Company Erecting New Evaporating Factory

Large New Two-Storey Brick Building Will House Modern Plant

Work was commenced this week on a large new two-storey brick building for the B. C. Evaporators, Limited, the local organization which has taken over the interests of the Graham Evaporator Co. The building, which is being erected on the avenue facing the cannery, is 50 by 100 feet, and will be of brick with concrete basement. The excavation which is being carried on by Mr. Geo. Dillon, is already well advanced, and the contractors for the brick and concrete work, Messrs Ward & Baldock, have their mixing plant on the ground. The carpenter work is to be done by day labor, under the supervision of Mr. Jack Harris. It is expected that the building itself will be completed towards the end of July and that the plant will be moved from its present position at the cannery buildingto the new premises, and ready to operate by the beginning of August. The plant, which has already been described is a modern steam coil arrangement, and these will be fed from a boiler which is now on its way from Kamloops.

The basement is being made frost-proof for storage purposes, and above this will be two floors for the processes incidental to preparing and drying the produce.

This year only onions and carrots will be handled for war contracts, with possibly a few potatoes, but it is expected that in future years, apples and other fruits will be evaporated.

Conversation with Mr. E. L. Cross, the manager, elicted the information that forms of contract for the necessary produce have been prepared and the company is prepared at any time to sign up with growers of onions and carrots. For the former the price of $16 per ton is offered, while $8 per ton has been fixed for carrots.

By the organization of this new comuany, the evaporator plant which was brought in merely as a temporary arrangement by the Graham Co., thus becomes a permanent institution in Kelowna, adding another ta the regular payroll industries upon which the future prosperity of the town largely depends.

Orchard City Evaporator Greatly Enlarges Plant

The Orchard City Evaporating Co under the management of Mr. W. B. M. Calder, is just completing an extensive addition to their premises in anticipation of increased business during the coming year.

Last year, notwithstanding the fact that the plant was completed very late in the season, and the run was therefore only a short one, the results were very satisfactory. In all some 150 to 160 tons of apples were treated and it is to the credit of the management that the resulting product was pronouncedin every way excellent, and far superior to the Californian article. Consequently no trouble was experienced in disposing of it. Indeed the output was all sold long before it had been packed.

In addition to the increased space afforded by the enlargement of the building, an entire new kiln unit is being added, including furnace and drying floor, and several new power peeling and coring machines. This will increase the capacity of the plant considerably.

Last year some 22 hands were employed at the work, and it is anticipated that at least half as many more will be needed thisyear.

The evaporating industry is one which is bound to grow, as people realize the advantage of being able to sell their culls and wind-falls instead of allowing them to be entirely wasted as heretofore.

A. Jones has been accepted for the Motor Boat Patrol service, and leaves in a few days for the old country.

KELOWNA VOLUNTRER RESERVE

A full muster of the Kelowna Volunteer Reserve is earnestly requested for Monday the 26th of June, on the parade grounds at 8 p. m., as there is important business to discuss after drill.

Boards of Trade of B. C. Form New Association

The question of affiliating with an Associated Boards of Trade covering the whole province, was discussed at the meeting held Tuesday evening. A letter from the secretary of the recently formed provincial body laid emphasis on some of the advaneages to be gained by such a combination of interests, and invited the Kelowna Board to become a member, with the privilege of sending delegates to a convention to be held at the coast.

Owing to the small number present at the meeting it was not deemed advisable to take any definite action on the matter but the secretary was requested to obtain further information regarding the by-laws and working of the new organization.

In the same communication the information was conveyed that the B. C. Association was approaching the Dominion Government on the subject of Daylight Saving, asking for the scheme to be made general next year, from May to September.

GOOD TEMPLARS ENTERTAIN THEIR FRIENDS AT SOCIAL

Ice cream and lots of fun was the bill of fare at the Good Templars meeting last Tuesday evening, when the members and their friends assembled in the lodge room to make merry and enjoy themselves.

The main event on the programme was a novel progressive competition in which all present were given a chance to try their skill at various games, from crocinole to threading tiny beads, which, notwithstanding the eye strain and mental exertions which the competitons had to endure, afforded no end of fun. After a close race in which several ties hadto be played off, Mrs. C. F. Armstrong was declared to be the winner and was awarded the first prize.

Other interesting and enjoyable items on the varied programme were organ solos by Miss. E. Jones, and a sketch entitled "Caught at Last," in which two brothers and two sisters took part, ably assisted by little Master Bennett; and also several songs and recitations. After the programme ice cream, cake and lemonade were served which everyone enjoyed to their heart's content.

Commission to Investigate Railways of Dominion

An announcement will be made shortly of the appointment of a commission to investigate the whole Canadian railway situation, with the possible nationalization of one or more of the railway systems of the country as a result, the Ottawa correspondent of the Montreal Gazette says.

Sir George Paish, editor of the Statist, and one of the leading financial authorities in Great Britain, it is stated, will be one member of the commission. He will conduct that part of the investigation which will have to do with the financial position of the various roads. The other members will probably be prominent British and American railroad men.

An official statement says that Commander Shimomura, of the Japanese Navy, perished in the sinking of the battle cruiser Queen Mary.

REID — LEVIEUX

The wedding took place last Wednesday evening at the Methodist parsonage of Robert Colvin Reid to Miss Amelia Marie Levieux. "Bobbie" has been a familiar figure in Kelowna for several years, especially in connection with the old Musical and Dramatic Society, of which he was a prominent member, and there are many friends who will wish him every happiness in his new state. The happy couple are taking up their residence in Vernon.

MARTIN — REED

The wedding took place last Saturday week of George Vincent Martin to Matilda Florenc? Reed, at the home of Mr. Reed on Harvey Avenue. The ceremony, at which the Rev. J. C. Switzer officiated, was a very quiet one, only the immediate relatives of the contracting parties were present. The "Record" joins in wishing them every happiness.

Causes of Variation in Percentage of Fat in Hand Separator Cream

By Geo. H. Barr, Chief of Dairy Division Dom. Dept. of Agriculture.

Patrons of cream gathering creameries frequently complain of the variations which occur in the percentage of fat as revealed by the test of the cream delivered from time to time These variations have given rise to more or less dissatisfaction on the part of the patrons, and have been the cause of unnecessary friction between them and the managers of the creameries.

A series of tests and experiments bearing on this point have been just completed at the Finch Dairy Station and the results are published herein with a view to explaining how such variations may be due to irregularities in the running of cream separators.

In nearly all separators the proportion of cream is regulated by what is termed a "cream screw." When this screw or plug is turned towards the centre of the bowl, it contracts the cream line and gives a richer or higher testing cream. Turning it outwards widens the cream line and, therefore, allows a larger proportion of the skim-milk to pass out with the fat and thus gives a thinner or lower testing cream. ...Considering the question of separation from a purely mechanical standpoint, one would naturally come to the conclusion that once the cream screw is set at any desired point, the separator would always deliver cream containing the same percentage of fat. We must, however, consider several other factors which very materially affect the working of a cream separator. The following are the most important ones:—

The Percentage of Fat in the Milk

Milk from a single herd will vary in fat content from day to day, sometimes to quite an extent. This variation will affect the per cent fat in the cream. For instance, in milk testing 4 per cent, there are four pounds of fat in 100 pounds of milk; in milk testing 3 percent fat, there are only three pounds of fat in 100 pounds of milk. If 100 pounds of each lot of milk is run through the separator under exactly the same conditions as to time speed, temperature, etc, there will be practically the same number of pounds of cream, but there will be practically one pound of fat more in the cream from the 4 per cent milk, which would give a correspondingly higher testing cream than would be taken from the 3 per cent milk.

Temperature of the Milk

Milk at 70 degrees temperature is thicker or more viscous than the same milk would be if heated to 95 degrees; it will therefore not run through the separator so fast, the cream line will be narrower, and the cream will test higher from milk at 70 degrees than from the same lot of milk separated at 95 degrees.

Flow of Milk into the Separator

The milk inlet on all separators is made to feed the separator to its full capacity. If the flow of milk is partly shut off, the cream line will be narrower and a richer and higher testing cream will be the result.

Speed of the Separator

All hand separators are manufactured to run at a certain speed and they will do the best work at this speed, which is usually indicated on the handle of the separator. If the speed is increased, the centrifugal pressure is increased which has the effect of condensing the cream so that a smaller quantity of richer cream is the result

To ascertain to what extent the above conditions would affect the percentage of fat in the cream, and to secure some accurate data on the subject, the following experiments were carried out, using a 400-pound hand separator.

In table 1 is given the results of separating the milk at different temperatures, all other conditions being the same. One run was made from the same milk at each temperature stated on three different days. The figures given are the average of the three days. Mixed night and morning milk from the same patrons was used each day.

Table 1—Separating at Different Temperatures

Per Cent. Fat in Milk	Temp. of Milk at Separating	Lbs. Cream per 100 lbs. Milk Lbs.	Oz.	Per cent. Fat in Cream	Per Cent. Fat in Skim-milk
3.57	70 degrees	8	0	44.2	.040
3.57	75 ,,	8	14	40.0	.033
3.57	80 ,,	10	0	35.5	.021
3.57	85 ,,	10	11	33.1	.028
3.57	90 ,,	11	2	32.0	.017
3.57	95 ,,	12	2	29.3	.021

Here we find a variation of 19.9 per cent fat in the test of the cream with all the conditions the same, except the temperature of the milk. The pounds of cream per one hundred pounds of milk increases as the temperature of the milk is raised and it must also be noted that the percentage of fat in the skim-milk increases as the temperature of the milk is lowered.

Table II. shows the effect of changing the speed of the separator. The figures given are the average of three runs at each speed on three different days.

Table 2—Variation in the Speed of the Separator

Per Cent. Fat in Milk	Temperature of Milk	Speed turned per minute	Lbs. Cream per 100 Lbs. Milk Lbs.	Oz.	Per Cent. Fat in Cream	Per Cent. Fat in Skim-milk
3.63	95 deg.	65	9	14	36.6	.018
3.63	95 ,,	60	12	0	30.1	.017
3.63	95 ,,	55	15	7	23.4	.023
3.63	95 ,,	50	18	14	19 2	.027

60 is the correct speed

A metronome was used to count the turns of the handle, so that the speed of the separator was absolutely the same during the whole run. It was found extremely difficult to turn the separator at a uniforn speed throughout an entire run, and unless the operator has a reliable indicator, there is likely to be a considerable variation in the speed of the separator. The writer is of the opinion that the speed of the separator has probably more to do with the variations in the cream tests than any other condition.

Five turns per minute under the proper speed made 6.7 per cent difference in the test, and ten turns too slow made a difference of 10.9 per cent. The difference in the test between five turns too fast and ten turns too slow was 17.4 per cent, the percentage being only a little over half in one case what it was in the other.

Table 3—Showing the effect of Low Speed and Low Temperature Combined on the Percentage of Fat in the Cream and Loss of Fat in the Skim-milk. Three Runs were made from the same Milk on Three Different Days

Per Cent. Fat in Milk	Speed turned per minute	Temperature of Milk	Per Cent. Fat in Cream	Per Cent. Fat in Skim-milk
3.6	50	70 degrees	28.5	.078
3.6	50	80 ,,	27.0	.053
3.6	50	90 ,,	21.5	.030

There is not as great a variation in the percentage fat in the cream as in some of the other tables, but the loss of fat in the skim-milk is very high at the low temperatures, showing that the best results will be obtained by turning the separator at its proper speed and having the milk at a temperature of 95 or 96 degrees.

Two runs were made from milk testing 3.3 per cent and two from milk testing 4.5 per cent. The following table shows the average results:—

Table 4—Variation in the per cent. Fat in the Cream from Milk containing different percentages of Fat

Speed of Separator	Temp. of Milk	Per Cent. Fat in Milk	Per Cent. Fat in Cream	Per Cent. Fat in Skim-milk
60	95.5	3.3	27.0	.017
60	95.5	4.5	35.5	.015

Here we find a difference of 1.2 per cent fat in the milk made a difference of 8.5 per cent in the cream test. There will not be so much variation as 1.2 per cent fat in the milk from from the same herd from day to day, but there may be a difference of 5.5 per cent, which at the same rate of variation would equal 3.5 per cent in the test of the cream.

The foregoing results show very plainly that different conditions in the milk and only slight changes in the operating of the separator, without changing the cream screw, will make wide variations in the percentage of fat in the cream. If the temperature of the milk is too low, or the speed of the separator is reduced below the required number of revolution per minute, the variations will be accompanied by an excessive loss of fat in the skim-milk.

A good separator, properly handled, will deliver cream testing anywhere from 20 to 35 per cent fat, and not leave over 0.02 per cent fat in the skim-milk.

To give the best results in butter-making cream should test from 30 to 35 per cent fat.

Soldiers Can Assign Only Twenty Days' Pay

The following statement has been issued by the militia department:—

"Some comment has been caused by a recent order-in-council limiting to twenty days pay, the amount of pay which a soldier should be permitted to assign. In some quarters this has been criticized and it has been stated in the western press that a deputation intends to go from Winnipeg to Ottawa to ask for the rescinding of this order-in-council. It is not at all likely that such a deputation would succeed in its purpose. ...

"A private soldier is paid $1 a day, with an allowance which brings his pay up to $1.10 a day, or $33 a month of thirty days. His wife gets from the government a separation allowance of $20 a month and in addition a portion of his pay which he assigns to her. Hitherto the soldier has been allowed to assign as much as he chose and many assigned almost all of their earnings. Inconvenience followed, and a short time ago it was represented by the militia authorities overseas that men who had assigned more than twenty day's pay of their rank did not leave themselves enough money, and often got into financial difficulties, owing to their generosity. Accordingly, the order-in-council was passed limiting the assignment to twenty day's pay.

"If a soldier in England assigns twenty days, this amounts in a month of thirty days to $20. This leaves him $13 and this sum is paid to the man for himself. While much is provided for him, there are many necessaries which he must procure out of his own pocket. Apart from the buying of common conveniences, such as newspapers, writing materials, etc., if he is left with no money he can not avail himself of the leave which from time to time is allowed him to visit places of interest, and so he is confined to the barracks or camp at all times. It is felt that $13 a month is not an excessive amount to allow a man. ...If he is of opinion that his relatives should have more, he can save it and sent it home. The point of view of the authorities is that a soldier should be allowed to spend some of his own money."

WILL SPEND $63,000 TO ADVERTISE THE GREAT NORTH-WEST APPLE

At a meeting of the growers and distributors from the principal apple growing districts of the Pacific Northwest, held in Seattle recently, a fund of $63,000 was pledged for strictly advertising purposes.

From all reports received at the present time, says the B. C. Prairie Markets Commissioner, and after personal investigation it apparent that the soft fruit crops in Washington and Oregon will be 70 per cent. less than last season. This is due to winter injury and frosts in the early spring, and in some cases during the past few weeks. From all quarters it is expected that fewer American berries than usual will find their way into the northwest.

The Daylight-Saving scheme having been hung, drawn and quartered, and buried at the cross roads with a stake through its heart, Kelowna citizens are free to turn their attention to another matter upon which their vote will be required, viz., the Weekly Half-Holiday.

The recent legislation passed by the provincial house makes it compulsory for all wholesale and retail establishments to close for one afternoon in the week. By the terms of the Act the choice of the day, whether Saturday or some other day in the week, is left to be decided by a vote of the electors.

The larger coast cities of Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster, have already held their poll on the subject, their choice lying between Wednesday afternoon and Saturday afternoon. By overwhelming majorities each of the three cities decided to observe the Saturday afternoon, in spite of the strenuous campaign conducted by an organization of merchants to observe Wednesday.

The exact figures were as follows:—

In Vancouver–
For Saturday	5,552
For Wednesday	1,654
In Victoria–
For Saturday	1,853
For Wednesday	1,183
In New Westminster–
For Saturday	1,036
For Wednesday	191

There is a general impression abroad locally that the new legislation does not affect Kelowna or other inland towns, but that is an error. It is true that Kelowna already observes a weekly half-holiday on Thursday afternoons, but it is distinctly laid down in the Act that a vote of the people must be taken to determine the day upon which the holiday must be observed. The voting is to take place at the municipal election in January next, and from July 1st, when the Act comes into effect, until that time the present arrangements will be allowed to continue.

To make this clear it might be as well to reproduce the clauses of the Act governing the point. They are as follows: –

5. (1) In all other municipalities (other than Vancouver, Victoria and New Westminster) the weekly half-holiday as respects any shop shall, subject to the provision in subsection (2) of this section, be observed on the day appointed in that behalf in any by-law heretofore passed under the provisions of the 'Shops Regulation Act' and in force in the municipality; and if there is no such by-law, or if there is no agreement for a weekly half-holiday in any such municipality, then the weekly half-holiday shall be observed on such day as may be agreed upon by the employer and the employees, and, in the event of disagreement, such day as the employer may specify in a notice affixed in the shop, but it shall not be lawful for the employer to change the day oftener than once in any period of three months withou, the consent of a majority of his employees.

(2) At the municipal elections to be held in January, 1917, a vote of the municipal electors entitled to vote for Mayor or Reeve shall be taken to determine whether the weekly half-holiday shall be on Saturday or some other day in the week, and the day approved by a majority of the municipal electors shall, on and after the first day of February, 1917, be the day fixed for such half-holiday.

6. The day fixed for a weekly half-holiday on a referendum to the electors in any municipality may be altered on a referendum at any subsequent election.

7. In unorganized districts the weekly half-holiday as respects any shop shall be such a day as may be agreed upon by the employer and the employees, and, in case of disagreement, it shall be such day as may be fixed by the Lieutenant-Governor in Council.

Thus it will be seen that in January next Kelowna electors will have to decide whether the weekly half-holiday is to continue to be held on Thursday afternoon or to be changed to Saturday. It is a little early yet, perhaps, to begin discussing the question, but it might be well for people to turn the matter over thoroughly in their minds in the meantime. The coast papers have lately contained many arguments on both sides of the question, but the resulting vote shows that there is very little doubt in the minds of the public as to which they prefer.

It might be mentioned that where the choice falls upon Saturday, storekeepers will have the option of remaining open on Friday evening until 9.30.

Nervous Breakdown and "Shell Shock"

A British surgeon who has specially studied men invalided from the front because of nervous breakdown, comes to the conclusion that pure nervous shock and horror are in many cases the sole cause of the condition. There was no question of cowardice involved but rather unusual bravery in the preliminary weeks and months of fighting against fear, produced by sights and conditions no human being could look upon day after day unmoved. The sensitive and "high-strung" were of course, the principle victims of this orm of disaster, but even the comparatively stolid after some peculiarly terrible strain were occasionally found with nerves completely shattered. ...

Another medical investigation of unusual and general interest, because this war has given the first chance to make it in any exhaustive way, has to do with what is known technically as "shell-shock." A very considerable number of soldiers have been found in or near the trenches or other positions subjected to heavy bombardment with the enormously powerful high-explosive bells, sometimes unconscious, more often dead, upon whose bodies no external injuries could be found. Life ad simply been cut short, as though a great extinguisher had been clapped over the victim. In a few cases where autopsies have been made, conditions ound have been more or less contradictory qnd furnished very little toward clearing up the mystery.

Another surgeon who has studied the effects of high explosives on the nervous system, suggested several possible explanations of these causes of sudden death without visible injury. The enormous pressure generated near an explosion may cause the air to strike a sort of general blow over a large portion of the body, sufficient to stop the heart and respiration, without leaving any physical marks on the issues themselves. On the other hand M. Arnoux was quoted to the effect that the "decompression" produced by such an explosion might cause a condition of exaggerated caisson disease, ust the opposite of that due to direct ressure, quite sufficient to cause death from the sudden liberation of bubbles of air in the blood. He calculated from the accidental action of such an explosion noted on an aneroid baroneter that the pressures generated were in the neighborhood of eleven tons per square metre, are accentuated and prolonged by a sort of hysterical condition resulting from the mental strain of service at the front.

One queer case cited seems to incate that shell-shock may produce a condition somewhat closely resembling omnabulism. The officer of a company that had "dug themselves in" in a wood went into the road to see if a convoy was coming. It was about 2 a.m., and quite dark. A large shell ame tearing in and burst near him—not near enough, apparently, to unhorse him. The next thing he knew it was half-past four, quite light, and he was being helped off his horse by wo women in front of a farm house. The intervening two hours and a half were a complete blank. He had no idea what he had done or how he reached the farmhouse. He had received some ort of shock that had submerged his higher consciousness and memory, but left his other bodily machinery unharmed.—The Canadian Pictorial.

Orders for Local Scouts

KELOWNA TROOP

Troop First! Self Last!

ORDERS BY COMMAND FOR WEEK ENDING JULY 1st, 1916

Duties. Orderly patrol for the week, Curlews. Next for duty, Eagles.

There will be no parades during this week, but patrol leaders will keep in touch with the staff, and will make every effort to round up a full attendance for camp. ...They will also see that each scout is properly equipped A list of the things which each Scout and patrol must take to camp is now ready for each leader to distribute to each Scout in his patrol.

Camp attendance is compulsory; it should not be necessary for us to have to state this, but in view of some of the reports which have come to us, we do not wish there to be any doubt on this point. There are only two reasons which may keep a Scout away, and they are sickness, and positive inability to get away from work. In onnection with the latter we feel sure that we shall again have the active co operation of parents and employers. We trust too that all friends of the scouts will, whenever posible, put in the way of the boys the chance to earn $2 or so in order that they may themselves pay their share of the camp expenses. But even if the boy cannot raise the $2 himself, we do not feel that we are casting any additional burden on the parents, because we are fairly certain that every boy costs over $6 a month to keep in his own home. This $2 can also be supplied to the camp in kind; that is in groceries or produce of the same value. As to this see one of the Scout Masters or Troop Leader Keller, who is to be the Camp Quartermaster. Also do not let there be any grouching. This is a disease which spreads faster than measles, and one or two grouchers present can spoil the whole camp. Let every scout work together to make this year's outing one never to be forgotten. A small party of leaders and others viewed the proposed site at the mouth of Cedar Creek, which the South Kelowna Land Co., has been good enough to allow us to use, on Sunday afternoon last, and it would be indeed hard to find a more suitable site. Patrol Leader Godfrey Groves made a field sketch of it, which will be used in planning the arrangement of tents, etc. Next week we shall give a few particulars of the proposed activities for the ten days. There will be one day for sports and visitors. We expect this year to try the experiment of a salaried camp cook, and if any parents are desirous of any further information about anything, please ask them to consult one of the Scout Masters.

We regret that it is possible that our Bugler, Patrol Leader Henry Crowley, may not be able to attend camp this year, so will all scouts who think they could learn the calls volunteer at once and we shall arrange to have some lessons given to them. We hope that Patrol Leader Crowley will be able to get away from his work and come, but in case not, we must "be prepared."

The route march which was to have been held on Saturday of this week has been postponed, so that there will be no parade at all on this day.

The first prize for selling the most tickets for the concert goes to Troop Leader Keller, with $19.25 to his credit; second to Scout Jack Groves, with $16; and third to Patrol Leader Calder, with $14. Scout Clair Rowliffe was a close fourth, with $13.50. There are still five scouts who have not completed their returns, with either unsold tickets or money.

We recently heard a remark by an old Kentucky farmer which seems worth entering for the ungrammatical sentence prize. To a visitor he observed "Them, three Miss Perkins is three of as pretty a gal as ever I see."

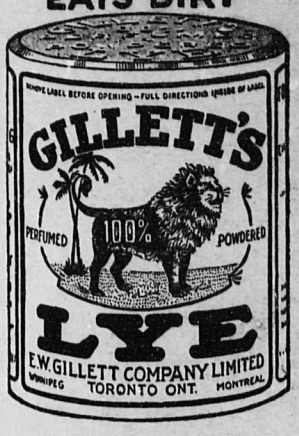
GILLETT'S LYE EATS DIRT



To Make a Home Canner From Material at Hand

Many people hesitate to adopt the cold-pack method of canning because of the mistaken impression that it is necessary to purchase an expensive canning outfit. A home canner which will answer every purpose can be quickly constructed without expense, from material available in the average home. ...

There are just three things necessary: a receptacle at least twelve inches deep, a close-fitting cover, and some arrangement to keep the jars off the bottom of the container. A wash boiler is the receptacle usually adopted, as it is generally available and of sufficient size to hold a number of jars but a deep preserving kettle or a pail with a large bottom can be converted into a home canner without difficulty. A large milk can, such as is used in shipping milk in large quantities, makes a good outfit, but is perhaps too deep for handy work. If none of these are available some receptacle of a similar nature can be substituted. A large empty lard can may be purchased from any grocer for a nominal sum and makes a splendid canner. When the receptacle selected does not have a close fitting cover one can easily be made of boards half an inch thick, nailed closely together by means of two wooden cross-strips. These strips should be placed on the outside of the cover in order that they may also be used as handles. For handy work a wooden cover of this sort should be slightly larger than the receptacle.

A platform should be prepared which will heep the jars off the bottom of the container qnd permit free circulation of water under, around and between the jars. This can be made of wooden strips one inch wide, nailed in a criss-cross or lattice-work formation with an inch of space between each strip. Many home canners find it an advantage to place wire handles upon each end of the platform, or to have long wire hooks which fit into holes bored in the platform, in order that it may be lifted out of the container for easy handling of the jars.

When this is done it is advisable that a heavy wire be fastened around the platform about four inches above the base to keep the jars from falling off. A wire screen can be used for this purpose if desired. Hay, excelsior or towels should not be used as a false bottom, because they do not allow sufficient water circulation under the jars to prevent them from cracking under the increased heat. ...

Sufficient water should be placed in this home canner to cover the tops of the tallest jars by at least one inch, and this water should be brought to the boiling point before the jars of product are placed in the canner for sterilization. With this home-made hot-water-bath outfit any product may be canned in a single sterilization period when the cold-pack recipe is used.

Bostonians Will Play Here June 27th

The returning Bostonians will present for one night only, "Tipperary Mary," an offering that has been judged in Calgary and other cities as one of the best musical plays ever produced. It fell to the lot of no less an actor than Mr. Chauncy Alcott to create the popularity of this piece in the States, and it is the pleasant privilege of these youthful stars to present "Tipperary Mary" for the times in Canada.

The Bostonians have earned their merited reputation at the hands of the public in the past twelve years, and the place of this all-girl company is secure in the good will of all the theatre-goers over half the globe.

"Tipperary Mary" is a rollicking musical play of "Auld Ireland" having its location in Tipperary itself. It is replete with "whistley" music, entertaining dancing, excellent comedy, talented people, special mounting, new lighting effects, and withal it is clean.

Of the Bostonians, as ever, everyone is an artiste and every artiste is a girl.

This unique attraction will be seen at the Opera House on Tuesday, June 27th only. You will be well repaid if you remember this date and pay this famous company of clever girls a visit. Book your seats early at Crawford's.

No cheques, etc., can henceforth be changed at hotel bars. The penalty for evading this regulation will be a fine of not less than $20 or more than $100.

Mr. J. C. Stockwell has two sales of furniture arranged for the coming week. The first is on Tuesday afternoon the 27th, at the residence of Mrs. Knight, Glenn Avenue, and the second at Rutland on Thursday the 29th, when the farm effects of Mr. Loosemore will be offered for sale.

Several names of Kelowna men appear amongst the lists of wounded this week, though happily in the recent heavy Canadian losses this district came off very lightly. The lists give as wounded, Chas. A. Winslow, a brother of Mrs. Petman, Norman Lefevre, John Jardine, R. P. Menzies, Leonard Seeman and H. C. Stillingfleet.

Mr. E. M. Carruthers has just received the information that his brother, Brigadier-General R. A. Carruthers, C.B., has been granted the distinction of C.M.G. for services rendered at Gallipoli, as a member of General Birdwood's staff. The distinguished soldier has spent some time in Kelowna and is therefore well known to many people here.

Floods and washouts on the main line both east and west of Sicamous have interfered to some extent with mail delivery this week. A bad washout near Golden delayed the west-bound trains for some time and necessitated a large force of men being employed. Near Kamloops another slide tied up traffic Tuesday, and mail from the coast was held up.

A special meeting of the Kelowna Poultry and Pet Stock Association will be held in the Board of Trade room on Wednesday, June 28th, at 7.30 p.m., for the purpose of discussing the new constitution and by-laws, also various other matters pertaining to the welfare of the Association. All members are earnestly requested to be present.

A very pleasant evening was spent on Monday by those who attended the lawn social at Rev. Switzer's residence. The threatening aspect of the weather no doubt was to blame for the small attendance as compared to the crowd it is customary to see on such occasions. Amongst other entertainment for the visitors were selections from a gramaphone, a machine which, judging from its delightful tone, was far removed from common "canned music" type so frequently met with.
