That is Now Practically Assured to Hedley in the Addition of the Windfall Group of Claims

BOND COMPLETED IN FIVE MONTHS

Which Had Two Years to Run—No Prospecting Done on Surface—All at Great Depth by Diamond Drill—Full Significance of Deal May Not be Realized Here for Several Years

Last issue of the Gazette made mention of the completion of the bond which the Hedley Gold Mining Company took last June on the Windfall group but as the actual completion of the bond and transfer of the property took place only a few minutes before we were going to press there was no opportunity to make more than a brief mention of the fact.

To understand something more of the seal of absolute permanence which the completion of the bond places upon the camp it is only necessary to point out that the Nickel Plate mine itself which has already produced millions in gold and is to-day in better shape than ever, is situated on the far side of an adjacent mountain and at an altitude of about a mile above the town and less than three miles from it, while the ore bearing strata of sedimentary rocks in which it is situated dips northwesterly towards the canyon of Twenty-Mile Creek, at the junction of which creek with the Similkameen River, Hedley is situated. This Windfall group of five claims consisting of the Windfall, Morning, Bighorn, Winchester Fraction and Czar Fraction, lies between the Nickel Plate mine and the bed of Twenty-Mile Creek on the downward dip of the strata and is distant from the Nickel Plate ground nearly 1000 feet. From the dip of the ore bearing strata of the Nickel Plate mine it is clear that by the time this strata reached the Windfall group it would be found at great depth below the surface, and as no work had been done on any of these claims further than the little bit of surface scratching (comparatively speaking) represented by the requisite number of annual assessments under the Mineral Act to obtain crown grants, there was no surface showing to indicate commercial value of any kind, and their value to the purchasers lay wholly in the knowledge which they had of the trend of the ore bodies from the lower workings of the Nickel Plate.

The depth at which the ore bodies on the Windfall group lie beneath the surface may be learned from the fact that when diamond drilling began under the bond last summer and the company's own diamond drills went to work, equipped as they were for only the shorter holes which it has been customary for them to bore from the underground workings of the Nickel Plate and surface drillings as well anywhere on Nickel Plate ground where the ore bearing strata comes to within a few hundred feet of the surface, it became necessary later on to obtain drilling equipment capable of reaching much greater depth. What the drill cores showed there is no one knows except those who did the drilling and sampling of the cores. But the public would be dense indeed if they could not draw their own conclusions from the fact that after some of these deeper holes were put in a bond which was made to extend over a period of two years and which called for the payment of $150,000, was taken up at the end of five months and the whole consideration paid over less the amount represented by the rate of discount for payment before maturity as provided for in the bond.

This circumstance should be and is most gratifying to those who have business interests in Hedley. It gives a feeling of stability and permanence known in very few mining camps, and besides, it is an earnest of what may be expected from the expansion that is bound to follow, for there are many other properties that require only capital and capable direction to repeat the successes that have already been made.

DEMOCRATS MAKE SWEEP

Woodrow Wilson Carries the United States Presidential Election by Enormous Majorities

It was a foregone conclusion that Woodrow Wilson would win the election for presidency of the United States but no one expected the complete sweep which appears to have been made by the Democrats. Late summaries on Tuesday night while very much colored by the sources from which they emanated and for that reason more or less unreliable, indicate that it was a landslide to the Democrats.

As between Taft and Roosevelt the reports were conflicting and complete returns will be necessary to show which of them led.

The completeness of Wilson's victory may be judged from the fact that with 266 electoral votes required to win, Wilson already had 300 with a possibility that full returns may add 25 per cent to it.

KIND WORDS FOR BOBS

An Apt and Effective Offset to the Needless Slight Placed Upon Him by Sir Edward Grey

London, Nov. 1.—A letter extensively signed by members of parliament and others has been sent to Lord Roberts expressing sincere admiration for his profoundly convincing address.

"Whatever may be the precise solution of the difficult problem of national and Imperial defence," it says, "we believe only disaster awaits us unless we are prepared to face this problem with the frankness, sincerity and conviction which inspired your address".

Amongst over a hundred signatures are General Pole-Carew, Lord Charles Beresford, Mayor Archer-Shee, Sir George Doughty, Sir Gilbert Parker, Rt. Hon. Walter Long and Donald McMaster.

A leading Berlin Conservative newspaper says: "Lord Roberts must have realized he was handling inflammatory matter of the most dangerous description. His clearness is worthy of commendation but he must be told as clearly as possible that the German is not to be provoked without reason."

Canada Under Present Management is Paying Off Debt Out of Current Revenues

The Dominion of Canada, as a public corporation, is not now open to the charge that it is borrowing too much and paying off too little. During the last twelve months the net debt of the Dominion has been diminished by ten million dollars. On the first of October a loan of more than six million was taken up from current revenue.

ECHO OF THE BARNES-KING

Quite a Romance in Which a Former Manager of the Nickel Plate Figures

Some unknown friend in New York has sent the Gazette a clipping from a New York paper which will be of interest to people in Hedley who were here in the days when R. B. Lamb was manager for the Daly interests.

It concerns a verdict for $125,000 obtained by Arthur P. Heinze, brother of F. A. Heinze, against the Barnes-King Development Co., a concern controlled by the Daly Estate. A. P. Heinze had bought 25000 shares of the Barnes-King stock on the strength of a glowing prospectus and afterwards the mine went fluey when the manager R. B. Lamb said it was no good although the property has since pulled out, not so bad, and has been making some money for its owners. The common belief at the time was that Lamb had thrown down his employers pretty badly. In the story which follows it will be noticed that one of Lamb's letters is dated April 1st, 1907—an ominous and suggestive date, and it will be remembered too that that was about the time he was enticing employees away from their jobs in Hedley to go and work for him on the Barnes-King. The New York paper says:

"Efforts to get evidence to prove Heinze's claim were at first futile. Miss Emily Bullowa, a lawyer, of No. 42 Nassau street, who was associated with her brother, F. E. M. Bullowa, in the proceedings, made repeated but fruitless attempts to force John C. Lalor, secretary of the Marcus Daly estate, to produce the correspondence of the Barnes-King Company. Neither could she locate A. J. Campbell, president of the concern, to get his testimony.

When about to despair Miss Bullowa heard a rumor that a janitress had discovered copies of important letters in the abandoned offices of the Barnes-King Company at Butte, Mont. While rummaging through an old cabinet she found a number of copy-cloths from a letter press. Most of the cloths had been used but once, and retained a perfect imprint of letters which had been pressed with them. Curious to know the contents, the scrubwoman held them up to a mirror and easily read them.

LETTERS READ IN A MIRROR

One of the letters, written by R. B. Lamb, the engineer in charge of the Santiago branch of the mines of the Barnes-King Company, declared that the property was "the very worst of lemons." He added:

"To give $4.00 per share for the stock is like paying $20 apiece for lemons. We have no regular values anywhere. The open cuts alone are keeping us alive as far as developement has gone."

Copy cloths containing that letter and others of the same tenor were passed about among the jurors by Miss Bullowa. A mirror was also given to them so that they could read the letters, which were reversed. She literally gave her evidence through a looking glass.

A letter written by engineer Lamb on April 1st, 1907, to President Campbell read:

"Re-examination proves proposition hopeless. There is hardly a glimmer of light. Very little pay ore. If no consolidation, do not continue construction work. Santiago does not open good; get your friends out."

SAYS PRESIDENT KNEW VALUE OF MINE

Mr. Heinze alleged that he had not paid his second installment on his stock when that letter was received by Mr. Campbell, but, despite the president's knowledge of the worthlessness of the mine, he subsequently accepted full payment for the stock.

Another letter as it appeared on the copy cloth, said:

"Santiago one a delusion; figure to get out of your interests. The gold isn't here; mine cannot pay dividends. There will be no ore to mill after six months are gone. Get out at once, even at a loss."

An excerpt from a letter to J. C. Lalor, No. 2 Broadway, New York, written by Engineer Lamb, follows:

"If you or Mr. Campbell could come to Butte would like to see you about the thing, as she is rocking badly. Please telegraph me fully instructions when you get this. If things are shaping right with you and Mr. Campbell, let us get hold of that other mine; we need it immediately."

Lamb's notions of business honor as revealed in his advice to his principals to unload will doubtless be illuminating to the mining fraternity of Cobalt and Toronto among whom he has since taken up his abode. And neither for obvious reasons will the advice be appreciated by those to whom it was tendered.

HIS LITTLE JOKE

How the Tax Exemption on Railway Lands Works Out for August Heinze

Victoria, Nov. 1.—Negotiations are still proceeding between the Provincial Government and Mr. F. August Heinze, for the purchase by the former of Mr. Heinze's undivided half interest in the Columbia & Western Railway land grant. The undivided half interest belonging to the C. P. R., it will be remembered, was purchased by the province at 40 cents per acre as part of a general settlement of questions outstanding with that company. Shortly after the transfer had been made, Mr. Heinze put in his appearance with the suggestion that the government should also buy out his interest. The government expressed its willingness to do so, but the negotiations did not get so far as the mention of a price.

Mr. Heinze's desire to sell is supposed to be brought about by the fact that the period of tax exemption of his land has expired. He is therefore liable not only to a tax of about $6000 per annum for the future but also to about $60,000 back taxes. Tax exemption on wild land in British Columbia is something of a joke, as Mr. Heinze has discovered. You can get your exemption for a period of years, but when this time has expired you become liable for ten years back taxes in a lump sum. It is under this clause of the law that Mr. Heinze owes the province about $60,000, being 4 per cent. per annum for ten years on about 300,000 acres valued at 50 cents per acre.

He being willing to sell and the government willing to buy, Mr. H. K. Robinson of the forestry branch has been despatched to go over the land to estimate its timber, water-power, mineral and agriculture resources. When his report has been received, which will probably not be for some months, the government will be in a position to make Mr. Heinze an offer.

GENERAL NEWS

The death of vice-president Sherman left Taft without a running mate in the presidential election.

Becker, the New York policeman, found guilty of instigating the death of Rosenthal is to be electrocuted on December 9th. At all events that is the sentence. He was not born in Canada as reported in some papers.

The Ontario government are likely to go after the railway companies for the accident to the troop train in which two soldiers lost their lives on Thanksgiving Day. Flimsily constructed cars are blaimed for the fatalities occurring.

George Morrison of Essex county, Ontario, was allowed by judge and jury the sum of $1500 damages against the Pere Marquette Ry. company for a bad cold he caught while waiting for a train. Under the Railway Act the companies are obliged to provide shelter at crossings where people may have to wait for trains.

The Geological Survey and Mines Department are to be moved again from the Department of the Interior to the Secretary of State department.

British Columbia cricketers scarcely made a mouthful for the Australian cricketers who were passing through homeward bound from their tour through Britain. The score stood 645 to 186 in the three days play which represents a heap of leather hunting the home defenders were compelled to perform.

MINE MANAGEMENT

Mining papers very frequently discuss the question of mine management and there is possibly no question which so vitally effects the mining industry. Often the discussion resolves itself into a debate on the relative merits of the practical miner and the school trained man. The ideal man, of course, is the one who can claim both qualifications and has moreover the natural aptitude and discernment along with the saving grace of judicious optimism, for no man has any business to be in charge of such a work as the opening up of a mine who has a single tinge of the pessimist in his make-up. The "cold-nosed" man who is slow to enthuse is mostly a safe man, and when he is backed up with experience and the requisite amount of scientific training he is a jewel. Practical experience in mining counts for nothing in the absence of scientific knowledge if the discernment, the judgement and, in short, the nose for ore" is not there.

The Gazette does not hold with those who take upon themselves to belittle the man fresh out of school. It will be time enough to associate him with failure when he has made a failure. Neither will it be fair or just to charge him with failure because the first property that has been given to him to manage does not rank at once among the paying mines. It must first be known what were the circumstances under which he was obliged to work; and in the majority of cases there will be found behind him a board of directors who wanted to fool themselves at the same time they were placing a cloud upon the reputation of the man whom they over-ruled.

Again many a man is credited with success simply because he was lucky enough to be put in charge of a property where the making of a mine was there; and there are sometimes properties out of which the dullest dolt could not make a failure. The man fresh out of school must get his practical experience some time, and it will be much better for him to serve an apprenticeship to the practical end of the business under some other man who can afford to take the responsibility of the success or the failure. But it is crude, cruel work on those who are putting up the money when it is to be expended by men who have neither technical training nor practical mining experience—nothing in fact but the cheek to undertake what they know nothing about. Next in the scale of hopelessness is the so-called practical miner who may understand breaking rock and timbering but who has neither discernment, judgment nor "the nose for ore."

The experience of the Nickel Plate is itself the best illustration of all we have said about mine management. Under normal conditions of mine development the chances were that the property would have been thrown up before more than $10,000 had been expended on it. Again at two subsequent crises in its career ruinous shutdowns were imminent which would have blasted the reputation of the camp for an indefinite period, even after the property had turned out millions, and the escape from that calamity was most providential. This we need not enlarge upon. It is well known to those best acquainted with the inner history of the property and have followed its fortunes closely since its discovery only fourteen years ago.

There are in fact only a saving remnant of those engaged in mining who have the qualification of the successful manager, and happy are the concerns that find them.

The United States owes Wm. J. Bryant a debt of gratitude. Were it not for Bryan's influence and timely work at the Democratic nominating convention Champ Clarke would have been the Democratic candidate and hence would now be President-elect of the United States and that would have been calamity enough.

One thing about Mr. Borden's ministers is that they take their positions seriously and are not disposed to regard their duties a sinecure. Two of the porfolios in the late government that were regarded as very much of a sinecure were those of Trade and Commerce and the portfolio of Agriculture. Now the heads of these two departments in the present government take their positions in dead earnest and are among the hard workers of the Ministry. It is to the members of the Liberal opposition themselves that we owe the idea of the portfolio of Trade and Commerce being altogether unimportant and very much of a sinecure, for their antipathy to Hon. G. E. Foster was such that they could not resist the temptation of twitting him with their ideas of the portfolio he had been given and that idea was not at all complimentary to their own colleague, the former incumbent of the office. The work Mr. Foster has already accomplished in negotiating trade agreements with the West Indies and the greater enterprise which he has now in hand in reference to reciprocity with the Australian colonies have raised his department to a degree of dignity and importance undreamt of by the late government. And Hon. Martin Burrell has made the department of Agriculture one of the most popular as well as most widely known in the Dominion. Every branch of Agriculture has had his attention and agriculturists in the other provinces have been most enthusiastic in their commendation of his work. The grants he obtained for the advancement of agriculture in the Dominion and the apportionment of them to the various provinces of the Dominion have been most satisfactory, and his latest move in having an extensive text book on forage plants such as clover and corn, prepared for distribution among the rural schools of the Dominion and for sale to farmers who may want them at the low price of 50c each, is of very great importance for it brings the public benefit to be derived from the department brought home to every tiller of the soil.

GRANBY BAY

"THE PAY ROLL TOWN"

Home of the 2000-ton per day Granby Copper Smelter

and sawmill now producing over 600,000 feet of lumber per month, both owned by the Granby Bay Consolidated Mining, Smelting & Power Co., Ltd., a corporation with assets of over seventeen millions!

The mines at Granby Bay already have the stupendous total of 4,5000,000 tons of rich copper ore "in sight" and the mining carried on in the winter of 1911-12 proved the wealth of the properties beyond guess work. The ore now in sight will keep the smelter busy 75 years. Think of it! And this not taking into account various other adjoining properties, some under option to the Granby Co. It is estimated that the Granby Co. can produce copper here for 23 cents a ton cheaper than at its Grand Forks smelter. When the big smelter is completed the total investment of the Granby Co. here is expected to be nearly two millions and that over 1,000 men will be employed here.

When you consider the fact that to-day two bustling cities in British Columbia are almost entirely supported by the payrolls of this company —Phoenix and Grand Forks—you can get an idea what Granby Bay will be.

Granby has a good deep water harbor and to-day the G.T.P., the C.P.R., and the Union Steamship company operate regular steamers to this point.

Granby Bay is going to be a Payroll Town, and that is the kind of a town that is always "up and doing." A conservative estimate places the number of men to be employed at 1,000 and their monthly payroll at about $100,000, without figuring on any other industries outside of the properties and smelter of the Granby Co.

Grasp those facts!

Granby Bay is in the very heart of a developed, fabulously rich copper mining district.

Granby Bay has a smelter owned by a formidable commercial giant, the Granby Company.

Granby Bay will have an immense payroll every month.

Granby Bay must have a population of over 1,000 people.

Granby Bay is a seaport.

Granby Bay can produce copper cheaper than in places where big profits are made from mining and smelting.

Every lot in Granby Bay is a gilt-edged investment.

Only a few choice lots are being offered for sale in Granby Bay Townsite--and there is not much doubt that they will be snapped up quickly. The prices are very low. To avoid dissappointment applications for lots should be made now. The Continental Trust Co., Ltd., of Prince Rupert, is acting as trustee for the property. G. P. Jones, general superintendent of the Hedley Gold Mining Co., went out last week on a business trip to Kamloops and Victoria and is expected back to-day.

The social in the church on Monday evening drew a very good attendance and a good time was spent. The proceeds will be used for painting and papering the church building to which contributions are invited.

The school is now on the winter time schedule, beginning at 9:30 a. m. and closing at 3:00 p. m. This plan has been followed for years during the months of November, December, January, and February.

Mr. Belton, representing the E. W. Barrett Co., real estate dealers of Vancouver, was in town the past week selling lands in Burnaby. Some of the first lots disposed of here in Hedley by Mr. Barrett some years ago have tuened out very well and buyers made money on them.

On Monday morning Mr. Knowles was down with his level and put in the grade stakes for the skating club on the ground they are levelling off to flood for a rink this winter. Some freezy weather is now in demand and when it comes the prospects are good for a rare sheet of ice for winter sports.

The diamond drill exploration in connection with the Windfall group was discontinued last week but that in connection with exploratory work on the Nickel Plate underground is being continued. For the last few weeks that diamond drilling was being presecuted on the Windfall group it was being done under difficulties as the frost was interfering with the water lines carried over the surface to the claims.

H. B. Brown and wife returned on Saturday last from Spokane where they were attending the Fruit Fair. They reported a big crowd in attendance and a fine lot of exhibits in all lines and particularly in ores and in poultry. Mrs. Brown brought back with her a pen of prize barred and white plymouth rocks for breeding purposes, and is going in for the propagation of this species. They have the reputation of being notable layers.

It is rumored that a telegram has been received in town from C. H. Brookes in which he stated that he would soon be back to Hedley and stating also that J. F. Mosby had been fired out of the secretary-ship. The men are still working at the mine which is said to be looking very well. Careful honest sampling and assaying is what is needed at this stage as the work progresses and if this be done and the working force be no larger than can be used to the best advantage, there should be a fair chance under competent management to get good results from a reasonable expenditure on development.

J. M. Bell of Ottawa and G. G. Gibbins of Vancouver were in Hedley the end of the week looking over some properties on the mountain. Among the properties they came to see were the Florence group owned by T. Bradshaw and also some of Dunc Wood's claims but they found the snow too deep to make a satisfactory examination of surface showings and concluded to defer their examination until a later date. Mr. Bell is said to represent English capitalists who have extensive mining interests in various countries and if they turn their attention to Camp Hedley at the present time they stand to come in for some of the prizes that are yet to be gathered in here.

Editor Grier of the Slocan Record hands it out good and straight to publishers in B. C. who accept the offer of two cents a line for reading notices from eastern papers, and they deserve it. Not until all publishers in Canada adopt for a minimum the scale of minimum prices laid down in the September number of Printer & Publisher, and the publishers of British Columbia take the same scale, with the necessary percentage of increase to adjust the difference between eastern and western prices added thereto, for their minimum, will we cease to be insulted by such offers as are continually being made by sharks who size us up as a pack of cheap guys that will grab at any old bone that may be hurled at us.

On Monday afternoon blue smoke was seen issuing from among the green timber high up on the mountain side about the location of the Florence group. Messrs. Bell and Gibbins who were going out on the afternoon train were quite concerned about it as they had lit a fire up there the day before, but as the fire was built against a rock and there was plenty of snow on the ground they did not anticipate that there would be any trouble from the fire spreading and took no pains to extinguish it before they left. Although the smoke was spread over a considerable area as if the fire had spread, the manner in which the smoke formed into clouds and changed its color made it look as if atmospheric conditions up there at the cloud line was responsible for preventing the smoke from dissipating into the air and the thing appeared a great deal worse here from town than it really was. When night set in and there was no blaze in sight, nor luminous appearance of any kind it was evident that there was no further cause to fear. A chunk of rather damp rotten log had been used on the fire which would account for the unusual volume of smoke.

The hunting season is now in full swing. Don't forget that Rolls has a new Baldwin camp light that is a very handy thing to take out with you whether you are going to stay over night or not. It gives a real automobile light.

SCHOOL REPORT

Following is the report of Hedley superior school, Div. 1, for the month of October:

GENERAL NEWS

Roosevelt is getting after a Michigan editor for $10,000 libel for saying that he was intemperate in the use of language and liquor. Possibly Teddy knows best about the liquor part of the count but as for the language nearly everybody will back the Michigan man.

Town and Lower Valley.

R. Hody of Okanagan Falls was in town Saturday.

Provincial constable George Sproule of Hedley was in town last Friday.

H. Chrisholm of Penticton was a visitor in town two days last week.

Frank Dollemore of Hedley came down Friday and enjoyed a good round at dancing.

The school inspector, H. H. McKenzie, B. A., of Kamloops paid the schools in the district a visit last week.

Mrs. James Boyd with her daughter came in from Penticton last Friday to join her husband at the Keremeos Hotel.

Mr. and Mrs. Hans Richter, Miss E. Sinclair and Miss Linton of the lower valley came up to take in the dance Friday.

William Haining has dug most of his taters and is now recuperating in Keremeos after a strenuous time in the lower valley.

Miss Annie Innis of Hedley spent the week end with her parents here.

Dr. and Mrs. McEwen and little Doc. were guests at Mrs. P. Bromley over the week end.

Miss Irwin of Princeton and Miss Edith Bradshaw of Hedley were the guests of Mrs. J. A. Brown over last week end. They also took in the dance on Friday evening.

Daniel G. McCurdy of Princeton came down on Wednesday's train, driving down the valley the following day with Mr. Braddick, of the Oliver Typewriter Co.

Miss Manery who has been staying with her brother Sam at Vernon for the past four months returned last Monday. On her way down the lake she spent a day at Summerland as the guest of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Brown.

News has been received of the sad death of Mr. J. E. Coulter in Vancouver. Mr. Coulter was the late manager of the W. H. Armstrong ranch and had been in the valley for a number of years. With his many friends we offer our deepest sympathy to Mrs. Coulter and family in their bereavement.

Miss Helen Hogg who has been keeping house for her brothers, Robert and George, for the past year left Monday for her home in Galston, Scotland. Her many friends wish her bon voyage and hope to see her back again in another year. Miss Hogg while with us was greatly esteemed and it was with regret they saw her leave.

Hallowe'en as usual, was full of shocks and thrills, dirty windows, carts and buggies upset, some were even put on the top of the blacksmith shop, and the wheels were taken off the stage coach. It is a good job that Jim Hill's old engine was not in the yard for the boys might have loosened up some of the hay wire and let the boiler down on the ties.

H. A. Hanting of Calgary, H. D. and H. L. Benson, Lardner, B. C., and C. L. Arnold of Penticton motored over from Penticton last Wednesday with A. B. Campbell. Mr. Arnold brought in the first named gentlemen to look over some ranch land in the district and as the parties have been in a second time we believe they contemplate purchasing property in the lower Similkameen.

The following persons were registered at the Hotel Keremeos from October 30th to November 1st. Louis Wilson, Hope; Harry Parker, F. Phelps, T. J. Kruger, Fairview; H. H. Hobbs, H. D. Barnes, H. G. Freeman, Eddie Simpson, R. W. James, B. W. Knowles, Hedley; Lorne Coleman, Granite Creek; C. J. Mumm, Auditor G. N. R., Spokane; G. C. Harvey, Indian Head; Chas. Harvey, Kelowna.

Miss Hattie Innis and Miss Ethel Bromley were the hostesses at a Hallowe'en party to their many friends. The guests were met by a very ghost-like figure which took them one by one, to an old witchlike creature who was stirring up their fortunes in an old caldron. After receiving their fortunes they went into the parlor, where many enjoyable games were played after which they adjourned to the dining room where a most sumptuous feast was prepared. Thirty guests sat down to supper. The party broke up a little after Midnight and wended their way home.

The first assembly dance which was held in the town hall on Friday last was a splendid success The hall was beautifully decorated with flags, bunting and evergreens. The first appearance of the Keremeos orchestra was greeted with much applause for the music they played for the dance would be very hard to beat. The orchestra consists of Mrs. W.M. Frith, piano; Willard Young, guitar, mouth organ, etc.; M. Barcelo, violin; and W. Benzie, accordion. Owing to sickness Mr. Benzie was not able to be present. Special thanks must be given to the large number of visitors who came down from Princeton and Hedley and also up from Similkameen and Nighthawk to join the happy throng. The next assembly dance will take place the last Friday in this month. A fine supper was provided by the ladies.
