NOT VERY SERIOUS

Cascade Power Will Soon Be Transmitted to Smelter Again.

The accident to the Cascade power house is not as serious as was at first reported, and the latest information is to the effect that the company will again commence supplying the Granby smelter with electric power by Monday next.

On Tuesday afternoon about 3 o'clock the valve broke in the overflow pipe and the rush of water carried away a portion of the wall of the power house facing the C. P. R. track. The place where the trouble arose is where the surplus water, not going over the turbines, is carried off, a jam at the valve there turned this overflow against the brickwork of the building and in a few moments the rush of water had eaten its way through and carried away a slice of the western wall. Some slight damage was also caused by the flooding of the premises, but this can be readily repaired.

Most fortunately the portion of the wall carried away had none of the machinery attached to it, the transformers being fixed on another portion of the building. The company's lately installed and thoroughly up-to-date plant has not been damaged or interfered with in any way.

COLUMBIA CITY COUNCIL

The Columbia city council met Tueday evening, all the aldermen being present, with Mayor McCallum in the chair. City Clerk J. A. McCallum, being indisposed, was unable to attend.

Bills ordered paid: E. Spraggett, filling pier in bridge, $100; W. T. Dickson, inspecting electric light system, $30.

Mayor McCallum reported that $2500 more of city bonds had been sold.

W. T. Dickson, of the West Kootenay Electric Supply company, Nelson, B. C., having inspected the Columbia electric light system, sent in his report to the council, which was satisfactory and approved.

Mr. Cuming's proposition for grading Bridge street was taken up, and a very carefully drafted resolution, avoiding all risk and responsibility to the city, but adopting the proposition, was unanimously passed.

OUR MINERAL WEALTH

With the year drawing to a close mining men are beginning to total up British Columbia's mineral production during 1902, and he is a pessimist indeed who does not concede an advance of 25 per cent over 1901. The production that year was officially given at $20,086,760, so that the lowest estimate this year is $25,000,000. But the latest figures from the Boundary, the Slocan, Rossland, Atlin, Cariboo and Vancouver island justify one in predicting that the annual report of the department of mines will show the figures to be nearer $27,500,000 than $25,000,000, while next year may see the $30,000,000 mark passed. It will thus be seen that British Columbia, even with the copper, lead and silver markets working against it, is twice a Klondike, for he would be a bold man indeed who would place the Yukon's output this year at over $15,000,000.

That there is every reason to be optimistic concerning this year's production is evident from the first speech delivered by the minister of mines since he became premier. Col. Prior stated at the banquet of the Victoria pineers that he was emphatically of the opinion that the mining industry was on a good basis. Great progress is being made in the Boundary. Said he: "The Rossland mines are today shipping more ore than ever before in their history; from the Slocan 100,000 tons of zinc ore will be shipped next year into the United States; the Atlin district is most prosperous, and I am happy to say that a new era of prosperity is setting in in the Cariboo."

The premier, dealing particularly with the latter district, pointed out how on Lightning creek, famous the world over for the millions it has produced, old man Montgomery, 80 years of age, is cleaning up $100 slugs, and had in the past few months obtained 140 ounces of coarse gold. On the Point claim, in the same district, they are getting 56 ounces to the pan, and the other day took out 150 ounces. He regretted to say that want of water had prevented the Consolidated Cariboo, the largest hydraulic mine in the world, doing well this season, but the outlook for next year was good.

The figures so far available for the Boundary and Rossland show the great stride forward that have been made in those districts. The Boundary leads the rest of the province in ore production, it having given 457,598 tons during the past eleven months, with the prospect of reaching the half million mark ere the year closes. The productian there last year was 386,675 tons, so there will be a betterment of at least 100,000 tons in 1902. In Rossland there has already been an increase over 1902 by 38,327 tons, and before December 31th 20,000 tons should be added, which would make the total output of that famous camp nearly 340,000 tons, compared with 280,000 tons, in round figures, in 1901.

FRIDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1902

THERE are two elements in Grand Forks—one in favor of progress and prosperity; the other, selfishness and stagnation. It will soon be up to the voters to decide which class they prefer at the head of offices this coming year.

MAYOR HOLLAND is now the manager of the News-Gazette. From a great railway magnate, with a palatial private car, to the menial position of dunning delinquent subscribers in order to pay the printers—"What a fall was there, my countrymen!"

HERE is a partial list of the men who have thus far been mentioned for mayoralty honors:

P. T. McCallum, Martin Burrell,
Chas. Cumings, Wm. Graham,
H. A. Sheads, J. Hammar.

If you don't see the candidate you want, just mention his name, and we will add it to our list.

COUNTY COURT DATES

His Honor Judge Leamy has set the following dates for the holding next year of sittings of the county court at Greenwood and Grand Forks, respectively:

Greenwood—January 13, March 17, May 12, July 14, October 13, and December 15.

Grand Forks—January 5, March 9, May 4, July 6, October 5, and December 7.

Chambers at Greenwood on first and fourth Thursdays of each month, or every week should more frequent attendances of the judge be required.

Chambers at Grand Forks whenever necessary.

County court was held at Greenwood last Tuesday, and will be held in this city next Tuesday.

A DANGEROUS PRACTICE

Editor Evening Sun:

Will you allow me space to protest against the dangerous practice of driving horses without bells on our streets these days? I think there is a law that every vehicle on runners must be equipped with bells. Even if there isn't, such a law is needed for the protection of pedestrians. Now that there has been such a heavy fall of snow, the condition of Grand Forks and Columbia makes it necessary for pedestrians to take the roads, and in consequence their safety demands that approaching cutters and sleighs give notice of their coming. A sleigh slips along without any noise; a string of bells attached serves as warning note. For the pleasure of both driver and walker these should be attached.

PEDESTRIAN.

SUNSET SAUNTERINGS

The sleighing party under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid society of the Methodist church, which took place last evening, to the residence of Mr. W. H. Covert, at Carson, was in every regard a great success. As the well equipped turnouts from the stables of Messrs. Manly & Rutherford and Mr. Royer, affording every comfort to their merry occupants, neared their destination, many exclamations of delight were heard at pretty sight presented by the large residence, beautifully illuminated from floor to attic with Chinese lanterns. After a couple of hours' enjoyment of music and games in the large parlors, refreshments were served and an informal program rendered. After a hearty vote of thanks to Mr. and Mrs. Covert for their genial hospitality, the party returned to the city, all greatly pleased with the evening's enjoyment.

The body of Thomas Begley, the unfortunate carpenter who was killed at Cascade on Monday last by receiving a shock of electricity while doing telephone work, was brought to this city Wednesday, and an inquest was held same day. Yesterday the remains were shipped to Begley's former home in Brockville, Ont. Deceased was a cousin of Mrs. Fred Cooper and Sam Baker, of this city. Electric men say that the accident was probably caused by induction, brought about by the recent heavy snow fall, but it is possible that the private wire of the company in some way came in direct contact with the power cable.

At the Methodist church next Sunday Rev. J. F. Betts will preach morning and evening. The subject for his morning sermon will be, "The Witness of the Spirit to Our Adoption into the Family of God"; evening, "A Divine Commonwealth."

Alderman J. J. McIntosh made a business trip to Republic last Saturday, returning home Monday.

About 7 o'clock last evening fire broke out in Brown & McKay's Boundary Iron Works, near the C. P. R. track across the Kettle river. An alarm was sent in, and the Grand Forks fire department responded promptly. The flames were soon extinguished. The only damage done was the partial burning of the roof of the building.

The Sunday school scholars of the Columbia Presbyterian church will have an old-fashioned Christmas tree and musical entertainment in the Baptist church on Monday evening, December 22. An excellent program of 24 numbers, consisting of dialogues, recitations and songs, has been prepared. All the children in Columbia are cordially invited to attend.

Great preparations are being made for the Christmas tree entertainment and cantata to be given by the Knox Presbyterian church Sunday school, in the Biden opera house, on Tuesday evening, December 23. Preseent indications point to a grand success.

City Clerk J. A. McCallum is confined to his home this week with a severe attack of the grip.

The east-bound C. P. R. passenger train was delayed seven hours yesterday by the derailment of a Hot Air ore train.

At Knox Presbyterian church next Sunday Rev. J. R. Robertson, B.A., will take for his morning theme, "Lowering the Standard"; evening, "Admission into the Kingdom of God."

Read J. H. Hodson's Christmas advertisement.

The skating rink was flooded last night, and if a thaw does not occur the ice will be ready for the skaters in a day or two.

Electric lights have been installed in J. H. Hodson's store, the postoffice and THE EVENING SUN office this week.

W. B. Davey left today for a trip to Victoria.

Joe Ward left for Seattle last Wednesday over the V., V. & E.

Mrs. J. Langley left last Wednesday for Vancouver.

A carload of machinery from Spokane, for the B. C. Copper company, Greenwood, was transferred from the Great Northern to the C. P. R. Also a carload of hay for the Eholt Trading company.

WHAT GOULD SAID OF "OTHER PEOPLE'S MONEY." — Jay Gould, when he was asked one time how he attained his riches, answered: "By playing with other people's money." The same answer might be given by the character, "Hutchinson Hopper," in the comedy "Other People's Money." The piece is written on legitimate lines; is clean, bright, witty and probable. The scenes and characters are drawn from modern every-day life; and the principal personage, "Hutchinson Hopper," is a creation that will live on the stage for years to come. The story of the comedy is natural and full of humor. "Hutchinson Hopper" is a millionaire stock broker, happy in the contemplation of his own adroitness, and believes himself able to cope, not only with his colleagues, but with any combination of circumstances. This excellent company, supporting Dainty May Sargent, will fill an engagement here next Thursday night, December 18, at the Opera House.

REV. IRL R. HICKS' 1903 ALMANAC

To say that this splendid work of science and art is finer and better than ever, is stating it mildly. The demand for it is far beyond all previous years. To say that such results, reaching through THIRTY YEARS, are not based upon sound sense and usefulness, is an insult to the intelligence of the millions. Prof. Hicks, through his great Almanac, and his famous family and scientific journal, Word and Works, is doing a work for the whole people not approached by any other man or publication. A fair test will prove this to any reasonable person. Added to the most luminous course in astronomy for 1903, forecasts of storms and weather are given as never before, for every day in the year, all charmingly illustrated with nearly two hundred engravings. The price of single Almanac, including postage and mailing, is THIRTY CENTS. Word and Works with the Almanac is $1.00 a year. Write to WORD AND WORKS PUBLISHING CO., 2201 Locust Street, St. Louis, Mo., and prove to yourself their great value.

This you can do by travelling on the Rio Grande system, the far-famed "Scenic Line of the World," the only transcontinental line passing through Salt Lake City, Glenwood Springs, Leadville, Colorado Springs and Denver enroute to eastern points.

Three daily express trains make close connections with all trains east and west, and afford a choice of five distinct routes of travel. The equipment of these trains is the best, including free reclining chair cars, standard and tourist sleepers, a perfect dining car service, and also personally conducted excursion cars, each in charge of a competent guide, whose business is to look after the comfort of his guests. No more pleasant and inexpensive means of crossing the continent can be found than is provided by these excursions.

COLUMBIA

A CITY OF BEAUTIFUL ENVIRONMENTS, A BEAUTIFUL CLIMATE AND BOUNTIFUL RESOURCES—SPLENDID ELECTRIC LIGHTING AND WATERWORKS SYSTEMS—THE RAILWAY CENTRE OF SOUTHEASTERN BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The City of Columbia is situated near the junction of the North Forks of the Kettle river with the main Kettle river, and is distant about 300 miles east of Vancouver.

Thoroughly up-to-date and modern Electric Light and Waterworks Systems are dow under construction, and will be completed in September. The electric light system will include street arc lamps. The waterworks system is planned on a sufficiently large scale to meet all present and future needs, and insuring ample protection from the ravages of fire. At present water is supplied the city by pumping from a beautiful spring of exceptional purity.

The natural situation of the city for beauty is not excelled in America. A verdure-clad and flower-bespangled rolling prairie, traversed by a river of bright, sparkling water, fringed with forest trees and surrounded by mountains, forming a charming combination of picturesquesness and grandeur.

The Columbia & Western railway, which was constructed by the Canadian Pacific Railway company, has its station, freight warehouse and yards in the center of Columbia, and the Vancouver, Victora & Eastern Railway company, has located its depot, freight sheds and yards along the east line of the corporation, thus giving the city connections with two transcontinental lines.

The Canadian Pacific railway company has large interests in the city, having selected the site on account of the superior natural advantages as a railway centre.

The climate, taken all the year around, is the best in Canada—part of the summer is rather hot and dry, but the rest of the year is enjoyable.

Throughout the Kettle River valley there is an extent of fertile agricultural land, part of which is now being cultivated.

Apples, plums, pears, prunes, cherries and all the small fruits grow abundantly. The valley surrounding Columbia, divided into small fruit and vegetable farms, will sustain a large population.

Building material is plentiful in the district. Lumber can be procured at fair prices, and brick lime and stone of good quality can always be obtained when required.

The mining interests areof the first importance to this country, and will do much to build up Columbia. Large mineral lodes have been discovered throughout the mountains adjacent to the city, and what were mere prospects a short time since are now large paying mines.

The Granby smelter and converter—the most modern and perfect plant of the kind in America—employing hundreds of men, is contiguous to the city.

Owing to the fine climate, the central situation, the beautible environments, the bright prospects for future growth and prosperity, Columbia will be an educational centre, a city of homes, as well as a wholesale distributing point; and when finally allied and wedded to her sister city, will be the best and largest city in the interior.

BOUNDARY MINES AND SMELTERS

The difficulties in the way of the Waterloo Consolidated Mining and Milling company, Spokane, obtaining a clear title to the Waterloo mine, Camp McKinney, are in a fair way towards settlement. The Waterloo claim was relocated last August by George M. Bennett, and in October by R. B. Venner. Conveyances, Venner to Waterloo company, consideratton $260, and Bennett to same company, consideration $1000, are now filed for record at the mining recorder's office, Greenwood. The action against the company commenced by Bennett's lawyers for injunctions forbidding the company trespassing on ground claimed by Bennett, and for declaration that company's claim is not a valid one, is to be discontinued forthwith.

The B. C. Copper company is having manufactured in Spokane a slag elevator for use at its smelter at Greenwood. The elevator will be fitted witu a series of buckets that will receive the full flow of water and slag and raise it a height of 50 feet. This will allow of the dump being filled up level with the furnace floor, and will, it is estimated, provide for the expeditious and economical disposal of the slag from two furnaces for two or three years, by which time it is likely the company will have put in a tramway with cars and a small locomotive or electric motor for handling the slag. The elevator should be reaeived at the smelter by the middle of the present month, and be in operation three or four days after arrival on the ground.

About the fifteenth of the month the Sunset smelter, at Boundary Falls, expects to have the second furnace ready for operation, and the third, which was recently ordered in Spokane, is to be ready for use in March next.

It is reported that Elmer J. Edwards, one of the owners of the Blue Jay, in Skylark camp, has taken a lease and bond on the property, and will work the mine this winter. It is one of the best known properties in the camp, but has not been worked for a couple of years or more.

A 10-pound chunk of a very rich ore from the Providence mine is now on view at the Russell-Law-Caulfield company's store in Greenwood. It has much native and ruby silver freely scattered through the quartz, and here and there free gold is to be seen. The specimen is to be taken to Chicago by M. F. Madden to exhibit to his fellow investors in the Providence.

The Abercraig mineral claim, owned by G. Arthur Rendell, of Eholt, and J. N. Paton and G. B. Taylor, of Greenwood, has been leased under working conditions to four Greenwood miners. The claim is situated on the hill overlooking Greenwood.
