SESSION OF CITY COUNCIL

Irrigation Pipe Manufacturing Plant May Locate Here--Enquiries for City Real Estate and the Pacific Hotel

The mayor and all the aldermen were present at the regular meeting of the city council on Monday evening.

C. V. Meggitt, on behalf of the Pacific Coast Metal company, interviewed the council regarding power rates and an available site for a plant for manufacturing iron pipe for the irrigation system. The council wns willing to offer snch an enterprise all the encouragement it possibly could.

A couple of offers for city real estate were referred to a commitee, with instructions to investigate and to report.

An enquiry was received for the rental of the Pacific hotel in the West end. The council offered to rent the same for $50 per month if used for hotel purposes.

G. H. Acres, on behalf of the soldiers' memorial committee, addressed the council, and made a request for a grant from the council with which to liquidate ihe committee's outstanding accounts. A grant of $108 was made, with the understanding that the balance of the subscriptions to the fund be paid into the city office.

A circular letter was received from the Victoria city council, asking the provincial government to either grant justice to municipalties or resign. Filed.

Kootenay Hive Case for Wintering Bees

[EXPERIMENTAL FARMS NOTE.]

Possibly no phase of agriculture has advanced so rapidly as that of beekeeping. In many lines of farming our methods are much the same as they were a hundred years ago. With oeekeeping there has been a great evolution, and today utensils and methods are standardised throughout the whole country. Beekeepers, however, are constantly on the oulook for new and still better methods for carrying on, and in the Kootenay hive case there is a form of winter and summer protection that possessis more virtues aud less faults than many of the methods now in vogue.

The Kootenay hive case is an improvement on the double walled hive. It has been introduced in the form of a permanent hive case, and is made to take the ten-frame hive. There is a three-inch space all around the brood chambet and supers. Up to the top of the brood chamber it is kept permanently packed with moss or planer shavings the year round. This is covered with small pieces of wood to prevent the moss from falling into the hive when open. Beneath the floor of the brood chamber tnere is also a three inch space packed with moss.

The stories, or "iifts," are all alike, and, as supers are added extra lifts ars put on. The cover is similar to the ordinary cover, but is made three-eighths of an inch larger all around than the top of the case while small triangular blocks nailed in each inside corner raise it and en sure ventilation. This opening also affords a means of escape for bees that may have become entrapped while working over the hive.

To pack for winter all that is necessary is to have one lift above the brood chamber packed with moss or planer shavings. To facilitate the packing we have pillows made from moss and gunny sacks just the siz of the story or lift. The cover is then added and the bees are packed for the winter. The only attention required is to keep the entrance cleared of dead bees.

The bees have more winter protection in this case than in the double walled hive, while the temperature in the hive is coolor and more uniform in summer. There is not the trouble of packing in the fall and unpacking in the spring as in the case of the ordinary double-walled hive or the Ontario wintering case. It is less expensive than the double-walled hive, as it is constructed largely from shiplap. The bees come through the winter in good shade and commence work early in the spring. Beekeepers would be well advised to give it a trial, as it has many excellent features.

WANT EXPERTS TO DIAGNOSE P.G.E.

Business Deputation Urging Reduction of Expenses to Minimum on Government Line

Victoria, Nov. 28.—Following a meeting in Vancouver on Friday last with regard to the fate of the Pacfic Great Eastern railway, an influential delegation interviewed the premier here this morning.

Shey suggested that the premier, as minister of railways, and W. J. Bowser, leader of the opposition, select a committee of railway experts to enquire into the whole situation and suggest some method of disposing of the government railway or handling it so that the expense to the province might be reduced to a minimum.

Premier Oliver advised the delegation that he had already decided to ask President Beatty of the C.P.R. and President Hanna of the Canadian Nationals for advice, and for suggestions as to the names of men suitable to carry out such an investigation. The interview occupied considerable time, and at its conclusion the delegation expressed satisfaction.

The premier said he would be glad to cooperate with Mr. Bowser in an endeaver to solve the problem.

Later Mr. Bowser told the delegation that he had suggested this move two years ago, mentioning the name of Chief Engineer Tye of the C.P.R. as a suitable man to submit an expert opinion. He said he had no objection to an investigation being made, provided the investigators were competent men.

The delgation included Sir Frank Barnard, Chris Spencer, E. P. Davies, K.C, Eric Harmber, Blake Wilson and R. P. Butchart.

IMPORTANT EVENT FOR HUMANITY

Sir Thomas White at New York Discusses the Washington Arms Conference

New York, Nov. 28.—Sir Thomas White, Canadian minister of finance during the war, termed the Washington conference an "epochal event in the history of humanity" in an address Saturday night at the annual dinner of the Canadian Society of New York.

"Reduce armament—yes," he said, "if fairly done and with the appreciation of the needs of each nation. Conferences of this character held periodically with their proceedings spread before the public opinion of the world must do untold good."

War would be measurably nearer its end, Sir Thomas declared, "if the home, the pulpit, the press and the political leaders of all nations could be iuduced to preach and practice right rules of conduct as between man and man, nation and nation."

He said there was still the possibility of war, due to aggressive policies and the economic necessities of nations with expanding populations.

There has recently been established at Anyox with the support and approval of the management of the Granby Consolidated Mining & Smelting company an inetitution known as the Granby Bay Polytechnic. This will give an opportunity to the young people of that mining commuuity to obtain a knowledge of mineralogy, metallurgy, etc. At the inaugural meeting H. S. Monroe, general manager for the company, gave the educational enterprise his unqualified endorsation.

POLLING HOURS 8 A.M. TO 6 P.M.

Advance Polls at Thirty-three Points in British Columbia--Balloting on Tuesday, December 6

Ottawa, Nov. 28.—On polling day, Tuesday, December 6, the hours of polling will ne from 8 a.m. to 6 p.m. Standard time will govern in all cases. In all districts—whether rural or urban—the general hours of voting will be identical. In official circles here emphasis is laid on this fact that there may be no misunderstanding and a number of electors lose their votes in consequence.

In 1920, when the Dominion elections act was before parliament, provision was made for opening city polls at 6 o'clock in the morning and keeping them open for voting until 6 o'clock in the evening. But it was found the early morning hours brought few voters and that candidates had difficulty in getting representatives to attend the polls. For city and rural polls alike therefore, the hours of voting were made 8 a.m. to 6 p.m., the hours which will apply on December 6.

The only exceptions to this general rule are: (1) a few municipalities near the international boundary: (2) a number of points throughout the Dominion at which advance polls are authorized for sailors, railway employees and commercial travellers.

In the first category come a few municipitalities in West Lambton county, Ontario, which are so far the only municipalities to take advantage of ihe special provision of the act. For them the hours of voting will be from 9 in the morning till 8 tn the evening. The change in nours ts permitted to accommodate voters resident in Canada but whose occupation renders it necessary for them to be absent from Canada during the ordinary polling hours.

Advance polls for sailors, railway employees and commercial travellers are authorized at 352 points in the Dominion, as follows: New Brunswick 25, Nova Scotia 25, Prince Edward Island 8, Quebec 61, Ontnrio 98, Manitoba 22, Saskatchewan 43, Alberta 34, British Columbia 33, Yukon 3. The hours for advance polls are 7 to 10 in the evening for tnree days, exclusive of Sunday, immedietely preceding election day.

The Liberal Party and Protection

In response to a request from D. W. Sutherland, Liberal candidate for Yale, for a definite statement as to the possible effect of a tariff revision upon the fruit growing industry, the following telegram was received from Hon. Mackenzie King, leader of the Liberal party:

"No legitimate industry making a legitimate profit will be affected by a tariff revision, fruit included."

Experimental Aerial Service From Halifax to Newfoundland

A trip by airplane from Halifax to Newfoundland is being arranged for about the 10th of December, and the postal department has been asked to encourage the venture by despatching a letter mail from Halifax on the flight in question. It has agreed to cooperate in this way provided those sending the mail matter assume the risk.

The requirements for this mail are:

First—"By aerial mail" to be prominently written on the address side of the envelope.

Second—The usual 4 cents postage for a one ounce letter to be affixed on the address side of the envelope.

Third—Additional postage stamps to the value of 31 cents to be placed on the address side of the envelope, in payment of the special charge for transmission by the aerial service which has been fixed by those making the fight.

FOSTER'S FORECAST

Washington, Nov. 28.—The week centering on December 2 will be warmer and the storms more severe than usual, the precipitation greater than the average of November and December, 1891. I have already predicted November and December would bring less moisture than usual and that winter grain would be damaged by dry weather, and damage has already reached the winter grain, the dry weather is here and we have only passed through one of the two dry months.

Top of the warm wave of this storm will be in Alaska November 29, western Canadada 30, northwest America December 2, on provinces of Canada to Gulf of Mexico, meridian 90, covering it from middle, December 2. The storms will be one day later and first part of cold wave two days later. It will be a severe cold wave and the bottom of it will reach meridian 50 near December 6. These storm features will sweep eastward across the continent in about two days after reaching meridian 90.

FRUIT SHIPPED VIA PANAMA

Consignment from Grand Forks for the Old Country Will Go Through the Big Canal

Seven hundred and seventy boxes of apples were shipped from the Grand Forks Cooperative Growers exchange central packing house this week to Vancouver, to transshipped at that point for Glasgow, Scotland, via the Panama canal. This is the first shipment sent out from this city to go through the canal. The exchange had an opportunity to send three carloads in this shipment, but the cars could not be loaded in time to make connections at Vancouver.

The season's shipments by the exchange totals 125 cars of fruit, including two cars yet to be sent out for the export trade. This, with the individual shipments, will bring the 1921 fruit producsion of the valley up to about 150 cars. Some carload lots of pototoes and vegetables are now being shipped out of the valley.

Manager Lucas assured a Sun representative that the packing charges this year would not run above 56 cents per box. This figure he considered very reasonable, in view of the large percentage of No. 3's packed, which require more handling than the Nos. 1 and 2.

Two orchardists in this valley received between $40,000 and $50,000 for their fruit crops this year from a Winnipeg mail order house. We are surprised to see a paper advertise the firm to the extent of giving it credit for sending something over $9000 here, especially as the editor of the paper we have in mind is so strongly opposed, for pecuniary reasons, to trading abroad that he won't allow his children to contribute towards a teacher's present unless a guarantee is given that it will be purchased at home.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 2, 1921

Next Tuesday evening, at 6 o'clock, the electors of Canada will have solved the complexities involved in the pending federal campaign. At present some of the complications seem unsolvable, and it is feared that only the counting of the ballots will bring the correct answer. There are very strong indications, however, that when the final returns are in the Liberal party will stand at the head of the list, with a fight beween the Conservatives and the Farmers for second place. In British Collumbia the election of four Liberal members seems to be certain, with the probability of a fifth member coming out of the fight victorious. Yale is safe for Sutherland; Prince Rubert will elect the Liberal candidate, and in Vancouver Macdonald and Odlum are slated Ottawa, and there is also a good chance that Mayor Gale will be sent along to keep them company. With practically a solid delegation from Quebec, and a subtantial augmentation from the other provinces, there appears to be no reason to doubt that Hon. Mackenzie King will be able to form the next government.

Having failed to obtain governmental aid, the Victoria city council calls for justice or the resignation of the Oliver administration. Since when has it been the lunction of provincial governments to finance municipalities? Private individuals, after they have squandered their substance, must rustle for themselves. Prodigal municipalities should learn the same lesson. The coast cities are making altogether too much noise in calling for government aid. The government has no means of raising funds for municipal assistance except by taxation. That means that the hard working farmers of the interior would have to pay taxes to keep the spendthrift municipality on the coast supplied with funds. It is hard to say where some people would be if they got justice.

We do not hear so much about the "Anglo Saxon" as we used to near, but there are still some writers who conceive of that somewhat imaginary being as dominating the world. It is interesting to notice, therefore, that if the British premier is able in the eud to go to Washington, the chief figures at that great conference will have little Saxon blood among them. Lloyd George is a Welshman, and what is ofthen, though not very accurately, called a "Celt;" M. Briand is a Breton and therefore of the same "Celtic" strain; Mr. Hughes, the head of the American delegation, is of Welsh descent and at least as much of a Celt as a Saxon. Needless to say the Japanese delegation is not in any degree Anglo-Saxon.

The man who holds the ladder at the bottom is frequently of just as much service as the man at the top.

The present amount of paper money in circulation in Russia is five trillions, seven hundred and fifty billions of rubles. The government printing presses are still hard at work and may in time bring up the total to ten trillions. Observe, however, that the real wealth of Russia will not thereby be increased a particle, and that every ruble for purposes of trade, will then be worth just about half what it is worth today—which means, pretty nearly, half of nothing!

It is an expensive business for a woman to replace herself in the home. If she decides to take a job outside the home, and starts in to see that the work she has been doing at home is done by some one else, she finds out that she can not replace herself by one person, but must have several. It would seem that when a woman's job at home fills her whole time she earns far more than she could ever earn outside, since she earns practically the combined wages of half a dozen specialized workers she would have to employ to replace her. But in these days the home job doesn't fill the whole time of a woman. Housekeeping has been simplified by ths labor-saving devices so much employed. The training of children after the first few years of their lives is carried on largely outside the home, and few women find their whole time taken up with the business of homemaking, at least after the first few years while their children are small. It is here that the difficulty lies, and it is this situation that is responsible for the restlessness among modern women and the increasing tendency among many of them to take places outside the home.

"I believe the farmer is thinking as he never thught before," says P. C. Macfarlane in the New York World. "He wants to know the answer to innumerable whys. He is mentally digging down to the roots of economics and trying to find a means by which he may solve his own business problems and get a line on the collective problems of the people. A case in point. After one of my lectures, a bearded armer, standing with one foot on the running board of his flivver, waved his hand in the direction of a great field of ripening grain and said: 'Plenty of wheat, ain't they?' Another sweep of the hand took the direction of a corn field. 'Plenty of corn, ain't they?' he repeated. He pointed to a drove of sleek cattle grazing in a rich pasture, to a flock of sheep on the other side of the highway and then to the poultry busily scratching within a barnyard inclosure. 'Plenty of beef and mutton and hens and eggs, ain't they?' I nodded a general assent. 'Well, then,' said the farmer, screwing his face into an expression of impatience, 'how the d—l is it that some folks don't get enough to eat?' That at the moment is the thought that is engaging his attention, and it is not without significance."

No Wonder Code Was Used

Here is a little question for Conservative candidates in the three Vancouver constituencies. What is the meaning of

"Duncan, lobby, osler, tottering, spasm, weapons, avenged, leaves, fracas. Manitoba, ordaining, work, toward, imaginative, fracas, Selkirk, antiquarianism, Springfield, Scarlatina, pruned, ordaining, drifting, nurtured, mentally, wood, paddock, amphibiological, meretricious, belle?"

It sounds like a nonsense question, but it is not. It is one of the questions which Premier Meighen did not wish to face in Selkirk, Springfield and other Manitoba constituencies.

The words are the text of a code telegram signed "Arthur Meighen" and sent on November 30, 1917, to Sir Robert L. Borden. The code telegram came to light in the disclosure made by Col. Frank Reid of the disgraceful manipulation of soldiers' votes in the deal whereby Col. Reid agreed to barter 80,000 votes for a generalship and a Commandership of the Bath. Bath is good—everyone connected with the proposition requires a bath.

Transcribed, the telegram reads:

"Would like one thousand soldier votes at large for Manitoba, of which 300 are for Selkirk, balance divided between Provencher, Macdonald and Springfield, or same proportion of division no matter what our allotment may be.—(Signed) Arthur Meighen.

Premier Meighen voted against an inquiry into matters connected with the sending of the telegram, which was refused on a party vote. This is not to be marvelled at. The same considerations of secrecy which required the sending of a code telegram would require that the matter be not investigated. It explains one of the reasons for the remarkable withdrawal of support from the premier and his ministers in this campaign. Ontario is now joining the general movement to relegate the Unionist party to oblivion.

No element should join more gladly in the uprising against the government than the soldiers, whose votes were traded wholesale by officers for promotions and decorations, aud peddled retail in sacks by polit cians round the constituencies.—Vancouver World.

The Side Lines of a Grain Growing Province

STUD HORSES AT NORTH BATTLEFORD, SASKATCHEWAN

The "Land of the Golden Grain" is a name well suited to the Province of Saskatchewan, the middle of the three prairie province of Canada, for grain growing has been the chief occupation of its inhabitants since the earliest days of its settlement. So good has been the quality and so heavy the yields of the wheat and other grains grown in Saskatchewan, that whenever the province was spoken about it was in association with grain, and many people thought, and a large proportion of them, no doubt, still think that grain growing was and is the only branch of farming carried on in this rich province. Probably, a very large number of people who now know something about Saskatchewan would never have heard of this province but for the success of Seager Wheeler, the "Wheat Wizard," first in winning, at the Madison Square Gardens, New York, in 1911, the thousand dollars in gold for the best hundred pounds of wheat grown on the American continent, and subsequent winnings of Mr. Wheeler and other Saskatchewan farmers at Tulsa, Oklahoma, Wichita, Kansas, El Paso, Texas, Peoria, Illinois, Kansas City, Mo., Chicago, and other places.

But experience of the last few years has shown that Saskatchewan farmers can and do raise other things than grain. Sheep, horses and cattle are all steadily increasing in numbers on the Saskatchewan farms, and evidence that these, too, are, like the grain, of a superior quality is forthcoming in the success of the animals from this province exhibited at the International Stock Show at Chicago this year.

A few years ago there were scarcely any sheep in Saskatchewan, but many of the early settlers soon recognized that the province as regards climate, feed and water was well suited to sheep, and they began to keep a few on their farms, the numbers have steadily increased year by year until now between 150,000 and 200,000 sheep are owned by farmers in Saskatchewan, and this year approximately 750,000 pounds of wool were produced.

But the raising of sheep has not advanced so much as the raising of horses. The provincial livestock commissioner claims that Saskatchewan is now the leading horse breeding province in the Dominion of Canada. The heavy draft horse with Percheron, Clydesdale or Belgian blood in him, is the kind of animal to which breeders here are devoting their attention, and farmers need not go out of the province to sell at satisfactory prices all such horses they can raise. The tractor has not displaced horses on the Saskatchewan farms nor is it likely to do so now. Most farmers have tried both, or have seen both tried, and have decided in favor of the horse. In 1919 there were more than a million horses in Saskatchewan, and the number has steadily increased since. Many of these horses are, perhaps, on the light side, but the light horses are being rapidly displaced by the heavier animals. The young draft horse weighing about 1,600 pounds or more is what most of the farmers in Saskatchewan are raising, and the demand for horses of this type is far ahead of the supply.

The quality of the horses that are being bred in Saskatchewan is exemplified by the successes at the International Show this year. The champion Clydesdale was a Saskatchewan horse, "Wee Donald," bred on the farm of L. Weaver, near Lloydminster, and the first prize stallion Belgian foal "Charles Deroseke" is owned by Coe Brothers and was bred on their farm near Regina. Last year the champion Belgian was a horse owned by Paul Rupp, who on his farm at Lampman, in the south of the province, has probably the finest herd of Belgian horses on the continent.

Like the horse and sheep industries the cattle industry of Saskatchewan has made substantial progress during the last few years. The provincial livestock commissioner estimates that there are now 100,000 more cattle in the province than there were a year ago. This marks the ratio of increase that has been going on from year to year, and the end is not yet, for there is still room for more cattle in the province than there are at present. In 1919 the total was 1,379,6[illegible]3 head, of which 374,062 were milk cows. The provincial government is devoting much attention to the livestock industry, and buys cattle at the leading markets selling them at cost to farmers on easy payments. The time is within the memory of many of the residents of the province when the only milk they ever got was the condensed variety, and when their butter had also to be imported. Not many years ago a beginning was made with dairying. The province soon produced more butter than was required to supply its own needs and had some to spare. During the last few years there has been a surplus for export to Great Britain, the United States, the Pacific Coast points of Canada, and cities in Eastern Canada. Last year one hundred and four carloads, or 6,622,000 pounds of the highest quality of creamery butter left the province, while this year the total export bids fair to exceed 7,000,000 pounds.

The side lines of this grain growing province have, therefore, already assumed a position of considerable importance, and are becoming increasingly important every year.

Citizens of Grand Forks and District, Vote for Sutherland on December 6th. Why?

The interests of town citizens are identical to those of the interests of country citizens. A prosperous rural district means a prosperous town. Sutherland is the farmers' friend. His policy is to protect all classes of farmers or producers—the fruit grower, the onion grower, the potato grower, the hay grower, the stockman, the dairymen, the lumberman, the mining man and the wage earner.

At present the manufacturer is protected. Sutherland says there should be no privileged class. He says the present system is lop sided. Give the producer a fair show.

Sutherland is fighting the battle of the commou people against the big interests.

Sutherland is vitally interested in farming. He is one of the largest taxpayers on land in the Yale constituen y.

Sutherland has endorsed the Farmers' platform of British Columbia as formulated at Penticton in the fall of 1920.

Sutherland is an expert financier. Give him a chance to help solve the railway problem and turn the deficit of $9,000,000 per month into a profit.

Sutherland will be a servant of the peopl of Yale constituency. He says, "My just duty will be to protect the interests of the citizens of Yale and to further the interests of Canada as a whole."

Sutherland is a big, clean man—a man who will become a great statesman. At present he is mayor of the city of Kelowna. For thirteen years in succession he has been returned by acclamation.

A vote for Sutherland is a vote for a square deal to all classes.

What Is To Be Canada's Destiny?

Shall it be that through the destruction of the Tariff as proposed by both Crerar and King, the development of Canada is to come under the domination of the United States, to be followed by gradual financial domination and as a consequence, political domination?

—OR—

Is Canada's destiny to be that of a great free nation within the British Empire group of Nations, developing her boundless resources of mine, river, water power, forest, and cultivating her millions upon millions of acres of arable land? Is her development to surpass that of any other nation?

Shall her manufacturing industries develop her minerals and raw materials into implements and goods for the benefit and comfort of her people and for foreign trade?

Shall she become a self-contained nation within the Empire, her great railways interchanging, the products of factory and farm among her own people, and her ships sailing every sea?

Shall she maintain her integrity within the Empire and protect her farms and factories against unfair competition from foreign countries?

IF THIS IS TO BE CANADA'S DESTINY THEN CANADA NEEDS MEIGHEN.

On December 6th, Canada should once again protect her farms, her factories and her workmen against the unsound theory of Free Trade, and should hold fast to her reasonable Protective Tariff, her national entity and her British connection.

On December 6th Canada should declare with no uncertain voice that she will not tolerate the false trade theories of visionaries and group leaders which tend toward her economic destruction, toward the separation of her people and the weakening of the ties that bind Canada to the British Empire.

On December 6th Canada should demonstrate unmistakably to the outside world her fixed determination to keep Canada for the Canadians.

On December 6th Canada's destiny is at stake.

Huge Canadian Irrigation Projects

Tremendous irrigation projects are planned in Alberta as the result of the provincial government backing the $5,400,000 bonds of the Lethbridge Northern district, aud it is estimated that the total amount of outlay involved in all the proposed undertakings will amount to between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000. This expenditure, of course, does not include the Canadian Pacific railway's gigantic enterprise, which already is serving hundreds of thousands of acres The demand for irrigated land is greater than the supply at the present time, so impressive have been the returns from land furnished with water artificially in Alberta.

Where pre-emptor in occupation not less than 3 years, and has made proportionate improvements, he may, because of ill-health, or other cause, be granted intermediate certificate of improvement and transfer his claim.

Records without permanent residence may be issued, provided applicant makes improvements to extent of $360 per annum and records same each year. Failure to make improvements or record same will operate as forfeiture. Title cannot be obtained in less than 5 years, and improvements of $10.00 per acre, including 5 acres cleared and cultivated, and residence of at least 2 years are required.

Pre-emptor holding Crown grant may record another pre-emption, if he requires land in conjunction with his farm, without actual occupation, provided statutory improvements made and residence maintained on Crown granted land.

Unsurveyed areas, not exceeding 20 acres, may be leased as homesites; title to be obtained after fulfilling residential and improvement conditions.

For grazing and industrial purposes areas exceeding 640 acres may be leased by one person or company.

Mill, factory or industrial sites on timber land not exceeding 40 acres may be purchased; conditions include payment of stumpage.

Natural hay meadows inaccessible by existing roads may be purchased conditional upon construction of a road to them. Rebate of one-half of cost of road, not exceeding half of purchase price, is made.

The scope of this Act is enlarged to include all persons joining and serving with His Majesty's Forces. The time within which the heirs or devisees of a deceased pre-emptor may apply for title under this Act is extended from for one year from the death of such person, as formerly, until one year after the conclusion of the present war. This privilege is also made retroactive.

No fees relating to pre-emptions are due or payable by soldiers on pre-emptions recorded after June 26, 1918. Taxes are remitted for five years.

Provision for return of moneys accrued, due and been paid since August 4, 1914, on account of payments, fees or taxes on soldiers' pre-emptions.
