WILL THEY CHANGE?

V. V. & E. Said to be Looking For New Route to the Coast.

Nicola Valley News

Jim Hill will bring the V. V. & E. into Merritt. Of that there is very little doubt. Chief Engineer Kennedy in conversation with a representative of The News at Vancouver a few days ago said that he was confident that the line would be brought into Merritt in order to get into touch with the coal at Middlesboro. A crew of engineers is now working this way from Summit and it is understood that they are headed down the Coldwater river.

Just what course the V. V. & E. will follow is not definitely known. It is reported on good authority that the old route across the summit will be abandoned and that the line will double back into Railway pass and on across to July creek, along July creek to Boston Bar creek and on to the Coquihalla joining the latter at a point about fourteen miles this side of Hope.

This will mean a better grade and an improved route in many ways. It will also mean that Railway Pass which is situated but six miles above the ranch of Del King on the Coldwater and about 26 miles from Merritt will have two railroads, the V. V. & E. and the Kettle Valley. It will mean that the district along through the Coldwater valley and within a radius of thirty miles from Merritt will be given excellent transportation facilities and having the possibilities of a good producing district there should be a large and prosperous settlement in that vicinity.

CANADA'S GRAND OLD MAN

Lord Strathcona Now Over Ninety Years of Age.

Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal, for years known throughout the British Empire as Canada's Grand Old Man, though born in Bonnie Scotland celebrates to day the 90th anniversary of his birth.

His career is certainly one of the most wonderful in the annals of modern times. Born at Forres, Scotland, on Aug. 6th, 1820, as the son of a saddler, he made the prediction, as plain Donald Alexander Smith, to his cousin, now Lord Mount Stephen, then a herd laddie, that as there were no lairds in Canada to lord it over man, he would leave for British North America to tempt fortune and win a competency.

Accordingly, as a raw youth of 18, he set sail for the west, years before Horace Greeley was known, and has done better on this continent than any man from the east who ever crossed the western main.

Arriving at Montreal, he at once entered the service of the Hudson Bay Co., and for years was immersed in the solitudes of Labrador. He endured terrible hardships, but finally became superintendent of that company, whose sphere of influence extended for 3000 miles.

Afterwards, in company of his cousin, now Lord Mount Stephen, he advocated, against strong opposition, the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway. He was told that the receipts of the road would not pay for the axle grease of the trains. He had faith in the proposition, however, and has lived to see it the greatest transportation company in the world, carrying passengers from Great Britain to Hongkong over its own lines.

Lord Strathcona is to-day the world's oldest multi-millionaire, Canada's greatest philanthropist, optimist and financier, the British House of Lords' second oldest peer, Great Britain's most prominent railroad builder and Canada's high commissioner at the seat of empire.

RIGHT IN JOHN'S MITT

After John Oliver's Specializing on Railways, who can Deny His Claim

Sir Wilfrid Laurier was asked by a delegation on his present tour of the west to appoint a Western farmer to the Railway Commission in the place of Mr. Greenway. Sir Wilfrid promised that the matter would receive early attention, and added "I promise that he will be a western man and a member of the farming community." The position has long been vacant.

The claims of John Oliver, if he would be agreeable to accept the position, might be considered paramount for such a place as the railway commission. He would bring industry and a vast fund of general knowledge and common sense to the position.

GOLD PRODUCED BEGINS TO TELL

What Monetary Times Says of Opportunities in This Camp—Will the Kingston Incubus Ever Jar Loose?

With the interest that is being taken in investments in British Columbia care should be taken that the promotion of unsound companies is not permitted, else this province will again suffer as it did following the mining excitement of several years ago. At that time so much was the English public deceived that for years it was almost impossible to secure capital for worthy propositions. To-day it is needed badly. Yet, there will be some ready to take advantage of the excitement aroused by the reported find of the gold reef at Stewart. In London, where the success of South African and Australian mines has brought fortunes, it is natural that people should be ready to invest in mining propositions. Many reports have gone out concerning the high mineral values of the properties of the Portland Canal district, and these in the main, are true. Assays attest the excellent quality of the ore, in the operating camps. The latest reports concerning the "gold reef" are that it is not a free milling proposition, and that the values are nothing more than ordinary and only in keeping with the general high quality of the Portland Canal ore. The accounts sent to London papers, particularly to the Daily Chronicle, were exaggerated to the extreme, in fact are regarded as very harmful by mining men in British Columbia. Hon. J. H. Turner, agent for this province in London, will doubtless have ascertained ere this the true nature of the find, and taken steps to offset the harm done by the publication of reports that can only have a bad influence. If the British public wants mining investments they can find excellent propositions both at Portland Canal, in the Similkameen and other districts, where no risk need be taken whatever. AT HEDLEY, B.C. THE NICKEL PLATE IS BEING OPERATED, PAYING LARGE DIVIDENDS, AND IS THE LARGEST GOLD MINE IN CANADA TODAY. Other good claims are many throughout that district, but money is lacking to prove them, though the discoverers have shown by hard work and expenditure that the ore is there. In the case of the Nickel Plate, as usual, Americans are reaping the benefit.

Attention is also directed to timber propositions. Mr. H. Mutimer, of London, is on a trip to the coast to inspect Portland Canal properties, and points out that sound proposals will always be considered in London, where capital may be found. Incidentally he deprecated the action of promoters of recent lumber company floation in the Old Country in which standing timber is quoted in the list of assets as being worth $5 per thousand. The lumber industry just now in British Columbia was never better, and the prospect is good, but in investing in the industry some consideration should be given to general conditions extending over a term of years so that there may be a thorough understanding of the matter. With mining, ore has a value all the time, the only question being the amount per ton recovered. With lumber, there is fluctuation in the market. There is much money to be made in timber, but extravagant quotations might easily be made.

K. V. HUSTLING IN WEST

While Grand Forks and Other Boundary Points are Kicking at Slowness

There are no less than four construction camps along the Coldwater river and the dirt is flying in real earnest on the Kettle Valley line. The long looked for steam shovel came in on Tuesday night's train and is being taken up the river about two miles where it will be used in digging a new channel for the river and thus divert the old channel so as to save bridging. From there it will be taken up the river to work on cuts.

"We have two shovels now but of course we will not use the big one until we get into the heavy rock. For some miles out the work will be very light, in fact it will be nothing much more than clearing and lightgrading." This statement was furnished by one of the bosses.

The process of moving the steam shovel up the river is an interesting one. Horses go ahead dragging rails and the big shovel passes over one portion of track only to have it taken up and planted farther ahead.

The line will go through Railway pass located six miles above Del King's ranch taking a loop around before entering the pass so as to get a better grade. From the other end of the Pass the line will swing round to Aspen grove and on across cuntry to Penticton. It is understood that less than one per cent. grade is maintained along the entire route from Merritt to Aspen Grove.—Nicola Valley News.

PHOENIX HAS BIG FIRE

Many of the Granby Buildings Destroyed.

PHOENIX, B.C., Aug. 12—The largest and most disastrous fire that has ever visited Phoenix started today at 3:50 p.m. in the No. 3 oil house of the Granby Consolidated Mining and Smelting Co. here. It took but an instant to travel along the covered approach between the mouth of the tunnel and the No. 3 crusher building. The sparks of the crusher building fanned by a breeze began falling on the lower streets and sparks caught the Methodist and Presbyterian churches, the Palace livery stables, the school house, the Pioneer Publishing Co.'s office and plant, Superintendent Smith's residence and the Hodge's cottage. The new machine and blacksmith shops of the Granby only erected last winter shared the same fate. That part of Phoenix known as the upper town was not completely levelled is due to the excellent work rendered by the city fire department and the Granby employees. It looked several times that the town must go and there was many an empty house as furniture was removed to the street and places of safety.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

One of the results that have followed the visits of British newspaper men to Canada and their trips over the length of the whole Dominion from the Atlantic to the Pacific is seen in the better understanding of conditions here as evidenced by the discussion of Canadian affairs on the part of the papers which had representatives on some of those Canadian tours. Not only do those British writers talk more sanely of industrial conditions here than they once did, but they begin to know a thing or two about Canadian politics and it is harder to fool them now than it used to be. As usual the sleepy ones that are as dense concerning Canada and her affairs as nearly all of them were a quarter o a century ago, were ready to hail Laurier's so-called free trade utterances to the farmers of the prairies as an evidence that Canada was being won over to Cobdenism; but the knowing ones who were here and saw for themselves take the Premier's promises and pleasantries for what they are worth and smile when they think of his increase of duties to make himself solid with the manfacturers of the east and compare those acts with his blandishments to the agricultural "middle wester" who may think he could get cheaper farm implements if there were no duty to pay. One British writer regards the Jekyl and Hyde attitude of the Canadian Premier on the tariff question as another instance of what Burke called "the immoralities of geography."

The extract from the Monetary Times appearing in another column will be read with interest here and gives evidence that Camp Hedley is at last coming to her own and that the record of production which under any ordinary circumstances would make a camp famous in the mining world is beginning to attract the notice which is due to it. The policy of concealment and detraction which characterized earlier operations in the camp unfortunately did its work and a gold production which should have brought with it prosperity to the camp appeared to excite neither surprise nor interest. The owners of the producing property simply stowed away the dividends in their jeans and said nothing except to hint that they were going broke, and a badly jumbled-up record of production which might better be called record of concealment compiled annually by the provincial mineralogist (whether by design or otherwise) helped out the imposition; but it was the camp which was made to suffer by it and for six long years we have reaped the harvest of stoney studied neglect from mining capitalists who had nothing for us but the marble heart. To this handicap was also added the unfortunate circumstance that properties such as the Kingston fell into the hands they did, for an exaggerated idea of immediate possibilities of a property when not backed up by the necessary capital and especially when accompanied by the fear that somebody else might realize too great a profit if sold at the price which present development would warrant is apt to be more disastrous in its effects than pronounced pessimism. Now, however, that the Nickel Plate is no longer in the hands of a close corporation where concealment is possible and there is now no evidence of any desire to conceal, the clouds are beginning to clear away and the hope is warranted that a brighter day is dawning. The new owners have given unmistakable evidence that a policy of expansion is to be and is being pursued. This is bound to give confidence to capital and this combined with the logic of hard facts as represented by the declaration of quarterly dividends is sure to work to our benefit. Mining capital is evidently commencing to sit up and take notice. The writer in the Monetary Times very aptly puts it: read in another column what he says.

Dakota crops suffered from drought even more than those in southern Manitoba.

Town and District.

Mrs. W. J. Forbes is spending a few weeks visiting her parents at Green Mountain.

The grade is nearly completed between Princeton and Otter Flat and a great many of the men are being paid off.

Mrs. G. P. Jones and children left on Thursday last for a trip to Spokane and is expected back for the opening of school.

While the smoke from forest fires is about a thing of the past, Estimo cigars are still contributing their share. You can buy one or a thousand at L. C. Rolls & Co.'s.

E. J. Manch, representing the Vancouver Province was in town last week and succeeded in adding to the Hedley list of subscribers to that enterprising paper.

Hedley has a new tailor. Geo. E. Massie, of Grand Forks, has opened up a store and workshop on the premises formerly occupied by by T. McAuliffe, where he carries a stock of suitings of latest patterns.

According to the Oroville Gazette Tommy Daly, of Keremeos, pitched great ball at the tournament there last week. His support was indifferent at critical moments or the result would have been more to his liking.

Forest fires were threatening to wipe out McKinney last week. Careless campers on their way to the north country have been responsible for a good many of the fires that have been doing damage through the district this year.

A. E. Howes, of Nicola, accompanied by Mrs. Howes paid Hedley a visit on Sunday. They were making a tour of the district in an automobile and came in by way of Kamloops and Vernon, returning to Nicola by way of the lower Okanagan and the Similkameen.

Messrs. W. D. MacMillan and W. J. Forbes left again last week for the Skagit country to investigate the report of late finds in that vicinity and look over the country. They may be out in the hills yet for a couple of months or more.

August 1910 bids fair to be the wettest August since 1899. The rainfall has not been great enough to make it begin to compare with 1899 but the showers have been coming at convenient intervals and have aided very much in fighting the forest fires. The contribution to the Twenty-mile water supply is also gratefully acknowledged by manager G. P. Jones who thinks Jupiter Pluvius is trying to do the square thing by him.

The drilling contest at Hedley on Labor Day this year will be a contest of machine drilling to lend a little variety to what we have been having in past years. The machines will be dismantled and each competing team will have to set up their machine and drill as deep a hole as the remaining portion of the fifteen minutes will permit them, a uniform air pressure be maintained all the while.

Road supervisor Turner was in town this week inspecting government work in this vicinity an up the river. It is often his lot to have to do things that do not suit everybody and his work is subject to the criticisms of all. For that reason it is necessary that his conclusions be sound from an engineering standpoint with due regard to the public interest and the individual. Mr. Turner can be counted on to do as nearly right as it is humanly possible to do.

The steamer Kaleden was not fully completed when she made her trial trip to Okanagan Falls. She was taken back to Okanagan Landing to have the final touches put on her and she will work for a while on the big lake to help in the freighting before being put on regular runs on the river Another reason for making the trial run at the time it was made was to ascertain what spots on the river needed additional attention fron the dredgers who are still at work.

The new Deister tables are being set up in the stamp mill by S. E. Hamilton this week. They are twelve in number and these added to the 24 Frue vanners that have been in use will give a fine concentrating plant that should do fine work, and in operation with the tube mill, Bunker Hill screens and the vanners should attain the close saving that is aimed at. The Deister table while quite a new invention in the line of concentrating machinery has already worked wonders in many places where it has been tried out and been the means of placing other concentrators on the scrap heap, that were considered excellent concentrators in their time. Its superiority over many others is said to lie in its ability to handle slimes.

Herbert P. Sawtell, representing the Sullivan Machinery Co. of Chicago was in town this week in the interests of his company and when here called to convey the regards of Mr. Austin Hoy of the same company who was here last year. It was Mr. Hoy who laid out the Hedley golf links over which he was very enthusiastic and fell in love with the grounds and their possibilities from a golfer's standpoint the moment he saw them. He therefore naturally retains a kindly interest in Hedley and the golfers here would be pleased to have another visit from him.

Few who learned of the death of Rev. Walter Ross at Grand Forks would experience more real regret than Rev. A. H. Cameron, of Keremeos and Hedley who has been associated with him in the work of the church in the west for the past thirty years. Of the men who have been associated with the work of the Presbyterian church in the middle west and far west since the days of the first Riel rebellion or even since the advent of the C. P. R. the number is decreasing rapidly and a marked feature is that scarcely any of them retired from the active work of the church, but remained in harness until the last. like their old chieftain Dr. Robertson the superintendent of missions in the west who passed away a few years ago.

ON THE GOLF LINKS

Three sets of foursomes braved the threatening rainstorms on Saturday afternoon last to have a tryout on the Hedley golf links. The first set consisting of F. H. French and Miss Jackson who were playing against W. C. Martin and Mrs. Rotherham got started off on time and managed to make the round of the links before the rain came on. The former won out on a score of 30 to 43 after handicaps were deducted. L. C. Rolls and Mrs. Hamilton played R. James and Miss McLean beating them on a score of 41 to 43 after handicaps were deducted. Rolls and his partner made the round in the same number of strokes as the winners in the first set but the difference in the handicap gave them a lower standing. A. Megraw and Miss Fraser beat M. Hettrick and Miss Williams. score 45 to 47. The last two sets were caught in the rain but with the Scotch pertinacity that is always supposed to go with the sport they were game enough to finish out the round.

Some of the handicaps now need revising from that determined by the ladder series of games played early in the spring to arrange handicaps, for the improvement in play since that time has not been uniform.

It has also been suggested that the secretary be notified by players a day or two before the game if they cannot play so as to obviate the difficulty of having sets broken up by the failure of players to turn out after they have been drawn for a place.

The time set for play to commence is three o'clock and all are requested to be on hand at that hour, or in the case of those coming off shift at three o'clock, or as soon thereafter as possible. Another drawing will be made for Saturday next.

A government engineer and his assistant are in the valley and will examine the Ashnola as to the feasibility of a wagon road up the canyon.

Rev. Mr. Cameron announces that in future he will hold morning as well as evening service in the church on Sunday. This means two services every Sunday.

Sportsmen are already beginning to polish up their rifles for the opening of the deer season on Sept. 1st. Illegal shooting of deer by Siwashes up the Ashnola is reported as usual.

The indications are that the fruit in our valley this year will be the best ever and arrangements should be made to have it exhibited at as many of the leading fairs as possible.

A. E. Howse and party of Nicola passed through here on Sunday in their touring motor car. Mr. Howse had come from Nicola via Kamloops and the Okanagan and was headed for Princeton where he has large business interests.

Dr. McEwen had a drive on Saturday night that was anything but a pleasure trip. He received an urgent call to attend a typhoid patient at the home of Riste's, Chopaka, and though the night was inky dark and the river to be forded he did not hesitate.

The motor car, or more correctly the motor wagon, which W. H. Armstrong has sent in from Vancouver arrived here on Sunday. It is a very serviceable type of machine and was brought in via Nicola and Princeton by two experienced drivers.

Mr. Dynes representing the Riverside Nurseries of Grand Forks, has been in town during the past week and has gathered in a most satisfactory bunch of orders for spring delivery. Grand Forks nurseries, by reason of their location are in the best position to supply the requirements of this valley, while the quality of the stock they send out and their methods of doing business will commend themselves to all their patrons.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Shaw and family, of Greenwood arrived in Keremeos on Sunday evening having driven over. On Tuesday Mr. and Mrs. Shaw left for Vancouver via Spokane, where they will spend a few days en route visiting their daughter who is nursing in St. Luke's hospital. At the coast Mr. Shaw will spend a month or six weeks doing survey work for Mr. Kennedy on the V. V. & E. route between Abbotsford and Hope, after which they will rejoin their children here and spend a few weeks with Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Frith.

H. P. Gibson, who is intending returning to Saskatchewan to reside is offering for sale at bargain prices the following articles: top buggy complete with pole and shafts, democrat, wagon (2½ inch tire), 3 rolls barb wire, set of single harness, mower, rake, cultivator, 2 horse blankets, heating stove, sewing machine, set of scales, 240 lbs; crow bar, pick, 2 hay forks, Washing machine, mangle, 4 chairs, 2 rockers, lawn mower, 6 rolls tar paper, 3 gal. red barn paint, saddle, 450 lbs wheat, 175 lbs oats. Mr. Gibson may be seen either at Shaw's old store where the goods are stored or at his residence on G. H. Knowling's lot.

A party from the Centre, including Mr. Frank Richter, Charley, Hans, Freida and Bessie have been camping up the Ashnola during the past week. It is understood that while there Mr. Rickter will look over some range land with a view to pre-emption or purchase.
