FIXING THE BLAME

In their disappointment at the result of the Canadian election the people of the United States are trying to fasten the blame. Some of them lay it at Taft's door and others would make a scapegoat of Champ Clark. The latter is not prepared to take more than his share of it and thinks Taft sinned worse than he did.

The fact is that 95 per cent of them thought just the same as those who spoke out and no one is therefore justified in singling out certain ones for censure when papers and public men by the dozen were equally unsuccessful in hiding their real sentiments as these men were. Jim Hill, Gov. Foss, Senator Beveridge and dozens of others let the cat out of the bag repeatedly. It was cumulative evidence upon which the Canadian electorate based their verdict, and there is plain proof that economic considerations weighed equally as strong as national sentiment, for it is seen that the communities and interests that would be worst hit responded in corresponding degree.

THE TWO WALLS

The United States Tariff Averages 75 per cent. Against the Canadian Average of 35 per cent.

The air of reproach with which a section of the United States Press, aided by the sillier element of the Canadian Liberal press speak of the result of the Canadian election is amusing, but the better class of papers in the United States regard it differently.

Flour increasing 30 cents per barrel in the United States and wheat going up 6 to 8 cents per bushel as the result of the election was quoted as evidence of Canada's mortal offence against the poor, and the silly dupes never stopped to consider that while Canada's tariff wall is only 35 per cent, that of the United States is 75 per cent.

Canada is therefore not responsible for any of the ills suffered by the poor of the United States. If high protection is the cause of their ills they should look to that tariff wall of their own and never mind Canada's end of it.

How the fairer papers look at it may be seen in the following

The New York Evening Post, for example, remarks that another thing writ large in the Canadian elections "is the final collapse of the Republican pretence that the exactions and injustices of a protective tariff can be tempered by reciprocity. For years we have had this preached to us * * Somehow reciprocity was to be a kind of salve to put on the high tariff bruise. But in this supreme test of that theory it has failed utterly. The country now sees that in the mingling of outrageous tariff taxes with reciprocity what we finally get is no reciprocity and only an acceleration of the outrage." Even if reciprocity had been acceptable on other grounds, the decision of the Canadian people, in support of the principle of non-intervention in United States internal politics, is in all respects to be commended.

The Rochester, N. Y., Union and Advertiser says that "having committed himself wholly to the standpat tariff policy, it is clear that President Taft has utterly failed to make his administration meet the crying need of the time, the need of relief from the heavy burden of the cost of living. Reciprocity with Canada would not have met the demands of the country in this respect, but it would have helped and it would have encouraged the hope of better things to come. With reciprocity laid in the dust, there is nothing to expect from the Republican party." This of course, again confirms the view that the president sought through reciprocity to offer a palliative, not a remedy, for the nigh tariff imposed by the Republican party, which averages 75 per cent. against the Canadian average of 35 per cent. Judged by United States standards, Canada's tariff is moderate. By rejecting the reciprocity pact the Canadian people retain their exclusive and uncontrolled right to adapt the national policy to suit themselves.

MUCH TIMBER SAVED

Past Summer Has Witnessed Great Vigilance and Precaution Against Loss By Fire

The most vigorous campaign against forest fires ever waged by the Provincial Government is drawing to a close, and within the next few weeks full reports will be presented by the divisional superintendents of the fire protection areas.

"We have had practically every timbered district of the province patrolled," Mr. W. C. Gladwin, supervisor of the department, said. "A most thorough system of patrolling was instituted at the commencement of the past summer. Over 125 men were employed, and, viewed from the protection point of view, the efforts of the government have been crowned with success. Many dangerous fires have been, if I may be permitted to use the phrase, nipped in the bud, and there can be no doubt that the system of patroling adopted has saved much valuable timber. September, however, is often a red letter month for forest fires, and all patrols, especially in the interior, are still exercising the greatest vigilance."

A GOOD CROP

Its Effect Will Be Beneficial to This Province.

Columbian

In the overshadowing interest of the election contest, the people of British Columbia have lost touch with the harvesting progress in the prairie wheat country. It is pleasing to state that in spite of late frosts and other injurious elements the quantity, if not the quality, will be up to the present harvest expectations. The Winnipeg Commercial, one of the most careful authorities on crop production in the West now looks for a total wheat output of 180,000,000 bushels in the three provinces. The grade will be, it predicts, No. 2 and No. 3 northern, although there has been a considerable percentage of No. 1 northern in the inspections up to September 16. The indications are that prices will be high and with this there will be an enormous amount of money placed in circulation.

The prairies prosperous, British Columbia will find good times continuing since in this, in many respects, newer land the prairie farmer and the successful prairie business man seek investments or opportunities for profitable enterprise, while the more congenial climate will always draw population and with it capital from the Northwest.

HIS ADMIRATION

What Laurier Thinks of British Diplomacy

Some of the Liberal papers which are so fulsome in their praise of Laurier's imperialism and are so cocksure of his love of Britain and British institutions should try to inform themselves a little more fully of his public expressions on that score and they will see whether his pet phrases in Britain and before Ontario audiences when after their votes, will square up with his sentiments at other times when he thinks that a little capital can be made by taking the other tack. Here is an opinion of British diplomacy which is directly opposite to that expressed in his hearing by A. B. Aylesworth on the floor of the House. In speaking at a banquet given by the Canadian Manufacturers' Association he is reported by the Toronto Globe in 1907 as having said:

"We take the record of the diplomats of Great Britain in so far as Canada is concerned and there is a record of a repetition of the sacrifice of Canadian interests. We have suffered on the Atlantic; we have suffered on the Pacific; we have suffered on the Great Lakes; we have suffered wherever there has been a question discussed between British diplomats and foreign diplomats, and we have come at last to the opinion on this point that in our relations with foreign countries it will be better to attend to our business ourselves."

FATAL ACCIDENT

George Burnell is Killed at Fairview —Fell Off Load of Hay

Word has just reached us as we go to press of a fatal accident at Fairview. George Burnell was driving in with a load of hay and in going down a hill the brake gave out and the load was precipitated on the horses. Burnell who was driving fell off in front of the wagon and the load went over him. The accident occurred on Tuesday afternoon.

Dr. White was summoned from Penticton and did all he could for the injured man, but the injuries were too great and he died on Wednesday at noon.

The bereaved family have the sympathy of a wide circle of friends in the Okanagan and Similkameen where deceased was known and highly esteemed.

WE TOLD YOU SO

Canada to be Given the Large Market While Holding Her Own

In begging Sir Wilfrid Laurier to forgo the suicidal leap of reciprocity it was pointed out to him by one speaker after another that if Canada would only wait a little bit the Democrats in the United States would of themselves give to Canada all the advantages of the so-called larger market which advocates of the pact claimed would be secured by it It was hardly expected, however, that the proof of this would come so soon, but it has. Already prominent Democrats have stated that in order to cheapen living in the United States a lowering of the tariff is inevitable. Even the Hearst papers are turning on Taft and joining in the general condemnation of him and blaming him for failure to effect a revision of the tariff downward and take off the duties on many of the necessities for the working classes.

The Democrats are more strongly pledged to this course, and since the action of Canada they are more pronounced in their determination in that direction. Taft has apparently shot his bolt and the Democrats who are now in control of the House of Representatives are practically sure of electing the next president.

A Washington despatch to the Toronto Globe states that the defeat of reciprocity means a redoubled effort on the part of the Democratic party and the insurgent republicans, who together control Congress, to bring about a general reduction of the tariff. Reference is made to President Taft's expressed hope in presenting reciprocity to Congress, that reciprocity would reduce the cost of living in the Republic.

Tariff reduction is inevitable in the United States. Canada, secure in its prosperity and fiscal independence, can with equanimity look upon President Taft's efforts at working out the salvation of his party.

HOW HOME RULE STANDS

A British Referendum May Decide the Question

London, Sept. 26.—Internal dissension in his cabinet has driven Premier Asquith to decide that a general election must be fought on the Home Rule Bill before there is any possibility of successfully passing it into law. The bill will be introduced in the House of Commons next April and after a preliminary discussion has taken place Parliament will be dissolved, the fight being waged entirely on the Irish question.

As a result of this decision John Redmond is now organizing a gigantic home rule campaign throughout Great Britain this autumn with the idea of educating the public to the real meaning of home rule with special stress on the point that there is nothing in the nature of separation. On the government side, Lloyd George and Winston Churchill will conduct a similar fight.

For this reason neither Redmond nor T. P. O'Connor will accompany Daniel Boyle in his fund raising campaign throughout the United States this year. Their presence is too urgently needed at home.

In begging Sir Wilfrid Laurier to forgo the suicidal leap of reciprocity it was pointed out to him by one speaker after another that if Canada would only wait a little bit the Democrats in the United States would of themselves give to Canada all the advantages of the so-called larger market which advocates of the pact claimed would be secured by it It was hardly expected, however, that the proof of this would come so soon, but it has. Already prominent Democrats have stated that in order to cheapen living in the United States a lowering of the tariff is inevitable. Even the Hearst papers are turning on Taft and joining in the general condemnation of him and blaming him for failure to effect a revision of the tariff downward and take off the duties on many of the necessities for the working classes.

The Democrats are more strongly pledged to this course, and since the action of Canada they are more pronounced in their determination in that direction. Taft has apparently shot his bolt and the Democrats who are now in control of the House of Representatives are practically sure of electing the next president.

A Washington despatch to the Toronto Globe states that the defeat of reciprocity means a redoubled effort on the part of the Democratic party and the insurgent republicans, who together control Congress, to bring about a general reduction of the tariff. Reference is made to President Taft's expressed hope in presenting reciprocity to Congress, that reciprocity would reduce the cost of living in the Republic.

Tariff reduction is inevitable in the United States. Canada, secure in its prosperity and fiscal independence, can with equanimity look upon President Taft's efforts at working out the salvation of his party.

HOW HOME RULE STANDS

A British Referendum May Decide the Question

London, Sept. 26.—Internal dissension in his cabinet has driven Premier Asquith to decide that a general election must be fought on the Home Rule Bill before there is any possibility of successfully passing it into law. The bill will be introduced in the House of Commons next April and after a preliminary discussion has taken place Parliament will be dissolved, the fight being waged entirely on the Irish question.

As a result of this decision John Redmond is now organizing a gigantic home rule campaign throughout Great Britain this autumn with the idea of educating the public to the real meaning of home rule with special stress on the point that there is nothing in the nature of separation. On the government side, Lloyd George and Winston Churchill will conduct a similar fight.

For this reason neither Redmond nor T. P. O'Connor will accompany Daniel Boyle in his fund raising campaign throughout the United States this year. Their presence is too urgently needed at home.

REFERENDUMS

The referendum bids fair to become a factor in the British constitution and in those of her self-governing colonies. Two great questions are at the present moment about to be submitted to the people before legislative action is taken. These are the the Irish Home Rule question in Britain and the naval question in Canada, although it is more likely that the form in which Home Rule may be submitted to the electors will not be a straight referendum but as an issue in a general election, which in a great measure tends to nullify the real spirit of the referendum and defeat the object aimed at. The real spirit underlying representative government is the people's will and no government under the British constitution should arrogate to itself the right to legislate on vital questions without a mandate from the people. Citizens of Canada have never yet had an opportunity to express their wishes in reference to Canada's obligation towards maintenance of the empire's naval strength, and if Premier Borden should decide to give the country an opportunity to speak before he commits it to any naval programme, he will prove himself a safe constitutional ruler and worthy the confidence the people have placed in him.

The referendum will always be an object of mistrust to an autocrat, and it is a significant fact that of late years, both in Britain and in Canada, it has been the Liberal leaders and the Liberal party who have said by their actions that they could not trust the people. Laurier for instance would not allow the people of Canada to give him any advice on matters so important as the building of the Grand Trunk Pacific, the choice of a constitution for the provinces of Alberta and Saskatchewan, the important matter of our relations to the empire in maintenance of the navy, or the complete overturn of our fiscal system by the attempt to force through reciprocity without submitting it to the people; and in Britain we witnessed the tyrannical usurpation of power by Asquith who refused Balfour's proposition for a referendum on the veto and would force through measures that involved subversion of the constitution in reference to the House of Lords.

In the recent election some Liberal speakers and writers claimed that the election was a referendum on reciprocity, but it was no such thing, for the life of an administration was involved in the result. Doubtless they are wishing now that it had been what they pretended it was equivalent to, and what it would have been if the late government had accepted Borden's proposal to make it. Should Asquith again practice the same obstinacy and go to the country on Home Rule as an issue he will do Canada and the empire an injustice by side-tracking tariff reform and imperial preference.

The untrammelled voice of the people can never be obtained in either Great Britain or Canada by submitting a question where the life of an administration is involved in the result, for then party prejudice will dominate. A referendum and not a pretence of one, is what the people should have, and they should be satisfied with nothing short of it.

A NEEDLESS APOLOGY

We cannot agree with the sentiments of our Princeton contemporary in its article on the result of the election, and we think than when its editor calmly and honsstly reviews the situation he will see that many of the statements made in the article were not justified by the facts, and neither was there any duty resting upon him, either from courtesy or any other motive, to take upon himself to apologise on behalf of Canada to the United States for a "rebuff" or "an affront" put upon them.

The statements to which we would take exception may be tabulated as follows:

1 That the electors had been "frightened into a stampede for high protection."

2 That "retaliatory tariff war will begin as soon as Mr. Borden revives the old duties prior to 1896."

3 That "Mr. Borden and the Conservative party are under promise to contribute say at least twenty-five millions of dollars towards the construction of dreadnoughts for England's navy.

4 That there is anything whatever in the situation to suggest "militarism and the probable re-occupation of Canada by English garrisons,"

5 That "little Canadians and dwarfed British born have robbed Canada of any immediate prospect she may have had for free trade."

6 That "Sir Wilfrid Laurier will measure up to the highest statesman in this or any other country."

Our answers to these misstatements are:

1 Defeat of reciprocity simply meant leaving Canada's tariff as it is —an average of 35 per cent. against the U.S. average of 75 per cent. against us. There may be slight increases on some lines if Canadian interests need such and decreases in other lines, but no probable disturbing of the general average which was 35 per cent before 1896 and is 35 per cent after 1896.

2 Our answer to the first also answers the second.

3 Mr. Borden is not under any such promise. Neither is he likely to commit Canada to anything in the way of a naval policy until he gives the people an opportunity to say what they want. In that respect he will differ from the high statesman Laurier who scorned the idea of asking the people's advice and forced a nondescript naval policy on the country that was a disgrace to both him and the country. But you may depend on it, the course Borden with the people's consent will pursue in the matter of a naval programme will be worthy of Canada's position as an integral portion of the empire and will be business like.

4 Needs no answer.

5 Why this undertone of Anglophobism, and why this belittlement of the vast majority of the free and independent electors of Canada, both Conservative and Liberal? Wouldn't it be better for our cotem. to ask the United States to take 40 per cent. off that 75 per cent. tariff wall of theirs and thus restore the tariff equilibrum which is to all intents and purposes equivalent to free trade, than to go apologizing to the United States for Canada's action in protecting her own resources? As for free trade, the only kind Canada can afford is mutual imperial preference within the empire and the action of the "little Canadian" and the "dwarfed British born" on September 21st., gave that cause the greatest boost it ever had.

6 To briefly answer this we may say that if to bask for fifteen years in the sunshine of a prosperity he did nothing to create but on the contrary did all in his power to prevent the sowing of the seed of that prosperity, is to measure up to the highest ideals of statesmanship, then Sir Wilfrid is all that Bro. Wright claims for him. To fully answer this question as we would like to and as we could and as we feel we should, would require more space than we can spare and we must forbear at this time but may do so at some future time.

H. C. N. Etches, deputy postmaster at Keremeos, was in town on Thursday last.

Mr. and Mrs. R. G. Shier returned on Tuesday from a visit to the coast of about a month.

The Daly Reduction Co. are asking bids for the season's supply of vegetables. See their ad. in another column.

There will be a special song service in Fraternity hall, on Sunday evening Oct. 15 in place of the regular fortnightly service in the church.

Mrs. Bowerman, who has been stopping with her sister-in-law, Mrs. Boeing, during the past two months, returned on Monday to Oroville.

A new bunk-house and over-hauling of some of the old ones will effect a big improvement in accommodations at the Nickel Plate. Messrs. Boeing and Brass have the work in hand.

G. H. Whiteman, formerly of the B. N. A. staff here is back in the country again and at present is employed in the Rossland branch. His health is very much improved by his trip back to the old country.

The beating handed out on Saturday last by Vancouver to the challenging Tecumsehs for the Minto cup offers undisputed evidence that lacrosse supremacy has been transferred from eastern Canada to the Pacific coast.

It seems like old times to have Geo. Wardle in town again attending to the wants of citizens in the butcher business. He is here helping J. R. Edmond in the absence of J. Mairhoffer who is laid up with an attack of rheumatism.

A man named Parks who was brought to the Hedley hospital a couple of weeks ago suffering from an injury received while working at Coalmont is in a very serious condition. The injury received has arrested the circulatory process and an inordinate swelling of the entire body has resulted. The end of last week he became delirious and as the nurses were unable to manage him other quarters had to be found and the end is expected daily. LATER—He died on Tuesday morning.

A team belonging to Carle, the fruit man, made a very leisurely sort of runaway on Saturday evening. If other runaway horses would exercise the same horse sense and reason out the folly of running up a bill of breakages that would be better expended in buying oats, how much better off they would fare.

M. K. Rodgers returned to Seattle on Friday, taking with him his wife and family who spent the summer in Hedley and by Mrs. Jones of Seattle who was visiting with them. On this trip, as usual, Mr. Rodgers took some some hard tramps through the hills and showed that he is still able to rank with the most skookum of the prospectors in getting over the country

Readers will note that the hour of evening service has changed from the summer schedule of 8. p. m. to the fall and winter hour of 7.30. The confusion seems to have originated by a premature announcement a month ago without consultation as to former practice in vogue. The first of October and the first of April have been the dates for making the change in each case, these dates occurring about ten days after the spring and fall equinoxes.

It was a pleasant surprise on Tuesday to quite a few citizens when Mr. T. C. Gorrie, of California, arrived unexpectedly in Hedley. This is Mr. Gorrie's first visit to Hedley since the memorable summer of 1909 when he had charge of operations in the exhaustive examination which resulted in the purchase of the Nickel Plate by the present owners. Mr. Gorrie is an old mining operator whose business it is to not be fooled underground, and no matter whether previous reports had been good or ill he takes things as he finds them. In that examination important assistance was lent him by Mr. Jones who was then mine superintendent and it was a special pleasure to Mr. Jones to go through the mine with him again at this lapse of time and show him the result of development in the interval. Mr. Gorrie will remain for a few days, and as he only saw the Similameen in spring and summer before he will now be able to see it in autumnal dress.

Mr. Charles Camsell is winding up the season with some examinations in the Lillooet district. His summary report of geological researches made by him in the summer of 1911 will be looked for with special interest and is expected to make particularly interesting reading as the special commissions given him for the season were of more than usual interest. These comprised further investigation of the new diamond field of Olivine mountain; the examination of Steamboat which proved of the postmortem order and some field work at other points on the Skagit.

A moving picture show on Thursday last gave the best exhibition in that line that has yet appeared in Hedley. The intention was to give it only the one night, but as there was a fair turnout on the first night and numerous requests to repeat, it was given again the second night. The concern belongs to the Okanagan-Kootenay circuit and the intention is to make fortnightly visits to Hedley where the electric power enables them to put on the pictures in good shape. The pictures were very good: the comedy was light and wholesome and irresistibly funny without a suggestion of indelicacy, while the lion scene and those depicting the scienic beauties of waterfalls in Austria were most enjoyable even if the latter should be very much of a case of "carrying coal to Newcastle" in displaying it in British Columbia.

EAST PRINCETON
The New City with the Payroll gives you the opportunity for one of the SOUNDEST INVESTMENTS in British Columbia.

City Lots are being offered for Sale for the first time. It is inevitable that the value of these lots will Greatly Increase. Here are some of the reasons.

East Princeton is surrounded by huge deposits of coal, cement, copper, gold, and other important minerals.

The British Columbia Portland Cement Co. is erecting a half a million dollar plant which will employ between 300 and 400 men.

The United Empire Co. is shipping a lignite coal of the best quality and is developing immense copper deposits, requiring large reduction works and several hundred employees.

The Princeton Coal and Land Co. is increasing its daily shipments to 300 tons of coal, providing employment to about 150 men. Other coal companies are spending over $2,000,000 in development, and will give work to at least 1000 men.

For transportation, East Princeton will have, in the near future, the Great Northern and the Kettle Valley lines, both of which, will pass through the townsite.

East Princeton is beautifully situated on the Similkameen river, with an abundance of water power available. The new city has every factor for growth into a big industrial centre. It presents a rare opportunity for investment.

Town and Lower Valley.

Joseph Bromley of Fairview, was a visitor in Keremeos on Monday.

Auction sale of Hardware at E. M. Crooker's on Saturday October 14th, at 1 p.m.

Professor Brownell was in town tuning up everything in sight in the musical line.

Mrs. E. Lowe moved into town with Mr. and Mrs. Max Ewart last Wednesday from the ranch.

Mr. Manery had a good number of peaches off three of his trees, so we did have a few after all.

Walter Frith was away a few days in the mountains looking over some mineral claims near the Apex.

Do not fail to attend the auction sale at Crooker's hardware store on Saturday afternoon, October 14th.

The demand for Keremeos tomatoes in the Boundary country is on the jump; we certainly can raise tomatoes alright.

Dan McCurdy was down from Princeton for a few days; he reports things booming in East Princeton real estate.

Coyotes are very plentiful in the lower valley. The government should certainly put a heavier bounty on them.

M. K. Rodgers passed through here on Friday last with his family and Mrs. Jones, on their way back to their home in Seattle.

A meeting of the Keremeos Board of Trade will be held in the Town Hall on Saturday afternoon next at 2.30 o'clock. Be on hand.

The east end of this burg is being brightened up by the painting of the two cottages occupied respectively by Messrs. Bromley and Hogg.

Miss Ethel Bromley was up to Hedley Thursday and had an operation performed on her throat. We understand the operation was successful.

Mrs. Jack Thomas and Buster returned home Friday morning after having spent a pleasant holiday at different points on Okanagan lake.

Mr. E. M. Crooker leaves for his old home Wednesday to spend a week or two. During his absence Mr. H. B. Meausette will look after his interests here.

Bob McCurdy who has been spending a few days with his uncle up at Kelowna returned Thursday mhrning in the buzz wagon after having a good time.

John Simondson, section foreman, who has been sick in the Hedley Hospital got back Monday afternoon and is feeling much better although he is weak yet.

Cheer up boys the pool room is open once more. Les. Robertson is taking it and he sure is going after it with both feet. We wish him success in his new undertaking.

The train was badly delayed Friday on account of breaking the air pump between here and Bradshaws but with the help of a little hay wire completed the rest of the journey in safety.

G. D. Turner, of Turner & Williamson, Coalmont, was in town Thursday and Friday; he reports great doings in the real estate line, having sold 150 lots out of 450, fifty of which they sold last week.

It is with great regret that we learn of the death of Mrs. Coleman on Saturday morning. The deceased lady passed away midnight Friday. We assure the bereaved husband and family of our heartfelt sympathy in their sad loss.

On Wednesday night the Juvenile Bostonians gave one of their interesting and enjoyable plays. They certainly exhibited a fine display in the musical and comical line. Everybody had a good laugh for they can go some for a bunch of youngsters.

On Monday evening hearing that Leonard and his bride had got back to town a procession was formed and gallantly led by some of the popular ladies of Keremeos made a bee line for the house and presented the astonished couple with many useful gifts.

The Rev. A. H. Cameron went to Fairview last week to perform a marriage ceremony. These are quite frequent in this district This time the bridegroom was Mr. William Richter and the bride Miss Dalrymple. We wish them success.

The K. K. K. once more has organized for the coming season the officers elected are as follows: President, Mrs. Keeler and sec-treas., Miss Annie Innis. The opening meeting will be a social to which they give all a hearty invitation. Come and have a good time.

Mrs. Daly and family got back into town in time to take in the Juvenile Bostonians. They report having had a fine time up the Ashnola and with the exception of a couple of days the weather was fine. Although deer were not plentiful they gave one a nasty shock so he vamoosed for the tall timbers.

The Rev. Williamson, the secretary of the International Sunday School who was expected in Keremeos Sunday last but did not arrive evidently thought he had better feed up a little before such an undertaking as we find find his name mentioned in the Province as being present at the men's Rally Banquet in Vancouver; we hope now after this sumptuous repast he will be in good shape when he comes to visit us.

Leonard Grey, the genial driver of the Welby stage somehow or other got off the road but guess it was all right anyway for finding himself in Fairview he offered himself as a candidate for Miss Ripley affections being duly accepted he struck aut for Penticton where the marriage ceremony was duly performed. Good boy Leonard we all join in wishing you and yours in your wise step for future happiness.

With our friend Rob, yours truly took a nanitch to take in the situation in the lower valley. We found everything O. K. especially in the line of fruit which we nobly annexed. Leaving our roll and tomato can on the track we struck for Mr. Manerys where they made us welcome, so we put in the night and most of Sunday and you bet we had a good time. Sunday afternoon the Rev. Mr. Mawhinney preached in the Similkameen school house. Mr. E. M. Crooker and Mr. Traub came down with him on the Armstrong track glider.

FIGURE OUT

What a few Acre of Keremeos Fruit Lands will be worth in a few years when the trees are in bearing

Can you do better with your savings by sending them outside to invest in some speculative scheme, more or less hazardous, than by investing them at home in something that is as safe as the bank and at the same time offers such big returns on the capital invested.

REMEMBER

We offer no land but what has the water already on it

Fruit Lots of any size to suit your means; at $175, 215 and 350 per acre. Town Lots.
