AN EXCELLENT MOVE

Hedley Citizens Take Steps To Provide Power for Mining Companies.

POWER COMPANY IS ORGANIZED.

And Power Site and Water Right Staked on the Similkameen River—Sufficient Stock already Subscribed to Provide for Organization and Incorporation Expenses.

It is an old adage that "Heaven helps those who help themselves", and Hedley has been waiting so long for others to help, that it was advisable to turn in and do a little on their own account.

One of the greatest hindrances to inducing capital to become interested in this camp is the impression which has got aboard that all the water had been corralled and also all power rights on adjacent streams. To dispel this erroneous way was to produce the power and to this end the company is being launched.

The meeting for organization purposes was held in Boeing's billiard parlor on Monday. J. D. Brass was moved to the chair and explained the object of calling the meeting after which he called on A. Megraw to give further information concerning the movement which he did, explaining that memorandum of association as required by the Companies' Act had been prepared by Mr. L. H. Patten, and everything was in readiness to effect organization. The benefit that would be derived by the town from the successful flotation of a company that could develop power and supply same at a fair rate to mining companies was too plain to need further explanation, for some concerns that might be willing to take a chance of incurring the cost of opening up a property might hesitate at the further expenditure necessary to obtain power to work it and in this way the town is kept back.

Mr. Patten was asked to explain some of the technicalities connected with organization and showed the effect which a memorandum of association had under the Companies' Act, while the Water Clauses Consolidation Act, required incorporation before a water right could be staked for purpose of generating power.

The matter was discussed in its various phases by several present and some questions were asked.

At the conclusion a good many subscribed their names to the memorandum of association of the Hedley Power and Development Co. agreeing to take shares in the company far over that required by law.

L. H. Patten was elected secretary protem of the provisional Board of Directors and authorized to stake water rights and power sites.

He has since staked 2000 inches on the Similkameen, and a power site a little below the brewery at a point where the bed rock comes up in the river botton with a steed cliff on one side and high river bank on the opposite side.

After all details of incorposition are attended to it is the intention to employ a competent hydraulic engineer to make an examination and report on the cost.

The company are counting on getting a power contract from the Daly Reduction Co. as they expect to supply power cheaper than the limited supply they are now obtaining is costing them. Owing to the close proximity to the works the cost for poles and wires in transmission of the current will be a very light affair in comparison with other similar enterprises—taking for instance the Bonnington Falls Co. which supplies power for the Boundary mines.

This move is expected to make the Kingston a steady-growing concern and will give the Pollock Co. fresh heart to go ahead.

DIRTIEST KIND OF TACTICS

How The Phoenix Pioneer Carries Out the Neutrality Role in Politics.

The Gazette's attention has been drawn this week to one of the most despicable acts that any self-respecting journal could be guilty of.

A lot of extra copies of last week's Pioneer were sent to Hedley, and the list appears to have been divided into three classes—those sent to straight Liberals, those to Labor Union men and those to Conservatives. In the copies sent to straight Liberals was inserted a picture of a group of turbaned Hindus that any one could see had been a hand drawing by some bum artist and the picture afterwards photographed and engraved and the cut printed on fly sheets bearing the imprint of Duncan Ross' paper, the Greenwood Times and represented to be a scene on Mr. Burrell's ranch. In copies sent to union men, was a different fly sheet, addressed to union men bearing the imprint of a Grit job office in Nelson, in which Martin Burrell is accused of having the Grand Forks Gazette an "unfair" office, meaning non-union, and in those addressed to Conservatives there was nothing but the regular issue of the Pioneer, in which was the same labored attempt at neutrality which has all along been used as a cloak to deceive the public but was too thin a veneer to accomplish that end.

Martin Burrel has had nothing to do with the Grand Forks Gazette for over a year, either editorially or in a business capacity and is in no way responsible for that paper's policy.

Now the publisher of the Pioneer is not in a position to know the political views of the electors in Hedley to whom these copies were sent, but his brother, John Love, is. The electors have not forgotten either how in 1907 John Love asked those living over at Rock Creek to vote against Mr. Shatford because he had got money to build the Twenty-mile wagon road at Hedley.

No candidate could have been treated with greater consideration and forbearance than Duncan Ross has been treated by his opponents in this campaign. Two years ago both he and Smith Curtis made slanderous lying statements against L. W. Shatford, the falsity of which was afterwards fully proved, yet not a word has been said by his opponents of the accusations of bribery and graft made against Duncan Ross on the floor of the House and to be found to-day in the pages of Hansard.

This low treatment of Burrell, however, shows that there is too much of the yellow streak in Ross to appreciate decent treatment and as for the Pioneer push and the drug store attachment it will be worth something to people in Phoenix to have found them out.

Furthermore, we here and now draw the attention of the postal authorities to this violation of the regulations for transmission of newspapers through the mails. What are they going to do about it? The perpetrators of this scandalous act were careful to have the imprint of a printing office on the fly-sheets to clear them of the penalty imposed by the Election Act. What about riding rough-shod over postal regulations?

A REMARKABLE CAR-DUMP.

Description of the Contrivance by Which Ore Cars Are Dumped, up at the Daly Reduction Co's. Ore Bins.

All who have witnessed the working of the car-dump up at the ore bins have been interested in the ingenuity of the arrangement, but not all know that it was thought out by Mr. G. P. Jones, the mine superintendent. The following description of it contributed to the Engineering and Mining Journal will prove interesting to our readers. Several good illustrations go with the article, but unfortunately they are the property of the Engineering and Mining Journal and are not available for use in the Gazette. The description is as follows:

"Four years ago, annoyed by excessive repairs to end gates and latches of the mine cars, G. P. Jones, superintendent of the mines belonging to the Daly Reduction Co, Ltd., Hedley, B. C., built a car dump, or tipple, designed to do away with the necessity of gates on the cars by automatically receiving the car, turning it upside down, and delivering it to a side track for empties. The present well equipped machine shops of the company did not exist at that time, so that the tipple was roughly constructed by the mine blacksmith as an experiment, and with little expectation of permanency.

THE TIPPLE

This tipple, however, was a success from the beginning, and has been allowed to stand exactly as first erected, no improvements having been found necessary. In the past four years it has dumped more than 80,000 cars, holding two tons each, without a hitch and at an exceedingly low cost for repairs. Most of the repairs that have been necessary have been due te inexcusably rough usuage, for so perfectly does this tipple work that the trainmen are in the habit of shunting the first car into it at full speed and the shock is sometimes excessive. Once a loaded car, that had broken loose from the train and run away, entered the tipple was turned over, dumped and setout on the side track as though it were the usual thing. Naturally this gave the trainmen great confidence in its absolute reliability.

The tipple is 5½x4x4 ft. It is made of ⅜-in boiler plate and 3-in. angle iron. The trunnions are set equidistant from the ends and 18 in. above the bottom, or about 2½ in. below the centre of gravity of the empty car.

THE CARS

The first car used is 6 in. shorter than the inside of the tipple, for it was supposed that the car must pass centre before the tipple would begin to turn over. But it was found that this was not necessary, since the impact of the car upon the bell crank, or knuckle, on the back end of the tipple is more than sufficient to start the tipping motion, so that cheaper and stronger wooden cars are now made. The bell crank serves a three-fold purpose: It cushions the blow of the car; it starts the tripple to turning; and it kicks the car out upon the side track, at the same time easing the shock of return.

Were a new tipple to be made in a more workmanlike manner, no change in design would be necessary or desirable except perhaps, to substitute dash pots or rubber cushions for the cables that now limit the motion of this bell crank and absorb much of the shock.

The outgoing track, or side track for empties, passes under the ingoing track on a heavy grade; the empties descend this grade through the momentum given them by the kick of the bell crank.

THE TRAMWAY

The electric tramway upon which they are run is 11,000 feet long with an average grade of 5 per cent., which necessitates the use upon every fourth car of track brakes. These brakes are made fool-proof in that they either lock the wheels or lift the car from the track, accordiug to the direction in which the brake wheel is turned.

From the ore-bin, where the tipple is located, the ore goes to the mill in six ton skips running on a three-rail gravity tramway 10,000 ft. long, with an average grade of 40.1 per cent. and with a maximum grade of 71.2 per cent., the rise being 4,000 ft. in the entire length, (both tramways.)

SUCCUMBED TO INJURY

William West, Injured on Oct. 25th Dies From Effects.

There was general regret in town yesterday morning when it was known that Wm. West the young man who had his foot mangled in the conveyors at the Daly Reduction Co's stamp mill on Oct 25th had died.

He stood the amputation very well and seemed to be doing all right for about a week, until he had a set back, the artery breaking out and bleeding some time before it was noticed and the doctor summoned. The amount of blood which he lost by this unfortunate occurrence lessened his chances for recovery.

He was 24 years of age and came from Liverpool, England, where his father and sister are now living. He has only been working here about five months but during that time had won the esteem of his fellow workman. The funeral will be held this afternoon at 2.30 p. m.

For high quality apples W. J. Manery of the Lower Similkameen appears to have them all beaten. The Gazette has received from him this week a box containing Jonathan, Bellflower and Gano. The coloring on the Jonathan and Gano was superb. Wherever Mr. Manery's fruit is shown it captures prizes; and the only fault that fruit-dealers and judges of fruit have to find with them is their tendency to grow larger than usual, but the quality and flavor in every case is excellent.

EDITORIAL COMMENTS

John Oliver, erroneously dubbed "honest John," dishonestly asserted at Kermeos that the C. P. R. were masters of the Conservative party and yet no one knew better than Mr. Oliver that the McBride government had the active hostility of the C. P. R. for increasing their taxes in this province 500 per cent. Nobody knows better than John Oliver that Sir Thos. Shaughnessy complained bitterly of the McBride government for taxing them for the building of the Westminster bridge, over which they gave the Great Northern, a rival line to the C. P. R., free running powers to enable them to get into Vancouver.

Walter Scott, premier of Saskatchewan, who betrayed his own province by giving up for a bribe the right to control their own educational system unfettered by federal restriction, had the gall to come into this riding and at Summerland tell the electors that McBride did wrong in not agreeing to accept $100,000 a year for ten years as full settlement of British Columbia's claims. If for no other reason than this, the electors of Yale-Cariboo should vote against Duncan Ross to show such fellows as Scott that they resent this kind of impertinence.

It begins to look as if the Victoria Times will shortly have a crow to pick with Sir Wilfrid Laurier. The Times points out that both the Liberal and Conservative papers of Ottawa city suggest that Sir Wilfrid give Templeman the Ottawa seat, as he (Sir Wilfrid) will sit for his old constituency of Quebec. Should Sir Wilfrid take a different view of the situation it will look as if he does not place as high an estimate upon Mr. Templeman's worth as the Times does, and what will the Times say then? It has turned so many cheeks to Sir Wilfrid that it has no more cheeks left.

Will Mr. Templeman or Sifton or Frank Oliver, or any other grit political "big wig," who comes into Yale-Cariboo say that Duncan Ross is a cabinet possibility in case of his election? Nary one of them. Why then should any Ross tooters make themselves ridiculous by suggesting such a thing?

They had a flag raising at Kelowna last week at which Senator Bostock, Ex-Minister Templeman and Duncan Ross were rung in, but when the flag saw that bunch and remembered 'Ras Wiman and unrestricted reciprocity it wouldn't float but hung around the pole as limp as a dish rag.

Putting Thanksgiving Day on November 9th did the school children out of one of their rightful holidays, for it put Thanksgiving Day on the King's Birthday. Every kiddie whose father has a vote should get him to vote against the government for doing this.

The Nelson News shows Duncan Marshall to have been mixed up in some of the malodorous election frauds in Ontario, and yet this is the man they would import in Kootenay and Yale Cariboo to tell the electors how to vote.

Ralph Smith tells the people of Nanaimo that he will be the next cabinet minister for B. C. Should any man be a cabinet minister, who fails to poll a majority of the vote cast, and Mr. Smith did not?

OH VOT A MAJORITY!

At a political meeting in Vernon the other day a wise German rose up and remarked:

"Shentlemen: We haf heerd der chin music, yah. Und the time has now comed ven ve musdt all get togedder und undo that vich ve haf not dit. Ve vill all get togedder und roll up such a Conservative majority in Yale-Cariboo that it vill roll und roll, und roll, undil it roll all ofer B. C., all ofer Canada, all ofer Laurier, und den rolls across the ocean, und rolls up to der Kaiser who vill remark: 'Donner und blitzen! Vat a Conservative majority Yale-Cariboo did roll up'."

THAT COAST-KOOTENAY RACE.

Is Certainly No Breakneck Affair. Neither C. P. R. nor G. N. R. Likely to get Heart Failure From too Rapid Pace

A despatch from Grand Forks to the Spokesman-Review, while chestnutty is given here for what it is worth, and that isn't much in the way of news. It says:

"Whether the Canandian Pacific or the Great Northern railway company will be the first to connect up the Boundary country direct with the Coast is a matter of considerable speculation. The roads have started construction from opposite ends, the C. P. R. building from Spence's Bridge and the G. N. R. from Midway.

The C. P. R. has just completed a preliminary survey of the route which the extension of the Spence's Bridge-Nicola line may take from Nicola to Penticton. Ultimately the line will be continued from Penticton to Midway, the present terminus of their railway line in this district, where it will link up with the Columbia and Western, finally furnishing the Canadian Pacific road a direct line from the Boundary to the Coast. The survey just completed by the C. P. R, was started in April last. The line is 160 miles long between Nicola and Penticton, and it is stated that excellent grades have been secured.

The route lies through the Similkameen valley and into the Okanagan, where it skirts the town of Summerland. Between Midway and the latter place the C. P. R. already has a number of preliminary suveys of possible routes.

Town and District.

The Steamer Okanagan is now back on the three-times-a-week run.

No. 1 Camp is now installed across the river opposite Dr. Whillans' ranch

Mrs. T. H. Rotherham returned on Friday last from a visit to her friends in Nelson.

K. G. Hankinson came down from his camp on Monday. Good progress is being made on his contract.

A gang of men are engaged at present rip-rapping the fill on the V. V. & E. a short distance above Webster's ferry.

Rev. J. Thurburn-Conn and Mrs. Conn went to Keremeos on Monday where Mr. Conn was to give a lecture on "Love Courtship and Marriage".

Louis Scherbauer is now sole proprietor of the Hedley Brewery, the arrangements having been completed for taking over Otto Dillier's interest.

Thank goodness the turmoil of election will be all over to-night in Yale-Cariboo. Duncan Ross is the man to blame that it was not all over eighteen days ago.

Thanksgiving service was held in the church at Keremeos for which the new church was tastefully decorated and the pastor Rev. A. H. Cameron gave an interesting discoarse.

The first shipment by car-load of fruit from the Similkameen occurred last week when a car-load of apples from F. Richter & Co's. orchard was loaded on at Keremeos on Saturday last.

Any Ross supporter who is inclined to be sporty shouldn't advise unsophisticated youths to put up money on Ross' election when they are not prepared to risk their own. It doesn't look brave, you know, and it's unkind.

Wm. Wilson, contractor, of Princeton, was in town this week, renewing old acquaintances. Mr. Wilson built the first store occupied by Shatfords Limited in Hedley, but the firm was then known as W. T. Shatford & Co.

A number of fruit-sellers from both the Okanagan and lower Similkameen have been making frequent visits to Hedley and the fact that they come again is evidence that they find a good market among the wage-earners in Hedley.

The new Union Jack for use at the Hedley School House came to hand and was hoisted on Monday morning, Nov. 2nd. The flag in use before that was the flag of the Canadian Merchant Marine with the Jack in the corner, on a red ground and the Dominion Coat of Arms on the outer fold.

The snow fall of a fortnight ago up at the mine helped out the water situation considerably and during the past week there was a good supply. The Similkameen river has also come up about a foot during the last few days, due no doubt to the warm spell following the snow fall on the higher altitudes.

Yesterday was a red letter day in the annals of the British Columbia Tuberculosis Society, when the corner stone of the Tranquille Sanitarium for the treatment of incipient Consumption, was laid. This Society is one which should appeal to all for assistance, for no more worthy cause could enlist sympathy and support.

L. W. Shatfrord, M. P. P. came in on Monday, making a size-up and a canvas of his riding for Mr. Burrell, and the satisfied smile which he wears is evidence of his confidence that Similkameen riding will witness one of the biggest turn-overs from that of four years ago, of any provincial constituency in Yale-Cariboo.

The first dance of the season given by the Hedley Dancing Club was a particularly successful affair. The attendance was nearly all home talent but about thirty couples or more were present. The music by the Simmons and Hill Orchestra was in their usual excellent form, and while they were at Supper Miss Lowndes presided acceptably at the piano. The supper was pronounced O. K. and all seemed to enjoy themselves.

Returning officer K.C. McDonald, of Vernon, drove through on Sunday bound for Aspen Grove with the ballot-boxes. This is rather a departure to have the returning officer do this work in person. Can there be anything special about those boxes that all this care should be taken, It will be well for scrutineers to have a pocket rule along with them and in examining the boxes at the opening of the poll, take outside and inside dimensions. When Duncan Marshall and Cap. Sullivan are in the west some extra vigilance is advisable.

FOREST ENGINEERS

Courses of Training Already Established in Canada.

Trained foresters, or forest engineers, are now badly needed in Canada to assist in the establishing of a better system of forest management in the public forests. To meet this need, two forestry schools have been established by two of the Canadian universities, namely the University of Toronto and the university of New Brunswick.

The Faculty of Forestry of the University of Toronto has now entered on its second year of work. Its staff consists of its dean, or head, two lecturers and an assistant. Its course of study covers four years and leads to the degree of Bachelor of Science in Forestry (B.S.F.). A post-graduate degree of Forest Engineer (F.E.) is granted after two years, at least of practical work.

The head, or dean, of the faculty of forestry is Dr. B. E. Fernow, one of the foremost living authorities on the forestry of North America. A German by birth, Dr. Fernow received his professional training at the Forest Academy of Muenden, (Germany), and also studied at the University of Keonigsberg. In 1876 he came to the United States and from 1886 to 1898 was chief of the Bureau of Forestry in the United States Dept. of Agriculture. He then became head of the New York State College of Forestry in connection with Cornell University, a position which he occupied for some five years. After some years spent in private work as consulting forest engineer, he organized the department of forestry at the Pennsylvania State College, and from there came in 1907 to Toronto to organize the Faculty of Forestry at that university.

The University of New Brunswick opened its department of forestry in September last. Here, too, the course is an undergraduate one of four years; the degree conferred is Bachelor of Science in Forestry (B.S.F.). The professor in charge of the department is Mr. R. B. Miller, M. A., M. F., a graduate of the Yale Forest School, one of the foremost schools of forestry on this continent.

A third school will soon be in full operation in the province of Quebec, and courses in forestry, or preparatory thereto, are given in a number of other Canadian universities and agricultural colleges.

WESTWARD HO.

The November number of this Magazine presents that variety of subjects which makes its contents so piquant. The fiction ranges over nearly all the themes with which it is ever interestedly concerned; and the style of the contributions is of the most commendable order.

"The Expiation of John Reedham" is a serial story by Annie S. Swan which, notwithstanding its sadness and sorrow, is fraught with rapt interest; and each new transition of it is more and more thrilling until its final culmination. Patrick Vaux gives another of his rapid sketches of the arts and intrigues of war, under the title "Where the Eagle Flies Seaward," and the prowess of those who ride the main is illumined by the perfidy which the author shows often to exist among recreants there. "She Tested Him" forms the subject of a variegated domestic story by Mrs. J. H. Skinner: "Fox and Hound," by L. Harward; and "A Guilty Conscience," by H. A. Black. All of these are high in their class and sure to be appreciated.

The number is particularly strong in articles. Bonnycastle Dale is fresh as usual in his description "Following game with camera, rod and gun." Captain G. Godson Godson takes us on a tour in an automobile through the Transvaal, the Free State and Cape Colony; and his fine photographs enhance the value and interest of his descriptions. Under the head of "Potential Canada" there are three articles—one on "High River," Alberta another on "Summerland, B. C.," another on "Calgary, Alta.," and another on "The Nechalko Valley." All these are intensely interesting as exemplifications of Potential Canada. The whole number is, in fact, essentially Canadian in the higher sense of an enlarged horizon.

ASHNOLA BRIDGE COMPLETED.

On Saturday last Harry Swan finished up his bridge contract and paid off his men. The bridge was built for the Keremeos Land Co. its prime object being to serve as an aqueduct across the Similkameen River as part of the irrigation project to convey the water of Ashnola Creek on the company's lands at Keremeos.

For this purpose it had to be strong enough to carry a heavy load and so it was made to accommodate a wagon track as well, and now Ashnola John and his tillicums can cross and recross at any stage of water, while any whites who may have occasion to drive over there will find it convenient.

It is understood that the V. V. & E. will have a station over there and that was another reason for making the structure to accommodate vehicle traffic.

Of Christopher Wren it was said "Si monumentum inquiris circumspice." In like manner, Harry will leave many good monuments in the Similkameen and on the Kettle river as evidence of his skill as a bridge-builder. Very good time was made in the building of this bridge and had he not been delayed in waiting for timber he would have finished up several days sooner, and made more on his contract.

JOHN OLIVER'S HARD JOB.

When John Oliver came into Similkameen riding to try to pursuade the electors to vote for Duncan Ross, he tackled a rather tough job, and he disappointed quite a few who had been led to believe that he was something of an oracle on matters political. His meeting in Keremeos was very far short of an unqualified success. He must have taken up about two hours and a half of the peoples' time listening to thread-bare platitudes and assumptions, the absurdity of which were so apparent that people wondered whether he really took his audience to be so easy.

The wonderful expansion of Canada's trade during the twelve years that elapsed since 1896, was his darling theme and no one was disputing it. Of course Canada's trade expanded during that period. Why shouldn't it? It was built up on the same fiscal policy inaugurated by the Conservatives in 1878 and re-adjusted from time to time as circumstances required. The aggregate expansion of trade was not as great during the Conservative period. How could it be? But the per capita expansion was greater and that is the real test. When a man plants an orchard, he doesn't expect expansion of his apple trade until some of the trees come into bearing, nor the full expansion until the bulk of his orchard matures. But when it is maturing what farm hand deserves the most credit, the one who planted the trees or those who gather the crop?

The most disappointing feature of his speech and the one which did him least credit was his reference to local transportation matters. That question has been fully gone into by the Editor of the Gazette on the platform in Keremeos, Hedley and Princeton until the people of the valley are better informed on the facts of the case than John Oliver seems to be.

When John Oliver says that to Duncan Ross and to him alone belongs the credit for the Great Northern building into the Similkameen, he either doesn't know what he is talking about or he is deliberately dishonest. Duncan Ross accomplished nothing in that direction except to restore to the Great Northern expropriation rights under their V. V. & E. Charter. The real work was done by L. W. Shatford in the session of 1905 and John Oliver knows it. Had Shatford not done the work which he did there and had M. K. Rogers not impressed Jim Hill so favorably with the district, nothing which Duncan Ross did could have induced Hill to build in here; and this is amply proven by an admission of Duncan Ross in a letter over his own signature. Had John Oliver allowed the Editor of the Gazette fifteen minutes longer on Saturday night this would have been fully explained to him and documentary evidence produced to prove every statment.

SMALL POPULAR MAJORITY.

Considered from the standpoint of the popular vote, the government lost heavily compared with 1904. The majorities in the two elections were as follows:

	1908	1904
Ontario	24,000 C	3,488 C
Quebec	25,000 L	33,453 L
Nova Scotia	1,500 L	9,478 L
New Brunswic	3,000 L	809 L
Pr. Ed. Island	(?) 50 L	545 C
Manitoba	3,500 C	118 C
Sask, and Alberta	7,400 L	7,952 L
British Columbia	2,350 C	1,142 L
	7,100 L	48,648 L

These are approximately the majorities secured in the elections of 1904 and 1908 by both parties. The returns so far received indicate that the popular majority of the Liberals of nearly 50,000 four years ago has been all but wiped out, and now is scarcely more than 7,000, although dropped from 65 to between 50. The deferred elections will not bring the Liberal majority to 12,000 so that there has been a decrease of nearly 40,000 in the Liberal popular majority as compared with 1904.
