IRRIGATIONISTS TO MEET

The interest felt by the town of Bassano, Alberta, in the irrigation convention to be held there next fall, was evidenced by the large attendance at a meeting held at Bassano for organization purposes last week. At this meeting the executive of the Western Canada Irrigation Association conferred with the Board of Trade to fix the dates of the convention and to take preliminary steps for the formation of a local board of control and arrange for a program of speakers. While it was the desire of many of those present that the convention should be held during the summer when the weather is more suitable to excursions into the surrounding country to show visitors the opportunities afforded in the district, the main consideration was to secure a time when the farmers in the "irrigation block" could attend, and it was finally decided that the most favorable time would be after the conclusion of harvest.

The convention this year will be a strictly business meeting, and will not only be addressed by prominent irrigationists of Western Canada, but also by men brought over from irrigation districts in the United States, specialists in the cultivation of alfalfa, practical irrigation, live stock raising and other phases of farming. It is likely that an agricultural exhibition of the products of irrigated land will be held simultaneously with the convention, and every inducement will be offered farmers to become exhibitors. Cash prizes will be given.

At a mass meeting to be held on Saturday, May 22nd, the local Board of Control will be elected and a local executive, chairman and secretary appointed. In the immediate irrigated section of Bassano a considerable adreacreage is now being sown in alfalfa. Throughout the Irrigation Block last year the total area under alfalfa was 1,047 acres, which had increased from 705 acres in 1913. According to indications the acreage to be sown this year will bring the total up to 2,000.

FOREIGN LUMBER MARKET

Victoria, B. C., May 17.—Further lumber exhibits have now been despatched to foreign markets under instructions from the Minister of Lands. As a result of this the trade in overseas markets will have a comprehensive range of samples of British Columbia woods, both in natural and finished states for the information of buyers. The Canadian Trade Commissioners in London, Birmingham, Manchester, Bristol, Glasgow, Shanghai, Paris, Yokohama, Auckland, Sydney, Melbourne, Adelaide, Cape Town, Johannesburg, Durban, Columbia (Central America) and Buenos Ayres will have charge of the exhibits. Each exhibit is accompanied by full information for the guidance of those interested, further enquiries being invited by the Forest Branch with a view to placing the overseas importers in touch with the British Columbia mills. Similar exhibits will be placed at Winnipeg, Ottawa, Montreal and other points for the information of Prairie and Eastern buyers.

MUCH ADLER-I-KA USED IN HEDLEY

It is reported by F. M. Gillespie that much Adler-i-ka is sold in Hedley. People have found that ONE SPOONFUL of this simple buckthorn bark and glycerine mixture relieves almost ANY CASE of constipation, sour or gassy stomach. It is so powerful that it is used successfully in appendicitis. ONE MINUTE after you take it the gasses rumble and pass out. It is perfectly safe to use and cannot gripe.

SIR RICHARD GETS ORDERS FOR PROVINCE

Victoria, B. C., May 17.—Cable advices to the government state that Sir Richard McBride will sail from London for home on May 26. On his way west he will remain for some days in Ottawa. He has been instrumental in securing from the war office some large orders for British Columbia canned salmon which will be used for the troops at the front.—Nelson News.

WEDDING BELLS

Tickell—Manery.

An interesting event took place at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Manery, Similkameen, on Tuesday, May 11th, at 3 o'clock, when their eldest daughter, Nellie J., was united in marriage to Mr. Christopher Tickell. The Rev. Mr. Cameron performed the ceremony. The bride looked charming in her wedding dress of white shadow lace and satin, and was attended by her sister, Miss Minnie Manery, as bridesmaid. The duties of best man were performed by Mr. Sam McCurdy, cousin of the bride. About fifty guests were present, relatives and friends of the bride and groom. After the ceremony a dainty luncheon was served. The decorations were tastefully arranged by Mrs. S. Manery. The happy couple were the recipients of many pretty wedding gifts.

ALIENS TO BE INTERNED

At a meeting held in the Belmont Building, Victoria, Thursday night by representative men of the city, resolutions were unanimously carried, "That in the opinion of this meeting it is necessary, both for the safety of the community and for their own protection, that all Alien enemies in Victoria and district be interned without delay."

The resolution was forwarded to Premier Borden requesting quick action in the matter.—Victorian.

Greenwood Mines To Re-open.

Enquiries at Greenwood concerning the reported re-opening of the B. C. Copper Co.'s Mother Lode and Lone Star properties, brought the reply that the opening was imminent, but no date was given out.—Phoenix Pioneer.

Divine Services at Keremeos.

Divine service will be conducted in the church at Keremeos on Sunday, May 23rd. Morning service, 11 a. m.; subject, "Paul's One Theme." Evening service, 7:30 p. m.; subject, "The Great Salvation." A hearty invitation is extended to all. Preacher, R. G. Stewart.

Many are starving to death, others are committing suicide to escape the terrors of hunger, and thousands are on the verge of starvation in the Province of Szechuan, China, because of famine, according to mail advices to the State Department received recently from E. Carleon Baker, United States consul at Chung-King. The famine is due to a protracted drouth, particularly in the region of Fuchow and Changchow. President Yuan Shi Kai is said to have authorized an expenditure of $100,000 for the relief of the sufferers.

"How did you get your clothes torn and your face bruised?" asked the boy's father.

"My condition," was the cautious reply, "is the result of a slide to second base."

"But I thought you were umpiring the game?"

"I was. I said the boy who slid didn't make it."

FOREST FIRE PROBLEM

Victoria, May 17.—Advices received by the Minister of Lands indicate that the fire situation is considered dangerous in the Prince Rupert, Hazelton, Fort George, Lillooet and Tete Jaune Districts, the weather for the past week having been hot and dry. Thirty large fires have occurred in the Fort George district alone.

Clearing operations are general throughout the Province, much activity being shown in this direction by pre-emptors, especially in the Fraser Valley, Vancouver Island, Vernon and Tete Jaune areas. From Cranbrook heavy rains are reported, which with the heavy growth of green vegetation have greatly reduced the fire hazard.

In that district some eighteen hundred acres of logging slash have been disposed of this spring and more will be dealt with.

Fires in the Vanvouver and Island Districts were confined to old slash, which is a constant source of danger the Forest Service is continually striving to remove.

The comparatively light snowfall in the Northern Interior laet winter and the early thaw that has brought on unusually early the danger period, which comes during the time between the disappearance of the snow and the growth of the new vegetaion.

At such a time, spark, match or carelessly left camper's fire may lead to a conflagration likely to run over a large area, travelling by means of the fallen needles, dry leaves and dead grasses numerous fires of this character are are reported in the Hazelton District.

TEN YEARS AGO

(From the Hedley Gazette of May 18th, 1905.)

The railway engineers have been working across the river for a few days.

Frank Bailey left for Aspen Grove on Sunday where he is interested in various mineral claims.

Chief Engineer J. H. Kennedy spent several days of last week with the survey camp in this vicinity.

Ed. Burr, who has been on Copper Mountain for the past four weeks, was in town on Sunday.

Geo. Bowerman is getting lumber on the ground to erect a residence on the north side of Webster street west of Scott avenue.

W. A. McLean returned from Summerland on Sunday night and reports wonderful improvements in that part of the district, no less than 40,000 fruit trees having been planted there this season, and an excellent class of settlers have come in.

Mr. Jeffrey sold his house and lot on Ellis avenue, at present being used for the school, to the local manager of the Bank of B. N. A., who in all probability has made the purchase for another party. The general verdict is that at the price paid, the purchaser has certainly made a gild-edged investment.

A benefit concert in aid of the Nickel Plate school will be given on June 3rd, and a good programme is being prepared. To enable townspeople to take in the concert several cars will be run on the tramway before and after the entertainment. The admission price will be $1.00, including refreshments.

"There's a good deal in this southern hospitality."

"Is that so?"

"Yes. They gimme eight months fer vagrancy in New Orleans. I never got more than 60 days in the north."

THE BLIND AVIATOR

With eyesight destroyed by a German shell, and carrying in his machine a lieutenant observer who was mortally wounded, a French aviation pilot tells a thrilling story of a reconnaissance in Flanders.

When over the German lines a well-directed shell burst close to them. "Then I saw nothing but blackness all around me," says the pilot. "Guided by noises below I turned in the direction in which I hoped to meet comrades. But soon a fresh hail of bullets warned me that we were again above the German lines. Then I realized that I was blind.

"'Are you all right, lieutenant?' I shouted. 'Seriously wounded, I fear,' he said. Then, seeing I was turning my back on our lines, he said, 'Make half a turn to the left. More to the left still. That's right. Straight ahead now.' Three minutes later the voice of the observer called, 'That's it. Here we are. I see our men down there waiting for us. Shut off the spark and volplane gently down;' and soon our landing wheels grated on the ground, at the same moment that brave lieutenant breathed his last."

Pauline Johnson, the Canadian poetess who died two years ago in Vancouver, after bravely fighting illness for many years, would have put spirit into the Canadian soldiers had she lived until the war. A poem of hers said to be her last, and unpublished until after her death, would admirably suit the present occasion.

Time, and its dark ally, Disarmament,
Have compassed me about,
Have massed their armies, and on battle bent,
My forces put to rout,
But though I fight alone, and fall and die,
Talk terms of peace? Not I.

They war upon my fortress, and their guns
Are shattering its walls;
My army plays the coward's part and runs,
Pierced by a thousand balls.
They call for my surrender; I reply,
"Ask quarter now? Not I."

They've shot my flag in ribbons, but in rents
It floats above the height.
Their ensign shall not crown my battlements
While I can stand and fight.
I fling defiance at them as I cry:
"Capitulate? Not I."

Premeditated Murder.

THE BRITISH VICTIMS WILL BE AVENGED — WHAT OF THE AMERICAN?

The Imperial murderers plead "guilty" and justification.

They did it. They glory in it. They sent fifteen hundred unarmed and inoffensive non-combatants to death, without even the pretence which served as an excuse in Belgium—that "someone" had fired on the soldiers of the Kaiser. It is stated that they butchered one hundred and fifty babies, under two years of age. It is doubtful whether Herod spilled more baby blood at Bethlehem.

It is impossible to exaggerate the cruelty, the brutal cynicism, the savage ferocity of the crime. A great "liner" laden with men, women and children of all nations, carrying over two thousand souls and not one shotted gun, bringing sorrowing mothers to the bedsides of their wounded boys and anxious wives to soothe the pain of their injured husbands, cradling babies whom their fathers longed to clasp once more before they died,—this great "liner" is deliberately marked out for a sudden stroke of death which Berlin knew in advance must murder most of the helpless and harmless human beings on board.

The warnings which the German Government now freely admits were issued before the sailing of the "Lusitania," do not constitute—as Berlin imagines—a mitigation of the outrage, but an aggravation of its malignity. These warnings prove malice aforethought—cool and callous planning—deliberate devilry. German agents appear to have watched the grey-haired grandmothers, the prattling babes, the unarmed civilians, the missioners of mercy, ascend to the decks of the doomed "liner" with the feelings of the hunter who sees his quarry enter his cunningly-baited trap. They knew that, when their stealthy torpedoes tore through the rippling sea, the grandmothers and the babes-in-arms would be the first and the surest to strangle in the ice-cold waters.

* * * * *

But it is useless and sickening to dwell on the horror of it. If this is war, it is such a war as dealt in massacre, sack, rape and torture. It is an act which challenges Christian civilization. If the modern world cannot punish and effectively prevent crimes of this character, then we might as well tear the New Testament out of our Bibles, and go humbly back to the days when conquerors carried off their captives as slaves, when cities were razed and their sites sown with salt, when humanity had never known a Christ.

The three Great Powers of the Triplice are exerting every ounce of their strength to beat back and finally disarm the makers of this brand of war. Our men are dying in the trenches by the thousand to render powerless the arm which emerged, red with the blood of civilian Belgium, to pour out the lives of these civilian travellers into the sea. We—Britain, France, Russia, Belgium, Serbia—are doing what we can to chain the dragon. If we fail, the fault will not be ours—nor will the devastating consequences be confined to our peoples.

* * * * *

From the first, some of us have felt that the great and clean-souled American people should be with us. We felt that they—had they spoken from the impulses of their hearts—would have sternly protested the violation of Belgium. We felt that many another defiance of law should have brought down upon its perpetrators the indignation of the American conscience. We feel today that, had the United States taken a firm stand from the first, the "Lusitania" would never have been stabbed to death!

That crime, however, has presented the final test to American nationality. Over one hundred American citizens have been wantonly murdered by German officers, acting under Berlin orders and defended by Berlin official statements. Our neighbors have only read their histories to know what is the fate of nations which cannot or will not defend the lives of their own people. The British Empire has gone to war more than once because one poor British subject has been wronged. British expeditions have penetrated mountains, fastnesses and overcome incredible difficulties to rescue imperilled British citizens. That is one reason why we love the British flag and regard our membership in the British Empire as a possession beyond price.

We do not believe that the American nation can afford to hold the lives of its people more cheaply. "Civis Romanus Sum" made every hair on the head of a Roman citizen safe to the uttermost confines of that glorious Empire. "Civis Britannicus Sum" declared bluff old Lord Palmerston, and warned Europe and Asia away from the harming of one man who could pronounce that tremendous shibboleth. Is it to be regarded as an infinitely lesser privilege to be an American citizen?

* * * * *

The British people today cannot presume to point the way to their American cousins. It is a day of keen testing and heavy trial for them; and we shall remain silent. In the face of their own solemn and official warning to Germany that the Germans would be "held to strict accountability" if any American citizen were killed in the course of the piracy which the Teutons termed a "blockade," the Germans deliberately torpedoed a ship without warning whose sudden sinking was bound to drown many American citizens.

We do not know what the Americans will do in the case. We believe, however, that we do know what the Brisish will do. We know what the British have done when a far smaller outrage has been inflicted upon British men, women and children.—Montreal Star.

The Hedley Brass Band will hold a dance in the hall next Friday night, May 28th. Music by the full band. Everyone come and have a good time.

Princeton now observes Thursday afternoon as a half holiday, and commenced last week. How about a weekly half holiday in Hedley for the summer months?

P. Murray again won the Golf Club's monthly medal in the May competition, his score being 47, 45=92. Other scores handed in included: C. Brown, 101-8=93; A. W. Jack, 96; Mrs. T. H. Rotherham, 118-18=100; R. S. Collin, 109-8=101, and Jas. Clarke, 110-9=101.

Misses Rita and Mildred Kirby, of Keremeos, came up last Friday morning with Dr. McEwen, who made a special trip for them with his car. They were the guests of Mrs. McEwen till Saturday afternoon, when they returned home after taking in the dance on Friday night.

Last week a letter was received by Geo. Williams of the Nickel Plate mine, from Wm. Liddicott, who at the time of writing was alive and well and fighting in the trenches; consequently we wish to contradict the report to the effect that he had been killed in action recently which appeared in these columns two weeks ago.

A number of the members of the Ladies' Orange Benevolent Association of Hedley journeyed to Princeton on Tuesday night by auto to attend a gathering of their sister lodge in that town. Owing to the condition of the roads caused by the prolonged rains of the past few days one of the cars failed to make connections. Those who reached there report having had a splendid time.

The dance held last Friday night by the Hedley Orchestra was not so well patronized as was anticipated, owing partly to there being other appointments on the same evening. Those who attended, however, appeared to thoroughly enjoy themselves, as was evidenced by the fact that the gathering did not break up until about 3 a.m. The music was supplied by the orchestra, interspersed by selections on the player piano.

Mrs. S. L. Smith and her daughter, Miss Marjory, went out by auto on Monday afternoon to Penticton, where they will remain for a couple of weeks, Miss Smith will receive musical instruction under Miss Thompson, L. R. A. M., of Penticton, prior to taking an examination on June 4th, to be conducted by Frederick G. Shinn, Mus. Doc., of Montreal, under the auspices of the Associated Board of the Royal Academy of Music, London, Eng. We wish her every success.

PROVINCIAL AND GENERAL

Alfred G. Vanderbilt's secretary has offered a reward of $1000 for the recovery of Mr. Vanderbilt's body.

Every sailor of the French fleet is to be provided with a life saving collar. Five thousand of these have already been delivered following the sinking of the Leon Gambetta.

It is announced that the Canadian Locomotive Company is to make a large addition to its plant at Kingston, Ontario, as it is expected there will be a big demand from Canadian railways for locomotives as soon as the war is over.

The entire output of 70 h. p. tractors of a tractor factory at Saskatoon, Saskatchewan, has been purchased by the Russian government and will be dispatched within the next few weeks, being shipped via Vancouver and Vladivostock.

The policy of providing good roads for home-makers in Alberta is illustrated by the fact that since the province was organized in 1905 no fewer than 2,524 bridges have been erected. These bridges are practically all on roads serving rural communities.

Jitneys are making a big hole in the Toronto Street Railway Company's receipts, according to statements issued by City Auditor Sterling. It points out that there was a decline of $100,287 in the company's receipts during the first four months of the year.

In spite of abnormal conditions government returns now issued show that for the concluding months of 1914, Canadian exports to Great Britain were greater than for the same period in the year before. Canada's revenue for February shows an increase of $825,244 as compared with the same month last year.

It is announced that an area of five sections in the Chin Coulee, in the Lethbridge district, is to be fenced and reserved as an antelope park. The park is being established at the direction of the Department of the Interior. The necessary arrangements are now being made for the construction of the fence, and it is expected that the efforts to enclose the antelope will be successful.

In order to relieve the hard-worked censor, soldiers writing home letters from the front are now being put on their honor as to the contents of their letters. A special envelope has been issued to the troops in the fighting line for this purpose. It is green in color and headed "On active service." On the flap is this declaration, which must be signed by the writer: "I certify on my honor that the contents of this letter refer to nothing but private and family matters."

A novel use of the aeroplane is under consideration by owners of Newfoundland sealing vessels, as a result of the failure of the seal hunt this year. It is proposed that two experienced aviators be engaged to visit the east coast and the Gulf of St. Lawrence respectively just before the opening of the next season and locate the herds. The information thus obtained would enable the fleet to sail directly for the scene of the hunt, instead of spending much time in searching for the animals.

The excitement of the first homestead rush to Western Canada was recalled a few days ago when some choice locations were available for entry at Moose Jaw. Over 200 land seekers lined up in front of the Dominion Lands Office, and the crush was so great that the elevator service in the building had to be suspended for the time being and the applicants were lined up and marched in in proper order. The incident serves to show that the popularity of Western Canada lands has never diminished, but is now greater than ever.

Cowes Regatta Is Cancelled.

London, May 15.—The Cowes Regatta, scheduled to take place in August, was cancelled yesterday.

Would Take No Chance.

A traveling man who had been on a business trip through northern Texas while east of Greenville had occasion to hire a buggy to go across the country, and with the buggy there was thrown in by the livery stable a negro, who, the traveling man says, was about the color of anthracite. The two traveled across the muddy roads for miles upon miles, and all was going well when suddenly the negro rose in the buggy.

"Look a-dah!" he shouted.

The drummer looked barely in time to see an ordinary cottontail rabbit cross the road like a streak of gray. The negro prepared to get out.

"What are you doing?" demanded the drummer, catching at the lines as they fell. The negro got out. Then he carefully turned every one of his ragged pockets inside out, backed up to the place which the cottontail had crossed and walked across the imaginary line backward. Then he climbed into the buggy again.

"Dah," he said. "Ain' gwine let no rabbit gib me no bad luck dis trip. No, sah!"—Galveston Tribune.

Winning His Consent.

"Put yourself in my place, young man. Would you want your only daughter to marry a penniless youth?"

"Put yourself in my place, sir. Would you want to remain a penniless youth when there were rich men's daughters to marry?"

"You confess that you'd marry my child simply for her father's wealth?"

"And you confess that you withhold her from me simply because of my poverty?"

"What other reason do I need?"

"What other reason could influence you?"

"This talk is quite useless."

"Quite."

"We have nothing to gain by it."

"Absolutely nothing."

"You take it philosophically."

"Why shouldn't I? Your daughter and I were quietly married a month ago."

"Good gracious!"

Old Letters.

There is but one thing to do with old love letters—in fact, with all old letters, love or otherwise—and that is to burn them.

Letters are personal, the thoughts, the wishes of the moment. Letters are seldom of historical interest. If so, it is an easy matter to preserve those.

An old letter is seldom of interest while life is granted to the writers, and but a cause of misery after death has claimed either. Should both writer and the one addressed be taken from the world the old letters are either carelessly paraded or left to mold in a corner of the attic.

When a letter—the ordinary letter, which is but an exchange of personal thought, hopes or dreams—is answered it is time to burn it. It will then never be read by curious eyes nor will it serve as a bitter suggestion of a happier past.—Pittsburg Press.

CASH DIVIDENDS ON GOODS YOU BUY

By HOLLAND.

SOUNDS good, doesn't it? And the best of it is it is true. These cash dividends are paid on every dollar you spend, provided you spend wisely and buy goods that the maker believes in so strongly that he advertises them.

Advertised goods are not always the cheapest so far as the amount asked for them is concerned. But they are INVARIABLY THE BEST. And this makes them cheapest when all things are considered.

When you buy for the same money a better article than you have been buying you get a cash dividend on your purchase. When you pay less for an article of the same quality you get a cash dividend.

THESE DIVIDENDS ARE PAID TO THE READERS OF ADVERTISEMENTS IN THIS PAPER.
