B. C's Representation In The Great World War

The recent call for more men from Canada causes us to cast our eyes B. C.-ward, while we ask the question, "Is B. C. doing her share?

The answer is easy. B. C. now has about 25,000 men represented in the forces which are fighting for thelife of the empire, and more men are daily joining the ranks of the ever-increasing list of volunteers.

It is estimated that one out of every 15 of the inhabitants of this Province are wearing the khaki. Remembering of course that we have a relatively large foreign population who could not in any sense be regarded as eligible to join the ranks of the B. C. Volunteers.

In this connection an article appearing in the November number of the Sunset Magazine, published at San Francisco, is worthy of more than passing comment.

After an introduction which tells of an Indian woman sitting by the roadside near Victoria knitting heavy woolen socks for the man who had gone Eastward to "heap big fight", the article goes on to tell of some of the letters from the front and the impression they make on the readers. Then the writer, Arno Dosch, says,

"You meet with the war the moment you cross the Canadian frontier.

"British Columbia is, I believe, more interested in this war than England. If the spirit of its citizens mean anything, it is. They are given over to the war. They think of nothing else. And this is the more remarkable in the light of the fact that Canada, particularly Western Canada, had shown an inclination in recent years to break away from its colonial leading strings. They used to speak only of 'the Dominion.' Now you hear only of "the Empire. Before the war you could hardly have found the Union Jack in all British Columbia. Now it is fluttering from windows and from every flag pole.

"London is spoken of these days in Vancouver and Victoria as familiarly as if it were the capital of the province. And to hear Calais and Boulogne mentioned you might think they were just across the channel. In San Francisco, Portland and Seattle I felt I was a long way from those military towns, but I needed only to cross Puget Sound to set down beside them again. I heard as much war talk there as I heard in London even in the exciting days of the retreat to the Marne.

"This is not surprising when you consider that Western Canada has enlisted fifty thousand men. Of these over twenty-one thousand were from British Columbia. Consider the drain on a new country where every man counts. It is another matter in England where a man who loses his job may spend the rest of his life trying to get another. But Western Canada is still in the pioneer stage. It had no men to spare, and yet it furnished men. The city of Vancouver alone contributed ten thousand. Out of every four able-bodied men in Vancouver one has gone to war. England itself with the angry cannon pounding at the lines of the Allies only three hours away and the Zeppelins bringing the war right into London, can show no such record as this.

"From the Cowichan valley, an agricultural community north of Vancouver, four hundred men have gone. The Cowichan Cricket Club enlisted in a body. In the Sooke valley, twenty-three miles from Victoria, four-fifths of the men between eighteen and forty five have left. You can go through that country all day and hardly see a man, but at the windows of the houses will appear the anxious faces of women, fearful that you are bringing bad news."

WAR NOTES

No one now receiving a pension or other support from the government can claim under the Patriotic Fund. Its object is to assure to the dependants of the men at the front, an honest living, so that the man who is fighting will not have to worry about his loved ones at home. The fact that a man is over age and cant go for any reason does not release him from obligation to the fund. On the contrary it places additional responsibility upon him. "Fight or pay."

There are quite a number of B. C. newspaper men with the troops in training or at the front. Among them Lieutenant Frank Coffey, recently killed at Gallipoli, who was for a time editor of the Nicola News, and will be remembered here as secretary of the agricultural commission; Captain W. Garland Foster of the Daily News, with the 54th; Lieutenant Dick Burde of the Alberni News, with Western Scots; George Pedlar of the Fernie Free Press, with Western Scots; J. H. Brown of Kerimeos, in the trenches with the first C. E. F, Joe also served in the South African war with the First Canadian contingent.—Slocan Record.

In connection with yesterday's announcement of a defeat of a German war vessel on Lake Tanganika in east Central Africa, a half mile above sea level, it is announced that the British ship which accomplished the surrender of the German vessel, was especially constructed in England and transported to the heart of Africa. Until the arrival of these vessels, the German controlled Lake Tanganika, which is the centre of a large and important territory. The presence of British armed vessels on the lake will completely reverse the situation there. This is considered here as most opportune in view of the forthcoming campaign in East Africa.—Daily News.

After passing through the battles at St. Julien and Ypres, Pte. Edward Smith, of the 13th Battalion, invalided home, slipped on the ice while walking along the street in Winnipeg and fell, fracturing his skull. He died on Monday and his funeral was held with eight of his former comrades acting as pallbearers.—Vernon News.

The Vossische Zeitung, in an article on the food prices in Berlin, shows that there has been a great increase in the cost of living in the German capital. The article says that the price of bacon has increased 80 per cent, while that of pigs has increased 80 per cent.; mutton 70 per cent., and veal 65 per cent.

MINING NOTES

According to the Slocan Record the Star and Ruth mills at Sandon were both closed down last week owing to shortage of water.

The Trail smelter has in operation five copper, and four lead furnaces. The company evidently knows how to run a smelting business.—Ledge.

With copper as high as it is, with every prospect of going higher, it seems strange that the copper properties of this vicinity are permitted to continue idle. Both the Copper World and Copper World Extension should be paying the stockholders dividends. —Oroville Gazette.

One of the immediate results of the present war has been to encourage the smelting and refining of ores in Canada. While certain metallic minerals have, in the past, received preliminary treatment in Canada, the ordinary metals of commerce, excepting lead, have been exported for refining. Recent reports announce the establishment in Canada of plants for refining both zinc and copper.—Conservation.

Statistics issued by the State Mining Bureau indicate a remarkable increase of zinc production in California, from $20,381 in 1914 to $1,620,000 in 1915. On the other hand, the output of petroleum has diminished in value from $47,000,000 to $40,000,000, the yield having decreased by nearly eleven million barrels, although 240 new wells were drilled, increasing the total to 6500. The gold production is given as $22,850,000, the highest since 1870, and the largest of any state in the Union. Increased activity in the mining of tungsten, antimony, magnesite, and manganese is reported. In value of total output, Shasta county is first. The total mineral output is estimated at $95,211,000 for the year. —Mining and Scientific Press.

One of the curious consequences of the War is the suggestion to ship the zinc-lead ore of the Bawdwin mines, owned by the Burma Corporation, from the Northern Shan States—where these mines are situated—to Australia. A favorable consideration of the proposal to establish a smelter for this purpose in Australia is assured by the Premier of the Australia Commonwealth. It is estimated that the Bawdwin mines can produce 75,000 tons of lead, 65,000 tons of zinc, and 7,000,000 ounces of silver per annum. Just before the outbreak of hostilities in Europe, the zinc-lead ore, which resembles that of Broken Hill in being an intimate and refactory mixture, was being shipped tentatively to Germany. Since then an effort has been made unsuccessfully to obtain satisfactory reduction facilities in England.

Turkey Shoot

There will be a Big Turkey Shoot at Hedley, B. C. in the Ball Park on Saturday, January 15 at 10:30 a. m. A splendid lot of Turkeys will be won at this shoot come and get your's. Peep or open sight allowed.

Grand Masquerade Ball Friday, January 21st

Dodgers are out this week announcing the annual masquerade ball in aid of the Hedley Hospital.

This always has been one of the greatest events in the winter season at Hedley and there is every reason why this year it ought to be a bigger than ever. One reason is because Hedley people are making more use of the hospital all the time and the expense is getting to be heavier all the time and the management depend on the public to keep the accounts balanced.

As far as the ball itself is concerned, this year the Opera House is to be used and every one in Hedley, Keremeos, Princeton and then some, knows it has a splendid floor for dancing, and when you think that the Hedley Brass Band has been getting a line on some nice new dance music, the combination ought to be an inducement to appeal to the heart of a wheelbarrow.

Every one will be masked and of course nearly everybody will be in fancy dress. Liberal prizes will be awarded to the best costumes.

Unless you are masked you cannot dance until 11 o'clock, when everyone unmasks. At midnight supper will be called. This year it will be served in the Grand Union Hotel and Mine Host Winkler is making all arrangements for a real nice supper.

The committee is sparing no pains to make this the greatest ball ever and it is now up to you to come out and put in the finishing touches by your presence and financial support.

Silver to the amount of 3,000,000 ounces was consumed by the Eastman Kodak Company during the year 1915. This suggests one of the items of consumption that helps the honest miner to get a price on his ore. The silver used by the camera is lost for good, that is, it is permanently diverted from the market. Moreover the growing cinematograph industry must consume several more million ounces of silver, so that when the miner on a holiday comes from camp to town he will be logical in patronizing the 'movie'. The one thing to be deprecated is the bestowal of iron crosses; as miners, we ought to insist on silver badges—the heavier the better—being used as the insignia of virile manhood.

With the coming of 1916 we have much to be thankful for. Of course the thing that seems to be uppermost in the thought of every sane person these days, is the war.

We should be thankful that the year just passed has witnessed some of the greatest victories for the Allies that one could reasonably look for. Not only victories over the aggressive Teuton, but diplomatic victories which have lined up some of the powers and have kept the others neutral.

Victories which have overcome to a very large extent the handicap against the Allies with which the war began and which made it possible for the Teutons to stage the big drive which brought them within a few leagues of Paris.

Victories which have overcome some of the difficulties under which our supply of munition was being manufactured and have placed us not only on an equal, but on a far better footing as fas as the future supply is concerned.

Victories which, through the devious ways of British parlimentary usages, have assured us men and means for the further carrying on of the war.

Whatever the compulsory bill has cost the country England will at least supply her quota of fighting men and English mechanics will still be loyal to the old flag.

Make a resolution to place the bann on all catalogues from the big mail order houses and to buy at home everything that can be procured here. This is the best way to build up the town and assure a future for yourself.

J. P.'s Weekly is the latest weekly editorial venture in the Province. Published at Vancouver by J. P. McConnell and Wm. H. Carswell. The fomer as "Bruce" already has a large circle of readers and his new venture bids fair to add to his literary laurels.

The annual report of the Cammell, Laird Co., Ltd., of Sheffield, Eng. with branch office at Vancouver, shows that the company experienced a very good year during 1915. The output both as regards steel and the partly and wholly finished articles, constitutes a record in the experience of the company. The company operates extensively at Sheffield, Penistone and Birkenhead, and at the latter place 12,000 men are employed. The year has been free from labor troubles and in view of the large number of its employees who have joined the colors the company has certainly established a record in the matter of output. Ship building, engineering and repairing of all kinds are among its numerous activities.

Editorial Quotations

Austria will not, it is said, meet the demands of the United States. We assume, however, that as far as the latter is concerned, there will be "an abundance of peace as long as the (honey) moon endureth."—Colonist.

Mr. Bourassa says the Canadians are not bound to fight for Britain. There is also another thing that Canadians are not bound to do, and that is to put up with Bourassa's seditious speeches, and the sooner he learns it the better.—Colonist.

There is no reason why Sir Richard should not fill the position of agent general in London in a manner that will be acceptable to the people of British Columbia. The office is a sinecure, and it does not require a particularly bright man to discharge its duties.—G. F. Sun.

Lloyd George is a master at coining phrases that stick. His suggestion to trade unionists of Glasgow in connection with the war and its effective prosecution that "it is no use haggling with an earthquake" carries a world of meaning and is something his hearers couldn't forget even if they wanted to.—Calgary Herald.

The Teutons have been more successful in occupying territory than in conquering hostile armies. They have swept over Serbia as they did over a part of Poland and over Belgium. But the unconquered Serbian, Russian and Belgian armies confront them still, while their their own dead lie strewn over the land that has been taken.—News-Advertiser.

The Hon. Lorne Campbell is spending his holidays at his home in Rossland attending to some business affairs, and the Victorian will venture the assertion that the Hon. Lorne Campbell is just the same man as Lorne Campbell. That is one of the reasons why the people of his own town like him. They are proud of him as a citizen and they are proud of him as the Minister of Mines.—Victorian.

If the warring countries of Europe only knew how many of their best authorities, both military and governmental, were wasting their lives holding down minor jobs in America they would charter a fleet to take them home and thus form the greatest "advisory board" the world has ever known. It is a shame that so much fertile brains should have to struggle along in this country for an existence when the "mother country" and the "fatherland" are so badly in need of the very insight they have of the conflict.—Chesaw News.

Strive as they will to hide the real facts from the world the German Government is without a doubt suffering from the discontent of the starving people. As each day goes by reports direct and indirect, give evidence of the fact that the high price of food is bringing great hardships upon the poorer classes, while the rich are enjoying life as far as physical conditions are concerned. This situation may lead to interior trouble that might prove more disastrous than the bombardment by the Allies on any one of the various fronts.—Victorian.

Spotted Lake and Spottad Lake No. 3 Mineral Claims, situate in the Osoyoos Mining Division of Yale District. Where located:—North end Kruger Mountain.

Take Notice that I, R. P. Brown, as agent for Silvester Rayburn, Free Miners Certificate No. 75098-B, intend, sixty days from date hereof, to apply to the Mining Recorder for a Certificate of Improvements, for the purpose of obtaining a Crown Grant of the above claim.

And further take notice that action, under section 37, must be commenced before the issuance of such Certificate of Improvement.

Dated this 13th day of December, A. D., 1915.

Synopsis of Coal Mining Regulations

COAL mining rights of the Dominion, in Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta, the Yukon Territory, the North-west Territories and in a portion of the Province of British Columbia, may be leased for a term of twenty-one years at an annual rental of $1 an acre. Not more than 2,560 acres will be leased to one applicant.

Application for a lease must be made by the applicant in person to the Agent or Sub-Agent of the district in which the rights applied for are situated.

In surveyed territory the land must be described by sections, or legal sub-divisions of sections, and in unsurveyed territory the tract applied for shall be staked out by the applicant himself.

Each application must be accompanied by a fee of $5 which will be refunded if the rights applied for are not available, but not otherwise. A royalty shall be paid on the merchantable output of the mine at the rate of five cents per ton.

The person operating the mine shall furnish the Agent with sworn returns accounting for the full quantity of merchantable coal mined and pay the royalty thereon. If the coal mining rights are not being operated such returns should be furnished at least once a year.

The lease will include the coal mining rights only, but the lessee may be permitted to purchase whatever available surface rights may be considered necessary for the working of the mine at the rate of $10.00 an acre.

For full information application should be made to the Secretary of the Department of the Interior, Ottawa, or to any Agent or Sub-Agent of Dominion Lands.

W. W. CORY,
Deputy Minister of the Interior.

What Are You Kicking About?

You Men Who Think You're Underpaid

Don't "cuss" your luck because your pay is small. Don't blame it on the boss. Don't think that the reason others get more pay is that they have more "pull" because it isn't so!

The men who get big pay are those who are trained to do work that is worth it. You have no special training, and you have to do work that any man with two hands can do; therefore your pay is small—and you, only, are to blame.

YOU can earn more—YOU can work with your head instead of your hands—YOU can give orders instead of taking them. No matter what you do, where you live, or how old you are, the International Correspondence Schools can come to you and train you for a better job.

Every year more than five thousand persons take the trouble to write to the I. C. S. that their salaries have been increased through this training. These who report are but a handful—tens of thousands of others are benefited.

For 24 years the I. C. S. have been training men having no education other than ability to read and write, no more time than the odds and ends so commonly wasted, and no more money than the little that could be saved out of small wages.

If you want to be a high-salaried man—to be somebody—prove your ambition,

The January issue of Rod and Gun in Canada is on the news-stands and a glance at the table of contents shows that the magazine is living up to its reputation as the leading exponent of outdoor life in Canada. Among the contributors noted are Edward T. Martin, R. J. Fraser, Jean Stevinson, F. C. Williams and Margaret Grant MacPhirter, while some of the articles are: Game Farming for Profit and Pleasure, Capacities, The Unwritten Law, Almost a Walkout, The Restigouche, etc., etc. In addition the regular departments devoted to Guns and Ammunition and Fishing Notes are well maintained. Trap shooters will be interested in the account of the recent Grand International shoot held at St. Thomas and dog lovers in the new Kennel department. Rod and Gun is publised at Woodstock by W. J. Miss Edith Cavill

The gray dawn had crept o'er the stillness of morning,
The dewdrops they glistened like icicled breath,
The notes of the bugle had sounded its warning,
When Miss Edith Cavill was sentenced to death.
She feared not to die, tho' her heart was nigh broken;
'Twas simply remembrance of the land she loved so well,
And the Bible she pressed to her lips as a token,
But these thoughts cheered her soul in a German's cold cell:

CHORUS

They will lay me away o'er the hill side,
Along with the brave and the bold.
They will inscribe my name on the scroll of fame
In letters of purest gold.
A low German court martial convicted me,
And for spying I was put to death:
But may God speed the Allies to victory
And avenge my horrible death.

She thought of the love of her feeble old mother,
She thought of the country so dear to her heart,
But the sobs of affection she scarcely could smother,
Well knowing how soon from them both she must part.
No cold blooded murder had stained her pure conscience,
She called as a witness her mother on high,
She had simply been nursing to help her loved country—
Arrested, and tried, she was sentenced to die, [Chorus.]

To the open court yard they then marched Miss Edith Cavill,
And before her young eyes loomed the walls of a tomb;
But while they were loading their death dealing rifles,
That brave English nurse had fell in a swoon.
The blamed not the soldiers for doing their duty—
It was the low German devil that gave the command—
But before the smoke cleared away from the point of the rifles
Her brave little soul had passed to a happier land. [Chorus.]

Increased Production of Metals Used in Making Shells

The following figures furnish a comparison between the quantities of the different metals used in the manufacture of the 22,000,000 shells, for which orders have been placed in Canada, with our production of such metals in 1913:

Steel used, 400,000 tons. 1913 it was estimated that the production of iron ore in Canada, 307,031 tons, did not exceed 5 per cent of the country's requirements of iron in that year.

Zinc used, contained in brass, 11,200,000 pounds. No zinc was refined in Canada in 1913 but the exports of metallic zinc in ore shipped amounted to slightly over 7,000,000 pounds.

Copper used, 55,000,000 pounds. The total production in 1913 was about 77,000,000 pounds and all of it was exported for refining.

Lead, 101,760,000 pounds. The production in 1913 was about 37,665,000 pounds, of which over 97 per cent was recovered as refined lead.

Rossland is figuring on a winter carnival.

Okanogan's brand new court house will be formally opened tomorrow.

Armstrong is preparing for the winter poultry show to take place the 19th and 20th.

The Slocan Record mentions the visit of L. T. Jowdry, jeweler, of Silverton.

During November LeRoi No. 2 shipped 1,555 tons of ore and 38 tons of concentrates.

When the Roger's Pass tunnel becomes operative, Golden expects to graduate into the divisional point class.

A Chink over at Vancouver swallowed a quarter of a pound of opium and passed into the other world as in a dream.

New Westminster has very bright prospects industrially, her mills, box factories and machine shops are kept on the hump.

Timber wolves are on the rampage in the Pas country and travellers are warned to go armed. Game is scarce and the wolves are very hungry.

Penticton prohibitionists are arranging to make a thorough canvass of the city and will organize with a view to getting out every available vote.

Auto service between Keremeos and Penticton has had to be replaced by the horse-drawn stage on account of the depth of snow on the summit,

For the first time in a number of years Canada is exporting eggs. The British market is now showing a preference for Canadian hen fruit.

S. Polson would like to be mayor of Vernon, and says his platform is right-useness. A very practical slogan from a man who would give the city a business administration.

As a tribute to retiring Premier McBride, citizens of Victoria will furnish a ward in the Provincial Royal Jubilee Hospital to be known as the Sir Richard McBride Ward.

An English paper publishes an advertisement from a wounded soldier, who wishes to dispose of his shooting lodge "somewhere in France." Fine shooting, he says; "snipe" and "duck." —Province.

Creston recently lost one of the old Fenian Raid veterans in the person of Dan Cameron. He had cooked in several of the best camps of the Kootenays and was chef at the Creston hotel when he died. In his passing Creston loses one of its most interesting characters.

A couple of Kaslo ites overcame the evil intentions of a big cougar by joining their voices in one unearthly shriek. The Kootenaian explains that Mr. Cougar was hungry. Evidently he was weak from starvation. We have known people who would retire before the united efforts of some vocalists.

Back in Philadelphia Miss Bessie Snow has just been married to Mr. George Blizzard. Singular. If she starts the row it will be a snow storm, but if the trouble originated with him it would be a blizzard. If coolness should arise between them what would it be? A freeze-out? It would be a cold day for the man who came between them.

Brother Dallum is elated over the reported discovery of a deposit of alum near Oroville and says: "If research continues there is no doubt that an entire drug store will be discovered in this locality, so that it will make no difference as to the supply of drugs and chemicals if the European war continues another dozen years, for the country will not have to depend upon importations."

O. H. Woody, publisher of The Independent, Okanogan, Wash., had the good fortune to draw the lucky number in a prize-winning affair recently. The prize was an automobile. Fancy an editor hitting it up at high speed and running down one of the delinquent suscribers. Verily, Brother Woody has served the craft well in making such a suggestion possible. Col. Lowery ought to get one.

READ== Then Think!

Now that you have commenced to read this article, just keep right on to the end, and then you will have absorbed meat of the cocoanut.

What has this town ever done for you? It has fed you, and clothed you, and housed you, and given you employment and kept the wolf from your door for these many years.

It has done more. It has furnished you recreation, and enjoyment, and has guided you safely over many of the stones that beset the pathway of life.

It has praised your good deeds and has thrown the mantle of charity over your questionable ones.

It has been, and is, YOUR HOME. But what have YOU done for the TOWN?

You are making you money here but where are you spending it?

Are your buying goods from the local dealer, who pays and otherwise contributes liberally to the upkeep of the community and your home, or are you sending your money away to some catalogue house that wouldn't lend you a five cent piece to save your soul from purgatory?

And now you have reached the point where we want you to stop and think, and think hard, and to a sane, sensible and patriotic purpose.
