INEXPENSIVE ENTERTAINMENT

The War Has Not Increased the Price of Gram-o-phone Records.

It is pleasing to note, in the face of steadily increasing prices of necessities and luxuries alike, that one article—the gram-o-phone record—contributing in no small measure towards the pleasure and entertainment of the people, has not increased in price since the beginning of the war.

In a statement recently issued by the Berliner Gram-o phone Company, Limited, of Montreal, manufacturers in Canada of the famous "His Master's Voice" Victor Records, they state that in spite of the tremendous improvement in the Victor Records of today over those of former years, the methods of manufacture, the constantly increasing array of world famous artists who sing exclusively for the Victor Records, and the range of music obtainable—unequalled in any other form of musical reproduction—their prices have remained the same.

As in all lines of business, the cost of materials and labor has increased greatly, and it requires considerable fortitude and confidence in the future to maintain the prices of more prosperous times. Realizing, however, that in times like the present, music is one of the chief sources of relief and entertainment, and because the Victor Records form perhaps the greatest, and in most cases, the only medium between the people and the fine music and the great singers and musicians of the world, it was decided to continue to offer these records at the same price as always.

As is well known, Victor Records are entirely "Made In Canada" in a large and up-to-date Montreal factory by hundreds of skilled Canadian workmen. The materials are gathered here from all parts of the world where they are converted into the wonderful black discs that delight the millions. With the sole exception of the original recording of the artist's voice, which for obvious reasons must be done where the artists are to be found, everything connected with the manufacture of "His Master's Voice" Victor Records is "made in Canada."

Russia has started a submarine war against Germany in the Baltic Sea, according to a report circulated in Copenhagen. The campaign is similar to that launched by Germany against England.

British manufacturers are planning a large campaign to induce skilled laborers, who emigrated in recent years to Canada to return home to work in the war factories making munitions, building ships on the Tyne and war ships on the Clyde.

"ROD AND GUN" FOR MAY

Rod and Gun for May, published by W. J. Taylor, Limited, Woodstock, Ont., is out with an interesting list of contents. Edward T. Martin contributes an article "Have the Pigeons Returned," dealing with the possible recurrence of the passenger pigeon, which has been pronounced extinct by as great an authority as Prof. Hornaday of New York. "A Ram of the Stormycut" is a Western story of a ram whom its pursuers regarded as a creature of the evil one. How its propensity for vanishing into thin air was finally explained and the ram secured is most entertainingly related by Ray Giddings. Other stories and the regular departments combine to make an exceptionally interesting number of this well known sportsman's magazine.

KING'S CONGRATULATIONS

His Majesty Appreciates Gallant Conduct of Canadian Troops.

Ottawa, April 28.—His Royal Highness the Duke of Connaught has received a message from King George extending His Majesty's hearty congratulations on the splendid behavior of the Canadian troops. The message, which was dated from Buckingham Palace, April 25, is as follows:

"Congratulate you most warmly on the splendid and gallant way in which the Canadian division have fought during the last two days north of Ypres. Sir John French says their conduct was magnificent throughout. The Dominion will be justly proud.

(Signed) "GEORGE."

PARCEL POST AND FARM PRODUCE

As a means of reducing the cost of butter and eggs and other of the lighter farm products to city consumers, the parcel post has not come up to expectations. In the United States the parcel post has been operating since the beginning of 1913, and in Canada since the early part of 1914, but the consumers in the larger cities have saved little through the system. The reports of individual postmasters in the United States, which has a low scale of rates for parcels up to fifty pounds, show that some prosperous people use the service, but their object manifestly is not the saving of money, but the bettering of quality. The masses have not been able to buy more cheaply direct from the farmer than they do from the middleman at home. In fact, quotations direct from the farm on poultry, butter and eggs have often been higher than the retail prices of the city stores.

It was confidently thought at the outset that when a cheap and safe channel was made for direct trading between farm producer and city consumer there would be a saving to the consumer and larger profits to the farmer. The costs and profits absorbed by the middleman were to be gained by the two principals at either end. But the optimists—and most of us were in that class—did not reckon sufficiently on the ability and keenness of the farmer to swallow all the saving himself. He has found it possible to do so, since the supply of farm products has never caught up to the demand. Most farmers watch city prices closely, and are, in fact, better informed on them than are city consumers. Direct trading on city curb markets often bears witness to the truth of this. Market prices are quite as high as the retail store prices.

In Canada, at least, there has been little development of the farm-to-consumer trading by parcel post. Most of the data on the subject came from the United States. The 11-pound limit of weight which the Canadian postal service still retains keeps within a very narrow range the farm products that can be sent by post. Perhaps if we had a 50-pound limit as the United States has, and rates as low, there might be a little more development of this side of the service, but the outlook is confessedly not bright. The crowding of the people into the cities and towns and the depopulating of the rural districts in the last half-dozen years gives the farmer an advantage.—Toronto Mail and Empire.

Frenchman—You are a funny people you Engleesh. You take strong whiskey; you put water in to make it weak; you put sugar in it to make it sweet; you put lemon in it to make it sour; then you say 'here's to you,' and drink it yourself.—Ex.

TO INTERN AT VERNON

Prominent Germans Will Be Placed Under Strict Surveillance.

Kerrisdale, Point Grey, May 1.—Instructions have been received from the military authorities at Ottawa that the Germans concerned in the recent "celebrating" on Eighteenth avenue be interned at Vernon. Arrangements are being made, therefore, to convey Dr. Otto Grunert, Baron Von Lattwaitz, Paul Kopp and F. Stritzel, the four Germans arrested, to Vernon.

It is understood that Mr. H. H. Stevens, M. P., will accompany the party to arrange for the six female members of the household on Marine drive, where Dr. Grunert and Baron Von Lattwaitz resided, to follow later.

VALUE OF B. C.'s FORESTS

The Hon. W. R. Ross, Minister of Lands for British Columbia, who during the past three years has organized a business administration and protection of the forests of the province is now undertaking the systematic development of wider markets for British Columbia forest products. The importance of this work to the province cannot be over estimated. The annual value of the forest products of British Columbia in 1913 was nearly $34,000,000. The forests of the province are so extensive as to support in perpetuity five times as great an industry, or one worth $170,000,000. This sum of money practically all of which would be distributed in the province for labor, supplies and transportation, would ensure continued prosperity to all classes, benefitting the farmer with the tradesman and mechanic. The markets of British Columbia lumber and other forest products must be found outside of British Columbia. Mr. Ross has, therefore, been active in securing the appointment of the Chief Forester of the Province as a special commissioner of the Dominion Government to investigate the possibility of shipping Canadian lumber to all the important foreign lumber markets of the world. He will visit in particular the United Kingdom, France, Italy, South Africa, Australia, New Zealand, India, China and Japan. The information gained from this investigation will form the basis of the steps to be taken by Mr. Ross in making it easier for British Columbia manufacturers to export to foreign markets. The Minister has also under consideration plans for co-operating with the timber industries of the province in creating a greater demand for provincial lumber products in the Canadian prairie and eastern Canada. The problem of increasing the British Columbia export trade in forest products is one which means millions of dollars to the people of the province, and for this reason it is receiving careful consideration at the hands of the Government.

Great Britain has a population of but a trifle over 45,000,000, yet she has armed and equipped a citizen army of about 2,500,000 men in a few month's time. Kipling's reference to "Bobs" as "He's little, but he's mighty for his size," applies to Great Britain as well.

The Connaught bridge in Vancouver which was damaged by fire on the afternoon of April 29th, had a total length of 4,091 feet, 3,514 feet of which were of steel. The contract price was $650,000, but the total cost $740,000. It was opened in September, 1912, by the Duke of Connaught. The damage is estimated at from $60,000 to $100,000, with no insurance.

BLAME FIXED ON STORSTAD

Justice Dunlop Gives Judgment in Canadian Pacific Ry—Storstad $3,000,000 Suit Finding for Plaintiff.

Judgment for the Canadian Pacific railway was given in Montreal by Mr. Justice Dunlop against the Storstad, resulting from the $3,000,000 suit over the sinking of the Empress of Ireland on May 29, 1914.

The extent of the damages will be fixed by the deputy registrar, Wm. Thompson Walker, K. C., assisted by merchants, the assessment to be filed with the court within the next six months.

In giving judgment Mr. Justice Dunlop says:

"On the Storstad, Mr. Tufteness, first officer, was in charge, perhaps assisted by Saxe, third officer, though the latter claims he had nothing to do with the navigation of the ship. In my opinion Mr. Tufteness in not stopping the Storstad, when he heard the first three blasts from the Empress, made a great error of judgment, and to my mind had Capt. Anderson, the master of the Storstad, been called earlier and been on deck, he would immediately have stopped his ship and avoided the whole calamity. I cannot emphasize this neglect too strongly.

"I regret very much to have to find Mr. Tufteness at fault in violating articles 16, 21 and 29 of the rules of the road above stated. Through his neglect or inexperience, in my opinion, the cause of the accident was the speed of the Storstad and the porting and hard-a-porting of her helm, and the Storstad is entirely to blame for said accident, because Mr. Tufteness had the opportunity to take the speed off his ship, the same as the Empress did, and if he had not ported her helm, I believe he would have gone clear and the collision would not have occurred. I regret very much to have to impute this lamentable disaster, and I would not have done so, and would not do so, if I had felt that any reasonable alternative was left to me.

"There is nothing to show that the disaster was in any way attributable to the St. Lawrence route, and being open water all sea rules apply.

"I am further of opinion that no fault or blame is attached or attributable to the Empress of Ireland, and, consequently, I am of opinion that plaintiff's action must be maintained with costs and the counter claim of the defendants rejected, and the defendant is condemned by the present judgment to pay to the plaintiff the sum to be found due to the said plaintiff, and in costs, and I further order that an account should be taken and refer the same to the deputy registrar, assisted by merchants, to report the amount due the plaintiff in respect of its claim and that all accounts and vouchers, with the proof in support thereof, and shall be filed within six months from the date of the present judgment."—Nelson News.

BRAZEN IMPUDENCE

Germans argue that President Wilson should vindicate American neutrality by stopping the export of munitions of war. They have taken this attitude only since the British navy prohibited such exports to Germany. For a long time before the war and for such time after it began as the Germans were able to replenish supplies through Scandinavia, Holland and Italy, the Berlin Government was a customer for American arms and supplies. Now that the blockade of Germany's coasts is complete, the Germans urge Washington to do for them what they have failed to do for themselves.

The United States, in short, is asked to deprive the Allies of the advantage which they have gained after nine months of successful warfare at sea. As the Wall Street Journal says: "No nation in the world has made such a specialty of the supply of arms to belligerents as Germany. She completely armed the Boers throughout the Boer war, without protest from Great Britain. Even less defensibly, she sold, on long credit, instruments for murder to the Balkan States, without reason or excuse. She imported arms into Mexico when the United States was actually in the occupation of Vera Cruz." In face of these facts the Germans are so utterly lacking in humor as to demand such action by the United States as would make the Republic virtually their ally.—Vernon News.

THE KAISER'S STRATEGY

It will not be known until some historian with access to German material is in a position to write a detailed history of the war how far the Kaiser assumes direction of German strategy. The impression prevails that he has given special attention to one particular phase. It was he who insisted upon the march to Calais last autumn. Emperor William was in Flanders when that disastrous attempt was made and it was supposed to be at his instance that repeated assaults were made after the case was recognized by outsiders to be hopeless. After months of hard fighting elsewhere Germany has returned to the scene of last year's battle to find between them and Calais a vastly stronger army of defence. It may have appeared that the way would be easier in this season, or that the poison gases would paralyze the defence, or that the German artillery was now more effective. The Kaiser is not likely to have realized that the Allies might be stronger than before. He is subject to a kind of absentmindedness. He thought only of the desirability of acquiring a position from which he could hope to carry the war into England. The Emperor has acquired a hatred of England which would satisfy the author of the Chant of Hate. Cherishing this passion he forgets difficulties and obstacles, disregards the loss of his soldiers, and only keeps his eye on the goal. Such is the theory which attributes these movements on Calais to the Kaiser. There remains as a reason for this attack the law of remainders. If Germany is to win she must break the line of the enemy somewhere. Ypres may be considered the most assailable point.—News-Advertiser.

DANGEROUS PRACTICES

Editor, Hedley Gazette,

Dear Sir: Last Thursday evening blasting on the Hospital hill caused rocks and stumps of wood to fall all round the shack occupied by one of the residents of that locality; one piece of wood was two feet long and one foot wide, and this fell within two yards of the shack. The children were playing around but luckily were not injured. No notice of the blasting was given to this resident.

Shooting by beginners at stray cats goes on constantly regardless of the fact that a bullet might find its way into a stray child. Target shooting is dangerous when the target is not properly located; but when it comes to shooting the neighbors' cats for practice and recreation, it seems both heartless and dangerous.

TOWN AND DISTRICT

Prof. W. Glaze returned on Friday's train from a trip down south.

H. L. Hunecke was down from the Nickel Plate for a few hours today.

Rev. F. H. Stanton came up from Keremeos on Tuesday afternoon, returning on Wednesday.

Carl Hairsine, representing the Western Canada Milling Co., was in town for a few hours on Wednesday afternoon.

Word reached Hedley on Monday that Wm. Liddicott, who left here last fall to enlist for service at the front, was killed in action recently.

Miss Nora Lyall left on Monday's train for Republic, Wash., to meet her fiance, where they expect to be married the latter part of the week.

Friday night, May 14th, is the date set for the Orchestra Ball. Nothing will be left undone to make this affair one of the social successes of the season.

Mrs. A. H. Soukup returned yesterday from Spokane, where she has been for the past few weeks in the hospital. She is now staying with Mrs. S. L. Smith at "The Firs."

Considerable pipe-laying has been done in different parts of the town during the past few weeks, in order to supply householders with domestic water.

Mr. N. Thompson, of Vancouver, western manager for Cammell, Laird & Co., Ltd., steel manufacturers of Sheffield, Eng., spent Saturday in Hedley doing business. He left on Sunday by auto for Penticton.

We are sorry to hear that there has been considerable petty thieving going on lately at the rink building, where the Association have been getting the premises in readiness for the season's tennis playing.

Mr. and Mrs. Thos. Madore returned on Monday's train from Spokane where they were married on the 27th. ult. They will reside at the Nickel Plate where Mr. Madore is engaged as blacksmith for the Company.

J. M. Wright left here Wednesday for Hope, where he will take charge of the West Yale Review. Mr. Wright is an all round practical news paper man and a good conscientious worker for the upbuilding of any community in which he becomes interested. —Similkameen Star.

The new player piano for the new hall arrived last Friday in good condition. It is a fined toned instrument and will undoubtedly give every satisfaction. It was manufactured by Bradford & Co., New York, and was purchased through F. M. Gillespie, the local agent of that firm.

Mr. Carmen, representing Mackay, Smith, Blair & Co., of Vancouver, came in last Thursday with his automobile via Merritt and Princeton, bringing his samples with him. He went out the next morning to Penticton, where Mr. Carmen makes his home.

The show that was advertised to have taken place this evening, has been called off, and an impromptu dance will be held instead. It appears that the company were headed in this direction and managed to get as far as Vernon. Just "what happened to Wright" then we do not know.

The May competion for the Golf Club's monthly medal will take place on Thursday, Friday and Saturday, 13th, 14th, and 15th inst., and it is hoped that there will be a full turnout of members as it is very desirable that interest in the competition should be well maintained. Particulars re handicaps will be posted at the first teeing-ground.

TO RENT—After May 17th, a three-roomed house with stone cellar; electric lighted. Apply at Gazette office.

"Rough on Rats" clears out Rats, Mice, etc. Don't die in the House. 15c. and 25c. at Drug and Country Stores.

OKANAGAN FALLS NOTES

The big rain on the 29th just came right; the long dry spell was beginning to dry up the range.

On Sunday, the 25th ult., over fifteen cars passed through the town. When the road on the east side is completed, a trip round the lake will be one of the great pleasures of the Okanagan; there is yet a mile of work to be finished and then it will connect with the south end of Main street, Penticton.

Myers' Flat will be a producer this year. Messrs. Dix, Kruger, Edwards and others will between them this season have nearly two hundred acres of new land under crop. A few miles north of here one hundred and fifty acres is being put into vegetables and the market is assured. This is all new work, and a fair crop will produce at least three hundred cars of produce that has to go out, besides what the old time farmers will have; and yet some people think we have no right to holler for a railway.

The latest and worst thing that has struck this town is the copper cent, the ordinary house fly, the mosquito, the watch dog (that barks all night) and the old cow with the bell on, that chews her cud under your bedroom window; all these are bad enough and there are laws that govern these nuisances, but it is different with the copper cent, for its legal tender and has a perfect right to be rung up in the cash register with the real money. Should it make the demand for copper greater in B. C. of course we will not hate it quite as much.

A record horse buying stunt was pulled off here on April 27th. The army buyers arrived here at 4 p. m., and in less than two hours ten horses were branded with the broad arrow. The locality are indebted to Mr. J. M. Thomas for this transaction, as he a few years ago imported a Suffolk Punch horse into the district, and the cross between it and the ordinary range mare has produced a perfect stamp of horse suitable for army purposes. If a little longer notice had been given, the buyers would have been surprised at the number of good horses we could have produced.

CREELMAN & LYALL
"STORE OF QUALITY"

The Exact Spot.

When illicit distilling was common in the highlands there was an old man who went about the country repairing whisky pots.

The gauger met him one day and, surmising that he had been doing repairs at no great distance, asked what he would take to inform him (the gauger) where he repaired the last whisky pot.

"Och," said the old man, "she'll shust tak' hauf a croon."

"Done!" retorted the gauger. "Here is your money, but be careful to tell me correctly."

"Och, she'll no' tell the gentleman a lee."

Getting the money, the old man quietly remarked:

"I shust mended the last whisky pot where the hole was."

Needed In Every Home.

When he reached home he opened the package he was carrying and displayed a number of placards, some of which read "For Show" and others "For Use."

"There!" he exclaimed triumphantly. "I flatter myself I have solved the problem."

"Solved the problem?" she repeated. "What problem? What in the world do you intend to do with those cards?"

"I am going to give them to you," he replied, "so that you can put them on the various cushions scattered about the house."

Gold.

An assayer waved his hand toward the ingots lying in a corner of the room.

"A good assayer," he said, "can tell at a glance whence a piece of gold came, as a good wool sorter can tell what country's soil gave his fleece its color. It is a matter of color. California gold is yellow, Australia gold is red, and the gold of the Ural is the reddest found anywhere. Placer gold is yellower than that obtained from the quartz, and behind you is an Alaskan placer ingot, the yellowest gold in the world."

The Reason.

Pheeder—I'm always sorry when the shad season is over. It's the only fish I like. I wonder why Providence gives it to us only in the spring—

Crabbe (a rabid pessimist)—I'll bet it's because that's the only season when it has all its bones.

CASH DIVIDENDS ON GOODS YOU BUY

By HOLLAND.

SOUNDS good, doesn't it? And the best of it is it is true. These cash dividends are paid on every dollar you spend, provided you spend wisely and buy goods that the maker believes in so strongly that he advertises them.

Advertised goods are not always the cheapest so far as the amount asked for them is concerned. But they are INVARIABLY THE BEST. And this makes them cheapest when all things are considered.

When you buy for the same money a better article than you have been buying you get a cash dividend on your purchase. When you pay less for an article of the same quality you get a cash dividend.

THESE DIVIDENDS ARE PAID TO THE READERS OF ADVERTISEMENTS IN THIS PAPER.

PROVINCIAL AND GENERAL

A German plant converts each thirty tons of peat it handles into nine tons of coke, with gas and tar as by-products.

Traveling machine shops, carried on motor trucks, are in use in England repairing automobiles broken down on roads far from garages.

New York, April 27.—John Bunny, whose antics as a moving picture comedian have made millions laugh, died at his home in Brooklyn yesterday. He had been ill for about three weeks of a complication of diseases.

Officials of the Kingston penitentiary have presented two machine guns to the 21st Battalion, now stationed there, under the command of Colonel W. S. P. Hughes. The minister of militia has invited Hon. C. J. Doherty to present the guns to the regiment this week and the minister will go to Kingston for that purpose.

The Women's Peace Convention at The Hague has adopted a resolution declaring against the transfer or annexation of territory without the consent of the inhabitants. The resolution was moved by a delegate from the United States who is not affected by the knowledge that it condemns the American appropriation of the Philippines.

In the recent municipal elections in Chicago 243,000 women voted, showing they will turn out in large numbers when they are vitally interested. Sixty-one per cent of the women's vote was cast for Mr. Thompson, who was elected mayor. For the first time in the history of Chicago, a negro, Oscar DePriest, was elected to serve in the City Council. He was chosen from the Second Ward, which is thickly populated by negroes. He is an ex-County commissioner.

Official intimation has been received by Mrs. Mary Springthorpe of South Vancouver, of the death of her husband, Lance-Corporal H. C. Springthorpe, a reservist of the Lincoln Regiment, who was killed in action on March 12th last. He left Vancouver in August to enlist in his old regiment. Accompanying the official notice was the following note: "The King commands me to assure you of the true sympathy of his Majesty and the Queen in your sorrow. (Signed) Kitchener."

Settlers in the Fort George Isnd. district are petitioning the Government to make a loan of $100 to each pre-emptor at once, so that the necessary improvements can be made on the land this year. The matter will receive consideration at the next meeting of the executive. The absence of the usual amount of Government work in the district, and the general slackening off in development work has had the effect of placing many of the pre-emptors in an unfortunate position.
