Arrangements for Handling Product of Kelowna's Orchards Never Better

Cannery and Evaporators Start on Season's Pack - Lack of Labor is Serious Handicap

Never before in the history of the district has Kelowna been in such excellent shape to deal with the products of her fields and orchards as she is today. Indeed, to put it in another way, one can truthfully say that never in any previous year has so much real industrial progress been made as during the past twelve months. Knockers and pessimists please take note!

Real progress consists not in the feverish inflation of real estate values, nor in the booming of unnecessary subdivisions, but in the building up of solid staple industries, arising naturally out of the ordinary activities of the people of the district. Such industries provide not only a market for the produce of the farmer and the fruit-grower, but also labor and a pay-roll to keep the city going.

Kelowna has always from the first taken a decided lead in the Valley for the number and excellence of fruit-shipping concerns, and these have grown with each succeding year to keep pace with the great increase of production. It does not seem long, however, since at every meeting of farmers held for any purpose whatever, someone would regret the absence of a means of taking care of the surplus products which were allowed to go to waste in large quantities every year. These hopes have been realized sooner, perhaps, than was expected, and today Kelowna possesses, in addition to one of the largest and best equipped canneries in the west, two modern evaporating plants, which are capable of dealing with almost unlimited quantities of material.

INCREASED EVAPORATOR CAPACITY

The Orchard City Evaporator, of which Mr. W. B. M. Calder is the manager, has during the past few months enlarged its building by one-third, and this week is completing the installation of additional machinery which will increase its capacity to some ten tons a day. This firm deals at present exclusively with apples, producing those dried apple rings for which there is an insatiable demand in eastern cities. The excellence of the product is shown by the fact that the output of last year, the first year of operation was all sold out even before the packing of the goods was completed. The only difficulty experienced was that of procuring a sufficient quantity of fruit to keep the plant profitably employed. As will be seen by an advertisement in another column the manager is appealing to all apple growers to gather up all the culls and windfalls, which though unfit for shipment in the ordinary way are just as good as the best fruit for drying purposes.

TURN WASTE FRUIT INTO MONEY

In a conversation a few days ago the manager contends that as yet few growers have come to realize that with the expenditure of very little labor in gathering up fallen and culled fruit, what would otherwise be a dead loss can be made to produce good returns.

"The majority of growers," he says, "will persist in comparing the prices they obtain for this waste material, with the returns they get from perfect shipping fruit, which is a wrong way of looking at it. Take the farmer who grows potatoes. He goes to all the trouble and expense of plowing his land, buying seed, planting, cultivating, and harvesting, and after all his trouble he gets little more per ton for his product than the man who goes around his orchard and bathers up his windfalls without any other trouble to himself, except hauling them into town. It is literally all found money." And not only does he benefit himself, it might be added, but he provides employment for others in the district.

ONIONS ARE IN THE AIR

Within the past few days the odor of the all-prevading onion has begun to make itself felt in the land. This is undeniable evidence that the new evapotating plant of the B. C. Evaporators, Ltd., has commenced operations. The fine brick building which has just been completed, now shelters a busy company of women and children who, unmindful of the penetrating aroma, are peeling off the outer jackets of mountains of onions which are sliced and dried to a mere shadow of their former selves. The plant has been equipped on an extensive scale and the long row of steam-heated drying cabinets are capable of handling a large output not only of onions but of carrots and other vegetables.

Like many other local industries, however, the management is faced with the serious problem of shortage of labor, and it seems inevitable that unless more peelers can be obtained locally, Chinese labor will have to be imported from the coast. This is regrettable, not only because of the introduction of undesirable aliens, but also because the money which will be paid out in considerable quantities will be withdrawn from the district. It is a matter worthy of serious consideration whether something could not be done to avoid such a contingency. There must be scores of women and girls in the district who could at the cost of a little inconvenience—and possibly false pride—join in and earn some of the money which is thus going begging.

SHORTAGE OF TOMATOES HAMPERS CANNERY

Since the local syndicate who stepped in and took over the cannery from the old company, have had entire control of the building and plant, a large amount of money has been spent in bringing the plant up-to-date, and thousand dollars worth of new machinery has been installed during the past month or two, and the result is a degree of speed and efficiency hitherto unattainable.

The idea has been, so far as possible, to eliminate all cumbersome methods of handling, both of the empty cans, and also the product itself from the ripe tomatoes as they are loaded on to the platform and on through the various processes of cooking and filling, to the point where they are packed into cases for shipment.

Automatic carriers receive the empty cans at the very doors of the cars in which they have been transported from the factories, and they are not again touched by the hands until they drop, still automatically, all complete except the label, on to the table of the packer.

The principal improvement is in the arrangement for "cooking" the filled cans. Previously these were packed by hand into large iron baskets, lifted by block and chains and lowered into tanks of boiling water. From these they had to be raised again, and lowered into a large tank of coldwater to cool them off for packing. All this was slow and cumbersome, compared with the new method which permits the cans to travel on an endless band through steam heated cooking mchines then through a cooler and on without a pause to the packing table.

At present the cannery is operating somewhat spasmodically, a few hours each day only. This is due to a shortage of ripe tomatoes, the unusual coolness of the season having held back the crop so far beyond the ripening period of former seasons. The hot weather, however, has apparently arrived at last, and in all probability the fruit will be coming in with a great rush before many days are over.

There is another cause, however, which the management allege is contributing to the shortage, and that is that a number of growers, tempted by the higher prices to be obtained, are violating their contracts by shipping out semi-ripe tomatoes. Naturally the company is apprehensive that if this is allowed to continue, there will be very few tomatoes to can, and some curiosity has been expressed as to what action the Canning Company will take, if any. Meanwhile, this shortage tends to increase difficulties of the already troublesome labor problem, as staffs are hard to keep together when the work is so irregular.

Arrange Union of Local Churches

Sunday Services Will Be Held in Presbyterian Church

The result of the voting on the question of whether some form of union should be adopted between the Presbyterian and Methodist churches having placed beyond all doubt that all except a very small minority are decidedly in favor of such an arrangement, representatives of both churches have been busy during the past week working out the details, and making plans for future guidance.

A union committee consisting of Messrs. A. G. Todd, R. A. Copeland, J. N. Thompson, W. R. Trench, J. Gordon, D. W. Sutherland, and John Hill from the Presbyterians and Messrs J. Curts, E. D. Langille, L. Dilworth, J. A. Bigger, W. E. Adams, J. W. Jones and Dr. Gaddes from the Methodists has been appointed, and from this sub-committees have been appointed to take charge of the various branches of the church work. The secretary is Mr. A. G. Todd, and the treasurer Mr. John Hill.

The united services are to start on Sunday next when the Rev. E. D. Braden will preach morning and evening. All Sunday services in the future are to be held in the Presbyterian church, the Methodist church being reserved for mid-week services, prayer meetings, and young peoples' meetings. The Sunday schools will remain separate, and for the present will continue to be conducted as before.

Day Lettergrams Can Now Be Sent

C.P.R. Will Carry Deferred Messages at a Low Rate

By regulations recently put into effect, the Canadian Pacific Railway Telegraphs Department will make a substantial reduction in the day telegraph rate by inagurating a day lettergram between all points on their system. All messages of fifty words or less will, if the sender so desires, be treated as a deferred message and sent at one and a half the regular day rate for ten words. By deferred message is meant that such message will be transmitted and delivered subject to the priority of fully paid day messages. For messages of more than fifty words an additional charge of one-fifth the day rate will be charged for each additional ten words. Day lettergrams must be written in plain English or French language and no code words permitted. This service is now in operation between all offices on the Canadian Pacific lines.

FEDERAL MINISTER OF AGRICULTURE ON VISIT TO B. C.

Hon. Martin Burrell, Dominion minister of Agriculture, is now in British Columbia where he will spend four or five weeks. Mr. Burrell will spend a few days at Banff and will then proceed to his old home at Greenwood. He expects to visit the coast cities before returning to the capital, and will probably be up through the Okanagan.

SEPTEMBER 4th WILL BE POLLING DAY AT VERNON CAMP

The voting of the soldiers at the Vernon training camp will take place on September 4th.

J. W. Berry, presiding officer, has made all necessary arrangements for the poll. A considerable number of the men have left on harvest leave during the past week or two, but it is expected that many of these will be back before the date of the election, andtheir votes will be taken on their return.

Holidays Are Ended Schools Re-Open

New School Staff Lined Up For Work of Coming Term

If some aerial scout had been hovering over Kelowna last Monday morning he would have noticed a tremendous bustle going on, more especially in those homes where there are children of school age. Such a polishing of boots, shining of faces, and a tying of hair ribbons as has not happened for—how many months is it since the school closed? Presently he would have seen converging in lines of bright colors towards the school house tiny creeping figures, which vanished through the big doorways as the nine o'clock bell rang.

It was the reopening of school after the long holiday, and books and pencils and scribblers are once more in demand.

There were 304 pupils all told on the register for this term, and this includes 35 beginners who have just entered the receiving class.

There has been an almost complete rearrangement of teachers since the close of the last term, and perhaps many parents will be interested to know the teachers' names and classes as they stand now. They are as follows:

Senior Grade: Div. I.—Principal Gordon; Div. II.—Miss Caldwell.

Intermediate: Div. III.—Miss Elderkin; Div. IV.—Miss Barnhill.

Intermediate and Junior: Div. V.—Miss Page.

Junior Grade: Div. VI.—Miss Thomson; Div. VII.—Miss Bullock: Div. VIII.—Miss Boake.

Receiving Class: Div. IX.—Miss Thompson.

Coming Women's Conference at Penticton

Delegates Going From All Parts of the Valley

Next Wednesday and Thursday, the Okanagan District Conference of Women's Institutes will be held in Penticton. Amongst the speakers will be Mrs. H. H. Millie of Kelowna, who will give an address on "How to Economize Labor in the Home"; Mrs. Frank Slough, of Salmon Arm, on "Advantages of Boys' and Girls' Clubs;" Mrs. Murden, "Phases of Adolescense;" Mrs. Hicks of Vernon, "The Foundation of High School Scholarships by Women's Institutes in Rural Districts of B. C.;" Mrs. Fosbery of West Summerland, "Market Problems;" Mrs. Solly, Summerland, on "What Our Children Should Read," Miss M. Gordon, Naramata, "Modern Thrift: Utilizing our Resources."

There is also to be a lantern lecture on "Industrial and Vocational Training," by Mr. John Kyle, the provincial director of manual training, and a paper on "Preventable Ailments During School Life," by Dr. McGregor.

Ample arrangements have been made for the entertainment of the visitors, who will represent some fifteen of the Women's Institutes in the valley.

The delegates from Kelowna are Mrs. Matheson, Mrs. H. H. Millie, and Miss Reekie; and from Rutland, Mrs. S. Gray and Miss Rae.

ACCOUNTED FOR 35 ZEPPELINS

Major Baird, representative of the aerial board in the House of Commons replying to criticism of the air defences during the recent zeppelin raids, announced that since the war began the Entente allies had accounted for thirty-five Zeppelins.

NO PEACE OVERTURES

No peace overtures have been made to Great Britain, declared Lord Robert Cecil, minister of war trade, in the House of Commons, a few days ago.

Lord Robert's statement was made in response to a question in regard to "peace rumors," and the situation in the Balkans,

Roumania Decides to Throw in Lot With Allies and Declares War

Adds Half Million Men to Forces Against the Kaiser - Will Do Much to Shorten War

There has been a very noticeable dearth of real war news during the past few weeks, and only the vaguest rumors of events have been published. Monday, however, a new aspect was given to the war and particularily to that section of it dealing with the Balkans, by the decision of Roumania to throw in her lot with the Allies, and on Sunday, it appears, this was definitely accomplished by a declaration of war against Austria. Germany at once reciprocated by declaring war on Roumania. Turkey has also since declared war on Roumania.

The entry of Roumania into the war on the side of the Allies makes the fourteenth nation now engaged in the greatest struggle in the history of the world.

In Roumania, it is estimated there are 500,000 fighting men available.

Russia will now be able to strike at the Teutonic Powers through Roumania. It is known that the Russians have been concentrating on the Roumanian frontier for months, and it is believed they will quickly cross no and attempt a drive either through Serbia or Bulgaria, and thus seek to cut off all communications between Turkey and the Central powers.

Already news is beginning to come in regarding the activity of Roumania which is said to have captured passes in the Carpathians and made considerable progress into Hungary.

Roumania's reason for entering the war on the side of the Entente powers were set forth in the following official statement from Bucharest:

"The Roumanian population has been exposed to the risks of war and invasion by Austrians and Hungarians

"Roumania's intervention will shorten the war.

"Roumania decided to cast her lot with the allies because they alone can guarantee national unity."

Italy has also declared war on Germany. The two nations have been drifting steadily toward war for weeks and the declaration became inevitable when Italy recently sent troops to Saloniki to co-operate in the campaign of the Entente Allies on the Macedobian front, as Germany is directing the opposing forces and has troops on this battle line.

AT THE OPERA HOUSE

OFFICER 666

The story of "Officer 666" the play to be presented here on Tuesday, the 5th of September, presents one of the cleverest combination of comedy situations ever attempted in stage work. A young millionaire, Globe Trotter, returns to find his batchelor quarters occupied by a burglar, who not satisfied with appropriating the millionaire's name and getting himself engaged to a pretty society girl on the strength of it, is rapidly disposing of a fine collection of paintings gathered by the aforesaid millionaire from the art centres of the world. This is the situation when the curtain goes up on the big production. How it will be worked out will be seen when the Sherman production commences. The situations brought about are exceedingly funny, and have already convulsed thousands with uncontrolable laughter.

POPULAR WAR PLAY COMING

The present European war has provided material galore for the dramatic writers of the day, and such military plays as "The White Feather," "Under Fire," and "War Brides," and many others of note have enjoyed long seasons of unprecedented success in London abd New York playhouses, but none of the above have claimed the attention of the critics or evoked their unstinted ppraise in the measure that "Somewhere in France" the latest military drama has.

Replete with thrilling moments and realistically staged, this latest dramatic military offering gives promise of eclipsing all of the aforementioned successes of the day and the fact that the personnel of the company includes many well known stage favorites has no doubt been a factor in increasing its popularity.

The story of the play deals largely with the efforts of an unscrupulous scapegoat, the son of well-to-do parents, who, in an effort to cover his misdeeds, decides to enlist in the army. Here, through his official capacity, an opportunity presents itself by which he is enabled to send his rival in love to almost certain death in a charge on the battlefield, how the latter miraculously escapes death and his subsequent nursing back to health and happiness by his sweetheart, who has volunteered for service in a base hospital, is told in a manner which holds the attention of the audience from rise to fall of the curtain.

The second act provides ample study of modern trench warfare, as the scene of battle shows the section of one of these underground homes.

"Somewhere in France" will appear at the Kelowna Opera House for one night only, Friday, September 8th, and from the number of enquiries, a record attendance is predicted.

Rutland News

(From our own Correspondent.)

Pte. Eldridge was home during the week on leave from Vernon, returning this morning.

* * *

Mr. Geo. Whitaker who has been at work in Rutland for some time past leaves to-day for Vernon where he has a position in the evaporator.

* * *

What might gave been a very serious accident happened Tuesday evening near the store at Rutland when two boys riding bicycles in the darkness on the footpath ran into Miss Alda McDonald, knocking her down and giving her a severe shaking. One of the boys was thrown off and rendered unconscious for a while. This should be a lesson as to the danger of riding on this path after dark, and should also emphasize the necessity of carrying lights.

* * *

There have been two deaths in Rutland during the past week, and much sorrow and sympathy has been awakened in the district in consequence. Mention has already been made of the death in the hospital of Miss Edith Clever. The funeral took place Thursday last, service being held in the home, and a large number of friends were present, and the numerous wreaths and sprays of flowers spoke of the extent to which the loss was felt by many of those who knew her. A memorial service was held in the Presbyterian church Sunday morning.

* * *

The sudden death of Mrs. J. Stoddart about 5 o'clock on Sunday afternoon was a great shock not only to the husband and family but also to many friends and neighbors. Although the deceased lady had been ill for some time past and had been an inmate of the Kelowna hospital only recently, it was thought that she was very much improved in health, and the sudden relapse came as a great surprise. The funeral took place on Monday afternoon, a perliminary service being held in the home, at which Archdeacon Greene officiated. Many people sent floral tributes, and the attendance at the funeral was large. Much sympathy is expressed for Mr. Stoddart and daughter in their sad bereavement.

Last Saturday night was witnessed a singularily beautiful display of that strange phenomenon, the "Northern Lights." From behind Knox mountain the white shafts and pencils of light flashed and scintillated, faded, and reappeared again in an almost endless variety of forms.

SHOOTING SEASON OPENS TO-MORROW

As the shooting season opens to-morrow in this district it might be as well to remind would-be Nimrods of some of the more important regulations which were made public during the month regarding the killing and selling of game.

In the first place it should be noted that the season which opens to-morrow is for deer, duck and geese only. Of the former, the variety common here is the Mule deer, and of these only three bucks can be shot by one person during the season. Does are protected and must not be killed under any consideration. The killing of White Tail deer of either sex is also prohibited, but as these have grown very scarce around this country of late years it is not likely that many will transgress in this respect. The protection of the does is said to have been regarded as necessary owing to the bad winter and the depredations of hungry coyotes. The season for deer, ducks and geese extends to Dec. 15th.

Grouse shooting does not open until Sept. 15th, and closes again on Nov. 30th. Prairie Chicken may be shot for one month only, from Sept. 15th to Oct. 15th.

No pheasants, quail, mountain sheep, calves, colts, or khaki-clad hunters may be shot in this district.

A drastic provision which is expected to meet with the warm approval of sportsmen, is that no deer or ducks may be exposed for sale this year. The only ways in which it will be possible to get venison or ducks will be to take a gun and go hunting, or to chum up to some successful Nimrod who shoots more than he needs for himself and is willing to give the rest away. Sportsmen all over the province have been complaining of the havoc caused by market hunters. In certain of the northern districts where food is scarce a restricted sale of moose and cariboo meat will be allowed.

AGRICULTURAL CREDITS ACT APPRAISER HERE SHORTLY

The work of appraising farms and land upon which loans have been applied for under the new Agricultural Credits act, proceeds apace, though the work is necessarily heavy owing to the large number of applications made.

Mr. E. Gardner Smith, who has been appointed appraiser under the commission, for the mainland, is at present working in the northern part of the valley. He is working south, and it is expected that he will be in Kelowna in a few days.

In this connection it might be as well to mention that last Friday, the scale of fees passed by the agricultural credits commission to be levied on the loans made to farmers under the terms of the Agricultural Credits Act, and formally approved by the Lieutenant-Governor in council, were gazetted as follows.

On loans up to $2,500, $5; over $2,500 and up to $3,750, $7.50; over $3,750 and up to $5,000, $10; over $5,000 and up to $7,500, $15; over $7,500 and up to $10,000, $20.

The Fraser river salmon pack for 1916 will be the smallest in history. So few have been the fish caught that there is not a cannery on the river which has so far done better than to break even on operating expenses, if indeed they have been running at an actual loss.

Orders for Local Scouts

KELOWNA TROOP

Troop First! Self Last!

You will remember that last week we published an order from Provincial Headquarters with regard to the wearing of uniforms, etc., and that in order to see whether our officers were taking an interest in the troop and reading this column, we asked each one of them to immediately report to our head-quarters upon reading the column. We have 7 patrol leaders, 1 acting patrol leader, 6 seconds and 1 acting second, a troop leader and a troop secretary. Up to the time of writing only six of these officers have reported and we are therefore regretfully forced to conclude that the remaining officers take so little interest in the troop that they cannot find time or take the trouble to read this column, which we use as a medium of communication to the troop. Unless there is more interest shown in the troop by our officers we have about as much chance of winning the Lieutenant-Governor's Shield as the Kaiser has of marching overland to London. Those who did report as requested, in the order named, were the Kangaroo Second; the Wood Pigeon Second; the Troop Leader; the Wood Pigeon Patrol Leader; the Curlew Patrol Leader, and the Wolf Second.

With a membership of between forty and fifty scouts, it is sometimes impossible for us to communicate with each individual member when we wish to publish an order. Before the next column is published, we wish to hear from every officer who has not yet reported, his reason for not doing so, and would ask every scout who has an interest in his own patrol to bring this column to the attention of his Patrol Leader and Second.

The minimum of uniform to be worn by a scout of the Kelowna Troop is as follows:—

HAT.—Khaki color, flat brim, strap around crown and lace (the lace should be worn at the back of the hat and twisted around the brim). Under no circumstances shall a scout wear his hat turned up at the side.

NECKERCHIEF OR SCARF.—Dark green, worn loosely, knotted at the throat and ends.

SHIRT.— Khaki, with two patch pockets (buttoned) and shoulder straps.

SHORTS.—Blue.

BELT.—Brown leather or webbing.

STOCKINGS.—Blue with green tops, worn turned down below the knee with green tab garters showing on the outside.

BOOTS OR SHOES.— Black.

HAVERSACK. —Worn as knapsack, with eyelets or revers for coat straps.

STAFF.—Marked in feet and inches.

SHOULDER KNOT.—Six inches long of Patrol Colors, on the left shoulder.

Knife, Lanyard, Great Coat, etc., are optional.

Nothing but the above may be worn visibly, all extras must be carried in the haversack.

(Cut this out and keep it).

Mrs. Jepson, mother of our former Assistant Scout Master, Ken Jepson, has very kindly presented us with a donation, through P. L. Crowley, netting us in Canadian money $2.43. We thank Mrs. Jepson very much for her kind gift. It will interest the troop very much to know that Mr. Jepson is now a member of the engineers on active service at the front. We look forward to the day when he will be with us again.

Scout Master Thomas was good enough to present us with a case which he said would do very well in which to keep the first aid outfit Mr. Willits so kindly offered to donate to us, and he has also presented us with a volume of the "Boy's Own Papar" for which we thank him very much indeed. The case and volume are at his house waiting for one of us to call and get them. We intend to make "some" club-room out of our quarters this year, and it will be necessary for us to have a bookcase in which to keep our books. The troop will supply the lumber, and the question is, what scouts or scout will make the bookcase.

Some boys at Trepanier Creek are the latest in the district to organize a Lone Patrol. We wish them every success and would be glad to render them any assistance possible at any time. We should be interested to know whether this column comes to the attention of the patrols at Westbank and Trepanier Creek; in fact we should be very glad indeed to hear from a scout in any part of the valley or anywhere else where this paper may circulate. Our address is "Troop Editor, Boy Scouts, Kelowna, B.C."

We are very sorry indeed to loose our Acting Patrol Leader, of the Eagles, Guy DeHart, who has attached himself to the B. C. Horse at Vernon. His speed was chiefly responsible for the Eagles winning the athletic contest at camp, and he was not content with racing other scouts alone, but even presumed to take a fall out of head-quarters.

The bathing season will soon be over, and we have not yet been asked to pass any swimming tests. To pass the First Class test a scout must be able to swim 50 yards, unless a doctor has certified that bathing is dangerous to his health. From what we see daily we do not think there have been any of these certificates given to members of our troop, and you must know that if you do not pass your swimming test this bathing season you will not have the opportunity of trying for the same until after our concert next year. Get busy therefore immediately. Every Second Class scout in the troop should pass this test this summer, and also all those who are competing for the swimming badge, or intend to, should arrange to try their tests at once while the water is warm.

Fair Enough

Pat wanted an empty bottle, so he went to the chemist's to get one. He selected one that answered his purpose, and asked the shopman how much it would cost.

"Well" was the reply, "If you want the empty bottle it will cost you a penny, but if you want anything in it you can have it for nothing."

"Sure, that's fair," said Pat, "then put in a cork." —Scout.

Whiffs Still Waft in From Manhattan

By Sylph's Nemesis

Splash! What was that? One of the south beach campers playing mermaid after dark.

Mrs. T. Morrison and family spent last week-end at Bob M.'s The camp is delightful at this time.

The R.'s, we are pleased to say, still linger in the shadow of the beacon light. Our camp fire gatherings would not be complete without Cliff.

Misses Lottie and Beata, of Kum Hula are again with us. They spent a thoroughly enjoyable holiday at the coast, but declare they are still fancy free.

Lance-Corp. A. Weddell, paid a short call at Idletime camp Friday, to say goodbye to old friends. We are proud of Alwyn and he looks fine in the kilt.

Who were the young couple who stole quietly away in the early hours of Sunday morning to eat breakfast alone together at Paul's tomb. Their trawling line was not even wet.

Miss Mary, of Seldom Inn, spent a pleasant holiday at Vernon but has returned to the beach accompanied by a friend, Miss Mayoribanks.

A freak in the form of a human sponge drifted to our beach one day, and though the campers were not greatly excited, still they gave it a wide berth and it was left severely alone. Now although water is very necessary for its maintenance, a mixed diet is to be preferred, and as only water was available it quietly drifted away again sometime before the gale Thursday. When last seen it was going south.

The breezes from Manhatten freshened considerably last week-end and on Thursday blew a perfect gale. Lone Pine Cottage was completely dismantled and the family taken to town by auto. Fred D. worked heroically, nevertheless his tent frame was entirely demolished and the remnants were sent, together with the contents of his camp from the beach in great disorder. The occupants followed.

Mr. C., who is the corner man at the south, plays his part well, giving fancy baritone selections in his old southern style at the camp fire. Oh, but Willie, we have missed you, and herewith advertise for a husky chief who abideth at home, who entereth not the door of a committee room, and hath no political dope to offer until after the evening of the 14th.

Mr. J. is on his perch again by the pine. Some say he has developed into a Phoenix and assumes an ever surviving look of peace and confidence after his fly with the flock south. Others say he is a Blue J!

'Twas on a sunny summer Sunday
That Grandpa went to fish;
He rowed around the rugged rocks,
And devoutly he did wish
For a tender, tempting ten-pound trout
To cook in his little dish.

Then suddenly a squall did squeal
And something squeaked a squawk;
Some said it was his "Rosary,"
But it was a fresh fish hawk.
Then Grandpa pulled his plunging punt
And headed for the dock.

Oh, that was a fierce and furious fight
With the seething, swirling sea;
But Grandpa rowed with all his might,
"Shall I e'er get back," groaned he;
And soon he slid from the slippery seat,
But still rowed vigorously.

The people paced upon the point,
And when he swept the sand,
They pulled his boat upon the shore
And shook his shaking hand;
And said: "Don't fish on Sundays more
But shout for Daniel's band."

Shamrock Shack is deserted. The supposed and accused Spy, together with his family and their belongings being swept off the beach by the terrific gale. The poor Spy was blown clean through the roof, and rumor has it that he is wearing his nose in splints. F. R. E. and the Amateur Camper also decided things were much too chilly and boisterous for them, so pulled up stakes and left for their homes in great haste. When at last the storm had blown over it was found that only a few of the old, seasoned campers remained. We were sorry to see them go but life is still endurable at Manhatten. The following touching stanza was picked up by a souvenir hunter:

The Spy on the roof
Was cutting a caper,
He thought it was boards—
But 'twas only tar paper;
He fell with a crash
And near broke his nose,
Which gave him swelled head—
Not needed, dear nose!

Sad little boy.—"No, sir, the pain's in me."

Why You Should Vote for Mayor Jones

Briefly, there are two main reasons why you should cast your ballot in favor of Mayor Jones at the election September 14th:—

1 Because he has proved himself to be a suitable representative by the record of his work and achievements in the public service during the past five years.

2 Because his intimate knowledge and acquaintance with local conditions will be of value to the electorate in the future.

As Mayor of the City of Kelowna Mr. Jones has put in many years of faithful and energetic service, and only those intimate with city affairs know what a great expenditure of time and perpetual self-sacrifice the position involves.

Through his energetic championship of local movements, Mayor Jones has been instrumental in securing many benefits which the town and district now enjoy. A complete list of these would be a long one, but it is only necessary to mention a few things in which Mayor Jones has been either directly responsible or has assisted largely in their consummation.

More than anyone else Mayor Jones may claim the credit for having induced the government to make the liberal grant of over $61,000 for the large brick schools which place Kelowna in the front rank of interior cities for educational facilities; and not only the city but several of the country districts have to thank Mayor Jones for his efforts in securing aid. Only recently he had been able to negotiate a grant for the erection of a good school at South Okanagan to take the place of the present inadequate structure. He was largely concerned in the organization and obtaining of government assistance for the Growers' Exchange, and has, moreover, himself invested money in this local institution, as also in other non-dividend paying concerns established for the public benefit.

The billeting of the soldiers here during the winter, and the provision of suitable quarters, cost Mayor Jones a vast amount of labor about which the public knows little.

This spring a serious situation developed in connection with the irrigation system on the K. L. O. bench, one of the most productive orchard areas in the district. Timely government assistance for the obtaining of which Mayor Jones was almost solely instrumental, saved the situation for the ranchers.

All sensible men know that under any government these things can not be secured without being energetically gone after by someone with a thorough knowledge of conditions.

The unselfish public spirit of Mayor Jones has been shown in the fact that there have been few local movements whether for social and moral improvement or for recreation and sport but have found in him an enthusiastic supporter. As a further guarantee of his undivided efforts for the welfare of the district it might be mentioned that practically the whole of his financial investments are dependent upon its progress and advancement.

This intimate contact with the municipal, agricultural and social life of the community have afforded him a unique and valuable knowledge of local needs and problems—a knowledge absolutely essential in an up-country legislative representative. For instance, his knowledge of irrigation matters has frequently been commented upon, and for very good reason. When this matter, upon which the whole future of the district rests, comes to be discussed in Victoria, as it will in the near future, South Okanagan needs a spokesman there who can ADVISE the government from personal knowledge and see that amidst the conflicting claims of other localities, this district gets its full share.

Do not be led away by noisy election balderdash about matters which concern you little, but CONCENTRATE ON THE LOCAL ISSUES.

TOWN AND COUNTRY NOTES

Mrs. J. Ball and family returned Saturday last from a stay in Calgary.

C.P.R. agent H. W. Swerdfager returned Sunday from his holiday at the coast. Mrs. Swerdfager and family are staying another week.

Mr. A. R. Lord, formerly principal of the Kelowna public school, but now an inspector under the Department of Education, was in Kelowna last week-end for a few days.

Mrs. E. Swalwell, who has been visiting her mother, Mrs. LeFevre, for the past few weeks, returned to Calgary to-day. She was accompanied as far as Vernon by Mrs. C. F. Armstrong.

The regular monthly meeting of the Women's Institute will be held Saturday in the Board of Trade rooms, at 3 p.m., when Mrs. Frank Small will demonstrate the use of paper patterns.

Miss Buchanan, who has taken over the business of Mrs. Rattenbury, is now open for business, having completed the purchase of her new stock of Fall Millinery. Miss Buchanan is arranging to hold her Fall Millinery Opening on Friday and Saturday, September 8th and 9th.

Lance-Corp. Alwyn Weddell paid a few days' visit to his home last week-end. He is in the Seaforth Highlanders at the coast and looked well in kilts. He was recalled by wire Tuesday morning, his regiment having to leave at once for Vancouver Island.

Mr. Claude James, formerly of Kelowna, but lately municipal electrician at Summerland, was in town last Friday. He has resigned his appointment at Summerland in order to enlist in the motor patrol service, and sails for England in a short time. The British Admiralty has now a great fleet of hundreds of fast motor launches, which have proved to be the best weapon against the depredations of submarines.

Kelowna Volunteer Reserve

At the last regular Monday evening drill of the Kelowna Volunteer Reserve, Serg. Chaplin, the instructor, was much pleased by the improved attendance, fully 25 per cent. better than the previous drill. The sergeant is also greatly encouraged by the improvement in recruiting for over-seas, which he partly ascribes to the expectancy of compulsory service among the people of the district.

In connection with this the executive of the K.V.R. point out the advantages of their organization as a preparatory school for intending recruits, who are now joining the colours voluntarily, or intend to join later at a more convenient time.

Miss Gaddes returned Sunday morning from a visit to friends at Summerland.

Mr. Ralph Smith came in on the boat this morning, and will address a Liberal meeting in the Opera House to-night.

Rate payers (or would it be more correct to say rate owers?) are reminded that only another week remains in which arrears of taxes can be paid so as to avoid the addition of the costs and expenses of the tax sale.

The wind of last Sunday afternoon made things pretty busy for a while for those responsible for the various telephone and telegraph lines in the neighbourhood. On the Vernon road in two places trees blew down smashing wires and fences, and blocking the roadway for a considerable time. In the park a pole carrying several lines was blown down and service was temporarily suspended.

Three boys were up before the magistrate this week on a charge of breaking into a shack on Ethel Street and stealing therefrom several rifles and a hunting knife. It is probable that the approach of the hunting season had tempted the boys to borrow the rifles, which belong to a man who enlisted some time ago. Two of the boys were let out on suspended sentence and the third was remanded in order to give him a chance to produce one of the rifles which was still missing.

A nasty automobile accident occurred last Sunday morning on the Vernon road near Mr. Campbell Brown's place at Oyama, where there is a sharp curve in the road. Two cars coming in opposite directions at a good speed collided, head on. One was a new Dodge car, containing Mr. F. Raeburn, with wife and children, of Oyama, while the driver of the other was Mr. J. H. Smith, of P. Burns & Co. Mrs. Raeburn and one of the children were slightly hurt, but both cars were badly damaged and had to be towed back to the garage.

Dr. Taube, eyesight specialist, from Calgary, Alta., will be at our store on Tuesday, September 5th, for the purpose of examining and testing eyes and fitting glasses to all sights. If anything is wrong with your eyes do not fail to consult him. All work absolutely guaranteed to suit the eye, the same as the test. W. R. Trench & Co.
