THE CITY COUNCIL

Health Matters and an Isolation Hospital the Principal Topics

The mayor and all the aldermen were present at the regular meeting of the city council last Monday night.

Prior to the meeting being called to order, Geo. Hnll, secretary of the school board, addressed the members of the council, stating that the board had engaged Dr. Truax as medical health examiner for the public school at a salary of $25 per month. Mr. Hull enumerated the duties of the health examiner, and was of the opinion that the board had made a good bargain.

A communication was read from C. J. Fagan, secretary of the British Columbia Anti-Tuberculosis society, notifying the council of the annual meeting of the court of governors, and soliciting aid. The clerk was instructed to forward a cheque for $30 to the society.

A letter was read from the city council of Vancouver, soliciting an expression of opinion by the Grand Forks council in regard to the provincial government acquiring and operating the telephone systems of the province. On motion of Ald. Follick and Wolfram, the following resolution was passed: "That the city council of Grand Forks, in regular session assembled, hereby declares its approval of the principle of public ownership of all telephone systems, and owing to the provincial of the telephone systems now operating in British Columbia, it would be preferable for their ownership and operation to be under the direct management of the provinciol government, and that a copy of this resolution be forwarded to the city clerk of Vancouver."

Ald. Follick, for the committee appointed to interview the school trustees, reported having seen individual members of the board, and recommended that one doctor perform the duties of city health officer and school medical examiner, provided that he could be engaged at a reasonable salary. Ald. Henniger favored the appointment of Dr. Truax as city health officer, owing to the preseure of the school board. On motion of Ald. Manly and Rutherford, the report was received and ordered filed. On motion of Ald. Manly and Rutherford, a committee was appointed to confer with the school trustees. The mayor named Ald. Follick and Wolfram as such committee.

Ald. Henniger was granted leave to introduce a bylaw defining the duties of the city health officer, and it passed its first and second readings.

On motion of Ald. Manly and Henniger, the clerk was instructed to communicate with the premier of the province, and to request that in accordance with his promise of April 26, 1909, early attention be given by the government to the matter of establishing an isolation hospital in the vicinity of Grand Forks. The council also instructed the clerk to forward the request to Earnest Miller, M.P.P., asking him to assist the city in having the government build and equip the said isolation hospital.

The chairman of the health and relief committee reported that the cesspool at the Winnipeg hotel was in an unsanitary condition, as was also the back yard at the Columbia brewery. The clerk was instructed to request the city health officer to have these premises placed in sanitary condition.

The Grand Forks Fruit Growers' association will hold its annual meeting in the city hall on Thursday evening, February 17th.

CARE OF TREES

Timely Instructions to the Man Who Intends to Plant an Orchard

Trees just received from the grower should be given quick and careful attention. It would not be out of place to consider the trees as babies taken out of a cradle on a cold day. Have the box or bale conveyed to the inside of a building, or to the shelter of a shed, away from the sun and wind. After the covering is removed take out the trees, check each tree or bundle off with the original order and see that the order is received as given. With a sharp knife remove superfluous roots and particularly all broken or badly bruised ones, cutting from the under side. Shorten back or cut away clear all the fluffy roots.

In a prepared thick puddle of clayey water immerse the roots and convey the trees at once to the planting ground, well covered, or trench in moist, loamy soil until ready to set out.

Assuming that the holes are ready to receive the trees, that they are dug wider and deeper than would appear necessary to the beginner, you should take the tree from its covering, set it in the hole while another should shovel in the best soil that is within reach. The one holding the trees should keep the tree upright, working it up and down, thus causing the loose earth to settle naturally and gradually around the roots. Should the hole be too deep draw the roots gradually towards the top, leaving the tree so that it stands about two inches deeper than its original position in the nursery. As soon as the roots are covered, with a tamper thoroughly firm the soil. Don't neglect this part of the work. The one that is shoveling should shovel in the soil as fast as the other can thoroughly firm it, and no faster. Leave the soil on the top loose.

The first summer's care:

Never allow the soil to crust around the trees; hoe or cultivate, say twice a week, and after every heavy rain, especially if the soil is clayey. Cultivation should cease by the middle of September, and before winter sets in a mound of soil thrown up around each tree to shed off surplus water and also to afford a protection against mice.

The second summer's care:

In early spring scatter two or three handfuls of any good commercial fertilizer around each tree and continue the hoeing and cultivating as during the first year. Look the trees over carefully, clip out weak shoots or those that cross one another; bank thoroughly before winter sets in.

How and when to prune:

This is an important, but often neglected work. Different trees may be handled differently. More trees are lost the first season, or much injured for future fruiting, owing to the planters' inexperience, or on account of being afraid of doing damage, than by any other cause. When pruning a newly planted peach tree I remove all the branches, also from one-third to one-half the stem or body. In the case of pears, apples and plums, that are two and three years old, I cut out all weak limbs first, then reduce the length of the remaining branches, so as to show an evenly balanced head. If late in the spring, I reduce the top much more than if early. The above refers to spring planting. If the trees are planted in fall I do not prune until the following spring.

Handling raspberry and other tender plants:

Many fail to get an even plantation the first season because the plants were not handled carefully enough. Don't let a gleam of sunshine strike them, or a puff of drying wind, if you can help it. If the day is windy, better put off the planting until there is a calm, then hustle. But with all your hustling remember that the holes or furrows should only be opened as fast as needed. Don't put dry soil directly onto the root. When planting tip raspberry plants, keep your eye on the new shoot. Lose sight of the old cane. See that the new shoot tip is not buried too deep or broken off. See that the soil is pressed firmly about the roots. In case of red raspberry and blackberry plants, cut off the canes directly after planting, within two inches of the ground; your success depends on the new growth that is to come from the root, and not on the cane as you receive it.

During the summer use the hoe freely, but lightly. Keep down the weeds, draw moist soil around each plant often. If land is poor scatter well rotted manure around the plants before winter sets in. The following spring trim the plants, shaping them up as it were. Cut off the straggling ends of all the canes. A fair crop of fruit should be harvested in season.—E. H. Burson.

Prominent Railway Officials

Among the visitors of note passing through the city this week were a group of Great Northern railway officials, who were here for a short time on Sunday, and again on Monday afternoon as they returned from Princeton. The party travelled by special train, and was making an annual tour of inspection. It included General Manager Frank M. Gruber, of St. Paul; Superintendent of Motive Power Geo. Everson, St. Paul; General Superintendent Brown; Division Superintendent R. C. Morgan, of Spokane, who was accompanied by Mrs. Morgan and their children; General Master Mechanic Wm. Kelly; Divisional Master Mechanic P. T. Carroll, together with a retinue of clerks and stenographers.

Chinese New Year

The Chinese New Year was ushered in this week with a demanstration such as to make the citizens sit up and take notice. The affair looked and smelled like a cross between a battle at sea and a fair-time Midway at night. The preliminary notes of the celebration were heard on Thursday evening, their actual new year's night, but the following evening saw by far the finest display of fireworks on Chinese avenue. Numbers of the English-speaking residents went over to wish their Chinese friends a happy new year, to admire their lavishly-blooming lilies, and to eat preserved ginger with them. Later in the evening any meteors lurking about were quite put to shame by the brilliancy of the fireworks display.

SOLD FOR $20,000

Messrs. Kerman, Kerby and Atwood Purchase the Brown Estate

A land deal of considerable importance to the valley, and likewise one of the largest recorded in this city for a number of months, was brought to a successful termination yesterday, when Messrs. H. C. Kerman, F. M. Kerby and C. A. S. Atwood took over the W. J. Brown estate, consisting of 1300 acres, and located a mile south of the city limits of the Grand Forks. The consideration is stated by Mr. Kerman, who negotiated the deal, to have been in the neighborhood of $20,000.

The estate consists of 375 acres of the best fruit land in the valley, and 200 acres of good farm and hay land, the balance being range land. It is the intention of the purchasers to place this land on the market shortly in ten and twenty-acre tracts.

The purchaser will, as soon as possible, install an irrigation system on this land. The contemplated system will put a block of 200 acres of fruit lands under irrigation.

Grand Forks Defeated

Last Monday evening the Grand Forks hockey team went up to Greenwood by special train to play the eighth game scheduled in the Boundary league, and were defeated by a score of 6 goals to 1. The play is reported to have been fast throughout, Greenwood scoring 5 goals in the first half, while Grand Forks failed to find the net. In the second they each scored one. McDonald, Bloomfield, Rehon and Cameron did all the scoring for Greenwood. For Grand Forks, Lang played an exceptionally strong game in goal. E. G. Warren refereed the game.

The line-up was as follows:

GRAND FORKS		GREENWOOD
Lang	Goal	Watson
McAlmas	Point	Chas. Russell
Mann	C. Point	McDonald
Quinn	Rover	Bloomfield
Baker	Centre	Clerff
Gilmour	R. Wing	Cameron
Reid	L. Wing	Rehon

Unique Game

A decidedly novel spectacle was witnessed at the rink last night, when the Ladies' Hockey team was pitted against the regular league team in a match game of Canada's national winter sport. As a handicap, however, the men were compelled to wear petticoats and to have one hand tied behind their backs. The game resulted in a victory for the ladies by a score of 2 goals to 1. The gate receipts will go towards paying off the indebtedness of the rink. After the game the spectators were of the opinion that, from a playing point of view, the handicap was an unnecessary precaution. But it prevented the men from hugging their opponents.

The resolution adopted by the city council, placing itself on record as being in favor of the acquisition by the provincial government of the telephone systems throughout the province, is of a decided Socialistic nature; but it is doubtless harmless, because we do not believe that such a such a move is seriously contemplated at present. Were the question a live issue before the people today, however, we should oppose the proposition, because we do not think any government, no master of what shade, should be permitted to entrench itself in power by providing phat situations for a horde of political hangers-on and parasites. Manitoba acquired the telephone systems of that province at treble their actual value, but there is yet no evidence that either the public treasury or the patrons of the phones have been benefited by the purchase.

The news from Victoria that Premier McBride intends to hold the railway companies to agreements entered into with the government prior to its appeal to the country, is of a cheerful nature. If the vote in the late election showed any one thing more clearly than another, it was that the people wanted the government's railway policy as enunciated by the press and from the public platform. If that policy is not carried out to the letter, the electorate will not hesitate to make know its disapproval of the government on the first occasion that arises. It is therefore to Mr. McBride's interest to see that the railway companies do not evade any of the terms contained in the agreements.

The meeting called for next Monday for the purpose of organizing an agrieultural association should arouse the interest of every citizen who desires to see our city prosper and grow. In order to secure our share of settlers, we must let the outside world know what we have here, and what we can produce. The best method of doing this is by holding annual agricultural exhibitions. But before this can be done, it is first neceesary to form an agricultural association. This step will be taken next Monday night.

A Philadelphia paper has adviced the farmers of Pennsylvania and the east to visit the orchards of the northwest to learn a lesson in fruit culture. It contends that they can raise just as fine a quality of apples on the Atlantic coast, if proper care is taken to prevent diseases and pests. Attention is also called to the attractive manner in which Washington and Oregon apples are sorted and packed, whereas the eastern fruit is dumped into a barrel. It concludes that this is only one of the many lessons that the eastern farmer can learn from his western brother.

The boycott is a double edged tool. Down in Iowa the farmers are now boycotting all union-made goods because the labor unions inaugurated a boycott against the meat trust.

After all, it is difficult to locate an impartial sporting critic. When the home team wins, it is brilliant playing, and when the visitors are victorious, it is either luck or rough playing.

NEWS OF THE CITY

While Herewood Henderson was out riding this morning his horse was scared by dog and became unmanageable. The animal stumbled and fell, throwing the rider to the ground. When picked up, young Henderson was unconscious. He was taken to his home, and Dr. Kingston was summoned. The doctor found that the injuries consisted of a slight cut above the right eye and some minor bruises. No serious cousequences are anticipated. The patient has regained consciousness and is rapidly recovering. The wound, however, only missed a vital spot by a hair's breadth.

DOMINION OF CANADA

DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE

Division of Entomology,
Central Experimental Farm,
Ottawa, Jan. 7th, 1910.

To Nurserymen and others,

We are again confronted with the possible introduction of the Brown-tail Moth into the Dominion in the shape of the winter nests on nursery stock imported from abroad, especially from certain regions in France where nursery stock has sometimes been found growing in fields bounded by hedges infested with the brown tail moth.

Last year nurserymen and other importers co-operated with this division in the work of preventing the introduction of this insect by notifying us of the arrival and expected arrival of consigments of nursery stock from abroad. This enabled the Division to inspect the stock and to destroy any of the winter nests that were found. Over a million and a half plants were examined and nearly two hundred nests were found on seedlings and stocks of pear, apple, plum, quince, cherry, rose, spiræa &c. In view of the fact that each nest contains from 200 to 300 young larvæ of this insect, the great benefit to fruit-growers, horticulturists and others resulting from the work of last season can readily be understood. In the eastern states thousands of dollars are being spent annually by the various authorities in their efforts to control and prevent the spread of this insect which has established itself in those regions since its introduction into Massachusetts on imported stock about the year 1890. It is of the utmost importance that all steps possible shall be taken to prevent its introduction and establishment in those regions of Canada now free from its attack, and its further spreading in those places in Nova Scotia and New Brunswick where it has been introduced accidentally. Its establishment in Canada would be most serious to the nurserymen and fruit-growers of this country, and every precaution possible must be taken to avert such a calamity.

Will you kindly inform me, therefore, if you are importing or have already imported nursery stock this season from abroad, and the place from which the stock is being or has been imported.

As nests have been found on stock imported during the present season, I should be pleased if you would send me this information at once in order that your stock may be inspected, if necessary. If the stock has not arrived already would you please send me notice as to the time of its arrival in order that it may be inspected at the time of unpacking, and thus the least inconvenience will be caused.

It has been found that fumigation is of no avail against this insect and that destruction by burning of the winter nests is the only safe remedy.

I feel sure that all to whom this letter is addrersed will be alive to the seriousness of the danger which is imminent, and will co-operate with the Division and other authorities in the efforts being taken to prevent the introduction and spread of the Brown-tail Moth. I shall be pleased to supply further information or reply to communications on the subject and shall be grateful for any assistance which you are able to give to me.

I have the honour to be, Sirs,
Yours obediently,

C. GORDON HEWITT,
Dominion Entomologist.

A fine blend of zeal and caution is often the essential element in a man's good luck.

In spite of the fact that money talks, it never gives itself away.

The severest penalty for trifling with a girl's affections is marriage.

We should never hear of some men if it wasn't for the enemies they make.

Strangely enough, the man who comes out on top isn't the lightweight.

The poet who feels he has a message for the world generally sends it collect.

Tell a girl she is beautiful and she won't care whether you think she has any brains or not.

Love isn't so blind that it can't distinguish the difference between a pedigree and a bank account.

It doesn't take the sweet girl graduate long to discover that it is far easier to win admirers than a husband.

A woman never realizes how awkward her husband is until he attempts to pass things to guests at the dinner table.

Perhaps an open countenance may be all right, but people who are never able to keep their mouths closed are all wrong.

A woman tells a man what she thinks she should think instead of what she really thinks.

Many a woman trusts a man with her affections who wouldn't lend him 30 cents.

The fellow who is forced to swallow his pride realizes that one swallow doesn't make a summer.

Many a bachelor doesn't take unto himself a better half becouse he does not believe in doing things ny halves.

Some fellows imagine they are such hot stuff that all their friends should suffer from heat prostration upon their approach.

Probably the reason that truth is stranger than fiction is because we meet it so much more seldom.

The man who is unable to do a thing himself is sometimes quite willing tell others how to accomplish it.

In training a husband it is quite necessary to impress him with the importance of bringing home a nice fat salary every week.

Having finished paying for the installment plan Christmas presents, it is now time to begin to save up money to satisfy the claims of the summer hotel shark.

If we could break ourselves of getting chilly, a habit, just a habit, that we acquired in the course of a long winter, we could enjoy beautiful spring much more.

Not Sisters

Now and again you see two women passing down the street who look like sisters. You are astonished to learn that they are mother and daughter, and you realize that a woman at forty or forty-five ought to be at her finest and fairest. Why isn't it so?

The general health of woman is so intimately associated with the local health of the essentially feminine organs that there can be no red cheeks and round form where there is female weakness.

Women who have suffered from this trouble have found prompt relief and cure in the use of Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. It gives vigor and vitality to the organs of womanhood. It clears the complexion, brightens the eyes and reddens the cheeks.

No alcohol, or habit-forming drugs is contained in "Favorite Prescription." Any sick woman may consult Dr Pierce by letter, free Every letter is held as sacredly confidential, and answered in a plain envelope. Address: World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R.V. Pierce, Pres., Buffalo, N.Y.
