Will Combine Big Peace Celebration With the Regatta

Thursday, August 14th, Will Be Declared Civic Holiday

Many people have wondered why, when all throughout the Empire people are celebrating the conclusion of Peace, Kelowna should remain mute and apparently indifferent. At Monday's meeting of the city council Ald. Meikle reported that a number of citizens had expressed the opinion that the city should have taken some formal action in reference to the celebration of peace. It was not yet too late and he suggested that such celebration could very conveniently be combined with the coming regatta. A committee could be appointed from the council to work in conjunction with the Aquatic Association. to make this year's affair a "Peace Regatta," which would fittingly mark the great occasion. This idea met with the approval of the council, and the Mayor appointed Ald. Meikle, Knowles, Mantle and himself as the committee.

It was suggested to this committee that one method of impressing upon the children the importance of the declaration of Peace would be to hold a procession and to present each child who took part in the same with a suitable bronze medal. All the returned men would be invited to attend in uniform and invitations sent out to all parts of the district and on the lake.

In addition it was decided to declare Thursday, August 14th a civic holiday in order that all might take part.

Discussing the recent drowning accident in the park, the Mayor said that though the place where the accident occurred is dangerous a portion of the shore at the south end of the park is safe and the water comparatively shallow. It had been suggested to him that this be roped off as an indication that it was quite safe for those who wished to bathe there.

Ald. Knowles expressed doubts as to the expediency of the council taking such action. He pointed out that there would be no person to supervise the bathers and in case of fatality it might be claimed that the city was to some extent responsible, as by roping off this particular section they had intimated that it was quite safe. He was more in favor of prohibiting bathing from any portion of the park shore except that under the supervision of the Kelowna Aquatic Association. If such action were taken those bathing would be under the watchful eye of the caretaker and the chance of fatalities reduced to a minimum.

It was decided to leave the matter in the hands of the park commission.

Ald. Knowles reported that by the prompt action of the Fire Brigade a fire had been extinguished in the park which might otherwise have been disastrous. He thought it only right that the council should record their appreciation of the good work. A vote of thanks was accordingly tendered to them.

An application from J. H. Trenwith for permission to place a regulation gasoline stand on Bernard avenue in front of the former Kelowna Implement Co. building was granted.

The city solicitors reported that the council has power to prohibit the use of cut-outs on motor cars within the city and also to compel manufacturers to have their smoke stacks fitted with spark arresters.

A letter was read from the Kelowna Hospital Society thanking the council for the improvements to the road and sidewalk through the hospital grounds.

There was a long discussion over a letter from Mr. W. S. Fuller asking the city to return to him 33 feet of land adjoining his house which had been deeded by him to the city for the purpose of extending Water street.

The Mayor, giving a brief history of the case, which had often been up before the council, said that Messrs. Fuller and C. Quinn (owner of the adjoining land), had subdivided their property some years ago and the plans were approved by the council on condition that the two owners do work on the extension of Water street to the value of $200. The council presumed that both of these plans had been registered, but when the real estate boom collapsed it was found that Mr. Quinn had registered his plan but Mr. Fuller had failed to do so, and also that the work agreed upon had not been done.

In 1918 Mr. Fuller applied to have his property assessed in accordance with the registered description instead of its sub-divided form. The council had agreed to comply with this request upon the execution of quit claim deeds covering 33 feet needed for the street. Mr. Fuller had accepted this condition and executed the deeds.

In the letter under consideration Mr. Fuller pointed out that principal and interest payable under a city sinking fund mortgage on the property was past due and that the taxes were also in arrears. He was prepared to pay the taxes and arrears of interest and $500 of the principal on the return of his quit claim deeds and release from any further obligation regarding the street.

A meeting had been held on the 11th of the present month at which Ald. Rattenbury and he (the Mayor) had represented the city, and at which Mr. Fuller, his brother-in-law, Ald. Sargent of Victoria, and ex-Mayor J. W. Jones had been present. It was there decided that if Mr. Fuller would deed seven feet of his property and make the extension of Water street 40 feet in width, this proposal would be submitted to the council for consideration.

Ald. Mantle said he would be strongly opposed to the council taking any action in the matter until Mr. Quinn and those interested in his property had been given an opportunity of laying their views before the council. He pointed out that improvements to the value of $8,000 had been constructed on Mr. Quinn's property, and money had been advanced upon it on the supposition that the portion of Water street fronting it would be 66 feet in width. To reduce the width of this street would undoubtedly depreciate the value of the property.

The clerk was instructed to inform Mr. Fuller that no action could be taken by the council except with the consent of all parties interested.

Ian MacRae and Bernard Raymer were given a licence to conduct a pool room in the old bowling alley on Water street.

Rutland News

(From our own correspondent).

Mrs. Wm. Smith, sister to Mrs. B. Hardie, and her two sons, from Toronto, are visiting at the store.

Several orchards have been sold recently, including J. Campbell's, A. Eldridge's, and Wilcox's property.

Miss Tully will sing at the Methodist church service on Sunday evening.

The Y.P.S. meeting held on Friday last, took the form of a social. Various games were played on the school lawn after which refreshments were served. The evening passed very pleasantly although the attendance was not large. The next meeting will be held on Friday, August 1st, at 8 p.m. The subject for the meeting is to be a debate: "Resolved, that summer is more healthful and enjoyable than winter." This should provide an interesting discussion.

A number of the young people of the district celebrated Peace Day by going for a picnic to "The Cottonwoods," the local name for a shady coulee in the vicinity of the mountain ranch of the late Mr. Tom Hereron. Another party of Rutlanders spent the day on the old picnic ground by Mission creek. The majority of the residents of the district, however, celebrated by putting into practice the old precept that tells us to "make hay while the sun shines!"

Mrs. Telford returned Monday from Vancouver.

Pte. McGibbon was the returned soldier welcomed Monday. He has had a variety of experiences, first in France and later with the expedition to northern Russia.

Coming Regatta Will Eclipse All Previous Aquatic Events

Big Two Days' Programme Will Include New Features

This year's Regatta shall eclipse any previous event of the kind has been the firm intention of the committee from the start. For the past two or three years the Regatta has been difficult to manage owing to war conditions, but this year there is no such handicap. The combining with the Regatta of Kelowna's Peace celebration, and the cooperation of the city in this matter should make it one of the outstanding events in the history of Kelowna.

The big two days' programme will start on Wednesday afternoon, August 13th when the first of the aquatic sports will take place. At 5 o'clock there will be a football match, and in the evening the field sports and athletic events.

Thursday will be the big day for this will be a public holiday and Peace Celebration. In the morning will be procession to the Park in which the Mayor and Aldermen and other civic officials, Great War Veterans, Scouts, Cubs, and school children will take part. In the afternoon the programme of water sports will be continued.

In the evening there will be a confetti carnival with dancing in the pavilion. For the dancing it might be mentioned that the committee have engaged the Morrison Hall for Thursday in addition to the Pavilion, so that the two dances will be running simultaneously.

The great feature of course will be the flying exhibition by Capts. Hoy and Dixon. The fact that the first named was a well-known Kelowna boy lends additional interest to the attraction, and if rumor is to be believed Kelowna will get full measure of what is going in the way of aviation.

Report of Delegate to Veterans' Convention

Resolutions Are Considered From Local Branch

At a meeting of the War Veterans Saturday night, Col. Belson made a report concerning the provincial convention at Vancouver to which he had been a delegate on behalf of the local branch. The convention had been very successful. Fifty-six delegates had been there representing a membership of about 20,000 returned men.

Several hundred resolutions were submitted from branches for the consideration of the Resolutions Committee, including the following from Kelowna:—

Valuation of Farm Lands. "Whereas the amount of money loaned by the Soldier Settlement Board is frequently insufficient to enable returned soldiers to purchase fruit lands in the Dominion owing to the fact that the value of fruit trees is often not taken into consideration by the appraiser, therefore it is the view of this branch, that the age, variety, and general condition of orchards should be valued by experts on the same basis that stock is valued on a farm."

Taxation. "Whereas government War Bonds are free from federal income tax and that very large amounts are held by men who made big profits during the war, it is considered that the best way to make these men contribute their fair share to the cost of the war is to increase the death duties on large estates to at least the same amount as the British death duties."

Siberian Expeditionary Force. "Whereas the Siberian Expeditionary Force merely performed garrison duty in Vladivostock, and the personnel of the force largely consisted of draftees who refused to volunteer for France, therefore this branch is opposed to the government issuing any war decoration for this service."

Unemployment. "Whereas there is urgent necessity for increased food production, and there are many men unemployed in the large cities of the Dominion, it is considered by this branch that the government should operate farms in the vicinity of the larger cities for the purpose of giving men employment rather than a scheme of unemployment insurance."

The election of officers resulted in Comrade Whittaker being elected by acclamation. The executive now consists largely of delegates from the interior of the province. It had been decided to appoint Comrade Drinnan, the present organizing secretary, as paid secretary-treasurer, with a paid assistant. It was considered that his work as an organizer of new branches was nearly completed. Part of his duties will be to visit every branch in the province once a year.

The convention, while opposed to the Calgary bonus scheme, was of the opinion that gratuities should be extended to cover part of the winter in view of the prevailing unemployment. It was stated that there were 7,000 returned men out of work in Vancouver before the recent strike. Col. Belson, however, stated that he opposed any further gratuities until widows and orphans and disabled men had been properly taken care of.

Co-operation with other returned soldier organizations and labor was fully discussed and the provincial executive requested to make every effort to attain this. A uniform system of bookkeeping and stationery for all branches in the province was decided on.

Advocates Cooperation in Hospital Work

Ald. Mantle Attends Instructive Convention at Coast

During his recent trip to the coast, Ald. Mantle performed a useful service to the local hospital committee by attending the convention of the B.C. Hospital Association, which after only one year of existence, has proved itself to be very necessary and useful in the work of the provincial hospitals. During his visit Ald. Mantle gleaned much valuable information and as we found out in a conversation with him the other day, has a very high opinion of the Association and its founder.

There are 64 hospitals in British Columbia isolated and independent of each other. The idea occurred to Dr. M. T. MacEachern, superintendent of the Vancouver General Hospital, that the hospitals could help each other and the government and serve the public better, if ideas were exchanged, uniform standards gradually introduced, and methods of administration and finance improved.

All hospitals have the same problems; the treatment of patients; care of the staff; scale of charges; infectious diseases; X-ray department; laundry; training schools; returned soldiers; Women's Auxiliary; tuberculosis; finance; Workmen's Compensation Board and relations with the government.

At the annual convention called by the Association, president MacEachern, who is heart and soul in the work, has initiated a "round table conference" running continuously, which is interrupted by papers on fixed subjects delivered by experts. At this conference any difficulty may be aired and discussed.

Ald. Mantle was asked by the Kelowna Board to make enquiry in regard to an X-ray department for our hospital. He brought the subject up and was shown the X-ray department at the coast hospital and supplied with information This department is indispensable to proper diagnosis and treatment in a large group of accidents and ailments. The modern hospital is seriously handicapped without an X-ray department.

A representative from Kamloops was seeking information in regard to installing a modern steam laundry and was enabled to gather valuable data from those present.

The work of the Women's Auxiliary was fully discussed. In most cases the W.A. elect a representative on the Board who is of great assistance. At Vancouver one lady is permanently engaged changing flowers throughout the hospital.

The Rotary Club of Vancouver have erected a large building called the Rotary Clinic for the examination and treatment of tubercular patients.

The Association represents some 5,000 beds in the hospitals of the province and treatment of outdoor patients in addition. With a president such as Dr. MacEachern it cannot fail to grow to do good work.

The Anglican Sunday-school picnic is being held this afternoon at F. A. Taylor's place on the lake.

Kelowna Secures Double Victory Over Vernon

In both baseball and lacrosse games last Thursday, in the park, Kelowna beat the visiting teams from Vernon. The baseball game took place in the afternoon and was attended by a good crowd of spectators. Kelowna ran up a score of 7 to Vernon's 3. In the lacrosse match which followed in the evening Kelowna's final score was 4 to Vernon's 3.

As the contest for the honors of the valley league progresses the interest grows. Although it is still too early to predict the final result, in the lacrosse league at least Armstrong is pretty safe betting for the premier place, with Kelowna second. In the baseball league Enderby seems to be in the running for the top, with Kelowna again second.

H. Bernard Budden Passed Away Saturday

G.W.V.A. Accord Military Funeral to Departed Comrade

Local War Veterans in a body well over a hundred strong turned out last Sunday afternoon to the funeral of Herbert Bernard Budden late of the 11th Canadian Light Trench Mortar Battery, who passed away early Saturday morning after a long and painful illness the beginnings of which were contracted while serving overseas.

The deceased young man, for he was only in his twenty-seventh year, and the youngest son of Mr. F. G. Budden, enlisted in 1915 in the 172nd from Kelowna, but was transferred to the 11th Battery while overseas. He was wounded several times, being on one occasion buried for over twelve hours by a shell explosion. Returning March of this year, after a short leave he went to the coast to undergo a further operation. There he contracted pleurisy, and a complication of disorders set in from which there was little hope of recovery.

Deceased had spent practically the whole of his life in Kelowna. Though actually born in England at Surbiton, Surrey, he was a mere baby when he came out to this country with the rest of the family.

The funeral Sunday was largely attended by friends in addition to the Veterans, who gave their comrade the last military honors. Service was held in St. Michael's Church, the Ven. Archdeacon Greene officiating. The coffin was covered with a profusion of floral tributes. The sevice at the grave side was very impressive, the "Last Post" being sounded by Comrade Gore.

Badly Burned in Accident With Alcohol Lamp

Donald Whitham of Trench's store had an unpleasant experience Monday afternoon when the explosion of a bottle of alcohol set fire to his clothing and caused injuries which necessitated his removal to hospital.

He was engaged just before six o'clock in heating some compound over a spirit lamp, when it flared up setting fire to the bottle of alcohol near by. This exploded, blowing the flaming liquid all over Whitham's clothing. The flames were extinguished after some difficulty by ready helpers, but not before serious burns had resulted. In the meantime the blazing alcohol had, unnoticed in the excitement, set fire to some shelving and a call was sent in for the Fire Brigade. The fire was easily extinguished, however, with little damage.

Correspondence

Readers are reminded that opinions expressed in letters inserted under this heading are not necessarily endorsed by us. Letters should be as brief as possible and to the point.

To the Editor of The Kelowna Record,

Dear Sir: Of the things that belong unto our Peace surely questions of education must be acknowledged the greatest. And these questions are everyman's. They cannot be safely left to university men, who are just beginning to think and to perceive that as privileged men they have public duties, but who are still far from realizing that the school is immeasurably more important than the university.

Infant-school education, and the teaching before the 'teens, are the great foundations of efficient learning; but, as of old, these great things are the stones "which the builders rejected."

"What" and "how" ought to be discussed; but it is only "what" for universities that concerns the conferences going on, and "how" not at all. In England, one in 2,000 enters the university. The other 1,999 have no benefit.

University influence has insisted that "the 3 R's" are enough for mere primary schools. The 3 R's is a fitting name for the tangled web that university authorities present to us as a finished product. One R is "writing," spelt with a double-u. Another R properly begins with the letter "ah," Arithmetic, and the third stands for the great verb Read, though these wiseacres cannot give us a method of showing the distinction between "I read," present, and "I read," past. This is raw indeed. But WAR let us have, not of the cruel sort, but unceasing war with ignorance; "there is no darkness but ignorance;" and above all with the ignorance of the so-called learned men who know nothing of the laws of mind.

Reading and writing are a delight to learners when they can be rationally taught and may be a great part of the education of "the three H's"—heart, head and hand which the Scotch professor Patrick Geddes so wisely urges.

But instead of this, we have hours wasted daily throughout the school on the Chinese-memory-work of our stupefying no-system spelling. If we had a complete alphabet, one symbol for each sound, our children would love English words, instead of hating many for their spelling annoyances.

The absurd spelling varieties resulting from trying to denote 12 vowel sounds by means of 5 vowel letters is imagined to be "scholarship" by our learned men.

Children who have learned spelling with a rational alphabet can pass quite easily to a familiarity with antique spelling, as has been often proved. The change in the school alphabet need not disturb the custom of present-day adults.

The neglect of rational teaching has not such noticeable nor as bad results in arithmetic as in spelling. Yet the psychology of even the simplest arithmetic should not be ignored as it is. Each learner has to make formulas for individual use, and no one knows what others make—for numeration, for calendar sequences, for division, for multiplication. The connection with geometry is never shown.

Mathematicians no doubt enjoy their subject. Familiar learning is always a joy, and appears even to lengthen life; but the science of numbers has been formulated for the benefit of mathematicians and not for the people. Let us aim at joy for mankind, not only joy for professors.

We should surely never cease to press upon our immediate representatives that the universities do not deserve support until they include the science and practical psychology of teaching as a necessary condition of holding university office.

Kelowna Troop.
Troop First; Self Last

Edited by Pioneer. July 22, 1919

On Wednesday, the 30th, there will be a meeting of all parents of scouts and cubs as well as all others who are in any way interested, at the offices of Burne & Weddell, at 8 p.m., for the purpose of considering whether some plan can be reached by which we can secure the control of Cedar Creek camp site permanently. We trust, therefore, to have a good attendance at this meeting. Another problem with which we have to wrestle is that of securing quarters for the troop in town, as it is very probable that the present club room which we use is going to be sold in the near future. We are much indebted to the committee of the Anglican church for letting us have it all this time at such a low rental, which we know has been at an actual loss to themselves; but at the same time it might as well be known that as a troop we have been under a handicap all along in not having quarters adequate to our needs. With a roll of about 25 the present place is not so bad, but when our numbers are anything over that, then we simply cannot carry on properly. The problem is still more serious when we stand to lose even that which we have. Mr. Gordon's resignation as cubmaster will also be laid before the meeting on Wednesday.

On Wednesday of this week we are holding a business session of the Court of Honour when we hope to know exactly what our camp expenses and receipts will amount to. We hope that these figures will sufficiently impress the few who at camp seemed unable to grasp the fact that they were not at the Waldorf Astoria or that we had not undertaken to store them up with a winter's supply of grub as well preparatory to their hibernation like some of the wild things of the woods. As both the present troop secretary and his assistant are out of town it becomes necessary to appoint a new secretary. There is considerable secretarial work to be done in getting out subscription accounts, &c., and we also have to have someone in town to sign cheques.

The winning camp diary for the last camp has been determined and will be published in this column by instalments in due course. In future diaries we might suggest that a little more should be made of the humorous incidents with which every camp is full, as the humorous side emphasized always makes more pleasant reading. We trust that the scout winning this prize will recognize his own diery without our having to mention any names. We have no objection to the names being mentioned but believe that by undertaking in the first instance not to publish the names we can secure better diaries.

First prize for selling the most tickets for our last concert goes to Second C. Rowcliffe, who sold $62.75 worth; second prize to scout H. Mantle with $30.50 worth and third to scout E. Groves, with $19.75 worth.

Our congratulations to one of our old originals in the person of Second Leonard DuMoulin, who has just passed his entrance examinations to the Royal Military College, Kingston, with honors, and which we agree with him has qualified him for a further period of service with the local troop.

With the regatta now close at hand the summer will soon be slipping away, which reminds us that we hope to start the basketball season considerably earlier this year, in fact right after the fall fair if we can.

All scouts who have not yet turned in their camp fees will please do so immediately in order that we can close our accounts in this connection.

With this issue of the column "Pioneer" lays down the editorial pen which will be taken up by "Wolf."

The High Cost of Living

is to go still higher according to Sir Auckland Geddes—and he adds further that in many instances it will be the people's fault. In other words many are so short-sighted as not to take advantage of honest trading because they are duped by the 'hot air and pretence' of the profiteer. Personally I have a REASON for my window prices They're low because they're HONEST.

Fires Keep Brigade Busy

The Fire Brigade have received several calls during the past week, but happily in no instance was much damage done. On Friday a blaze started in the chicken run at the home of B. McDonald and after burning off the canvas cover, spread to the garage. Mrs. McDonald, however, managed to extinguish it with the garden hose before the brigade arrived.

Fires in the park have demanded the attention of the Brigade on two occasions. On Thursday last a fire got going in the dry grass and bush and for a time looked serious. Though the fire syren was not sounded some of the firemen were notified by telephone and after some excitement put it out. On Saturday a fresh outbreak occurred and the regular signal was sent it. The bush and grass in the park are very dry just now and great damage might easily have been done but for the promptness of the Brigade.

The fact is also emphasized that all butter in such packages must be of the full net weight of sixteen ounces, and in default of same a fine of from $10 to $30 for each offence is imposed. Whey butter must be so labelled even when mixed with dairy butter and dairy butter retains its label though it be mixed with the creamery product.
