Serve Save Produce

EVERY ONE CAN do something for his country

Some can bear arms
Some can produce food
Some can make munitions
Some can give money

It is the privilege of all to help.

YOU CAN SERVE by Fighting—Working—Saving—Giving

This is NATIONAL SERVICE

Are YOU doing your part?

ALL EYES turn now to the Canadian Farmer, for he can render the Empire SPECIAL SERVICE in this sternest year of the war.

But—our farms are badly undermanned—25,000 men are needed on the land.

With insufficient help, the Man on the Land fights an uphill fight to meet the pressing need for Food.

CITY and TOWN can help.

Municipal Councils, Churches and Schools, and other organizations, both of men and women, can render National Service by directing all available labour to the Land.

Farmers themselves can exchange labour. School boys can assist.

Were you raised on a farm? Can you drive a team? Can you handle fork or hoe? If you can't fight, you can produce. Spend the Summer working on the Farm.

Let every man, woman and child in the Dominion who has access to Land, no matter how small the plot, make it produce Food in 1917.

A report stated to come from confidential German sources states that a great German offensive is due to begin April 5th. Huge preparations are being made behind the front. Ammunition and stores of all kinds for an offensive are stored behind the front on rails ready to be rushed to any required point.

German newspapers believe that Germany will declare war on the United States when the first armed American merchantman fires at a submarine.

The Other Side of Japanese Immigration

Interesting Lecture by Mr. K. Iwashita

Before a far too meagre audience, considering the importance of the subject and the ability of the lecturer himself, Mr. K. Iwashita, a prominent figure amongst the local Japanese, gave a striking and illuminating lecture Monday evening in the Board of Trade room on "Japan and Western Civilization." The wonderful awakening of that energetic race which has almost at a bound taken its place amongst the powerful nations of the earth, was entertainingly described. Mr. Iwashita possesses not only an eloquence of a high order, and a scholarly command of English language, but has a wide knowledge of history and international affairs which was a revelation to many. He has a keen sense of humor, too, and the delicate irony with which he assailed the vaunted superiority of western nations held his hearers close attention, and could not fail to produce a telling effect.

With characteristic Japanese politeness he began by expressing the great honor which he felt in having the opportunity of addressing such an audience on the subject of his country and race.

The present war which was raging in Europe, he said, with so many different nations involved, had taught the people that race distinction does not form such an important factor in international relations as it was once presumed to do. It had, moreover, done much to dispel the bogey of the "yellow peril," an idea which was originated by the ambitious Kaiser of Germany with the object of fostering the race prejudices of European peoples against the nations of the East. The new era which was dawning was impressing upon the peoples of this and other countries the necessity of gaining a thorough knowledge of their neighbors across the Pacific, and was one of the happy signs of the day.

In sketching the history of Japan during the last half century, he touched first upon some of the great changes which had taken place in the world at large. The French revolution had terminated the arbitrary rule of the aristocracy, and had declared all men equal in the eyes of the law. The political tempests had been followed by another revolution in which the modern inventions of steam and electricity had brought about great changes in industrial systems. The expansion of trade and commerce had also brought the nations of the East and West nearer together. From the four winds of heaven came representatives of the different nations to Japan with merchandise and gold seeking to establish commercial relations.

Japan's first suspicions of the foreigners who invaded her shores he attributed to the machinations of the Dutch, who desiring a monopoly of Japanese trade, poisoned the minds of his people against the other western races, and to the greed and overbearing manner of the early merchant settlers, who, while they sought to fill their purses at the expense of the Japanese, insisted upon treating them as an inferior race. Later they had come to learn that these men were not altogether typical of their nations, but that there were other men of honor and integrity and greater breadth of mind.

Japan's own political revolution he dated from the visit to the country of United States warships under Commodore Perry in 1853. This display of western power had given an impetus tothe overthrow of the ancient feudal system and the adoption of a form of democracy. This was followed by another revolution of adifferent kind, which was not confined to industrial affairs alone, but embraced new ideas in philosophy and science, Japan's ablest sons were sent abroad as emissaries to study in the universities and factories of Europe and America, and on their return were placed at the head of affa rs. Then Japan, having acquired a sufficient knowledge of the arts and sciences and industrial methods of Europe and America, cast aside the cloak of mediaevalism and boldly stepped into the arena of strenuous competition.

The development of Japan was modelled upon that of the western nations. British officers assisted in the building of the navy; Frenchmen codified their law; Germans trained their army and assisted in developing their higher medical instruction; while Americans rearranged their educational system.

Finally the successful outcome of the wars with China and Russia enabled Japan to assert her national independence, and to claim recognition in the councils of international diplomacy.

Mr. Iwasnita was especially interesting when he dealt with the burning question of Japanese immigration.

Of this great problem of the age resulting from the contact between the East and the West, the Japanese immigration in America was but a small fragment. The complete solution of this question seemed hardly possible without the complete readjustment of the relations between the Eastern and the Western worlds. It required the removal of mutual misconceptions, not only with regard to political and commercial affairs, but also in connection with the deeper problem of the spirit. It required on each side abetter understanding and a higher appreciation by each of the culture and civilization of the other. Most of all it required on the part of the stronger West a stricter observance of all principles of justice and humanity in dealing with the weaker East.

He would be the last man to deny that every country had the right to decide who should be admitted and who barred. Japan had never challenged that right from a legal point of view. But what would this world be if all nations were to strain every nerve to assert their legal rights without mitigating them with magnanimity and the common dictates of courtesy? A man had the right to forbid his neighbor entering his gates, even when the neighbor had never interfered with his welfare, and had observed every canon of gentlemanly conduct. But was such an injunction justifiable from the point of view of expediency, social etiquette, and above all the goodwill which is the foundation of human society? As with the individual so with the nation. The restriction of immigration was no doubt one of the sovereign rights of every country, but in exercising such a right it was neither justifiable nor sensible to single out as the object of discrimination a nation, a civilized and progressive nation, which had won its way to a place in the comity ofthe great powers and which nation was philosophically bearing insults and indignities heaped upon her national pride in this very question.

He could not agree with the favorite argument advanced by the advocates of Japanese exclusion that if Europeans were to immigrate to Japan, the Japanese government would set up barriers against them just as the people of this country have erected a wall against the Japanese. He preferred to believe that Japan would welcome such European immigration if Japan had such a vast area of undeveloped land, and such enormous natural resources yet little exploited as were found in this country.

"You must do what is right and avoid what is wrong, no matter what your neighbors may say, think, or do. Is it not this sense of justice which has made England great in the concourse of nations? Was it not this very sense of fair play which impelled Great Britain to declare war against Germany in 1914? If Japan should exclude without plausible reason such European immigrants, it would be your duty to oppose such an arbitrary measure. To acquiesce would be to run counter to the traditions of your nation which have been your life and inspiration in the past."

In conclusion he said that the more the West studied Japan the less formidable would become the racial differences. The trouble with most of the western critics of Japan was that they came to the East without sympathy, and criticism without sympathy was seldom just. If they came across something they did not understand they did not take the trouble to investigate, but dismissed the matter as incomprehensible to the western mind. The old worn phrase that the Japanese were inscrutableand mysterious simply betrayed the mental indolence of whoever invented it.

Mr. Iwashita was accorded a very hearty vote of thanks at the conclusion of his address.

The meeting was held under the auspices of the Political Equality League, the chair being occupied by Mayor Sutherland. A collection in aid of the Prisoners of War fund realized the sum of $6.70 over the expense of the room.

Seek to Change Laws Unjust to Women

The Kelowna Equal Franchise League has decided to again make representations to the government regarding one of those inequitable laws which have come down to us from a more barbaric age discriminating most unmercifully against women in favor of the "lords of creation."

In British Columbia at the present time, it is pointed out in a resolution which is being forwarded to Premier Brewster and Mr. J. W. Jones, M.P.P., it is possible for a man to disinherit his wife and children entirely and to leave all his property to strangers In nowhere else in the world, it is stated, does such a power exist except in England, Ireland, and certain of the British colonies.

The evils of such a system, it is declared, are so manifest that it would be an insult to those to whom the petition is addressed to make mention of them. Therefore the Equal Franchise League is requesting the legislature of British Columbia to passwithout delay an act abolishing such power entirely, and suggesting that the law of British Columbia on this point should be made the same as that of Scotland and the other countries which are under the Roman law.

The law of Scotland is as follows:—

1. When a man leaves both wife and children he must leave one third of his estate to his wife and one third to his children, and may dispose of the rest as he pleases.

2. Where a man leaves a wife but no children, he must leave half to his wife, and may leave the rest as he pleases.

3 Where he leaves children but no wife, he must leave half to his children, and may leave the rest as he pleases.

The League, in submitting the resolution, takes for granted that the testamentary power of a woman will be limited in a similar manner.

The League has also forwarded to Victoria a resolution supporting the movement to grant the franchise to Hindoos and naturalized Japanese. The resolution points out that though they have never been given the franchise in British Columbia, they have it elsewhere in Canada. How, the petition asks, can these men, of whom there are a great number in the province, and who will spend their lives and eventually die here, be expected to become good citizens and follow the Canadian mode of living, unless they are given the rights of Canadians? The government is therefore asked to give the franchise on the same terms as to white men and women.

Another resolution from the League deals with the rights of a mother to her own children. As the law stands at present the mother of a legitimate child has no right over him or her during the lifetime of the father. As the experience of many American states has proven that the mother is as capable of guarding the child as the father, the League requests that legislation be passed making fathers and mothers joint guardians of the persons and propety of their children.

Mr. Crawford, sr., of Crawford's Falls, is seriously ill in Hospital from the effects of a fall in his house about a couple of weeks ago, when he struck the back of his head.

The Consumers' League of Vancouver is taking up the problem of the possible labour shortage at picking time in the fruit districts, principally in the Okanagan, and has set to work to organize a body of 3000 women and girls who will be conveyed to the interior at special rates to help gather the crops.

Under the provisions of a new immigration law of the United States all Canadians crossing the border in order to take up residence in the States will be subject to a head tax which has been increased from $4.00 to $8.00. Under the old law Canadian immigrants were not classified as foreign. The new law becomes effective on May 1st next. Persons only on a trip will have their money refunded to them on their return.

Thirty-nine are known to be dead and nearly a hundred and fifty injured with a property loss of two millions, as the result of a tornado which swept over Southern Indiana last Friday.

Annual Meeting of W. A. of St. Michael's Church

The Womans' Auxiliary of St. Michaels' church held their 13th annual meeting on Friday 16th March. Corporate communion was celebrated by Archdeacon Greene in the morning, who gave a very helpful and earnest address. A most successful business meeting was held in the parish hall in the afternoon when 36 members gathered together to hear the reports read and were all gratified to learn the year's work had been most encouraging in spite of many difficulties arising from the departure of many old members on account of the war.

The following list of officers were elected for 1917: President Mrs. DuMoulin, 1st Vice President Mrs. W. M. Crawford, 2nd Vice President Mrs. W. G. Benson, Sec.-Treas., Mrs. D. W. Crowley, Corres.-Sec. Mrs. Ellis Murdock, Dorcas Sec. Mrs. Poole, Leaflet Sec., Mrs. J. W. Ferguson, Thank-offering Sec, Miss Edgehill.

The hospital staff have been kept pretty busy lately, necessitating the services of extra helpers. Among the present inmates are Mrs. Galbraith and Mr. W. Crawford (of the falls), both of whom are progressing favorably.

Miss Buchanan has this week received another shipment of smart hats for Easter.

The dance at the new school at the O.K. Mission in aid of the Red X, has been fixed for April 12th at 8.30. Mr. H. Todd Boyd has kindly consented to help with the music and a good attendance is hoped for in view of the cause.

The local merchants have decided to close their stores in observance of Easter Monday. This is a departure from the custom in Kelowna and shoppers are asked to take note of it.

Hon. M. A. Macdonald brought in an amendment Tuesday to the Provincial Elections Act, repealing the Bowser woman suffrage act passed last year. It gives women the same rights as men. It extends the court of revision until the third Monday in June and extends the time for applications to get on the voters' list until the fifth Monday in April.

Says a German despatch: "The Kaiser has been advised to take a complete rest, owing to the return of his old throat trouble, through exposure and overwork. Otherwise an operation on the larynx will be necessary. It is reported that the Kaiser is seriously ill.

An army of 150,000, made up entirely of Germans, is being formed in Mexico to seize the Mexican government, confiscate American and British property and make war on the United States, according to what is believed to be trustworthy information.

Rumors which have been in circulation for several days of the landing of Germans in Scotland or at a place on the English coast, were contradicted in the House of Commons by Chancellor Bonar Law who said that so far as it was possible to give any reason for the origin of the rumors, they probably were due to the fact that the home defense troops had been told to be ready for an emergency. This often happeded, but in the present instance it created an unusual commotion.

Now is the Time to Fight Fire Blight

The following timely reminders regarding the control of the dreaded orchard disease of "Fire-blight" have been handed in by Mr. Ben Hoy, the provincial horticulturist for the district, in the hope of arousing growers to more energetic efforts towards its eradication in the neighborhood.

The blossoming season is rapidly approaching, and for efficient work in controlling Fire-blight all blight infections must be cut out during the next three weeks. This is most essential in order to guard against a severe outbreak of the disease. A few canker left may result in the infection of the entire neighborhood. It is the duty of every orchardist to make a tree to tree inspection of his orchard and remove all blight infections. Any grower neglecting this work is distinctly an enemy to the welfare of the fruit growing community.

SPRING CUTTING BEFORE BUDS HAVE STARTED

In removing small twigs and branches, cut at least three inches below the line of demarkation between healthy and diseased area. Disinfect all cuts with corrosive sublimate, 1 to 1000.

Where cankers are on branches up to three-quarters or one inch in diameter, it is usually best to cut off the branches, especially on trees over three years old. In order to cut the bar far enough away from the dead area in branches of this size, it is almost necessary to girdle the branch, and so render it useless. Cankers on large limbs can be taken out and the limbs saved by cutting the bark away to the sap-wood. Always cut the bark away at least two inches above and below the infection, and at least an inch from the sides, making sure you are back to healthy sound tissue. Disinfect the wound with corrosive sublimate and paint it with white lead. In painting have the paint thick enough so that it will not run down the tree.

In cutting away diseased water sprouts and suckers from the root, always dig down and see that there is no infection at the root. In case of any twigs, suckers, water sprouts, etc. coming from big limbs, being infected all the way to the base of the twig, but apparently not into the limb, it is always well to cut away the bark around the base and disinfect well, so that there is no danger of leaving any of the germs to carry the disease over.

Cankers on the roots are treated the same as those on the branches above the ground. Wherever there has been any diseased suckers or water sprouts at the base of the tree, the soil should be dug away and the roots examine for hold-over cankers.

In cutting out branches in the top of the tree every effort should be made to avoid leaving large stubs. Even if it is necessary to cut back another foot or so it is better to bring the tree to a lateral branch. This will tend to stop sucker growth and make a better shaped tree.

CORROSIVE SUBLIMATE

Corrosive sublimate may be bought in tablet form from any drug store and the druggist will give directions as to the necessary number of tablets and amount of water to use to make up a mixture of one part corrosive sublimate to 1000 parts of water. This varies with the size of the tablets.

The solution should never be carried in metal containers; always use a glass one. One of the handiest ways of carrying this solution is to carry it in a small flask in the hip pocket. A small sponge can be carried in the left hand attached to a string on the wrist, so that when necessary to use the hand it can be let hang from the wrist in easy reach when needed again. Keep the sponge thoroughly soaked in the solution, and swab over the tool and cut after each cut. The solution is poison and should be kept out of the reach of children and animals.

A new camp of Canadians has been established in Kent.

It is stated that President Wilson is at work on a plan for a separate peace with Austria.

The F. C. Bantams have established record in overseas transportation, taking only eighteen days from the time of breaking camp in Victoria to the time of taking up camp in Purfleet, Essex, England, including a three day stay at Halifax. The troopship on which they sailed was only four hours behind the liner Laconia when she was sunk by a German submarine, and when news reached them by wireless, there was great manoeuvring of the ship by the officers, who brought her into port in safety.

Orders for Local Scouts

Kelowna Troop
Troop First; Self Last

Edited by Pioneer. Mar. 27, 1917

Orders by command for week ending 7th April, 1917.

DUTIES: Orderly patrol for week, Curlews; next for duty, Wolves.

Parades: The combined troop will parade at the club room on Wednesday, the 4th of April, at 7.15 p.m., rehearsal of signalling and staff physical drill etc. On Saturday of this week there will be a parade of the combined troop at the club room at 2.30 p.m., when every scout in the troop will have to try to do the mile at scouts' pace in the prescribed 12 minutes.

We would ask each scout to let his patrol leader know immediately whether he wishes to take advantage of the Easter holidays in endeavouring to pass his "hike" test for the first-class badge, or whether he would prefer to go on a troop picnic. Let your leader know immediately and can we then decide what we shall do. The Easter holiday gives a splendid chance though of trying the "hike" test and doubtless several of the troop will take advantage of the holiday to try. A scout must go on foot, row a boat or paddle a canoe, alone or with another scout, to a point 7 miles away and return again, or if conveyed by any vehicle (railway and automobiles not allowed) or animal, must go a distance of 15 miles and back (mileage in a city not counted). He must write a short report (not essay) of the journey, showing observation, self-reliance and initiative, and should take two days for the journey.

A great many people have been wondering as to the reason for the great retreat of the Germans on the Somme Front. We, at any rate, have no doubts as to the real reason for all of this! Scout Robert Stillingfleet has enlisted in the B.C. Horse, with the intention of learning to play the bugle and then becoming bugler for the detachment of 2nd C.M.R.'s at Vernon. We are only sorry that Scout Stillingfleet is not close enough to the Germans at the present time to enable them to hear his blasts on the bugle, which we are sure would make them run faster than ever. We shall miss our "Bob" very much indeed, especially at camp, but perhaps he will be able to get leave this year for sufficient time to be able to join us again. He made quite a reputation last year in scaling rocky slopes, and as rear guard of the mountain squad.

On Friday of this week at 7.15 the smaller members of the troop will have a basket ball match, and at 8 o'clock the bigger boys. If you want to play you must be there on time.

Below are the remaining Supplementary rules for British Columbia.

Leaders and Seconds. All patrol leaders and seconds must be at least second class scouts, and must pass annually a qualifying examination in second class and tenderfoot work.

Annual Camp. No boy must be allowed to go to the annual camp unless he is an enrolled and registered scout.

Examinations. All applications for examinations must be made through the patrol leaders, who will make the necessary arrangements.

Certificates of passing must be signed by the examined, and endorsed by the scoutmaster. These certificates must then be handed to the troop secretary.

All orders for badges sent to Provincial Headquarters must be endorsed by the Hon. Secretary of the local Association.

Attendance. A scout should always obtain leave of absence from his patrol leader, when for any reason he is, or was, unable to be present with his patrol.

When leave of absence is required for an extended period, the leave should be endorsed by the scoutmaster.

Boys who do not consider it their duty to be present with their patrol, or who put their own wishes first and their duty to their patrol last, are not wanted in any patrol or in any troop.

Warrant officers and non-warrant officers who tolerate such boys will never make a success of troop or patrol.

PERSISTENCY

A TRUE sportsman does not stop hunting because he missed the first shot. Quite the contrary—he is more determined than ever. Same with a TOMATO GROWER—he must persist until he succeeds. Anything worth doing at all is worth trying again. The foundation of good Tomatoes is Campbell's Quality of Plants. They are in a class by themselves—nothing just like them.

TOWN AND COUNTRY NOTES

Chief Thomas returned Saturday from a trip to the coast.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Elder and family left yesterday morning for Lang, Sask.

Mr. and Mrs. R. J. Gourlay left Tuesday for Winnipeg after a visit to Kelowna. Mrs. Gourley is a dughter of Mr. S. V. Bray.

Mr. E. J. Cochran, who is in temporary charge at the Bank of Montreal during the absence of Mr. P. DuMoulin, was a visitor to Vancouver yerterday.

George Swordy, Jas. Favelle, and Tom Davy have joined up this week with the 2nd C.M.R. Recruiting officer E. W. Wilkinson has opened a temporary recruiting office in the Crowley block.

A new travelling library has just been received by the Farmers' Institute, and gifts of books to form a permanent library have been received from Messrs, G. A. Melville, G. A. Fisher and W. G. Bennett. Will friends note that there is still plenty of room on the shelves for other gift books.

In an effort to secure accurate information regarding the labour required in the district during the coming season, so as to make provision against a possible shortage, the United Farmers have issued printed forms to the farmers of the district which they are requested to fill in and return to the secretary Mr. R. L. Dalglish. The form provides space for stating the probable labour required for the different months from April to October. The circular is also designed to secure a reliable estimate of the crop of fruit and vegetables which may be looked for, so that arrangements can be made with the C.P.R. to provide cars sufficient for moving it and obviate the tie-up which has caused much loss to growers in the past.

Evening of Good Music Promised for Good Friday

After many long evenings of practising under that very able wielder of the baton, Mrs. F. A. Pedlar, L.R.A.M., the local choir organized for the occasion, are announcing their intention of rendering a generous part of Handel's famous oratorio, "The Messiah," in the Methodist church (kindly loaned by the United Churches committee), on the evening of Good Friday, at 8 o'clock.

The programme, now in the hands of the printer, is a long one and contains inter alia, such favorite choruses as "Hallelujah;" "Who is the King of Glory?" "Worthy is the Lamb," and "Behold the Lamb of God"; whilst the many solo parts will be sustained by Mrs. F. A. Pedlar, Mrs. J. H. Trenwith and Miss H. Ellis, sopranos, Miss D. C. Caldwell, alto, Mr. F. Pedlar, tenor, and Mr. E. C. Radford, bass. Miss E. Jones will be at the piano, Mr. H. Tod Boyd at the organ, and Mr. Drury Pryce at the violin.

A short interval will be called at the close of the "Messiah," after which the soloists and musicians will render a short miscellaneous programme. Tickets (25c) are now on sale.

Mr. Jas. Fisher is an arrival in town this week from Sask.

Mr. J. E. Reekie left Monday on a visit to Victoria.

F. R. E. DeHart was a visitor to Vernon yesterday.

Mr. R. Munson left yesterday morning on a visit to Old, Alta.

Miss Hayward, of Summerland, has been on a visit this week to Mrs. Fumerton, returning Tuesday.

Recruits for the Foresters Battalion this week are Eugene Neumeyer, Claude Osterbauer, and John McGarrity.

Rutland News

(From our own Correspondent.)

The Girls' Enterprise Club are busy these days with Red Cross work. The last meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Fleming.

Private Elwood Fleming, of the Army Medical Corps, returned to Victoria Tuesday, his period of leave having expired.

In view of the approaching departure of the Clever family for Saskatchewan a surprise party met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. Schell to take leave of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Clever. The members of the Women's Institute presented Mrs. Clever with a brass jardiniere as a token of appreciation of the good work she has done as president of that organization, while on Saturday Earl Clever was the recipient of a handsome briar pipe in a case, given by some friends who gathered at Clarence Duncan's. There were many expressions of regret at their leaving the district, and hopes for their success in the new home to which they were going. Mr. and Mrs. Clever left by Wednesday morning's boat.

ELLISON BOY KILLED

The news which came in last Saturday morning that Clarence Whittaker had been killed in the trenches came as a great shock, especially to Ellison and Rutland people, to whom he was well known. Only a few days before word had been received that he had been slightly wounded in the wrist, and apparently the wound had been of such a nature as to permit of his returning almost immediately to his duty in the trenches.

The young man whose name has thus been added to the lengthening roll of those who have given their lives in their country's service was the only son of Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Whittaker, who have been resident in Ellison for a number of years. He was only nineteen years of age, having joined the local contingent about a year ago. He had been a pupil of Kelowna High School and was well liked by his fellow students. Always to the fore in the games and sports of the boys he took a keen interest in the school baseball league.

The keenest sympathy is felt with Mr. and Mrs. Whittaker in their great loss.

May Effect Removal of Sir Richard McBride

It is understood, on what appears to be excellent authority, that the govesnment has planned to bring down a special act to dismiss Sir Richard McBride, agent-general for British Columbia in London. It is presumed that some man already on the ground in London will be appointed to act in the meantime, or until a permanent policy regarding the London offices is decided upon by the government. This permanent policy will possibly include a sale or lease of the new British Columbia building in the Empire's metropolis. In the coming spring a permanent appointment may be made.

Some light seems to be breaking into the mystery of the Germany retirement. Their strategy seemed to consist of a desire to find a safer spot—which is is the explanation of most retreats.

A Zeppelin returning from England where it had been taking part in a raid, was brought down in France on Saturday. The airship fell from a great height a blazing mass of flames, and the crew were burned to death.

Sir Robert Borden and his colleagues lunched with King George at Buckingham palace yesterday.

French Pressing on Heels of German Retreat

Military experts express their admiration for the marvellous speed with which General Nivelle has moved in following up every advantage of the German retreat, and in forcing the enemy, in spite of his carefully laid plans, to give way before the tremendous pressure of the French forces. In the meantime, on the British front, the fighting is still of the open variety, as opposed to the masses of men now coming to grips in the French sectors. The British are still forging ahead, cavalry and armored cars incessantly harassing the retreating Germans. Weather conditions continue the main obstacle to swifter progress.

Pauline Paul Parthene, the world's champion Holstein cow, owned by R. J. Schaefer of Wisconsin, is dead.

A postmortem examination showed that a darning needle had pierced the heart. Two years ago the animal gave 2888 pounds of butter. She was thirteen years old and won every prize for which she had been entered for some years.
