TOWN TOPICS

Alderman Donaldson accompanied the Grand Forks Lacrosse club to Nelson, B. C., Wednesday.

A grand concert will be given under the auspices of the Ladies' Aid Society of Knox Presbyterian church, in Biden's opera house, on Friday, May 30th. Do not forget the date. Proceeds to go to the building of a manse.

The ladies of the congregation will give a reception to Rev. J. A. G. Calder on Tuesday evening, the 20th inst., 8 p.m., in Columbia Presbyterian church. Refreshments will be served and an interesting time is expected. Members, adherents and friends of the church are invited to be present.

The New York Clipper company will give a vaudeville performance at Biden's opera house tonight. Flattering notices come from surrounding towns where the company has appeared, and a first-class entertainment may be looked for.

Mrs Frank Sears has returned from a protracted visit with relatives in Lewiston, Idaho.

August Reischl left for Summit camp yesterday, where he is directing assessment work.

Judge Williams, bookkeeper for the Dominion Copper company at Phoenix, is in Grand Forks.

Postoffice Inspector Dotman, of Vancouver, was Columbia and Grand Forks this week on his annual tour of inspection.

THE LONE FISHERMAN

Walter Ross has won first prize for the biggest fish story.

While angling in Smelter lake a couple of days ago he caught a big black fish of peculiar construction. On close examination he noticed something odd about its right side. Being of an investigating turn of mind, he determined to see if boiling wouldn't solve the mystery. It did. Taking the fish from the hot water, he saw the words quite plainly branded on its side, "All Hands." Mr. Ross is now exhibiting the branded portion of the fish's skin as evidence of the veracity of his tale.

The history surrounding the branding of the fish is yet shadowed by mystery. It might, however, have had a thousand different origins. Some big four masted schooner on Smelter ocean might have struck an unseen rock in midsea and foundered, and the crew, about o perish, had sufficient presence of mind to send the branded fish shoreward as a last message to their auxious wives and relatives, the inscription in this case meaning, of course, that "all hands" perished. And still, again, it is possibly that some highly civilized race of people, yet undiscovered by the hardy explorer, may reside at the headwaters of the North Fork who have taken to branding the fish, and are herding them like Texas steers. In this case "All Hands" would probably mean the name of the tribe claiming jurisdiction over these fishes. Or (and this, to our mind, is the most probable solution) perhaps the Grand Forks Mountain and S ream club has commenced branding the fish in Smelter lake. If this last hypothesis is correct, there remains no doubt as to the meaning of the mystic words. They would simply be a warning to poachers to keep "all hands" off.

For Sale—One acre of land, well situated, in the town of Columbia. Before long it is bound to be a valuble piece of properity. For particulars enquire at the Grand Forks brewery.

THE CASCADE MYSTERY

The sudden disappearance of A. C. Scott, the Cascade barber, of which mention was made in The Sun last week, still remains a mystery. When last seen, his acquaintances say he declared his intention to find a watery grave. When taken home by one of the Thompson boys that night in a hack he was said to be under the influence of liquor. He told the colored woman with whom he lived that he was going to drown himself, and some time afterwards was heard to cry for help, but it being dark, and his cries ceasing before he could be reached, it is believed by many that he actually committed suicide. When in liquor Scott often became dangerous. He had a check for $100 from the Cascade Waterpower & Light company in his possession when he disappeared, payment on which has been stopped. Some suspect foul play by some one intending to get the money on the check. So far no one seems to have made any move towards an investigation.

Every saloon that handles Graham's beer in Grand Forks and Columbia is doing a good bar trade.

An advertisement in The Sun always brings an increased trade.

BOARD OF TRADE

On Wednesday evening a special meeting of the Grand Forks board of trade was held for the discussion of railway matters and other business. After the reports of some special committees had been received, the main question of the evening came up, and was started by the proposal of a resolution, which reads as follows:

Whereas, It is of paramount importance to the welfare of this city that the Victoria, Vancouver & Eastern Railway and Navigation company continue their construction into the city limits, and into the smelter, so as to facilitate freight and passenger traffic,

And Whereas, In order to enter the city, the V., V. & E. Ry. will have to cross the line of the Grand Forks & Kettle River Ry. Company,

And Whereas, There is an injunction now pending on behalf of the Grand Forks & Kettle River Railway company to prevent the V., V. & E. railway crossing as aforesaid,

Now, Therefore, be it Resolved, That the board of trade consider such injunction as detrimental in a very high degree to the best interests of the community; that the Grand Forks & Kettle River Ry. company, through its president and general manager, Mr. T. W. Holland, be urged to withdraw such injunction; that our local member be requested to urge upon the government the necessity for prompt action with regard to same, and the setting aside thereof if possible; that his worship the mayor be requested to aid in every possible manner the entry of the V., V. & E. into this city, according to his promise made at his election: and that copies of this resolution be forwarded to the general manager of the Grand Forks & Kettle River Railway company, to the mayor and council of Grand Forks, to our local member, and J. H. Kennedy, chief engineer of the V., V. & E., and the press generally.

The object of this resolution was, as stated plainly therein, to endeavor to do away with the obstructions that at present prevent the V., V. & E. coming into this city. This was not what a certain coterie of supporters of the rival road wanted at all, and they accordingly had prepared an amendment, which read as follows:

Whereas, There are two rival railroads, the Republic & Grand Forks Railway company and the Victoria, Vancouver & Eastern Railway company, in course of construction through the Kettle valley, in the vicinity of Grand Forks, B. C.,

And Whereas, The city of Grand Forks and the Grand Forks board of trade have heretofore placed themselves on record as strongly in favor of the government permitting these roads to be built and each line to have entrance to Grand Forks and the Granby smelter plant,

And Whereas, The city of Grand Forks desires to be considered as friendly to both said roads and enterprises, and favorable to each of them as regards to building of their respective roads and securing access to the city of Grand Forks and the Granby smelter, and this course having not only been endorsed by passing favorable resolutions by the board of trade, but the city of Grand Forks by a vote of its ratepayers have granted subsidies of a considerable amount to each road for the purpose of purchasing land for right of way and depot grounds,

Therefore, be it Resolved by the Grand Forks Board of Trade, That from and after the passage of this resolution, in order to secure the recognition of this board regarding any further endorsement affecting in any manner either of the said railroads, where the other road may be directly or indirectly interested or affected, that the road or company desiring any action or endorsement, must prove to the satifaction of this board that they have authority to speak for the company whose interests they claim to represent.

In this amendment absolutely nothing is said about removing the injunction, but hints darkly on things that have no bearing on the original resolution. It was moved and seconded that the voting on this be taken by ballot, but the worthy chairman, true to his friends (it appears he has recently become a warm supporter of the Hot Air policy), ruled that to carry this latter motion a two thirds vote would be necessary. A vote was taken, resulting in 14 for and 9 against, so that by the just (?) ruling of the president the majority were defeated in their endeavor to be allowed to vote by ballot. As it may not be generally understood, it may be as well to point out that a large number of people living in this town, and members of the board of trade, are either living in houses built by the aid of loan companies, or owe money on a lot they have bought from the Townsite Co., or owe money to other financial institutions. This being the case, it is easy to see that many would not vote at an open vote for fear of drawing down upon them the wrath of the men who who hold them in their clutches, hence their anxiety to have the freedom of voting by ballot, so that they might thus give expression to their opinion. The amendment was then put and lost. Another, and many other amendments, were put and lost, until finally, about 1 p.m., the following was passed: That a committee of three from each side be appointed to draw up a resolution which would be satisfactory to the whole house, and to report at an adjourned meeting at 8 p. m. the following evening. Many speeches were made, and some of those who spoke to the amendment got quite personal in their efforts to convince the public that the original resolution was very harmful to the community. It was easy to see, howeve ,that public opinion was on the side of the resolution, and the futile attempts of the little clique who are endeavoring to block it will only act as a boomerang.

At the adjourned meeting last night no definite action was reached, and another meeting will be held at 8 o'clock tonight.

The Sun is in a position to state positively that there is absolutely no foundation to the report telegraphed broadcast from here regarding a strike of V., V. & V. tracklayers. The men objected to taking checks on an out of town bank, and so were paid off right on the ground, thus ending the dispute.

Duncan McIntosh, of Greenwood, visited in Grand Forks a few days during the present week.

G. Earl McCarter, late editor of the Gazette, will leave tomorrow for Pendleton, Ore., where he has accepted an editorial position on the East Oregonian.

Mrs. J. R. Robertson left for the coast on Wednesday, and will visit for a few weeks in Victoria.

RIVER STILL RISING

Continued Warm Weather May Cause a Serious Flood.

At 8 o'clock this morning the river was three inches above high water mark of last year, and rising rapidly. Ruckle's addition, the flat across the North Fork, nearly all of Riverside avenue, Chinatown, and all portions of the city that have not been filled in, were all under water.

At 8.30 a dispatch was received from Curlew saying that the river at that point was rising fast, and that it was filled with driftwood, which would seem to indicate that no immediate fall of the water can be looked for here.

The Columbia wagon bridge is still safe, though large quantities of driftwood have lodged against the piers A force of workmen has been engaged to watch it and to keep it free of floating timbers.

In Knox Presbyterian church services will be conducted as usual by Rev. J. R Robertson, B.A., next Sabbath. Morning subject, "The Secret of Power;" evening, "What Is the Matter With Us?"

The Grand Forks-Nelson lacrosse game at Nelson, B. C., yesterday resulted in a score of 6 to o in favor of Nelson. The home team will have to do some good practice work before July 1st.

Situation, Environments and General Resources.

The City of Columbia is situated near the junction of the North Forks of the Kettle river with the main Kettle river, and is distant about 300 miles east of Vancouver.

The natural situation of the city for beauty is not excelled in Ameriea. A verdure-clad and flower-bespangled rolling prairie, traversed by a river of bright, sparkling waier, fringed with forest trees and surrounded by mountains, forffling a charming combination of picturesquesness and grandeur

The Columbia & Western railway, which was constructed by the Canadian Pacific Railway company, has its station, freight warehouse and yards in the center of Columbia, and the Vancouver, Victora & Eastern Railway company, has located its depot, freight sheds and yards along the east line of the corporation, thus giving the city connections with two transcontineutal lines.

The Canadian Pacifie railway company has large interests in the city, having selected the site on account of the superior natural advantages as a railway centre.

The climate, taken all the year around, is the best in Canadn—part of the summer is rather hot and dry, but the rest of the year is enjoyable.

Throughout the Kettle River valley there is an extent of fertile agricultural land, part of which is now being cultivated.

Apples, plums, pears, prunes, cherries and all the small fruits grow abundantly. The valley surrounding Columbia, divided into small frnit and vegetable farms, will sustain a large population.

Building material is plentiful in the district. Lumber can be procured at fair prices, and brick lime and stone of good quality can always be obtained when required.

The mining interests are of the first importance to this country, and will do much to build up Columbia. Large mineral lodes have been discovered through the mountains adjacent to the city, and what were mere prospects a short time since are now large paying mines.

Water is supplied the city by pumping from a beautiful spring of exceptional purity, capable of supplying a city of 50,000 inhabitants.

The Granby smelter and converter—the most modern and perfect plant of the kind in America—employing hundreds of men, is contiguous to the city.

Owing to the fine climate, the central situation, the beautible environments, the bright prospects for future growth and prosperity, Columbia will be an educational centre, a city of homes, as well as a wholesale distributing point; and when finally allied and wedded to her sister sister, will be the best and largest city in the interior.

THE DOMINION SENATE

At no other time since confederation have the two political parties been so evenly balanced in the Dominion senate as at present. As the appointments to that chamber are made on the advice of the party in power, and are always dictated by an intelligent purpose to strengthen it in the senate, the Conservatives, who controlled the government at the outset and during much of the time since, acquired an enormous preponderance in the membership. During the past six years, in accordance with actuarial laws familiar to life-insurance agents, a change has been going on with unusual rapidity, and though the Conservatives are still in a majority, they seem disposed to allow the Liberals to take control of the house.

IN YOUR PRINTING you don't want to reflect old ideas: you want it up-to-date. There is a certain desire for the antique, but it should be up-to-now in execution.

Our printing reflects the present times, with the best ideas of the past.
