Council Meeting Monday Morning

Fix Tax Sale for Wednesday, October 10th

The city council held a meeting Monday morning at which Ald. W. C. Duggan presided, Mayor Sutherland being unable to remain owing to another engagement. There was little business, however, and the meeting was brief, being followed immediately by the sitting of the municipal Court of Revision.

Included in the correspondence was a letter from the Rev. J. Ferguson Miller, of Penticton, secretary of the Union Sunday Schools of that city which organized the picnic to Kelowna on Thursday, July 12th, thanking the council for the use of the city park for the day's outing. It was mentioned that one of the party had had the misfortune to break the pedestal of one of the drinking fountains during a race, and the writer requested that he be informed of the cost of repairing same.

The clerk stated that an estimate had been received of $42 for renewing the porcelain pedestal, but in order to ascertain if there was any cheaper way of making the repairs, Ald. Rogerson was requested to make inquiries.

Ald. Duggan reported on behalf of the light and water committee that it had been decided to recommend to the council that the salaries of the second and third engineers at the Power House be increased. This meeting with the approval of the council a resolution was put through that the salary of E. Fowler be raised to $110, and that of J. S. Wilson to $105 from the first of July.

Ald. Rattenbury reported that private loans to the council ammounting to $7500 had become due and payable, and a resolution was passed authorizing their renewal.

A resolution was also put through giving authority for the enforcement of collection of tax arrears by means of a tax sale to be held Wednesday, Oct. 10th. The last dav for payment of tax arrears so as to avoid costs and expences incident to the sale was fixed on Aug. 16th.

A list of accounts was presented by the finance committee and passed after which the meeting adjourned.

Third Anniversary of Declaration of War

A suggestion, emanating from the provincial secretarys office was read at Monday's council meeting, was to the effect that in commemoration of the third anniversary of the declaration of war, some sort of celebration and meeting of citizens should be held in accordance with a movement in the United Kingdom and elsewhere throughout the Empire.

The Central Committee for National Patriotic Organizations in London has issued a notice on the subject, containing the text of a resolution which, it is suggested, should be moved at all meetings, namely :-

"That on the anniversary of the declaration of a righteous war, this meeting records its inflexible determination to continue to a victorious end the struggle in the maintenance of those ideals of Liberty and Justice which we the common and sacred cause of the Allies."

The purport of this movement is to emphasize the unity of all the communities of the Empire in their unwavering determination to crown with victory the great cause for which the war has been undertaken.

The matter was laid on the table.

Charles Rupert Somerville and Miss Nellie Irene Elliot, both of Peachland, were married Tuesday evening in Kelowna at the parsonage, Rev. E. D. Braden officiating.

Reported Wounded But Died Same Day

Week by week adds some new name to the list of Kelowna men who have given up their lives in the war, and already the list is a formidable one. A few days ago a telegram came in to say that Pte. Alex Watt had been badly wounded. This sad to say was followed Tuesday by the news that his wounds had been of so serious a nature that he had died the same day. The case is a particularly sad one, in that he leaves a wife and three young children to mourn his loss. The youngest child he has never seen, it having been born a few weeks after he left for France with the 172nd.

James Alexander Watt was very well known and popular in the district, resided here and worked in various capacities for some 12 years.

He was of English parentage and a native of Paignton, Devonshire, where he was born 33 years ago. The greatest sympathy will go out to the bereaved wife and little ones.

Fire Warden Appointed for District

The agitation which was aroused regarding the need of a fire warden in the district, and which was brought to the attention of the Minister of Lands last Saturday has apparently borne early fruit for on Tuesday, Mr. G. C. Melrose was down from Vernon for the purpose of appointing a fire warden for the district. The choice fell upon Mr. R. D. Sullivan, than whom it would be difficult to find a better.

Mr. Sullivan knows the country for miles around Kelowna probably as well as any man here, having had a varied experience as hunter and trapper, guide, and for some time as game warden. Just now when forest fires are threatening in all directions, the appointment will give a feeling of greater security to all.

Establish Fruit Transportation Department

Mr. G. E. McIntosh of the Dominion Government Fruit Branch, was in town last week in company with R. G. L. Clarke, chief fruit inspector, who is in charge of the newly-created Transportation Department of the fruit branch.

This new branch for the encouragement of the fruit industry is devoted wholly to transportation in its various phases in relation to the fruit business, now one of Canada's chief industries.

Mr. McIntosh, who is directly under Fruit Commissioner Mr. D. Johnson, says that the government now realizes that while they have done much to assist and encourage the fruit grower in the production of fruit, the equally important phase of the industry, that of getting fruit to market, has been largely neglected. Mr. McIntosh will represent fruit growers and fruit shippers, and will take up with the transportation companies any complaint and in every way try to obtain the best service at the lowest possible cost. Where matters cannot be satisfactorily adjusted with the railway companies, questions in dispute will be placed before the Railway Comission.

Matriculation Results

In the recent High School third year examinations 6 candidates out of 15 from Kelowna passed whose names are given below. Miss Dorothy Blakey of the King Edward High School, Vancr., secured the highest number of marks, her total being 929 out of 1000, the numerical standard of the tests.

Irrigation Difficulty is Laid Before Visiting Minister of Lands

Hon. T. D. Pattullo and Water Comptroller Young Personally Investigate Unsatisfactory Local Conditions

The serious situation which has arisen in the Okanagan this year due to the partial failure of existing supplies of irrigation water to meet the needs of an unusually dry hot season, coupled with a greatly increased production, was thoroughly well ventilated last week-end during the visit of the minister of lands the Hon. T. D. Pattullo, and of the water comptroller, Mr. Wm. Young, who came in response to an urgent wire from Mr. J. W. Jones, M. P. P. Owing to the damage being done to crops by the continued drought and hot sun, and the threatened failure altogether of several of the systems to keep up the water supply, the people of the district, farmers and business men alike, have been aroused to a degree such as never before, and many of the farmers are indeed threatening to pull out of the district unless some relief is forthcoming. In consequence of this strong feeling of discontent, it was determined that the minister of lands and the water comptroller should be given a thorough understanding of the menace under which the farmers were working.

The party motored down from Vernon Friday evening and were met at the Ellison schoolhouse, where a large assembly of the farmers of the district, together with some thirty or more of the business men who had motored out from town. There was no room left for doubt as to the state of feeling at Ellison, as one after another of the farmers of the neighborhood pointed out the great financial losses which the failure of the water meant to them this year, and urged that the government bestir itself to relieve the situation.

From there the party motored down to Rutland, where in the schoolhouse a crowd which overflowed into the hallway had gathered to lay their grievances before the minister. The chair was taken by Mr. Bond, and here, too, the several speakers were very emphatic as to the seriousness of the situation which confronted them.

Mr. S. T. Elliott, who was the first speaker, apparently voiced the unanimous feeling of the meeting when he put forward a resolution asking the government to take over the storage reservoirs and main canals, leaving separate water municipalities to take over the distribution systems.

A proposal was also discussed at this meeting to afford temporary relief to the Rutland and Ellison districts by tapping the Belgo ditch and using the surplus water from that source, and a committee was appointed to enquire into the matter.

Mr. Pattullo spoke briefly at both meetings, referring to the legislation which had been passed at the last session dealing with the problem. He declined to enunciate any definite policy for the government, being there rather to hear the subject discussed by the water users themselves. Regarding the resolution for the government to take over the storage reservoirs, he could not say they would not adopt that plan but he promised that it would receive consideration.

Saturday morning was devoted to visits of inspection to the different irrigation systems, and at one o'clock a luncheon was held at the aquatic pavilion at which some sixty people were present. After partaking of cake, fruit, ice cream and other refreshments, the meeting settled down to a serious discussion of the matter in hand.

Mr. H. F. Rees, president of the Board, took the chair, and briefly recounted the purposes for which the gathering had been arranged, namely, to meet the hon. Minister of Lands and the water comptroller and discuss the critical problem arising out of the stortage of irrigation water. Although always more or less of a problem the present desperate situation had come, said Mr. Rees, like a bolt from the blue. All indications had been for a record crop this year, when the present water shortage had come to threaten the whole district with disaster. The business men were concerned as much as the farmers, and the meeting had been called to meet the Hon. Mr. Patullo and Mr. Young, to see if some plan could not be formulated to relieve the situation, and to provide against its recurrence. A resolution was submitted asking the government for assistance in providing immediate relief and also calling upon the government to take over the storage reservoirs and main canals. This was moved by Mayor D. W. Sutherland who remarked that the visit of the Minister of Lands at this time was fully appreciated, especially as he believed it was the first time a minister of the crown had visited the district apart from election times. The seriousness of the irrigation problem, he believed, had never been thoroughly understood by the government, nor had they fully grasped the size or capabilities of the valley, or something would have been done long ago. He estimated the total crop of the district this year as 5,000 cars and it was highly important that this large quantity of produce should not be lost to the nation. It was not merely a matter of individual farmers, nor even merely a provincial matter. It was a nation-wide matter as most of the vegetable crop was being evaporated for the feeding of the allies.

Mayor Sutherland attributed much of the indifference of the government to the fact that this was an unorganized district. An organized district would have got its own taxes and had sufficient to maintain its roads, &c. We did not and our roads were in a deplorable condition. The taxes were large, too, much of the land being assessed at $300 to $500 per acre, so that what we ask the government to do is our right and not something we are begging for. The district had a right to expect the government to take hold of the irrigation problem.

Speaking of the Agricultural Credits Act Mayor Sutherland maintained that it was little use lending a farmer money if his land was unproductive from lack of water. He could not repay the money. If the government had to rectify the conditions created by shortage of water probably the loans would not be required.

He agreed that it was quite right for the government to keep expenditure within its revenue, but here was a matter of necessary capital expenditure —there was no reason why the government should not borrow money to take over irrigation storage reservoirs and main canals. Such an outlay would be self-supporting and revenue-producing, and a legitimate purpose for borrowing money.

The farmers had put up with the present conditions a long time, for they were long-suffering. If they had not been they would have been in rebellion before this. He trusted the government would see that immediate attention was given to it.

Mr. D. Leckie who seconded the resolution said that it was because the irrigation problem was a serious matter and would cost a lot of money that the government had dodged it so far. But it had become so important and necessary that something had to be done. There were many difficulties in the way, but the beginning and the end of them was that people who had bought the land and paid for water were not getting it, and they looked to the government as the only ones capable of relieving the necessities of these people. For if they were not relieved it was going to mean the ruin of the whole valley. There were many conflicting and it would be impossible to please everybody, but the farmers were the first to be considered.

Every year the trouble was repeated, some years worse than others, but this year the continued drought had brought matters to a head. The people had been suffering patiently for a long time but now they were going to roar and roar, and roar, until they got satisfaction. The successive members of the government in the past had promised to give serious consideration, but that was as far as they had got. He hoped that as the present minister was giving his personal consideration to the problem it meant that he would deliver the goods.

The resolution was carried unanimously with a standing vote.

A further resolution proposed by Mr. L. E. Taylor and seconded by Mr. M. Hereron asked for the appointment ot a fire warden in the district, pointing out the danger to the water supply through dastruction of the timber on the watersheds if these were lef unguarded.

The Hon. Mr. Pattullo being called upon to speak said he was pleased the gathering had been called under the auspices of the

Old Hand Fire Engine is Interesting Relic

Dates Back to San Francisco's Early Days

Judging by a letter recently received by the city council the old hand fire engine which has reposed for many years in a tumbledown shed next to the fire hall on Water street is again to become the subject of negotiations, as the fire department of San Francisco, to which city the engine originally belonged, is showing a disposition to make tentative offers for its possession.

This old pump which at present looks like a mere heap of useless junk buried deep in dirt and cobwebs, is in reality a most interesting relic, and a link with the days when the west was really "wild and woolly" and steam engines and railroads had not come to drive away romance. It was San Francisco's first fire engine.

In the early days when first the golden magnet was bringing the crowds from all parts of the world to make a city of 'Frisco, the flimsily built houses and stores run up in hundreds made the frequent outbreaks of fire the citizens' greatest terror and to put them out was everybody's business.

Fire-fighting was made a popular sport, and the rivalry between the different "fire companies" would make a modern baseball league look like a reading circle by comparison. Men who had made fortunes in the mines and were ready to spend them threw themselves into the game and money was lavished on all kinds of equipment. A fire alarm was the signal for gay outfits with firemen in gorgeous uniforms from all parts of the city to issue forth and endeavor to break the last record to the scene of the conflagration and the accidents arising from the race were sometimes more serious than the fire itself.

Kelowna's old hand pump belongs to the beginning of that era and naturally the western city is anxious to get it back. It has had an adventurous career, being sold first to New Westminster, no doubt to make room for some more ornate equipment. Then Vernon acquired it and finally a few of the residents of Kelowna in 1903, before the city was incorporated, subscribed $200 and bought the engine and a hundred feet of hose.

Primitive as the concern now looks it has done good service, the last occasion being when the sawmill burnt down in 1905. As the pump does not really belong to the city it is necessary to seek the opinion of those of the original subscribers who remain before it can be sold. It is likely if the deal is made that the proceeds will go to some public institution.

Iced Car Service For Small Shipments

In order to entirely cover local shipments of fruit and other goods from the Okanagan valley, the Canadian Pacific Railway has inaugurated an iced car service for less than carload lots in refrigerator cars. These cars are available at all points between Okanagan Landing and Sicamous for loading to Calgary and Edmonton and to Calgary and Macleod on Tuesday and Saturday each week and from the same points to Vancouver on Tuesday only.

The operation of these cars throughout the valley should be taken advantage of in order to stimulate small producers and at the same time stimulate better service generally.

Mr. A. Bishop left for Saskatoon Monday.

Mrs. Eric Dart left this morning on a visit to Toronto.

Mrs. Sweney and son were passengers for Vancouver this morning.

The visit of the Hon. T. D. Pattullo, and the Comptroller of Water, Mr. Wm. Young last week end, could scarcely have been more opportune, and it is certain that no Minister of Lands has ever before had impressed upon him so forcibly the urgent nature of the irrigation problem which confronts the valley. It is true that neither minister nor his lieutenant committhemselves very definitely as to the probable action the government will take, or indeed as to whether the government will take any immediate action. One thing is sure, however, lack of information regarding the true position of affairs can not be pleaded as an excuse for putting the matter aside any longer. Both Mr. Pattullo and Mr. Young were given ample opportunity to view the situation from all angles, and to realize to the full what failure of water supply would mean to a rich and fertile district capable of producing untold wealth with proper treatment.

To say that the whole future of the valley hinges upon the correct solution of the problem is only to repeat what everyone here knows only too well, but which it is to be feared has not hitherto been fully grasped by outsiders unfamiliar with the peculiarities of an irrigated district. The problem is a big one and must be handled in a comprehensive way by big men. The inevitable magnitude of any undertaking to give adequate supply of water and the complexity of the rights and interests involved are sufficient to scare any narrow-guage politicians from tackling it. One thing is certain that any feeble dabbling with it can only make matters worse. Of this even this week we have had an object lesson in the complete failure to afford temporary relief by using a surplus of water from one system to offset a shortage in another. Threatened rights, possible damage, and lack of coordination amonst water users at once bristled up like a row of bayonets standing in the way of any such small scheme. It is abundantly clear that the whole matter must be handled as a unit, and only the government is big enough and sufficiently far above petty interests to undertake it. The competition for water from all sides has grown so much of late years that the day of the small system is past. It is just as impossible to-day for any community of farmers to get together and solve their own troubles as it would be for any of the allied nations to break loose and fight its own battles. Not only might the smaller nation perish in the attempt but even if successful its possible success might endanger the cause for the rest.

And what is more, delay is dangerous. The present year is of course somewhat exceptional, but we might have a series of exceptional years, which would cripple the valley beyond recovery. The people of the whole Okanagan should not let this matter rest for an instant until action is secured.

Orders for Local Scouts

Kelowna Troop
Troop First; Self Last

Edited by Pioneer. July 24th, 1917

We are sorry that we again have to refer to the camp diaries but there are still fourteen scouts who have yet failed to hand them in, distributed as follows: from the Beavers 1; the Wolves 4; the Eagles 5, and the Otters 4. Next week and until they are all handed in we shall give the names of the delinquents. Only one leader has handed his in and not one of the seconds. Leaders and seconds are responsible for the carrying out of orders by the members of their patrols, and the first step in connection with this responsibility is to carry out the orders themselves. These diaries were all written in camp so we are not throwing any additional burdens upon anyone during busy times. Practically every member of the troop is now out working somewhere, which is a good thing when, as now, every hand is required to get in the harvest of the country and for the work incident to the harvest.

* * *

The Regatta this year is being held on Thursday, the 9th of August, with field sports, races of all kinds, &c., in the morning, and the aquatic sports in the afternoon. It is hoped that a prize will be given to the district or organization winning the most points.

As there are practically no men left to compete in the events it should be a great day for the younger generation, and we should have a good chance to win the above prize. We shall want teams for the relay race and for the land boat race, so shall be glad if all of you who can enter for any of the events will let us know at once. We hope that we shall be able to put entries in practically every event. That depends upon every member of the troop, however, and let us be good sports anyway and help to make the day a success. It is up to us to do our level best.

We also propose to put on an exhibition of life-saving from drowning and we should like to have a few volunteers for this. An old "josher" has informed us that he intends to take his wife out for a canoe paddle on the afternoon of regatta day, and as we know that he knows nothing about a canoe and neither he nor his wife can swim, our services are almost bound to be required.

* * *

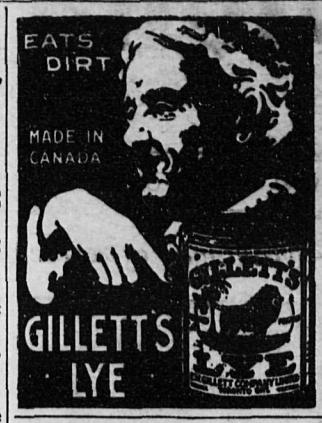
At camp the Rescuer's badge was won by P. L. Godfrey Groves, and the Swimmer's badge by the following, Scouts E. Hunter G. Mantle, I. Thomas and E. Small. the latter also completed his tests for the Second Class badge, and the following also passed their swimming test for the First Class badge, Seconds L. DuMoulin and B. Davis, and Scouts Ralph Weddell, C Rowcliffe, C. Copeland, L. Gaddes, N. Marshall, S. Whitehead, also all those named above who passed their swimmers badge.

P. Ls, Groves and Parkinson also passed most of the tests for the Cooks badge, and Scout Mantle for the Ambulance badge.

* * *

The holidays are a splendid time for passing tests, and as the competition for the shield does not end until the 1st of September, you all have a good chance to help out your patrol by giving it the marks to which one is entitled by passing the various tests. Every scout in the troop should have his Swimmer's and Rescuer's badges. Do not put it off until the end of the season though, because the water does not tend to get warmer from now on. Last year some of them waited until October,

Postal authorities will be asked to prohibit "window" envelopes, using either hole in the envelope to show on the communication inside or a transparency for the same purpose, according to a resolution passed by the Postal Clerk's Association this week. Hundreds of "window" letters do not show the address through the aperture, they claim, and envelopes with holes to show address are torn and catch other letters while passing through the stamp-cancelling machines.



Western Farmers Receive Medals For Exhibits

Within the last few days a number of farmers in western Canada have received medals and diplomas for their agricultural produce exhibited at the San Francisco Fair in 1915. The exhibits were made under the auspices of the Canadian Pacific Railway, which itself had its own building and largd display on the grounds, for which it was awarded a gold medal. The successful farmers and the medals awarded are as follows:—

A. L. Fryberger, Gem, Alta., gold medal for speltz; P. C. Hansen, Pincher Creek, Alta., gold medal for wheat; Arthur Perry, Cardston, Alta., gold medals for wheat, oats and barley, and silver medal for grasses; N. Taitinger, Claresholm, Alta., gold medals for barley and wheat; J. T. Worthington, Olds, Alta., gold medal for wheat and silver medal for flax; A. E. Barnes, Nemiskam, Alta., silver medal for oats; S. G. Hagen, Winterburn, Alta., silver medal for oats; T. Maynard, Deloraine, Man. silver medal for wheat; Jos. R. Peterson, Raymond, Alta., silver medal for timothy. Amongst the British Columbia exhibitors medals and diplomas were awarded to Stirling & Pitcairn, of Kelowna, Mrs. Jack McGregor, of Peachland and James Johnstone, of Nelson.

Each of the exhibitors received diplomas with their medals. Although the distribution of medals, for unavoidable causes, is somewhat delayed, it comes at this time when the eyes of the world are turned upon the food producing countries as a vivid reminder of western Canada's capabilities in that direction.

Asks Women to Abandon Styles

A movement is being started among Vancouver women to bring about the abandonment of styles, and the Council of Women is bringing the matter before the attention of its members. It is felt by many women leaders that, in view of the growing need for war economy, clothing should not be discarded just because it is "out of style."

The women's committee of the Defence Council of the United States has just launched an appeal to the women of that country to "wear the clothes you have, so that man-power now engaged in feminine fads and fripperies may be released for real war service."

It asks them to "allow the unenlightened men to find fault with you," and strongly condemns the insistence of women on "something exclusive to tickle her vanity and arouse envy in the next-door neighbor's house."

Near the town of Tsingyuan, China, a large irrigation project is being carried out. Canals have been dug running for 25 or 30 miles into the neighbouring districts, and a temporary dam has been thrown across the Fen river, which has been wholly diverted into the irrigating ditches.

The Ford Is Economical

THE average man can easily afford a Ford car. It is the most inexpensive car to drive.

20 to 25 miles on a gallon of gasoline is an every-day occurence. 33 miles is frequently reported by Ford owners. Yearly repair expenses of less than one dollar are not unusual. The car is light in weight, and tires give more mileage on a Ford than on any other car.

You can buy a Ford for yourself and one for your wife for the price of one car at $1000. You can run both Fords at about the same expense as for one large, heavier car.

You can always sell a 'used' Ford at a good price. You have to accept a big reduction for a "used" larger car.

Go and take a ride in the 1917 model. See how comfortable it is. And stylish, too—stream line effect, tapered hood, crown fenders, beautiful finish. You need one for business. Your wife and children need one for pleasure and health.

A CARLOAD of the celebrated Adams Wagons due to arrive the first week in August. Do not place your order anywhere else until you have seen them.

Here are a few Reasons why you should purchase an Adams Wagon:

BECAUSE they are made of the very best materials, and Canadian made throughout.

BECAUSE they have stood the test of time.

BECAUSE the pieces of wood that go into an Adams Wagon are piled in the weather for SEVEN YEARS before going into the dry kiln, and from there go into the wagon.

BECAUSE the gears are all clipped instead of bolted.

BECAUSE they have all got steel tires of legal width to carry loads up to three tons, and because they are the best wagons in Canada and the cheapest in the end.

TOWN AND COUNTRY NOTES

Mrs. Saunders was a passenger to Vernon Wednesday.

Mr. Albert Mart was a passenger for Gull Lake, Sask., this week.

Dr. B. R. Isley, government veterinary inspector, is down from Armstrong for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. McKinney, of Claresholm, Alta., are visiting friends in the district this week.

Mrs. A. B. Currie, and Miss G. Warr, from Salmon Arm, are staying at the Palace this week.

Mr. and Mrs. J. B. Wallace of Vernon are down from Vernon for a few days.

Mr. Horace Nelson from Grand Forks has taken the position of teller at the Bank of Commerce.

Pte. Geo. L. Ormsby of Lumby, who has lately returned from the front on three months leave is visiting in town this week.

Mr. W. H. Stevens, district supt. of the government telegraph service, was in town Monday and Tuesday. His son accompanied him.

Miss G. Goldsmid, of Vancouver, who has been through the valley writing up the "fruit-pickers" for the Province, was in town yesterday.

On Tuesday afternoon Mrs. W. D. Harvey accompanied by her daughter Mrs. Latimer, went to the coast on a short visit to Mrs. S. Currie another daughter of the former.

Mr. and Mrs. George Raymer desire to express their thanks for the many expressions of sympathy extented to them during their recent bereavement.

The Poultry Association have been obliged to move their store of feed etc., the warehouse they were renting, having been purchased by the B.C. Growers, Ltd. They have taken space for the present in the Minns Block on Ellis St.

Mr. Gordon Dinning of the Bank of Commerce, left Friday last for Princeton. Mr. Dinning was a very popular young man in town, and will be much missed. He was a very active member of the Fire Brigade, and has done useful work in that connection. He was also lately secretary of the Tennis Club, and foremost in most of the sports which are left to us these times.

With reference to the Farmers' Institute potatoe and corn competitions Mr. H. O. English writes that he is planning to have a crop judge visit Kelowna about the end of July to score potatoe competitions. In corn plots it has been arranged that no points will be given for freedom from suckers, as it is felt that this is an unnecessary and uncommercial expense. It is expected that both crops will be judged before September 12th. Mr. Hoy is now judging the onion competition (first survey). Competitors in all these crops should have plots staked by now.

Late last Friday night the fire brigade was called out to what turned out to be another bush and grass fire on the north side of the town near Cawston Avenue. Someone had apparently set fire to a pile of brush and this had spread in the wind to the dry grass around. Owing to the distance from the nearest hydrant it was impossible to reach the fire by laying hose, so there was nothing for it but to beat it out with wet sacks. This took some time but, with the aid of the chemical extinquishers from the truck it was at last accomplished. It should be unnecessary to point out the extreme danger of starting a fire of any kind out of doors at the present time when everything is dry as tinder.

Miss D. Evans returned from Penticton Monday.

Miss Gowen left for the hot springs Tuesday morning

Charlie Nichol is getting around again after his recent accident.

Mrs. Boyer and Cedric returned yesterday from a visit to the coast.

Mrs. W. Mitchell and boy came down from Vernon Saturday.

Messrs. Lawson, Ltd. expect to be moving into their new store next Monday and Tuesday.

Mr. F. Varney of the power house went up to Vernon yesterday to take his examination for second-class papers.

A cleverly-staged movie drama "The Whip" filled the picture theatre last evening to its capacity. The film provided lots of excitement and was well worth seeing.

Miss Jenny Stephens took leave of a very numerous array of friends this week preparatory to starting on an adventurous journey to Toronto, where she has determined to seek her fortune. Miss Jenny's bright smile will no doubt win her new friends in the eastern city, and we wish her the best of good luck.

The Third Annual Flower Show in connection with the Kelowna Woman's Institute will be held in the Aquatic Pavilion on the 4th of August. A good prize list has been prepared and copies may be obtained from Mrs. L. V. Rogers, Mrs. J. B. Knowles or Miss Reekie. Refreshments will be served and the proceeds, together with gate receipts will be divided between Red Cross and hospital aid.

Special Red Cross Benefit at Pictures

By special arrangement with Mrs. Raymer half of the entire proceeds of Saturdays picture shows are to be devoted to the Red Cross. Don't forget this and see that the house is kept well filled.

Kelowna Lady Passes Away

The death took place on Sunday last of Mrs. Turnbull wife of Mr. Thos. Turnbull, of Burne Ave. The deceased lady who was 69 years of age had been suffering for some months with a form of heart trouble, which apparently reached a climax Thursday last, when following a sudden seizure she gradually became unconscious, sinking until the end came Sunday. The funeral took place Monday at the Kelowna Cemetery. In addition to her husband she is survived by a family of three sons and two daughters.

The family came to this district from Edinburgh some ten years ago, taking up a farm at Glenrosa, on the west side of the lake. Lately however this has been exchanged for farm land in Alberta, where two of the sons are at present, the third son is over in France with the Canadian forces. One of the daughters is in Vernon, while the remainder of the family have resided in Kelowna for the past year or two. During the spring and early summer Mr. Turnbull himself spent some time in Alberta, but returned to Kelowna owing to his wife's continued illness.

Both here and in Westbank the family have been very highly respected by all who knew them and the deepest sympathy is felt for them in their great loss.

News of Near Neighbours

Sir Chas. Hibbert Tupper is to address a meeting in Armstrong on the occasion of the third anniversary of the war, August 4th.

Mr. O. H. Broder, who has leased the Summerland jam factory, has an order for 60,000 pounds of tomato ketchup, and also intends to can tomatoes. He is figuring on procuring four hundred tons of tomatoes in Kelowna.

A German resident of Vernon attempted suicide last week by slashing the arteries of his left arm wtih a razor. He was taken at once to the hospital and it is thought he will recover. Family troubles are said to be responsible for his rash act.

Two accidents of a somewhat similar nature occurred at Summerland last week. In the first Mr. W. C. Fosbery was hurt badly about the back and will be laid up for several weeks. While coming down the hill from Jones Flat, and almost directly in front of his own home, the rack of his wagon became disarranged and slid forward against the horses, startling them. The accident deprived Mr. Fosbery of any foot brace, and he was unable to hold the frightened horses back. Almost immediately they had gained speed, and the wagon striking a stone the jolt threw Mr. Fosbery clear of the rig and he fell heavily injuring his spinal column.

As a result of a second accident Mr. A. E. Tayler now lies in hospital with a fractured skull and broken jaw-bone. Mr. Tayler was driving a team of horses with a load of hay on the hillside from near the K.V.R. line, when the breaking of the front upright caused the load, with Mr. Tayler upon it, to slide forward on the horses, and the frightened animals at once plunged for freedom. Just how Mr. Tayler came to be so badly broken up is not known, but it is thought that the wheels of the loaded wagon passed over his head.

Lloyd George Replies to German Chancellor

Premier Lloyd George, in the course of a speech Saturday, replied at length to the pronouncement delivered on Thursday in the German Reichstag by the new German chancellor. He said that Dr. Michaelis meant that if Germany were victorious there would be annexation all around and that the military autocracy would be established more firmly than ever. The speech showed, the premier said, that those in charge of Germany's affairs had for the moment made the choice for war.

The premier said the statement of Dr. Michaelis contained phrases which would be understood by the military powers of Germany. Unless these were wiped out, he added, they would again plunge Europe into a welter of blood. He said he had read Chancellor Michaelis' speech three times, and could see in it only sham independence for Belgium, sham democracy for Germany, sham democracy for Europe. It offered no hope for Belgium. The determination of the allies is that Belgium must be restored as a free, independent people, not a German protectorate.

"We can't make peace with a Germany dominated by autocracy," declared Premier Lloyd George. "The war now becomes a struggle between two definite groups of national ideals. Significant in this respect is the news announced today of the accession of the brilliant Russian statesman, Kerensky to the leadership of Russian democracy.

"I don't wish Germany to harbor any delusion." Mr. Lloyd-George continued, "that Great Britain will be put out of the fight until full liberty has been established. I predict it will not be long before the German chancellor delivers a different kind of speech.

To Commemorate Anniversary of Confederation

The Post Office Department is issuing a post card in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of Confederation. A three-cent stamp of like nature is now in course of preparation, and is expected to be issued early in August. The post cards will give interesting statistics; while the commemorative stamp will bear a reproduction of Pliuting's "Fathers of Confederation."

He was a wise old king who, confronted by many a sorrow and bitter experience, learned the wisdom of saying to himself: "This, too, will pass!"

Mr. Herbert Samuel, M.P., announced in a speech recently that the British government intends to adopt a policy of reprisals for German air raids.

The Board of Grain Supervisors for Canada, in session in Toronto ruled that dating from August 1st, 1917, the maximum price of wheat, basis 1 Northern, in store at Fort William, shall not exceed $2.40 per bushel. This holds until further notice and applies to the balance of the present crop.

A great naval drive against the submarines is predicted by the British naval expert and critic, A. H. Pollen, to follow the appointment of Sir Eric Geddes as first of the admiralty. Sir Eric's succession as civil head of the British navy was characterized by Mr. Pollen, as "the most important single political event that has taken place since the beginning of the war."

With the most efficient agriculture in the world, Denmark is devoted almost exclusively to crops and herds. It not only obtains the highest average results per acre in the cultivation of the soil, but also uses the agricultural production as raw material for a national industry in further manufacture. It is in the finished form of butter, cheese and other food products that contain more labor value and less raw material that Denmark exports the output of its agricultural and herding industry. Two-thirds of the population are engaged in agricultural pursuits or in handling agricultural products.

Irrigation Difficulty is Laid Before Minister of Lands

Board of Trade as being a non-partizen body. He had been aware to some extent of the acuteness of the situation before he had come into the valley, concerning the beauty and fertility of which he was very enthusiastic. He could not understand how the people here had stood for such conditions so long as they had done. If he owned a ranch here he would not be able to sleep at night unless he was sure he could get water. He was glad the people here were going to roar as it was the only way they could get anything.

He was not prepared to say that the government would jump right in and put in storagereservoirs and main canals, but he promised that that solution of the problem would be considered; nor could the government immediately declare the water appurtinent to the land and put out the companies who had spent money on development. They had to fair all round.

Some people thought the government should put in reservoirs and main canals at the public expense, but he did not agree with such a policy, which would be expending public money to benefit one class at the expense of another. He referred to the financial position of the province, and to the fact that the borrowing of money at the present time was almost impossible and was likely to become more so owing to the embargo which the United States was putting upon the purchase of Canadian securities.

He assured his audience, however of his sympathy with the needs of the district, and promised early announcement of a policy which would ensure an edequate supply of water.

With regard to the request for a fire warden, he expressed surprise that there was not such an official in the district. He promised however to take the matter up at-once by wire the same night. At the same time people would have to use much more care in preventing forest fires, or the government would have to impose heavy penalties. The forest branch at present contributed over a third of the revenue, so the necessity of protecting it would be realized.

Mr. Young took the attitude that any initial action must come from farmers themselves, who must present the problem to the government in a business-like way. As water comptroller he said, he was constantly in receipt of requests from all quarters, some of them most remarkable. A man would write to say that his creek had dried up and would he come at once, while many people seemed to expect him to marshall the rain clouds and trip them across the province at will.

The shostage in this locality he said was due to the change of method from fruit to vegetable growing, in which more water was required. The government was willing to help in every possible way, but if people were losing the money they claimed they should put their hands down into their own pockets and do something.

The rest of the day and most of Sunday was spent in visits to different localities. Mr. Young and a party from Ellison went up to the head waters of Scotty Creek, where it was found by opening up some beaver dams a small supply of water would be liberated.

On Monday the Minister of Lands and Mr. Young continued their journey south to points further down the lake, where they are to pursue their enquiries.
