struggle for existence in the great northern city, shrinking from the clamor of trains overhead, the clang of surface cars at her side and longing for the mellow moonlight and the voice of the nightingale in her old southern home; Dick, alert, quick, fascinated by the opportunities which had drawn him from a midwest farm. He had brought nervous energy and strong, vigorous blood, and New York loves to sap and live off them both. They had met on the commercial highway and loved. At least Dick was quite sure of it on his side. Tonight—well, Francesca hardly knew what was wrong tonight.

"A whole day to ourselves tomorrow, sweetheart," he was saying.

"Yes," replied Francesca bitterly. "That's what all the girls were saying today. You'd think we were slaves—and—well, we are!"

Dick looked at her in surprise. Then he spoke cheerily.

"Well, we shan't be always. Do you know, Francesca, that little venture in real estate is coming out all right. I could have sold my share today at a net gain of a thousand. But I think I'll hang on until we're married, and we'll build on the corner lot."

"And you'll be a commuter, and I'll die of loneliness through the day."

Dick eyed her anxiously.

"Things go wrong at the shop? Well, never mind. Tomorrow we'll have the whole day"—

"Don't say that again," she commanded, then corrected herself quickly. "I mean, where shall we go?"

"If you don't mind, I'd like to take a few flowers out to one of the cemeteries." Then, seeing the surprise in her face, he added hastily: "Not that I've any one buried around here, only at home on Memorial day we always put flowers on the soldiers' graves, and I guess we can find plenty of 'em around here. Then we'll go down to one of the beaches on the boat. We won't get off. Just take the water ride."

Francesca's hands were clasped tightly over her crossed knees.

"You can do as you like. I'll never decorate a Federal soldier's grave, Dick Merrill, never! If it hadn't been for that war I'd not be in this dreadful, dreadful city working—working like a slave for $15 a week, with girls who don't know how to dress, to talk, to act. My people always had money, but my grandfather was killed in your war. My father could not regain what the war had swept away. He died struggling with the problem, and my mother followed him with a broken heart. I hate the north, even though I had to come and ask it for bread. And you ask me to decorate the graves of men who devastated my home!"

"I didn't think, Francesca, dear; honestly I didn't. You see, we've always kept the day. My folks fought on the other side, and then I guess I'm a bit old fashioned. It seems natural to go to the cemetery, and I didn't think of how you might feel."

"That's it. You didn't think. You'll never understand me," the girl said in low, passionate tones. "There's the Mason and Dixon line between us. You northern men are so different. You're all business and dollars. You get us southern girls up here and grind our lives out."

Dick looked serious now, but he forced a smile.

"If the north had not claimed your talents, dear, we would never have met," he said, and it was her cue to soften, but she did not take it.

"Oh, I hate it! I hate it—the air, the noise, the rush! It has no compensations."

She did not mean it just that way, but Dick took the words literally. He stood up suddenly and very straight.

"I am sorry, Francesca, that you think I cannot make you happy."

And when she looked up he had left the room so quietly that she could hardly believe the move had been taken by vigorous, stalwart Dick Merrill.

* * * * * * *

She did not come down to breakfast the next morning, and when Mrs. Miller appeared at her bedside with a cup of coffee and some golden brown toast the sound of muffled drums in the distance told her that the parade was in motion.

"Dear me, suz, but the house seems quiet! It's funny how all New York does make the most of a holiday. Mr. Merrill said you weren't feeling well, but I think it would have done you good to go out."

Francesca sipped at her coffee without replying.

"Seems as if I just must go myself, but Lizzie, she was set on taking the day off, and she's such a good help I didn't want to cross her, but I do hate to miss going to the cemetery. Isn't it funny, Mr. Merrill and I coming from the same town? I knew just how he felt this morning when he said he'd go out and decorate some graves. We always did it at home, with the G. A. R. at the head of the procession and the children carrying the flowers and wreaths. I didn't lose anybody close in the war, as near as I can remember, but it meant a lot to Dick Merrill's folks."

Francesca looked up suddenly.

"Ain't he ever told you?" Mrs. Miller said in surprise. "Well, mebbe he thought the war was a tender subject with you southerners. Why, his grandfather enlisted and took his three boys with him. All four of 'em are buried among the unknown dead somewheres south of the Mason and Dixon line. Mary Ann Merrill—that's Dick's mother—she somehow couldn't make things go, and she wound up in the poor farm. Yes, there were plenty of folks that took to the poor farms after the war. But Dick, he wasn't the kind to stay there. Blood will tell, and he had more of his father's blood than his mother's in him. When I see him, so straight and good looking, so well dressed and carrying himself as if he expected to own New York before he got done, I say that blood will tell every time. There's some folks that even having their whole family wiped out by the war won't down, and that's the sort Dick is. My laws, there's that bell again! Don't you want any more toast? Well, you'd better come down after awhile and we'll have a little lunch. None of the boarders will be home before dinner time."

But one of the boarders did come in very soon. He had a florist's box in his hand, and he walked quietly into Mrs. Miller's sitting room, where Francesca, looking a bit pale from her headache, but very sweet and gentle, rose at his entrance.

"Oh, Dick, have you come back for me? Is it too late to go?"

"I guess we won't go, Francesca. You see, I didn't understand—and these are violets for you instead."

"Oh, but we will go, you and I together, dear. It was I who didn't understand, and we must have common interests, dear heart. We can't afford to let the old feud come between us of the third generation. We'll scatter those violets over the graves of the unknown dead."

And so they went forth into the beautiful spring sunlight, and Mrs. Miller, peeping from behind the curtains of the basement, smiled as if sight of them had made the whole day glad for her.

Sir James Watson's Opinion

He says that the commonest of all disorders, and one from which few escape, is catarrh. Sir James firmly believes in local treatment, which is best supplied by Catarrhozone. No case of catarrh can exist where Catarrhozone is used; it is a miracle worker, relieves almost instantly and cures after other remedies fail. Other treatments can't reach the diseased parts like Catarrhozone because it goes to the source of the trouble along with the air you breathe. Catarrhozone is free from cocaine, it leaves no bad after-effects, it is simply nature's own cure. Accept no substitute for Catarrhozone, which alone can cure catarrh. H. E. Woodland, druggist.
